'96 CCAD budget rejected by Commissioners Court

by Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County Judge Paul Hesse and the four County Commissioners were united in their decision to disapprove the budget proposed by the CCAD for 1996. The court had voiced concern at their August 14 meeting over large increases in some CCAD employee salaries. Some CCAD employees' salaries were budgeted to increase in excess of 10 percent, some up to 18 percent.

A vote was not taken on the proposed budget at that meeting because the CCAD board hadn't yet approved it. At that time every member of Commissioners Court voiced negative feelings over the large salary increases.

Richard Brown, Precinct 2 commissioner, said that he still had objections with the final CCAD budget, particularly some of the salary increase. "To spend $240,000 for a computer -- I'm still not convinced that has to be done," said Brown. He added that the chief appraiser had been offered the assistance of the committee put in place to study and advise in such matter and that the chief appraiser hadn't accepted the offer.

Judge Hesse agreed with Brown, "I have basically the same opinion on the salary increases -- they are not justified. We need to take a real good look at the software and hardware requests. There may be a way to get this to fit exactly where they can find a solution to the problem."

Brown reminded everyone that the CCAD had the same computer system once before and replaced and now want it again. He felt there might be less expensive options.

After studying proposals from different phone companies, Commissioners Court unanimously voted to accept option two with First Business Consultants. New wiring will eliminate some problems experienced in the past with the present system and the addition of two more lines should alleviate busy signals on outgoing calls.

In other business Commissioners Court:

- Agreed to appoint a committee of two or more to study and make recommendation on smoking in the courthouse.

- Approved the appointment of Bill Landy and Lisa Land to the Cooke County Child Welfare Board.

- Appointed Paul Hesse, Murrell Harrison, and Ralph Lewis to the Americans with Disabilities Act Committee.

- Raised fees charged for writs by justice of the peace offices for 1996 from $55 to $60 and kept all other fees charged by Sheriff and Constables the same as in 1995.

- Approved final plat for Butler Subdivision #2 in Precinct #3.

- Approved preliminary plat for Shady Oaks Subdivision in Precinct #1.

- Approved preliminary plat for Huntington Subdivision Phase I located in Precinct #2.

- Approved minutes of the last meeting, monthly bills and reports.

Muenster gains 13.08% in September sales tax rebates

A total of $135.4 million in September sales tax rebates were sent to Texas cities and counties, a 5.5 percent increase over payments of one year ago.

State Comptroller John Sharp said employment in Texas passed the eight million mark for the first time ever in July, as the state's job market continues to show impressive gains.

According to Sharp, Texas cities received $122.4 million for their September sales tax payments, up 5.9 percent from the $115.5 million for September 1994. Counties were sent $13 million, a 1.8 percent increase over last year's $12.8 million.

Cities in Cooke County received a total of $175,585.01 for September 1995, an increase of 22.09 percent from the total sent a year ago.

Gainesville's check of $154,309.32 showed the greatest increase -- 24.73 percent from September of 1994. Total payments to date sent to Gainesville this year are up 11.59 percent from a year ago.

Although Valley View's September check for $1,994.80 was a drop of 28.05 percent, the 1995 total payments to date are still up 3.15 percent from this time a year ago.

Muenster payment for September was $10,493.45, an increase of 13.08 percent from last September. To date in 1995 Muenster has received $104,484.19 in payments, an increase of 6.83 percent.

The $4,781.55 check sent to Lindsay for September indicated an increase of 6.13 percent from a year ago. Total payments to date for Lindsay, $39,708.25, is 4.09 percent better than last year at this time.

Oak Ridge also showed improvement with a September check for $4,005.89, up 13.30 percent.

Cooke County's September rebate check of $91,368.64 was up 18.84 percent from September 1994. The payments to date for Cooke County, $865,154.44 show an improvement of 13.32 percent from total payments to date at this time last year.

Pledge to recycle and win great prizes

Most Texans know recycling is good for the environment, and more businesses are realizing it can cut disposal costs. But now, for the first time recycling can help citizens across the state win big prizes.

Gov. George W. Bush has proclaimed Wednesday, Nov. 15 as "Texas Recycles Day". To launch the event, several choice prizes -- including one that has four wheels and 44 percent recycled steel content -- were announced in Austin September 18 by a group of 100 businesses, schools, government agencies and civic and environmental organizations that are coordinating the recycling event.

"Every year, Texans throw about 20 million tons of garbage into landfills," said Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commissioner Chairman Barry R. McBee. "But that number could be much smaller because it is estimated that up to 80 percent of that trash is recyclable. Diverting those recyclables from landfills is a Texas-size challenge that requires a Texas-size solution."

Anyone who pledges to start or enhance a recycling program as part of Texas Recycles Day has a chance to win prizes donated by businesses that care about the environment. Major prizes include:

- A 1995 Jeep Wrangler donated by the Steel Recycling Institute;
 - A $3,000 gift certificate to The Home Depot;
 - A $2,000 vacation gift certificate donated by Balcones Recycling;
 - A Travelmate 4000 laptop computer for schools from Texas Instruments;
 - Five $500 shopping sprees from H.E. Butt Grocery Company.
- These prizes and many more will be given away when Texas Recycles Day culminates with a drawing at the State Capitol building in Austin November 15. Hundreds of recycling events coordinated by a variety of organizations will also be held across the state that day.

To find out how to send in recycling pledges or coordinate a recycling event, call the TNRC at 1-800-64-TEXAS. Watch next week's Enterprise for an update on Muenster's recycling program.

Ten great ways to celebrate Texas Recycles Day

1. Think before you throw. Reduce. Reuse. Recycle.
2. Add new recyclable materials to your home, office or school recycling program.
3. Commit to buy and use recycled products at home and at work.
4. Conduct a Texas Recycles Day sales promotion.
5. Start a compost pile with yard trimmings and food scraps.
6. Take a youth group to visit a recycling facility or a landfill in your community.
7. Take your used motor oil and oil filters to one of the many approved collection centers.
8. Don't Bag It. Leave grass clippings on the lawn as fertilizer.
9. Allow a school to consolidate its recyclables with your workplace recycling program.
10. Conduct a training workshop on recycling or composting.

Proposed amendments to be clarified Oct. 5

Cooke County Republican Women has as one of its goals to try and inform the voting public, so that they may make educated decisions. The November 7 election on Constitutional Amendments is one that has not stirred up a lot of interest. It is very important, as it will affect our lives in many ways.

Come hear The Honorable Mary Denny, State Representative, District 63 present the amendments and their positives and negatives.

Mary is a Denton County Businesswoman, who is owner of the Craver Ranch in Aubrey. She was appointed by Governor Clements in 1990 to the Texas committee for the Humanities, and now serves on Human Services, Elections Rules and Resolutions House Committees. Mary is a member of The Conservative Coalition and Director of Rural Legislative Coalition.

The meeting is open to the public and will be held October 5, 7:00 p.m. at the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce on Culberson Street. All are invited to come and bring a friend.

Good News!

VACCO COMPANY, INC. of Lone Grove, Oklahoma had trucks on the scene of an oil spill in the Red River. After river water contaminated with oil was sucked into waiting trucks, it was hauled away to be purified.

THESE HIGH WATERS on the Red River north of Muenster had little evidence remaining last Friday around noon of an oil spill. Witnesses reported oil flowing from bank to bank down the river after a major oil pipeline broke sometime Thursday afternoon. Winds from the north helped push the oil to the river's south bank. The EPA and clean-up crews set up on the Willie Walterscheid farm to contain the oil. Long buoys, shown in this photo, helped guide the oil to the riverbanks for suctioning and clean up. Crews used small boats to set out the floating buoys.

Long orange buoys were used to contain an estimated 200 barrels of oil that ran into the river after a major oil pipeline broke near Illinois Bend. Signs of the spill weren't easily visible by noon Friday as the EPA supervised clean-up efforts.

Letters to the Editor

Editor,
A couple of months ago, we attended the city council meeting. We went with high hopes and came away filled with shame. Not ashamed of ourselves, but of the actions of the council. We were treated as if we were little pesky gnats. The council had no interest in our problem.

After we left the meeting, we started a campaign to try and clean up our neighborhood and the total town. Some extreme measures were used to draw attention to the plight of our neighborhood.

Apparently, we got the attention of the city council, mayor, citizens and city administrator. Promises were made promptly that there would be a quick and comprehensive solution to our problem.

Just the opposite has happened. Yes, some of our neighbors have corrected their problem. We applaud their efforts. But, we still have some rats, although, not as bad as before. But there are certain factions that have refused to comply to the law.

The city administrator, city council, the mayor and the police have neglected to enforce the litter and junk ordinance. This ordinance has been on the books since 1972.

One must ask why people, such as us, resort to such drastic measures. Because apparently, some people don't know the definition of neighbors or citizen.

Why does the city council continue to balk on the subject of enforcement of this ordinance?

Why has the city administrator refused to send certain people the legal form letter? Why don't the police issue citations without the permission of the council? Do they need permission to issue a speeding ticket? I think not.

People in this town have been allowed to do what they wanted to for such a long time, that they resist conforming to the law. To the citizens of the Endres addition - stop griping and start complaining to the city council, administrator, and mayor. Do the right thing. Be constructive.

If nothing is accomplished about the trashy condition of our neighborhood, don't say one word to us. We have tried our best. We couldn't care less that the City considers our neighborhood the "slum area" of Muenster.

To the people that have houses for sale now or in the future, just remember that people aren't going to purchase a home in a junky neighborhood. You've had your chance to complain to the proper authorities.

We're not backing down. Just sitting back and laughing at the lazy, ignorant, uncaring, scared people that have refused to step forward and make their wishes known. This neighborhood is on a spiraling downward motion. As long as the citizens of our neighborhood allow it to happen, it will continue.

You can stop it if you want to. It's all up to you and you alone.

"Views From A Heartland Campus"

BY GEORGE ROCHE, PRESIDENT, HILLSDALE COLLEGE

Hiroshima, Nagasaki And the Truth

Being a former U.S. Marine and a current American history professor gives me a unique perspective on the fallout from the recent "debates" about using the atom bomb against Hiroshima and Nagasaki. I've watched the Smithsonian's Enola Gay controversy, seen politicians wiggle around so as not to "offend" anyone regarding V-J Day, and followed with interest the agonizing effort of some Japanese to get their current leaders to apologize for Pearl Harbor and its aftermath.

American revisionist historians and their cohorts, those people who would have you wipe your feet on an American flag to enter a Chicago art exhibit, see the Hiroshima/Nagasaki episode as typical of American arrogance, a "cold-blooded desire to impress the rest of the world with America's power to defeat an already-shattered Japanese homeland," as a Detroit News editorial recently quoted.

But Mr. Winston Churchill, claims the News, saw things quite differently: "To avert a vast, definite butchery, to bring the war to an end, to give peace to the world, to lay healing hands on its tortured peoples by a manifestation of overwhelming power at the cost of a few explosions, seemed, after all our toils and perils, a miracle of deliverance."

A look at the historical facts may prove enlightening. The battle for the island of Okinawa offers some sobering statistics. Of the quarter of a million American soldiers involved in Okinawa, 35 percent were wounded, and 7,000 died. The statistics for the "defenders" were even worse: approximately 113,000 of the 120,000 Japanese soldiers were killed, as surrender was not an option.

Who can forget that "Victory at Sea" footage of kamikaze pilots diving to a bomb-laden death or the awful memory of the 724 Americans killed when the aircraft carrier "Franklin" was sunk by the "divine wind" fanatics? Okinawa taught us that not all Japanese kamikazes were in planes, and it was clear that all soldiers defending the island were prepared to die.

Transferring the kamikaze mentality from the planes and the rugged terrain of Okinawa to an assault on the island of Japan itself underscores the projections developed by historian John Keegan and quoted in the News editorial of May 29: "... if the casualty rate on Japan was the same as of Okinawa, 268,000 of the 767,000 American troops assigned to the initial assault on Kyushu would be killed or wounded. Virtually all of Japan's two million troops would die and civilian casualties would be staggering—on Okinawa, somewhere between 70,000 and 160,000 of the 450,000 native Okinawans had been killed in the crossfire."

As a former Marine, I wonder how America's revisionist historians can forget the events of December 7, the "day that will live in infamy," but forget them they apparently did. They have also apparently forgotten that their ability to "protest" the events of the Second World War depends on their right to free speech. This precious right was guaranteed for them by thousands of courageous American soldiers who fell at hundreds of places like Remagen, Chateau-Thierry, Bastogne, Guadalcanal and Iwo Jima, who far too often hurtled to their deaths from the skies or died silently at sea, who suffered and died far from home and loved ones in service to their country and its cause. To them all honor goes, and to the "protesting" revisionists all shame.

GEORGE ROCHE IS PRESIDENT OF HILLSDALE COLLEGE, A PRIVATE, FOUR-YEAR LIBERAL ARTS INSTITUTION, LOCATED IN MICHIGAN, WHICH RECEIVES NO FEDERAL FUNDING.

America: caring and remembering for 3 decades

In 1965 a group of concerned, caring and patriotic Americans joined to form "Vietnam Mail Call" in support of America's fighting forces in and near Vietnam.

Today, in 1995, Americans still care and remember through "Mail for Our Military." Morale-boosting cards and letters from every part of the U.S. are intermingled, then made up into packages which are sent via priority mail - neither processing nor mailing is at taxpayer expense - to more than 1,000 locations across the U.S. (including Texas, of course) and around the world. We have tons of "thank you" letters from chaplains, unit commanders and NCOICs, ships, hospitals, and morale agencies such as local Armed Services YMCAs*/USOs*.

"Mail for Our Military" is a terrific project for readers of the Muenster Enterprise, along with family members and friends. To learn how to take part in this unique exciting program, send your name and address along with a first-class stamp for return postage (please - not a self-addressed, stamped envelope - just the stamp) to: Mail For Our Military, P.O. Box 339, Soldier, KY 41173, and mention how you learned about this program. Thank you!

WILLIAM DETWEILER, American Legion National Commander, congratulates Congressman Ralph M. Hall for his cosponsorship of the proposed flag protection constitutional amendment, which was approved by the House of Representatives. The amendment passed the House of Representatives on June 28 by a vote of 312-120, more than the 2/3 necessary for passage of a constitutional amendment. The amendment now awaits Senate action and, if approved by the Senate, must be ratified by 3/4 of the States.

Harold Lutkenhaus dies at 80

Mass of Christian Burial was held in Sacred Heart Church on Tuesday, Sept. 26, 1995 at 10 a.m. for Harold Lutkenhaus, 80, who died suddenly at St. Richard's Villa on Sept. 22 at 11 p.m. of congestive heart failure and had been suffering from Alzheimer's Disease for more than 10 years. He was a member of Sacred Heart Church.

HAROLD LUTKENHAUS

Wilde, Marie Lutkenhaus and Odella Dettin all of Muenster; and two brothers William "Bill" Lutkenhaus and Arthur "Bobby" Lutkenhaus all of Muenster; and a number of nieces, nephews and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his parents, and three brothers Herbert, Alex and Hugo Lutkenhaus.

Harold Lutkenhaus was a farmer all his life and was a partner with his brother Bobby until he retired in 1990. He enjoyed fishing, woodworking, gardening, and canning. He raised chickens, geese and pigeons. He enjoyed flea markets and auctions, senior citizen dances in the surrounding area, and Saturday night VFW dances. Spending time with friends in Pilot Point, and their visits here with him were special interests.

His nephews who were the pallbearers and honorary pallbearers often spent long weekends during the school year, and weeks during summer vacations. They liked to ride the school bus to his house on Friday afternoon and stay through Sunday. Harold enjoyed these visits very much. His sister "Sis" and her husband Al Felderhoff were also frequent visitors. He enjoyed visiting with neighbors, and traveling with friends to distant places, especially Vancouver.

He was a resident of St. Richard's Villa for the past year.

A Rosary service was held on Monday at 4 p.m. at McCoy Funeral Home Chapel in Muenster, and a Vigil at 7 p.m. in the chapel.

Burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery was directed by McCoy Funeral Home. Pallbearers were nephews, Ross Felderhoff, Scott Felderhoff, Kenny Felderhoff, Bobby Dean Lutkenhaus, Troy Lutkenhaus, and Dwayne Lutkenhaus. Honorary pallbearers were Donnie Lutkenhaus, Jan Lutkenhaus, Janelle Harding, Melvin Wilde and Robert Daie Wilde.

Among relatives attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dettin of Garland, Jimmy Lutkenhaus of Bedford, Lisa Hess of Bedford and Janelle Harding of Denton.

STEVE ANGRISANO drew the audience into his concert performance Saturday night, Sept. 23, in Sacred Heart Church following the 7 p.m. Mass. People of all ages were invited and rose to the occasion when he coaxed their participation, including youngsters, students of both grades and high school, late teens, parents and grandparents. Advance publicity stated that "he is an outstanding singer, songwriter, performer and captivating storyteller who weaves the Gospel message intricately into his programs." He has performed in more than 100 dioceses in the U.S. and Canada. Angrisano returned to his home in Plano Saturday night and flew to Denver, Colorado early Sunday.

Employee input sought by MMH Board

by Janet Felderhoff

As an incentive to share ideas that will provide better service and save money, the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board has set out a suggestion box. Employees are invited to place their suggestions in the box. On a regular basis one of the best suggestions will be selected and that employee will receive an appropriate prize.

A report of renovation being done for the OB department was given. It is hoped that deliveries might begin in MMH sometime in October. Work is being done under the supervision of J.A. Owens Construction Co. of Gainesville.

Problems with ventilation in the laboratory and kitchen were discussed. Tom Hesse had located a unit for the lab at a good price. Board members agreed to wait until spring to fix the cooling problem unless prices made it more feasible to do so now. It was voted to let the decision up to Jack Endres, MMH administrator.

Physician recruitment continues and two possibilities will be visiting in Muenster soon.

Board members present were Don Flusche, Chas Bayer, Werner Becker, Jr., Phil Endres, Jack Murdock, Duane Knabe, Jerry Hess, and Dennis Hess. Lora Hennigan was not present.

Cedarapids, Inc. to fabricate agriboards' first production mill

State Senator Tom Haywood, Republican of Wichita Falls, confirmed Tuesday, Sept. 19, that Electra will be the home for a mill that will produce building panels from agricultural fibers. Agriboard Industries of Fairfield, Iowa, which manufactures and markets an environmentally engineered stress skin panelized building system, will award a contract for the construction of its first production mill to Cedarapids Inc., a subsidiary of Raytheon Engineers and Constructors.

Agriboard Industries plans to establish regional manufacturing operations around the United States. The plant in Electra will be in operation by February, 1996. Agriboard Industries is partly financed through a $2.8 million loan from Benefit Life Insurance Company and Lender's Guaranty, Inc. of Dallas. The company is now in the final stages of completing its $5.7 million funding, with financing scheduled to close by October 30, 1995.

"We appreciate the hard work of the folks from the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Commerce in bringing this mill to Texas," stated Haywood. "When the farmers of Texas benefit from this mill, every Texas citizen wins!" Jack Hollis, President of Electra State Bank and members of the Electra Industrial Foundation Board credited Senator Haywood and his staff for bringing Agriboard representatives, Texas Department of Commerce, and the Department of Agriculture representatives together in Austin to formulate the successful plan which brought this industry to Texas.

Raytheon, Cedarapids' Parent Corporation, is a diversified, international, multi-industry, technology-based company ranked among the 100 largest U.S. industrial corporations. Raytheon and its subsidiary companies, including Cedarapids Inc.,

Whitley, Klement marry in Sacred Heart Church on Sept. 23

The wedding of Theresa "Terri" LaFern Whitley and Kevin George Klement was held in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster on Saturday, Sept. 23, 1995. Father Frowin Schoech, OSB officiated at 5 p.m. for the Nuptial Mass and double-ring vows of the Holy Sacrament of Matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Helen Fisher of Muenster and Jim Whitley of Denison. She is also the granddaughter of Allie and Myrtle Whitley of Denison. She is a 1987 graduate of Muenster High School and is an Independent Mary Kay Beauty Consultant.

The groom is the son of Tony and Sis Klement of Muenster. He is a 1980 graduate of Muenster High School and is employed as a machinist at Valenite in Gainesville, and is co-owner of K and K Pipesetting in Muenster.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a wedding gown of candlelight ivory matte satin in traditional style with lavish details on the ballgown silhouette. Appliqués of delicate Alençon lace, embellished with iridescents and bridal pearls, enhanced the sweetheart neckline and capped sleeves. The princess-style bodice was attached to a graceful chapel-length train, completing the elegant bridal gown designed by Victoria's.

Her waist-length veil was fashioned with a headpiece decorated with Alençon lace, sequins and bridal pearls, accented by two tiers of ivory tulle, designed by T&G Veils.

She carried a heart-shaped bouquet with an Alençon lace back, with fresh pink and yellow roses and stephanotis, all accented by sequined hearts and bridal pearls. The bride's late grandmother, Marie Harrell's, rosary was entwined in the bouquet, designed and arranged by the groom's sister, Darlene Otto, owner of Bouquets and Gifts in Muenster.

For tradition and sentiment, for "something old," the bride carried a Bible and handkerchief from her late Grandmother Harrell; for "something borrowed" she wore a pearl necklace from a friend, Jan Cain; "something blue" was her blue garter; and "something new" was a 1995 penny in her shoe.

ATTENDANTS
Tracey Walterscheid Skrivaneck of Ennis, a friend of the bride, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Melanie Richey Hesse of Muenster, Angie Barr Kell of Fort Worth, Diane Gibson Everly of Los Colinas and JoEll Hellman Kemp of Muenster. All are friends of the bride.

They were identically attired in formal dresses designed with navy velvet bodice with scooped neck front and back. The floor-length dress had a navy crepe princess style skirt, designed by New Image. They wore matching navy velvet shoes. Their pearl earrings and necklaces were gifts from the bride. Each carried a bouquet of fresh yellow and pink roses.

Flower girls were twins Shelby and Shaye Kell, Megan Hesse and Brianna Klement. Brianna is the groom's great-niece and godchild. Shelby, Shaye and Megan are friends of the bride. They carried heart-shaped baskets filled with rose petals, which they scattered as they walked down the aisle. They wore navy velvet floor-length dresses designed with sweetheart necklines, capped sleeves and Alençon lace at the waists, tied with a navy velvet bow in back. Their dresses were made by Laurel Neu of Lindsay.

The ring bearers were Mitchell Hesse and Blake Hellman Voth. Mitchell wore a navy tux with tails, and ivory shirt. Blake wore navy velvet knickers, suspenders and ivory shirt, made by Laurel Neu of Lindsay.

Ed Otto of Muenster, friend of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were groom's brother, Robert Klement of Muenster; groom's brother, Gary Don Klement of Saint Jo; a friend, Brian (Zeke) Hess of Muenster; and groom's nephew, Brian (Bubba) Klement of Muenster.

Ushers were Roy Klement, groom's brother; Neil Huchton, groom's brother-in-law; Ron Dangelmayr, groom's nephew;

Gene Luttmr, Duane Knabe, and Donnie Grewing, all friends and all from Muenster.

Mass server was Adam Bayer, groom's godchild.

Candlelighters were the bride's mother, Helen Fisher and groom's mother, Sis Klement who lit two ivory candles at the altar, that the couple used to light their Unity candle during Mass.

Wedding music was presented by Lori Earheart and Kerri Reiter, vocalists, both of Gainesville and Ruth Felderhoff of Muenster, pianist. Selections included "Just You and I," "Endless Love," "I Offer Thee," "You Are the Wind Beneath My Wings," "Wedding Song," "How Beautiful," "Pans Angelicus," "Bridal Prayer," "Ave Maria," and the processional "Canon" by Pachelbel, Wagner's "Bridal Chorus," and recessional "Wedding March."

The special wedding liturgy included an Old Testament Reading, "The Creation of Woman," read by Kristi Pagel Schneider, a friend of the bride. The Responsorial Psalm was sung by Kerri Reiter. The New Testament Reading, "The Greatest of These Is Love," was given by Kristi Schneider. The Gospel, "Remain in My Love," was read by Father Frowin Schoech. Prayers of the Faithful were given by Kristi Schneider. Offertory gifts were presented at the altar by Joyce Bayer, groom's sister and godparent, and LaFern Douglas, bride's namesake and Jim Douglas, a friend.

Church decorations included navy velvet and gold pew bows, two gold candelabras, entwined with ivy and holding blueberry-scented candles, behind the front altar. Ivory chub planters with yellow and pink roses were on the altar. The couple's unity candle was placed on a gold pedestal. Navy velvet bows graced the doors of the church.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in Sacred Heart Community Center for 400 guests, given by the bride and groom and hosted by their parents. The Farmer's Kitchen catered the dinner. The groom's sister, Janet Fisher, and the bride's mother, Helen Fisher, catered the cheese and hors d'oeuvre table. There was a flowing gold wine fountain. Guests danced to music of the 70s, 80s, and 90s by Dave Muller, groom's brother-in-law.

Guest book attendants Jan Cain, Susan Cook Hermes, Judy Trubnack and the groom's sister, Darlene Otto, registered guests at an "ice cream parlor" table and chairs decorated with English ivy, navy and ivory tulle and yellow and pink roses in ivory chub planters, with a navy plume pen.

The bride's table held antique gold goblets owned by the bride and other gold goblets owned by Jan Cain; also two gold candelabra with blueberry-scented candles, hurricane lamps with blueberry-scented votives, entwined with English ivy, navy and ivory tulle. Navy velvet and gold ribbon runners centered the tables. Potpourri was sprinkled on ivory linen tablecloths.

A backdrop for the bride's table showed two large hearts wrapped in navy ribbon, and the couple's names in gold lettering.

The Farmer's Kitchen of Muenster made and designed the wedding cakes. The four-tiered all white bride's cake was iced in ivory and blush, and was topped with a Beverly Clark original "Bride and Groom" music box, repainted by Rita Fisher to match the wedding attire. The groom's chocolate fudge cake was decorated with strawberries, with the top tier decorated like a huge deer head, the groom's favorite hobby.

A "Happy Birthday" cake was served after the meal to the bride's father, Jim Whitley, who was observing his birthday on his daughter's wedding day. The chocolate cake was in the shape of a large fish with wide-open mouth, made by The Farmer's Kitchen.

Cake servers were groom's nieces Stephanie Huchton, Crystal Klement, Kimberly Klement, Mindy Walterscheid, all of Muenster, and the groom's great-niece, Emily Stoffels of Denton.

Decorations in the reception area included English ivy in planters on ivory columns, hurricane globes and blueberry-scented candles, ivory chub planters with pink and yellow roses, and streamers of ivory and tulle. White wicker furniture and a street lamp post were used for picture taking. Navy and gold ribbon runners and sprinkles of potpourri were on guests' tables. Crystal candlesticks and hurricane globes were tied with gold bows. Ficus trees glimmered with tiny white lights to set the romantic mood.

A black chauffeured limousine swept the bride and groom away for their wedding trip to Aruba in the Caribbean for five days at the all-inclusive Americana Aruba Beach Hotel and Casino, and a weekend in Dallas.

Upon their return they will reside in their newly-built rural home.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, Tony and Sis Klement and the groom's family in the home of Paul and Patsy Dangelmayr, on Friday evening, Sept. 22. There were 60 guests for a Mexican meal. Gifts were presented to the wedding attendants by the bride and groom.

Terry Martin featured for creative teaching

An article written by Karla D. Shores and published in the Fort Worth Star Telegram featured Terry Martin. Martin is the husband of Staci Sicking Martin and the son-in-law of Bernice and Paul Sicking of Myra.

Terry's unique teaching methods were highlighted in the article. He was a fourth grade teacher for four years and last year he decided that he didn't want to part with this fourth grade class. His solution was to become their fifth grade teacher.

He said that he wanted to build on what he had done last year rather than having to stop and teach a new class. The students at Edward J. Briscoe Elementary School were excited to have Mr. Martin as their teacher for another year. They credit his creativity for making them more creative.

Often Martin doesn't teach from a textbook. A Mathematics project assigned by Martin had students designing and building animal cages. Their desks were covered with plywood, glass and paint. The students were having fun while learning something about engineering, construction, drafting and painting.

Martin's students had a low absentee rate and high standardized test scores last year.

The 26 year old teacher is the youngest of his colleagues. He can still recall his first day in fifth grade and notes that it isn't the information that you remember from those classes, it's just doing the stuff.

During the summer Martin gave his students each a "Guinness Book of World Records". He met with them each Friday of summer vacation and asked questions on the material in the book. He felt that most of them read the whole book. The idea was that they wouldn't just spend the whole summer goofing off.

Terry received his master's degree in education last year. He is trying much of what he learned in college with his students. His wife Staci is also a teacher and has recently earned her master's degree. Staci teaches in Burleson.

Betsy Fleitman earns Master's in Math

Elizabeth (Betsy) Ann Reed Fleitman of Lindsay has received her Master's Degree in Mathematics from Texas Woman's University. She also holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Secondary Education from the University of North Texas. Announcement was made by TWU. The office of admissions at TWU stated that more than 550 degrees were conferred at the close of commencement exercises.

Betsy Fleitman is the daughter of John Reed of Houston and the late Pat Reed. She is the wife of Leon Fleitman. They are parents of four children. There are nine grandchildren. She is also the daughter-in-law of John and Anne Fleitman of Muenster.

Betsy Fleitman is a teacher of Math and English at Lindsay High School. She began her teaching career at Era High School and taught several years at Sacred Heart High School. She is a member of Mu Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, and was selected by her students as Outstanding Teacher in Who's Who in American High School Teachers.

State Fair '95: fun, food and fashion

Want to sample salsa, shuck corn, do the cake walk, learn about winemaking or meet the honey queens? Then tour the Food and Fiber Pavilion at the State Fair of Texas Sept. 29 to Oct. 22.

The Texas Department of Agriculture will have something for fairgoers of all ages at daily events designed to entertain and educate. Events will include:

- The first Farm Olympics, Oct. 8, pitting overall-clad contestants in a race against the clock to see who can shuck corn, shell peas, gather eggs and load hay the fastest.
- The Texas Amateur Wine Competition, Oct. 9, with commentary on what to look for when tasting wine.

Health officials endorse flu shot for all ages in the fall

Fall has arrived and it's time to think about preparing for winter. Checking antifreeze, covering home air vents, bringing out warm clothing, cutting fire wood, and taking steps to prevent the flu.

An average flu season kills 20,000 Americans (the majority are over 65). At present the best protection is to get a yearly vaccination. Flu shots are made from three different flu virus strains considered the most likely to make their rounds that particular season. Since the killed viruses used to make a flu vaccine are grown in eggs, the flu shot is not recommended for anyone who is allergic to eggs.

Contrary to the belief of some you cannot get the flu from the flu shot because it is made from dead viruses. The shot does take as long as two weeks to take affect and can't offer protection if you are exposed during that time.

Dr. Martin Kralicke of Muenster Memorial Hospital agrees with the following recommendations of who should get the flu shot.

- Anyone who's not allergic to eggs and wants protection from the flu can get the shot, but it's especially recommended for the following groups, who are at high risk of life-threatening complications:
- Anyone age 65 or older (Medicare now covers the shot)

- Residents of nursing homes and other long-term care facilities
- Adults and children six months and older with chronic lung or heart problems, diabetes, kidney and blood diseases, or suppressed immune systems

- Children or teens who take aspirin regularly for a chronic condition (such as juvenile rheumatoid arthritis), because if they get the flu, they are at high risk of getting Reye's syndrome (a rare, potentially fatal liver disorder)
- Anyone caring for or living with people in the above groups (such as their doctors, nurses, and household members, including children)

Although they are not considered "high risk", the shot should also be considered for:

- Police officers, fire fighters, emergency medical technicians, and other essential service providers
- Students in dorms and others living in densely populated places where people are in close quarters
- Foreign travelers visiting the tropics anytime or the Southern Hemisphere during our summer (Their winter)
- Women in their third month of pregnancy (when the risk of flu complications rises)
- Teachers, day-care providers, and other (including parents) who are in daily contact with lots of children

The Perryman Cemetery Association will meet at the Forestburg Community Center Monday October 2, 1995 at 7 p.m. There will be an election of officers at this meeting. The present officers are: President Veda Brogdon, Vice President Helen Steadman, Secretary Kim Desmuke, and Treasurer Jewel Dill. Everyone interested in this cemetery is invited to attend.

Mrs. Gladys Balthrop received word last week of the death of two relatives Ghar McKinney whose funeral services were Friday at Decatur and Frank Stubbelfield of Slidell whose funeral service was Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Church in Slidell. Mrs. Gladys Balthrop and Mrs. Anna Kirk attended the funeral service at Slidell Sunday. Weekend guests of Mrs. Balthrop and other relatives were Sandra and Garland Lehman, Tracy and Karma Lehman and Dustin Lehman all of Iowa Park, Kellye and David Beavers and Austin of Irving.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Penton attended the evangelist services at the First United Methodist Church in Bedford, Texas Friday evening. The program started at 7:30 p.m. Tom Dooley evangelist was the speaker. He speaks on mornings over KUIT radio. Lake Country Baptist Band led by Richard Morris gave the music. A large crowd attended. Refreshments and fellowship followed. The program was sponsored by the singles.

Mrs. Mozelle Hutson and Mrs. Jo Dell Gaston of Saint Jo drove to Mineral Wells Sunday to visit Mrs. Edna Agee. Mrs. Agee treated Mrs. Hutson and Mrs. Gaston to dinner at Thurber, Texas (an old coal mining town of years ago just outside of Mineral Wells) at the Smokestack Cafe. The cafe was established in the early 1900s. The first cafe burned. It was then moved and re-established in another antique building, and is family owned and operated, with lots of good food and antiques to see. The town population is five people who run the cafe.

The Bewley Family Reunion was held Sunday Sept. 24, at the Ross Point Community Center. Lunch was served at the noon hour. Then an auction was held with Larry Cotton of Azle being the auctioneer. Clyde Bewley received a nice key ring for being the oldest person attending. Clyde is 87. About 30 relatives attended.

Mrs. Ima King of Bowie and her niece Jeanie Rogers of Alabama visited Lois and Clyde Bewley Saturday.

Mrs. Louise Shults had as her guests Saturday Mrs. Dorothy Penton of Gainesville. They enjoyed eating out.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Houston Ensey of Bowie attended the birthday celebration for Bill Eason Saturday at Era in the Masonic building. Mr. Eason was celebrating his 90th birthday. His birthday was September 23.

Fred and Gerald Biffle had dinner and visited their mother Mrs. Frankie Biffle Sunday. Peggy and Charles Howard also joined them.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Maberry Sr. had as their guests during the weekend Marvin Maberry III and Marvin Jr. and Linda Maberry all of Daingerfield.

A family reunion of the late Sam and Lois Howard, parents of Charles Howard and grandparents of Mrs. Rhonda (Howard) Jacobs and sons Rion and J.L. of Era, was held Saturday September 16 in Caney, OK. There was also a surprise birthday party and cake for the oldest son Leo Howard for his 70th birthday. A covered dish lunch was served and enjoyed, with lots of visiting. All the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Howard were present, with the exception of one son Phillip who was deceased. Approximately 30 relatives attended. Charles Howard and daughter Mrs. Rhonda (Howard) Jacobs of Era attended. Charles Howard's wife Peggy was unable to attend. The family wants to arrange to have the reunion twice a year. Mrs. Rhonda Jacobs is compiling a book of the Howard family history. The Howards were owners of very expensive and famous and valuable race horses. They owned a race horse named "Moon Lark" that won first place in the All American Futurity in 1978 in Ruidoso Downs. A son Paul Howard had trained horses for 17 years and trained "Moon Lark." About 40 relatives of the Howards were at the races the day "Moon Lark" won. This will be in the book Rhonda will write. She hopes to have the book out in approximately two years. So be watching for it.

Virus Protection: 6 Easy Steps

New high-tech laboratory techniques make viruses easier to identify, and new vaccines help prevent some strains. But researchers still have great respect for the disease-preventing power of old-fashioned hygiene:

- 1. Wash hands frequently. Viruses can survive on doorknobs, phones, toys; you may also pick them up by shaking hands with an infected person, changing a diaper, or wiping a child's nose. If you then touch your eyes, nose or mouth, you can easily become infected.
- 2. Clean shared items. Soapy water with a splash of chlorine bleach kills viruses on silverware, cups and toys.
- 3. Insist on courtesy. Even the smallest tows can learn not to sneeze or cough in people's faces and to wash their hands after using the bathroom.
- 4. Educate children about animal bites. That raccoon that looks like a cute pet may carry rabies; so might a skunk, fox, bat or stray cat or dog. Children should be taught to tell parents immediately if they've been bitten or "kissed" by an animal. After a bite, clean the area with soap and water and seek medical care.
- 5. Clean cautiously. Mice and rats may carry the newly-recognized Hanta virus, as well as aseptic meningitis. To avoid breathing in viruses in droppings, don't sweep out cabins or porches where rodents have been living. Instead, toss on a 10-to-1 mixture of water and bleach; let it soak into the floor before hosing or sweeping.
- 6. Give your doctor full information. If you've been traveling or hiking or fishing and are now sick, your doctor needs all the details to diagnose both rare and common viruses quickly.

Fort Worth Zoo's fairy tale ends happily

Popular Demand Leads to Extended Stay for Visiting Dragon

If you still haven't seen "Naga," the Fort Worth Zoo's visiting Komodo Dragon, stop dragging your feet! Originally scheduled to leave in mid-September, Naga will continue to be on display until Monday, October 2, 1995, due to popular demand. Public response has been incredible during the large lizard's stay, with viewing lines extending far beyond the exhibit at times, and attendance exceeding 150,000.

Naga, the largest Komodo in the Western Hemisphere, normally resides at the Cincinnati Zoo. After his departure, the Fort Worth Zoo's two juvenile dragons will be available for viewing. The young Komodos are both between 3 and 4 feet long and will be fully-grown in a few years. Artificially incubated and hatched at the National Zoo in Washington, D.C., the pair represent some of the few captive breedings of Komodo dragons in the United States.

PROGRAM FOR REDEMPTION OF GERMAN HISTORICAL BONDS
A major Swiss bank through the offices of a prominent Swiss Security House is prepared to exchange cash for German Historical Document Bonds, also known as Dawes and Young, series C and M, upon authentication as genuine. The purpose of this exchange program is to remove a large portion of existing bonds from circulation. The Swiss bank will pay approximately 4:1 for each bond, which have face amounts of $1000.00. To individual investors, these bonds have little or no value. The London Accord of 1951 specifically provides that these bonds are not subject to compound interest and Germany never agreed to honor them. This is a limited time program to allow bond holders to exchange their bonds for cash. The Security House has approximately 3 billion dollars to buy these bonds from all over the world. Once the allocated funds have been depleted, the exchange program will cease.
The Security House has offered a finder's-fee of $100.00 for each $1000.00 bond located. This could be a substantial sum of money for those who locate bond holders who wish to sell the bonds. If you know of individuals who own these bonds and would be willing to discuss the option of selling the bonds, or if you desire additional information about any aspect of this program, please call: Muenster Enterprise, (817) 759-4311.

Art and empire treasures from Assyria

"Persons interested in partaking in a journey that will take them into another period should come and join the Division of Continuing Education at North Central Texas College as they set out for The Kimball Museum of Art in Fort Worth," said Kay Moody, NCTC continuing education coordinator.

The tour will depart from the NCTC Library Friday, October 27 at 10:30 a.m.

"Participants will be able to enjoy a lecture that will prepare them for their journey," said Dr. Jane England, NCTC history professor. "I will be discussing the culture and religion of the millennium society." A slide show will be viewed by participants that will exhibit the artifacts that relate to the exhibit as well as others. The lecture will be Thursday, October 26 from 6:00-8:00 p.m.

Artifacts in the exhibit will include a life size statue of the king Ashurnasirpal II (883-859 B.C.), ivory furniture inlays, embossed bronze bowls, various types of palace decorations, jewelry, pottery and a collection of clay tablets inscribed in the cuneiform script found at Nineveh, the ancient capitol of Assyria on the Tigris River.

The exhibit is on loan from the British Museum in London. "This is the finest collection of Assyrian artifacts in the world, representing wealth and magnificence of the palatial art of the first millennium B.C.," said Moody.

Registration fee includes admittance to the exhibit, lunch, transportation to and from the museum and the informative lecture.

Class size is limited. Be sure and reserve your seat early by registering during regular college hours at the NCTC Registrar's Office.

Muenster tucks another win under their wings

The Muenster Hornets took the long drive southeast of Sherman last Friday night to Blue Ridge and brought home win number two with a score of 27-7.

"We started slow the first half, inside the 20 three times and couldn't get in," commented Hornet coach Randy Tankersley. "The second half we came out strong and wore them down."

The Hornets gained 340 yards, while holding the Tigers to only 135 yards and lost no fumbled balls this game.

"Stephen Reiter had a great game," Tankersley said of Reiter covering 3 fumbles and picking off a pass. "He was all over the field."

Blue Ridge took the opening kick, moving 30 yards in 9 plays before being stopped on the Hornets 30 yard line. Cody Sicking took 8 runs with James Klement and Chad Roller each carrying the ball once in Muenster's first offensive drive into Tiger territory before running out of yards.

The Tigers second possession began at their 45 yard line. Mixing running and passing plays, Blue Ridge moved into the 2nd quarter inside Muenster's 20 yard line. Three plays later the Tigers took the ball in from the one for 6 points. The extra kick gave Blue Ridge a 7-0 lead just inside the 2nd period.

Again Sicking, Klement and Roller carried the ball on Muenster's next possession. The drive was highlighted by 26 and 11 yard Sicking runs, but the Hornets came up a yard short on the 9 yard line allowing Blue Ridge to take over.

The Tigers got out to their 39 yard line and punted on 4th down. Muenster had trouble moving the ball when two quarterback sacks forced a punt on 4th and 19. Luckily for Muenster, Steven Reiter covered a loose ball on the punt return at the Tiger 40 yard line. The Hornets got in 6 plays before time ticked off the clock.

The Hornets took the 2nd half kick, beginning the drive at their 42 yard line. Sicking, Roller and Scott Hermes moved the ball to the 2 yard line in 10 runs. On 4th and goal, Cody Sicking found a way into the end zone for the touchdown. Matt Chisam added the extra point and Muenster tied the game 7-7 with 6:44 on the clock.

Blue Ridge fumbled the kick return, which Steven Reiter covered on the Tigers 25. A Quarterback sack was followed by an intercepted pass and Blue Ridge had the ball back. The Tigers gained a first down before fumbling the ball again. Again Steven Reiter covered for the Hornets on their 37 yard line.

A holding flag temporarily slowed Muenster's drive, but good runs by Roller, Klement and Sicking took the ball to the 30.

With eleven seconds on the clock, Cody Sicking raced in for another score. Chisam kicked the point after and Muenster took a 14-7 lead into the final quarter.

The first play of the 4th period, Steven Reiter picked off a Tiger pass, giving Muenster the ball near midfield. Sicking was given the ball 10 out of 13 plays and was allowed to pound into the end zone from one yard out. Again Chisam kicked and the Hornets took a 21-7 score with 6:12 remaining in the game.

Three incomplete passes hampered the Tigers next drive that ended after five plays. From their 43, Roller ran for 19 yards and Sicking added 15 yards to the 31 yard line. A Scott Hermes to Chad Roller pass was good for another Hornet touchdown. The PAT was blocked and Muenster had their 27-7 winning score with 1:47 remaining in the game.

"This was a big win for us. Blue Ridge has a good ball club," commented Tankersley. "We made a statement."

The coaches credit the defense for a good game, including Matt Chisam and James Klement who "dominated the field." This was the 2nd game in 3 weeks that Muenster's defense gave up less than 140 yards.

Offensively, the line gets credit for a good game, including Matt Chisam, Jeff Flusche, Darrell Charles, Jason Sicking, Michael Boydston and Greg Flusche. Cody Sicking with his 40 carries "got better as the game went on." Tankersley also said Scott Hermes had an "outstanding" night at quarterback and James Klement was the key blocker for Sicking.

Next Action - Aubrey
The Hornets will host the Aubrey Chaparrals from district 11-2A Friday night, Parents' Night.

CHAD ROLLER (24) takes a Scott Hermes (25) handoff with running room in front provided by Steven Reiter (7), Jeff Flusche (65), Jason Sicking (75), James Klement (34) and Jake Luke (89). Roller also caught a Hermes pass in the 4th quarter for a Muenster Hornet touchdown.

Knights clip Tigers' paws

The Sacred Heart Tigers traveled to Lindsay Friday night to entertain the Knights Homecoming crowd. Senior Keleigh O'Dell was crowned Homecoming queen during the pregame activities.

The cross county rival turned out not to be much of a battle as Lindsay handed the Tigers a 21-0 defeat.

"I was pleased with the majority of our play. We played better than against Era, against a better team," before being stopped by Kenny Jones. From the 27, Joseph McCoy gained another 9 yards, with Frost adding 6 on two runs and McCoy pushing for an additional 4 to the 8 yard line. A fumbled pitch was covered by Hank Huchton and the Knights took over on their 12.

Again Jeff Hale was able to move through the Tigers defense, getting a good run of 14 yards and completing a pass from Hellingner for another 13. From the 44, a time out to attempt a field goal. The 41 yard kick by Aaren Krebs fell short for a 14-0 halftime score.

The third quarter went by quickly, with neither team scoring. The Knights did get inside the 20, but a holding call and the Tigers defense held the Knights. Lindsay's highlight of the quarter was two consecutive quarterback sacks, one by T.J. Goldsmith, the other, a 10 yard loss, by Aaren Krebs and Brian Covington.

The Knights offense picked up a did a pretty good job except for 3 or 4 plays. You can't make a mistake against a good team like Lindsay." Nasche also said that every player must do his job on every play - the Tigers must learn to keep their focus on every play.

"I know we were ready for the game - defensively and offensively. We had a good plan, but the plan broke down when we didn't execute properly," Nasche concluded.

THE SACRED HEART TIGERS hold Lindsay's Jeff Hale to a 1-yard gain - this play. Defending Tigers include Scott Poole (58), Scott Frost (40), John Bartush (66), John Klement (41) and Paul Swirczynski (14). The Knights won the contest 21-0.

Tiger coach John Nasche commented. "We played good enough to give us a chance to win, but not good enough to win."

"It was a good game for the young players that got to play. The back-up boys did a real good job and proved they were capable of playing," Lindsay Coach Charlie Meurer stated. "The team didn't play with a lot of emotion, they seem to play flat for homecoming, but it is good to have the win."

The Tigers bogged the opening kick, beginning deep at their 4 yard line. Scott Frost ran the first 5 plays to gain 20 yards, then the Tigers had to punt. Lindsay's offense began action on the 47 yard line. A 16 yard run by Jeff Hale and a 3 yarder by Garret Hellingner gave the Knights a 1st down at the 28. Two plays later Jeff Hale broke free for a 28 yard touchdown run. Aaron Krebs kicked the extra point and Lindsay took a 7-0 lead with 6:52 on the clock.

Sacred Heart began their second drive on their 20. Frost picked up 11, then broke for a 42 yard run Shawn Hanks broke free for a 41 yard gain to the 13. Hank Huchton added 4 yards as the first quarter ended.

From the 9, Hale edged the ball closer to the goal line in two runs, with a quarterback keeper by Hellingner getting the touchdown. Krebs kicked another point and with a minute, twenty off the clock, the Knights had a 14-0 lead.

The Tigers got a good drive going both on the ground and in the air. Three short Matthew Fuhrmann passes to John Klement gained 24 yards, while Frost kept pounding away on the ground, including 8 and 16 yard runs. But a quarterback sack by T.J. Goldsmith and 3 unsuccessful plays forced a Tiger punt.

From their 20 yard line, Lindsay gained 10 yards with 3 runs and 15 on a Tiger penalty. Then the Knights took to the air. Two incomplete passes were followed by a completion from Hellingner to Levi Seeds, 3 yards short of a first down. The punt gave Sacred Heart the ball on their 19 yard line. An interference flag pushed the Tigers to the 34, but two attempted passes later, Kenny Jones intercepted for the Knights at midfield.

Hellingner completed two passes for 33 yards to Hale and Jones. Along with a few short runs, the Knights moved to the 18 yard line. Joseph and Jake McCoy sacked Hellingner for a 6 yard loss. Lindsay then let the clock tick down to 3.8 seconds before calling notch when their 1st drive of the quarter ended on the 3rd run, a 50 yard run by Jeff Hale that was good for 6 points. Krebs added the PAT and with 9:56 remaining in the game, the Knights had a 21-0 lead.

It was 3 plays and punt in the Tigers next offensive attempt, but two plays later Scott Frost intercepted a pass on the Sacred Heart 38. Paul Swirczynski came in as quarterback and surprised the Knights with a 41 yard pass completion to John Klement. The next play though, Kenny Jones intercepted a Tiger pass on the 7 yard line when Aaren Krebs mashed the quarterback.

The Knights got in 6 runs and a 20 yard pass play to Robert Sharp before running out of downs.

From their 25 the Tigers were set back by a 5 yard flag and a tackle by Covington and Krebs. On 4th and 16, an incomplete pass gave the ball to the Knights. Runs by Hanks, Seeds and Zack Bowman came up short of a 1st down and the Tigers took over.

Paul Swirczynski got two passes completed, one to Klement for 17 yards and another for 20 yards to Frost before time ran out.

"Our passing game was effective from both Matthew (Fuhrmann) and Paul (Swirczynski), and John (Klement) had a good game as receiver while Scott (Frost) had another good performance," commented Nasche about the game. "Defensively we

Sacred Heart 22 Lindsay 30

The Sacred Heart Cubs and Lindsay Squires met at Tiger Field last Thursday evening. Through the damp, windy, cold night, both teams found the end zone numerous times for the 30-22 final.

On the first play from scrimmage, Adrian Anderle took off for a 60 yard touchdown run. Cody Secrest ran in the extra points and the Squires took a quick 8-0 lead.

A few minutes later, Anderle scored again for Lindsay. The PAT failed for a 14-0 score.

The Cubs gave Lindsay good field position on 4th and 13 when the Squires blocked a punt, covering on the Cubs 9 yard line. Good defense by Sacred Heart, including Jessie Harris and Stephen Hofbauer, stopped Lindsay. From their eleven yard line, three plays later, Harris ran for an 80 yard touchdown, only to have the play called back to the Squires 35. The next play, Matthew Nasche circled around the right end, broke two tackles, and scored for Sacred Heart. Josh Walterscheid carried in the extra points and with 19 seconds on the 1st quarter clock, the young Tigers closed the gap to 14-8.

The 2nd quarter was highlighted by a Lee Skinner quarterback sack and a fumble recovery by Hofbauer, that set up Sacred Heart's next score. From the 34, runs by Nasche and Walterscheid took the Cubs inside the 20. A Keith Felderhoff pass to Jeff Hartman was good for 6 points. The extra point run failed and with a minute on the clock, the game was tied 14-14.

Lindsay came right back. On their first play, Anderle again took the ball for a long run touchdown. The 61 yard run and Kenneth Reiter's extra point run gave Lindsay a 22-14 lead at halftime.

Sacred Heart took the 2nd half kick, but went nowhere with the ball. A fumble by Lindsay on the punt return put the Cubs near midfield, but they lost the ball on downs.

Two plays later, Anderle again lit up the scoreboard on a 46 yard touchdown run. A pass to Ryan Tabbert extended the lead to 30-14.

The Cubs had a hard time holding on to the ball their next drive, covering their own fumbles 4 times before allowing Skyler Schauf to cover one for Lindsay.

It was 3 runs and punt for the Squires, starting Sacred Heart's drive on the Lindsay 42. Runs by Nasche and Felderhoff took the ball to the 16 where Josh Walterscheid took it in for the score. Nasche ran in the extra points and with 1:27 remaining in the game, Lindsay had a 30-22 lead.

After 4 unsuccessful Lindsay runs the Cubs took over on the 50. The last play of the game was intercepted by Lindsay.

Next week the Cubs tangle with the Panther Cubs of Saint Jo while the Squires attempt to slay the young Dragons of Chico.

Muenster 40 Blue Ridge 0

Wet, cold, and windy were three chilling aspects to the weather last Thursday night, but the Hornets didn't pay any attention to the weather as they heated up the scoreboard in a 42-0 win over the Blue Ridge Tigers. "This may have been our best game as far as our offensive execution is concerned. The line did a super job of blocking and the backs followed suit with just straight, hard-nosed running," stated Coach Kent Josselot. Offensive standouts were Eric Walterscheid, John Roller, Aaron Sicking, Corey Anderle, Barry Fleitman, Cory Charles, and Jeremy Walterscheid ("especially for that super touchdown run").

"Defensively our kids were pumped to the max," continued Coach Josselot. Bryan Hudspeth led the way defensively with great linebacker play. The defense really played an up-tempo game and went after the offense with a lot of intensity. Aaron Sicking did a super job at defensive tackle to create havoc on the inside. Barry Fleitman and Aaron Klement did a really nice job of containing Blue Ridge outside as did the corners, Shane Sparkman and Jesse Luke, according to the coaching staff.

"I was really pleased to see our kids play with a lot of emotion. I think the cooler weather helped our kids stay fresh and enabled our intensity of play to stay high all throughout the game. We were very pleased with the win and now have to set our sights on Aubrey," Josselot concluded. The Junior High played at 6:00 and the Junior Varsity at 7:30 at Aubrey.

Niners take Power Points down with them

The San Francisco 49'ers took plenty of Texas Power Point Football Contest entries with them as scores across the state dropped in last week's competition.

Two contestants statewide however, tallied 129 of the possible 136 points. Mike Watkins of Garland beat out a Lubbock man on the games tie breaker.

Locally, the best score was 114 points, and that earned Jon LeBasseur the $10.00 cash prize offered by the Muenster Enterprise.

CHARLIE BROWN of Brown Motor Co. presents Hornet Cody Sicking with this week's area "Friday Night Hero." The $100 donation was given to the Muenster ISD library fund. Sicking rushed for 231 yards in 40 carries in last Friday's 27-7 win over Blue Ridge, scoring 3 touchdowns. Janie Hartman Photo

Contest sees new winners

Week three of the Enterprise football contest revealed new winners, with Sacred Heart student, Jennifer Campbell taking the top weekly prize. Jennifer missed only 3 games, along with Sara Long, but was only one point off on the tie breaker game. Long missed the Muenster score by 13 points and settled for 2nd place. Edgar Dyer earned the 3rd place by missing only 4 games and winning with a tie breaker spread of 3 points.

Others guessing 26 and their point spreads were Donnie Stoffels 8 points, John Klement 13 points, Edna Hermes 14 points, and Tim Bindel who missed the tie breaker.

Coming in next with 25 correct games were Jody Felderhoff, Benny Haverkamp, John Nasche, Dave Reiter, Brian Rohmer, Chris Stoffels and Paul Swirczynski. Low score for the week was 14.

Of the local games, 10 picked Sacred Heart to win, while 10 missed the Muenster game. John Sandmann of Lindsay guessed the 27-7 score of the tie breaker game. Five thought Era would beat Valley View, while only 15 guessed Nocona over Alvord. Only one missed the Stephen F. Austin and Collinsburg games with 25 believing the Aggies could beat Colorado.

This week's prizes were picked up at H & W Meat Co., Dankesreiter Garage, and Metzler Paint & Body Shop.

Deer season prospects good for bowhunters

To some, the thought of remaining motionless in a tree stand in September Texas heat for hours on end, covered in camouflage, and surrounded by a variety of annoying insects, might be a dismal one. To a bowhunter, however, the upcoming archery deer season opener carries thoughts of a different nature.

For some 75,000 Texas bowhunters who'll take part in this year's archery-only deer season, the chance to "draw down" on that first whitetail of the season will ultimately outweigh any discomfort that might be associated with the sport. The archery-only season for whitetail deer runs Sept. 30-Oct. 31 in all counties with a general whitetail deer season, and in Grayson County.

And, even for the 85 percent or so who will come away without having harvested a whitetail, the opportunity to have hunted still makes it worthwhile. Typically, the success rate for Texas bowhunters is about 15 percent, which accounts for between 15,000 to 20,000 deer killed statewide, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD).

Although providing supplemental food sources for deer has become routine for many hunters in Texas, there are some concerns which should be considered. Hunters who prefer to use corn as supplemental deer food are encouraged to keep it as dry as possible, due to the potential threat of aflatoxins. Aflatoxin is a strain of mold which grows in corn under humid conditions and can be extremely deadly when ingested by birds and mammals. Because growing conditions for aflatoxins can be created when corn is stored in areas of high moisture content, poorly constructed wildlife feeders that allow corn to get wet can cause an increase in toxicity.

With recent implementation of either-sex hunting statewide during the archery-only deer season, hunters in one-buck-only counties of East Texas are not required to have an antlerless permit to harvest does. All bowhunters must purchase the $7 Archery Stamp in addition to possessing a valid Texas Hunting License.

Texas hunting forecast

Area - WHITE-TAILED DEER: Good to excellent spring rains resulted in a good fawn crop and good antler production. Abundant natural vegetation may keep deer from coming to feeders again this year.

Statewide - WHITE WINGED DOVE: Breeding populations decreased 28% this year in the Rio Grand Valley, 11% below the 30 year average. In upper South Texas, counts were 8% higher than last year. Lower Rio Grande Valley hunter success is expected to be below average due to drought and poor production.

MOURNING DOVE: Breeding populations declined 20% from last year, but remain near the 25 year average. Breeding conditions were reasonably good this year, except in South Texas where severe drought affected production and distribution. We expect good hunter success in portions of central and north Texas.

QUAIL: Range conditions are good, but recovery from last year's lows may require more than one breeding season. Expect better hunting than last year, but fewer birds in the bag than normal.

DUCK: Breeding ground water and habitat conditions remain excellent. Duck production is considered good to excellent. The fall flight estimate is 80 million ducks, up from 71 million last year, and the largest since 1979. If wetland conditions and weather patterns are normal, 1995 should be a memorable duck season.

TURKEY: Good range conditions prevail across most of the state. Fall outlook is good; harvest should be similar to last year.

Practice makes punctual when getting ready for school

For children the difference between summer vacation and school days is like comparing Texas and Hawaii — an ocean of difference and several time zones. About this time of year, parents are attempting to get their school-age child back on a regular routine after two and a half months of staying up, sleeping late and dodging school books.

So, how can a parent re-establish routines after the summer slack?

Constance J. Fournier, Ph.D., a psychologist in the Scott & White Division of Child and Adolescent Mental Health, advises parents to plan ahead by establishing routines, starting a practice run-through before school starts and keeping the lines of communication open between children and teachers.

Getting back on track

"Parents have to help their children adjust; parents have to move their children's schedule back a few time zones to get their systems ready for school time," she said. To get youngsters back on track, Dr. Fournier advises parents to plan ahead. First, about a week or two before school starts, parents should start encouraging their children to adjust to the schedule change by setting firm times for bedtime schedules and routines. "The more children are on a schedule, the better off they are," she said. "Setting a regular routine before school starts help get their bodies attuned to the schedule."

What time should a child go to bed? "That depends on the child's age and the child's individual needs. The parent is the best judge," Dr. Fournier said. "If you have any doubts about how much sleep your child needs, talk to your child's doctor."

Every youngster has a repertoire of stalling tactics to push bedtime: a drink of water, one more story, an interesting television show. Be firm on weekdays and flexible on the weekends, said Dr. Fournier. Thanks to the miracle of video recorders, a child's favorite show can be taped and viewed at another time.

Practice makes punctual

Two to three days before the first day of school, have a practice morning. "Doing this a few days before gives you time to work out whatever kinks appear in the system. It's better to work out the snags ahead of time, rather than on the first day of school."

This dry run should also include time schedules: What time does the bus or car pool come? What time must a child leave home to walk to school? What route is the best way to walk to school? What time does school begin? The practice sessions should also include setting aside a special place to organize books and papers the night before.

Parents and children need to renegotiate routines each year. What worked last year may be obsolete this year. "For example, routines change as a child gets older. Older students or teenagers may want to spend more time in front of a mirror for such activities as fixing their hair. This becomes important at certain ages. So, make sure the child wakes up a few minutes earlier to allow extra time before the mirror," she said.

Building a team with the teacher
Dr. Fournier, a former school teacher, encourages parents to meet early in the year with the child's teacher. "Parents usually meet the teacher on the first day of school, but that's an extremely hectic day," she said. Instead, parents should arrange to meet or telephone the teacher during a conference period, when the teacher is free for phone calls or a visit.

"This first meeting may be intimidating at first for some parents, but remember teachers teach because they really enjoy children. They want your child to have a good education. That's what they are there for," she added.

What message does all this parent involvement give to the child?

"This shows the child that parents value education and how important it is. A parent's involvement in school lays a foundation and the understanding that 'We as a family place a value on education. Your teacher and we are a team to help you, but it is your job to learn. We're going to help you as best we can.'"

Even if parents are divorced, they must work together for the good of the child. Studies have shown that children of divorce adjust better when their parents can communicate about the children. That means that the custodial parent must keep the other informed about the child's activities, programs, meetings and other school activities. This helps the child understand that both parents, even though they are divorced, are involved and interested.

Study time for everyone

All family routines must include time for homework or study after school, Dr. Fournier said. "Parents must gauge this according to their child's needs," she said.

No matter when, study time should include no television or phone calls and a well-lighted place to study. Study time should apply to everyone. "This means a time for all family members. Mom and dad can read, and younger children may engage in a quiet activity such as coloring or working puzzles. With the study time, the child still does school-related work such as read, practice math or even write letters to grandparents. Everyone benefits from the study break. By setting aside this time, children see that parents value this time."

Television should not rule and ruin the family routine. "Instead, encourage your child to read more. More reading means a better school student."

When to get additional help

At the beginning of school, children can experience anxiety and a feeling of loss mixed with excitement. "It's not unusual for this to happen when children are beginning a new school," she said. Coupled with this are the traditional rituals of buying new clothes, checking with other schoolmates to "find out what everyone is wearing." This is all part of growing up, she added.

However, if a child is having difficulty adjusting to the newness, has trouble sleeping, appears anxious, cries too much or is having other adjustment problems, Dr. Fournier advises parents to talk to their child's physician. "There may be some other issues that are affecting the child that are interfering. The child's doctor may refer the child to a mental health professional for evaluation," she said.

THE WORLD AT WAR

ARMED FORCES
At their peak strength, the USSR had the largest armed forces in WWII with 12,500,000 personnel. The U.S. had 12,364,000; Germany 10,000,000; and Japan 6,095,000.

The smallest armed force was Costa Rica with only 400 at peak strength.

Suffering the greatest military losses were the USSR with 13,600,000 killed. Germany lost 3,300,000; China 1,324,516; and Japan 1,140,429. The U.S. lost 292,131 military personnel. Note: these numbers do not include the untold millions of civilian war deaths.

TANKS

The United States introduced the Sherman tank in 1942. 41,530 were produced during WWII.

WWII AIR WARFARE

Aces
The United States air force had lots of Flying Aces in WWII. The top ace was Richard I. Bong with 40 kills. Thomas B. McGuire claimed 38, David McCampbell 34 and Frances S. Gabreski 31.

The German's called their best air fighters Oberkanone which means "top gun." Their high claims have been dismissed by some historians as inflated propaganda, though many relate to kills on the Eastern Front where the Luftwaffe were superior to their Soviet opponents. Eric Hartmann was Germany's top gun with 352 kills. Gerhard Barkhorn claimed 301; Günther Rall 275; Otto Kittel 267; and Walter Nowotny 255.

Eric Hartmann's victories over Soviet aircraft so outraged the USSR, that after the war he was arrested and imprisoned 25 years in a Russian labor camp. He was released in 1955, returned to serve in the West German air force and died in 1993.

BOMBED

The most heavily bombed areas of Europe by allied aircraft (US and British) during WWII was Germany, with 1,350,321 tons of bombs dropped on the enemy. France was hit with 583,318 and Italy got 366,524.

Between Aug. 1942 and May 1945 alone, Allied Air Forces flew 731,969 night raids, during which time they dropped a total of 1,850,919 tons of bombs.

SPEED

Germany had the three fastest aircraft of WWII, the Messerschmitt Me163 and the Messerschmitt Me262, and the Heinkel 162A, with maximum speeds of 596, 560, and 553 mph.

The United States' P-51-H Mustang ranked fourth with a 487 mph maximum speed.

USS Phoenix
One ship that survived the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor was the USS Phoenix. After serving through the rest of the war, she was sold to Argentina in 1951 and renamed the General Belgrano. During the Falkland's War in 1982, she was sunk by a British submarine 1 with the loss of 368 lives.

Largest Battleships
The largest battleships of WWII were owned by the Japanese, the Musashi and Yamato. Both were sunk during the war. The United States had the next largest ships, the Iowa, Missouri, New Jersey and the Wisconsin. All are still in the service of the US Navy.

Submarines

At the outbreak of WWII Japan had 163 submarines, the US 112 and Germany 57. During the war, production increased. From 1939 to 1945 the Axis powers (Germany, Italy and Japan) commissioned a further 1,337 subs, (1,141 by Germany alone). The Allies commissioned 422.

Merchant Shipping Losses
The United Kingdom suffered the heaviest losses to the merchant ships with 4,786 vessels sunk. Japan lost 2,346; Germany 1,595; and the U.S. 578.

generated over $10 billion in revenues last year through the design, engineering and construction of aircraft, defense electronics, major appliances, and heavy equipment fabrication.

The Agriboard building system is based on a large structural panel whose core is manufactured entirely from agricultural fibers - residual wheat, rice straw and other cereal fibers or native grasses such as switch grass. The Agriboard mill will produce the core of the building panels utilizing a patented process relying entirely on heat, pressure and the inherent properties of cereal fibers. The result is a composite panel which acts as a single structural element of exceptional strength, high thermal and acoustical insulating properties, and a superior fire resistance. These properties, along with speed and efficiency of construction in the field and a significant cost savings, make for a unique product with a wide range of residential and commercial building applications.

The Agriboard building system uses up to 65% less dimensional framing lumber than traditional wood frame construction, an important advantage in light of increasing restrictions on logging and rising lumber prices. The use of agricultural by-products will produce additional income to farmers, strengthening regional farm economies around the globe.

Can You Find The Drug Dealer In This Picture?

You live in a nice middle-class neighborhood. You don't see drug dealers on the corner. Your kids are only in grade school. Why worry? Because drug dealers don't necessarily look like the ones on television. In fact, studies show that your kids are more likely to be pushed into using drugs by someone their own age - someone they think is their friend.

So tell your children that anyone who offers them drugs is not a friend. Next, be an informed parent. Call 1-800-269-4237 and ask for a free booklet called Growing Up Drug-Free - A Parent's Guide to Prevention. Then and this is really important - get to know your kids' friends. And their parents. Because with you in the picture, chances are a drug dealer won't be.

Farm & Ranch

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

NIOSH warns farmers of forage wagon hazards

According to the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), farmers who use forage wagons are at risk for severe injury, amputation, or death. NIOSH recently published an article in the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report (MMWR) detailing the hazards associated with forage wagons and outlining prevention measures.

The agriculture industry is one of the most dangerous in the country and working with farming equipment can be extremely hazardous. However, the hazards associated with forage wagons are not widely recognized. Forage wagons are used to transport and unload feed into storage or feed areas. They are typically used on farms that raise large animals and grow their own feed. The following case describes hazards associated with forage wagon use.

On October 1, 1993, a farmer was using a forage wagon next to his silo blower, which was attached to another tractor. To reach the speed control lever on the forage wagon, he stepped over the running power take-off (PTO) driveline which connected his tractor to the wagon. As he stepped, his pants became entangled around the unprotected PTO driveline. The victim suffered severe injuries, including amputation of the genitalia and deep tissue damage to the buttocks requiring hospitalization and extensive grafting. He was hospitalized for two weeks and unable to work for one month. The farmer's total medical costs to date, are $79,000, of which he must pay $9,000. He anticipates possible additional surgery at an unknown cost.

"These are tragic injuries," said NIOSH Director, Dr. Linda Rosenstock. "We must ensure that the farming community and equipment manufacturers and dealers are aware of the hazards and know how to prevent them." The following details additional cases and provides relatively simple and inexpensive measures to prevent other injuries from occurring. NIOSH requests your assistance in informing the farming community of this problem and the steps for prevention.

• In October 1994, a 19-year-old farmer sustained fatal massive internal injuries after stepping too close to the unguarded PTO driveline while unloading silage.

• In November 1992, a 9-year-old girl lost both of her legs above the knees when her jacket became entangled in the unguarded rotating PTO driveline she was reaching over to operate the forage wagon speed control.

• In September 1991, a 33-year-old farmer was working between two drivelines on a windy day. He suffered multiple fractures to his leg and lost his right foot when his shirt blew into an unguarded revolving PTO driveline.

• In October 1992, a 41-year-old farm operator sustained an avulsion of the entire scrotal area when his pant leg became entangled as he stepped over the unguarded PTO driveline on his forage wagon.

The injuries described here are caused by a combination of factors. It is well known that unguarded PTOs may cause severe entanglement injuries. Additionally, in order to unload silage, the forage wagon, silo blower, and both tractors must be close to one another. The speed-control lever for the forage wagon is often located between the wagon and the blower. Because of the size of the equipment, there is usually not room to walk between the tractors to operate the forage wagon controls. Consequently, the operator often steps over the revolving PTO driveline which may lead to injury or even death.

Installing an extension to increase the space between the tractors and ensuring that PTO drivelines are properly guarded will significantly reduce the risk of injury.

FALL RECERTIFICATION SHORT COURSE

Again this year we will be offering a six-hour Continuing Education Credit Short Course for agricultural producers with Private Applicator Licenses. The short course will be held Tues. and Wed., Oct. 10 and 11, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the North Central Texas College Little Theatre.

The topics for this year include: Worker Protection Standards, Private Applicator Record Keeping, Pasture Weed and Brush Control, Small Grain Insect and Weed Control, Crop Insect ID and Control, along with Sprayer Maintenance, Calibration, Equipment Selection and Fire Ants.

Mark your calendars now to attend this training session.

Private Applicators must have 15 hours of Continuing Education Units by Dec. 31, 1995, if you obtained your Certified Private Applicators License before Jan. 10, 1989. If you were licensed between Jan. 10, 1989, and Dec. 31, 1989, you will have to take the Private Applicator Training Course and pass the Texas Department of Agriculture Private Applicator Test, make application for license and include the required fee. If you have a Private Applicator License beginning Jan. 1, 1990, or after, you must obtain 15 Continuing Education Units within a five-year period.

To enroll in this short course, call the County Extension Office 817-668-5412, or the Continuing Education Department at Cooke County College 817-668-7731.

PRIVATE APPLICATOR LICENSE TRAINING AND TESTING

The Texas Pesticide Law requires attending a TAEX private applicator training program as a condition for obtaining a private applicator license.

In order to meet the requirement for training, two training sessions will be held for those wishing to receive a Private Applicator License. These will be held on Mon., Oct. 9, from 8 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. or Mon. evening from 5 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. at the Cooke County Extension Office. Mark Evans, with the Texas Department of Agriculture, will be presenting the test at 5 p.m. on Tues., Oct. 10. If you plan to attend a training or testing, you must pre-register by contacting the County Extension Office at 668-5412.

It is recommended that you purchase Using Pesticides - Private Applicator Manual ($10) to read before the training session. It will better prepare you for the examination. Manuals are available at the Extension Office.

FINANCIAL RECORD KEEPING USING QUICKEN VERSION 8

Dr. Ken Stokes, Economist with Texas A&M Center at Dallas, will teach new and experienced computer users the new features of Quicken Version 8 for DOS, a popular checkbook computer program, during a Financial Record Keeping Workshop. This introductory session has been scheduled for Oct. 11 and 12 from 6:30 to 10 p.m. at the Cooke County Electric Co-Op Building on Highway 82 near Muenster. The two-day course covers the basics from setting up accounts and entering transactions to printing reports.

The class is limited to 12 participants. Each student will have individual hands-on computer access. While the pace of instruction will be geared toward the new computer user, current Quicken users will discover many features they've been overlooking.

Stokes has been teaching Quicken and other computer applications to farmers and ranchers across the state for many years. Vast improvements in low-cost financial software have made them far easier to learn. Participants will enter transactions in the register and write check screens. They will learn to categorize by type of income and expense, to split and memorize transactions, and to develop meaningful reports. Tips for use will be discussed throughout the course.

The workshop is part of The Texas Agricultural Extension Service' "Have Computer Will Travel" project. This innovative project was initiated in the fall of 1992 and involves the lease purchase of a notebook computer lab. The computer lab is used throughout the state and affords the flexibility of teaching a computer course anywhere there is a demand.

In addition, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Oct. 12, Ken will meet with existing Quicken users to discuss their individual problems using Quicken for about an hour each. However, if more than eight people are interested, the time spent with each person will need to be reduced.

You will need to bring a copy of your Quicken file on a three and one half inch disk.

Registration fee is $75 and is on a first come, first serve basis. For more information, contact Craig Rosenbaum at the County Extension Office 668-5412.

CAT insurance requirements noted

To be eligible to participate in the Acreage Reduction Program, Conservation Reserve Program, or Farmers Home Administration loan programs for 1996, Catastrophic Insurance (CAT) must be either purchased from the USDA or a private insurance carrier. For CAT, the administrative fee is $50 per crop per county, not to exceed $200 per producer per county.

September 30 is the final date for wheat and oats for grain.

1. If you did not purchase wheat or oat insurance in 1995 - either CAT or buy up, you must do so by September 30. Due to all the prevented planting on small grains in 1995, there were several producers (especially landowners) who did not purchase insurance. Operators of farms, be sure your landlords are aware of this.

2. If you did purchase CAT insurance in 1995, but now want to buy up, or you want to change insurance carriers, or you purchased buy up and want CAT, you must cancel (in writing) what you have, and purchase the other by September 30.

3. If you do not want the insurance for 1996 or do not plan on planting wheat or oats for 1996, you must cancel the insurance in writing by September 30.

4. If you purchased insurance in 1995 and don't want to change - you do not need to do anything. Your policy will roll forward to 1996, and you will be billed at a later date.

Catastrophic Insurance is basically just what the name implies. Unless you have a catastrophe on your farm or units, there is very little coverage involved. The only way you can make this better is to spend more money on buy up coverage or start bringing in your production records to increase your yields which will increase your coverage. Even if you had some low yields this year, they will probably be better than the way the USDA has to figure FCIC yields.

SSA adopts policy

The Social Security Administration has recently adopted the same policy as the Internal Revenue Service involving in-kind payments for agricultural labor.

The new ruling explains when certain transactions involving non-cash transfers for agricultural labor may be considered wages under the Social Security Act.

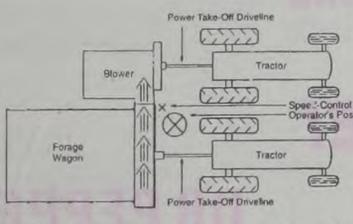

According to the Federal Register, the SSA will consider the following when determining whether transactions involving in-kind transfers are considered wages:

1. Does an employer-employee relationship exist? Generally, an employer-employee relationship exists when the person for whom the labor is performed has the right to control and direct the person who performs the services. This may include a farmer's spouse or a child 18 or older.

2. Is the in-kind transfer, in economic reality, equivalent to a payment in cash? In determining this, SSA will consider the extent to which the employee exercised dominion and control over the non-cash item.

This policy became effective Aug. 7, 1995. For more information, contact Joanne K. Castello, SSA, 410-965-1711.

TBC cattle exhibit featured at State Fair

Did you know there are 15.1 million head of cattle and calves in Texas and they are good for more than a juicy, tender steak? What about baseballs, clothing, chewing gum, and steel ball bearings? Beef by-products allow 99 percent of the animal to eventually be used, according to the Texas Beef Council (TBC).

TBC, the promotion and marketing arm of the Texas beef industry, will be educating adults and children with its 2,500-square foot interactive exhibit, called "Come See How Cattle Shape Your World," Sept. 29 - Oct. 22 at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

The exhibit will be set up at the Food and Fiber Pavilion in Fair Park and will depict the pervasive influence of cattle, beef, and their by-products in North American life. TBC spearheaded production of the huge 95x25 foot exhibit. Its purpose is to educate adults and children about the importance of beef and cattle to their local, state, and national economies, their diets, and their environment. Over the next two years, more than one million people will see the educational exhibit in Texas, Colorado, Kansas, and Canada.

The interactive exhibit is divided into seven sections. Video and audio stations allow the visitor to participate in each section. The stations explain cattle and beef's role in agriculture, homes, schools, international markets, supermarkets, and restaurants. An interactive wall and "Riddle Tree" is an added treat for children. It provides hands-on entertainment and education for both youth and adult visitors, including a life-sized Dallas Cowboy Jay Novacek nutritional poster and a coloring station that teaches children important facts on the beef industry.

On the outside, a 70-foot mural provides a running story about modern beef. It depicts a thriving industry that provides needed protein and valuable by-products for consumers around the world. "The exhibit illustrates to consumers of this and future generations the importance of the beef industry in their daily lives. The Texas Beef Council takes pride in this exhibit and the message it communicates on behalf of Texas cattle producers," Terry Stokes, TBC's interim executive vice president, said. The exhibit will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
