

The President's announcement of few days ago that he has accepted an invitation to visit Red China has touched off a flood of comment both favorable and unfavorable.

Liberals are highly pleased. They have been saying for years that the way to promote world peace is to try harder to get along with both the Russians and the Chinese Reds. They also maintain that nothing can be gained by continued opposition to nations which are firmly established even though those countries' basic principles clash with ours. They believe in accepting the Reds as they are and striving to work out the best possible program of co-existence.

On the other side of the issue are Americans who are deeply concerned about the Reds' openly proclaimed intention to take over the world, especially this country. They think the Reds really mean the hateful things they say and are showing their real attitudes in supporting our enemies in Vietnam.

These same people say first of all that Red China's long record of aggression, treachery and mass murder should be more than enough to exclude it from the family of decent nations. Also that we take a big risk in trying to deal with such a country. This is like an honest man and a dead-beat. The one is bound by honor and tradition to live up to agreements. The other can be expected to break his word any time it serves his purpose.

This column definitely subscribes to the second school of thought. It has opposed Red China since the mid forties when the communist clique, with misguided help from this country, took over Mainland China and enslaved almost a fourth of the world's population, and murdered all of the political enemies it could find. This column does not trust the Peking crowd. It believes that the Reds' motive has no relation to world peace nor mutual welfare of these two countries but only to pursue their ambition of world domination.

But on the other hand we must consider the possibility that circumstance may be forcing President Nixon to try a policy that doesn't quite harmonize with traditional principles. Possibly this is a way to reduce the heat as he withdraws troops from the Vietnam war. Perhaps it is just a variation in the old game of global politics, in this case cultivating a rift between the Soviets and the Chinese.

Whatever the game, it seems to be an admission that our country has big problems and Nixon's apparent desertion of principle is a maneuver to help us through some hard times. So the column joins those who have taken a wait and see attitude. Knowing that his considerations include lots of details that are not known to us, and trusting that he will do what he thinks is best for the country, we can only hope that history will show his decision to be the best one.

A couple of weeks ago bank statements all over Texas showed a healthy increase in deposits, but a few comments since then have suggested that this only reflects an increase in the volume of money, in other words, an increase of inflation. That fact along with more strikes and threats of strikes across the country point up the grim reality mentioned by President Nixon last week. We are in economic trouble because of the greed of labor unions. The series of wage increases which are not justified by production is driving inflation upward to the point of pricing American business out of the market.

This isn't only a threat. It is a sad fact of life in many lines, and it keeps on happening. As American steel sales are being lost to foreign competition the workers who lose jobs should understand that their high wages caused the too-high prices on their product. The same applies to textiles, cars, motorcycles, appliances and dozens of other items. Our products aren't selling as well on the world market, nor even in this country, because our prices are out of line, thanks to the unions who keep insisting on more pay.

185 Pupils Get Badges and Pins In Swim Classes

This season's free Red Cross swimming classes came to an end Friday morning of last week as 95 badges and pins were awarded for completion of the courses. A week earlier 90 awards had been made to students who attended the first week of classes.

Still another part of the closing was a watermelon party hosted by Mrs. Polly Lewis, supervisor, for the instructors and the junior and senior life saving students. To begin, the melons were greased and thrown into the pool and the swimmers scrambled for them.

Following the closing Mrs. Gerry Sangster recorder, said that total enrollment for the two weeks was 311 and the 185 awards were given for completion of the various stages of instruction. The list includes 85 beginners, 62 advanced beginners, 22 intermediates, 10 swimmers, 3 adult beginners and 3 adult intermediates.

A new schedule of instructions was used for the first time in this year's classes. Students were divided into two groups, as usual, and each group was assigned to one week of daily instructions. In previous years each group attended on alternate days through the two weeks.

Mrs. Lewis said the new method seems more satisfactory in at least two respects. Children maintain their interest better through one week than they did through two. Besides it ties up the child's time for only one week instead of two, thereby interfering less with vacation plans. Mrs. Lewis favors adopting the schedule for future Red Cross swimming classes here and at Gainesville.

Before closing out the program she expressed special appreciation to the Jaycees for making an assortment of teaching aid signs and to Shamburger Lumber Co for providing the masonite and paint. Also thanked were all instructors who, like herself and Mrs. Sangster, were volunteers in the Red Cross community service program.

The instruction staff was headed by Mrs. Lewis, Peggy Endres and David Fette, all of whom have the Red Cross Water Safety Instructor rating. Their helpers were 32 boys and girls of Muenster and Gainesville with senior or junior life saver rating. Adult instructors were Monica Hess, Dorma Flusche and Sharon Walterscheid.

Electric Co-ops of Texas to Meet in Dallas July 27-28

AUSTIN — "Out of Concern — Action" is the theme of the 31st Annual Meeting of the State Association of Texas Electric Cooperative July 27-28 at the Sheraton Hotel in Dallas.

"The representatives of the 80 rural electric cooperatives in the state will hear views of several speakers and learn how their utility system can be more effective in the goal of Helping Texas Grow toward rural development," commented Lee Gandy, president of the State Organization. General Manager J. R. Cobb of Austin referred to the fact that rural leaders are concerned about the economic progress being made in our rural areas and stated, "only through positive action by these same leaders will we see Texas reach its full potential."

Highlights of the July 27 session will be talks by David A. Hamil, Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, and by James K. Smith, Governor of the Cooperative Finance Corporation. The Cooperative Finance Corporation is the newly established financing institution that has been developed solely by the rural electric cooperatives in the United States.

The Tuesday evening Banquet and Pageant will feature the selection of the 1971-72 Miss Texas Rural Electrification. The final session, July 28, will include the election of Board members and officers and an address by Congressman J. J. Pickle of Austin.

Progress Noted in Solving Problem At Sewer Plant

After several weeks of special treatment and attention the Muenster sewer plant is finally responding. A representative of Roberts Research told the city council Monday night the chemical composition of the sewage is improving steadily and is expected to be at or near normal in a short time.

The report supported personal opinions based on smell. Odors from the plant aren't near as offensive as a few weeks ago.

Treatment has been under direction of Roberts Research of Dallas, which was consulted after the plant failed to process its sewage.

Reason for the trouble was diagnosed as industrial sewage from the milk plant, and more bacteria was added to digest it. That was not enough however, so oxygen was pumped in and partly purified liquid from the lagoons was recycled. The combination of treatments apparently got results. Tests at the plant show a steady drop in the BOD (biochemical oxygen demand) readings.

Open House Will Show Fisher's Slaughter Plant

People of this area will have an opportunity to see the new slaughtering plant at Fisher's Market next Sunday from 2 to 5, and meat processors from all over the nation will get to see parts of it on film two weeks later.

E. F. Zuber, owner of an engineering firm bearing his name in Minneapolis, along with other representatives of the company and a cameraman, were here Wednesday taking movies of three slaughtering operations using brand new equipment developed by the company.

Those films will be shown at the National Institute of Locker and Freezer Provisioners in Minneapolis on August 8-11. J. W. Fisher has been invited by Zuber to appear at the institute and comment on the operations.

One of the items is a knocking chute designed for humane stunning of the animal and fast handling of the carcass just after killing.

Another is an offal cart which is set at a low level when insides are loaded on it from the just-killed animal and is raised by water pressure to a higher level for dumping into barrels.

The third is the ez-off exchange from an 11 foot rail to a 7 1/2 foot rail. Coming from the killing and pre-cool rooms the carcass is cut in halves. Hanging on the 11 foot rail it clears the floor by about 3 feet. As the half is quartered the two pieces are transferred to the lower rail with a minimum of effort.

Visitors at Fisher's Sunday will get to see those things instead of the films, and also the rest of the new plant.

Principal areas of the plant are the holding pen in which the animals are kept from delivery to slaughter. It will hold up to 25 animals. Next is the slaughtering room with another room beside it for intestines, hide, blood, etc.

From slaughter room the carcass moves on a rail to the pre-chill room and from there to the cooler. From there the rail leads to the processing department of Fisher's store.

Also parts of the new plant are a locker room for employees and an office, a shower and rest room for the inspector.

Newly Organized Baseball Team Plays Thursday

Since youngsters have vacated the baseball diamond the older boys are losing no time about taking their turn. First action is set for Thursday night when a team of former high school players will take on a team selected from the NTSU track team. Starting time is 8 p.m.

The local team is sponsored by The Center and coached by Adam Wolf. Members are Lee Roy Hess, Tim Endres, Dale Klement, John Schneider, Bobby Bruns, Roy Reiter, Billy Anderson, Doug Denison, William Talley and Billy Morris. They welcome all the games they can schedule in the next several weeks.

Council Continues Former Tax Rate

Tax bills at Muenster this year will be about the same as a year ago. The city council, in session Monday night decided to continue the rate at $1.50 per $100 of assessed valuation and also to continue assessing the valuation at 25 per cent of actual value.

It was also noted that the annual job of assessing new property and revising some renditions has been finished, so the city is ready to start preparing the bills for October 1 mailing.

Delinquent taxes also got consideration. Normally the city collects about 95 per cent of its tax, however some of the few delinquents are many years behind and amounts are getting to be sizeable.

The council is in favor of hiring someone to collect the taxes and hopes to arrange with other taxing agencies to have someone collect for all at the same time. A meeting has been set with the school board for that purpose.

In other action the council heard the request of a Rev. McMillan of Ardmore to conduct a revival of the Pentecostal Church of God in Muenster. The council had no objection, however no date has been set.

Boy Scouts Meet Friday to Plan Camp at Texoma

A special meeting for all Boy Scouts who wish to attend the camp at Lake Texoma next week has been announced for Friday night, July 23, 8 p.m. in the K of C Hall.

Scoutmaster Willie Walterscheid said it is the last opportunity to plan for the camp and discuss transportation, etc. He suggests that parents come with the boys and join in the discussion. Two other subjects to be talked over are a swim party and a Scout project.

Saint Jo School Badly Damaged by 3-Hour Blaze

Extensive damage to Saint Jo High School was sustained in a fire from about 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesday. Faulty wiring is believed to have been the cause. The blaze apparently started in a storage room behind the cafeteria and spread to the cafeteria, then to the second floor. Firemen worked for three hours before bringing it under control.

School officials reported that the building was heavily damaged by fire, smoke and water and probably cannot be repaired in time for the scheduled school opening on August 16.

Junior Champions Win 11-7 Over Junior All Stars

Grewing Brothers played their best game of a good season last Friday night with an 11-7 triumph over the junior all-stars. For the final game of their schedule the loop champs were booked with a team made up of selections from the other three teams.

The game was a thriller all the way with the Stars getting an early lead and Grewing seemingly icing it away in the fifth. But a fine sixth inning rally by the Stars resulted in a 6-6 tie at the end of the regular game.

In the next frame both teams were out of regular pitchers, because of the rule limiting boys to three innings per game. Phil Wolf got the overtime assignment for Grewing and Danny Walterscheid for the Stars. Previous pitchers had been Robert Hartman and Tim Wolf for Grewing and Neil and Nick Walterscheid for the Stars.

The champs staged a rally in their half of the extra inning ending it with a three run homer by Phil Wolf for their limit of five runs per inning. The stars were less fortunate, bringing in only one run in their half.

Hitters were Phil and Tim Wolf, Robert and Kenny Hartman, Chris Stoffels and Gary Rohner for the winners, also Neil Rohmer, Mike Richardson, Danny Walterscheid, Joe Hoebeck, Nick Walterscheid and David Felderhoff for the Stars.

Wimpee of Dallas, noted humorist and patriot speaker. Round table discussion and question and answer session followed.

In closing sessions officers were elected and Victoria was chosen as convention city for 1972.

Mrs. Albert Klement of Lindsay is the new president of the Women's Section succeeding Mrs. Ray Lindemann of Scotland and Miss Phyllis Bindel is the new corresponding secretary for the Youth Section.

Muenster CYO came home with a lion's share of winnings during the Youth Rally which was climaxed by the crowning of Miss Margie Felderhoff as Miss Texas CYO. Miss Donna Rohmer was first in the Rural Life Essay Contest, high school girls' division; Myron Hess was second in high school boys' division, Miss Beverly Walterscheid was third in junior high girls' division, and the local organization won first in the state on its scrapbook.

Con-celebrated Mass Saturday with Bishop Tschoepe and Sunday with the Most Rev. Stephen A. Leven, Bishop of San Angelo included as co-celebrants the Rt. Rev. Abbot Alfred Hoenig, O.S.B. of Corpus Christi.

Entertainment during the convention included a visit to Boys Ranch for a tour and fish fry, a polka dance, a barbecue on picnic grounds at Wall, and the youth dance during which Miss and Mr. CYO were crowned.

Attending from Muenster were Mrs. Tony Gremminger, Messrs. and Mmes. Joe Hoenig, Denis Walterscheid, Bernard Swirczynski, Arthur Endres and Henry N. Fuhrmann, Misses Phyllis Bindel, Margie Felderhoff, Linda Voth, Frances Hess and Lou Ann Swirczynski and Joe W. Swirczynski, Albert Hess and Dennis Hess.

Lake Considered as City's Water Source

Eventually the city of Muenster will run out of well water and will have to get its supply from a surface reservoir.

Anticipating that time, Don H. Fleming, consulting engineer of Fleming and Associates, Fort Worth, told the city council Monday that it's advisable to start planning now rather than wait for an emergency.

He recommended a multiple purpose lake serving for flood control and recreation as well as city water supply. Coming under flood control the lake could be built under the soil and water conservation program and financing could be shared by the Soil Conservation Service.

Under that program it would become necessary to determine how much of the reservoir would be needed by the city so that costs could be divided properly.

Fleming reminded the council that estimates of future needs cannot be based on plain guesswork. SCS requires a professional report based on a study of the city's history, its trends and its potential over a period of fifty years. Mayor Arthur Felderhoff asked Fleming to estimate the cost of such a survey and quote it at the next council meeting.

The engineer presented facts which confirm other information that the city has been aware of for several years. He said that a wide area including fast developing towns of the Dallas-Fort Worth area are drawing on the Trinity sand, so the rate of decline in the reserve can be expected to speed up. Everyone in the area knows that the supply will run out some day. Local experience is that the water level in the sand has been dropping year after year.

It was also pointed out that at least one city has run out of Trinity water. Because of the sand's formation in a particular locality water may no longer be available there while other cities can still get it. That poses a question to each city. "Will our wells be next to quit? If so, when?" The area considered for the local reservoir is Brushy Elm Creek with the dam about a mile west of town. Estimated normal capacity is 600 acre feet.

Senior All Stars Trimmed 17-8 by Mill's Champions

Muenster Mill's baseball team, champions of the local senior league topped off their season Friday night with a 17-8 win over all stars selected from the other three teams of the league.

Two big first innings, which netted the league limit of five runs each, proved to be more than enough for the win, and two in the third plus another full count in the sixth gave a long margin. Best the stars could do was three one run innings and a two and a three run inning.

Pitchers for the Mill were Robert Johnson and Terry Walterscheid. Between them they allowed 12 hits and 3 walks and fanned 7. Randy Wolf, Curtis Klement and Pat Endres for the stars gave up 13 hits and 14 walks and struck out 9.

The Mill's hitters were Joe Walterscheid 4; Fred Kieninger, Kirk Johnson and Nick Stoffels, each 2 hits; Billy Phillips, Terry Walterscheid and Damian Luke, each 1.

Boys Are Winners In Two All-Star Games With Girls

All stars of the boys baseball teams took their handicap in stride Tuesday night in a pair of one-sided wins over the girls softball all-stars.

It seemed to make no difference to the boys that they had to play with a softball and observe girls rules. Both teams went on scoring sprees while holding the girls to low scores.

First one was the junior contest in which the boys got their limit of 5 in three innings and made 2 each in the other three innings. The girls had one big inning and scattered 6 runs over the other five. Final count was 21-11.

The senior game was considerably more one-sided for a score of 25-2. Ending the first inning the girls led 1-0, and then the boys hit their stride. They went their limit of 5 runs in each of the next five innings. The girls added a score in the second and got four on base in the next four innings.

Another Seat For Murder Inc.

Historical memory is so short that even the most monstrous crimes of despots in our own time are too soon forgotten. A case in point is the new "respectability" being pumped up for Mao Tse-tung's murder regime in Communist China.

The government of the Republic of China, in Taiwan, has just made public its detailed accounting of people killed by the Mao dictatorship in the first twenty years of its rule, from 1949 to 1969. Unfortunately our press, in its state of ping-pong euphoria, has not considered the study worth reporting.

Without including the toll in life taken during the so-called Cultural Revolution, when hordes of young Red Guards murdered at will, the total comes to 39,940,000 — more than the populations of Greece, Portugal, Hungary and Chile put together. Even if a generous discount is made — say 50 percent — the magnitude of the blood-letting still boggles the imagination.

An American educator plugging for "better relations" with Red China professes to see a wonderful "discipline and unity" in that country. Others have hailed this unity, so different from the behavior of Americans. Not one of them has pointed out that Chinese who violate the Communist brands of unity are imprisoned or executed.

Whatever the dictates of power politics, we should at least be aware that when we invite the Mao oligarchy into the United Nations, we are giving veto power in the Security Council to genocidal murderers. Isn't one such gang already in the Council, Soviet Russia, adequate representation for the criminal elements in the family of nations?
 — U. S. Press Assn.

J. Edgar Hoover was hunting for the most dangerous criminal. He had four photographs of the wanted man — front view, back view, right profile, and left profile. He sent these four photos to every police station in the United States.

After an hour, Hoover got a call from a small town Texas police officer who said, "Chief, I got your photographs and have caught all four men."

Protective Equipment Recommended on the Farm

"Farming is a hazardous business these days — physically hazardous, that is," according to William J. Fletcher, Agricultural Safety Engineer for the National Safety Council.

Farmers face a variety of hazards — complicated machinery, livestock, heavy supplies and potent chemicals — and that is part of the reason why agriculture is the nation's third most dangerous industry.

"Industry has long used personal protective equipment to minimize the loss of life, limb, time and money caused by accidents. And farmers can afford to do no less," says Fletcher.

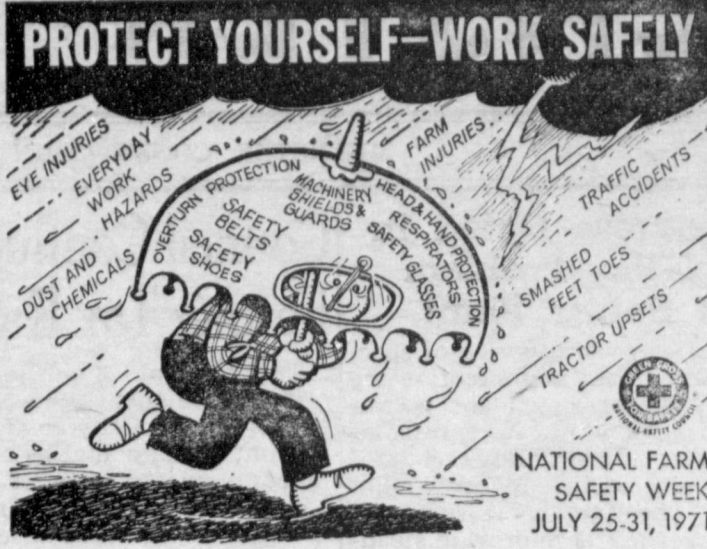

Feet are particularly vulnerable to injury on the farm. They can be crushed by dropped or falling objects, stepped on by livestock, run over by farm vehicles and caught in machinery. Nails and other sharp objects can cause puncture wounds. Safety shoes with metal toeboxes and reinforced soles can minimize these injuries.

Eye injuries are also common among farmers. Flying or protruding objects, chaff, dust and the like make eye protection essential. Safety glasses and goggles are needed but often overlooked in such work as cutting wire and cable, using hand drills, chipping concrete, removing nails from scrap lumber, shoveling material high, and other work in which particles of material or debris may fall into the eyes.

Prescription glasses and sunglasses should have non-splitting, break-resistant lenses. Regular glasses made of optical quality glass can be heat-treated to make them shatter-resistant. When heat-treated glasses are fractured due to extreme stress or a powerful blow, they crumble into many small granules, as modern car windows do, instead of shattering into needle-like shafts that can do irreparable damage to eye tissue.

The use of pesticides and toxic chemicals on farms means that farmers must deal with yet another hazard. Respirators with proper filters offer excellent protection from these hazards and from extremely dusty surroundings. A self-contained breathing apparatus (SCUBA) is recommended for cleaning or maintaining manure tanks and silos.

Personal protective equipment suitable for farm use is available from stores or catalogs throughout the country. Information is also available from your local safety council. The advantages of this kind of protection are clear. First, let's consider the safety factors.

Protective cabs are reinforced to withstand upset stresses without collapsing. Some designs use a built-in protective frame. Others beef up the entire structure. To be considered crush-resistant, a cab must pass tests prescribed by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

If a tractor tips over but stops on its side (90 degrees), injury potential is far less than if the tractor turns upside down (180 degrees). If the driver cannot jump off and the tractor rolls completely over, chances are he will be crushed or pinned beneath the vehicle. Protective cabs and frames will usually limit tractor roll to 90 degrees.

Even if the tractor keeps rolling, the strength of the cab or frame will prevent the driver from being crushed. Injury potential is further reduced if he is wearing a safety belt.

Protective cabs also make falls from moving tractors, second only to overturns as a cause of tractor-related deaths and injuries. They can also prevent operators from being struck by obstructions, low branches, flying objects and broken parts.

Protective cabs also make for greater productivity. Because they protect the farmer from such discomforts as rain, sun, cold, dust, pollen, heat, pesticides and other chemicals, he is less likely to stop operating the tractor because of fatigue or extreme weather. Not only is his long-term health improved, but he can work when the work needs to be done.

Owning a tractor without a protective cab or frame is like playing Russian roulette with your health, finances and possibly your life.

A proud old Aransas Pass shrimp boat captain, through the clumsy handling of a row-boat by a younger man, was pitched into the Gulf a mile from shore. The boat capsized and both men clung to the bottom.

The younger man began to bellow for help at the top of his lungs. Ashamed of their unseamanlike predicament, the captain roared, "Stop that yelling! If you're not careful somebody might hear ye!"

Secrets We'd Like to Know

Now that we are on the subject of secret documents, there are at least three sets would like to see:

1. The agreements made by the United States with the Soviet Government to supply it with millions of pounds of atomic bomb materials. We would especially like to know who urged these agreements upon President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and what the reasoning was behind the grave action that did more than any other to set up a balance of power between the Soviet Government (and eventually the Chinese Communist Government) vis-a-vis the United States and the free world.

The United States began issuing licenses for the exportation of atomic bomb materials to Russia in 1943. This news was first reported in The New York Times on Dec. 8, 1949. This is a secret The Times might well have exposed much earlier. Dr. Anthony Kubek reported it in greater detail in 1963 in his book, "How The Far East Was Lost," which was never reviewed in The Times.

2. The documents relating to the deliberate infiltration of the United Nations by Communists, American and foreign, immediately after the Charter was drafted in 1945. These papers would be widely scattered, not all in the State Department.

3. All the papers relating to Operation Keelhaul, whereby hundreds of thousands of Soviet citizens who wanted to remain in Western Europe or go to the United States were forcibly repatriated to Russia. General Dwight D. Eisenhower has been largely blamed for this, but we suspect the roots go much deeper.

Fishermen Accuse Russians

The extent to which the Soviet Government can stretch American yearning for tranquility in international relations has never been measured, because no limit is discernible. The latest pinpricking of the United States by the Russians (who seem to be testing how far they can go) concerns the fishing industry along the entire Atlantic coast. Only the complaints of the New England lobstermen are being heard at the moment, though visitors to coastal towns will get an earful from local fishermen about how the Russians are fishing out the waters right in front of American noses.

The United States Government cannot afford to let the Russians run roughshod over the lobster pots off New England or permit them to take fish of every size from waters along our coast. There must be a limit to what the Americans will accept. It is the government's duty to protect our own industries and to safeguard our natural resources.

While some years are good car years, 1971 has been a

VINTAGE YEAR FOR PLYMOUTH DUSTER

ONE OF OUR BEST YEARS.

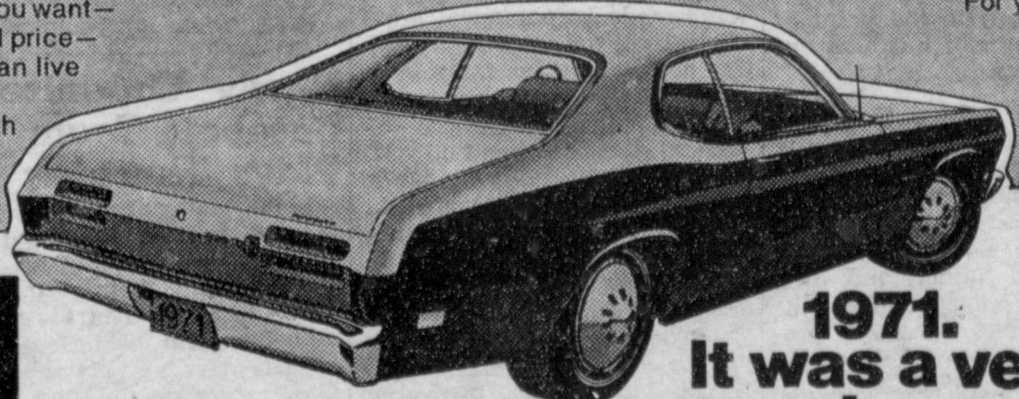

It takes something special to come up with a Vintage Year. But that's what '71 has been for Chrysler-Plymouth. Everything—from drawing board to final assembly—has come together in great fashion. We like to think our slogan "Coming Through" had a lot to do with it, because it's more than a phrase. It's a pledge, a dedication to one purpose: To come through for you with the kind of automobiles you want—not only in style, size and price—but also in quality you can live with for years to come. A good example is Plymouth Duster.

ECONOMY CAN BE BEAUTIFUL, TOO.

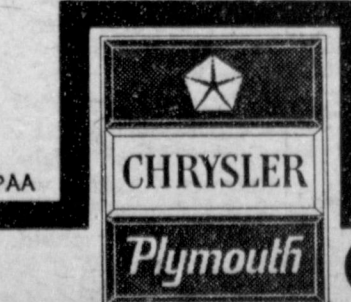

Plymouth Duster is a rare breed of economy car. It comes through small enough for easy handling and good gas mileage, big enough for families with baggage. Now add Duster's high resale value (a leader in its class, along with other Plymouth compacts), and you have a rare breed of economy car indeed.

NOW, A GREAT SELECTION COMING THROUGH FINAL CLEARANCE PRICED.

'71 has been a Vintage Year for Chrysler-Plymouth. Quality shines and shows in every line. Drive a Plymouth or Chrysler. Prove how our '71 models have come through. Check our great selection. We think you'll agree: quality cars at final clearance prices is what "Coming Through" is all about. For us. For you.

1971. It was a very good year.

Coming Through.

a white cup — weekly and look for the larvae.

Residual spraying of human habitations, screening sleeping and living quarters (or use of mosquito netting), will help control mosquito bites.

If you are in the open, especially at dusk, dawn or during the nighttime, use a repellent to lessen the risks of mosquito bites.

A vaccine has been released through the United States Department of Agriculture for horses, and aerial spraying has taken place in South Texas. Halting the movement of horses, mules and donkeys from the affected areas will further limit the spread of the disease. By containing the disease in small areas, or pockets, more effective control measures can be employed in a shorter length of time.

But, says the State Health Department, an individual can play an important part in this activity by practicing good vector control in his own environment.

Two camels were trudging along, side by side, in a caravan crossing a burning desert. Finally, one camel looked at the other furtively and said: "I don't care what anyone says, I'm thirsty."

Mosquito Control
For VEE Urged by Health Department

The role of the mosquito in spreading disease has been dramatically emphasized by the movement of Venezuelan Equine Encephalitis in Texas.

In just a short time the disease has crossed the Rio Grande into Texas and resulted in a statewide alert. While its primary victim is horses, VEE can affect humans with a flu-like illness, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Villain in the spread of VEE is the mosquito. If a mosquito bites an infected animal, it can spread the disease by biting another horse — or a human. All mosquitoes should be looked on as possible spreaders (vectors) of VEE; however, a mosquito first must have bitten an infected animal or human before it can spread the disease. Even if it isn't carrying some disease, a mosquito still is a pest to be eliminated.

With mosquitoes as the target in controlling VEE, you can do a lot to help yourself.

The simplest and most effective method of cutting down or controlling the mosquito population is to eliminate the breeding places.

Mosquitoes cannot hatch unless they are in water, so all standing water around your premises should be eliminated. Water can be caught in discarded bicycle and automobile tires, tin cans or old jars, in birdbaths, unused fishponds, shrubbery or a flat roof. Eliminate these water traps, being careful to check behind shrubbery.

Septic tanks, cisterns and tubs provide excellent breeding places unless they are tightly covered. Recent rains may have left stagnant ponds where mosquitoes can breed. If there is standing water on your premises, spraying it with an insecticide or a small quantity of kerosene will kill the larvae — sometimes called wiggle-tails. To check for larvae, dip up a cupful — preferably with

Frieda Forcht and Lt. Clarence Bayer Wed in Arlington

Saint Maria Goretti Church in Arlington was the setting for the wedding of Miss Frieda Ann Forcht and Lieut. Clarence Bayer Saturday at 11 a.m. The Rev. Gerald Scholl, pastor, officiated at the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frieda S. Forcht of Arlington and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bayer of Muenster.

Captain Thomas Forcht presented his sister for marriage. She wore a gown of candlelight organza over satin with Empire bodice and short sleeves overlaid with imported Chantilly lace and lace medallions ornamenting the A-line skirt and brush train. The gown was fashioned by the bride and her mother.

A garland of fresh flowers held her tiered veil which swept to cathedral length. She carried a nosegay of daisies, roses and carnations. Her only ornament was a diamond necklace belonging to her mother.

Attending as matron of honor was Mrs. Lynne Martinez of Philadelphia. Miss Susan Forcht of New York, a niece, was bridesmaid. They wore lime green and pink voile gowns and carried nosegays of pink daisies.

Cletus Bayer of Muenster was his brother's best man and Jim Schwab of Dallas, a brother-in-law, was groomsmen. Richard Forcht of New York, a nephew and Nandy Sarda of Dallas were ushers. Mass servers and candlelighters were Jim and Mark Tompkins cousins of the bride, of Arlington.

Wedding reception was held at the Wesley Foundation where Miss Cheryl Bayer, groom's sister, registered guests and Misses Sharon and Judy Tompkins served punch and the wedding cake after a round of champagne toasts to the newlyweds.

Miss Mary Beth Tompkins handed out rice bags to the guests.

They crossed the Mississippi River on a ferry and made two stops in Arkansas. At Jonesboro they attended Mass that Father Louis Duester, former SH pastor, was celebrating and visited with him afterward. At Wiener they stopped to visit with a former classmate of Urban.

Craig Bayer, Eight Birthday Honoree

Craig Bayer, eight years old July 16, celebrated twice. First at a splash party and picnic in City Park, then at a supper party in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bayer.

Twenty-three classmates and friends, his sisters Cheryllyn and Charla and his brother Curt helped him celebrate at the afternoon party.

Grandparents the J. H. Bayers and the Ray Swirczynskis helped eat birthday cake and other party refreshments. The supper table held the cake, a fish-shaped creation, since Craig's favorite sport is fishing. The menu included a five-pound channel cat he had caught recently and saved for his birthday.

1.5 Million KW Plant Planned by Power Companies

Texas Power & Light Company announced today that TP&L and two other investor-owned electric companies propose to construct a lignite-fired power plant capable of producing more than one million kilowatts of electricity located midway between Carthage and Longview in East Texas. Plans are contingent on approval of the various regulatory agencies involved.

The plant will have an estimated maximum capability of between 1,150,000 and 1,500,000 kilowatts, and will be a joint venture by TP&L, Dallas Power & Light Company and Texas Electric Service Company. There will be two generating units at the site. The first will be completed for the peak season of 1977 and the second a year later. Additional units may be installed at this location in the future. Construction of the first unit would begin in the fall of 1973.

The plant would be the third lignite-fired electric plant constructed jointly by the three companies.

Plans call for the use of the most modern environmental control devices in the plant and a land reclamation program to operate concurrently with the production of the lignite. Construction of this plant is subject to obtaining the necessary water rights and other approvals.

In 1967, the companies announced the construction of the Big Brown Steam Electric Station near Fairfield in Freestone County. Work is currently underway on two 575,000-kilowatt generating units at the Big Brown site. Unit No. 1 will be completed for the peak season of 1972 and No. 2 for the peak season of 1973.

In 1970, the companies announced the start of construction of the Monticello Steam Electric Station near Mt. Pleasant in Titus County. The area is presently being cleared for the construction of two 575,000-kilowatt generating units. The first will be completed for the peak season of 1975 and the second in 1976.

The anticipated growth and power requirements of the three companies brought about the decision to consider construction of the proposed plant. TP&L and the other companies involved are always looking ahead for economical fuel and water supplies.

The new plant will utilize the area's lignite deposits for fuel to fire the boilers of the plant.

Former Local Pastor Witnessed a Hanging

The scene of a Clarksville, Ark., hanging 68 years ago appeared in the Johnson County Graphic of Clarksville July 8. Among those identified on the picture taken from an upstairs window of the courthouse is Father Aloysius Baumgartner who was pastor in Muenster from Sept. 1910 to March 1911. He was leading prayer just before the hanging of two men who had confessed to blowing up and robbing Clarksville Bank on Feb. 5, 1902, and killing a sheriff. The picture shows a crowd gathered around to witness the hanging.

Two Local Girls Work in Project Involvement Again

Misses Kathy Rohmer and Vivian Yosten have returned to Muenster after completing another phase of involvement with people through the Project Involvement program. They worked together at Our Lady of Guadalupe School in Wichita Falls for five weeks during the summer school session. Both taught remedial math and reading.

Classes began at 8 a.m. and dismissed at noon. Some 30 Mexican-American and Negro children attended. Kathy taught 21 students in grade levels one, two and three. Vivian's classes consisted of grade levels three to five. She had eleven students.

Classes were as small as two and as large as eight, enabling a better student-to-teacher relationship. Classes began June 14 and ended July 16.

Sister Ann Vincent headed the summer school session. Sister Linda Hellman was in charge of the kindergarten classes. She was assisted by her niece, Lynn Hellman of Wichita Falls. Teacher aides were Janie Metzinger and Mary Manley of Wichita Falls.

The children were treated to a fishing outing one day. At the end of school they went to a park for a picnic provided by the teachers and aides. An added attraction was a pinata the children made in class with assistance of Johnny Chavez and Christina Villarreal, two Mexican teens of the parish.

A special treat was provided for teachers and aides at the conclusion of the project. A Mexican dinner was prepared for them by a member of the parish. Mass preceded the dinner and they received Communion under both species. They also were presented with special remembrances of their stay at Guadalupe by Sister Linda.

Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Rohmer and Vivian is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Yosten.

This celebration will be held on Saturday night, Oct. 16. The Pioneer Ball and "The German Day in Texas" at the State Fair on Sunday, Oct. 17, are sponsored by the Texas German Day Council.

Distinguished guests will include Congressman and Mrs. Linus Memmel of Wuerzburg and a group of popular singers.

Table reservations for firms or individuals, seating 8 or 10 persons, will be accepted by Alvin Fuhrman.

Students Receive Increased Benefits In New GI Bill

Recent legislation from Washington will enable veterans to attend college and earn more money under the new GI Bill. Other benefits have also been added to this bill.

Veterans who did not complete high school or who have been out of high school for several years may be pleased to learn that Uncle Sam will pay an additional $50.00 per month tutoring fee for the veterans who desire private tutoring at the college.

A child of a veteran or a single veteran is paid $175 per month for taking 12 or more semester hours. A married veteran with one child will receive $230 per month. Married veterans will also receive an additional $13 per month for each additional child.

Veterans may receive a reduced amount for taking a part-time load at the college.

If enrolling for the first time under the G. I. Bill, visit the office of the Vice-President for Student Affairs at Cooke County Junior College to receive assistance in filling out the necessary forms to receive a certificate of eligibility.

"Inflation Alert" On Tire Safety Issued to Drivers

Washington, D. C. — Tire safety experts today issued their own "inflation alert" to Texas motorists, citing recent studies which show that more than one out of four cars on the highway has at least one seriously underinflated tire.

"Proper inflation is the most important rule in tire safety and mileage," says Ross R. Ormsby, Chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council. "When tires are underinflated they will 'flex' more, thus causing unwanted heat build-up."

The Council advises motorists that excessive heat is a tire's worst enemy. Flexing, due to underinflation, increases rapidly as speed increases. Running a tire at sustained high speeds under such conditions may raise temperatures above the critical level of about 250 degrees F. (water boils at 212 degrees F.), reduce its strength and tread life and increase the risk of sudden tire disintegration.

"The problems caused by underinflated tires being run at high speeds for continuous periods of time should be of special importance to motorists about to embark upon summer vacations," Ormsby noted. Tire safety experts of the U. S. Department of Commerce's National Bureau of Standards estimated more than one out of every four cars on the road are driving on at least one underinflated tire. When rounding off auto registration figures this would indicate at least 1,272,000 Texas motorists may be extremely careless when it comes to their own safety and that of the other drivers on the road.

The National Bureau of Standards based its estimates on the results of two surveys of the physical condition and use of passenger car tires in the U. S., conducted under contract for its Office of Vehicle Systems Research. Conducting the surveys were the Davidson Laboratory of the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, New Jersey, and the Southwest Research Institute, San Antonio, Texas.

The experts say a tire is seriously underinflated if it is 4 pounds per square inch or more below the recommended normal inflation pressure for the vehicle. Motorists can determine the proper inflation pressures for the load being carried by referring to their car owner's manual.

The Tire Industry Safety Council recommends that tire pressures should be checked at least once a month, and preferably with the motorist's personal hand gauge as service station air towers may be inaccurate.

Pressure should be checked when the tires are cool, before starting out on a trip. Make a mental note of how many additional pounds of air are needed and add them when you get to the service station. For sustained high-speed driving at turnpike speeds, inflation pressure should be increased 4 pounds per square inch over normal recommended pressures.

should be used if the rises continue. But he failed to suggest the corrective measure which ought to be about the first concern of his position. He should be the first to admit that loss of markets and jobs is a result of labor's gouging policy. The way to keep markets and jobs is to set up a program of gradually decreasing wages to be followed by decreasing prices.

What we need is production that can compete with foreign imports and keep our workers on the job. The so called smart guys should have realized by now that prosperity is not determined by high wages or high prices but rather by a system which makes more goods available to more people. It isn't how much money one has but how much the money can buy.
