VOLUME XXXIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 MARCH 14, 1969

NUMBER 16

Another magnificent space spectacular has been completed by American astronauts. Though less sensational, perhaps, than the historic Christmas trip around the moon, this one carried out an equally important maneuver, a vital rehearsal for the planned landing on the moon.

In this case the two attached space vehicles, Apollo 9 and Lunar Module, were separated and the LM, with two astronauts aboard, blasted off to some 100 miles away. Then it blasted downward, simulating a descent to the moon, and separated from its landing craft, after which it rocketed back to Apollo's orbital path and re-attached to it.

The operation is regarded by many people as the most risky ever attempted in space. Failure to connect the LM rocket craft with Apollo would have left it orbiting endlessly in space, because it does not have enough heat shield to return to earth on its own.

As this is written the important part of the journey is finished and the three adventurers are busy with less sensational chores while awaiting their splash down.

So, another thrilling chapter in the epic of man's landing on the moon is written. And scientists have started on the second last chapter, which is intended as another precaution even though some think it could be omitted. Apollo 10 flight is to be very similar to the one just finished except that separation from the main craft is to be in the moon's orbit instead of earth's and the LM craft is to descend to within ten miles of the moon before dropping its landing craft, then re-unite in the moon's orbit and head for home.

Then the final chapter, planned for July, is to take the LM craft to the surface of the moon, pick up lunar specimens, install scientific equipment, blast back into lunar orbit, re-connect with Apollo 10, and return to earth.

One point of concern in all these plans is the possibility that Russia will still manage to set foot on the moon before this country does. U. S. scientists have their fingers crossed, hoping the reds will not be able to nose ahead for honor and prestige. However, regardless of how that race turns out, we are all very much aware that the entire story of landing on the moon is a magnificent achievement. As suggested by the passages read from Genesis during the moon orbit on Christmas, it points up the grandeur of creation — including both the marvelous order of the universe and the marvelous ability of human beings. From either or both of those ideas we can arrive at some notion of the Infinite Wisdom which created both man and universe. At the same time we can imagine that atheistic belief must be occasionally jolted by such realities. How can anyone see those marvels and still deny the existence of God? How can anyone think of the precise scientific calculations used in these space adventures without thinking also of the precise order created in the universe?

In all of man's space achievements it is apparent that success depends upon exact compliance with the laws of nature. Disregarding them even in slight detail would be disastrous — a point which seems to suggest that disregard of some other natural laws are responsible for lots of the problems encountered on the earth.

Creation here as in space was a precise, orderly achievement. We can get along fine

Volley Tournament Entry Deadline Is Sunday Noon

Teams which plan to compete in the volley ball tournament in Sacred Heart gym on Sunday March 23, are reminded this week that entry deadline is next Sunday, the 16th, at noon. The job of drawing up the brackets will begin then.

Entries are to be reported to Charles Bayer, chairman. The tournament will be made up of men's and ladies' divisions in champ and consolation brackets. It is sponsored by Sacred Heart Alumni.

Starting time of the tourney will be determined by the number of teams participating. If there are too many to complete the schedule on Sunday some of the preliminaries will be played Saturday night.

GOVERNOR PRESTON SMITH received the first sheet of 1969 Easter Seals as a presentation from young Byron Moore of Bryan, Texas, Easter Seal Child of the Year.

Lieutenant Governor Ben Barnes, campaign chairman of the fortieth annual Easter Seal appeal, participated in the ceremonies in the Governor's office.

The Easter Seal Society, with twenty-one affiliated Treatment Centers throughout Texas, annually provides treatment and services for over 17,000 children and adults who could not have made it alone. Among conditions treated are arthritis, cerebral palsy, strokes, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, polyomyelitis, orthopedic problems, speech disorders and hearing conditions.

Muenster Chapter Of JETS Attends Meeting at A&M

Twenty three members of the Muenster chapter of Junior Engineering Technical Society (JETS) and their advisers were in College Station Friday attending the organization's annual Texas State Conference.

Purpose of the event is to provide high school students and teachers with an insight to the engineering profession today, the future of engineering and other aspects of the profession. About 2000 JETS members from all parts of the state participated.

The conference opened with greetings from Earl Rudder, President of A&M, and a welcome by Fred J. Benson, dean of engineering at A&M. Next was the main event of the opening assembly, an address on "Why a Career in Engineering?" by Dean A. C. Ingersoll of the engineering college of University of Southern California.

At 11 o'clock all students participated in competitive tests for awards and scholarships in chemistry, physics, math, engineering graphics and slide rule.

In the afternoon the Muenster group had a tour of the A&M nuclear reactor as guests of Don Feltz, who was speaker at one of the Muenster chapter meetings last year. After that they toured the A&M campus.

The group made the trip in a school bus, leaving at 3 a.m. and returning at 11:30 p.m. Students were Pam Stoffels, Sandra Sloan, Bobby Bruns, Elaine O'to, Steve Walterscheid, Gretchen Koelzer, John Monday, Alvin Hoenig, Lynn Joe Klement, David Stormer, David Fette, Carmen Wimmer, Tommy Henschel, John Felderhoff, Jerry Fleitman, John Dangelmayr, Kathy Sicking, Rita Owen, Kathy Swirczynski, Carl Endres, Joan Wilde and Chris Yosten. With them were advisers Marie Mosman, Dan Hamric and Ernest Jaska, also Mrs. Jaska and Davey.

Flower Shop Will Open Saturday

This community's newest business, a flower shop owned and operated by Mrs. Dan Luke, will open Saturday. It is located beside the Luke home at 602 North Maple, across the street from Muenster Memorial Hospital. A former carpenter has been remodeled and glassed in for that purpose. The business name is Flowers by Dolores.

Mrs. Luke has had several years of experience with flowers and with the flower business. Since coming to Muenster she has supervised floral decorations for weddings and parties. Before then she worked for florists in Denton and Dallas.

She will have flowers for the sick and for weddings, funerals, anniversaries and special occasions. She will also be available for planning and planting indoor and outdoor flower arrangements.

SHH Students to Compete in Two Speech Tournaments

Sacred Heart High speech and drama students will travel this weekend to compete in two speech tournaments.

Participating Friday at Notre Dame in Wichita Falls will be Beverly Koelzer, Margaret Kralicke and Diane Hess. Beverly and Margaret will enter in poetry and original oratory while Diane has chosen prose and persuasive speaking.

A tournament for first-year students will be held at Dallas Christian. Entered are Dianne Sicking, Darlene Hess and Donna Rohmer in dramatic interpretation; Theresa Becker and Marianne Yosten in Bible reading; Barbara Knabe, Peggy Sicking and Peggy Endres in original oratory.

Duet teams are Monica Yosten and Carol Grewing, Theresa Becker and Dianne Sicking, and Donna Rohmer and Peggy Endres.

Hornet Trackmen Face First Test In Holiday Meet

The first full strength test of Muenster High's track team, scheduled at Saint Jo last Saturday, was called off because of bad weather. The day was miserably cold and rain the day before had left the field in bad condition.

Coach Glenn Richardson said five teams were to take part in the practice event. They were Saint Jo, Muenster, Valley View, Callisburg and Alvord — some of them likely to get together for a meet March 29 on the Panther Track.

Because that meet was scratched the Hornets will have their first real competition this week Saturday at Holiday. Boys who will participate and their events are as follows:

440 yard relay. Andy Knabe, Mark Hellman, Dennis Lutkenhaus, Clifford Sicking, 880 yard run. Dennis Lutkenhaus and Leon Klement, 120 yard high hurdles. Earl Koelzer, John Monday, Bobby Bruns.

100 yard dash. Mark Hellman, Ken Swirczynski, John Felderhoff, 440 yard run. Andy Knabe, John Felderhoff, Bobby Bruns, 330 yard intermediate hurdles. Clifford Sicking, Earl Koelzer, John Monday, 220 yard dash. Mark Hellman, Ken Swirczynski, John Felderhoff.

1 mile run. Don Hartman, Dale Cash, Henry Sicking, Mile relay. Dennis Lutkenhaus, Andy Knabe, Clifford Sicking, Bobby Bruns or Earl Koelzer.

Field Day Set at Feed Lot Monday On Beef Feeding

A field day with talks and figures on beef feeding plus a display of feeder stock and feeding equipment is scheduled for next Tuesday, March 18, at 10 a.m. at Tony's Feed Lot north of Muenster.

It is co-sponsored by County Agent Neil Tibbetts and Tony's Seed and Feed. A general invitation is extended to all livestock people of this area.

The program will feature the progress report on a special feeding project which has been under way at the lot for 150 days. There are 60 head in the herd ranging from 900 to 1100 pounds and due to be marketed within 30 days. By special arrangement with the packer a full report on dressed weight ratio and quality of meat will be given when the animals are slaughtered.

Other information will be given at the field day. Tibbetts said. That includes starting weight, quantity and content of feed at various stages of the program, and present weights. Average gain to date has been one pound for every six pounds of feed and the cost of gain has been 18 cents a pound.

Owners of the cattle in the feeding project are J. H. Bayer of Muenster, Parker Yarborough of Era, D. J. Dresser of Sivelts Bend, Wm. Pulte of Gainesville, and Burrell Ranch of Callisburg. The latter has 20 heard, the others 10 each.

Hornets Receive Football Jackets

Twenty members of the bi-district champion Muenster Hornets are proudly wearing new football jackets since last Friday. For the first time in the school's history the jacket is distinguished by the words "Regional Finalist" on a red patch outlined in white and shaped like the map of Texas. It is on the right sleeve.

Otherwise the jacket is very much like last year's. It is red with white and black trim, the red and white chenille monogram in 3-D style. On the left sleeve is the players number, plus, for some, the patch indicating selection on the all district team.

Ten of the new lettermen are seniors and have received their jackets as awards from the school. According to new Interscholastic League rules an athlete may receive one $20 award (the jacket) plus an additional $3 award (the monogram only) for each other sport in the four years of high school. The jacket award here is given in the senior year.

Twelve other Hornets earned letters on the team but did not get them as awards. Ten of them decided to buy them from the sporting goods store, two declined.

Seniors receiving the awards are Dale Cash, Mark Hellman, Mike Cason, Robin Wimmer, Ken Swirczynski, Mike Hennigan, Don Hartman, Clifford Sicking, Sammy Sparkman and Alcuin Schilling.

Those who bought their jackets are Bobby Bruns, David Fette, John Felderhoff, John Monday, David Stormer, Andy Knabe, Henry Sicking, Tommy Henschel, Terry Miller and Henry Knabe. Lettermen who did not buy jackets are Leon Klement and Earl Koelzer.

C of C Directors Will Be Elected In Voting by Mail

The annual election of directors of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce got under way this week as the nominating committee named four candidates for the positions now held by Ernest Jaska and Al Felderhoff.

The nominees are the incumbents and Al Hess and R. E. Hamric. Preparations are in progress to mail ballots in a few days. Members will be urged to mark their ballots promptly and mail them back before April 1. Candidates receiving first and second in the voting will be the next directors.

The letter accompanying the ballot will also remind members that dues time is here and early payment will entitle them to free tickets to the organization's banquet in April.

Before despairing of the next generation, let us remember which generation was the despair of our parents.

Contest Develops In Election of Hospital Directors

Another contest has developed in the three elections to be held here on Saturday, April 5. Mrs. Pat Stelzer has qualified as a candidate for the board of directors of Muenster Hospital District by submitting a petition signed by fifteen qualified voters.

As deadline arrived, on March 11, for announcing candidacy there were five candidates for the four open positions. Others are the incumbents, whose present terms expire this year: J. H. Bayer, Al Trubenbach, Paul Fetsch and Jimmy Jack Biffle.

Voters will vote for four of the five candidates and the four receiving the highest count will be elected.

The hospital board election is one of three to be held at the public school on April 5. The other two are the city council election and the school board election.

City Water Tower Gets Inspection

Activity at the city water tower Wednesday and Thursday is only an inspection, but it is expected to develop into a repair job followed by interior painting.

Joe Mosier, water superintendent, said several pitted spots have been found, some of the paint is gone, and seepage is apparent outside where the standpipe joins with the tank. Apparently welding will be needed to fill the pits and seal the connection between tank and standpipe.

He also said that trouble can reasonably be expected at this time. The last repair and repainting job was done in 1962 and was backed by a five year guarantee. It outlasted its warranty by two years.

Despite the empty tower the city has no fire problem, Mosier added. Pumps are running constantly and maintain adequate pressure in all mains.

Annual Meeting Of Electric Co-op Booked April 28

Directors of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative Association have set their annual meeting date for Monday, April 28, in the Muenster Public School auditorium. Starting time will be 8 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting is to present a report on the past year's business, consider any new business, and hold the annual election of directors. That will be followed by the traditionally popular drawing for attendance prizes consisting of electrical appliances with a combined value of about $700.

Bank Hosts Group Meeting Here on Area Progress

Muenster was headquarters last Thursday for about twenty men from North Texas and South Oklahoma at their regular monthly meeting of Texas-Oklahoma Area Development (TOAD). It was a supper meeting at Rohmer's Restaurant hosted by Muenster State Bank.

The purpose of the organization is to work together in promoting the general economic welfare of the area, especially regarding agricultural and industrial opportunities and road development.

Among the subjects discussed were the Renner pasture program now under way on Al Felderhoff's farm and the upcoming field day at Tony's Feed Lot. Both were recommended as helpful to beef producing people of the TOAD area. Likewise activity at the Montague County Experiment farm was recommended for fruit growers.

On the subject of roads, J. M. Weinzappel recommended united action to secure a bridge over Red River. The project was endorsed by all as a means of improving agricultural markets and trade and bring potential workers nearer to jobs. However, agreement was not unanimous regarding the best location for a crossing.

Cities represented at the meeting were Muenster, Valley View, Gainesville, Sanger, Pilot Point, Saint Jo, Nocona, Bowie and Decatur, Texas, also Marietta and Leon, Okla.

PLAN AFTER PLAN AFTER PLAN

In 1931, a very important Communist book was translated and offered for sale in this country. This wasn't one of those philosophical tomes of Marxism, nor was it a directive to the comrades to guide them in their dirty work in behalf of Mother Russia.

It was a book written for Russian children to tell them what Communism was all about, and the brave new world of the future that socialism opened up for them. So clearly did it show what the Communists expected to do that it was published in this country under the title "New Russia's Primer."

At the outset the book made a distinction between the way things are done in the Soviet Union and the way capitalist nations do them. What it boiled down to was planning; they planned, we didn't. So our production was aimless, much of it wasted, and competition was such the worker suffered from economic nonsense in the capitalist countries.

In Communist USSR, of course, things were different. A lot of diabolically clever commissars in the Kremlin figured out everything that had to be done, and millions of heroic Soviet citizens toiled mightily to produce the essentials for the paradise of Communism. That's what the book said — 38 years ago.

Meanwhile the Soviets have had one plan after another. They've had one famine after another. Granted, they had a war, but so did the rest of Europe, and all Europe except that which the Communists grabbed is far ahead of the USSR, planning notwithstanding.

We bring this up only because the "bridge-builders" here and in Moscow harp insistently on the theme of increasing trade between the US and USSR so as to elevate the standard of living in Communist paradise to a level they'll never attain unless they bury us.

Isn't it time that we told Moscow that they can have the trade they desperately need to keep going, but that they will have to start disavowing some of their plans for our demise, and prove it by cutting out their "wars of liberation" all over the world.

Otherwise, no trade, and let them see how well they can do with another Five-Year-Plan.

WILL COERCION BE LEGALIZED?

From time to time, press reporters have told of the continuing effort to organize California grape pickers. Since the pickers apparently do not wish to be organized, union pressure has taken the form of a nationwide boycott against California table grapes in an attempt to coerce grape growers to sign contracts whether the workers want to join a union or not.

Wholly aside from the merit of the issues involved in the dispute, which it would seem would be a local concern, the boycott tactics have taken an ominous turn. They involve questions of principle that directly affect all merchants and consumers. By intimidation and threats of violence, the boycotters are endeavoring to force merchants to remove grapes from the marketplace. A retailer, hundreds or thousands of miles from California grape fields, may find his place of business under attack and his customers driven away if he refuses to accede to the wishes of the boycotters. He is forced to take sides, irrespective of his convictions and his right to carry on his business as he thinks best.

By forcing removal of an item from store shelves, boycotters are also depriving consumers of freedom of choice and the right to judge for themselves by their patronage the wisdom of a merchant's merchandising policies. If nationwide coercion of consumers and merchant work in the case of attempts to organize grape pickers, there is little question but that the same kind of coercion will be applied elsewhere. It is an intolerable prospect.

"If talk is cheap, they haven't heard about it in Washington. From Jan. 15 through July 31 of the last session of Congress, a total of 25,098 pages of proceedings and extensions of remarks were printed in the Congressional Record. At $113 a page, this monument to political baffle-gab cost the taxpayers about $2.84 million. A lot of it was devoted to speeches lamenting excessive government spending."

CONSOLIDATION NOT THE ANSWER

Legislative action can soon be expected on proposals that will have tremendous impact on our state's public school system and the young people of Texas for years to come.

The recent and controversial report of the Committee on Public School Education is represented in several bills already introduced in both houses of the Legislature.

Of primary concern is the proposal to force the consolidation of 865 of the state's 1,218 districts, creating 353 districts containing no less than 2,600 students. This would obviously eliminate practically every rural and small community school in the state.

Also of great significance is the proposal to institute a sweeping re-evaluation of all real property in Texas, a program that will, for all practical effect, establish the state board of education as a statewide tax assessor for local school taxes.

That this is aimed directly at the thousands of rural landowners and residents in Texas can hardly be doubted, as the committee's report declares: "The Bartlett study verified the fact that city school districts are being cheated in the distribution of state school aid because county tax rolls favor rural areas."

Certainly it should be recognized that there are schools, supporting only a handful of students, that should consider consolidation with neighboring districts; certainly it should be recognized that tax inequities, favoring some rural districts, do exist.

But we submit that arbitrary elimination of our rural schools and the reluctant decay of thousands of rural communities, and the many complex problems arising from the establishment of county-wide and multi-county school districts, is not the answer. Voluntary consolidation should be encouraged, but mere bigness is no guarantee of quality or economy.

We also submit that the tax proposal, that will result in tax bills to our state's rural residents — farmers and ranchers who live on their land and make their living from the land — increasing two, three and four times in size, is certainly as inequitable as is now claimed by the committee on behalf of citizens of metropolitan centers. The old saying that two wrongs don't make a right certainly seems appropriate in this area.

It would appear much more logical and practical, then, while encouraging voluntary consolidation of many of our smaller schools, to seek new ways to improve and upgrade the curricula of these schools and to spend our tax money to help accomplish this goal; to bring advanced and improved educational opportunities to the students rather than forcing them to travel many additional miles per day for their education, and to keep control of our schools where it always has been and always should be — in the hands of our local citizens and taxpayers.

FARMERS WANT OUT

Untold billions of dollars have been spent over the years in an effort to "help the farmer." Far from being helped, the farmer is faced with ever-mounting costs of operation on the one hand, and a mountain of red tape and restrictions on the other. Hopefully the end of this bureaucratic nightmare may be in sight. The largest farm organization in the nation, representing about 1.8 million families, has gone on record in favor of dismantling government farm programs and replacing them with devices to help successful farmers move gradually into a market-oriented economy free of federal controls and payments.

Mr. Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, believes, "the general public is beginning to recognize that a government-planned agriculture is a costly exercise in futility." Farmers have had a longer experience with government planning and subsidies than any group in the country. The significance of their wish to be freed of massive government intervention in their affairs should not be lost on those who have more recently entered into "partnership" with Uncle Sam.

The Portland, Oregon, Traffic Safety Commission revealed that traffic crashes do not just happen — they are caused — and they are primarily the result of mistakes made by drivers. Competent driving overcomes the hazard of accident-making conditions. Defensive driving plus legal driving could eliminate 90 per cent of all traffic crashes.

THE MISSING ASSET

National unemployment figures, like a lot of other statistics, should be taken with several large grains of salt as nearly anyone who tried to employ competent help can testify. A part of the problem is indifference and a lack of the will to work.

According to NEWS DIGEST, a newspaper of Oregon business and industry, "In Los Angeles, an unemployed unskilled man rejected a job as machine operator trainee with the remark, 'How do you expect a man to work for $1.70 an hour?' ... In Detroit, where even unskilled workers can earn about $3.60 an hour, unemployment stands at 6 percent while employers are unable to find badly needed low-skill workers. At a restaurant, a man turned down $75 a week because he could get $56 of tax free relief money just by staying home, and, moreover, could save the cost of getting to and from the job."

The Achilles' heel of a welfare state is that it leads to a breed of people that dissipate a nation's most valuable asset — the will to work.

Peter Pays Paul

The old epigram concerning robbing Peter to pay Paul has usually been considered the epitome of futility, but yet in the present day United States of America this seems a common practice.

Before President Nixon took office, the Congress raised the presidential salary from $100,000 to $200,000 per year. Obviously, compared to the salaries of the chief executives of some lesser organizations, this is still below scale. And probably there is no way to determine what is a fair pay check for the American president, as there is no job in the world to compare with.

But then comes the silly part of this whole procedure. Newspapers immediately reported that out of this $200,000 the President will have a take home pay of some $78,000 per year, with the balance taxes.

Thus, for the President of the United States, as well as every other public employee at all levels, federal, state and local, the taxpayers who pay the salaries actually pay the income taxes for these employees.

Thus, the situation going on could be compared to some hypothetical employer saying to an employee "Look, I'm going to pay you a hundred dollars per week, but you are going to kick back to me twenty-five dollars per week." Of course, any employer who was found out operating in such a manner would be subjected understandably to a great hue and cry.

To further confuse the matter, in order for the tax collector to take back from public employees the tax money paid to them, millions of pieces of paper must be handled, sorted, filed, examined, and shuffled around. And bearing in mind that even people in the armed services, with the exception of the lowest pay grades, are subjected to income taxes, the procedure results in somewhat of a global paper chase.

Of course it can be said that the taxpayers who in this case, are the employers, get the full kickback from the public employees, but this is not accurate either. Obviously, this shuffling of the papers back and forth, the accounting procedures, and other work costs money so that the tax-payer-employers "kickback" are eroded by these costs which might be termed a service charge. In addition, when government goes into a deficit, part of money borrowed at current high interest rates pays these salaries including the "kickbacks."

An end to this financial sleight-of-hand could yield some interesting results such as possibly lower costs to the taxpayers, and a better chance of coming up with a balanced budget. An adjustment of public employee salaries to their present take-home pay level with no taxes imposed would end the tweedledee tweedledee situation.

Blue Bird Group Adds 3 Members

Muenster Blue Birds had their second meeting on March 6 in the home of Mrs. Tommy Herr, one of the leaders. Three new members were welcomed to the original ten making a membership of 13.

The girls made butterflies from pipe cleaners and construction paper and Sherrie Herr served refreshments.

Mrs. Lloyd Trubenbach is the other leader and Mrs. Charles Bayer is sponsor. The group meets once a week, on Thursday. New members are Donna Hennigan, Cathie Fisher and Lisa Krahl.

Third Order Ready For Triduum Set March 16, 17, 18

Members of the Third Order of St. Francis, Sacred Heart Parish, at a meeting Sunday afternoon heard completed plans for their annual triduum which will begin next Sunday, March 16, conducted by the order's provincial Father Bertin Miller of Chicago.

The opening conference will be at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mass for members with short conferences will be at 8:30 a.m. Monday and Tuesday. There'll be one night conference 7:30 Monday night and the solemn closing will be Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. A social hour will follow.

Other business at the meeting was routine, conducted by Mrs. Leo Henscheid, prefect, who also led the prayer service. Members voted to keep the sanctuary light burning for another year in Sacred Heart Church and Mrs. J. W. Fisher gave a spiritual reading.

Then there was the computer that refused to work until it was promised at least two circuit breaks a day.

John H. Streng and Nevada Girl Plan Wedding March 29

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Baleria of Hawthorne, Nev., of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Pat Baleria, and John Henry Streng, Petty Officer third class, U. S. Navy, stationed at Fallon, Nevada. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Streng of Muenster.

The couple's wedding will be solemnized at Mass on March 29, 1 p.m., in Immaculate Conception Church at Hawthorne. The future bridegroom has been based at N.A.A.S. in Fallon since November 1967. His parents are among those who will fly to Hawthorne to attend the wedding.

Plans for Garden Club Meet Change

The time and place for the March meeting of Muenster Civic League and Garden Club changed again this week when it was learned that a Monday night meeting March 17 conflicted with a Parent-Teacher meeting.

The new time for the meeting is 1:30 in the afternoon and the place is at the home of Mrs. Dan Luke with Mrs. Victor Hartman as co-hostess.

And there's a change in the program. The book review by Mrs. John Mosman has been postponed. The annual seed and plant exchange will be held and members will inspect Mrs. Luke's new floral shop.

Afterward they will make a tour of Muenster Hospital grounds and Public School grounds.

At Fort Wolters For Christening

Mrs. Charles Taylor was in Mineral Wells five days to get acquainted with her new grandchild, the infant son of Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. Prentiss Mangum, and was godmother at his baptism Sunday.

Steve Taylor attended as godfather for his nephew. The christening service was held in Fort Wolters base chapel.

Other relatives there for the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fisher, joined there by their daughters Misses Emma and Clara Fisher of Fort Worth.

They were all together for a christening dinner in the home of the new baby's parents afterward.

Mrs. Taylor spent Wednesday through Sunday with her daughter and family. Steve returned home with her. He went to Mineral Wells Saturday with Warrant Officer Mangum who came for him.

Herb McDaniel Is Birthday Honoree

Herb McDaniel celebrated his birthday Sunday afternoon by having his card-playing cronies Lawrence Vogel, Ivan Koelzer and Bill Knabe at his home.

After the card session his wife and niece Lisa Petway served refreshments including birthday cake made and decorated by Lisa for her uncle.

Ag Products of State Promoted In New Campaign

The most intensified promotional campaign in agricultural history has been opened by the Texas Department of Agriculture to make Texas grain-fed beef a household word.

"By the time the next two months are over, we hope that housewives will ask for Texas beef and not just beef," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said in announcing TAP would turn its attention to beef promotion in March and April.

"We are going to do everything short of tying a string around the finger of the housewife to help the consumer remember to watch for the TAP symbol," White said.

The Department, with the help of private associations, will place more than 500 outdoor billboards across the major arteries of the state and will install more than 40,000 full color posters and case strips in 10,000 grocery stores.

The TAP — Texas Agricultural Products — program has proved very successful although still relatively new. It is being used throughout the state to promote home-grown products, with emphasis changed each two months.

Besides the billboard and grocery store displays, the Agriculture Department is providing inserts on Texas beef to be included in bank statements and utility bills.

The campaign was kicked off with a series of news briefings across the state, giving officials a chance to explain the benefits of Texas beef and make available recipes on beef to food and agriculture editors.

Following the news briefings, the Department began a "Beef-A-Rama" series, using meat processing specialists and home economists to give students and teachers the latest in meat-cutting and food preparation.

It is all part of the department's program to promote Texas beef.

"Texas is the number one cattle-producing state in the nation and there is no reason anyone should eat beef from other states," White said. "We have more of it and it is just as good if not better than any other."

"Winter discards will continue to be of use to the Salvation Army," notes Brigadier William A. Browning, commanding officer of the Men's Social Service Center for rehabilitation of homeless, handicapped men for North Texas. "Clothing, appliances, furniture and many other items which will be discarded or replaced this Winter will be refurbished and made useful again," he added. The Center, located in Dallas, helps over 1,000 men each year. Reservoirs of hot water for farm needs is the Big Thing...

but not the only thing about electric water heating.

Electric water heaters simplify all kinds of tough clean-up jobs on the farm because there's always plenty of steamy, hot water whenever you need it. Hot water to keep your barn and dairy buildings sanitariously clean. Plenty for household needs, too.

But that's not all. Electric water heaters are safer, longer lasting. They need no flue. They're easy to install. Fit into even the tiniest spaces. And, low-cost electricity makes them economical to operate. See your electric water heater dealer today or contact the TP&L office in your town for complete information.

County FB Sends Group to District Planning Meeting

Farm Bureau District IV held a planning meeting last Thursday in Dallas at the Baker Hotel. J. T. Woodson, Texas Farm Bureau Director from District IV, lead the discussion of future programs to be implemented by the counties of District IV in the coming months.

The counties will hold a livestock meeting and a field crops meeting to be conducted by a member of the staff of A&M College. The dates for each meeting will be announced later.

Also, being discussed was the Farm Bureau Marketing program now being conducted in many counties in Texas.

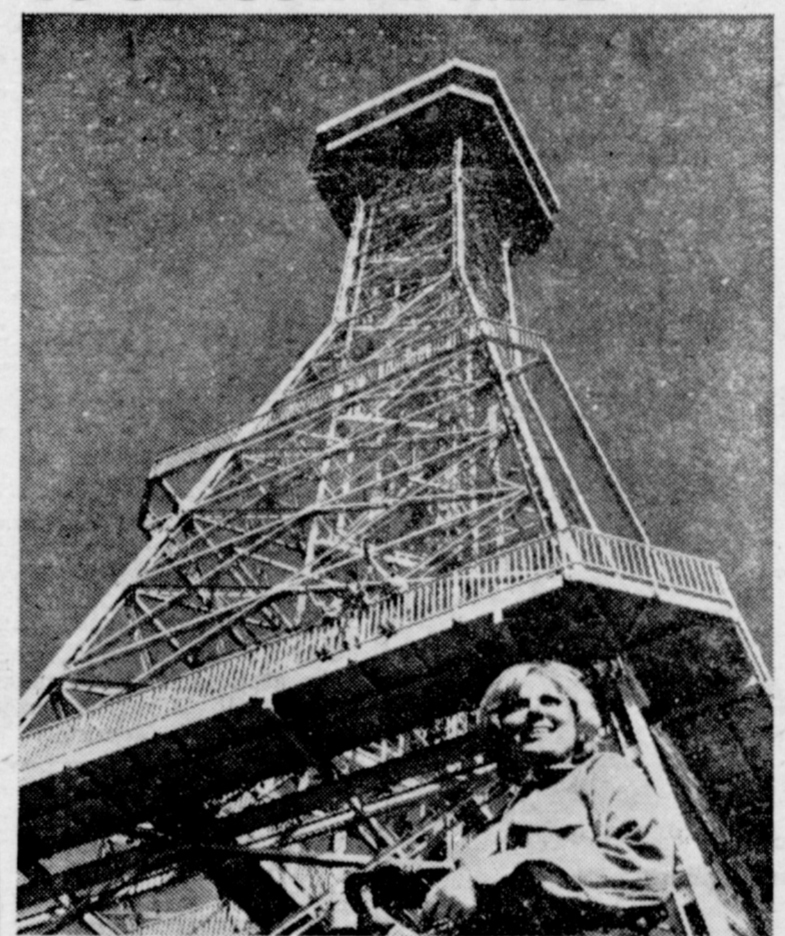

In discussing legislative proposals, Mr. J. T. Woodson emphasized the importance of contacting the elected officials from one's district. This is the only way for them to know how the people feel about proposed legislation.

Among the legislative proposals discussed was the Governor's Report on Public School Education, and the state sales tax.

Those attending from Cooke County were J. T. Cole, County president; Raymond Davidson, Martin Krahl, and Charley Kammerdiener.

The farmer could not catch the one who had been stealing his watermelons, so he put up a sign in his patch: "One of these watermelons has been poisoned." The next morning he noticed that another sign had been added: "Now two of them are poisoned."

SIX FLAGS TO OPEN '69 SEASON APRIL 12

SIX FLAGS Over Texas hostess Jill Tipps caused a slight work stoppage by some members of the construction crew building the Park's newest attraction, the 300-foot Oil Derrick.

Scheduled to be in operation when SIX FLAGS opens the 1969 season on April 12, the Oil Derrick will afford visitors a spectacular view of the 145-acre park from observation platforms near the top of the rig. At the 50-foot level (where workmen are waving), a giant 180-foot-long, 12-lane slide angled down 35 degrees will be built for visitors wishing to make a rapid and rather daring high-speed trip to ground level.

The 19-million-dollar historical-theme park is located between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Arlington, Texas: One of the first signs of Spring came about today as SIX FLAGS Over Texas, the big, historical-theme entertainment park between Dallas and Fort Worth, set the opening of its 1969 season for the weekend of April 12 and 13.

The announcement came from Angus G. Wynne, Jr., founder of SIX FLAGS and Chairman of Great Southwest Corporation, which owns and operates the $19,000,000 park.

SIX FLAGS will be entering its 9th operating season this year and is the State's most popular single tourist attraction, according to the Texas Tourist Development Agency, having drawn over 13,000,000 visitors since opening in 1961.

A large corps of workmen are busily engaged on a $1.4 million expansion program which will add a fresh and exciting array of new rides, attractions and shows for the estimated 2,000,000 people who will visit SIX FLAGS during the 1969 season.

The expansion program is primarily centered on the area between the Texas and U. S. A. sections of the 145-acre park. Here construction on the world's largest land-based oil derrick, which towers 300 feet above SIX FLAGS, is nearly completed.

Designers of the Derrick have ideas other than drilling for oil. Instead, the Oil Derrick will serve as both an observation tower, with a spectacular panoramic view of the entire park stretched out below, and as an unusual ride.

Two elevators capable of carrying 2,000 passengers per hour will carry visitors up to observation platforms near the top. On the return trip down, passengers will have the option of getting off at the 50-foot level, where a giant 180-foot-long, 12-lane slide angled down 35 degrees has been built for a rapid

UN DISCRIMINATES AGAINST AMERICANS

The United States recently charged that American applicants for jobs at the United Nations are being turned down simply because the applicants are Americans. Sounds to us like discrimination. But will the Federal Government cut off the flow of cash to the UN, as the government cuts off grants to Southern school districts that have even a hint of discrimination? Don't you believe it.

One of the interesting things about our presidential elections is the amount of dirt the two parties dig up about each other. We are indebted... for this gem: "Since the Democrats took over the Agricultural Department eighty years ago, we have lost more than 800,000 farms in America. We have lost more than four and a half million farmers. But during that same span of years, we have added in excess of 20,000 workers to the payroll in the Department of Agriculture. The number of farms is down 20 per cent. The number of farmers is down 29 per cent. But the size of the Agricultural Department is up 23 per cent."
