Memorial Set for Local Deceased Of Armed Forces

The phenomenal success of Apollo 10 is being widely hailed as a very good sign of success for the Apollo 11 mission, in which other American astronauts will become the first human beings to set foot on the moon. After witnessing the precise control in every phase of the past week's adventure, the world now can have little if any doubt that the space scientists have the know how to do exactly what they set out to do. Our entire nation has reason to be pleased with the achievement, even to the extent of being less fussy about the astronomical cost.

The feat is still more noteworthy in light of the fact that Russia got off to a big head start. Americans generally conceded that we were a poor second as the Soviets gloried in the unprecedented flight of Sputnik back in the fifties. But our scientists, backed by government, responded with a program that has put us far in front. As of now only a miracle can put the Soviets on the moon first.

But at the same time we hear reports of a scheme whereby our national pride is to be somewhat tarnished on the next trip. Even before the Apollo 10 trio had splashed down, some of our egg head internationalists were proposing that the Number 11 team should not erect Old Glory when it arrives, but rather the UN flag. They want the project to go down in history as a World mission, not an American mission. Give other countries the opportunity to share in this great honor. Yes, arrange the semantics so that Soviets can say "we did it." After that it would not take red propaganda long to evolve with "USSR did it."

Of course we have no fears that Americans will fail to take credit for their job. Just the same it irks us to hear lame brains proposing that we subordinate ourselves to the UN. We resent the idea, which is much too prevalent in this country, that US should meekly play second fiddle to a political conglomeration that is dominated by Moscow.

By this we do not mean that our country ought to stake a claim to the moon. We have a long and honorable record of declining to grab real estate on this planet. Why should we claim it a quarter million miles away? It seems much more appropriate to erect our flag beside a marker stating that Americans don't want the place but they were the first to land there.

One of the better incidents in recent racial relations was Sunday night's "Face to Face" program on Channel 8, in which Murphy Martin interviewed Jerry Levias, SMU's gridiron great of the past few years. The dialogue revealed that the outstanding Negro athlete deserves praise for his attitude as well as his ability.

His belief, he said, is that every person should be judged as an individual, not according to race or nationality. If a person has the ability and willingness to do a good job he deserves his opportunity.

As regards his breaking the color barrier to become the first black player in the Southwest Conference, he said that he asked no favors because of race and SMU exercised no prejudice because of race. The relationship was based on merit all the way.

He had a good message for lots of people of both races. In effect he was telling Negroes that they are out of line in making demands just because they are colored. Also implied was the idea that White prejudice against color is equally out of line. The principle is that there should be neither favoritism nor discrimination because of race. Let every individual be judged on personal qualifications, not on race.

His philosophy would be a good tonic for extremists of both races. Our current racial troubles derive principally from the fact that too many Negroes demand more than they deserve, and too many Whites refuse to see the merits in deserving Blacks. Lots of adjustment is needed on both sides.

Lievias scoffed at black student demands for spending money while attending school. No students are entitled to such handouts. On the other hand he supported Negro demands for courses in Negro

Wilson, Oklahoma Rotary Endorses Bridge Proposal

A bridge across Red River south of Wilson, Okla., and development of roads leading to both sides received endorsement of the Wilson Rotary Club at its regular luncheon Tuesday. J. M. Weinzapfel and Ernest Jaska were there as guests. Also present were two members of the Oklahoma Highway Commission and a state senator.

Mr. Weinzapfel said the Wilson people were enthusiastic about the bridge as a means of creating a direct route from Oklahoma City to Fort Worth and also to improve the area's transportation and trade facilities.

The highway officials and state senator indicated their intention to study the needs of the proposed bridge and the merits of proposed locations, also to confer with the Texas Highway Commission.

Biology Students Hear Dr. Kralicke

The biology class of Sacred Heart High was honored by having Dr. Martin M. Kralicke during four of its regular classes as lecturer.

Topics he discussed included blood type, Rh factor and the human reproductive system. The class and its instructor Sister Theresina have expressed being deeply grateful to Dr. Kralicke for the valuable contribution of his time and talent.

Weather Is Good As Harvest Nears

Farmers of Muenster are sweating out the weather nowadays, hoping that clear skies will still be with them a few days hence when wheat is ready for the combine.

Up to Wednesday neither of the local elevators had received any wheat. Both are expecting their first loads during the weekend or early next week. However, the first grain has arrived. It was a load of barley brought in Monday by Raymond Zimmerer.

Another kind of harvesting continues at full speed. Balers are busy making hay in the oats fields. That work has been interrupted by showers a few times, but on the whole the job is proceeding satisfactorily.

Reports on yields are also pleasing. Crops of the oats have been generally high and wheat is expected to be normal or better.

The bad feature, however, is price, just as it was last year. According to the local buyers wheat will probably sell at $1.15 to $1.20.

Local grain dealers are the same as last year. Tony's Seed and Feed operates the elevator north of the Katy railroad; Muenster Mill is at the elevator south of the tracks; Stockmen's Feed Store operates the Myra elevator.

Sunday's exemplification and celebration will commemorate the 25th anniversary of the local assembly, which was formed after Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr, native of the community. Certificate of organization was presented by Dr. E. W. Laake, then master of the district, on May 21, 1944 at a celebration featured by Pontifical Mass and banquet. Mr. Weinzapfel, chief organizer of the assembly became its first faithful navigator.

Grads Get Diplomas

At Public School At Sacred Heart

Graduates of Muenster High School were given the answer to problems which plague campuses and cities and nations nowadays. Just do what is pleasing to God.

That advice was given by The Very Reverend Monsignor Fred Mosman in his commencement address last Friday night in the public school auditorium.

The speaker referred to violence, immorality, dope, injustice, arson, murder and other evils which cast a blemish on current living, and then asked "Are we so blind that we cannot see the obvious?" All of those problems are violation of the law of God.

Monsignor Mosman quoted a basic theological principle: "Man's purpose is to know and love and serve God in this life in order to be happy with Him in the next," which is also the way to happiness here and now.

His parting wish to the grads was achievement of their goals for God's glory and the welfare of mankind.

Thirty five students received high school diplomas from Urban Endres, president of the school board, assisted by Superintendent L. B. Bruns. Thirty four received elementary diplomas from Ed Cler, vice president of the board, assisted by Principal Charles Cash. Leaders of the departments also received special scholastic awards from Mr. Cash.

Also on the program were Ray Wilde, secretary of the board, introducing the speaker; Susie Yosten in the valedictory; Jan Wilde in the salutatory; Vivian Aytes, eighth grade valedictorian in the invocation; and Nancy Shasteen, eighth grade salutatorian in the benediction.

There were two vocal numbers, one by a quintet including Debbie Yosten, Laurie Wimmer, Christi Cler, Sue Flusche and Cheryl Otto, and the other by a trio including Miss Bettye Dodds and Mr. and Mrs. James Shelton.

Gareld Payne played for professional and recessional. Bobby Bruns and David Fette were ushers.

Special awards were presented as follows. For prompt and regular attendance, Kenny Rohmer, Debbie Hermes, Joan Monday, Jo Ellen Trubenbach, Dale Hellman, Alvin Hoenig, Don Sicking and Roy Lee Rennels.

Outstanding students: in band, Renita Walterscheid; industrial arts, Dennis Lutkenhaus; homemaking, Kathleen Sicking; business, Roy Lee Rennels.

Best all-round boy, David Fette; most athletic girl, Debbie Yosten; most athletic boy, John Monday.

Outstanding student in agriculture, science, social studies and highest grade in MHS in national math test, Lynn Joe Klement.

Balfour award for loyalty, scholarship and achievement, Don Hartman.

At the 5th six weeks she and Jan Wilde were tied for second place and each was awarded a trophy on that basis. Grades in the last six weeks broke the tie in favor of Jan for church related scholarship and salutatory address.

Best all around girl, church related scholarship and salutatory trophy, Jan Wilde with 4 year average of 91.918.

Outstanding student in English and math, church related scholarship, valedictorian scholarship, ETSU scholarship, Reader's Digest award, valedictory trophy, Karen Susan Yosten with 4 year average of 94.846.

Graduates of high school and the eighth grade were listed last week.

Sister Gerarda, math teacher at SH High, will be in Houston again this summer working with a committee on revision of math curriculum. She is the representative from the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese. Sister Gerarda left here Wednesday for the motherhouse in Jonesboro, Ark., will be there until she goes to Houston June 9. She'll be there to July 26.

Sacred Heart High School graduates Sunday night were asked to take their inspiration from the day's feast, Pentecost, as they take their places in the adult world.

Father Joseph Schumacher of Denton, speaker of the commencement service in Sacred Heart Church, told the seniors to begin their careers with the same attitude that the apostles took with them from the original Pentecost, a love of mankind. He said that love of man is inseparable from the love of God.

He recommended seeing Jesus in the man next door and striving to make this a better world by favoring him with help and kindness. He quoted St. Paul as saying that practicing sincere love to one's neighbor is serving God. Furthermore, Father Schumacher added, Christian love is the way to a happy, joyful personal life and a welcome improvement of dismal conditions.

Twenty seven high school students and 26 elementary students received diplomas at the service which was held along with the regular 7 o'clock Mass, with Father Benedict Buerger as the celebrant.

The ceremony opened with a procession of graduates, clergy and altar boys as the congregation sang while Lynn Klement and Dwayne Rohmer accompanied on trumpets and Mary Lou Kralicke accompanied on the organ. The same singers had the same accompanists for the recession.

The Most Reverend Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr was assisted by Father Placidus Eckart, pastor and superintendent, as he presented diplomas to the high school and eighth grade grads.

The Bishop also presented special awards to five elementary students for highest grades in their respective classes during the past year. Winners were Judy Fisher, fourth grade; Sharon Rohmer, fifth grade; Laura Kralicke, sixth grade; Cheryl Bayer, seventh grade; Myron Hess, eighth grade. Parents of the children are Messrs. and Mmes. Earl Fisher, Urban Rohmer, Martin Kralicke, George Bayer and Al Hess.

Special awards in high school, previously a part of commencement, were conducted as a special all awards banquet and dance Saturday night. At that event all year end scholastic awards were presented and earlier awards received certificates for letters earned in sports. Valedictory and salutatory speeches were also on the program.

Grads of both high school and elementary at Sacred Heart were named in the Enterprise last week.

Graduates of Muenster High School were given the answer to problems which plague campuses and cities and nations nowadays. Just do what is pleasing to God.

That advice was given by The Very Reverend Monsignor Fred Mosman in his commencement address last Friday night in the public school auditorium.

The speaker referred to violence, immorality, dope, injustice, arson, murder and other evils which cast a bluish on current living, and then asked "Are we so blind that we cannot see the obvious?" All of those problems are violation of the law of God.

Monsignor Mosman quoted a basic theological principle: "Man's purpose is to know and love and serve God in this life in order to be happy with Him in the next," which is also the way to happiness here and now.

His parting wish to the grads was achievement of their goals for God's glory and the welfare of mankind.

Thirty five students received high school diplomas from Urban Endres, president of the school board, assisted by Superintendent L. B. Bruns. Thirty four received elementary diplomas from Ed Cler, vice president of the board, assisted by Principal Charles Cash. Leaders of the departments also received special scholastic awards from Mr. Cash.

Also on the program were Ray Wilde, secretary of the board, introducing the speaker; Susie Yosten in the valedictory; Jan Wilde in the salutatory; Vivian Ayles, eighth grade valedictorian in the invocation; and Nancy Shasteen, eighth grade salutatorian in the benediction.

Sister Gerarda left here Wednesday for the motherhouse in Jonesboro, Ark., will be there until she goes to Houston June 9. She'll be there to July 26.

Sacred Heart High School graduates Sunday night were asked to take their inspiration from the day's feast, Pentecost, as they take their places in the adult world.

Father Joseph Schumacher of Denton, speaker of the commencement service in Sacred Heart Church, told the seniors to begin their careers with the same attitude that the apostles took with them from the original Pentecost, a love of mankind. He said that love of man is inseparable from the love of God.

He recommended seeing Jesus in the man next door and striving to make this a better world by favoring him with help and kindness. He quoted St. Paul as saying that practicing sincere love to one's neighbor is serving God. Furthermore, Father Schumacher added, Christian love is the way to a happy, joyful personal life and a welcome improvement of dismal conditions.

Twenty seven high school students and 26 elementary students received diplomas at the service which was held along with the regular 7 o'clock Mass, with Father Benedict Buerger as the celebrant.

The ceremony opened with a professional of graduates, clergy and altar boys as the congregation sang while Lynn Klement and Dwayne Rohmer accompanied on trumpets and Mary Lou Kralicke accompanied on the organ. The same singers had the same accompanists for the recession.

The Most Reverend Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr was assisted by Father Placidus Eckart, pastor and superintendent, as he presented diplomas to the high school and eighth grade grads.

The Bishop also presented special awards to five elementary students for highest grades in their respective classes during the past year. Winners were Judy Fisher, fourth grade; Sharon Rohmer, fifth grade; Laura Kralicke, sixth grade; Cheryl Bayer, seventh grade; Myron Hess, eighth grade. Parents of the children are Messrs. and Mmes. Earl Fisher, Urban Rohmer, Martin Kralicke, George Bayer and Al Hess.

Special awards in high school, previously a part of commencement, were conducted as a special all awards banquet and dance Saturday night. At that event all year end scholastic awards were presented and earlier awards were reviewed and athletes received certificates for letters earned in sports. Valedictory and salutatory speeches were also on the program.

Grads of both high school and elementary at Sacred Heart were named in the Enterprise last week.

I AM A REACTIONARY!
 Just for the record — and without apology — I AM A REACTIONARY! I re-act to sin and sadism, riots and revolution, gutlessness and Godlessness! I re-act to Hedonism and humanism; to philosophies and sophistries which seek to destroy those values which made this country great; which fashioned the fabric of civilized mankind.

I re-act to dancing the permissive polka with those who'd whirl me all the way to Hell while whispering that God is Dead and the Devil a myth; to those ministers who'd convert my house of worship into a hootenanny hall or political forum.

I re-act to the emasculation of my Faith in the name of humanistic togetherness; to my love for the Holy Bible, my loyalty to the flag and my esteem for the police.

I re-act to being scourged with the lash of collective guilt — as if I personally poured liquor down the alcoholic's throat, peddled the heroin, mugged the little old lady, created the slum and invented The Bomb!

I re-act to the glorification of welfareism over work; Pot over pink lemonade, the Pill over purity; demonstration over dedication; desire over discipline, nihilism over nobility; selfishness over sacrifice, hauteur over humility, "rights" over right.

I re-act to the portrayal of my American friends as "Fascist beasts" and Ho Chi Minh as Santa Claus, to those who consider love as nothing more than the sex act; who preach "peace" to promote surrender. I re-act to student radicals who are so enamored of their own worth that they must destroy all other worths — who are FOR nothing except their "right" to be against everything!

I re-act to the stupefying sentimentality of amateur dogooders who, like carved wooden monkeys, see no evil, speak no evil and hear no evil — even when it runs riot with a shotgun, molotov cocktail or plastic bomb; who would re-write Little Red Riding Hood to have her "rehabilitate" the wolf while screaming "hatemonger" at the rescuing woodsman!

You'd better believe I'm a reactionary. In my book, it's time all responsible adults began re-acting instead of suffering the insults, inconveniences and intimidations of a noisy minority who would sacrifice their own freedom and ours on the altar of atheistic materialism. If we did, the kooks and creeps would crawl back under their rocks, and this tired old world would have time to bind its wounds and regain its sense of humor. — Patricia Young, Vancouver 9, British Columbia, Canada.

GUN SHY

Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) has been designated by the liberals to ram through Congress legislation requiring the federal registration of all privately owned firearms. The proposed registration is identical with the "model gun law" of the District of Columbia which requires the gun license applicant to submit to police fingerprinting and "mug shots" (pictures) of the applicant. Fingerprints and pictures will be sent to the FBI for identification. Persons who have ever been convicted of felony will be denied licenses. In fact, the issuance of licenses is optional. There is a license fee of $2.

A veteran legislator told a "Washington Observer" reporter off-the-record: "If Teddy Kennedy wants to take guns away from everybody, there is nobody in the Congress that can stop him. He's got just that much emotional power due to his martyred brothers. Federal registration of firearms is unenforceable — but that makes no difference."

Sixty-seven members of the Senate and House have introduced federal firearms legislation in the new Congress. Some of the bills seek to exempt ammunition from federal regulation under the Gun Control Act of 1968, but most of the bills add new restrictions and increase penalties.

Annual cost of a thorough federal gun registration and owner licensing system is estimated at $438,420,000 by a team of law enforcement experts retained by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence. This, of course, does not include money spent by the states in gun enforcement control. And the FBI would have to check the fingerprints of 50 million gun owners.

It has been the pattern of all dictatorships to first require the registration of all firearms, then seize the arms, and finally jail the gun owners.

"Teddy Kennedy apparently wants not only to block the Anti-Ballistic Missile program, but also wants to disarm the private citizens, too," a Capitol Hill reporter wisecracks. And it might be added that if his brothers had been killed with a knife, ice-pick, cane or broom-handle he would probably want to outlaw those weapons, too!

"Basically, it is unrealistic to expect that federal gun registration law in addition to a host of existing state laws can persuade criminals to register their guns. All such laws can do is persuade honest people to register — and honest people do not commit crime." — Washington Observer.

HUNTING DIRTY MONEY

American and Swiss officials spent several days recently in quiet talks about an issue that has long been a thorn in the side of United States law enforcement agencies — those super-secret, numbered Swiss bank accounts.

Big-shot criminals, tax dodgers, and financial sharpies of all types have squirreled away millions of dollars in such accounts. The government is coaxing the Swiss to agree to some arrangement whereby the United States could get a peek at the dealings of American hoodlums through Swiss banks. Cracking down on organized crime would be much simpler if this country could track illicit money to those banks, and also learn when and where the dough is reinvested.

It is a touchy issue in Switzerland, which generally takes the attitude that the money in a numbered account is nobody's business but the depositor's. The fact that the Swiss are even talking, however cautiously, with the United States about making exceptions to that policy is encouraging. We hope our officials won't give up until they get a satisfactory agreement — one that will deprive mob leaders, at least, of a safe haven for their dirty money. — New York Daily News

FOR US, THE LIVING

A DAY IN MAY

Military cemeteries in Aisne Mame, Flanders Field, Surrey, Brittany, Carthage, Mexico City, Manila and Pearl Harbor are but a few of the final resting places of thousands of Americans who fought and died for freedom. Thousands more have been brought home for burial in military and civilian cemeteries where their silent headstones pay them the tribute of a grateful nation.

A day has been set aside to honor these men and women. Some call it Memorial Day; others call it Decoration Day. By whatever name, it should be an occasion — today more than ever — to pause and reflect: "What are we doing to make certain this precious and highly perishable thing called freedom continues to live?"

The desecration of the flag, the defiance of authority, the rebellion against military service — all so rampant in our land — make us wonder. Have these men died in vain?

President Nixon says, "You can't build America up by tearing her down."

Over two hundred years ago, our ancestors created a system of order that detractors in our midst now refer to derisively as "The Establishment." Our forebears built and preserved this nation not by force of arms but by giving us an environment in which industrial, scientific, educational and social progress and development were possible. It is now up to us to build on what we have inherited, not tear it to shreds.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower whose entire life was dedicated to preserving the American ideal, vowed to "leave the land better than I found it."

Can we do less without dishonoring those for whom this day of tribute has been set aside?

OOPS! PARDON ME AGAIN

In the December issue of the Dairymen's League News was the following story, told first in our office by Editor Gordon Conklin, and passed in to our salesmen by Publisher Jim Hall. I think it is one of the best I have heard in a long time:

A small daily rural paper publish this classified ad: "For Sale: Slightly used farm wench in good condition. Very handy. Phone 2456, Charles Smith."

"The next day the paper printed a correction. 'Due to an unfortunate error, Mr. Smith's advertisement last night was not clear. He has an excellent winch for sale. We trust this will put an end to the jokesters who have called Mr. Smith and greatly bothered his housekeeper, Mrs. Jones, who lives with him.'

"The following day this advertisement appeared:

"NOTICE: My winch is not for sale! I put a sledge hammer to it. Don't bother calling 2456. I had the phone taken out. I am not carrying on with Mrs. Jones. She merely loves with me. — Charles Smith."

THE VOTING AGE

Many a parent with children between the ages of 18 and 20 feels that the politicians who are pressing for a reduction of the voting age requirement to 18 years, ought to be required to take an examination to test their intelligence. Probably no one really knows just when a growing child reaches what could be called maturity. At 18 years they are strong, frequently lazy, and let's face it, incredibly dumb.

One may be sure that if an 18 year old can be fired up enough to get up and go to a polling place on election day, it will be because somebody has sold him a bill of goods, and not because he did enough thinking to form a judgment of his own. The idea of the politician must be that the classroom is an easier place to "buy" votes than door to door campaigning, and cheaper than radio or television exposure.

Why have any voting age it all? Our courts have said that one need not know how to read or write to be eligible to vote.

Jaycees List Roster and Schedule For Little League Baseball Season

Muenster Jaycees and 104 Little League ball players got their lineups and schedules of the season organized Sunday in a short 1 p.m. session at the ball park.

The net result is that they have a two division league which will have double header games Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights starting next Monday night, June 2, and ending Monday night, July 14. The divisions will play alternate nights.

Each division has four teams named after their sponsors. In the junior division are Growing Brothers, Tuggle Motor Co., Wilde Chevrolet and Muenster State Bank. In the senior loop are Muenster Mill, Endres Motor Co., Cooke County Electric Co-op and The Center.

Each loop will have nine double header dates making up a triple round robin schedule in which each team will play each other loop member three times.

The Jaycees also adopted a set of regulations for the season, including the following.

Each boy is responsible for his uniform and will return it at the end of the season. Uniforms must be worn unless otherwise authorized. Metal cleats are optional and batters must wear head gear. All personnel except players, managers and officials must remain in the stands.

Each player must play at least three innings a game. A batting team is retired after three outs or five runs.

A junior league pitcher is limited to 3 innings per game. A senior league pitcher is limited to 6 innings a week.

Runners can advance only one base on a ball missed or thrown out of the field.

Managers, umpires and players are to be present at least 10 minutes before game time. Practice time on the field is limited to 15 minutes when another team is waiting.

Last team listed on the schedule is the home team. In case of postponed games, they will be played at the end of the season.

Jaycees, managers and umpires are responsible for keeping order in the stands. Fire crackers, rowdiness and ice throwing are prohibited.

Heeding Better Than Speeding for Label Reading

Have you joined America's popular new educational trend... speed reading?

Whether or not you decide to increase your ability to read fast, keep in mind there are times when reading accurately is more important than reading speedily.

One such time is when you read the label on a medicine container, says the Council on Family Health. Taking or giving medicine is so important to the health and safety of you and your family that you should understand the directions you are reading, and then double check yourself.

If you want to measure how well you understand what you read, test yourself by reading a medicine label in your home, says the Council, a non-profit organization sponsored as a public service by leading members of the drug industry.

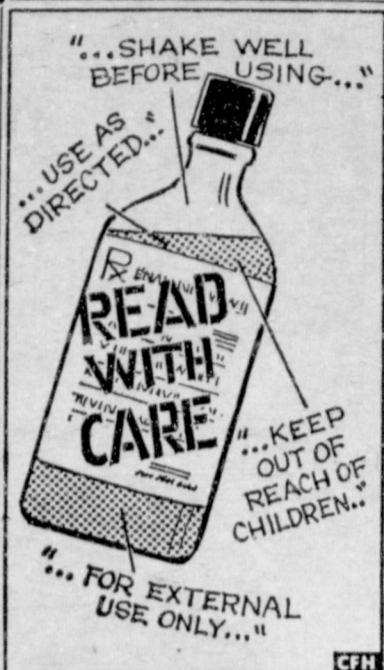

Did you note the amount of medicine to be taken? Does the dosage vary for adults and children? How often should the medicine be taken?

If a liquid, should you shake the container well before pouring? Is it for external or internal use?

Does the label state the purpose of the medicine?

Are there instructions for proper storage... such as "Keep in a cool place." Should you take the medicine before or after eating?

Are there cautions as to certain activities that should be curtailed or discontinued while taking the medicine? Not all medicine labels contain all of the information listed above, but all information on each label is important. Heeding rather than speeding is the watchword when reading directions for the use of medicine, says the Council on Family Health.

Tetanus Shot May Be a Life Saver

AUSTIN — If the warm spring weather has drawn you out to work in the yard — when it's not raining, that is — and you haven't had a tetanus immunization, you are, in fact, giving tetanus an open invitation to pay you a visit.

Last year it visited 17 persons in Texas — and all but seven died. Of the 10 deaths, at least eight had not been immunized against tetanus, according to State Health Department morbidity reports.

Often referred to as "lockjaw," tetanus is no respecter of persons — either by age or residence. It hits anywhere.

In 1968, the disease struck down two infants one year of age. It also claimed victims in the 1-to-4 age group, and age groups of 5-to-9, 10-to-19, 30-to-39, 50-to 59 and 60 and older.

Tetanus is definitely a killer. Even when treatment is started immediately, about one-third of the victims die anyway.

Fortunately, there is an effective and safe immunization procedure against this disease.

However, an initial series of tetanus inoculations will not help if given after an injury. A booster will do, if you've had initial protection.

Spores of the bacteria which cause tetanus are almost everywhere. They are found in soil, street dust and animal droppings, particularly in manured soil. A scratch, cut or open sore may allow some of the unseen spores to enter the body.

Once inside the body, these spores turn into a form of tetanus germ which may secrete a powerful toxin — or poison. One-fourth teaspoonful of this toxin is enough to kill 100,000 people.

In humans, the toxin causes muscle spasms, convulsions and frequently, death. The label "lockjaw" refers to a spasms of the jaw muscle which clamps the jaw shut.

Unless you have had a basic tetanus immunization in the armed forces or from your family doctor, you must do so before injury to be protected.

In many Texas school systems, local rules require that all students entering school for the first time show proof that they have been immunized for certain diseases; tetanus is sometimes one of the required immunizations.

But in the preschool group and for adults who have not been immunized for tetanus or whose immunization effectiveness has expired, the need certainly exists.

Why take a chance?

"Clara," the young, vain man said over the telephone, "I'm getting so forgetful. I proposed to you last night, but I've forgotten whether you said 'yes' or 'no'."

"Sorry, Jack," she answered. "I knew I said 'no' to someone last night, but I had forgotten who it was."

Cub Scouts Race
 Cars; Plan Coming
 Outdoor Activity

A final race of their Pine-wood model cars Monday night ended indoor programming for Muenster Cub Scouts and they and their leaders turned attention to outdoor activity for the coming summer months.

Planned for entertainment at the June meeting are a hay ride and wiener roast at Ray Voth's Lake. It will be on Sunday, June 29, 7 p.m., instead of the usual Monday.

In the race of winners the grand champ was Kent Fuhrman and runnerup was Bill Murch. They received a flashlight and pocketknife, respectively. Blue ribbons were awarded first place and red ribbons second place winners in the preliminaries.

Father Andrew Wewer and Glenn Rohmer were judges. The cars raced on a track built by dads and Father Andrew in Sacred Heart High Gym.

Clyde Fisher conducted the business meeting and assisted Alvin Hartman, cubmaster, in presenting awards earned by the boys the past month. Parents present pinned badges on their sons.

The pack's new charter was presented to Joe Sicking, representing sponsoring groups, the VFW Post and Knights of Columbus Council, Ed Schneider, scoutmaster, and his troop were present and Schneider commended Sicking for having ten years in the scouting program.

Handicrafts made by the Cubs were on display.

Refreshments were served by Den IV with Mrs. Charlie Pagel, den mother, in charge.

Winning awards were Jackie Endres, Wolf; Gen Luttmef, Carl Pagel, Dwayne Knabe and Pat Walterscheid, Bobcat; Mike Richardson and Danny Walterscheid, Bear; Jackie Endres and Doug Cler, Gold Arrow; Gary Rohmer, Silver Arrow.

Den Chief John Schneider assisted by Gerry Cash presented Webelos awards as follows:

Bill Murch and Dannie Fisher, Travelers; Bobby Endres, Dannie Fisher, Mark Cler, Robert Grewing, Brent Hess, Charles Hess, George Luke, Bill Murch, Joey Sicking, Bobby Schmitz, Randy Williams, Mike Hofbauer and Albert Zimmere Jr. Craftsman.

$251,000 a Month Paid in County by Social Security

A record $251,000 in monthly social security benefits was being paid to residents of Cooke County at the end of December 1968, an increase of 4% above the amount payable at the end of Feb. 1968, according to Gus Jones, district manager for social security.

"Throughout the country, monthly benefits payable at the end of 1968 amounted to nearly $2.1 billion, some $350 million higher than at the end of 1967," Jones continued. "Approximately three-quarters of the increased monthly amount resulted from higher benefit rates authorized by the 1967 Amendments to the Social Security Act. The remainder of the increase was simply due to a greater number of beneficiaries."

By the end of May 1969, social security will be paying benefits to more than 25 million people — 1 out of every 8 Americans. Although retired workers comprise the largest group of beneficiaries, almost one-fourth of all people receiving benefits are under 60. There are currently more than 3.8 million children and 5 million young widowed mothers receiving payments. Yet the public continues to think of social security as a program for old people.

In Cooke County, 714 people under 60 are receiving benefits. That figure breaks down into 398 under 18, 74 18-21, and 242 22-59.

Many students would have been unable to continue their educations were it not for the 1965 Amendments to the Social Security Act which extended survivors and dependents insurance benefits to students until their 22nd birthdays. In 1968, that provision resulted in continuing benefits for 470,000 students.

Monthly payments to the family of a worker who dies leaving a widow and two or more children range from $82.50 to $434.40 a month, depending on the worker's average earnings under social security. Payments to the young family of a worker who dies at an early age could total as much as $85,000 to $100,000.

Jones also pointed out that by the end of 1968, approximately 90 percent of Americans 65 and over were receiving cash benefits or would have been eligible for such benefits if they or their spouses had not been working.

In terms of Medicare, almost all people in the country 65 or over are eligible for hospital insurance benefits. Likewise, 95 percent of all older persons in the country have elected coverage under the voluntary supplementary medical insurance plan which pays physicians' fees.

George Washington never told a lie, but then he never had to file a 1040 form either.

Willie's mother took him to his first movie. After watching the picture for a while, she noticed he was chewing gum. She whispered, "Willie, where did you get that gum?" "Under the seat, mother. Didn't you get yours?"

Worst thing about growing old is having to listen to a lot of advice from one's children.

"John," wailed the wife, "that woman next door has a hat just like mine!" "Well," sighed her husband, "I suppose that means you want to buy another one." "Well, it would be cheaper than moving."

Why Plymouth?

(Instead of a Chevy.)

Plymouth Fury III has front torsion-bar suspension for better handling. Chevy Impala still has coil springs that bounce up and down.

Fury III has 195.1 sq. in. brake lining area. Impala has only 184.3 sq. ins.

Fury III has a single-unit welded body for strength. Impala construction still bolts body to a frame.

To fight rust, Fury III is prepared by a 7-step dip-and-spray treatment. Impala preparation is only by spray.

Fury III wheelbase is a longer 120 ins. for smooth ride. Impala's wheelbase is 119 ins.

Interior room of Fury II is greater than Impala, greater than any car in its class.

Fury III's door opening is 27 1/2 ins. for easy entry. Impala opens to only a 24 1/4 in. entrance.

Fury III gives you 3 cu. ft. more trunk room than Impala.

Fury III's instrument panel is fully floodlit. Impala lighting still comes from behind the instruments.

Ammeter and temperature indicators in Fury III are precision gauges. Impala indicators are lights that come on when trouble occurs.

Fury III has a three-spoke padded steering wheel with horn ring. Impala's is not padded and has only two spokes and horn buttons.

Electric clock? Standard in Fury III. Extra-cost option in Impala.

Add it up, and you see why over 1/4 million owners of competitive cars have been won over to Plymouth in the past two years.

Plus, right now, we're putting the big stuff on special Furies (vinyl roof, automatic transmission, radio, power brakes and steering, 8.25 x 15 whitewalls, and deluxe wheel covers) and reducing the price. Why Plymouth? Is there any better way to get a great car and save money in the bargain? See us now.

Plymouth Unbeatables put on the big stuff...

Mosquitoes Thrive In Wet Weather

COLLEGE STATION, May 8 — Due to the heavy and frequent rains throughout most of the state, mosquitoes are a problem in nearly all parts of Texas, says John G. Thomas, Extension entomologist at Texas A&M University.

Their persistent attack can cause farm animals to lose weight through continual biting and annoyance. Some species of mosquitoes transmit disease such as malaria and yellow fever to man, encephalitis to man and horses and heartworm to dogs.

Mosquitoes breed primarily in the spring, summer and fall months, but in extreme South Texas, they may reproduce throughout the year. They pass through four stages of development — egg, larva, pupa, and adult. All mosquitoes require water to produce their young, as females lay their eggs on water or in places that later become flooded, said Thomas.

In warm weather, the eggs of most species hatch in two or three days. However, some species require a drying period. They may remain dormant for many months, then hatch within minutes after being flooded by a spring or summer rain, or a tide, noted the entomologist.

Effective mosquito control is often a complex task, frequently requiring the cooperative efforts of individual home owners as well as such groups as industry, agriculture, state and local governments, pointed out Thomas.

Home owners should take every precaution to prevent the pests from breeding on their premises by eliminating standing water. Some of the more common problems are dripping outdoor faucets and leaky pipes, puddles resulting from evaporative cooler drainage, and tin cans and other articles which might trap and hold even small quantities of water. The proper use of insecticides around the home also aids in controlling mosquitoes.

Those engaged in agriculture, particularly where irrigation is involved, should observe proper water management in preventing mosquito breeding. Wise use of irrigation water and proper drainage to prevent standing water will aid greatly in reducing mosquito numbers. Treat fish ponds with unleaded gasoline, and stock tanks with kerosene, said Thomas.

For additional information on mosquito control, or for proper sprays to use, contact your local county agent, State Health Department, or the Texas Mosquito Control Association.

Morton House Changes to Early Cowboy Bunkhouse

The scene in the Morton Museum's log cabin has been changed again — this time to depict a bunk house as used by early-day cowboys.

The invention of barbed wire about the time of the Civil War and its production in quantity which was begun in 1874 by Joseph F. Glidden served, along with the advent of the railroad, to spell the doom of the open range and of the cattle drives to market in the North. Glidden formed a partnership with I. L. Ellwood and established a small factory in DeKalb, Illinois. In 1875 their agent, H. B. Sanborn, was sent to the "cowtown" of Gainesville, Texas, which had been selected as the most appropriate site in Texas for launching the sale of their new product. Sanborn sold his first 10 rolls of barbed wire to a merchant here, and some of this wire may still be seen in Cooke County. He subsequently established a ranch in Grayson County, and he and Glidden established the "Frying Pan" ranch in the Texas Panhandle, on which Sanborn laid out the site of Amarillo.

As landowners fenced in their property, they aroused the enmity of the advocates of the open range. Enmity, strife, litigation, and legislation ensued. Wire-cutting became a crime, and the era of the large ranches was launched.

Over the mantel in the bunk house is a mounted pair of Texas longhorns with a six-foot span. Also on exhibit are muzzle-loader guns, a hunter's lantern, and a mink skin, hanging as if just brought in from the kill. The cowboy's chaps, his hat, boots, spurs, and his bootjack are all there, looking as if they had just been used.

Hanging over a bed is a portrait of an Indian made on aluminum by the famous trick shot artist, Ad Topperwein. Subsequent to his death Hopperwein was given a place in the Texas Sports Hall of Fame. During the 1890's he traveled the vaudeville circuit throughout the United States and Mexico, exhibiting his remarkable marksmanship. In 1901 he began a 36-year career with Winchester Arms as an exhibition shooter. His most publicized feat was at San Antonio Fair Grounds in December 1907, when he broke 72,491 wooden blocks, 2 1/2 inches in size, out of 72,500 thrown for him in 10 days of shooting.

Also on exhibition in connection with the bunkhouse scene are saddles, including a side saddle, branding irons, a collection of barbed wire, wire cutters, wire stretchers, the "cowboy's flag" which was used for everything from a neckerchief to a blindfold for a skittery horse, to hanging a horse thief.

Items shown which are reminiscent of the turn-of-the-century era of the bunkhouse for the "hands" of the big ranch are the ox yoke, mulebits, mule shears, bridles, a blacksmith's sledge hammer, a metal cattle yoke, a hog holder, and a chuck wagon box.

Typifying not only the early-day cowboy era but also the era of the penmanship artist is a picture entitled "Cowboy" made by Professor J. R. McFarren here in Gainesville in 1886. Made completely by penmanship, the picture shows not only the cowboy, but also trees and other vegetation of the area as well as rabbits, snakes, and other forms of wildlife.

The Morton Museum is open to the public Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m. Sponsored groups may visit it at any time by making special arrangements with Margaret Hays, Administrator (telephone HO5-4854).

State Adopts New Policy Relative to School Transfers

AUSTIN — Texas parents who wish to transfer their children from one public school to another — without changing their own place of residence — have been given a new route by the State Legislature.

This new plan is outlined in detail by the Texas Education Agency in a letter mailed to school superintendents throughout the state Monday (May 26).

The act, passed by the 61st Legislature and signed by Governor Preston Smith on May 9, repeals transfer methods which have been in effect since 1925 and 1935.

Parents will no longer apply for transfer to the county superintendent. Instead, they will now go directly to the superintendent of the school district they wish their children to enter. The parent or guardian of the child must apply in writing at the receiving school superintendent's office. If the district agrees to receive the non-resident student, the parents or guardian will be notified in writing.

The old June 1 deadline for filing transfer applications will be extended, probably by several weeks, when the State Board of Education meets in Austin June 7. Agency officials explained. The board is also expected to adopt policies for implementing the new law.

Parents who have already applied for transfer to the county superintendents office will be notified in writing to contact the receiving school district. If their applications have already been sent to the county office, they will be forwarded to the receiving school district.

Parents who transfer their children into another district may be required to pay tuition if the grades are taught in the home district. If, however, the grades are not taught, the home district pays the tuition.

The fee paid by parents may not exceed the difference between what it costs the school district to support a student and the state funds received. This amount will be based on the per student costs during the 1968-69 school year. The state per capita funds for each child transferred out of his home district will travel with him. Average daily attendance, if any, recorded in the home district during the previous year will also be transferred.

The new law, which goes into effect immediately, applies to all Texas school children over six and under 21 years of age who are not high school graduates.

The nation's building construction costs are climbing at a rate only slightly slower than women's hemlines.

The man who doesn't advertise is like the man who winks in the dark. He knows what he is doing — but nobody else does.
