VOLUME XXXV

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 JULY 9, 1971

NUMBER 33

The beginning of the bi-centennial era commemorating the signing of the Declaration of Independence has been very gratifying. It seems that all over the country, in the press, radio and TV, more emphasis was placed on the patriotic theme than had been for many years past. This was more like the old time July Fourth. Not just an opportunity to take an extra day off the job but an occasion to recall the noble principles and heroic deeds associated with our country's birth.

To the old timers of this era it is a reminder of the inspiring story that they used to be told — about the equality of men under the fatherhood of God and the authority of government deriving from the consent of those governed. It enumerates the solid principles on which our kind of government is founded, convincing us all over again that this is the best system of society organized since the beginning of history.

We hear again about the depth of conviction of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. They ended the document by pledging their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor. All were men of means in the colonies. They enjoyed comforts and influence and could have continued lives of security by refraining from a break with the mother country. They knew that their signatures would be equivalent to a warrant for their deaths, nevertheless they chose to risk everything for the sake of freedom.

And we are reminded again that most of the signers made all of the sacrifices included in the pledge. Some were captured and executed, some died in battle, some saw their homes and property destroyed, their families killed or dying of privation, some even took part in destroying their own homes which were being occupied by the enemy.

The thought of what these men endured, and what the revolutionary army, and the women and children back home endured, all tells eloquently that we Americans have a precious heritage. It is doubtful whether any other country on earth can match ours in the principles or heroism attending its origin.

It's good that those things are being told now. Let's hope that other noble ideals and deeds will be presented to the public during the remainder of these five years leading up to the 200th anniversary of The Fourth. Americans of this age desperately need to be informed that their country is the world's best, originating with the right attitude toward God and man, backed by heroic sacrifice of lives, fortune and sacred honor, and based on solid principles which, if given a chance, can bring order out of confusion even in these troubled times.

Unfortunately too little has been said along these lines in recent years. The fashionable thing in the media — and in the textbooks — has been to magnify our country's faults and minimize its merits. The result is a new generation of deprived Americans. They don't really know what they have. Instead they have misgivings about the rightness of our system, and many are even inclined to accept the claims of socialism.

Is it too much to hope that the coming five years will present an extensive and inspiring narrative on the birth of our country? We see herein the makings of a national awakening, bringing not only a better understanding of the American Way, but also a greater dedication.

Perhaps we ought to take note also that America is running out of time, as regards the duration of most governments in world history. Two hundred years, they say, is about the average. After that the establishment topples and another system takes over.

Well, the sign nowadays is that another system is hard at work striving to get rid of ours, and it has made alarming headway. False prophets are doing their utmost to discredit our government while making phony claims about the merits of theirs.

They tell us, for instance, about the workers' paradise under communism, when the fact is that workers there have no freedom or comforts and still demonstrate that fact by risking their lives to escape from their country to ours.

Those people, with really nothing to offer, are calling on

245 Enrolled in Free Red Cross Swim Classes

This community's annual free swimming course sponsored by the county Red Cross chapter is in progress this week and next under direction of Mrs. Polly Lewis of Gainesville. Present enrollment is 245, and more are expected to sign up for the second half, which starts next Monday. However the total is not expected to reach last year's 309.

Because of a change of schedule in the classes this year, it will be possible to admit children who were not included the first time. At enrollment one group was assigned to five classes this week and the other to five classes next week. Previously the schedule had been set up for alternate days through the two weeks.

Children who failed to enroll are invited to sign up for next week's classes. Mrs. T. M. Sangster, in charge of enrollment and attendance checks, says they may sign up Friday, Saturday or Monday. The first two days are preferred in order to avoid loss of instruction time on Monday. Those who come are reminded that they still need the application form signed by a parent and a doctor.

Thirty five boys and girls from Muenster and Gainesville are helping Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Sangster in the program. They are Yvonne Gehrig, Peggy Endres, Jim Endres, David Fette, Danny Fette, Nancy Fisher, David Krahl, Marlene Herr, Shirley Swirczynski, Joyce Swirczynski, Janet Swirczynski, Jim Luke, Kenny Hess, Barbie Hess, Becky Fields, Janet Bayer, Nancy Fuhrmann.

4-6 p.m. Service On Fridays Starts At Muenster Bank

A new limited service at Muenster State Bank will be introduced on Friday, July 16 in order to accommodate after-hours customers on Fridays. The drive-in window will be open from 4 to 6 to take deposits and cash checks. However no other kind of banking service will be offered.

Herbert Meurer, president, announced the new service this week and also announced a special schedule for Fridays, when the bank will be open 9 to 2 for regular business and the drive-in window will be open 4 to 6 for the special service. The regular 9 to 3 schedule continues Mondays through Thursdays.

At Kin's Funeral
Relatives from Muenster and Gainesville went to Cleburne Friday to attend the funeral of an uncle, Anton Doerr, 97. Attending from Muenster were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miller, Mrs. Paul Endres, Mrs. Frank Bayer, Al Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Reiter and children Kim, Sandy, Paul and Lloyd; and from Gainesville Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Reiter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Otto and Mrs. Henry Luttmann. Anton Doerr's survivors include his wife Louise.

Subiaco Alumni Meeting
Subiaco Alumni Association, North Texas District, will meet at Lindsay Sunday, July 11, 7:30 p.m. to set a date and make plans for the annual picnic.

Paper Pickup Saturday
Seniors of Sacred Heart High School will conduct another scrap paper drive Saturday, July 10, and ask persons with paper to give to have it out at the curb by 9 a.m. The students would appreciate having papers in boxes or corded in bundles for easier, quicker pickup.

George Bernard Shaw was being lionized at a party in his honor. All he heard was yackety, yackety, yackety. Finally the hostess said to Shaw, "Are you enjoying yourself, Mr. Shaw?"

And he replied, "Yes, and that is all I am enjoying."

Council Orders No-Parking Zone On Highway 82

An ordinance to stop parking on the highway in the vicinity of The Center was passed by the Muenster City Council at its meeting Tuesday night. The action follows a request at the previous meeting pointing out that parked vehicles at both sides of the street obstruct the view for drivers trying to enter the highway.

The ordinance specifies that the no-parking zone begins 150 feet east of the Hickory intersection and will extend eastward 380 feet at both sides of the highway. Signs are to be erected by the Highway Department.

In other action the council approved an application from Gilbert Endres to build a beer warehouse at 333 Cross Street.

City Continues on Effort to Correct Sewer Problem

That sewer problem still has not been licked but the city still has experts working on it.

Joe Moster, sanitation superintendent, reported at the city council meeting Tuesday night that Roberts Research of Dallas has decided that more oxygen is needed to support the additional bacteria which has been supplied to digest the sewage.

The research technicians said several weeks ago that the normal supply of bacteria is not able to handle local sewage with its hard-to-digest industrial waste from the milk plant. More bacteria has been added regularly since June 15, but until now it has not solved the problem, as indicated by strong odors.

Next step is to supply more oxygen so that the bacteria can operate better. This will be accomplished by pumping air into the race track. A number of pipes with many outlets is being built in order to diffuse the air and get the most possible benefit from it.

Former Residents Gather at Jaycees July 4th Picnic

The July Fourth picnic sponsored by Muenster Jaycees in the city park was a homecoming event. Former residents by the scores used the event as an occasion to come back and see old friends.

Those visitors along with many more from neighboring communities and a fine local turnout boosted the picnic attendance to an estimated 2000 and netted a gratifying addition to the Jaycees fund for a park pavilion.

Jaycees have adopted the park as their special project in recent years. They have cleared small trees and underbrush, filled a ditch, planted carpet grass, built picnic tables, bought and rebuilt playground courts and installed tennis lights. The pavilion is intended as another facility for the public's comfort and convenience.

Contests galore featured the picnic, especially among the younger set. Available names of those who took the prizes are as follows.

Potato on spoon race: Kevin Klement and Connie Flusche. Potato between knees race: Robin Walterscheid and Julia Bayer. Three-leg race: Margie and Judy Walterscheid, Marilyn Swirczynski and Susie Moster. Sack relay race: Butch Fisher and Tim Felderhoff, Kevin Swirczynski and Darrell Swirczynski.

Tricycle decoration prizes went to Brad Henschel, Jeanie Trubenbach, Charla Bayer, and Carmen Flusche. Bicycle decoration prizes were won by Marlene Swirczynski, Bob Hamric, John Walterscheid and Doug Walterscheid.

Winning pairs in the five horseshoes contests were Allen Reiter and Dale Hellman, Ray Voth and Gerald Hess, Jim Hellman and Wayne Trachta, Melvin Bayer and Danny Schmitt, Dale Klement and Tim Hellman.

Winner at bingo for a big stuffed bull was Mrs. Jim Vogel.

Meetings Monday
Muenster VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary will meet next Monday, July 12 for their monthly business sessions. The Auxiliary meeting was postponed one week so as not to conflict with Independence Day activities on July 5.

City Concerned Over Future Need For Surface Water

Whether or not to build a surface reservoir for city water is a problem now confronting the city council.

The members are aware of frequent reports in recent years that the water level in the Trinity sand is dropping constantly and that a number of cities in North Texas depending on that source can possibly be in trouble in a few years. If and when the time comes those towns will need surface water reservoirs.

Some cities already have reservoirs, but not Muenster. So, the council thinks it's time to study ways and means to meet the problem and perhaps to get ready before an emergency arrives.

Most popular solution is construction of a reservoir on Brushy Elm creek a short distance northwest of town. Mayor Arthur Felderhoff said Tuesday that an engineer will be at the council's next meeting to discuss the proposal.

National President Of AMPI to Talk At Dairy Meeting

John Buttermoed of Burnett, Wisconsin, a dairyman and president of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., will address the Northern Texas-New Mexico Division members of AMPI at their annual meeting in Fort Worth on Saturday, July 17, 1971. The meeting will be held in the Tarrant County Convention Center Theatre.

Louis Hinders of Canyon, Texas, President of the Division, will introduce Mr. Buttermoed and will make his annual report to the 1500 dairymen and guests expected to attend.

J. G. Anderson of Arlington, Texas, the division manager of the San Antonio based twenty state milk marketing cooperative, announced that proceedings will begin at 10:00 a.m. with registration for door prizes beginning at 9:00 a.m. The division annual meeting is held for dairymen located in New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas, who are members of the 48,000 member dairy cooperative, Associated Milk Producers, Inc.

Gains Reported in Deposits, Loans At Muenster Bank

Increases in both deposits and loans for the past year and the past quarter were reflected this week in a report to the state banking commission, which had called for a statement of condition as of June 30.

The deposits in Muenster State Bank on that date were $4,688,453.17, a gain of $669,054.94 during the past year and a gain of $261,238.25 in the last quarter.

Total loans were reported at $2,285,542.37, which is $55,624.28 more than a year ago and $20,889.05 more than three months ago.

Each of the county's three other banks likewise reported deposits and loans higher than last year. Combined deposits in the four banks were $38,987,536, a gain of $5.2 million since June 30 last year. And their combined loans were $20,531,007, a gain of $3.3 million.

The reports are especially pleasing in relation to the poor moisture condition which has resulted in a decline of hay and grain crops. In other respects the community and the county have enjoyed good business.

Pancake Breakfast Is Set for Sunday

Members of Sacred Heart Lettermen Club are inviting everyone to join them at a benefit pancake breakfast, July 11, in the parish hall.

Serving will take place after the 7 and 9 a.m. Masses. Breakfast will include hot cakes, sausage, fruit juice and coffee.

Adult Splash Day
Between 15 and 20 grownups, mostly women, enjoyed the first adult splash day at Muenster pool Monday during the hours of 1 to 4 p.m. Each Monday during those hours is reserved exclusively for adults. A life guard is on duty and grownups are invited to participate.

Sales Tax Ups Single Copy Price Of Enterprise

Through an oversight the Enterprise failed to mention last week that single copies of this paper have become subject to the sales tax. It happened on July 1 when the state sales tax was upped making the combined state and city rate 5 percent. Tax tables show that the lowest taxable sale is 10 cents, which is the price of a single copy of the Enterprise.

However, the sales tax does not apply to the annual subscription, according to a bulletin sent out by the Texas Press Association. Apparently whoever worked out the basis of taxing had a soft spot in his heart for the state's newspaper subscribers. At any rate, the interpretation handed down in the TPA bulletin applies to the actual cost per copy in the yearly rate.

"The rule of thumb on yearly subscription rates, where city sales tax is applicable, should be this: 52 issues a year at 9 cents per copy or $4.58 per year. No sales tax." The Enterprise annual subscription is $3.50 in Cooke County and $4.00 outside the county — both less than the lowest figure subject to tax.

So, unless we are informed that the bulletin was wrong, or we read it wrong, the annual subscription will not be taxed. But single copy sales will have to be taxed.

New High Set in City Water Consumption

By coincidence the city's new water well is ready for service just in time to help supply the peak demand.

Water Superintendent Joe Moster said that consumption here reached an all-time high of 663,000 gallons on Tuesday and that use of water from the well was started Wednesday. Before that the well had been on the pump for about a week until it quit producing sandy water. A very small quantity of sand was still coming up

Building Notes

Building activity continues at a lively pace with eight new homes and four sizeable commercial jobs under construction.

Cooke County Electric Co-op is busy on its new combined office, warehouse and service department a mile and a half east of town. With 17,000 square feet of floor space it will be three times as large as the present facility. It's scheduled to be finished about December 1.

Nearing completion is the 50 x 55 addition at the south side of the Medical Center. Half of the space will be a dental suite with three operatories to be occupied by Dr. Gerald Graham. The remaining space will be available for lease.

Likewise almost finished is the slaughter house for Fisher's Market, added to the store, and a combined slaughter house and meat processing plant for Donny Hess and Sylvan Walterscheid. It is located on Mesquite Street in the east part of town.

Erection of a sign with readings of time and temperature has completed an extensive remodeling job at the bank. It has doubled the space, added a drive-in window, added new furnishings carpet and drapery and safety deposit boxes and rearranged space for officers, tellers and bookkeepers.

At Muenster Public School work is starting on a 15 x 30 concession stand west of the football field. It will have lots of plug-ins and will be mounted on skids for possible future moving.

Newest in residential building are new homes for Wayne Trachta, Mrs. Sam Tuggle and Don Finley at Myra.

Trachta has his foundation for a brick veneer 3-bedroom house, two baths, central heating and cooling, attached garage. It's located on North Sycamore.

Mrs. Tuggle has framework for a two-bedroom brick veneer house on West Third.

Finley also has framework on his new home with three bedrooms and baths, brick veneer, double garage, central heat and air conditioning.

Two houses side by side are at about the half way stage for Jack Davis and Glenn Richardson in the southeast part of town. Each will have three bedrooms and two baths attached garage, central heating and cooling, and brick veneering.

West of town about 5 miles Donald Hennigan is also about half finished on a new home. It will be a three bedroom brick veneer with two baths, double garage, central heat and air conditioning.

The same applies to Bishop A. Dangelmayr and his new home five miles northwest. He will have four bedrooms and baths, fireplace, office, den, double garage, brick veneer, central heating and cooling.

The Rody Klements are just getting settled in their new place on North Walnut. It has four bedrooms, two baths, central heat and cool, brick veneer, double garage.

The Carl Schillings have a remodeling job under way. Included are new paneling and kitchen cabinets, inside and outside paint, storm windows and central air conditioning.

The Val Fuhrmans are adding cabinets and central air conditioning. And the Joe Horns are installing wall panel in two rooms.

Wednesday but was being removed by a sand trap.

The new 660 foot well produces from the Trinity sand and has a submerged pump. Its capacity is 140 gallons a minute. Along with the town's three other wells this gives a producing potential of 520 gallons a minute or almost 750,000 gallons a day. That's a safe margin above the peak, when all wells are in operation. But the supply falls short of the peak demand if any well is out of order. However the three wells are enough for normal consumption.

Moster pointed out that storage capacity of three ground tanks and the elevated tank is 431,000 gallons. That reserve plus well production will allow the city to go considerably over the present peak without danger of a shortage.

First use of the new well's water was accomplished by pumping from the 126,000 gallon storage tank through the fire hose into the water main about two blocks away. A pump house at the site will be complete in a few weeks, after which the well will be in regular use. Until then its water will be pumped through the fire hose when it is needed.

Until Tuesday, the city's peak consumption was 591,000 gallons, reached on August 1 last year. Other high figures this year were 555,000 on June 19 and 587,000 Monday of this week.

Six New Teachers At Public School Named by Bruns

Six new teachers will join the faculty at Muenster Public School for the 1971-72 scholastic year. Superintendent L. B. Bruns said Tuesday that this group fills all the vacancies on his staff and the opening day of classes is set for Monday, August 16.

First duty day for the teachers will be August 9, the beginning of 5 days of in-service training before the opening of school. These special teacher days comply with regulations adopted last year by the Texas Education Agency requiring faculty members to spend ten days during the year on special assignment. Bruns said that registration, during the week preceding first class, will be determined and announced after the teacher schedule is known. They attend with other teachers of the county in a number of their sessions.

Three of the new teachers, Mrs. Roy Hartman, Mrs. Vernon Sparkman and Mrs. Lloyd Trubenbach are Muenster residents. Mrs. Hartman, who moved here after her marriage in May, is a native of Bryan and received her degree from Texas A&M University. She will teach English.

Mrs. Trubenbach will teach in junior high. She received her bachelor degree in elementary education at North Texas State University, has taught two years at Lindsay and two at Sacred Heart.

Mrs. Sparkman, wife of the AMPI plant manager, is the homemaker teacher. She is a veteran teacher of Oklahoma with 31 years of service and a BS degree from Central State University of Oklahoma.

Bob Hayes, a native of Whitesboro, will be the band director and teacher of elementary music. He received a bachelor degree in music in music education at North Texas State University. He played in the First Armored Band at Fort Hood while in the service and taught two years at Pilot Point.

Billy Gene Moore will be math and PE teacher in junior high and assistant coach in football. A native of Burleson, he taught two years at Center-ville on an emergency permit, is receiving a BS degree at NTSU this summer.

The science teacher is Miss Rachel P. Morris of Fort Worth. This is her first teacher assignment since graduating in the spring semester at Texas Woman's University.

Johnny: "I'm afraid I might meet the kid I found it from."

Pathway To the Stars

The U. S. national debt stands at nearly $400 billion. In an effort to make this figure somewhat more comprehensible to ordinary citizens, the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee of the U. S. Senate, Senator Allen Ellender, set his staff and a bank of computers to work with some interesting results. The Senator found that, "If every member of the United States Senate counted two, one-dollar bills every second of every minute of every hour of every day of every week, it would take approximately 64 years to count $400 billion. If the senators worked the standard work year (eight hour per day for 260 days a year) taking no coffee breaks, or holidays or vacations, it would take them 267 years to accomplish the same count. At its current capacity, it would take the Bureau of Printing and Engraving about 171 years to print 400 billion one-dollar bills. Four-hundred billion dollars in one-dollar bills would fill about 3,456 railway boxcars, making a train almost 36 miles long. The 400 billion one-dollar bills stacked on top of each other would reach 27,095 miles, or 4.5 trips from New York to Los Angeles. Placed end to end, that many bills would make a path, 160 billion or 35 feet wide, to the moon."

Nearly everything but money is in limited supply. This is why prices go higher and higher, and it takes more and more dollars to buy goods of tangible worth. If inflation continues long enough and the Senator's machines are equal to the task, they will someday learn how many trillions of dollars of debt are required to lay a pathway of dollar bills to the furthest star. By that time, a loaf of bread will probably cost a few million dollars.

Red Star Over New York

Something new is taking place in New York. You can be awakened to canned voices on the street corner singing: "Arise, ye prisoners of starvation; Arise, ye wretched of the earth. For justice thunders condemnation..." the words of the Communist anthem, the Internationale. New Yorkers peer out of their window and look at the red flag massed below. In the center of these flags is a star. Above it are the words "Fight for Socialism," and below "Progressive Labor Party." There are no American flags. The sound truck blares out the voices of the speakers in Spanish and English: "Power to the people!" After each speech the record plays the Internationale. When you go down to the street corner to have a look at these people, you are surprised to see vigorous young men and women singing: "Arise, ye prisoners of starvation." Not one in the crowd looks as though he or she has ever missed a meal. Pedestrians are handed a sheet by one of these "wretched of the earth." It contains a big red star in the center. At the top are the words: "Workers of the World, Unite!" the Communist slogan handed down by Karl Marx. Printed on the star are the slogans of the Party: "Fight for Socialism! Crush Racism! 6 Hour Day for 8 Hours Pay! Unite With All Workers Who are Fighting U.S. Bosses! Drive U.S. Imperialism out of Southeast Asia Now! Workers and Oppressed People of the World, Unite!"

1971. What can the most mechanized and industrialized country in the world learn from Russian Communism? They are only now getting a mass-production automobile plant, thanks to Italian and American help. They cannot feed themselves regularly because socialized farming is inefficient, a great corrupter, a scandalous non-producer. Commented the news dealer on the corner: "Yes, power to the people. They plan to be the commissars." That's what Communism is: a grab for absolute power.

Over 108 Million Motor Vehicles Registered in US

Motor vehicle registrations for the calendar year 1970 came to 108,435,903, according to the American Automobile Association. The figure represents a gain of 3,337,217 over 1969. Citing a recent Department of Transportation report, the AAA said the registration total includes 89,309,101 automobiles, 379,021 buses and 18,747,781 trucks. The study showed that the number of trucks on the road have increased the most. The percentage gain for trucks over 1969 was 4.8. Buses increased four per cent and cars increased 2.9 per cent. Motor vehicle registrations in Texas for 1970 totaled 6,693,280, an increase of 2.9 compared with the previous year. There were 5,127,921 cars, 21,255 buses and 1,544,104 trucks. Six states account for nearly half the total national registrations. California listed 11.9 million; New York, 6,718,026; Texas, 6,693,280; Ohio, 6.0 million; Pennsylvania, 5.8 million; Illinois, 5.2 million, and Michigan, 4.6 million. Twenty-six states had more than one million motor vehicles each.

Firsthand Knowledge

A young, former communist has told, in a copyrighted story in Campus Life magazine, how, as a member of a German branch of the Students for a Democratic Society, he helped to foment mass demonstrations. He pointed out that the trick is to get a few trained, hard-core people with an understanding of mass psychology. The hardcore stirs up a crowd until they have to march. As soon as the crowd is confronted by police, the hardcore throw rocks or molotov cocktails, then disappear to the back of the crowd and cheer them on. If the communist organizers are lucky, the police will fire on the crowd and kill one innocent bystander — just what the hardcore organizers want. The tragedy gives them an opportunity to profess great sorrow for the victim and make an issue of police brutality. They cynically work on the sympathies of the mob while staying safely back from the firing line. As a former participant in such demonstrations, the young ex-communist said the pattern was reminiscent of the incident at Kent University in the United States. The youthful former communist lost interest in the communist philosophy when he discovered many of his colleagues were merely in the movement for fun or profit. He mentioned one who sold his memoirs at a fat price and became a capitalist after which he would have nothing to do with former companions. It is sickening to conjecture how much strife and how many broken lives, injuries and deaths have resulted from these mob-arousing tactics described by a youth who speaks from firsthand knowledge.

Experiment In Classroom Shows Folly of Socialism

The philosophy of taking "from each according to his ability," and giving "to each according to his need" sounds humane and has had a substantial following among socialist, communist and idealistic young. A New York high school teacher conducted an interesting experiment with his students. He suggested to them that they take away 20 grade points from those who made a grade of 95 on a test, giving them to those who made only 55 on the same test. This way, both would receive a passing mark. The brighter or more diligent students would be contributing in accordance with their ability, while the less intelligent — or less diligent — students would receive in accordance with their need. The instructor then speculated with his students as to the probable results if he were to actually apply this socialist-communist philosophy. The first result would be that the highly productive students would lose the incentive to work for higher grades. The second result would be that the less productive students would be relieved of any obligation to study or to produce. The teacher observed that, "At that point, in order for anyone to survive, the 'authority' would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers..." This is precisely what happens in an entire society when productive incentive is taxed to death and the nonproducers ride on the backs of the producers.

Pity the poor man who never learned a trade. When the time comes, he won't even know what kind of work he is out of.

While he was in town for the All Star baseball game, Dizzy Dean was reminiscing about the days when he was a member of the old St. Louis Cardinals Gas House Gang. One day, he said, there was a close call on a player at home plate, and manager Frankie Frisch stormed out to confront umpire Bill Klem. Klem waved him off, and Frisch elaborately feigned a faint, flopping flat on his back. Cardinals rushed out, fearing their leader had suffered a heart attack — just in time to hear Klem proclaim, with the appropriate gesture: "Dead or alive, Frisch, you're out of the game."

Well, What Do You Know? fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

What do you know about archery?

People have been shooting bows and arrows for at least 20,000 years. Some famous paintings of archers are at least that old. These paintings, showing men hunting huge deer and bison with bows and arrows, were found on the walls of caves in France and Spain.

Even today there are tribesmen in the jungles of South America who rely upon archery to obtain their food. For many centuries, too, the bow was a weapon of war, and nations rose and fell because of it. Indians were still fighting and hunting with bows and arrows when our grandfathers and great-grandfathers were boys.

Today archery is a sport that can be enjoyed by men, women, and young people everywhere. Many schools, playgrounds, parks, camps, and organizations have archery programs in which boys and girls are taught to shoot the bow.

Do you know what automation is?

Automation is the latest stage in the process of substituting machines for manpower. The word "automation" refers to the technique of making a machine or a process self-regulating and self-controlling. The technique of automation has been applied to many tasks in factories, offices, homes, and transportation, to say nothing of its many military uses.

Automation is not the same thing as mechanization, which is using machines instead of hand labor. With automation, the machines either operate themselves or are controlled by other machines, without a human operator. Of course, humans must make the machines, install them properly, set the controls, and keep them running properly. But once these steps have been accomplished, the machines will keep on doing what they have been "instructed" to do until they are shut off or break down.

Do you know what prestressed concrete is?

Prestressed concrete, which was developed shortly after World War I, was a major advance in building technology. Prestressing is a method of compressing a concrete beam or slab before it is put into place in a building. This technique makes the concrete stronger and more durable.

Birds Flock To Oil Refinery

Hundreds of cranes, egrets and herons flock each year to a 380-acre lagooning system at Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s refinery at Baytown, Tex. The lagoons were built several years ago as the final stage of an extensive water treatment system designed to remove impurities from the refinery's waste water. The refinery lagoons and surrounding vegetation have become an unofficial bird sanctuary for many types of birds, including numerous roseate spoonbills, a pink-feathered bird now considered an endangered species by the American Audubon Society. Many birds spend nine to ten months at the refinery, migrating farther south only during the severe winter months.

Myra Post Office Observes July 1

Mrs. Jack Biffle, Myra postmaster, celebrated the new postal system by recording pictures of the patron who has rented a box for the longest period of time, the newest patrons, the oldest patron and the youngest.

Pictures were placed in a post office guest book. They are of C. L. Maxwell who held a box longer than any other resident of the community; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Vogel, newlyweds who have just rented a box; Mrs. W. F. Burks, the oldest patron; and Staci Sicking, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sicking, the youngest. She visits the post office daily with a sister. Mrs. Burks usually has her mail delivered to her by Mrs. Biffle or an assistant.

Salvation Army Truck Due July 15

The Salvation Army sounds an appeal for household and clothing discards. Capt. William Swyers, commanding officer of the Salvation Army's Men's Social Service Center in Fort Worth reminds that discarded clothing, furniture and even appliances are needed and added that many times an item that a person thinks is worthless can be reconditioned and used again.

The truck will be in Muenster on the third Thursday of each month, the next time on July 15. Persons who have items to donate may call 759-4311 before the day the truck is scheduled to make its rounds.

"Taxes have always been a prime subject for disagreement. This little jingle puts it very well: 'In seventeen hundred and seventy six a group of American mavericks, Renounced the yoke of tyranny, the tax on stamps, the tax on tea. Our Fathers felt that we were fit to tax ourselves and you'll admit, We have been very good at it.'" — Randolph, Iowa, Enterprise

THE BULCHER SPECIAL ACP Project which was approved for the northwest corner of Cooke County in 1970 has been very successful. Seven grade stabilization structures were built and 76 acres of gullies have been shaped and established to bermuda grass. Interest in the project was very good the first year. Landowners have done an excellent job of carrying out a program which not only helps keep their land in place but stops silt from entering Moss Lake and Red River. These areas will need careful management to keep a cover of grass on the shaped area. The project has been approved for 1971.

Improper Handling
Is Principal Cause Of Food Poisoning

Proper processing, preparation and handling of foods could virtually wipe out one of man's most common enemies — food poisoning — says the Texas State Department of Health.

Each year in Texas many people are poisoned by their own hands through improper canning of foodstuffs. With summer upon us and a plentiful supply of fresh fruits and vegetables available, now is the time to look at canning procedures.

It has been reported by health authorities that over 62 per cent of food poisoning cases in California were due to home canned string beans, asparagus, fruits, and other vegetables. Another 24 per cent was due to the preparation of animal products. With the great amount of home canning and freezing done in Texas, you can see why officials of the Texas State Department of Health are concerned about the possible occurrence of this potentially fatal disease.

Food poisoning, or "botulism," is caused by a deadly poison produced by a germ that is very resistant to heat and cold and can grow without air. The vast majority of reported cases of botulism have been due to eating improperly processed home-canned foods.

Studies on the heat resistance of the spores of the botulism germ prove that home canning by the cold pack method, which is still widely used in Texas, is extremely dangerous. The pressure cooker method should be used for canning instead.

The disagreeable odor evident with spoiled food is not a sure-fire way to detect food poisoning. Many canned foods may be free of obnoxious odor and may appear in good condition, but could contain organisms of botulism. The spoiled odor is usually associated with non-acid foods such as vegetables.

Nausea and vomiting usually occur within 24 hours. Diarrhea may occur early, but in the later stages of the disease, constipation is present. Death can occur due to respiratory failure.

It is usually wise to boil all home canned foods for at least 30 minutes before eating. This is particularly true when the pressure cooker has not been used.

Texas Health Department officials say that proper preparation of all foods could make botulism a thing of the past.

36 County Homes
1 Water System
Financed by FHA

Attractive, modern homes make life more enjoyable for 36 Cooke County families, and their construction has given a shot in the arm to the local building industry, John D. Cunningham, County Supervisor for Farmers Home Administration, said today.

In addition, Farmers Home, the rural credit arm of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has helped the local economy with loans to farmers to buy land or finance operations, and with one water and sewer system serving 200 families.

The agency's wide range of services added a record $306,390.00 to resources available for housing, farming and community facilities in this county last year. At year's end, the outstanding loan total in the county had climbed to $3,412,381.00 and was providing direct benefits to 512 families in the area.

Farmers Home Administration loan services are carried on in Cooke County through the agency's office in Room 215, Federal Building, Gainesville, Texas. Housing loans may be made for homes in the rural countryside. Community facility projects may include service to rural towns of not more than 5,500.

The Great Buddha in Todaiji, Japan's largest temple, is believed to have been cast in Nara in the middle of the eighth century, A.D. The bronze statue (only the head is shown here) is 53 feet tall and weighs a fantastic 452 tons. It is a national monument on an almost unimaginable scale.

The Hall of the Great Buddha, where the huge statue is housed, is the world's largest wooden structure, 160 feet high, 187 feet long and 166 feet wide. It was erected in 752, during the Nara period.

The construction of the statue and temple marked the culmination of early Japanese Buddhism and the beginning of a new era of popularity for a religion that had hitherto been reserved for the upper classes.

Garage Rackets Flourish in Many Parts of Country

Reports made to the American Automobile Association from motorists driving through the Southwestern states indicate that garage rackets are flourishing. This is not simply the slipshod, inept sort of service that irritates and frustrates car owners. Rather it is the employment of deception by a few garages and service stations to defraud motorists into buying unneeded tires, parts and accessories.

In Arizona garage rackets are so prevalent that the state's attorney general's office has recently initiated a statewide campaign to combat unscrupulous service station practices. Travelers are warned of fraudulent practices by radio messages prepared by the attorney general's office and teams of investigators driving pretested vehicles are making spot checks on stations along the states' interstate highways.

A variety of methods to defraud the traveler is being used. Slashing tires with a sharp instrument is often done. Squirting oil on or under fuel pumps and shock absorbers are common plays.

Sometimes the deceptive methods are more crude — such as disconnecting a wire to the starter, then removing the starter, allegedly replacing it with a rebuilt one which turns out to be the same starter that was there before.

Victims all but invariably are in cars with out-of-state license plates. Favorite targets are women motorists and the elderly.

To reduce chances of being cheated the AAA suggests that motorists patronize stations selling a well-known brand of gas in the larger cities.

Always leave someone with the car while it is being checked over. Look over the attendant's shoulder while he checks the oil and water levels.

If you buy a replacement part, insist that the supposedly defective tire or accessory be placed in the trunk for later checking.

Suppose it turns out that you have been swindled. The thing to do is complain: to the oil company, to the AAA, to the Better Business Bureau having jurisdiction over the area where the event occurred, to the tourist promotion agency in the state, even to the governor of that state.

This may result in an adjustment for you and will help to assure other motorists traveling your path of honest service.

other people to demonstrate and riot and revolt. In so doing they are abusing the rights and freedom guaranteed by this country. Ironically their behavior would not be tolerated under the system they favor. They are using our freedom in an effort to take freedom away from us.

We would like to find that the patriotic theme opening this five year era will grow in fervor bringing the real story of Americanism to millions of our deprived countrymen. We'd like to think that this eleventh hour effort will help our entire nation understand that our system not only was but still is the world's best. It has the basic principles harmonizing with God's will and man's nature. Of course some of those basics can't be recognized in current policies, but the fact remains that our national hope lies in changing to our original system, not adopting one that is a proven failure.
