Broyles gathers old taxes

by Dave Fette

City Administrator Steve Broyles reported to the City Council Monday night that his three week old project to collect delinquent city taxes and subsequent interest has collected $11,225.05. He commented that some of the people he contacted were cooperative and some asked for some time to be able to make payments on the amount they owe. "I think if we make friendly reminders and allow them some options and time to pay we'll collect most of the delinquent taxes," Broyles said. "We may have to make a lien against a few others' property." The important thing is to get in touch with the people and stay after them. $23,630.48 of delinquent taxes are still owed and the interest on that amount increases daily. Of the $11,225.05 collected, $5,838.35 was tax, $5,386.70 was accumulated interest. By comparison, $1,211.70 in old taxes and interest was collected in the entire previous fiscal year.

Other items of discussion or action included:

- A park use contract with the Muenster Chamber of Commerce for the 1996 Germanfest was approved. The council noted that, contrary to earlier thoughts, all extra outside-the-park security costs during Germanfest are paid for by the Chamber. The Chamber also pays five percent of the total gate income to the city and covers all repair or recovery costs at the city park.

- Police Department purchase of a new portable radar gun system for $989.00 was approved.

- A closed session of the meeting to discuss real property and personnel resulted in no action.

- The City's farm land will again be advertised for sale by sealed bids. Bids under $700.00 per acre will not be accepted. The bids will be opened at the January 1996 regular council meeting.

- The two remaining Muenster Police officers (after the resignation of officer Bill Bivins) will each receive a raise of $400.00 per month for a three month trial period during which they will be on duty for twelve hour days rather than eight hour days.

- Steve Broyles reported that many property sanitation problems in Muenster are cleaned up, or are being cleaned up. However, a few stubborn locations will now receive certified letters to begin the public hearing and mandatory City clean-up procedures.

- Commercial garbage collection rates in Muenster will increase anywhere from 50 cents to $1.25 per dumpster depending on the volume and frequency of dumps.

- Purchase of a new FAX machine for City Hall was approved.

- Broyles reported that surpluses exist at the end of the fiscal year in both the general fund and the water and sewer fund. In the general fund, a $63,471.00 surplus is due solely to the late paving project which will now be passed through to the current year. The water and sewer fund surplus is due to the unfinished new water well number seven. Otherwise, all revenues and expenses are on budget.

- The City of Muenster cast all of its authorized votes for Arthur Felderhoff for re-election to the Cooke County Tax Appraisal District Board.

- Chamber of Commerce request to close Main Street from First to Second Street from 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on December 9 for the Christmas Parade was approved.

- Monthly bills totaling $83,079.09 were approved for payment.

Street paving's been delayed

by Stephen D. Broyles

Last week we advised that Walnut and Oak Streets were to be paved this week. The contractor has requested a delay in paving based on non-availability of paving equipment and personnel. We'll keep you informed on when the paving will be re-scheduled and when vehicles must be kept off of Walnut and Oak Street.

MISD terminates Coach Grady Roller's contract

by Janet Felderhoff

Members of the Muenster ISD School Board held a special meeting Monday, Nov. 6 to determine what action to take regarding charges against the District's athletic director and head football coach Grady Roller. Roller was suspended with pay in late August.

MISD Superintendent Steve Cooper said in a press release Monday that, "The hearing resulted in the Muenster School Board upholding the administrative recommendation to terminate his contract. The hearing was in response to charges brought against Coach Roller by two former female students. The charges involved improper verbal and written sexual and romantic advances. A thorough investigation found his actions in violation of district policy and a violation of the position of trust he was in. The School Board responded to the evidence by supporting the recommendation because of its concern and responsibility to ensure a safe atmosphere and instructional environment for all the youngsters that attend Muenster ISD."

The closed hearing was attended by MISD officials, all school board members, attorneys from both sides, witnesses who gave statements, and Ed Coble who acted as mediator.

After both sides presented their cases, the school board were united in their 7-0 vote to terminate Roller's contract. "Our decision was based on the evidence," explained Leon Klement MISD board president. "He admitted doing it and we have the proof."

"The school board's first and most important responsibility is for the welfare of the students. We have a set of rules and guidelines to ensure that and he broke them. We'd have been derelict in our duty if we didn't (terminate Roller's contract).

Also the school board would have lost the trust of the parents and the community."

When contacted, Mr. Roller declined to make any comments to the Muenster Enterprise on the situation.

Klement said that the board has not yet considered what to do about replacing Roller.

During the time Roller was suspended Coach Randy Tankersly served as head coach and athletic director. Under the leadership of Tankersly, the Hornets have achieved a 7-2 record this season. The team is 4-0 in District 17-A and are contenders for the district championship.

While in Muenster Roller's record was 36-20-1. His Hornet football team won the district championship in 1991 and made the playoffs again in 1992. Before coming to Muenster five years ago, Roller was coach at Lindsay ISD.

Health funding changes require study by county commissioners

by Janet Felderhoff

Cooke County Commissioners Court was informed in a special meeting Monday, Nov. 6 that changes of federal and state health funding would affect Cooke County. Dr. C. R. Allen, regional director of the Texas Department of Health, was at the meeting to explain the situation and the pros and cons of possible solutions.

Changes in the administration will be in place by Sept. 1, 1996. Cooke County Judge Paul Hesse said that the county was expected to have a plan by late next April or early May. He anticipates forming a committee to look into the situation before the county takes any action.

Frances Pelley, executive director of the Texoma Council of Governments, spoke to the group on the possibility of forming a tri-county health district with Cooke, Fannin and Grayson counties. There could even be more than three counties involved.

If the county doesn't handle the preventative care then the state will dictate the manner in which people will receive their preventative care. It will have to be decided whether it is more to the advantage of the county residents to have more control over the level of service locally or to take the chance of a non-local entity not providing wanted services.

The preventative care referred to includes such things as immunizations and prenatal care.

Responsibility for the preventative care might fall to local hospital districts.

Hesse noted that some of the funding would be federal such as with Medicare and Medicaid, that allocated state funds would be used, then that of private foundations and the recipients would pay a fee determined by their ability to pay.

"We need more information to make a decision," Hesse stated. "No funds will have to be allocated by the county as far as we know at this time. We want to make sure that we don't take on any liability that we don't want to. There is a lot more to learn about the subject. We'll be in a learning phase for the next couple of months."

Announcement tour set for Nov. 13 week

Jon Newton, Republican candidate for the 4th Congressional District, will be traveling to all 13 counties in the district during his week long Announcement Tour which begins on Monday, November 13. "We need to elect more Republicans in 1996 who will fight business-as-usual from Washington," Newton said.

Newton, offering real Republican leadership, is challenging 40-year politician and 72-year old career Democrat Ralph Hall. Newton said, "Forty years is too long for someone to be a politician."

Newton will highlight issues central to his campaign during his announcement speech as well as hear from constituents at each stop. Newton stresses three main issues in his campaign: term limits, tax reform and education.

Newton supports a constitutional amendment to enact term limits and favors a flat tax over a national sales tax. He also believes Washington should return educational decisions to the states and that parents and local communities, not bureaucrats, should have more control over their children's education. He would abolish the Department of Education.

Newton and his wife Shelly live in Rockwall. In addition to his law practice at Baker & McKenzie, he has interned on Capitol Hill and while in law school worked as a Judicial Assistant at the Texas Supreme Court. He is a graduate of The University of Texas School of Law and Cornell University.

He will visit Gainesville at the Court House at 3 p.m., Tuesday, November 14 and then come to the Muenster City Hall for a 4:30 p.m. announcement session.

A letter from Harold Luke to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Luke, advises them that he has received the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross with Citations. Harold Luke is a member of the Aviation Branch of the United States Navy, serving as radioman and gunner aboard a PB2Y Coronado, stationed in the Pacific Theater. Details surrounding the receipt of these awards have not been learned and must await his arrival home.

Pfc. Harold Schmitz writes his father, Theo Schmitz, about a number of interesting events he experienced recently, since arriving in Tokyo including an eyewitness account of Tojo's blood transfusion and a visit to the Imperial Palace.

Excerpts from a long letter follow: "Everything is rolling along fine, now. I see Gerald Metzler every other day after duty hours. Arnold Wimmer is also well and lives just across the road from us. We are still in tents. The wind blows so much here - it never blew on Luzon Island.

"Archbishop Spellman was here yesterday and we all attended his Mass ... I got a good look at Tojo and saw him getting the blood plasma ... He looked very sick ... I was on guard duty at the Imperial Palace the other day. We can get passes to stay in town until 10 p.m., but we don't stay out long after dark - just don't trust the Japs yet. We have native-born Japanese girl interpreters for the 12th Cavalry.

They were reared and educated in New York ... Crop land looks good here. I saw maize, corn, rice, garden vegetables growing. There are few animals. Most of the farm work is done by hand ... Tomorrow we will see Admiral Halsey ride Tojo's white horse. We will be in the parade, with a band playing ... The biggest fleet of air power and ships I ever saw was on D-Day. We came in on a landing barge, like a regular invasion. Things were quiet, with white flags all around the beaches, but very few Japs ... Yesterday, when we were on guard duty at the Imperial Palace, 500 Japanese boys were brought in to work. All had been in the Japanese Army but are only 14 years old."

Ordinance adopted by Lindsay Council

An ordinance concerning sexually oriented businesses was adopted by the Lindsay Town Council at their regular monthly meeting held Monday, Nov. 6. The ordinance provides for a penalty of a fine of $200 for the violation of any section of the ordinance. It also allows that a separate offense will be deemed committed each day during or on which an offense occurs or continues.

"Some questions came up and an ordinance was discussed," said Lindsay Mayor Robert Walterscheid. "An ordinance had previously been written up, but we discovered that it had never been passed."

The newly passed ordinance provides for the licensing and regulation of adult arcades, adult bookstores, adult video stores, adult cabarets, adult motels, adult motion picture theaters, escort agencies, nude modeling studios, and sexual encounter centers. It also regulates the display of sexually explicit materials to minors.

Finnell, Moses to visit Forestburg ISD Monday

State Rep. Charles Finnell will introduce Texas Education Commissioner Mike Moses to the assembled student body, school board, and faculty of Forestburg ISD on Monday, Nov. 13 at 2:30 p.m. at the Forestburg Community Center.

Rep. Finnell, who invited Commissioner Moses to visit the rural school district, southern Montague County, stated that he wanted the head of Texas Education Agency to witness first-hand what the independent people of this outstanding school district have accomplished, in the wake of the devastating fire which destroyed the historic school facilities immediately before the beginning of the academic year.

"I would like to commend Superintendent Jackie Burton for his extra effort and the great spirit with which he has continued to lead the school during these difficult times," Finnell noted. "Not only did school start in a timely manner, with widespread community help the district's citizens promptly voted to pass local bond election to rebuild outstanding school facilities."

"This is a fine example of the Northwest Texas spirit of local independence."

Veterans Day observed at national memorial

In the many years that have passed since our nation was born, veterans have given selfless service to this great country in both times of peace and times of war.

America's servicemen and women set a standard of courage and sacrifice during World War II that may be equaled but will never be surpassed. Never before had war been waged by so many people, over so much of the globe, with such loss of life and destruction of property.

On the battlefields of Korea, Americans fought and died to defend a country and a people they had never met. The tears, the blood, and the sweat that flowed in that distant land was not in vain however.

In the time of Vietnam, we had heroes and didn't see them. A million Americans soldiered there, and more than 58,000 of them died, some bravely, some just unluckily, all in the service of their country.

The men and women who served in the Gulf War paid another installment on a great debt that will never be erased so long as there is tyranny in the world. And, like their predecessors in World War II, Korea and Vietnam, they paid in time... in effort... and in blood.

Each year for more than two decades, thousands of veterans from all wars, their families and friends have made the pilgrimage to the beauty and majesty of the Disabled American Veterans Vietnam Veterans National Memorial to reflect on the high cost of peace, to mourn our nation's warriors lost in Vietnam and to celebrate those who survived.

Rep. Finnell records 100% again this session

State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holiday completed the 74th Legislature, regular session, without missing a roll call or action taken on the floor of the House. This marks the eighth consecutive session that Finnell has maintained his 100% record of being present and participating, according to the public records of the Chief Clerk's office.

This session, Finnell purposely limited his legislation to seven initiatives in order to focus concentration on the proposed reforms in juvenile justice, welfare, lawsuits, and education.

The only time Finnell missed a legislative vote was in April 1979, when the massive tornado in Wilbarger, Wichita and Clay counties killed 49 people and caused millions of dollars in property damage. He and then-Gov. Bill Clements flew from Austin to the disaster area to assess damage and to facilitate relief to the storm's many victims.

Gramm receives Award

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has been named a recipient of the 1995 Guardian of Medicare Award presented by the United Seniors Association "in recognition of remarkable dedication to maintaining and improving the quality and stability of seniors health care."

The award is presented by the leading organization of senior citizens opposed to high taxes and big government, "...to Senators who support the responsible Medicare reforms approved by the Senate Finance Committee and incorporated in S. 1357, the Balanced Budget Reconciliation Act of 1995."

Medicare has been "a lifeline for many senior citizens," said Gramm, "and I want my 82-year-old mother to be able to go to sleep at night knowing that the problems in Medicare have been solved."

"I want to ensure that the blessings of the Medicare system will be available not just for the next seven years, but for future years and future generations of seniors," the senator said.

Hall supports plans to balance budget

In keeping with his long-term support for a balanced budget, Rep. Ralph Hall (D-Texas) voted last month for both budget reconciliation plans - the Republican plan and The Coalition plan - in the House of Representatives and spoke on the floor in support of The Coalition's budget. "These bills are still vehicle bills - on their way to a Conference Committee," Hall said.

"It is general knowledge that the final bill will be written in conference," Hall added. "I think it is unfortunate that there is so much discussion about a veto when there's no bill before the President and neither the President nor anyone else knows what the bill will look like when it gets there. It's time for less criticism and bickering and more of the House, Senate, and the President trying to work together."

Hall noted that both plans achieve a balanced budget in seven years but differ in the amount of savings they achieve and the scope of their reforms. The Republican plan passed by a vote of 227-203. The Coalition plan was not approved.

Hall said in his floor speech that The Coalition budget was "the better vehicle today." Hall is an active member and chair of the health care task force of The Coalition, a group of twenty-two conservative Democrats who organized earlier this year and have had several legislative successes in the House. The Coalition's proposal was the only alternative budget plan considered.

Part of the plan includes savings through Medicare reforms. The Democratic Medicare plan that failed last week contained $90 billion in savings from Medicare.

The Republican plan calls for $270 billion, while The Coalition's plan achieves $166 billion in savings. Hall predicted that something similar to The Coalition plan would be the one to prevail in the end and would eventually garner the support of a conference committee comprised of both Republicans and Democrats. He said that he supported both plans in order to keep the process going and believed that Democrats, Republicans, and the President will come to The Coalition legislation.

Hall reassured low and middle-income seniors by saying, "You will be protected." He said that seniors will not have to change their health care plans, but they will have the choice to do so. The proposed budgets will give them more choices than they had before. "I'm concerned about the large savings in Medicare that the Republican plan proposes," Hall acknowledged following the vote. "The Coalition's plan achieves savings of about $100 billion less than the GOP plan, and yet still achieves a balanced budget. The final proposal needs to be closer to this number."

Hall stated that he favored tax cuts - but believed that only the child tax credit and the capital gains relief should be considered when the bill gets to conference. The Coalition plan did not propose tax cuts until the federal budget has been balanced.

"This is the best opportunity we've had in years to balance the budget and institute some needed reforms - from streamlining government to slowing its growth," Hall said. "But we have to be fair and responsible, and we have to make sure that all our citizens are protected in the process."

Dow strategies in bull market offer payoff for Gainesville investors

This year's bull market has led the Dow Jones Industrial Average on a stampede, which has charged up the scale about 1,000 points in 1995. This means that stocks of the country's 30 largest companies have performed very well. And for those looking to take advantage of the profit potential of these companies, the Dow 5 and Dow 10 investment strategies might provide the right vehicle to drive your portfolio.

"In the past, these strategies have achieved better returns than merely investing in all the Dow Jones' stocks," said Betty Peveto, branch manager of the A.G. Edwards Gainesville office. "In fact, certain equity unit trusts use these strategies in their portfolios."

The Dow 5 and Dow 10 strategies are a disciplined approach based solely on dividend yield and seek to achieve a better performance than the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) in a short period of time. The Dow 10 strategy, for instance, selects the 10 highest-yielding DJIA stocks for its portfolio.

"The strategies review the 30 stocks in the DJIA and rank them by dividend yield," Peveto explained. "For example, if stock A has a $20 per-share price and a $1 annual dividend, its dividend yield is 5 percent. If stock B has a $40 per-share price and a $1 dividend, its dividend yield is 2.5 percent, or only half of stock A's yield. According to the Dow strategies, stock A is the better stock to include in your portfolio."

The Dow 5 strategy actually feeds off the Dow 10 strategy, of sorts. While the Dow 10 strategy picks the 10 highest-yielding stocks, the Dow 5 strategy takes those 10 stocks and picks the five lowest-priced of the group.

"The goal is that the share prices increase while you continue to receive dividends," Peveto said. "After one year, the stocks will be reevaluated to see if they still meet the strategy's requirements, and the portfolio will be adjusted accordingly."

The strategies have outperformed the DJIA. The Hirsch Organization said that for the 22-year period ending Dec. 31, 1994, the Dow 5 stocks have posted a 20.6 percent average annual return and Dow 10 stocks a 17.08 percent return, while DJIA stocks mustered only a 10.9 percent return. These figures do not reflect commissions or applicable fees.

Investors can incorporate the Dow strategies in one of two ways. They can either buy the stocks individually or invest in an equity unit trust that uses one of the strategies. Since many investors do not have the money to invest heavily in individual Dow stocks, the equity unit trusts can provide a viable option.

Most equity unit trusts require a minimum investment of only $1,000, which actually buys a partial share of a portfolio of the common stocks representing the Dow 5 or Dow 10 strategies. Investors can receive a free prospectus that contains more complete information, including charges, expenses and risks associated with equity investments.

"Investing through an equity unit trust also provides investors a disciplined approach to using the Dow strategies," Peveto said. "Its buy-and-hold philosophy prevents investors from bailing out too soon. But make sure you read the prospectus carefully before investing or sending cash, so you know if it best suits your objectives."

Four-way stop implemented at Lake Ray Roberts intersection

Increased traffic volumes and community concern have justified making the intersection of FM372 and FM922, in southeastern Cooke County, a four-way stop facility. Area Engineer John Barton, of Muenster, said recreational traffic to Lake Ray Roberts has caused the traffic volume to increase sharply. Barton said the change from a two-way stop to four-ways should enhance the traffic flow and make the intersection safer. Stop signs are presently on FM922.

Barton said signs will also be erected warning of the newly installed stop signs to give motorists a chance to get acquainted with the new controls.

Steve Kohler dies at age 50

Sacred Heart students and faculty, the parish, and the community of Muenster joined the family of Steven Lynn Kohler, the community of Rosston, and a wide circle of friends in the teaching profession, in mourning his death on Saturday, Nov. 4, 1995, at 4:04 a.m.

Mr. Kohler died at his residence in Rosston after a valiant struggle with cancer. His loss is deeply felt by former students and by students who anticipated his presence in their classrooms.

Episcopal Requiem Eucharist services were held on Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church, presided by the rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Gainesville, Father Layne Smith. The lay reader was Rusty Duncan. Music included "Psalm 121," "One Day At a Time," "Amazing Grace," and "How Great Thou Art."

Preceding this service, a Vigil was held on Monday at 3 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church for students of the grade and high schools, faculty, family, friends and the community. The liturgy for the Vigil included music by the Children's Choir "For All the Saints," as the entrance procession.

Father Frowin Schoech OSB presided for the service. Jack Murdock, principal of Sacred Heart High School delivered the Eulogy. Father David Bellinghousen OSB gave the First Reading: Job 38:7-17. Christy Hesse sang "Psalm of The Good Shepherd" and the responses.

Father Frowin read the Gospel: Matthew 28:3-42 and delivered the Homily.

The Intercessions were sung with the answering prayer "Lord, Hear Our Prayer." Response for the Litany of the Saints was "Pray For Steve!" The congregation joined in the "Our Father" in unison, and all joined in the Peace greeting.

A Communion Service followed, with special permission from Father Wilson, Diocesan Chancellor and Moderator of the Curia. During this time Ruth Felderhoff accompanied Terry

DeGarmo's flute solo of Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The school children's choir sang "Song of the Angels" during the incensing and blessing with Holy Water. The recessional song was "Amazing Grace" by the Children's Choir and congregation.

Visitation in McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster followed the Monday Vigil, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Burial on Tuesday followed the Episcopal Service. It was held in the Rosston Cemetery, directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Pallbearers were Randy Kohler, Gavin Kohler, Jordan Kohler, Jeff Wilson, Tom Bonner and John Magee.

Music for the interment included a recording of "Amazing Grace" with bagpipes, "Native American Flute Music," and most appropriately, a loving, tender farewell to Mr. Kohler, who found great delight in riding his motorcycle with the song "Roll Me Away" recorded by Bob Seger.

Steven Lynn Kohler was born in Hamilton, Montana on July 19, 1945 to Florence Irene (Heintz) and "Raney" Kohler. On Dec. 29, 1967 he married Jane Mather

Sullivan in Whitefish, Montana.

He attended the University of Montana and earned a Bachelor's Degree in Education. He was Dean of Boys at the Selwyn Preparatory School in Denton, Texas, and worked at the Wyoming State Girls School in Sheridan, Wyoming. He was employed at Fischer's Meat Market for six years. For eleven years he taught third grade at Sacred Heart School in Muenster. Whenever his illness permitted, he returned for brief periods or to visit and found a sincere, warm welcome.

Survivors of Steven Kohler are his wife, Jane S. Kohler of Rosston; his mother Florence Kohler of Whitefish, Montana; one daughter, Jessica S. Kohler of Muenster; two sons, Gavin M. Kohler and Jordan M. Kohler of Rosston; two sisters Lani K. Johnson of Whitefish, Montana and Susi Eckhardt of Polson, Montana; and one brother Randy J. Kohler of Whitefish, Montana.

Preceding him in death was his father.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that anyone wishing to honor Steven Kohler with a memorial may plant a tree or a rosebush.

Sharp says Medicaid formulas could cost county taxpayers $6.5 million

State Comptroller John Sharp has determined that unfair funding formulas now pending in the U.S. Congress would cost Cooke County taxpayers between $5.7 million and $6.5 million in federal Medicaid cuts over the next seven years.

"This unacceptable legislation asks Cooke County taxpayers to subsidize the health care of people in other states," Sharp said. "It would send twice as much money to a senior citizen in New York as to a senior citizen in Cooke County."

"True block grants would help balance the federal budget and give states like Texas more flexibility," Sharp said. "But this proposed legislation isn't a block grant. It's a scheme to lock into place the unfair funding formulas of the past while giving distant bureaucrats in Washington as much control as ever over Texas programs."

Sharp released a county-by-county analysis of the different Medicaid funding formulas that have passed committees in both the U.S. House and U.S. Senate and will soon be resolved by a conference committee. His analysis shows that the House plan would cost Texas $4.9 billion over the next seven years. The Senate version would cost Texas $7.7 billion during the same period.

According to the Comptroller, Medicaid contributes to the cost of care for 75 percent of all Texans in nursing homes, and nearly one-third of total Medicaid spending in the state goes to care for elderly men and women.

"What's going to happen to our parents and grandparents if this legislation passes?" Sharp asked. "As the number of elderly Texans grows, the money for their care will be sent to other states."

"What's going to happen to the hospitals where more than 45 percent of Texas babies are born? Our state population is growing at more than twice the national rate, yet Congress wants to cut our federal funds so that a handful of powerful Northeastern and Midwestern states can receive more - whether their populations are increasing or not."

Under both the House and Senate plans, Sharp said, states would be required to spend general revenue funds to receive federal dollars, much as they do now.

"It's the same entitlement system Congress claimed it wanted to reform and change to block grants when this debate began earlier this year," Sharp said. "Now they're on the verge of making a bad system even worse. Federal bureaucrats will still pull the strings, but Texas and other high-growth states will receive fewer federal funds to comply with those rules and regulations."

Moreover, Sharp said, New York and other states with stagnant or declining populations would see their federal match rates increase, while Texas' federal match rate would remain the same as under current law.

"This is particularly outrageous," Sharp said. "New York would be required to spend fewer state dollars to receive what it receives today - which is already twice as much as Texas receives."

Both the House and the Senate plans have been approved by committees and are ready for floor action, Sharp said, perhaps as early as mid-October. After that, a conference committee will work out the final version.

Since March, Sharp has provided timely analyses of all welfare and Medicaid proposals as they have wound their way through the federal legislative process.

In June, Sharp proposed an alternative funding formula that would distribute federal funds based on each state's population growth and per capita income. Last month, this National Fair Share Block Grant Plan was introduced by Texas Congressman John Bryant in the House Commerce Committee but failed to win approval.

Sister Amora Felderhoff celebrates 2 milestones

Sister Amora Felderhoff OSB, a native of Muenster, reached two exceptional milestones in an outstanding life of service to God, civilly and the Olivetan medicine convent of Mesboro, Arkansas, when her one hundredth birthday and thirtieth year of religious profession were celebrated on Sunday, Oct. 22, 1995.

Sister M. Henrietta Hockle, O.S.B., prioress, and Olivetan medicine Sisters of Holy Angels convent hosted a day that began with a Mass of Thanksgiving celebrated by Father Nicholas Fuhrmann OSB at 11 a.m. in the Convent Chapel with music by the Convent Choir, followed by a dinner attended by family, friends and former students, and an afternoon of singing and reminiscing.

The Mass of Thanksgiving began with an Entrance Procession led by nuns carrying candles in processions with matching processional crucifix donated by the family in honor of Sister Amora.

Father Nicholas delivered the homily, with many references to pioneer parents, and the four generations that have followed. He declared: "One hundred years!! It triggers the mind! ... During that time there have been ten Popes ... 100 years saw the discovery of ... the invention of Diesel ... Kodak pocket cameras ... new word, calorie ... the invention of radio-telegraph ... Gillette Safety razors ... the Babe Ruth - Jack Dempsey era ... the first pro football game (with players splitting the first $10,000 they earned)." That brought an amused response from those present.

There were letters of congratulations from Bishop Andrew McDonald, of Little Rock, AR; an Apostolic Blessing from Pope John Paul; a letter of congratulation from President Clinton.

Many friends, relatives, former students from Little Rock and Cahontas joined the nuns for dinner in the convent dining room. A beautifully decorated cake made a niece of Sister Amora, Mickey Spaeth, graced the table as centerpiece. Guest tables were decorated with fresh flowers from convent gardens.

The dining room displayed nuns, greeting cards and letters, pictures of early days of Sister Amora and her family. Sister Henrietta Hockle and Sister Georgia Felderhoff dressed the guests. Christy Lesse, a niece sang "The Jewel Blessing" and "Ave Maria" accompanied by Sister Celestine at the piano. Sunday afternoon, TV Station KAIT sent a staff member to interview Sister Amora to show on evening television news.

Relatives attending from Muenster included Alvin and Joanie Hartman, Sylvan and Theresa Mae Walterscheid, Joe and Ruth Felderhoff, Bert and Christy Hesse and children Joe, Rebecca and John Paul, Ed and Louise Knauf, Arthur and Evie Felderhoff, Mary Ann Walterscheid, and Imelda Felderhoff; and from Gainesville were Henry and Mickey Spaeth and Della Voth. Most were weekend guests and, enroute home, enjoyed sightseeing and viewing fall foliage.

Sister Amora Felderhoff was born with a twin sister in Muenster on Oct. 22, 1895 to Henry and Christine Bremen Felderhoff, community pioneers. She was baptized Carolyn and her sister, Christine. They entered Holy Angels Convent as Sister Amora and Sister Lutgardis.

SISTER AMORA

Other brothers and sisters were Mary, John, Henry, Frank, Hubert, Joseph, Tony and Rose. Two of the brothers died in infancy. Rose became Sister Mildred Felderhoff, first administrator of Muenster Memorial Hospital. Henry became Father Henry Felderhoff of the diocese of Dallas - Fort Worth.

Sister Amora made her first vows in 1915 at Holy Angels. Her first teaching assignment was at St. Paul's School, Pocahontas, AR followed by schools in Little Rock, Muenster and Jonesboro. She also did office work at St. Bernard's Hospital. The last twelve years of her active life, she did Pastoral duties at St. Bernard's. She also served the convent as Subprioress with Mother Philippa from 1954 to 1966.

PAULETTE MARIE RODEHORST of New Orleans and Rodney John Walter Jr., also of New Orleans, will be married on Nov. 18, 1995 in Tulane University's Rogers Chapel. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Rodehorst of Slidell, Louisiana and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Walter of Farmers Branch and the grandson of Agnes Walter of Muenster. The bride-elect holds both Bachelor and Master degrees from Louisiana State University. She is employed as a social work supervisor at a psychiatric hospital in New Orleans. ## FCE county council clubs hold October meeting

Cooke County Family and Community Education Council (FCE), during the Oct. 10 meeting, completed plans for the Arts and Crafts Sell-O-Rama scheduled for Nov. 10 and Nov. 11, and assigned work times for members of all Cooke county FCE Clubs. Success of the Sell-O-Rama is assured and committees reported ALL tables were rented, with a waiting list.

The very popular Bake Sale, chaired by the Ross-Point Club will be held on Friday, Nov. 10. The Bake Sale handled by the 4-H Club will be held on Saturday, Nov. 11.

Nancy Carter reported on the 4-H Achievement Banquet and the presentation of three $300 scholarships. Winners were Jeanie Mosman of Lindsay, Michael Becker of Muenster and Rachel Cravens of Silver Cedars.

All local County Extension Clubs are urged to bring recommendations for projects for worthy or needy organizations to benefit from Christmas or year end donations from the FCE Clubs, to be discussed at the November Council meeting on Nov. 14 at 1:30 p.m. Appointed during the meeting to the nominating committee were Dorothy Fisher, Brenda Mobley and Nancy Carter. They will report nominations to serve as the 1996 Council officers.

Also attending were her son, Jim Moore and his wife Betty of Henderson, Nevada.

On Saturday, Nov. 4, she shared a party with the residents of St. Richard's Villa. Birthday cake and punch were served. Pam Fette entertained by singing Martha Moore's favorite hymns. Attending were David, Pam and Russell Fette, and Mrs. Moore's daughter Alverta Bosch of Gorham, Kansas; son and daughter-in-law Jimmy and Betty Moore of Henderson, Nevada; daughter Florence Williams of Muenster; granddaughter and her husband Louise and Marvin Greenberg of Smith Center, Kansas; granddaughter Susan Ruliffson of Henderson, Nevada; grandson and daughter Roy Bosch and Randi; and grandson Randy Williams.

The party was planned by Louise Greenberg. Table decorations were in fuschia, and purple in the floral centerpiece, cake and gift bags.

The honoree received several beautiful floral arrangements from friends and family; also cards from her home town of Ous, Kansas; and from Muenster friends. When asked her age, she replied proudly "Why, 100 of course!"

Her family appreciated the extra attention she received from the St. Richard's staff to help make this day very special.

CC United Way victory luncheon is Nov. 17

Volunteer workers for this year's Cooke County United Way Campaign are concluding their collections and preparing for the Victory Luncheon. The Luncheon will be Nov. 17.

Please see chart about Cooke County Friends of the Family on pg. 14 for information on one of many organizations in Cooke County that benefit from United Way donations.

United Way funds CC Friends of the Family

Kids of all ages were asked during safety presentations about their definitions of the word, "Victim". Their basic responses were that it was a person whose rights were taken away. Fortunately for Cooke county residents, there is a non-profit organization concerned about individuals whose rights have been taken away because of violent crime.

Cooke County Friends of the Family is committed to breaking the cycle of violence. Confidential, support services are available free of charge to survivors of family violence, sexual assault, and the aggravated assaults. Family members who have lost a loved one to homicide or a drunken driver may also receive aid from Friends of the Family. There is a 24-hour Hotline available for crisis support. The counseling services are provided by trained staff and volunteers.

Prevention of crime is also a concern of Cooke County Friends of the Family. Presentations of the "W.H.O. -- WE Help Ourselves" program are offered to schools and civic organizations to discuss safety issues with students from pre-school through college, as well as their parents. There are many children being victimized today. This program deals with abuse issues as well as ways of possibly preventing future victimization.

If you have been victimized, please consider contacting your local United Way supported agency, Cooke County Friends of the Family. If you are interested in volunteering to help stop the cycle of violence in Cooke County, contact the office at: 665-2873 for more information. Together, we can make a difference!

Dr. Eddie Hadlock new president of statewide student affairs group

Dr. Hadlock, whose service in the NCTC administration in several different capacities totals more than 20 years, was installed as TACCSSAA president at the association's recent fall conference in Dallas.

"This represents a very singular honor for Dr. Hadlock," said NCTC President Ronnie Glasscock, "and we, of course, are very proud of him and extend our congratulations."

Dr. Hadlock explained that TACCSSAA provides a forum aimed at improving professional interaction among chief student personnel officers throughout the Texas community and junior college system — a system which annually enrolls nearly 70 percent of all freshmen and sophomore level students attending public colleges and universities statewide.

Prior to becoming president-elect, Dr. Hadlock also served TACCSSAA as vice president for finance and membership and as vice president for research and organizational development, a post which included responsibility for publishing the association's statewide newsletter.

Having grown up in Arizona, Dr. Hadlock earned his bachelor's degree at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. He completed both his master's degree in counseling and his doctorate in student personnel at East Texas State University in Commerce.

After two years of service as a commissioned officer in the U.S. Navy, Dr. Hadlock signed on for a year of public school teaching in Virginia and then returned to Texas in 1973 to join the Plano ISD faculty.

From there he came north to what was then known as Cooke County College to assume duties as vocational counselor and later as director of counseling. After a one-year respite which took him to Odessa College, he returned to CCC as registrar in 1978. Since then, he has served also as director of admissions and associate dean for continuing education before assuming the post of dean of student services in 1984.

DIALOGUE sets meeting

DIALOGUE is an ongoing support group established by the American Cancer Society for cancer patients, their families and friends. This group provides a safe and caring environment for people dealing with the physical and psychological stress of a cancer diagnosis. Because cancer affects the life of both the patient and the caregiver, family members and friends are encouraged to also attend.

On Tuesday, November 14, at 7:30 p.m., DIALOGUE will meet at the Muenster Memorial Hospital. Emily Klement will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Klement will discuss the emotional aspects of dealing with a diagnosis of cancer, both for the patient and for the caregivers. There will be time for questions and answers. Refreshments will be served. If you have cancer, or know someone who does, DIALOGUE provides a wealth of support, information and friendship. For more information call Mary K. Endres at 759-4546.

Pentons receive news of Great American Cattle Drive

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Penton of Rosston have received a collection of newspaper articles on the Great American Cattle Drive. The collection was assembled by a friend, Paula Bivens. She is a disease control officer for the Wyoming Livestock Board and kept in touch with the Pentons during the Great American Cattle Drive.

Mr. Penton spoke by telephone to his friend, Don Bell from Wyoming, an 85 year old cowboy. Bell told Jim that there were 1,500,000 people to see the Longhorns coming in to Miles City, Montana at the end of the historic cattle drive.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

Ever since the late 20's when my Dad acquired a herd of 200 ewes and a few rams, he had lambs and wool to sell, and occasionally some old ewes.

The animals were usually shipped to Fort Worth to be handled by one of several commission firms that were in that business.

Later, in '33 or '34, a truck was added to my dad's list of equipment, and we began to haul our livestock to the Fort Worth Stockyards ourselves.

As time passed we began to learn more and more how things were done in that very busy place.

Sheep were always off-loaded at the sheep pens, a little south of the Administration Building, and were always separated into pens of like groupings.

Many times, over the years, we would see a big billy goat that seemed to have the run of the pens. He was very gentle and we found that his name was Judas. This didn't seem to be a very nice name for so gentle an animal, but after finding what part he played in the handling of the sheep, we changed our minds.

There was a large ramp that extended upward from the sheep pens across a street, and to a large door that led into the second floor of Swift and Co.'s meat packing plant.

On the days that the packing plant slaughtered sheep, Judas' job came into play.

To my way of thinking, there is nothing harder to drive through a door, into a closed room, then a flock of sheep, except perhaps hogs.

This is where Judas' wiles entered the picture. When the sheep were assembled in a group at the base of the ramp, Judas would step up the ramp 8 or 10 feet and turn and bleat for the sheep to follow. By repeating this procedure a number of times he soon reached the door, and he and the entire flock would soon be inside.

Only "Judas" walked out again, to betray the next flock to be slaughtered.

The men that worked around Judas liked him - he made their work much easier. Occasionally one of them would give him peanuts, candy, or even a cut of chewing tobacco, all of which he seemed to relish.

10th birthday observed by Austin Reiter Oct. 29

Austin Reiter celebrated his 10th birthday recently with two parties. The first was a dinner and party at Austin's home. Austin enjoyed a Fred Flintstone and Dino Dinosaur cake, both made and decorated by Austin's mom.

The second party was at his grandparents home, Wilfred and Lily Reiter on Sunday October 29. Austin shared birthday honors with two of his cousins, Christina Wiese and Brent Reiter. Grandmother Reiter is known for her very special birthday cakes. For this party grandmother made a three-dimensional soccer ball complete with pressed chocolate octagons to give it an authentic look. She also made a standup cat cake.

Grandmother always tries to make cakes relating to the grandchildren's hobbies. Brent and Austin both play soccer and Christina loves kittens.

In attendance for the dinner and parties were: Austin and his family, Lloyd and Mary Reiter, Travis, Karissa and Chisam; Brent and his family, Paul, Susan, Daniel and Mitchell Reiter of Texarkana; Christina Wiese and family members Kim, Brian, David and Stephen Wiese.

Also Grandparents, Wilfred and Polly Reiter and Julius and Marcella Metzler; Tim, Lynn and Tyler Gibson; Keith, Kay, Kyle, Kevin and Kristen Grewing; Toby and Allison Kubis; and Roger Reiter.

Rural Reflections

by Janet Felderhoff

It's that time of year again! Hunting season on whitetail deer opened last weekend. Malls, restaurants, churches, etc. were filled with women and children, sans husbands and fathers.

This seasonal exodus to deer camp and the elaborate preparations that proceed the affair are beyond my understanding. As the time draws near the hunters seem to think of nothing but getting ready or being there. In the middle of a conversation on something not remotely connected to hunting they start to talk about the weekend.

Taking the life of a creature as beautiful as a deer is something from which I just couldn't get pleasure. I know that if a deer looked at me with its soft, soulful eyes, I could not take its life. Perhaps my admiration for deer came when I was about five years old.

My family was on the way to my grandparents' house for Easter Sunday dinner. Suddenly a buck appeared. He was in my grandpa's field. The agile animal jumped the fence and ran across the road (Copperswitch) in front of us.

Pack # 1167 met on Sunday, October 15 at Sycamore Lake for an afternoon of family fun. Over 40 scouts and their families attended. The main event was the traditional turkey shoot. The scouts participated in the contest throughout the afternoon. The winners of the contest received trophies. The winners were: Tiger Winner, Johnathan Zimmerer; Wolf Winner, Lyle Bellows; Bear Winner, Rameez Anwar; Webebo 1 Winner, Chap Bactzel; Webebo 2 winner, Mitch Creed. The top shooter of the day was Stephen Wiese. The boys and family members also participated in relay races and making pine cone bird feeders and tambourines. The final event was a scavenger hunt in which all scouts, parents and family members participated.

Den # 4 of Pack # 1167 has had an exciting October. The scouts met in Lindsay Park one Saturday. They picked up trash in the park area as a community project. The den is working on the Conservation Good Turn Award. Each scout will participate in a community project as well as doing recycling projects in their homes. Head Denner for the meeting was Jacob Geray, Treasurer Denner was T.J. Krebs, and Refreshment Denner was Ross Rippey. On Saturday, October 21 the scouts participated in the 38th

Jamboree-on-the-Air at Leonard Park in Gainesville. The scouts were able to talk to other scouts from other states and countries on citizen band radios. Head Denner for the meeting was Scott Neu and Refreshment Denner was Rameez Anwar. The scouts met on Wednesday, October 25 at the Zimmerer home. The boys all brought pumpkins and with the help of an adult, carved Halloween pumpkins. Head Denner was Caleb McLaughlin, Treasurer Denner was Danny Kendall, and Refreshment Denner was Jacob Fuhrmann. Other scouts in the group participating in the events are: Jeffrey Zimmerer, Pete Russell, and Mark Richeson.

Rebecca celebrates sixth birthday with a pizza party

Rebecca shared cupcakes with all her classmates on October 26. On October 29, Rebecca and three of her friends Cassie Hale, Dillena and Alison Teafatiller went to Chuck E Cheese for a party. Chuck E Cheese sang a special birthday song just for Rebecca. Presents were opened, pictures were taken and games were played.

Childhood Folklore

Children have always been able to create their own little worlds, with jokes, games and riddles being a part of growing up. Do you remember: One potato, two potato, meeny meeny, miny mo ... Red light, green light ... Star light, star bright?

These verses are all part of a folklore and played a vital part in our lives as it will for our children. The subject matter and wording may have changed, but the principals remain.

Cross my heart and hope to die. Stick a needle in my eye.

Still means truthfulness, though crossing your fingers behind your neck erased this oath.

Insulting jeers were, and still are, used and often vulgar, but they sometimes take the place of a fight.

They were meant to shame a child as:

I see London, I see France, I see Janie's underpants.
or ...
I like apples, I like pears, I like Janie's underwear.
Jeers were also included to tease other children as Cheater, cheater, pumpkin eater,
or ...
Fatty, fatty, two by four
Couldn't get through the bathroom door
So he did it on the floor!

Counterattacks were also used, such as Liar, liar, pants on fire; Twinkle, twinkle, little star, what you say is what you are or Sticks and stones may break my bones, but words will never harm me.

Of course, not all children's rhymes are hateful - there are more, but that's for later.

A Taste of Sacred Heart Fourth Grade

by Tanya Knaf
Sacred Heart fourth grade has had a busy and exciting school year so far. The last seven weeks of school have been packed full of activities the children have enjoyed. Their teacher, Mrs. Terry DeGarmo, has planned many "hands-on" activities for the children to aid them in their studies. One of the most recent activities included a study of corn in their social studies class. The children had the opportunity to not only read about corn and its history, but also to taste many different food products made of corn. Popcorn, hominy, corn chips, and tamales were some of the items tasted and evaluated by the class.

The Sacred Heart fourth grade hopes to have a taste in many different smaller areas. The class worked on making Christmas tree ornaments for the White House tree in Washington D.C. The ornaments were sent off in mid-October. Also, the Serra Club has offered a vocations awareness poster contest which each child will enter. The final taste that the Sacred Heart fourth grade hopes to soon receive is the taste of the life in the northern United States. "Pen-pal" letters have been written to a fourth grade class in Maine and also to a fourth grade class in Alaska. The letters have been mailed to the schools and the children are eagerly awaiting a reply.

A taste of tall tales has also been given to the children this year. Studies of American Tall Tales have been presented to the class in reading material. The fourth grade enjoyed watching a movie of the Tall Tales of Paul Bunyan, and also enjoyed showing off their artistic ability as each child drew a picture of a scene from one of Paul Bunyan's tales. Many familiar scenes were drawn.

Wow! It sounds like the fourth grade has been VERY busy! I am sure we will hear more of your many great projects and activities in the future! Good luck Sacred Heart fourth grade, and keep up the good work!

Also high on the miss list were the Mansfield, UNT, Illinois and Grapevine wins. Also Sacred Heart's 42-0 loss to Oakridge, in which 35 picked the Tigers to win.

Knights whip dogs 28-7

The Lindsay Knights added another "w" to the win column in their 9th consecutive season victory Friday night. They did lose their shutout streak, allowing Alvord to score in the 28-7 district contest.

The Knight defense took advantage of the Bulldogs, causing mistakes of two fumbles and 3 interceptions and holding them at the goal line.

"Our defense held them to 100 yards rushing and held down their passing game," commented Lindsay Coach Charlie Meurer. "The secondary played real well except on Alvord's touchdown run."

Alvord's offense took the field to begin action, gaining 18 yards before stalling at midfield and punting the ball away. Lindsay's offense got nowhere their first attempted drive, booting on 4th and 12. A 24 yard punt return put the Dogs at the Knight 17 yard line. Any threat of scoring ended the 1st play when Kenny Jones picked off a pass at the 5 yard line.

The Knight offense again struggled, punting the ball after reaching the 20 yard line.

Again on Alvord's first attempted offense, they turned the ball over with a fumble. Garret Hellinger covered the ball for the Knights on their 41 yard line. Short runs by Hellinger, Shawn Hanks and Jeff Hale were highlighted by Hellinger passes to Hale and Robert Sharp for 25 and 12 yard gains. From first and goal on the 3, two Jeff Hale runs put the Knights on the scoreboard. Aaron Krebs' extra point kick made it 7-0 with 42 seconds on the clock.

Alvord fought back, moving the ball 52 yards in 10 plays to the 2 yard line. An offside flag set the Dogs back 5 yards. Alvord then got in two 2 yard runs to the 3. On 3rd and goal T.J. Goldsmith and Garret Hellinger dropped the Dogs for a 3 yard loss. A 4th down pass in the end zone was broken up by Shawn Hanks and Zack Bowman and Lindsay's offense took to the field. Three runs gained only 7 yards and Lindsay punted. A 15 yard flag assisted Alvord to the Knight 28 yard line. Defensive action by Bowman, Hellinger, Chris Escobedo, Clint Gallagher, Krebs and Goldsmith held the Bulldogs at the 25. The Knights got onto Alvord's end of the field before the time ticked off the clock for the half time break.

The Knights began the 3rd quarter deep on their 17 yard line. Runs by Hale, Jones and Hellinger carried the ball to the Alvord 42 before Lindsay was forced to punt.

From their 5 yard line, the Knights, led by Gallagher, Hank Huchton, Isaac Zimmerer and Escobedo forced a punt. From the Dogs' 40, Hellinger connected a pass to Robert Sharp for a 10 yard gain. The next play, Shawn Hanks took off on a 30 yard romp for the Knights' 2nd touchdown of the game. Krebs booted the PAT for a 14-0 score with 5:37 remaining on the clock.

The Bulldogs took the kick to midfield and on the first play, a Preston Hartfield pass to Mark Chancellor turned into a 51 yard touchdown play. Hartfield added the PAT for a 14-7 game.

Lindsay fought back, putting together a 70 yard drive in 12 plays. A 30 yard run by Hale took the Knights into the Dog's end of the field. Short runs by Hanks, Hale, and Hellinger and a pass to Brian Covington set the Knights on the 5 yard line. Jeff Hale blasted in for another score with Krebs adding the PAT. Just seconds into the final quarter, Lindsay took a 21-7 lead.

The Alvord offense struggled the 4th quarter, gaining only 8 yards in their 4 short possessions. Their first attempted drive ended the first play when Shawn Hanks picked off a Bulldog pass.

Hale and Hellinger ran 8 plays for 47 yards before coming up one yard short.

Alvord's second drive was an incomplete pass and a fumble. Robert Sharp covered for Lindsay on the 28 yard line. Two plays later, Alvord got the ball back.

Goldsmith caught the quarterback for a 5 yard loss. An incomplete pass, then a 10 yard reception left the Dogs in a 4th and 3 predicament. The attempted run was stopped 2 yards short by Escobedo and Covington. Lindsay took over on their 38 yard line. On 4th down and two, Jeff Hale found an opening and took off for a 30 yard touchdown. Krebs added another PAT for a 28-7 score with 2:47 remaining in the game.

Alvord's 4th offensive possession ended with the first play when Robert Sharp picked off a Bulldog pass. Lindsay gained no yardage and punted to the Dogs who got in 4 plays before time ran out.

"Our field position was a real problem the first half," Meurer said. "Bad punts and penalties kept us on our end of the field."

Hunter orange bright idea for deer hunters

It's opening day and the sun is still a faint glow when the doe is spotted by the anxious hunter. He peers through his scope as she disappears into the brush 75 yards ahead, pausing only to look back over her shoulder as if being followed.

The hunter turns his head slowly to his left as he hears the movement of something easing through the brush. Surely it's the buck that the doe was looking back at. The hunter again raises his rifle and puts the crosshairs on an opening in the brush. The small opening offers his only shot, and it will have to be a quick one.

Slowly the gray form moves into the clearing, an indistinguishable hulk in the pre-dawn brush. The hunter's trigger finger inches backward, ever so slowly until... wait that's not a buck, it's a camo-clad hunter sneaking off the brush. He eases his finger off the trigger and his 270 back to his lap.

Hunting, by statistical measures, is a very safe sport. However, each year five to 10 Texans are seriously wounded or killed in a hunting accident.

Hunters being mistaken for game can be completely avoided with two basic rules of hunting safety. The first is to positively identify the intended target. Next, practice "defensive hunting." Wearing some item of blaze orange clothing makes hunters easily identifiable to others.
