Citizen input on wild animal regulations sought by Janet Felderhoff Currently the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) regulates the possession of various dangerous wild animals. This will continue until September 1, 1997 when Texas Parks and Wildlife will end its regulation of these animals.

Wild animals referred to include lions, tigers, ocelots cougars, leopards, cheetahs jaguars, hyenas, bears, lesser pandas, binturongs, wolves apes, elephants, and rhinoceroses. Other business conducted included: Re-appointment of R. D. Cawyer to Board of Trustees of MHRM Services of Texoma.

From My Side of the Fence by Ed Cler

by Ed Cler Folks, there is a new book in the Muenster Library entitled, 'The Great Drive of '95'. It was compiled and edited by Dorothy M. Ley of Miles City, Montana, who gathered its contents bit by bit, some straight from the mouths of the drovers who participated in the drive...

Though these modern day cowmen didn't face the dangers of their predecessors of a hundred years ago, the 1500 mile trek was in some ways even more difficult because of fences, cities, and passing motorists tooting horns, and things strange to the cattle and horses. Such things as emus and ostriches running along the inside of roadway fences sometimes spooked the livestock.

At the regular meeting of Commissioners Court on July 8 Commissioners discussed the change and took no action. They ask that interested persons make suggestions as to what type regulation might be needed, if any.

Muenster Telephone buys Wilde Chevrolet building

by Daryl Ferber

One empty building on East Division Street (Hwy. 82) is getting a new lease on life. Muenster Telephone Corporation has purchased the old Wilde Chevrolet building for additional warehouse space. It will be designated as "The East Truck Center." The telephone trucks and crew will be working out of this center. The North Texas Communications activities will remain in the present truck center on Walnut Street.

Employees have been busy cleaning, fixing and remodeling. The two old sheds on the north side of the building have been replaced by Structures, Inc. New overhead roll-up doors have been installed and all of the other metal doors are being replaced. A chain link fence will surround the lot. A new Fascia will be installed on the front of the building. The former showroom and offices will be an employee conference area and offices. The front of the showroom will display the company's restored antique 1950 Ford truck used in construction in the early days of the company.

Historically, the land was purchased from George Gehrig in 1960. The Chevrolet dealership in Muenster, was under three generations, Joe B. Wilde, Ray Wilde and Gregg Wilde until 1986. When Ray took over the business from his father, he wanted a new building. Evidently, 1960 was a slow year for construction because they received 65 bids for the job. The contract was awarded to Robert S. Watson Construction Co.

When construction started, some piers were very deep and others were shallow. Fill dirt had to be brought in to make the front level with the back part of the lot. Bayer Brothers (Robert and Arthur) were using a Ford truck to haul the fill dirt. Ray did not like seeing a Ford truck on his grounds so he exchanged their services for a new Chevrolet truck. The cement work was larger than the Bayer Brothers could handle with their employees, so they hired an out-of-town contractor. Seems the new contractor's help would party too much at night and could not do the work. The Bayer Brothers then hired extra help and did the work themselves.

The Chevrolet building was sold in January 1992 to Chuck's Trucks. This business closed in June, 1995. Now, the building will be thriving again and will be a good addition to Muenster.

Pat and Alice Hennigan celebrate golden anniversary June 30

by Elfreda Fette

Celebrating 50 years of marriage, a life of service to their Church, their family and their community, Pat and Alice Hennigan observed their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 30, 1996. The occasion was hosted by their six children and 14 grandchildren, which include son Pat Hennigan, Jr. of Lewisville, his daughter Melissa and her husband Ernest Kennan, and Stacy and Cory; daughter Sheila and her husband Jean Gebman and their children Ryan, Michael and Heather of Santa Monica, California; Michael and Janie Hennigan and their daughters Michelle of Denton, Mindy, Megan and Meredith; Tim Hennigan of Gainesville; Tom and Lora Hennigan and their sons Darren, Ryan, and Garret; Joe and Kim Hennigan and Paige, all of Muenster.

The anniversary day began with a Mass of Thanksgiving at high noon in Sacred Heart Church, celebrated by Father Frown Schoech, OSB.

Pat Hennigan, Jr. was organist and Heather Gebman played the flute. Christy Hesse led sacred songs.

Mass servers were Darren Hennigan, Michael Gebman and Daniel Bartush. Offertory gifts were presented at the altar by Ryan Gebman, Mindy Hennigan and Cory Hennigan. Ushers were nephews Billy Rohmer, Terry Rohmer, Craig Stoffels and Randy Hess.

Immediately following Mass, dinner was served in the Sacred Heart Community Center to more than 200 guests. Tom Hennigan delighted them with a family history and stories of family happenings.

Open House was held from 3 p.m. until 6 p.m. Guests entered through a foyer transformed into a garden scene with greenery, fresh flowers in abundance, and a path leading into the even more elegantly decorated reception hall, where ivory and gold were emphasized. Fresh Rubrum lilies, spider mums, carnations and gold daisies, and lighted votive candles were on all tables, enhanced with ivory and gold ribbon.

In the middle of the room, a large table covered with ivory lace over gold lame, centered with a tall arrangement of flowers and candles, held an elegant and bountiful buffet of pick up foods and hors d'oeuvres.

The three tiered ivory anniversary cake by Betty Rose was decorated with touches of gold and a "50" ornament. It was served with gold punch.

Lora Hennigan, a daughter-in-law designed the garden scene at the entry, and all flower arrangements. Decorations were by Carol Henschel and Betty Rose Walterscheid. Food was catered by Rohmer's Restaurant. Music by the Kelly Durbin Band of Denton entertained throughout. Guests enjoyed visiting, reminiscing and viewing old pictures. Megan Hennigan, granddaughter modeled Alice's original wedding gown and veil.

For the anniversary celebration, Alice wore a lovely pale mauve suit and a corsage of Bridal White roses.

The wedding date of June 11 was celebrated on June 30 to avoid conflict with other schedules.

Reviewed during the family history at dinner and in conversations during the afternoon was the wedding day when Alice Sandmann, daughter of William and Anna Sandmann was married to Pat Hennigan, son of Henry and Elise (Seyler) Hennigan in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay. It was at 8:30 on a Tuesday morning, as was the custom in those days. The late Fr. Conrad Herda OSB was celebrant of the Nuptial High Mass.

Attendants were Rose Hennigan Johnston, Alma Sandman Stoffels, Raymond Sandman and Martin Klement.

The bride wore a beautiful wedding gown of white slipper satin and marquisette designed with a deep sweetheart neckline, long, fitted sleeves coming to points over her hands, a scalloped, fitted Basque bodice of satin and a full marquisette skirt that drifted into a wide circular train. The bridal veil was fingertip length, caught to a sweetheart coronet ornamented with orange blossoms. She carried gardenias and baby's breath on a white prayer book, and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids wore dresses of confectioner's pink and aqua, respectively.

After Mass a breakfast was served in the Henry Hennigan home in Muenster - then the wedding party drove to Gainesville for the customary wedding photographs by a professional photographer.

A lawn party dinner reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Lindsay and an evening dance followed in the Lindsay Gun Club Hall.

Upon returning from their wedding trip to Denver and Colorado Springs, the newlyweds moved into their new home on Pecan Street in Muenster. Since obtaining lumber immediately after W.W.II was almost impossible, the house was built with lumber salvaged from two houses on his dad's farm. The Hennigans enjoyed re-telling the story that they bought window screens in Colorado on their honeymoon, since none were available here. In 1962 they built their present home on North Maple Street.

Pat Hennigan has been actively following his father Henry and his Grandfather Frank Seyler in the Automobile Repair business. In 1960 Pat and Alice entered a new phase by opening Hennigan Auto Parts Company, now operated by their sons Mike, Tim, Tom and Pat, Jr. In semi-retirement, Pat and Alice have traveled extensively. They enjoy reading, and caring for their yard and many house plants.

They are members of Sacred Heart Church.

Pat has served as head of several organizations that have been beneficial to the City of Muenster. He was elected the first Post Commander of VFW Post #6205. He served two terms as Commander of District I, Veterans of Foreign Wars. In Muenster he served two terms as Fire Chief of the Volunteer Fire Department; three terms as Grand Knight of Muenster Council No. 1459, Knights of Columbus. In the 1950s and early 1960s he served on the Sacred Heart Church Committee.

He served in the U.S. Navy during W.W.II, with 40 months in the Seabees, 30 of these overseas, served in the Aleutian Islands, Hawaii, Saipan, and invasion of Okinawa.

Preceding the Sunday celebration, a "Warm-Up Party" was held Saturday evening for out-of-town guests, at the home of Mike and Janie Hennigan. Co-hosting were Patrick, Jr., Jean and Sheila Gebman, Timothy, Tom and Lora Hennigan, Joe and Kim Hennigan and Mike and Janie Hennigan.

Out of town guests included Rose and Andrew Johnston of Danville, California; Mary and Marvin McCoolpin of Greenwood, Indiana; Therese and Wm. Neil of Grass Valley, California; Frank and Rose Marie Hennigan; Brian and Penny Baca and children Patrick and Brianne; Kare and Gert Neilson and Bethar all of Albuquerque, New Mexico; Michelle and Wm Poznick, Aunt Rachel Hope and grandson Steve Hope all of Houston.

Also Henry and Edit Hennigan of Bartlesville Oklahoma; Aunt Mar Mosman and her daughter Becky Edwards of Columb Tennessee; Aunt Odel Lutkenhaus of Saint J Marcella Hess, Ray and Rosal Sandman, Edward and Alice Sandman, Paul and Maxir Sandman all of Lindsay.

A farewell dinner party was held Monday evening in the home of Joe and Kim Hennigan for the visiting brother and sisters of Pat Hennigan, Sr.

Unable to attend the celebrations were his sister Alma Hennigan and Marti Montoya; and illness in the Rita and Ed Baca family caused a last-minute cancellation; however, the Baca families were represented at the reunion.

Gray glean ideas at Mesa, Arizona retreat

Eric Gray, the youth minister of Sacred Heart Church, attended the Life Teen retreat and Renewal conference from June 29 to July 3. Located in Mesa, Arizona, a suburb of Phoenix, the conference was held to refresh the ability of youth ministers around the country to have better Life Teen (high school) youth ministry in their parishes.

At the conference, Sunday's Mass and Life Night at the home base Life Teen, St. Timothy's Catholic Church, Monday was a treat for those who usually give the retreats, and closing with a huge dinner and live dancing at Plum Creek Ranch in Mesa. Tuesday saw information on better Life Teen Nights, by national Life Teen director, Phil Baniewicz, and some talks on sexuality from the founder of Original Innocence, Mary Beth Bonacci. Wednesday closed the conference with a brainstorming session from all present on what is needed in the future and how to exchange ideas nationally with the National Life Teen Program.

The conference was a huge success, as it did renew the minds, hearts, imaginations, and enthusiasm of all present, especially Graydog.

Health Notes

Rising temperatures pose dangers for elderly

Senior citizens may need to alter some longtime habits to protect against the special threats they face from overexposure to heat. They could actually be putting their health in danger, for example, by spending sunny summer afternoons in the garden.

Heat stroke or heat exhaustion may sneak up on older people before they realize they are in danger. The consequences can be severe.

Morning and early evening are the best for outdoor activities. Seniors should wear hats and cool clothing, and they should drink plenty of non-alcoholic beverages. If seniors are living in homes without air conditioning and they are nervous about keeping windows open, friends and family should help position fans to cool the air indoors.

Nocona child benefits from Rehab Center

The story of little Morgan Woolfolk can add an ounce of magic and sliver of hope to the hearts of those who knew the severity of her medical situation just one year ago.

Born on July 11, 1995, at Cooks-Fort Worth Children's Hospital in Fort Worth, Texas, Morgan appeared to be a perfectly healthy infant. When she stopped breathing five weeks later, she was rushed back to the hospital. It was then that doctors confirmed a diagnosis; Morgan had a congenital heart defect and there was little hope for her survival. Michelle was also told by doctors that her child would live only in a vegetative state.

"We basically were sent home from the hospital to watch Morgan die," said Michelle. "That's when we heard about a doctor in San Francisco, California, who might be able to fix Morgan's heart."

In October 1995, the California heart specialist did successfully complete two delicate surgeries on the infant's heart. Within just two months, Morgan and her family were back in Nocona, and on the road to recovery. That's when the North Texas Rehabilitation Center was able to start therapy - giving new hope to her family and her community.

Last December, the Rehab Center's Infant/Child Development Program therapists began traveling to Morgan and Michelle's home in Nocona to work on Morgan's motor and speech skills. "When we started, Morgan was still on a feeding tube," said Woolfolk. "Her speech therapist initially worked on getting her to the point where she could take a bottle. Now we have her taking a bottle and even eating some cereal."

"And, just this week, Morgan started rolling over," said her ecstatic mother, Michelle. "We are just so pleased with her achievement. Any little milestone she reaches gives us sheer joy."

"Morgan has made vast improvements in the quality of her life since she began therapy," said Michelle. "I am told she will regain movement in her left side (paralyzed side) and has achieved good head control."

Morgan's therapists agree that she has really improved with therapy. "We are so pleased with the steps that Morgan has made," said Lynette Gotzy, physical therapist.

"Having the therapists come to our home is a tremendous help - not only with the travel distance to Wichita Falls, but because of a low immunities situation, Morgan should not be exposed to others and this has kept her healthy," continued Woolfolk.

Michelle expresses her thanks and appreciation. "I just want to tell everyone how much we appreciate the support of The Rehab Center through the donations of those in the surrounding community."

The North Texas Rehabilitation Center has fund raisers throughout the year. On Thursday, July 18, Muenster Livestock Commission will be running cattle through to be donated to the Rehab Center. In addition, on Wednesday, July 17, a three-hour TV Auction will air from 7 to 10 p.m. on KFDX TV-3. On Saturday, July 20, the Multi Purpose Events Center in Wichita Falls, will house the all-day Silent Auction; a Style Show by Cactus Flower at 11 a.m.; and "Under $300 Auction" at 4:30 p.m.; and the Big Merchandise Auction at 7 p.m. Admission is free all day. Everyone is invited to attend and support work that benefits children like Morgan. For more information, call 322-0771.

Every copy of The Muenster Enterprise mailed by us with an incorrect address, resulting when a subscriber failed to notify us of a move or change of address, has two consequences. Primarily, the subscriber receives no paper. Secondly the Post Office requires us to pay for every returned paper, at 50¢ each.

Sometimes the papers are allowed to accumulate for weeks before we are notified, or a frustrated subscriber complains. When that occurs, many times each week, the amount becomes significant. Sometimes it amounts to a portion of the yearly subscription price. Although we do not penalize the subscriber, it could reasonably cause us to subtract a number of months from the renewal date.

For these reasons, we are again appealing to subscribers to notify us immediately of a change of address.

Are you in a crabby mood, or do you have a justifiable gripe?

Is the issue vitally important or could you really overlook it?

Have you argued about this subject before? What was accomplished by that argument?

"Work With Mom" theory explored

by Daryl Ferber
"What do you do all day at work, Mom?" All working mothers probably hear this question from their offspring.

The Muenster Telephone Corporation decided to try the "Go to work with Mom" idea, having the young visitors over the past two weeks. After finding how interesting the office is - some may even follow in their mother's footsteps.

learned how to use the copy machine, electric stapler, electric hole punch, shredder and printer, automatic typewriter, desk top computer, computer printed graphics and worked with programming on Channel 2. She would like her mother's job when she gets older.

28, learning about cellular sales and communication services. Tony, age 11, had his turn June 24. He helped with making copies. Kristina, age 6, visited on July 26 and said about her mom's job "You have to talk a lot on the phone, be nice to customers that come in and talk to them a lot."

Tyler Rains, age 6, son of Shelly Von Ree, Customer Service Representative, had his turn on June 27. He helped Lorna Dempster put "dots" on flyers being prepared for mailing, drew pictures for the office girls, and told his grandma "I worked so hard today."

Stephanie Henschel, age 10, joined her mom Kyla Henschel, Customer Service Representative on June 28. She enjoyed the Telephone Museum too. She thought Mom's working place was "pretty neat."

Donna Walterscheid, Administrative Coordinator, brought her daughter Ashley on June 2. She really worked -

The young visitors had a good learning experience and the "little" extra help in the offices was enjoyed by the employees of the Muenster Telephone Corporation and North Texas Communications.

NCTC offers soccer Mini-Camp

on the scene this year

North Central Texas League's Summer Youth Program is a soccer mini-camp. The County's young soccer enthusiasts have the opportunity to learn from the best.

Claiming soccer as their national sport is no understatement for instructors Juan Lopez and Oscar Salas. They come from countries where the people, young and old, live and breathe soccer!

Salas grew up outside Lima, Peru. In 1976 he came to the United States as an exchange student, living with a family in Lima, Ohio. While in Ohio, he finished his senior year in high school and went to play soccer for West Virginia State University.

A year later, Salas came to Mesquiteville to join a relative attending NCTC. It was here he met his wife, Peggy Phillip, and decided to settle down and raise his family.

Salas has been coaching soccer for over nine years. His pursuit of excellence has inspired him to achieve his national certification from the U.S. Soccer Federation. He and his three children are actively involved in soccer. His love of the sport has Salas spending weekends out on the soccer field, often traveling to the tournaments. He will spend this summer as an instructor in various soccer camps in Mesquiteville and around the triplex area.

Juan Lopez was raised in Santiago, Chile. He came to the United States in 1976 to attend Northwestern State University in Louisiana. While in college, Lopez played on intramural soccer teams. After receiving his degree in physical education at Northwestern, he and his wife moved to Houston where he taught and coached tennis, then soccer for Aldine Independent School District.

While in Houston, Lopez was active in soccer, playing yearly on teams for both the men's and family soccer leagues. He also received his state certification from the United States Soccer Federation.

In search for a smaller community in which to raise his children, Lopez brought his family Gainesville where he now teaches Spanish and coaches soccer at Gainesville High School.

This summer's soccer mini-camp is open to kids ages 8-15. At camp, students will learn the fundamental soccer skills: passing, dribbling, shooting, heading, blocking, and receiving. Games will be played so students may put their skills to the test and learn the various playing positions on the field.

For the experienced soccer player, concentration will be placed on improving techniques and skills to bring the ball player to a higher level of playing. Students are asked to bring sunscreen, drinking water and come dressed to play.

Register now for classes to begin Monday, July 22 through Friday, July 26 from 8:00 to 11:00 a.m. The soccer mini-camp will be held on NCTC campus and the cost is $45.00. For information, 668-4272.

It Was News Then ...

50 YEARS AGO

May 10, 1946

Double funeral services for victims of plane crash, Mrs. Steve Fette and Bernard Schumacher, held in Sacred Heart Church. The accident that took their lives was one of the worst tragedies that ever struck this community. They were flying over Red River trying to deliver a message to Mrs. Fette's husband to inform him that his sister, Mrs. Herbert Meurer had been seriously burned in a fire at her home. Steve Fette was known to be fishing on Red River. The airplane hit a supporting cable for a telephone line which spanned the river, and fell to the river bed. Funeral held in Scotland, Texas for Sidney J. Martin 84, relative of the Otto-Hoening families, who succumbed to an asthma attack. Sunday crowd at Muenster Horse Show exceeds 3,500. More than 100 horses and colts compete. Shortage of both materials and labor hold building activity down to a snail's pace. MKT, the Katy railroad, announces time change daily to: morning, west-bound train will depart at 9:22 a.m. and evening, east-bound will depart at 4:39 p.m. Muenster VFW Post #6205 elects Pat Hennigan as Post Commander. Wedding: Angeline Wimmer and Rudolph Hromick married in St. Monica's Church of Ft. Worth. Marysville Homecoming draws more than 500, after suspension during the war years.

May 6, 1966

More than 900 persons from an 18 county area attend political rally at Colonial Acres Farm to hear Attorney General Waggoner Carr as he campaigns for U.S. Senate Seat, against Senator John Tower. Rain measure for May was 2.84, and farmers were smiling. But then came more rain, and more and more - 7.15 inches in four days - lots more than anyone wanted or needed. As clear weather now takes over, prospects for harvest are still good; soil is soaked deep for row crops, pasture and hay. Detention reservoirs again did a fine job of flood control. Five hundred children participate in annual May Queen crowning at Sacred Heart Church. New Arrivals: Douglas Michael Hartman to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hartman; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pulte; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George Streng; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Eddleman.

Quail Camp stresses the importance of conservation and leadership

by Jim Self and Mickie Ricks

From June 23 through the 27, high school students from all over the state and even Georgia descended upon the Crooked River Lodge on the banks of the Brazos River to learn about bobwhite quail, wildlife management, and leadership. The Bobwhite Brigade was headed up by Dr. Dale Rollins of San Angelo, Texas Agriculture Extension Service, and various sponsors.

The camp wasn't only about the bobwhite quail as the name may suggest, but also the predators and the prey of the quail. Conservation was stressed by the leaders of this camp. Conservation is defined as hands on management of wildlife and natural resources. Conserving the habitat of the quail is very important, since without a place to live, the quail can't survive.

Cadets, or chicks as they are called at the camp, aren't just picked out of a hat. A prospective applicant must first write an essay about his/her desire to go before they can be considered. The steering committee looks over every application, and picks those with the best qualifications. Thirty cadets attended this year, excluding the six adult leaders and their assistants. This year, Childress County was represented by Mickie Ricks, daughter of David Ricks of Childress and Wynema Thweatt of Saint Jo. Many things are expected from a cadet at camp, ranging from a plant collection to using taxidermy and stuffing a quail.

Leadership skills were also stressed at the camp. Cadets has to sit down in front of a camera and be interviewed, come up with a speech for a radio advertisement, and even learn the art of writing thank you notes.

After the camp is over, each cadet is expected to give a minimum of three presentations to various groups. Points are given for each presentation, and the top six cadets with the most points get to go back as assistant covey leaders. The assistant covey leader with the most points gets a $1000 scholarship to any school of his/her choice. The first runner-up gets a $750 scholarship, and the other four get a $500 scholarship.

For more information contact Dr. Dale Rollins, TAEX, 7887 N. Highway 87, San Angelo, Texas 76901, 915-653-4576 or your local agriculture science instructor or county extension agent.

H varsity squad attends NCA Camp in Denton

submitted by Leslie Grewing
 The Sacred Heart Varsity Cheerleading Squad received high rankings at the National Cheerleaders Association (NCA) Cheer Camp held at the University of North Texas in Denton June 19 through June 22. Attending were: seniors Leslie Grewing, Lead Cheerleader, Dobe Fleitman and Jennifer Campbell; juniors Crystal Klement and Tammie Annigan; Sophomore Leah Klement; freshmen Kayla Felderhoff and Jessica Berres. The squad received 7 Superior blue ribbons for their efforts. Criteria for this award is to the team who displays strong technique, leads the crowd well, and performs with noticeable mistakes. Daily evaluations were based on precision, sharpness, voice, expression, crowd interaction, and tumbling. The squad was also awarded a coveted spirit stick for team enthusiasm and overall attitude during the week, plus they earned an additional spirit stick at the final evaluations to bring home with them for the school's trophy case.

leadership, and dance. These individuals had the opportunity to try out for the NCA All-American team. Chosen from 658 camp participants, these selected nominees then went on to compete on an individual basis for this top award. The Sacred Heart squad was honored by having ALL 8 members nominated for this competition, making this an extraordinary honor for Sacred Heart High. And of the 8, three girls went on to win the prestigious All-American Cheerleader award: Senior, Dobe Fleitman; Junior, Crystal Klement; and Freshman, Kayla Felderhoff. Another highlight of the camp for the squad was the addition of a new team competition called "Champion Chant." All squads were invited to compete in this optional event with a chant they had learned through the week. Technical skills, as well as the ability to lead the crowd, were judged to select the winner. Out of all the squads who chose to compete, Sacred Heart's performance won this top honor, even outscoring last year's National Champion team, plus several 5A school squads. Sacred Heart received a special trophy for this award. The girls are now looking forward to sharing their new cheers, chants, and pyramid stunts this fall during Sacred Heart football and basketball games. Hope to see you there!

SACRED HEART VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Local cheerleaders selected to NCA All-American Team

For the second year in a row the same two members of the Sacred Heart Cheerleading Squad plus an additional team member received top recognition at cheerleading camp at the University of North Texas by being selected for the NCA All-American Team. Senior Dobe Fleitman, daughter of Billie and Jerry Fleitman and junior Crystal Klement, daughter of Pat and Ruth Klement, are now two-time winners of this prestigious award. Kayla Felderhoff, freshman, daughter of Kenny and Kim Felderhoff was also selected for this top honor.

technique, leadership and all-around cheerleading ability. The presentation of the NCA All-American Team Award came at the completion of a full workshop of training on cheerleading technique, cheers, chants, jumps, partner stunts, and pyramids as well as a leadership program for sportsmanship, responsibilities, organization and dedication.

As All-American Team members, the girls are eligible to travel nationally with the NCA Special Events Performance Team. The All-American Team members will be highlighted at the Florida Citrus Bowl in Orlando, Florida, the Brach's Holiday Parade in Chicago, Illinois, and the Aloha Bowl in Honolulu, Hawaii.

As members of the All-American Team, these girls represent the top five percent of all students attending NCA summer camps.

The National Cheerleaders Association sponsors the All-American Team Award at each of 500 workshops held across the United States. The winners are selected for this award based on their cheerleading

Officer Camp during the week of June 24-27 at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. The officers were instructed in teaching techniques, choreography, and motivational skills. They learned several routines choreographed to the latest band arrangements and popular music. On the first night of camp, called "Fun Night," the officers performed a hometown routine in which they were evaluated. They received a trophy for Outstanding Home Routine. Throughout the week, they received a total of seventeen Superior ribbons. Two Champion Dancer ribbons were awarded to Jill Hess and Tanya Knauf. On the last day of camp, the girls had final evaluations. They were to choose a routine learned during the week. For their wonderful performance and efforts, they were awarded a Superior Final Evaluation trophy. Outstanding performers were recognized to the "Halftime U.S.A. Honor Roll." Brandy Gilpin and Tanya Knauf received this honor. Red 'N Motion will attend a dance camp July 15-18 beginning at 8 a.m. in the Sacred Heart Community Center.

LESSONS IN Electric Safety

Teachers are dusting off their chalkboards and preparing lesson plans for the school year just around the corner. Some lessons, however, should be practiced during the summer and the school year — lessons on electric safety. Electricity does a lot of great things for all of us. Yet it must be treated properly to ensure our safety and well being. Here are a few lessons in electric safety that will help to keep you safe:

1. Always respect electricity and ask your friends and relatives to respect it too. Unfortunately, electricity is very, very unforgiving when unleashed and one little mistake can be deadly.
2. Electricity and water do not mix. Always keep blow dryers, radios and other electric appliances well clear of sinks, bath tubs and swimming pools. Also, never plug in or operate an electrical device when you are wet or standing in water.
3. Always stay far away from electric wires and lines that have fallen down. Outdoor power lines are not insulated and any contact with them can cause serious injury or death. Remember, stay away and call Cooke County Electric Cooperative for help immediately.
4. Climbing trees is always great fun for children, but climbing a tree near an electric power line can be very dangerous. Always make sure there are no power lines running through or near a tree that your young one is about to climb.
5. Always look up. If you are installing a new television antenna or if you are positioning a ladder next to your home or business, make sure you are clear of any overhead power lines. Aluminum ladders and antennas are great conductors of electricity!

So remember, parents, when it comes to electricity, take all the necessary precautions to ensure your safety and the safety and well being of your children. It may be one of the best lessons in life that your children ever learn.

Severe consequences of drought culling noted by specialists

Good news is there are breaks for drought culling title.

If you provide "evidence of culling" you can sell and purchase cows with little or no tax consequences, and you are able to postpone income tax on a drought sale of calves next year, says Joe Pena, tax economist at Uvalde. Evidence of drought would be such as rainfall records, spaper clippings, disaster notices from the Consolidated Services Agency. These should be copied and attached to your note of explanation schedule F of your income statement.

Take note, this special treatment affects only the animals you sell in excess of normal annual sales.

ALVES: The income from sales of sold because of drought be postponed for one tax year if you are in a federally declared disaster area. For example, let's assume you normally sell 75 calves in the year and hold over 75 in the year, but because you sell all in 1996, because of the drought, you may defer the tax from 75 head until the 7 tax year.

REEDING STOCK: If you liquidate cows because of drought, you may defer the tax from the sale of your cows for up to two years. Hold money and purchase new cows when the drought breaks. Attach a statement explaining situation to your Schedule each tax year affected. If your breeding stock is sold, and therefore has no tax basis, the full price you receive for its sale is the price you must apply when time comes to restock. If you spend the same amount of money restocking with the same amount of cows, you will have no tax liability.

If you spend less money restocking, you will have a capital gain.

If you spend more money restocking, you may use a Section 179 of the tax code to write off up to $17,500, a one-time deduction on depreciable assets. If you spend so much restocking that the $17,500 deduction won't cover your costs, then the remainder of the cows must be placed on a five-year depreciation schedule.

But beware! There is a limitation on total value and number of head. If you sold 10 head for $4,000 and restocked by purchasing five head for $5,000, you would have a gain on the five you did not buy back and a loss to depreciate on the five you bought back at a higher price.

Purchased breeding stock would be treated somewhat differently, because it has a depreciated tax basis. In that case you must weigh the basis of your breeding stock against the sale price to see whether you have a capital gain or loss.

If you post a gain, you would defer it until the following tax year when you restock.

If you post a loss on purchased breeding stock, and you are in a federally-declared disaster area, you may file an amended return for 1995 and take an immediate loss.

CORN/GRAIN SORGHUM FIELD DAY

A Corn/Grain Sorghum Field day will be held from 8 a.m. until 12 noon on Thursday, July 18, at the demonstration plots in the county. The tour will begin at the Grain Sorghum Variety Demonstration on the J.H. Bayer & Sons Field located on County Road 424 north of Muenster. Cloyce Coffman, Extension Corn and Sorghum Specialist from Texas A&M, will be at various stops.

Two Continuing Education Units will be offered to producers attending. These units will apply to Pesticide License Recertification.

DROUGHT STRESSED GRAIN CROPS

Many producers in the county have been making decisions on what to do with their drought-stressed grain crops. This past week we saw quite a few fields being harvested for silage and saw some corn and milo fields being hayed. Both of these alternatives are working very well. Some of the corn has been producing as high as nine tons of silage per acre. In other instances, we have seen as little as four tons of silage per acre. The milo is also suffering from the heat and stress. Poor pollination and small heads are some of the results. On some of the lighter soils, the plants are even beginning to die. When this happens, producers need some type of alternative harvesting method.

NITRATE POISONING IN DROUGHT-STRESSED CORN AND SORGHUM FIELDS

When grain crops have been established satisfactorily, and rainfall is insufficient to support grain yields for economic harvesting, alternative uses of the crop should be considered very cautiously. This is especially true with respect to fields which have been fully fertilized with nitrogen for normal yields. Crops which appear to be sufficiently drought-stressed that grain yields will be too low for harvest, and the alternative of harvesting the crop for its forage value is considered, the producer should collect stover samples and have them analyzed for excessive nitrates. Plants that are stressed by drought may accumulate nitrate to lethal levels. Therefore, it is very important to have the nitrate test run on the plant tissue before it is either grazed or mechanically harvested for livestock consumption.

Stover samples should be collected which includes the whole plant as well as harvested. The equivalent of five corn or sorghum plants should be submitted for nitrate analysis. It should be remembered that nitrates in the lower stalks will likely be higher than that in the leaf tissue. Also, nitrates will not decrease in the harvested crop plants. Therefore, before harvesting drought-stressed crop plants as forage, the nitrate content of a representative sample of these plants should be determined. Nitrate analyses of crop plant samples may be obtained from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Soil, Plant, & Water Testing Laboratory in College Station. Your local veterinarian should be consulted if drought-stressed forage is to be fed.

Limited rainfall and resulting short forage supplies have forced livestock producers to consider utilizing corn and sorghum fields for forage. Corn and sorghum stubble, or corn and sorghum fields which are too dry to make a crop, can be utilized by livestock through haying, silage, or grazing.

Corn, sorghum or weed plants that contain more than one percent nitrates (on a dry matter basis), may result in livestock death when fed or grazed. Even if the animals survive this level of nitrates, other economic losses may occur, such as abortion, weak or poor viability of recently born young, infertility and difficulty in conception, lameness, and decreased milk production.

Grazed rangeland does recover

Degraded rangeland recovers just as quickly with a managed, moderate level of cattle grazing as with no grazing at all, according to ARS scientists who compared data collected in 1936, 1991 and 1993.

Overgrazing in the early part of the century damaged rangeland across eastern Oregon, explain researchers. Later, in the 1930's, cattle were excluded from 13 five acre research plots in the 16,000 acre Northern Great Basin Experimental Range in southeastern Oregon. In the 1990's, scientists looked for differences between grazed and ungrazed plots.

They found that plants and soil in both types of sites had recovered, with comparable shrubs, grasses and wildflowers in each. Grazed areas has smaller plants, but more of them.

Ag Briefs ...

According to the USDA, coyotes were the largest cause of cattle lost to predators in 1995. A total of 69,350 head of 59% of all predator losses were by coyotes. Dogs were second with 19%. USDA reports that 67% of last years 117,400 predator losses occurred in the Western and Mountain regions of the US.

From mid-March into April, July Kansas City wheat futures climbed more than $2. Dry weather trimmed the US hard wheat crop. During May and early June, the market gave back roughly half the gain. Why are wheat prices sagging as the US crop prospects continue to deteriorate.

In June, the USDA projected the '96 hard winter wheat crop at 665 million bushel, down from the previous five year average of about 900 million bushel.

The US soft red winter wheat crop is projected at 401 million, compared to the five year average of 420 million bushel.

New crop wheat, although expensive, may be a cost effective substitute for old crop corn for feed.

Until corn harvest concludes, the price of low quality wheat moving into the feed market should remain above $5 per bushel.

How much wheat prices may weaken when the new crop corn is available will depend on the size of both the wheat and corn crops.

Summer weather outlook

The general outlook for summer weather in mid-July to August should remain normal, although the eastern areas will tend to be cooler and wetter. Scattered showers are predicted for the rest of next week in this area. Statewide showers next weekend (July 19-21). Additional rains should spread across north Texas the first of August, then over much of the rest of the state for a couple of days.

Chance of rain should improve again statewide August 9-11 along with cooler than normal temperatures, followed by partly cloudy skies and light showers to mid-August.

Stronger cattle prices?

Analysts predict that fewer cattle marketings this summer should drive the cash market to near $70/cwt., but prices could head the other way over year's end.

The fall calf market should be a firmer tone, especially if corn crop comes in over nine billion bushels.

Assuming there is a good corn crop, improved calf prices could go to low to mid $60s, as low corn prices get bid into calf prices. Sources say rainfall could still effect the outlook. Drought conditions over the summer may increase nonfed slaughter.

Drought stresses need for furrow dike reservoirs

Could you use 2.73 inches of water on your fields? That's the average annual amount of rainfall lost to runoff in high Plains fields not equipped with furrow dikes.

Because of that, row crop producers waiting for the next rain may want to consider diking their fields to help maximize precipitation when those rains do not occur.

Ken Carver, assistant manager of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, says the small mounds of soil mechanically installed in the furrow help create small reservoirs of rainfall and prevent runoff.

In most instances, soil infiltration rates are adequate to absorb small rains with little runoff down the furrow and out of the field.

In the High Plains, a three-year study has shown an annual runoff of 2.73 inches from land with varying degrees of slope.

Feeling low? Eat more beef

Eating beef can make people feel happier, and that should bring a smile to cattlemen's faces. According to USDA nutrition scientists, selenium, a trace element found in beef, appears to "lift the spirit."

Men who consumed 3.5 times the recommended amount of selenium felt significantly more clear-headed and elated toward the

Angus beef sales keep building

Certified Angus Beef (CAB) product totaled 205 million pounds in February, an increase of 2.5 million pounds over the same month a year earlier. For the first five months of the 1996 fiscal year, sales are up nearly 10% in pounds sold and just under 9% in dollars generated, compared to the same period a year ago.
