Grundy, Young set caps for seats

Two Cooke County natives have announced their intentions to seek nomination on the Republican ticket for seats on the Cooke County Commissioners Court. Bob Grundy of Era would like to fill the position of Precinct #3 commissioner and Phil Young of Gainesville seeks the Precinct #1 seat.

"As a conservative, I feel that our

"My business experience qualifies me for a candidate place," said Young. "As far as roads and bridges, my construction experience qualifies me. I've had experience with bridge repairs. Basically, I just government needs to be heading in a different direction," remarked Grundy. "I feel my experience in business, my age, and position in the community would be valuable in carrying out the duties of a commissioner."

Grundy is a lifetime resident of the county. He and his wife, Ruby, live on property settled by his great-grandfather in 1859. Bob attended Era schools, won a track scholarship to North Texas. He graduated from college in 1951 and was married in 1952. The couple raised five children.

For 30 years Grundy served as a coach, athletic director and at Boyd's principal. Two years ago he retired from Sanger ISD where he was employed as a coach and teacher. He also owned a business in Arlington for five years.

Currently Bob Grundy is serving on the Era School Board. He is a former rancher operating a tree farm south of Era.

Phil Young was born in Cooke County and lived here most of his life. He has been in the plumbing and construction business for about feel I have a lot to offer Cooke County. I have the support of people all over the county, not just Precinct #1."

Young says that he will be out among the people of the county, not just those in Precinct #1. He plans to gather ideas to discover what people's opinions are of the issues before the issue is to be voted on. "I will make people aware of what is going on before it is voted on so that they aren't up in a roar when it comes out in the paper," promised Young. "There is a need to make people aware of what is going on. I want to put county government back into the people's hands. Like the Constitution says, 'by the people for the people.'"

"I'm running because of the way the county has been run for so many years. It's been under Democratic control for too many years. It is time for new people, new ideas, and opinions of the issues," Young also stressed that he feels it is important to give more than eight hours a day, five days a week to a public elected job.

THE RED DRAGONS DRUM and BUGLE CORPS from Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, set the cadence for Saturday's Christmas Parade in Muenster. Seventy men and ladies from Sheppard braved the cold and wind to make a wonderful contribution to the parade with their color guard, corps, drill teams and choir which performed both before and after the parade. Below, for their efforts, the team took three trophies home and were guests of the Muenster Kiwanis Club for lunch at Rohmer's Restaurant before the parade.

Christmas Parade is colorful but cold

Innovation and originality were dominant in the floats and entries that paraded down Main Street in Muenster on Saturday, Dec. 9, at 1 p.m. to open Christkindlmarkt and to set the theme for "Christmas Greetings From Around The World."

Cited as best in their categories were: Best Theme, Muenster ISD 5th grade; Best Business, Weber Aircraft; Largest Group Participation, White Knights of Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls; Best Civic Organization, Muenster Public Library; Best Marching Unit, White Eagles Precision Drill Team of Sheppard Field; Best Mounted Unit, Love County of Oklahoma Mule Club.

An appreciation trophy was presented to Sheppard Air Force Base and to Muenster VFW Post #6205.

The parade was sponsored by the Muenster Chamber of Commerce and Margie Starke was parade chairman. Judges from out of town were Ann Scivally and Tina Lee, both of Gainesville and Jo Castle of Saint Jo.

A complete list of participants in the parade includes: 1) White Knights Color Guard; 2) Red Dragons Drum and Bugle Corps; 3) White Eagles Precision Drill Team; 4) Blue Knights Weapons Drill, all from Sheppard Field; 5) Muenster ISD 5th grade; 6) Texas Cushman classical guitar and flute; Fr. Frowin Schoech, OSB, and his tuba playing; and Lollipop the Clown and her face painting and balloon sculptures to delight children; Der Weihnachtsman (Olde World Santa); the Sheppard Air Force Choir; and Sharon Seaton, a roving accordionist.

Local volunteer doctors appeal to county commissioners for health clinic

by Janet Felderhoff

Several of the physicians who volunteer their services at the Texas Department of Health in Gainesville voiced their concerns Monday to Cooke County Commissioners' court over possible loss of the program.

Changes are expected in coming months for public health clinics. The doctors noted that it is expected that the clinics will be privatized or closed. "My opinion is that it would be an injustice to this county," said Dr. Thomas Currier. "The clinic takes care of people that are 200 percent below the poverty level."

According to figures presented by the physicians on the number of visits to the clinic, for this quarter alone there were 3,000 visits. For the nine months prior to that there were almost 9,000 visits and 7,000 of them were first time visits.

"There's no way if they close this clinic that these people are going to receive medical care. They will have to go to the hospital and sit in the emergency rooms and most of them can't pay," explained Dr. Currier. "We feel that this is a tremendous dis-service to the people in this community. We would like to see something done through the Commissioners Court."

Services currently provided by the clinic include immunizations for children, some are people who come from Mexico who have tuberculosis and have to be put on drugs for up to a year to effect a cure. If the infected person has no place to go to get their medication, they quit taking it. Sometimes the disease becomes resistant to all other forms of treatment which, the doctors stressed exposes all of us. It can be caught just by walking through a store being visited by the infected person.

Prenatal care is another important service offered at the clinic. Lack of it can result in premature births which cause a huge expense. Just the Care Flite trip from Cooke County to a hospital equipped to care for pre-mature babies is $7,500. Patients who are eligible for Medicaid or Medicare are not seen at the clinic they are told to see a private physician.

"This clinic has been going about 10 years," reflected Dr. McLeroy. "It had been a nightmare before the clinic opened. Since there has been a dramatic drop off of that type situation."

The increase of emergency room visits by these people, who would be waiting until they were very sick, would be a staggering expense to both Gainesville Memorial Hospital and Muenster Memorial Hospital, should the clinic close, warned the physicians.

Commissioner Brown noted that in an earlier meeting held to discuss the topic, several options had been considered including privatization and the possibility of a tri-county situation. He said that he felt

Ray Russell announces his candidacy for district judge

Former Cooke County Judge Ray Russell today announced his intention to run for the office of District Judge, 235th Judicial District Court of Cooke County. He will run on the Republican ticket. Russell said the Republican party philosophy more closely mirrors his own conservative political philosophy. He says that a major reason for his candidacy is to give the voters of Cooke County a clear choice in an office that has never been the subject of a contested election since its inception.

Russell served as Cooke County Judge from November 1, 1991, until December 31, 1994. He was appointed to that position by the Commissioners Court. He subsequently won the primary and general elections to serve the remainder of the unexpired term of retiring County Judge Jim Robertson. Russell currently practices law from his home in Era, Texas.

Russell received his B.A. degree in Economics from North Texas State University in 1970. He graduated from Southern Methodist University Law School in 1973, and was licensed to practice law that same year. As a private attorney,

RAY RUSSELL

Russell has tried numerous civil and criminal cases in district and county-level courts. As County Judge, he presided over numerous civil and criminal trials.

Russell maintained a law practice in Lewisville until 1985, when he and his wife, Glenda, moved to Era, where he maintained a limited law practice and raised cattle.

Income tax tip
by Stephen D. Broyles
If people file the long IRS tax form, 1040, and itemize their deductions, they may want to double-up paying their property taxes into one calendar year. This allows larger property tax deductions in one year. For example, people who paid their property taxes in January 1995 for tax year 1994 may double-up their IRS tax deductions by paying their 1995 property taxes before December 31, 1995. This may result in a larger IRS tax savings when filing the 1995 income tax returns.

Confirmation of 37 celebrated Sunday

Weeks of study, prayer, and community service by 37 young adults culminated in the celebration of the sacrament of confirmation on Sunday, Dec. 10 in Sacred Heart Church. Most Reverend Joseph P. Delaney, Bishop of Fort Worth, conferred the sacrament as he anointed each candidate. Concelebrating was Sacred Heart pastor Father David Bellinghausen, OSB.

Confirmandi and their sponsors processed into church before Mass. They were asked to stand as they were introduced by Father David.

Bishop Delaney told the confirmandi that they were called to join the rest of the church, that they were to be witnesses, bearers of good news and to bring Jesus to others. It is a great responsibility and privilege, he said.

Holly Mullins presented the First Reading, Isaiah 11:1-10, and Kelly Rigler gave the Second Reading from Romans 15:4-9. Dobe Fleitman read the General Intercessions.

Presenting Offertory Gifts were Brandy Gilpin and Jonathan Otto. Musicians and vocalists for the event were Ruth Felderhoff, Eric Gray, Leslie Grewing, LeAnn Klement, Tanya Knauf and Jennifer Sicking.

Members of the confirmation team who worked to prepare the students for the sacrament were Kelly Bayer, Tommy Felderhoff, Jr., Jeannine Flusche, Barbara Fuhrmann, Eric Gray, Jeanne Greathouse, Jane Monday, John Sicking, Jennifer Sicking, John Sparkman, Paul Swirczynski, Melinda Vickers, and Tara Yosten.

DONATIONS OF BOOKS to libraries are made by Republican Women every year as part of the Mamie Eisenhower project which was begun in 1961 by the National Federation of Republican Women to honor our former first lady. This year, the local club donated three books. Dan Quayle's book, Standing Firm, is presented to Muenster High School Library in honor of Cooke County Republican Chairman Pat Peale. In addition, Barbara Bush's memoir was given to the Cooke County Library in honor of Cooke County Republican Women's President Donna Montgomery. The Book of Virtues by William Bennett was donated to the Gainesville High School Library in memory of Montgomery's daughter, Rebecca Montgomery Hair. Above, LaVerna Nasche makes the presentation of Muenster High School Librarian Gerri Eckart.

The King is coming!

The Traveling Image of Jesus King of All Nations is coming to this area. It is a great honor and blessing to have the Image here at Christmas time. This is a 4'x6' beautiful Image of Jesus which represents Him as the Merciful King of all Nations.

Jesus King of All Nations is a title of Jesus Christ derived from Sacred Scripture. The devotion is consistent with scripture and tradition. It has been granted the Nihil Obstat, which is a declaration by the Church that the Devotion is free of doctrinal and moral error.

It is recommended that each person prepare for the visit by prayer, fasting, and repentance of sin. The greater the preparation before the visit, the greater the blessings will be while the Image is present.

It is hoped that the Visitation will bring His reign in all hearts so that His reign will be recognized on earth and there will be unity in one flock with one Shepherd. Many graces of forgiveness, conversions, healing, protection and peace have been given to veneration of the Image which has traveled throughout the world.

In 1992, the Image led large processions in Lourdes, France, and Fatima, Portugal as part of the World Peace Flight pilgrimage, with six bishops and sixty priests and tons of religious goods for Russia. Also in '92 the Image led a procession into Red Square in Moscow. In Dec. '92 the Image traveled throughout the Philippine Islands.

In 1993 the Image led the Life March in Washington DC and procession to the White House on National Day of Prayer.

In 1994 the Image led an international procession for peace from Medjugorje to Mostor in war torn Bosnia-Hercogovina. The Image was processed by thousands in Montreal, Canada.

It has been in almost every state and now it will come locally.

The Image will be venerated at the following places:

Muenster, Sacred Heart Church, Thursday, Dec. 21, 8 a.m. - 2 p.m. Introduction and special prayers at 2 p.m. Also Friday, Dec. 22, 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. at 311 Elm St.

Sherman, St. Mary's Church, Friday, Dec. 22, 8 a.m. - 12 p.m. Special services at 12 p.m.

Lindsay, St. Peter's Church, Saturday, Dec. 23, 7 p.m. - 8 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 24, 8 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.

The Image is sponsored by Our Lady's Intercessory Prayer Group. For more information call 759-2831 or 665-0130. Devotional material will be available. All Christians welcome. He is King of all. Please come adore our King!

Lift your holiday spirits - visit Holiday Idea House

Of all the appealing diversions to come our way this Holiday Season of 1995, "Santa's Holiday Idea House" in Frisco (a suburb of Dallas) offers a home tour and creative design and decorating ideas. The tour also allows visitors an opportunity to view furniture and accessories in the new show home, new uses for traditional walnut swags, dried floral arrangements and classic ornaments and a host of other intriguing decorations.

Santa's Holiday Idea House is located at Stonebriar on Legacy. With this home, Dillard Department Stores and Southern Living magazine have been celebrating the holiday season since Sept. 16 and will continue to show the home through Dec. 30, except for Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays; 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays, and closed on Mondays.

Among local people who have enjoyed a tour of the home are Brenda Rigsby and her sister-in-law, Phyllis Taylor of Irving. They have come away fascinated with the elegance yet simplicity of the decorations, and impressed with the innovative results of creative hands that could provide a festive holiday atmosphere in their own home.

To schedule a tour or to obtain further information, call 205-877-6264.

A portion of the $5.00 admission fee will be donated to charity.

To visit Santa's Holiday Idea House from the Muenster area, take I-35 South to Lewisville, exit at Highway 121. Follow 121 to Stonebriar and take a left on Legacy. From downtown Dallas, take North Dallas Tollway to the Legacy Drive exit in Plano. Turn left onto Legacy and go 1.2 miles to State Highway 121. Cross Hwy. 121. Proceed one mile to the entrance of Stonebriar on your left. Follow the signs to Santa's Holiday Idea House. It will be a wonderful several hours. You'll be glad you went! It will surely lift the holiday spirits of even the bluest day!

Dallas VA solicits new clothes, etc. for homeless

Dallas, TX -- Hundreds of homeless people in Dallas will receive new clothes, shoes, and reading glasses this holiday season, because staff members at the Dallas Veterans Affairs Medical Center cared enough to solicit donations and contribute themselves.

Since the campaign -- "Warm Clothes for the Holidays" -- began around Nov. 1, the VA medical center has collected or received commitments of 600 pairs of new shoes, 50 pairs of reading glasses, and an undetermined number of new items of clothing, according to Dr. Mark Nelson, associate chief of staff for Ambulatory Care.

The items have come from shoe companies, another VA medical center, the Dallas VAMC and will be given away to Homeless people on Dec. 15 at the City of Dallas Day Resource Center, a downtown drop-in center for the homeless, located at 901 S. Ervay St.

The items -- all new merchandise -- are being collected at the Dallas VAMC and will be given away to Homeless people on Dec. 15 at the City of Dallas Day Resource Center, a downtown drop-in center for the homeless, located at 901 S. Ervay St.

Persons or companies interested on donating new clothing, shoes, or other items should contact Dr. Nelson at 372-7010.

Christmas grows on Texas tree farms

Texas has 350 commercial Christmas tree farms, with 3,370 acres, primarily in northeast Texas, producing 400,000 trees annually. As they grow, each acre of Christmas trees provides oxygen for 18 people and a natural habitat for wildlife. Last year, Texas Christmas tree growers contributed $20 million to the Texas economy.

small talk by brenda rigsby

Well, here we are again - the Christmas season. It truly is the most wonderful season for many reasons, but most of all because of the birthday we celebrate for Jesus. It seems like an aura of excitement and expectation permeates the whole world and everyone in it. People are friendlier, scurrying through their day with a spring in their step and a cheerful "Merry Christmas" for all they see. The streets, homes and businesses in our communities are ablaze with lights and decorations - all symbolizing the preparations for a great celebration, the birthday party held every year for our Savior, Jesus Christ.

What better way to usher in the Christmas season than with Muenster's annual Christmas Parade? Held last Saturday, the parade was heralded with bright sunshine and a brisk north wind. A wonderful assortment of floats graced the parade, all following the parade's theme, "Christmas Greetings from Around the World." From the step-off of the parade through the last entry, everything moved flawlessly down Main Street, bringing tears to the eyes (the Steppard Air Force Base units truly are something to be proud of) and joy to the heart. The spirit of camaraderie and the way everyone worked together was truly inspiring - the way things should be at Christmas and all through the year. From Margie Starke, who chaired the parade, to Dave Fette and the Muenster Volunteer Firemen who handled the lineup to Tom Carson and his marvelous ability to keep up a running commentary during the parade - everyone is to be commended for doing an outstanding job. The Muenster Christmas Parade is (as it was described by an out-of-towner weeks before the parade) a source of pride for our community.

Wanting to continue that Christmas feeling, my family and I went to get a Christmas tree after the parade Saturday. We traveled to Alford to Special Times Christmas Tree Farm for an afternoon right out of a storybook. Driving into the farm, you see rows and rows of beautiful Virginia Pine trees. After parking, we were invited to venture into the trees and select the "perfect" tree for our holiday. Richard and Karen Boyer of Roanoke are the owners of Special Times. They began raising Christmas trees six years ago and harvesting them for the last two. Being able to start a tradition of an old-fashioned Christmas is the idea behind Special Times and it is succeeding. With a crop of 12,000 Virginia Pines ranging in height up to 12 feet, Special Times Christmas Tree Farm is continually growing and expanding into other areas.

Once we made our tree selection, the tree was tagged and taken to the make-ready area, where the trees are shaken and netted in preparation for pick up. In this area, there are concession stands (featuring wassail, coffee, hot chocolate and popcorn), restrooms, as well as tree stands and other accessories for sale. This year, Special Times has added fresh pine wreaths for sale, made from branches that are cut when shaping trees or from unsalable trees. There are tame donkeys for petting and also a hiking trail (except it was a little cold for us that day!).

We met and spoke with Richard and Karen, as well as all the other helpers, who were very friendly as they offered their assistance. The whole concept of this special place is to go back to simpler times and recapture some of the joy of earlier Christmases, to get back to nature and embrace the holiday season. The Boyers are to be applauded for bringing this new dimension of the holidays into our area of North Texas and for caring about the quality of this most important celebration. As for the Rigsbys, we have already made plans to continue our "new" tradition again next year and invite all of you to experience this holiday treat.

Special Times Christmas Tree Farm will be open this Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 16 and 17, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. See their advertisement in this week's Enterprise for directions.

Join "Lights On For Life" today, fight DWI

In a symbolic nationwide observance to focus attention on the impaired driving issue, Texoma Community Partnership is joining law enforcement, businesses, government agencies and private citizens throughout the country in keeping their vehicle headlights on as they drive during the day on Friday, December 15.

The observance is dubbed "Lights On For Life" in remembrance of persons killed and injured in alcohol-related crashes and serves as a reminder of law enforcement's watchful eye on impaired drivers. The event is part of National Drunk and Drugged Driving (3D) Prevention Month, held in December, and "National Holiday Lifesaver Weekend (December 15-17). Law enforcement, anti-DWI groups and others are participating in various activities throughout the month to call attention to the continued impaired driving problem in our country.

This observance is important because with all of the parties and celebrations during the holidays, impaired drivers are always a problem. This event will help to focus attention on the impaired driving issue and hopefully prevent people from getting behind the wheel after drinking.

This sends a positive message to the community and reminds the public that during the holidays, law enforcement will be cracking down on those who choose to drink and drive and place innocent people's lives in jeopardy. The Texoma Community Partnership encourages all Texoma region residents to join us and take a stand against impaired driving by turning on their "Lights on For Life" on Friday, December 15.

Self-certification process for licensed applicators

AUSTIN -- In a continuing effort to cut unnecessary paperwork and save taxpayers' dollars, licensed pesticide applicators will be responsible beginning Jan. 1 for maintaining their own records of continuing education units through a self-certification process.

"Self-certification means that individual Texas pesticide applicators - instead of the Texas Department of Agriculture - will now keep track of the continuing education courses they complete, just like attorneys, nurses, accountants, and many other professionals already do," Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said. "Most pesticide applicators already maintain their own education records, and after Jan. 1 TDA will no longer duplicate these efforts by also keeping records for each individual."

Under the new system, TDA will continue to issue license renewal forms, and on these forms, applicators will be asked to list their continuing education units. Applicators should keep certificates of completion, which are distributed after attendance at TDA-accredited hours.

In Texas, individuals who use pesticides classified as restricted or state-limited use must be licensed or certified as commercial, noncommercial, or private applicators. Commercial and noncommercial applicators must renew the licenses by completing five hours of continuing education units every year. Private applicators must renew their license or certificate by completing 15 hours of continuing education units every five years.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

GREENBUGS STILL WORKING COUNTY WHEAT

We still continue to have a problem with greenbugs in the county. Some inquiries have been made as to what effect the recent cold temperature had on greenbug populations. We're told that greenbugs can survive short term temperatures to almost 0° F. Some greenbugs will be killed by an overnight temperature of 0° F. Continuous temperatures of 20° F. or below for seven days or longer can reduce greenbug density by 90% or more. We did not experience these extremes in the county with this last cold spell. Remember, if the temperature goes below 40° F., the greenbugs will stop feeding; they will cease their activity and fall to the ground for protection from the cold. When warm weather returns, they will crawl back up the plant and start feeding again. For this reason, it is best to time your insecticide applications during the peak feeding temperature range.

We have just completed a greenbug wheat in the Gaucho treated wheat demonstration located on the Fuhrmann Brothers Farm north of Lindsay. This particular plot was planted on Sept. 30 and is currently being used for grazing. An electric fence has been used to separate the area for the greenbug study. Both greenbugs and oat bird-cherry aphids were present in the field. On the Nov. 21 count, an average of 80 greenbugs were observed on the untreated varieties. An additional count was taken approximately three weeks later on Dec. 7 and showed an average of 320 greenbugs per row foot on all the varieties. The Gaucho treated varieties showed zero infestation on the Nov. 21 count and an average of 3.5 per foot of row on the count Dec. 7.

Gaucho is a newly released insecticide treatment for seed. Grower caught seed can be treated at a commercial seed treater. Gustafson, Inc. has a commercial seed dealer in the county at the J.H. Bayer & Sons Farm at Muenster. Gaucho is labeled for greenbugs, other aphids, Hessian flies, and wireworms. It is not effective on winter grain mites, armyworms, or cutworms. Gaucho is a systemic and therefore should last for a good period of time in the plant.

We have Gaucho plots located on the Fuhrmann Brothers Farm at Lindsay and the Schumacher Brothers Farm at Hood. We will get additional information as to the possible benefit in the reduction of barley yellow dwarf virus infections by harvest data this spring.

END OF YEAR CONTINUING EDUCATION UNIT REQUIREMENTS

Producers who currently hold a Private Applicator Certificate which was issued before January 10, 1989, must obtain 15 Continuing Education Units before the end of 1995 in order to maintain your Certified Private Applicator's License. Units can be obtained from a variety of sources.

Rayford Pullen, County Extension Agent, Montague County, is offering daily recertification. You must call the Montague Office to set up an appointment at 817-894-2831.

Additional hours are also offered at various surrounding counties during December. If you have a need, call Craig for a list of these locations and times.

Seniors at risk!

Recent data released by the Census Bureau from the 1992 agricultural census shows that farmers and ranchers are getting older. Their average age is now approaching 55 years, and some farm safety experts say this creates special problems.

"Seniors must take extra care, even doing jobs they've always done," says Robert Gilden, Anacortes, Wash. A former USDA Extension Leader and honorary life member of the National Safety Council, Gilden now operates a Christmas tree farm where he follows the old sailors' adage: One hand for the ship; one hand for me.

"We have to look out for ourselves as well as for the tools or machinery we use," Gilden adds. "Mentally, most seniors are as alert as ever, but the body just doesn't react as quickly as it once did."

Several research studies indicate that aging effects could place senior farmers at risk for serious injury, or even death. Among these critical incidents are tractor, power take offs (PTO) and grain suffocation accidents, where quick reaction times often could have prevented the more serious consequences. For example, 1994 U.S. data shows that injuries suffered in tractor overturns continue as the No. 1 killer of farmers 65 years old and older. Several studies indicate that the increased risk could be two or three times that of other age groups involved in agricultural work. Other risky farm and ranch work involves PTO, gravity-flow grain wagons, farm animals, combines, and other farm equipment.

Most farm safety experts agree that older workers must acknowledge that aging will take its toll on their ability to react quickly and appropriately to prevent accidents. To offset the increased risk to older workers, they suggest more frequent rest breaks and proper attention to nutritional needs. Older workers on medication must take special precautions when working, especially when operating equipment or climbing ladders.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

One fine fall day in '50 or '51, while harrowing a 16 acre field along the county road east of our farm, my old friend T. Vogel stopped by for a visit.

Well, we gabbed for a few minutes before T. asked if I would like a snort from his bottle.

Well, I was never against having a little nip on occasion, and as we hashed over many of the world's problems we also indulged in his fifth, which was about two fingers from full when he arrived.

After about an hour the level of the red-eye had dropped below the half level, and after another short one, T. took his leave and I cranked up my old C.C. Case tractor and continued my work.

Although I could feel the booze, I was in pretty good shape and drove the tractor for several hours without interruption. By that time any effects of the drinks I had indulged in had worn off, and I lacked only 15 or 20 minutes of finishing the field when T. came by again, bringing his bottle along.

"I thought maybe we should have another drink," he said as I pulled up to a stop.

It was near evening and I was beginning to feel hungry and knew I shouldn't, but soon the fifth was empty.

I stood the dead soldier atop a flat-topped fence post where it stayed for weeks, to remind me of my folly.

T. soon left and after finishing my job I drove through the gate to the next field, unhitched the harrow and proceeded to the house.

Realizing I had been nipping, Aileen asked where I had been celebrating. I assured her I had not been out of the field and after a bit of good natured banter, I took a small swallow of wine to prove that I wasn't as far gone as she thought.

That was my second mistake. The wine didn't set too well, and Aileen knowing I had a belly-full, suggested I go lie down and she and the kids would milk the cows.

Well, that was the evening my dad drove in the yard and seeing activity at the cow barn drove directly to it expecting to see me. Noting I wasn't present, he asked where I was. Aileen, intending to be tactful, told him I wasn't feeling well and was lying down.

Now Dad would have accepted that, but then Phyllis, about seven, piped up and said, "I think Daddy had too much wine."

Dad thought this was hilarious, and told this to friends in town. I hope that in the 45 plus years since, I have lived this little incident down.

Texas Farm Facts

Cash receipts from farm and ranch marketings and agriculturally-related activities in Texas totaled an estimated $14.3 billion in 1994.

Texas ranks first in sales of cotton, cattle and calves, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, value of farm real estate, the number of farm and ranches and the amount of farm and ranch land.

The number of farms in Texas has decreased from 506,000 in 1931 to 202,000 in 1995, with an average size of 640 acres.

Farms with sales of less than $10,000 gross value total 123,000 or 61 percent of farms. They use 11 percent of acreage. Farms with sales of $100,000 or more total 18,000. These operations account for 47 percent of farms. Today each U.S. farmer produces food and fiber for 12 people - 4 in the U.S. and 35 abroad.

USDA has recently announced that farmers have applied to enroll 1.18 million acres of land in the Conservation Reserve Program, almost double the amount that USDA can accept in this latest sign-up.

Knight-Ridder Financial News

Old crop corn stored in all positions on Sept. 1 was estimated at 1.56 billion bushels, up 83 percent from last year. Old crop sorghum stored in all positions totaled 72.1 million bushels, 50 percent more than last year. - USDA National Agricultural Statistics Service

In Kountze, Texas, a judge found two fourteen-year-old boys guilty of criminal mischief in the September thrashing death of a Quarter Horse. He ordered one boy to go to the Texas Youth Commission reform school for a minimum of six months and the other to a boot camp in Cotulla.

The two were among 10 children, none older than 14, who were accused of chasing the horse into a barbed-wire fence and beating him with sticks until he died.

USDA's Food and Consumer Service, the agency in charge of food stamps, school lunches and other nutrition programs, could not document $13.5 billion it spent in 1994, internal department documents show. Since the agency accounts for 60 percent of USDA's spending, auditors could not verify the department's financial statements. - The Associated Press
