

In one of his syndicated daily cartoons Webster hits on an idea that ought to be rubbed under the nose of every broadcasting executive in the country. His scene shows a farmer and wife listening to a radio program made up of the usual script writer's conception of rural lingo. Expressing his disgust the farmer says "That ver-nacular nauseates me. Probably got it out of a joke book or David Harum." His wife calls it "unintelligible jargon."

Probably the artist only meant to offer a variation of that old one about the explorer who attempted to speak to a native in the most primitive grunts and baby talk only to be told in perfect English that he ought to learn more about his own language. But this cartoon does a lot more. It expresses the colossal rudeness and ignorance of those who persist in labeling our rural people as ignoramuses.

Having spent more than a little time with farmers, this scribe for one is in a position to know that generally they are no less versatile than their city friends in the use of the queen's English. They don't deserve the insult implied by the mutilated expressions attributed to them by over imaginative script writers.

Wise radio people would do well to notice Webster's cartoon and act accordingly. Better still, they ought to have it enlarged and displayed prominently in every studio as a constant reminder to all who participate in programs.

What to do about the Sudeten land in readjusting European affairs will not be much of a problem according to a report from that corner of the former Hitler domain. It seems that the Germans who muscled in on the Czechs evacuated in panic when they got word of the Russian advance. Entire villages moved out lock, stock and barrel rather than stay and face the terrible Reds. Which makes it simple for the Czechs. All they have to do is move back and occupy their former holdings. And the peace conference can move the boundary back to its former line without worry of racial complications.

There's a bit of poetic justice in this mass exodus. Like the original grab, it can be traced to Nazi propaganda. Back in the thirties Hitler insisted that the territory should be under German rule because it was inhabited by a large percentage of Germans - many of whom moved in specifically to comply with Hitler's scheme.

As the war approached its end the Germans swallowed another variety of Nazi propaganda. They believed Berlin stories about the ferocity of the Reds. But they did not react the way Berlin planned. Instead of making a suicidal last stand and purchase with their blood a few more weeks of freedom for the Hitler crowd, the Sudeten Germans fled in panic from their ill gotten gains.

A similar reaction was noted in the soldiers of the Reich's eastern front. Instead of making a fanatical stand they gave up completely and rushed to the safety of British and American lines.

When propaganda becomes too good it can bring humiliating results.

Other prominent men advocating compulsory military training for peace time are General Eisenhower and Secretary of War Stimson. Their reason is that a more thorough knowledge of warfare will reduce casualties.

Certainly no one would question the judgment of these two men in matters of warfare. The regrettable thing is that men of their vision should see the possibility of another war so dangerously imminent. We wonder whether they would be entertaining similar convictions if the leaders of world powers were making a little more effort to get along in a spirit of harmony and fairness.

No one can deny that our security is our first concern. To assure it by force is only the second best way but it is the way we'll have to accept if other countries will not join us in adopting the other way.

There's good news from Germany as regards disposition of left over Nazi arms and ammunitions. As much as possible will be shipped to the Pacific for use against the Nips. That includes especially small arms, bombs, and perhaps some light artillery. Much of the stuff is to be transported on German ships.

It is estimated that millions of tons are on hand, much of it useless in the Pacific war. But there's still a sizeable quantity to relieve the production strain over here. This may mean that some of our factories can soon get back to the manufacture of peace time goods. Also that millions, perhaps billions, can be cut from our war expense.

One problem related to the subject is what to do about the heavy

THOMAS HOFFMAN HAS EXCITING TRIP ABOARD 'VERA L'

A 7TH AAF HEAVY BOMBER BASE, GUAM - Fire from automatic weapons and small arms augmented Marcus Island's heavy batteries as Sgt. Thomas J. Hoffman, of Muenster, and the crew of the 7th AAF Liberator bomber, "Vera L," started a run on the tiny Jap base.

"Just after bombs away, we caught two direct automatic weapons hits," said Sgt. Hoffman ball turret gunner. "A 20 millimeter and a 25 millimeter smashed into the fuselage.

"Both shells entered the airplane just behind my turret. Exploding they showered both waist gunners with fragments, but neither was injured."

The string of bombs from "Vera L," walked across the center of the island, but the crew was having difficulty with their damaged airplane.

Canning Sugar Is Put On Monthly Issuance Basis

Cooke County Has 11,000 Pounds For Remainder Of June

Sugar for canning purposes has been put on a monthly quota basis for each county, and issuance was resumed Monday at the Cooke County war price and rationing board office in Gainesville.

The quotas were arrived at on the basis of the number of persons in each county who have not been issued home canning sugar, and the remainder of June is 11,000 pounds. The district office has advised the county board that not more than five pounds of sugar per person must be maintained if all the remaining persons in the county receive any sugar at all.

There will be a one-week moratorium during the first week of July when no home canning sugar will be issued throughout the district, to enable rationing officials to establish the July quota.

There will be no deviation from these instructions; the district office informed. Counties which exceed quotas assigned them will have the excess deducted from subsequent quotas.

Large Group Pays Final Tribute To Alma Marie Luke

Funeral Services Are Held At Sacred Heart Church Thursday Morning

A splendid tribute to the popularity of Miss Alma Marie Luke and her family was the crowd that packed Sacred Heart church for funeral services last Thursday morning. Muenster citizens, joined by large numbers from Lindsay and Gainesville, contributed toward one of the largest funeral attendances in the history of this community.

Rev. Thomas Buegler, pastor, was celebrant of the requiem high mass that preceded burial in the local cemetery. Serving as acolytes were four cousins of the deceased - Paul and Michael Luke, and Bernard and Danny Luke, and Joe Weinzappel.

In the funeral address Father Thomas chose as his topic "We know not the hour when the Death Angel comes." His consoling words reminded that while the mortal remains were returning to the earth, the soul of this young girl was going to an eternity of happiness. He cited the tender years of the deceased as a warning that the grim reaper has no regard for age and appealed that all order their lives in such a way as to be ready for death at any time.

Serving as pallbearers were six cousins: Arthur, Paul and Urban Endres, S. Sgt. Wilmer Luke and John and Eugene Michels. Classmates of the graduating class of 1944, Sacred Heart High school were honorary pallbearers, and thirty little girls carried floral tributes. Mrs. Nick Miller was in charge of burial arrangements.

Only 19 years old, Alma Marie was killed instantly in an automobile crash on U.S. Highway 75, about three miles south of Denison at midnight on Sunday, June 10, in which another occupant of the car, Miss Dolores Pulte, 18, of Gainesville, was also fatally injured, and four other young people received serious injuries.

Alma Marie was born in Muenster on Feb. 2, 1926. She attended Sacred Heart school and was an honor graduate of the high school class of 1944. Awarded a scholarship, she attended college during the past term at Mount St. Scholastica, Atchison, Kansas, and had returned only shortly for the summer vacation.

She was an active member of the Young Ladies Sodality of the parish and a member of the Youth Band.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Luke and a brother, Lt. Norman J. Luke, a naval aviator on duty in the Pacific war zone, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. August Friske of Muenster.

Among out of town relatives at the funeral services were Henry Michels, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Michels and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Michels, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Juneman, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hertel, Mrs. L.J. Kuhler, all of Munday; Mrs. Mike Koelzer and Mrs. Emil Herr, Hereford; Carl Luke, Dawn; Miss Eugenia Luke, Port Worth; Mrs. Arnold Friske, Gainesville; and Miss Elfreda Luke, San Antonio. Also in attendance was Miss Rose Mary Claus of Munday, a classmate of the deceased at the Mount during the past term, and Miss Marcella Schmitz and Mrs. Grant Cox of Dallas.

SUNDAY WAS COLDEST JUNE DAY EVER TO BE RECORDED HERE

Rain drenched Muenster shivered Sunday morning in June weather as cold as ever recorded for this summer month in more than 25 years, while some old-timers contend it was the coldest in the history of the community.

Temperatures hovered in the upper 60's during the early morning hours and at 6:30 a.m. a heavy rain began falling. It came without warning, having been preceded by only two or three claps of thunder. By 8:30 one and a half inches had fallen. Light showers fell until about two o'clock, and the sun came out from behind the clouds only briefly before time for it to set again.

Many local persons dug out jackets and blankets that had been put away in moth balls for the summer, and in dozens of homes fires for warmth were used Sunday morning.

Monday came up warm and sultry and this continued to usher in the first day of summer on Thursday as the Real McCoy. Sunday's rainfall brought the total for the month to five and one half inches for this sector.

Miss Grace Rice of Wharton, Ill., arrived by plane in Dallas last week for a few days visit with friends and is now the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Cooke and other relatives here. She is a graduate of Wharton College with the class of '45.

RELATIVE OF LOCAL PEOPLE IS CASUALTY IN PHILIPPINES

Pvt. Robert Huchtons, Army, who had been missing since the fall of Corregidor, died in July of 1942, relatives here learned during the week. He was the son of Ben Huchtons of Hobbs, N.M., and has a brother, Sgt. Bernard Huchtons stationed at Camp Howze, as well as a number of cousins in this city.

Details surrounding his death were not given by the War Department in the message to the boy's father, but it was the first word about him received since September, 1941. At that time he was on duty in Manila.

HAVE GOOD HOME

He wrote that he would like to extend his thanks to all the people of Muenster and surrounding territory for the patronage they gave him during the 40 years he was in business here, that he enjoyed business dealings with them, and their friendship, and he is sincerely grateful for every favor and courtesy. He mentioned the reason he had

1 Block North of State

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C. June 15 - New York Congressman Vito Marcantonio, generally regarded as a Communist, was the author of the so-called anti-poll tax bill passed by the House of Representatives this week. The last time this bill was passed by the House its sponsor was a prominent member of the old Tammany Hall gang in New York City. Both state and federal constitutions make the matter of voting qualifications a problem for state determination. If Texas wants to abolish her poll tax that's all right. However, the federal government has no right to force Texas to abolish its poll tax or to otherwise interfere with state control of elections. The Vito Marcantonio-sponsored anti-poll tax bill is a vicious attempt at meddling with state's rights.

From letters being received, it appears that many folks in the Southwest think we have won our final and complete victory in our fight for equal freight rates. A recent Interstate Commerce Commission decision held there was discriminatory and unequal freight rates. However, their decision simply ordered a lowering of class rates in the southwest by 10 per cent, and the raising of class rates in the Northeast or official zone by 10 per cent. This did not remove all of the discrimination in class rates. Furthermore, it did not touch so-called commodity rates, on which 90 per cent of our traffic moves. Again, there are numerous ways in which the powerful and intricate railroad system can evade and resist the removal of inequalities. Also, the financial and industrial interest of the Northeast have big stakes in the discriminations practiced against the South, and will not easily give up their advantage.

One of the arguments now going on in Congress is over a proposal to cut in half a 35 million dollar appropriation for the Office of War Information (the OWI). I was one of the few Texans voting for this cut, and personally felt that the OWI has not done a good job, and that other existing agencies could carry on its work more effectively without addition expense.

Your BABY

By Lillian B. Storms

To any mother with a baby, National Baby Week is one of, if not the most important of, the "weeks" which we celebrate in this country. National Baby Week helps to focus attention on our babies, how very important they are to our happiness and the future of our country and also helps to call attention to the best ways of caring for and feeding these precious bundles — so dependent on us for their well being.

This might be an opportune time to review the principal changes in infant feeding practices which have been made in the last twenty years. Cod liver was started at two months of age; now it is begun in the first month. It was given only during winter when there is little sunshine. Now it is recommended all the year round. Not nearly as many babies received it then as now. Rickets was common, especially in cities; now it is a rare disease.

Babies on breast milk or raw milk were not given orange juice until the seventh or eighth month; now all babies are started any time after the second or third week. As a result there is now only an occasional case of scurvy. Safe milk—pasteurized, certified, evaporated or dried, has largely eliminated "summer complaint."

Twenty years ago beef juice was thought to have high values in the prevention of anemia and was begun at nine or ten months of age. Now special baby cereals fortified with iron are started around three months and we do not have the cases of anemia at five and six months which were common.

At nine or ten months, the following foods could be added: half of an egg, toast or crackers, well-cooked and strained cereals and strained vegetables. Nowadays all of these foods are in baby's menu before he is six months old, just because babies were found to do better as solid foods were introduced earlier and earlier.

killed on the coast of Florida. A man's arm was taken from the shark's stomach. Through fingerprints the FBI was able definitely to identify the man as a missing merchant seaman. This enables his family to collect his insurance and to settle his estate.

Representative Andrew Jackson May, Chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs, has represented the 7th district of Kentucky for 14 years in the House of Representatives. He will be 70 years old this Sunday. Although coming from a state noted for whiskey and tobacco he has never smoked or chewed tobacco and has never tasted intoxicating liquor.

Since the sugar shortage has grown more critical a number of people have written to complain that sugar is being wasted in the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. We protested to the OPA and the WPB about this, and both agencies have answered assuring us that sugar is not used in the commercial manufacture of intoxicating beverages.

One of several reasons for the sugar shortage is an allotment of 20 per cent of our sugar supply to the making of synthetic tires. The sugar is converted to alcohol which goes into the synthetic rubber.

The log cabin tradition is still strong in America. Mary Myrtle Moulton, above 60 years of age, received an M.A. degree. Her eight brothers are all outstanding leaders in American education and industry four of them being doctors of philosophy. This family was reared in a one-room log cabin. The farms and small villages of America still produce by far the

SUMMER MONTHS AHEAD MEAN....

...MORE WORK FOR YOUR REFRIGERATOR!

The Summer Season means overtime for your electric refrigerator... and heat can mean trouble for a refrigerator unless it is properly cared for.

A regular system of correct care and use will prove invaluable in prolonging the usefulness of your refrigerator and will assure you greater efficiency of operation.

Because of the part they play in protecting the nation's food and health, America's electric refrigerators are making a major contribution to the War Effort.

Check the suggestions listed below... you will find them helpful in keeping your refrigerator in trim for rendering valuable wartime service.

1. Defrost Regularly... Follow manufacturer's directions. Defrost when ice on freezer reaches approximate pencil thickness. Let frost melt... never use a sharp tool. Empty drip water immediately.

2. Store Foods Properly... Meats and fish below in the cold storage compartment; milk and cream at top; butter, leftovers in the middle; vegetables and fruits in the crisper. Proper circulation of air helps, too... so don't overcrowd!

3. Keep the Inside Fresh, Clean... Wash with baking soda and water. Don't forget the freezer. Use soap and water for the shelves... and don't open the door too often — this overworks your refrigerator... especially in hot weather.

Tools Already on Farms Valuable in Contouring

CHICAGO, ILL.—End of the war will find farmers with another kind of savings besides cash, which will prove helpful in the nation's long-time program of community and prosperity building. This is the "farm bank" of soil saving; the "compound interest" accumulated over several decades of soil and water conservation to save the rich top soil from washing and blowing away. So declared George L. Gillette, President of the Farm Equipment Institute here today.

"While soil building through contour farming, terracing and crop rotations in the United States goes back to Thomas Jefferson's work in Virginia well over a century ago," said Gillette, "comparatively little was done in an organized manner until the United States Department of Agriculture in the Twenties set up erosion-control experiment stations and instituted an intensive study of soil erosion." From the very beginning of the conservation program, the farm equipment industry has cooperated with the United States Government helping the farmer solve his land problems, Gillette points out. Through personal effort, through advertisements, these companies and their representatives have made helpful suggestions to the farmer on how to improve soil fertility, increase water-holding capacity and prevent the loss of soils by erosion. Implement dealers also played a very substantial part in this program, explaining to the farmers how they might make terraces, build dams and do contour farming with the equipment already on their farms. The above picture is an example of contour farming.

"This backlog of knowledge gained by the American farmers in soil conservation over the past years has paid big dividends in World War II, and now with the ending of the European War," says Gillette, "the farmer is ready as never before to help build a prosperous community through his increased activity and accelerated interest in soil conservation."

New Regulation On Newspapers Sent To Seamen, Marines

Effective July 1, new regulations covering the mailing of newspapers to personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard will be effective by order of the Post Office Department. After that date, no new or renewal subscriptions may be accepted by any newspaper for a service man having a fleet post office number unless the newspaper has a request from such man in writing.

Therefore, persons who are now responsible for sending The Enterprise to such service men should renew these subscriptions before July 1. Otherwise, The Enterprise will not be permitted to accept such renewals unless a request for same from the service man is presented for The Enterprise files.

The Post Office Department order, dated May 1, is as follows: Order of the Postmaster General.

Newspaper and periodical publication for personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard overseas.

Order No. 27851; dated May 1, 1945.

At the request of the Navy Department, effective July 1, 1945, in order to conserve shipping space and to prevent nonessential mailings, the following arrangements between that Department and the Post Office Department shall govern the acceptance in the mails of newspapers and other periodical publications addressed to personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard overseas.

1. Individual copies of newspapers and magazines offered for mailing by publishers, addressed via the fleet post office at New York, N.Y., or San Francisco, Calif., to Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard personnel on duty overseas, shall be accepted only when they are being sent in fulfillment of written requests initiated by the addressees for subscriptions.

2. Postmasters at the offices of mailing shall require publishers to present for their examination the requests from the addressees for subscriptions or renewals of subscriptions.

3. Relatives and friends may pay for the subscriptions or renewals of subscriptions provided the addressees have initiated requests therefor.

4. Complimentary copies sent by publishers, copies paid for by ad-order shall be accepted until the subscriptions expire.

Our Meaning Of Liberty

Woodrow Wilson described it well: "I have always in my own thought summed up individual liberty, business liberty, and every other kind of liberty, in the phrase that is common in the sporting world — 'A free field and no favors'."

This is the real American meaning of liberty, and for which we wage this war. There is no surer way to shackle our liberties than to restrict the free field of opportunity for the humblest citizen, or to subsidize him with favors out of the public purse.

Our Bank strives to open free fields of opportunity for our people, and to develop in our community a spirit of individual enterprise and initiative. If you need bank credit come to see us.

New War Year Harvest Gets Underway

With the harvest season already getting underway in some sections of the country farmers are more anxious this war year than ever before because of the shortage of manpower. The above is a glimpse into the postwar harvesting scene when the self-propelled harvester will be in general use. The self-propelled feature on this machine designed by the Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company, makes possible the harvest of all crops at lower cost. Unusual engineering development makes the feature adaptable in harvesting all types of grain including rice. It is unfortunate that more of these MM harvesters could not be made for the 1945 harvest.

Method For Controlling Silverfish

During the summer months housewives are bothered with many household pests. Silverfish are one of the insects we are beginning to see at the present time. Injury by silverfish has increased greatly during the last ten years. Miss Mildred Chapman county home demonstration agent, suggests that we do all we can to exterminate these pests.

As a method of control Miss Chapman recommends the following poison bait:

Oatmeal (ground to flour), 100 parts by weight or about 1 3/4 cups. White arsenic, 8 parts by weight or about 1/4 teaspoonful. Granulated sugar, 5 parts by weight or about 1/2 teaspoonful. Salt, 2 1/2 parts by weight or about 1/2 teaspoonful.

Mix together dry, the oatmeal, white arsenic, sugar, and salt. Moisten the mass and mix thoroughly to bind the substances together. Then thoroughly dry the bait to prevent mold, and grind it into small bits so that it can be scattered easily.

Sodium fluoride powder can be substituted for the white arsenic in the above formula. If the substitution is made, simply mix the materials thoroughly, but do not add moisture.

The above amount of bait is enough to treat several houses. Place about a teaspoonful of the bait in each of several, or many, shallow cardboard boxes, such as necktie boxes; distribute the boxes near or in the haunts of the silverfish, and cover each box loosely with a crumpled sheet of paper.

Pyrethrum powder dusted or blown into places frequented by silverfish is also useful. For quickly killing the hordes of silverfish found overrunning basements and storage rooms, spray with a saturated solution of paradichlorobenzene in carbon tetrachloride. As the liquid evaporates the paradichlorobenzene recrystallizes as a fine snow over the objects sprayed, but will, in turn, evaporate, causing no injury. The best results are secured by keeping the rooms closed for 24 hours after spraying.

Your Health

Austin, Texas.—This is the season when dysentery, diarrhea and "summer complaint" are most prevalent throughout the state, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a warning to parents of young children regarding the prevention of these diseases.

"The chief cause of these intestinal diseases are impure milk, water and food; allowing a child to become overheated; using too much sugar and cream in the diet, and under- or over-feeding", Dr. Cox said. "For the young infant, mother's milk is usually the safest food; however, if other milk must be used, the supply should be clean and pure. Water should be free of impurities, and is safest when boiled and cooled before drinking. All foods should be fresh and clean, and leftovers should be properly refrigerated to prevent spoilage."

Dr. Cox said definitely that when a feeding formula for infants is used, it should be prescribed by a physician and then prepared with extreme care, especially in regard to cleanliness and refrigeration. Babies should be fed at regular intervals and on a definite schedule. Their stomach and bowels can become easily upset if they are fed haphazardly whenever they happen to be fretful or restless.

"If diarrhea develops, consult a physician at once", Dr. Cox advised. "This so-called 'summer complaint' can become a very serious menace to your baby's health, if not an actual threat to his life." The State Health Officer declared that with dysentery, as with many other disease, the fly is an agent of transmission, and every home should be well screened and free of flies.

PFC. GERALD METZLER TELLS OF ACTIVITY ON LUZON ISLAND

Pfc. Gerald Metzler, writing from Luzon on May 26, tells of some of his experiences in the Philippines. He has the following to say:

Now that the Japs have been thinned out, in fact are almost impossible to find, in this sector, I have time to write.

Perhaps it would be of interest to hear some of my experiences and what my impressions of combat are. Personally, I think my overseas life has been interesting and exciting. The most vivid impressions I have are from sights I have seen that testify to the extreme cruelty of the Japanese. Soldiers aren't the only ones who have died during the Philippine campaign. Thousands of women, children and old men have been deliberately murdered when the Japs realized they were fighting a losing battle.

The manner in which they fight really can't be explained and must be experienced to be understood. A soldier's first day in combat here teaches him more than all previous training he has received. Most of us have seen only one kind of combat and that is offensive combat with the Japs on the run and only stopping to fight when they have time to set up a defensive position. In that sort of fighting there is only one type of ending — to the last man. That is because the Nip will fight or hide until he is killed. Some prefer to fight it out in caves and will permit themselves to be buried alive, rather than surrender. As for the towns and villages,

I have yet to see one that has escaped destruction. During the battles in their vicinity the people pack everything they can carry and flee to the mountains to be in the safety they might find there.

In spite of the destruction and the atrocities of the Japs, you find the Filipino people in good spirits and with great confidence that their country will someday become a prosperous and self-sustaining nation.

A scarcity of clothing and shoes prevails everywhere. In many cases burlap bags serve as the only clothing. Men and women alike are very fond of smoking, especially American brands of cigarettes, and it isn't at all unusual to see children of six or seven, years and aged women of sixty or more, smoking.

One naturally considers the customs and ideas of the Filipinos queer. One of the funniest ideas they have is in regard to how Texans live. They always ask if all the men rack guns and if the girls all wear riding pants.

I haven't as yet received a copy of the Enterprise, but feel quite confident that I will soon, as I have been assigned to a division and have a permanent APO number. I was recently placed in the First Cavalry division and am proud to be a member of this group. It is known as one of the most outstanding divisions in the Pacific and has the honor of being the first to reach here and play a powerful hand in the liberation of the "Heart of the Orient."

My good pal and cousin, Harold Schmitz, is still with me. We are together in the same troop and are bunk partners when not participating in battle. For myself, in spite of spending over one half of my overseas life in foxholes, I'm still in good health, and want to take this opportunity to extend my best regards to all.

Gerald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Metzler of Lindsay and has been in the service a year. He trained at Fort Riley, Kansas, and went overseas in January this year.

Big Noise A'Coming!

He's been "shooting off his mouth" for years on the National Barn Dance broadcasts, but for the Fourth of July Humorist Pat Buttram suits action to his words with a giant freeracker. Lulu Belle, singing sweetheart of the ol' hay-loft, lends a light to Pat's fireworks.

projectiles which would require guns too cumbersome for use in the Orient. Wonder whether anybody has thought of simply dropping those things helter skelter on the Japs? After all, a shell of several hundred pounds has about as much punch as a small bomb.

And we'd recommend giving the Luger pistols to Yanks as souvenirs. Everybody seems to want one, some to have it as a keepsake others to use it in combat. There are stories of a few fellows who threw their own pistols away when they had the chance to take a Luger away from a German.

This is a country of paradoxes, so it is not surprising that we now have lots of people worrying about how they will manage to get sufficient food for the stricken countries of Europe while nobody seems to give a hang about all the food going to waste over here for lack of sufficient harvesting help.

The report is out that Kansas is desperately asking for 20,000 extra men to help get in the wheat crop. Other states need help too. And more men are needed all over the country to help with other crops. At the same time the OPA complicates the problem by refusing to grant extra points for feeding harvest hands when anybody knows it takes the traditional thrasher meals to get the traditional amount of threshing done.

To our simple way of thinking the first step in providing for the tables of Europe is to gather the food here. But the Washington minds move in mysterious ways their wonders to achieve.
