This column admits it is completely baffled by the logic of opponents to the prayer amendment last Monday in the House of Representatives. They defeated a proposed constitutional amendment which would have permitted voluntary prayer or meditation in public schools, and justify their action by claiming that passage would allow government to meddle in religion.

Just what kind of tortured thinking do we have here? By what stretch of the imagination do they assume that the words "permitting voluntary prayer" implies a right of government to meddle? According to our understanding of the words, the meaning is completely reversed. The word "permit" seems to mean that children should be allowed to do as they wish and government should refrain from influencing them one way or another.

In fact, the words imply that government now does not permit voluntary prayer, and therefore is guilty now of meddling in religion. And this interpretation is borne out in actual practice. All of us know that children may not pray in public schools simply because the meddling government tells them not to.

This is every day garden variety logic, which apparently is shared by the majority in that 242 to 167 vote. (Yes, the proposal was defeated in spite of that strong support because the law requires that a two thirds vote is needed for an amendment.) They feel, as you and I do, that the fault is not in the proposal but in the existing regulation.

About the time we get thoroughly sold on this line of thought we find ourselves shaken up by a report of strong opposition from a number of religious organizations. Lots of the congressmen admit that their negative vote was influenced by those church people.

Groups reported to be exerting pressure are the Southern Baptist Convention, National Council of Churches, National Jewish Community Relations Advisory Council and the Catholic Bishops. That's an impressive array of big shots. When one finds himself in disagreement with all of them he feels forced to hesitate and wonder where he went off on a tangent. But still, a simple interpretation of simple words tells us that logic is on our side, not theirs.

There's even something puzzling about the united stand of the religious groups. One would think from past performance of the National Council of Churches that a wise rule is to vote contrary to its recommendations. It has a long record of harmonizing more with Communism than Christianity. It's hard to imagine that others would come up with the same idea, that all of them would join in a plot which serves to keep school children from getting a little closer to God.

Incidentally, there's an ironic sidelight in that vote on allowing kids to pray. The House session in which the prayer amendment was defeated was opened with prayer, as usual. Doesn't it seem odd that congressmen think enough of that custom to keep it for themselves but will not allow it to the youngsters?

Aside from the baffling problem about the logic in Monday's voting, it seems that the issue can be cleared considerably by brushing aside the modern brain storms and referring back to the original intent of the constitution.

From the mere fact that our founding fathers were religious men, it is obvious that they did not intend to ban religion. And from another fact that all were aware of exten-

Muenster, Nocona To Play For District 12-A Crown

The eyes of District 12-A will be on Muenster Friday night when the Hornets meet Nocona's Indians in the all-important game of this season. They will play on the Hornet field starting at 8 o'clock.

Nocona, which has a perfect district record to date, will try for undisputed claim to the loop championship. And Muenster with a single loss on its record will try to upset the favored Indians and share the champ title with them. In that event Muenster would become the 12-A representative in bi-district play.

As far as Nocona is concerned, Friday's showdown is as expected. It has been regarded as the district favorite since the start of the season. But Muenster is the surprise team. Rated last at the beginning, it went undefeated until last week when a fired up Sanger team dumped it 22-16. In other loop games last week Nocona beat Frisco 27-15 and Pilot Point beat Lake Dallas 19-13. Standings going

Hornets Dumped 22-16 by Fired-up Indians of Sanger

Muenster High's Hornets are not undefeated any more. Their doomday arrived last Friday night just a week before they were to take on the Nocona Indians for the 12-A championship.

Possibly the thought of that title game had some bearing on last week's performance. They looked too far ahead and gave too little attention to the job at hand. Whatever the reason Sanger dumped them 22-16.

Possibly another factor also needs to be figured in. Sanger won the week before after losing the first two conference games and came to Muenster with sky high spirits. They had their minds on this one, and how!

The game was a depressing reminder of some recent losses by the Dallas Cowboys. The Hornets failed to reach the goal three times when they were in scoring position and three of their fumbles set up the Indians in fine field position. On the other hand the Indians cashed in on their opportunities but presented none to Muenster.

The first Hornet disappointment came about midway in the first quarter. On second possession they launched a drive that went 43 yards to the Sanger 26 and a penalty advanced them half way from there to the goal. Then suddenly they ran out of steam. (Continued on page 8)

Jaycees Deliver Surplus Plane for City Park Display

The airplane acquired months ago by the Muenster Jaycees is due to arrive here today. Dan Hamric said Wednesday that Jimmy Jack Biffle will send a truck to Shepard AFB, Wichita Falls, to pick up the plane which has been demilitarized and prepared for park display.

Wings have been removed for transportation, however width of the tail still requires a wide load permit and height will require one detour around an underpass.

The plane is an F-84F Thunderstreak, built in the early 50s, turned over to the National Guard in 58, and used there for training purposes until 65. It is a swept wing model, 43.5 feet long and 33 feet wide, weighs 18,500 pounds and 27,000 with maximum load.

The demilitarizing consisted of removing the jet engine, six guns, ejection seat and canopy mechanism, along with all cockpit instruments, controls and dials.

It will be set up in the city park across the driveway west of the swimming pool. It will have a concrete slab under each wheel and will be anchored with chains. The cockpit is permanently closed to avoid the possibility of injuries.

into the final week are Nocona 4-0, Muenster 3-1, Sanger 2-2, Frisco 2-2, Pilot Point 1-3, Lake Dallas 0-4.

Other records of the season, as well as the standing, firmly establish the Indians as favorites Friday night. They clobbered Sanger which up-ended the Hornets, and they also won more decisively over Lake Dallas and Frisco. The Hornets had the bigger win over Pilot Point.

In pre-season games Muenster has the better record, but that difference is more than offset by the caliber of opposition. Nocona had A and AA opponents. Muenster had mostly B opponents.

Furthermore, physical condition may be another factor in Nocona's favor. Coach Combs said his Indians came away from the Frisco game without injury. The Hornets were not so fortunate. Ricky Swirczynski last week sustained a leg bruise that kept him from practice two days. If he's able to play Friday he will not be up to par. However, others who were ailing before are on the mend. They are Henry Knabe, Roy Klement, Danny Fette, and Dickie Fisher.

As regards mental attitude Coach Glenn Richardson expects a big improvement over last week. The boys know this is the showdown and they have their minds on it. Also, they know Nocona is double tough and they'll have to give their best effort every minute. Along with that, of course, they hope that the breaks this time will go their way.

Building Notes

Top project on the local building scene is still the new combined office, warehouse and service department for Cooke County Electric Cooperative. Located on Highway 82 about two miles east of town, it will have about three times as much space as the present location. Work started in December 1970, is now reported about 15 days behind schedule and should be finished about January 1.

The building which holds top interest of the younger set is ready for foundation after ground leveling and a retaining wall are finished. It's a combination dairy foods and sandwich place with drive-in and interior service.

Newest residential jobs are the new homes for Mrs. Veronica Hoagland and Mrs. Lorena Taylor. The Hoagland house, at Hickory and Fourth, was started last week with excavation for a swim pool. Other features are four bedrooms, three baths double carport, brick veneer, central heating and cooling.

Mrs. Taylor's, on Sixth across from the hospital, has just started. It will have three bedrooms, two baths, carport, central heat, air conditioning, combined brick and masonite siding.

The new house for Lu and Al Vogel on West Sixth has reached the painting stage. It has two bedrooms, one bath, attached garage, brick veneer, central heating and cooling.

Slightly less advanced is David Bayer's where inside work is just starting. It's a three bedroom house with two baths, double garage, central heating and cooling and brick veneering.

Cabinet work and brick laying are under way for Dolphy Joe Hellman just beyond the southwest city limit. His is two-story with three bedrooms, office, fireplace, double garage, central heat and cool, brick veneer.

Interior work is nearly finished on the David Siebold house three miles west of town. (Continued on Page 8)

Library Receives Audio-Visual and Display of Drugs

Since Tuesday, Muenster Public Library is more than just a place to read and check out books. It's also a place to see and hear on synchronized audio visual equipment which has been loaned by the County School Superintendent's office on a federal program. It's primary purpose is to supplement an adult education program but it can be used also for viewing and listening pleasure.

Mrs. Dorothea Pasqua of the superintendent's office is at library Tuesdays and Thursdays teaching the staff to operate the equipment. The library will welcome other volunteers to come and learn so they can help with the program.

The public is invited to come in and get acquainted with the new equipment, which includes synchronized slides and records and sound tapes.

Another addition is a kit display of the full range of addictive drugs and the items used by addicts in taking the drugs, also a chart describing physical characteristics of the drugs, their effects and symptoms shown by the addicts.

CD of A Benefit Dated Nov. 19-20

Catholic Daughters of America, at their monthly meeting Thursday night in TP&L Community Room made final plans for the court's annual benefit bake sale and set November 19 and 20 for the dates. Mrs. Tony Hess, regent, presided.

Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Ed Schmitt reported on the CDA Institute they attended in Dallas and demonstrated new reception and installation ceremonies, among things they learned in workshops during the two-day institute.

Mrs. Steve Moser gave the library report. Father Severius Blank, pastor of St. Thomas Church at Pilot Point, was guest speaker and Father Bede Mitchel, court chaplain gave a short talk.

Hostesses served refreshments and Mrs. Charley Hellman won the door prize.

Tough Cistercian Hawks Overwhelm Tigers 40-6

Sacred Heart's Tigers and their fans, adjusted to the impossible odds of their current football season, take their losses as a matter of fact and get their satisfaction from occasional bright spots in the game.

That's why the homecoming fracas with Cistercian was a sort of victory. The important thing about the 40-6 score is that Sacred Heart had managed to get on the board.

That happened in the closing minutes after one of the several occasions when the hustling Tigers held the Hawks on the fourth down attempt. From the Cistercian 38 they gained 10 yards in four tries. Then Quarterback Gary Endres rolled to the left on an option play and elected to keep. A couple of timely blocks helped him turn the corner and he outran the only remaining defender on his romp down the sideline. That touchdown seemed to wipe out all of the disappointment of the other 40 points on the scoreboard.

A near miss early in the game provided another big thrill for the home fans. After kickoff Endres gained 16 to the Tiger 45. Next series ended in a punt in which a Hawk charged through and missed his attempted block but knocked down the kicker, Cletus Bayer. The Tigers got 15 free yards. Next play was a repeat performance and the Tigers got 15 more yards to Cistercian's 31.

That was followed by a kick and shortly later by Cistercian's fumble which was recovered by Wayne Grewing on the 35. Endres passed to Kenny Hess, who got to the 6 before he was wrestled down. But that was as far as it went. After a fumble two plays later the visitors had the ball on the 11.

The Hawks took over then, going 59 yards to the Tiger 30 in four plays. Hines went over from there but the play resulted in a penalty instead of a score and the next four tries (Continued on page 8)

C of C Sponsors Changes in Local Christmas Look

A brand new Christmas look is in the making here. It includes a display on the water tower along with additions and a change of arrangements of the city's lights that were formerly stretched across Main Street and the Highway.

The project is a joint effort by the City and the Chamber of Commerce. As explained by Chairman Ernest Jaska the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a fund raising drive, hopefully to exceed $1,000, which will be used to make some items and buy others. Jaska said that the community can do the job for much less by making what it can instead of buying ready made decorations.

Principal item to be made is a large vertical sign 4 feet wide by 30 feet deep to be mounted on the south side of the elevated water tank with lights spelling NOEL. Other decorations there will be strings of lights surrounding the tank and more lights on the tower supporting the tank. Some of the light strings formerly stretched across the street will be used there.

Six strings of lights are to be stretched across Main and five across the highway. Each of those strings will be flanked at each side with a bracket of lights mounted on power poles, and about a third of the lamps on both strings and brackets will be blinkers.

Jaska said the plan is to install the lights soon after Thanksgiving. The NOEL framework for the water tank and brackets for street lighting are being made now. Muenster Electric will install the water tower display. TP&L crewmen and city employees will decorate the streets.

The installation plan does not include use of all the city's strings of lights. What's left will be used in some way to supplement the planned display, but the exact use is still to be decided.

Donations for the lighting are being accepted by Jaska and Mrs. Bertha Hamric.

Juniors Clobber Frisco Kids 26-6 And Tie Sanger

The Little Monsters of Muenster Public School scored in every period in walloping Frisco's junior team 26-6.

They got started late in the first when Bobby Endres took a pitchout from Tim Wolf and circled left end for a TD. He went 6 yards completing a 40 yard drive.

In the second Mark Sicking took a pass from Wolf and breezed to the promised land. The play was good for 70 yards.

Sicking also scored the third one. He ended a 70 yard drive with a sweep to the right for 10 yards. A pass from Wolf to Bobby Endres after that one added the game's only bonus points.

Again in the last period a drive went for about 30 yards and Bobby Endres ended it with a dive into the middle for 1 yard.

With only a minute left Frisco finally got on the scoreboard with a pass play that went for about 50 yards.

Their performance at Sanger the following week was considerably less impressive and resulted in a scoreless tie. However it was pleasing in one respect. The Little Monsters held their own very well despite a big disadvantage in size.

The teams had similar problems in that they did fairly well in midfield but could not get to the goal. Both made two drives that were halted outside the 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher visited their daughter Rita in Dallas Sunday when they returned their grandson Jeff to his home after a weekend visit.

Celebration Marks David Trachta's 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. David Trachta celebrated their silver wedding Sunday evening surrounded by family members and friends in the K of C Hall where a buffet dinner for 100 guests was followed by dancing.

Mrs. Trachta is the former Miss Georgia Mae Hundley. She married David Trachta on Nov. 3, 1946 in Muenster. He is owner and operator of Trachta Drilling Co.

Their children are Jim Schumacher of Carrollton, Mrs. Jim Boruff of Dallas, who attended with their spouses, Hank Trachta, a junior at Muenster High School, and Pfc. Tommy Joe Trachta stationed in Hawaii with the Army. He telephoned congratulations. There are five grandchildren.

Mmes. Schumacher and Boruff registered guests at a pretty table that held a silver candelabra with votive lights, a dozen red roses, and a picture of the couple on their wedding day 25 years ago.

After serving themselves, guests were seated at tables centered with votive lights and stephanotis.

The anniversary cake, made by Mrs. Charles Bayer, was a handsome tiered confection decorated with miniature dolls representing the couple's children and grandchildren, and topped with a silver 25 ornament. It held a vintage spot on the serving table where other decor included an arrangement of white mums in a silver container.

A shower of anniversary gifts included a silver punch bowl and cups on a silver tray.

Attendants 25 years ago were Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Pagel who were among guests.

Attending from out of town were Messrs. and Mmes. G. B. Townsley of Houston, Richard Moore and R. E. Slocum of Fort Worth, Westal Williams and R. T. Brock of Saint Jo, Francis Wiese and Frank Kathman of Gainesville, Slayton McGee and Mrs. Mame Breeding and Grady Turner of Dallas.

Those attending included the couple's grandchildren Mrs. Gene Alexander and her husband and two daughters and Don M. Cooke and his wife and their three children, all of Fort Worth and Mrs. Harold Cooke's two daughters and families the Don Blounts of Hurst and the Howard Billingtons of Graham.

They married in Goree and lived in New Mexico the first year. In Sept. 1912 they moved to Muenster in a covered wagon and settled in a house on the hill six miles north of the city. It is still their home. He is a retired farmer and cattle raiser. Both are still active, do their household chores, enjoy hobbies and attend services regularly at Muenster's First Baptist Church.

It was the Cooke's first visit in their son's home since he married the former Mrs. Imogene Chestnut of Mineral Wells on Sept. 3, 1971.

More than 800 See H&W Plant Formal Opening

Open house for the formal opening of Muenster's new business, H&W Meat Company, Sunday drew more than 800 visitors to see the combined slaughter house and meat processing facility.

The plant was festive with floral tributes and hostesses presided at a buffet of finger food featuring H&W sausage, doughnuts, cookies, coffee and punch. There was bubble gum also for the children.

Hosts from 1 to 5 p.m. showing visitors through the plant were owners Don Hess and Sylvan Walterscheid assisted by Gilbert Boydston, Dennis and Carl Hess.

Lucky winners in the drawing for attendance prizes were Mrs. Al Horn, 50 pounds of beef; Joe Hofbauer, 25 pounds of beef; Mrs. Elroy Neu of Lindsay, $15 in trade.

Registering guests were Mrs. Sylvan Walterscheid and Mrs. Don Hess. At the refreshment table were Mrs. Arnold Hess, Miss Frances Hess, Mrs. Gilbert Boydston and Miss Laurie Walterscheid. Danny and Greg Walterscheid assisted with host duties among the young crowd.

The H&W plant is brand new completed about a month ago and open since then. It conforms with USDA regulations for slaughtering and processing, features regular retail sales across the counter, custom processing and wholesale sales. For custom processing the firm will use the customer's animal or furnish its own.

Tips from The Hatchery

The weather feels like it's time to transfer those outside tender plants. We have what it takes. Potting soil, peat moss, Perlite Light — those little white bubbles that remain intact to keep soil loose and porous — super phosphate bone meal and blood meal fertilizer.

Monday the 15th is our 23rd anniversary. (Didn't think I'd last that long, did you?) In the early 50s we started our dual operation, added the pest control department in the mid 60s. Uncle Sam got our trained incubation personnel, so we discontinued the incubation department.

Dale Francis on Local Channel 2 With Father Bede

Reports of bitter disagreement among bishops at the recent Synod of Bishops in Rome were denied emphatically here Monday night by Dale Francis, a writer for national Catholic publications The Sunday Visitor and Twin Circle, and also editor and manager of National Catholic Register.

Francis made the statement as a guest on the local channel 2 TV program conducted by Father Bede Mitchell. He emphasized that the Synod's purpose was not to settle doctrinal or disciplinary questions but rather to present a full summary of facts and opinions as a background of information for the holy father's use. Principal topics discussed, he said, were problems of the priesthood and justice concerning the world's needy and afflicted.

Answering questions that had been phoned in at intermission, Francis said he had not read and could not comment on a book "The Great Sacrilege." And he explained his about-face during the Cuban revolutionary war on Castro's merits. He said that Castro led him to believe both by deed and personal assurance that his purpose was to oust the evil Batista regime and establish a democratic government. So, he supported Castro. However, he learned later that Castro was setting up a Communist government and became one of the first to expose the country's betrayal. Francis said he then prepared a list of five questions which he challenged Castro to answer. Later, when Castro came to the US for a UN appearance he was challenged by Richard Nixon, then a senator, to answer those same questions. Castro showed annoyance but did not answer the questions.

Following the broadcast Francis was guest at a reception in the J. M. Weinzapfel home. He told a brief story of his private life: formerly a Methodist minister, his conversion to the Church, his 40 years in newspaper work starting as a sports writer, extensive travels and wide acquaintance with bishops and cardinals of this country. He will be in Washington DC next week attending an annual meeting of US bishops.

Yvonne Gehrig Is Crowned Queen At Homecoming

A record crowd attended Sacred Heart High Homecoming, cheered for the Tigers, and cheered again when Miss Yvonne Gehrig was crowned homecoming queen. It was a happy time even though the football score was one-sided in favor of the visitors.

Action began at 6 p.m. in downtown with a pre-game parade to the stadium. Participants included the drill team, cheerleaders, queen nominees, princesses and a colorful paper-mache five-foot Tiger made by SH art students. On reaching the football field the royal party was introduced and escorted by their fathers to places of honor.

Half-time ceremonies featured the coronation ritual. Miss Denise Walterscheid, 1970 queen, relinquished her crown and handed it to Co-captain Wayne Grewing who did the honors. Queens from two previous years, Carol Grewing Frost and Gloria Gieb Fuhrmann, presented the banner a bouquet of flowers.

Other queen nominees were Princesses Carla Schilling, Margie Felderhoff and Ann Bartush, seniors and Nanci Fuhrmann, junior, Beverly Walterscheid, sophomore and Laura Kralicke, freshman. Escorts, in the order named, were Melvin Luke, Cletus Bayer, Mark Schmitt, Gary Endres, Ken Hess and Pat Endres.

After the game in which the Cistercian Hawks of Irving scored 40 points to the Tigers' 7, Sacred Heart Alumni hosted a social hour and program for ex-students in the Parish Hall and The Chelter played for dancing in the KC Hall.

Welcoming the ex-student crowd of 200 was Father Leonard Wangler and serving as master of ceremonies was Alumni President Sylvan Walterscheid. Honored graduates were those from classes 1941, 1951 and 1961.

Miss Helen Hess recognized 1941 grads, gave a brief report on each and the audience stood for a moment in silent prayer for the late James Endres and Bud Swingler. Mrs. Alvin Fuhrmann recognized the 1951 group and Mmes. Harvey Schmitt and Henry Starke did the same for the 1961 class.

Sister Theresina, who taught all three classes, spoke a few words.

Those present helped themselves to a pretty buffet of finger foods, coffee and cold drinks.

Among out of town guests attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Randy Bayer and Richard Zimmerer of Grapevine, Ray Wimmer of Carrollton, James Fuhrmann and Rodney Walter of Irving, James Lutkenhaus of Denton, Ted Miller of Plano, Tom Fuhrmann of Euless, and Linda Rohmer, University of Dallas, Mrs. Keith Tompkins of Arlington.

Mrs. Steve Moser presided in the absence of Mrs. Arthur Endres, president, and Mrs. Pat Stelzer who were in Dallas attending the District 2 Fall meeting held in the Women's Club. Mrs. Moser reported on the Nov. 1 collection for Sacred Heart Cemetery maintenance and listed the amount at $544.

Mrs. Paul Endres reported on the Gainesville Council of Garden Clubs meeting she attended.

Three guests attended, Mmes. Ervin Hamric, Richard Wilde and Albert Stoffels and Mrs. Stoffels signed up for membership.

Tiger Cubs Beat Cistercian 18-0

Sacred Heart's Cubs compensated, at least in part, for the licking inflicted on the Tigers by Cistercian last Saturday night. The little fellows won their half of the double header 18-0. Not only that, they allowed their visitors only one first down in all the game.

Their first score followed a fumble recovery on the first scrimmage play of the game. On next play Leon Bayer raced 40 yards to the goal — and only 35 seconds were gone. The rest of the half was a defensive contest.

Early in the third period Bayer busted through the middle for another 40 yard scoring run.

And in the fourth quarter the 7th graders got into the act with a 60 yard drive. Jim Koelzer, Steve Henscheid and Billy Felderhoff made nice runs and Bob Grewing finished the job with a 1 yard quarterback sneak.

Cooke County FB Has 859 Members

Farm Bureau membership in Cooke County made a gain of 82 in the past year for a present total of 859. That figure was reported in last week's FB meeting by membership chairman J. T. Cole, who also stated that the county rates 95 per cent in renewals and will receive an award at the state convention in Amarillo. The county has lost membership only 2 years since 1934, he added.

Beginning the meeting E. V. Fox talked briefly as outgoing president and Burney Almon assumed duties as the new president. Fox spoke of opportunities ahead for farmers and ranchers but noted that the problems are many and the solutions not easy. He said that FB has seen many politically directed economics but has yet to find one that is near the American economy we used to know.

Almon told the members they must have confidence in a productive future for FB — that they must not be discouraged by reports of declining farmer influence because of declining farmer population. A strong FB organization can go far in protecting their interests, he said.

The meeting recognized M. B. Feaster as third ranking agent of FB life insurance in the state.

Members also discussed amendments that will be voted on at the state convention. Their purpose was to develop a better understanding of the issues by delegates who will attend the convention.

Bill Sullivant Is Candidate for State Legislature

I want to take this opportunity and method to formally announce my candidacy for representative of the 23rd legislative district. I would rather discuss my reasons for seeking the office with each of you personally, but I realize that will be impossible if I am to fulfill my duties as your District Attorney during this campaign.

For those of you with whom I am not personally acquainted, I give the following brief resume: I was born the son of Carroll and Eloise Sullivant on a farm east of Gainesville, where I lived during my early childhood. My family moved into Gainesville where I attended school until I entered the University of Texas. During high school, my summers were spent working on various farms in the area. Summer work during college consisted mostly of roughneck and roustabout work in the oil field. Upon graduation from law school, I enlisted in the army as a private. I was honorably discharged from active duty and returned to Gainesville where I entered the private practice of law. The former Betty Harrison and I were married in 1964, and now have two children, aged 2 and 4. Betty was a school teacher prior to the birth of our first child, and is now teaching part-time at the Cooke County Junior College.

In 1965, I was appointed to fill an unexpired term as County Attorney of Cooke County, when Mr. L. V. Henry resigned the office. I was twice re-elected and served in that capacity until I accepted my present office as District Attorney of Cooke, Wise and Jack Counties. I have been and am active in Church work and have served as Superintendent of the Married Young Peoples Sunday School Department. My civic work has included serving as President of the Gainesville Boys' Club, President of the Citizens Scholarship foundation, director of the Kiwanis Club, Secretary of the Cooke County Heart Fund, area captain of the cancer association, area captain of the United Fund, an active in the Gainesville Jaycees and Parliamentarian of the Campfire Girls Board of Directors. Because of my concern about the quality of services rendered by our state government to our people, and the magnitude of the problems which face us in the '70's, I want to dedicate myself to public service on a broader basis than I have heretofore done. The next legislature will rewrite the entire penal code of our state.

I believe it is therefore important that this district be represented by someone who is intimately acquainted with our problems and needs in the field of law enforcement. Our next legislature will in all probability also consider reform of our present welfare system. As County Attorney I have necessarily become acquainted with the good points, the bad points and sometimes the abuse of our present system. I believe my experience in this area will be useful in the rewriting of this law.

In this time when honesty in public office seems to be at a premium, I assure you, if you honor me with this office, I will conduct myself so as to never give you reason to apologize for nor regret your support. I will devote my full time and all the resources at my disposal to making this district a better place to live for all our people. Check my record since I first entered public office, and ask the people who know me. If my record and reputation merit it, I would deeply appreciate your vote and support.

Bill Sullivant

Over the last 15 years, the number of students in our public school system has increased 78 percent but the number of public education employees has gone up 172 percent and expenditures for education have increased 489 percent, according to Mr. E. J. Dwyer, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Manufacturers. He points out that while expenditures went up six times faster than the increase in the number of students, the Carnegie Commission report issued last year found that the public school system is no more effective now than 15 years ago. Thus, we have additional evidence that the mere spending of more dollars doesn't insure better education. It's up to the citizens to demand quality education — and get it.

Bees, Whitesboro In Scoreless Tie

Last Thursday night's game with Whitesboro second stringers was a frustrating thing for the MHS Bees. They had to settle for a scoreless tie after leading 279 to 107 in total yardage and 18-5 in first downs. Furthermore they pounded on the goal line four times but failed to get across.

Their first fizzle followed a 42 yard drive to the visitors' 35 but three plays later they lost 16 yards and the ball besides on a fumble.

That was followed by Whitesboro's 30 yard gain to the 16, then a couple of good goal line stands by the Bees. Next four tries made only 5 yards. But a fumble then gave the Bearcats another chance at the 13. Two tries reached the 2 and a fumble there ended the threat.

With 38 seconds to go in the first half Muenster intercepted and started from its 36. Two passes to Dan Sicking plus a run by Steve Klement gained 62 to the 2 — and the Bees fumbled on the next play with 6 seconds to go.

Starting the third period Muenster went 64 yards to the 7 and a Bee had the ball wrestled out of his hands.

Early in the fourth they went from midfield to the Bearcat 12 then lost ground to the 39 on a penalty and a fouled up play.

Finally in the closing minutes the Bees recovered a Bearcat fumble on the 40, drove to the 1 in five plays, failed on three tries to get across, and ran out of time.

the electric dryer... where wrinkles go to relax

Wrinkles get away from it all here—away from the clothesline where sun and wind make them hard to get along with. In a modern, electric dryer they loosen up and take it easy.

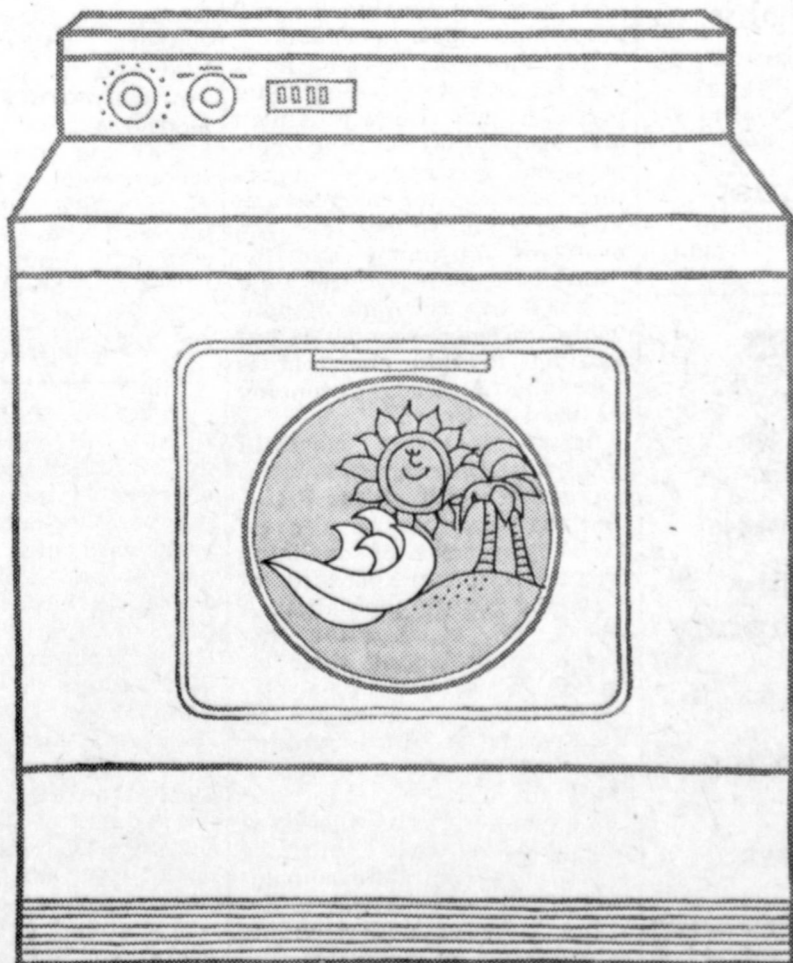

Why not drop your wrinkles off here? An electric dryer softly fluffs up and smooths out all your permanent press and double knit fabrics. It pampers your most delicate things, too, because electricity is so gentle. And when you have an electric dryer, washday never gets rained out. You do all your drying indoors, so the weather isn't a problem.

TP&L suggests you talk with your electric appliance dealer about putting a new, modern electric dryer in your home. And when you do, ask him about the many other ways you can make your life better, electrically.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

By Bettie Luke

New books on the shelves of Muenster Public Library include "Abyss, the Deep Sea and the Creatures that Live in It," and "Your Career in Oceanology."

The first, by C. P. Idyll, describes the physical, chemical and dynamic characteristics of the ocean water and its boundaries which mold and influence all life in it. The author tells fascinating theories of the ocean's origin, behavior and life.

The second, by Waldo T. Byrd, lists in detail the wealth of opportunities born of this new "sea rush" as both government and industry have turned their attention to oceanology, or ocean engineering.

Three plays resulted in a loss of 2 yards. Jim Endres then tried a field goal and it barely missed to the right.

Then came an exchange of kicks, a first down for Sanger and a kick on the next series. That kick, the first play of the second quarter, turned into a big break for the Indians who were ready to make the most of it. The ball, allowed to bounce, brushed a Hornet and was recovered by the visitors. That was 45 yards away.

On the next play, before Muenster recovered from the shock, Reed fired a pass to Ford who got to the 23. Two rushes gained 6 and a pass to Bob Bentley was good for a TD. A pass to Brad Cole added the score to 8-0.

Muenster retaliated with a quick drive that went 62 yards in nine plays. Big gainers were a pass from Jim Endres to Alan Miller for 9, a run by Ricky Swirczynski for 7, a run by Endres for 10 and a pass to Miller for 25 and the touchdown. Henry Knabe crashed over for extra points.

Promptly after that the Hornets blew their second scoring opportunity when Swirczynski intercepted on the Indian 44. Four plays later they had to punt. The score was tied at intermission.

On first possession of the second half Muenster moved again. Ten plays gained 60 yards to the 5 and the effort was shattered two plays later by a fumble which Sanger recovered on the 6.

From there the Indians got two first downs, kicked on the third series and Muenster was 52 yards away. One big play covered the distance. Endres heaved a bomb, Miller got it, barely escaped an Indian's diving tackle, and went on to the score. Swirczynski's run was good for bonus points. The score was 16-8 as the clock showed 1:30 in the third period.

The Indians came back with a good attack that gained 40 yards to the Hornet 29 in four plays. The drive was halted on the next play, however, as Tom Hennigan intercepted on the Hornet 7.

The following series got the Hornets back to the 18, but then they gave the ball back to Sanger on a fumble on the 20. Goal line defense was good there but not good enough. The Indians made 8 on three tries, lost 5 on a penalty and then reached a first down on the 5 with a pass. Four more plays produced the TD, Brad Cole diving in for the last foot. A run for points failed. The Hornets still led 16-14 as the clock read 6:22.

Following kickoff both teams had to kick on their first series. Two plays later the Hornets fumbled again and the Indians were in business again with only 15 to go. Brad Cole made it on the first try taking a pitchout and sprinting to the right. Reed made extra points. Sanger led 22-16 with 2:22 to go.

The next two minutes were spent in a desperate effort by the Hornets. With 57 to go they got the benefit of a pass interference call for 16 yards. A pass to Miller made 16 more to the 25 and four plays got to the 8 with 1:04 left. Two plays went to the 3 and Jim Endres passed out of bounds to stop the clock. The last all-important play got to the 1. Sanger took possession there with only 27 seconds to go.

town. It has four bedrooms, three baths, double garage, failed to make a first down. The Hawks had failed to penetrate the stubborn Tiger defense. The first quarter ended with a scoreless tie.

The tide turned on second play of the second quarter. An interception gave the Hawks possession 36 yards away and five tries were enough. Hines crashed over from the 1 and Lewis made extra points.

On next possession the Hawks moved again. Five plays made 42 to the Tigers 18. Then a penalty and busted plays lost 6 on the next series. However an interception and runback three plays later gave Cistercian another chance from the 18. That time it worked. Hines went over. A pass from Buell to Lewis made the count 16-0 at intermission.

The second half opened with a Hawk drive that was interrupted by Melvin Luke's fumble recovery but continued after a Tiger kick ending the first series. That effort covered 65 yards in five plays the big one being a pass for 25 yards to Lewis followed by Cronin's run for extra points.

Later in the same period the visitors moved again. The drive went 64 yards in eight plays and the pay off was a pass to Lewis for 33 yards. Cronin got points again raising the count to 32-0.

An interception at midfield started the final Cistercian touchdown. That drive needed seven plays. Freshman quarterback Phillips made 32 of it in one romp and Ivey made the last 3. Another pass for another 2-pointer and the score was 40-0 early in the last quarter.

That was followed by the Tigers' lone touchdown and later by a thrilling kickoff return that went all the way. However the TD was nullified by a clipping penalty.

The Rufus Henscheids have re-finished two rooms. And Mrs. Cecil Sims has new paneling in two rooms and a new roof. Other new roofs were put on for Community Lumber Co., Lawrence Vogel and Werner Cler.

Commercial remodeling in the former Rec Room includes a partition to make an office and salesroom of the front third of the location. The front has also received wall paneling, acoustical ceiling and carpeting. The location was occupied last week by Modern Floors.

Several buildings on the west side of Main Street have been dressed up by a new paint job. They are IBJ Outlet, Koesler Jewelry, Floyd's Bar, the pool hall and W. L. Eddy's. The latter is the former Schmitz' Blacksmith Shop which has been repaired and remodeled for a radiator shop.

sive immigration into this country to escape state religions in Europe, it is also obvious that they wished to avoid an established church.

Besides, they had public prayers, put God on the coins and in the national motto, and proclaimed that religion is the foundation of morality, which in turn is the basis of sound government.

All the signs clearly emphasize that the founding fathers intended only to avoid establishment of any one denomination as the state religion. It would not be Baptist, Methodist, Catholic, Jewish or any other creed, but the government officially would allow all creeds and be equally respectful to all. The arrangement was a wise one admired by people all over the world.

Why can't we have the same arrangement now? Despite the sophistry of super sophisticates in congress and religion, we can't escape one basic fact. Prayer in school does not violate the intent of those who wrote the constitution, so why this tortured reasoning about the first amendment? Besides, there never was a time when morality and religion were more urgently needed. That seems like sufficient reason to encourage religion instead of banning it - in schools and lots of other places.
