Muenster High bids farewell to Class of 1997 graduates

Members of the Muenster High School Class of 1997 were honored at commencement exercises Friday, May 30, at the Muenster Hornet Gymnasium. Pomp and Circumstance was played as the graduates processed into the gymnasium.

Jennifer Sicking gave the invocation. Brandi Lutkenhaus delivered the Salutatory address, stressing both the individuality and teamwork the class was taught by their teachers and parents. "As we experience the most difficult of times, these two qualities we learned in school pushed us onward into the real world... and will continue to benefit us as we move on with our lives." Brandi concluded her speech by wishing the best of luck to her classmates as they begin a new chapter in the book of life.

Valedictorian Greg Flusche dedicated his speech to his grandmother, Terese Miller, who passed away in January 1997. Flusche talked about discipline, teamwork and friendship the class "accumulated and tucked away for the past 13 years."

"Discipline will be the essential tool needed for us to build the foundation of our futures. Teamwork is necessary, no matter which path life takes us," noted Flusche. "As we already have learned, good solid friendships are essential in life."

Flusche concluded that the best part of their lives is yet to come "Never lose faith. Our dreams and goals are within our grasps."

Superintendent Steve Cooper introduced the guest speaker, G.A. Moore, Jr., athletic director and head coach at Celina High School. Coach Moore is currently the winningest active coach in the state of Texas with 317 wins, 65 losses and nine ties, and the third winningest coach in Texas High School football history. His career includes 4 state football championships, one state track championship, and two state runner-up in track. Moore has received 44 various Coach of the Year awards.

In Coach Moore's commencement address, he told the graduates to set their goals high - not just in education, but their moral goals also. He stressed "God First" - others second then yourself third. "You'll never regret it if you based your life decisions by putting God first." The importance of commitment was also emphasized.

Principal Bob Chisam presented graduates with scholarships followed by the presentation of diplomas. Chisam announced the class, while Clifford Sicking, president of the school board of trustees, handed out diplomas. Class sponsor Randy Tankersley turned the senior rings while the moving of the tassels was done by Blair Kellner.

Jonathan Otto concluded the evening with the benediction.

City Council awards new waste management contract

by Daryl Ferber
The three competing waste management companies appeared again at the city council meeting Monday, Texas Waste Management, Bell Group, and IES representatives each spoke, explaining their services.

After a short executive session, the council announced their choice as Bell Group of Wichita Falls. They offered a 10% franchise fee, will pick up bulky items as they go, and a fair rate. The contract begins October 1, 1997.

Saint Jo Bank was given permission to continue their construction plans with the addition of a sprinkler system.

John Pagel explained the street improvement plans and the work to be done (with the help of County Commissioner Virgil Hess) on Mesquite Street, Cedar Street, Second and Elm, North Oak, Eddy Street and South Hickory. Mr. and Mrs. Monte Barnhill and Frances Bayer appeared to question procedures and types of construction on Eddy and Hickory because of water problems.

Approval was given to continue the resolution supporting North Texas Drug Regional Enforcement Task Force Grant which involves 16 cities and a $7000 each funding if needed.

The second reading of Ordinance 218 for all city parks was passed. There are various restrictions which should be checked on when using any of the parks.

Renewing of the fire service contract with Cooke County was approved. Also approval was given to send three firemen and the fire marshal to the fire training session in July 1997.

The Centennial Antique Street Light Project Joint Funding and Maintenance Agreement will continue with a few small changes.

The writing of Articles of Incorporation and by-laws of a Section B Economic Development Corporation will be done by City Administrator Steve Broyles and a board of seven will be chosen.

City bills for the month amounted to $53,582.51.

Commissioners discuss jail security

by Janet Felderhoff
A more secure recreation area in the county jail is being taken under advisement by the Cooke County Commissioners Court. A problem with security in the facility's metal mesh roof recreation area surfaced after a jail break by two prisoners on May 9.

The men escaped by using a basketball goal to get high enough to push against the metal roof until welds broke allowing them to crawl out and escape. The recreation area is a secure area in the center of the jail. Walls are about 16 feet high and of concrete.

Sheriff Mike Compton told commissioners that at present they aren't allowing prisoners to use the recreation area. It could only be secured by placing a guard with a shotgun on the roof. That requires too much time and manpower, he said.

Commissioner Virgil Hess brought suggestions and repair estimates from one area company. The plan calls for repair of the metal mesh now in place and the placement of another layer of metal mesh. Razor wire will also be placed on the roof. Basketball goals will be cut down and replaced with break-away goals equipped with beveled edges to prevent anyone standing on them. Mesh metal is used because by law the prisoners must be able to get some sunlight.

Phil Young, Precinct #1 commissioner, suggested using galvanized metal mesh for the double layers. It would require replacing all the metal now, but would save painting costs now and later. Since it will be almost impossible to paint properly with two layers of mesh metal, Commissioners decided to further investigate the galvanized metal mesh idea.

It was agreed to cut down the basketball goals and make temporary welding repairs to the present metal. That will allow prisoners to use the recreation area now.

Four area businesses submitted bids on new flooring for the Cooke County Public Library. Bids included taking out old flooring and installing the new. Gibson Carpet of Gainesville submitted the low bid of $9,175.90. Other bids were Joe Walter Lumber $15,151.02; Steven's Floor Covering $10,325.00; and Carpet Center of Gainesville $12,446.00.

Frequent rains have prevented the owner of Sleepy Hollow Subdivision in Precinct #2 from completing the construction of roads in the projected time. Since there are buyers interested in making purchases, Commissioners agreed to accept a performance bond so that lots can be sold. To do this an Irrevocable Letter of Credit from his bank for $40,000 was presented.

Funds can only be drawn by the two companies contracted to complete the roadwork and then only with the signature of County Judge Paul Hesse on the invoices.

In other business conducted at the May 26 regular meeting of Cooke County Commissioners Court:

- Approved public official bonds for Reserve Deputy Constables, Precinct #4.
- Approved public official bonds for Sheriff's Department.
- Approved indigent burial of Era McCullom.
- Took no action on revisions to Lake Ray Roberts Zoning Ordinance.
- Approved request of Virgil Hess to purchase a pick-up truck under the bid limit of $15,000.
- Approved final plat for South Ridge of Lindsay subdivision in Precinct #3.
- Approved minutes from last meeting and monthly bills.

Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God; and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus. PHILIPPIANS 4: 6-7

Muenster Memorial Hospital Board seats three directors

by Janet Felderhoff
Werner Becker Jr., Jerry Hess, and Margie Starke were sworn in for three-year terms on the board of directors of Muenster Memorial Hospital. Administrator Jack Endres executed the oath of office before opening the regular meeting on May 18.

Officers for the board were elected. Don Flusche will serve another term as president and Jerry Hess another as vice-president. Dennis Hess will serve as secretary. Other members of the nine person board are Duane Knabe, Phil Endres, Jack Murdock, and Chas Bayer.

Mr. Endres reported that Will Presson, chief appraiser of the Cooke County Appraisal District (CCAD) and Bob Eggleston, secretary of CCAD board, delivered a refund of $800 plus on the hospital's tax expenses. The refund was possible because the CCAD is under budget and are refunding money to all the taxing districts.

The increase was in minerals with the improvement in the oil prices. Other reasons were additions such as new homes and improvements.

An inspection of the hospital's lab showed four deficiencies. One wasn't really a deficiency, but a notice to the lab. According to Endres the three real deficiencies were clerical only, not test accuracy.

There was a surprise inspection of the Home Health Agency by the Department of Health. "The surveyor was here for two days and found no deficiencies," noted Endres. "A clean bill three times in a row — pretty much unheard of."

At a special meeting of the Muenster Hospital Board held on May 7 results from the May 3 election were certified.

Board members also listened to Yvonne Ambrose and Melissa Trubenbach who were seeking sponsorship from the hospital for their applications for nomination by the Center for Rural Health Initiatives as Outstanding Rural Scholars. Board members agreed to sponsor both women.

Three Electric Co-op men honored for saving a life

Muenster Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6205 and its Ladies Auxiliary recently honored Rick Stewart, Ronnie Bayer, and Walter Bartel for their heroic actions which saved the life of Floyd Haverkamp. Officers of both organizations gathered in the Post home on Monday, May 19 for the surprise presentation.

Linda Knabe, auxiliary conductress, prefaced the awards by reviewing the events of March 10, 1997 when Floyd Haverkamp came in contact with live voltage while damp. "For most people a very deadly combination, but luckily for Floyd and his family, these gentlemen were there to assist him," stated Linda Knabe. "After assessing the situation, Rick quickly and adeptly performed cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) while the others radioed for emergency help. The three men kept Floyd stable until EMS crews could arrive and transport Floyd to the hospital. So tonight we'd like to applaud your quick actions and getting help for your co-worker."

In presenting Rick Stewart Citation of Merit Ms. Knabe noted, "We want you to know that we, along with the whole community, share in the pride of knowing that as a result of your knowledge, this young man is here in our company tonight. We'd like to present you with this Citation of Merit which reads, 'In recognition of your quick reactions in recognizing the emergency situation involving the electrocution of Floyd Haverkamp on March 19, 1997. Your knowledge of and ability to perform CPR, thereby saving the life of your co-worker is hereby recognized and commended by Muenster VFW and Ladies Auxiliary."

Ms. Knabe then presented a certificate of appreciation to Ronnie Bayer and Walter Bartel which read, "In recognition of your care and assistance to Floyd Haverkamp following his accident on March 10, 1997."

Assisting Ms. Knabe with the presentations were Commander Paul Hesse and Sr. Vice Commander Johnny Rohrer.

Guests attending the presentation were Darlene Stewart, Alissa Stewart, Raymond Stewart, Sabrina Trubenbach, Evelyn Koesler, Floyd, Pennie and Olivia Haverkamp and members of the VFW and Auxiliary.

Correction

There was an error in the obituary for Philip L. Bayer of Carroll, Iowa, printed in last week's Muenster Enterprise. The last paragraph should have stated: "Survivors include his sister, Susan Bayer of Carroll; an uncle and his wife, William and Helen Zitzlperger of Carroll and an aunt Carrie Zitzlperger of Carroll. The Enterprise regrets the error."

Campbell, Pam Fette, Dobe Fleitman, Brandy Gilpin, Eric Gray, Leslie Grewing, Jill Hess, and Tanya Knauf.

Guests were greeted before Mass by attendants Deann Felderhoff, Polly Fette, Kimberly Hess, Kristen Knauf, Jessamy Sicking, and Gina Yosten.

During graduation ceremonies John Bartush, class president, welcomed guests to the celebration. Tanya Knauf introduced Kelly Rigler, class salutatorian.

Miss Rigler recalled some of the many accomplishments and special memories of the class during their years together in high school. "The bonds that we made during our years of high school will not end tonight," she said. "Neither will all the memories that each one of us shares for all of our years of school."

Kelly urged her fellow graduates to remember all of the love and memories that they had experienced in school. "The memory of you here tonight in this church will forever be in our hearts," she remarked. "We could never have made it here without the help of everyone here tonight: teachers, parents, family and friends."

There were two final thoughts that Kelly chose to leave with those present. "An anonymous speaker once said, 'When you were born, you cried and the world rejoiced. Live your life in such a manner that when you die the world cries and you rejoice.' The second is this, shoot for the moon because even if you miss it, you will still land among the stars." "Chrysalis", accompanied and written by Gina Yosten, was sung by Jennifer Campbell, Dobe Fleitman, Brandy Gilpin, Leslie Grewing, Jill Hess, and Tanya Knauf.

Leslie Grewing introduced the Class Valedictorian Jennifer Campbell. Miss Campbell's valedictory address was on what is most important in life. She referred to Ozymundias the Egyptian King who was credited for many of the greatest construction projects in Egyptian history. She read from Percy Shelly's poem Ozymundias describing what was left of his greatness - decay.

"Remembering Ozymundias helps us realize that material possessions are not important," noted Jennifer. "God, family, and yourself are what matters. These three entities always exist. God - He's always around. Family - who else would wipe the drool off of your face and live through your bad moods? If they couldn't, no one can. And finally, yourself. From this point on, you will not have your mother and father watching you every move. It is your responsibility to examine yourself. You must see what is right and do it with firm resolve, despite the opinions of the crowd. This is the time in your life where you shed the protection of your parents. This is the point where you leave your childhood friends and memories and begin a refreshing experience with new people."

Diplomas earned by the 1997 graduates were conferred by Fr. David Bellinghausen, Fr. Frowin Schoeck and Principal Jack Murdock. Class sponsors, Ms. Jo Bedowitz and Mrs. Linda Ellender, performed the traditional turning of the senior rings and moving of the tassels.

Beaming graduates exited church to the recessional "Ode To Joy".

River Bend nature works ecology camp July 20-25

The National Arbor Day Foundation and River Bend are co-sponsoring a residential camp for children ages 9-12 at the secured River Bend complex, adjacent to the entrance at Lucy Park. As the only outreach camp program co-sponsored by the Arbor Day Foundation in the United States, River Bend is excited to offer this opportunity to children in the North Texas area.

From July 20-25, campers will be learning about their natural environment and given opportunities for active environmental science investigation. Study topics include:

- * It's a Small, Small World - a look at the microscopic world around us
- * Insects - A Pleasure and a Pain
- * Everyone Has Habitat - the homes that are all around us in nature

* Trees are Terrific - an exploration of these giant plants

Each study topic is planned and supervised by an experienced Ecology Camp teacher. Each group of 5 campers will be supervised by one teacher. The maximum number of campers is 30 for this summer.

Generous donations from the Priddy Foundation, the National Arbor Day Foundation and other friends of River Bend allow campers to pay only a portion of the total cost of the camp experience. The $250 fee per camper includes 5 nights of lodging in the secured River Bend complex, 6 days of recreational and educational activities, all meals and a camp T-shirt.

Registration forms are available by calling Beverly Williamson, active RBNW Director, at 691-3840 or 631-3840.

Corrections and additions

In last week's Muenster Enterprise the pump jack pictured blown over from tornadic winds weighed approximately 15,000 pounds, not 1,500.

Also, we later found out that the fence south of Myra that was full of straw hay did receive heavy damage, but was repaired before the picture was taken.

The mystery of the wheat straw hay bales has been solved, when Alvin Hacker said he lost around 25 round bales just north of where the photos were taken. The hay apparently got caught in the tornado's circular force they dropped the bales from rotation.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

Going to The Ballpark to watch my favorite ball club, the Rangers, is always a good way to spend a beautiful evening, such as Saturday presented.

Son Jim had tickets to four excellent seats, and invited Aileen, Tony and me to enjoy the game with him.

Well, he didn't have to twist any arms before we offered to furnish transportation, providing one of them did the driving. I no longer care to drive at night in heavy traffic.

This game had its thrills, as the Rangers scored a run early in the game, with the Royals threatening in several innings, but were held at bay.

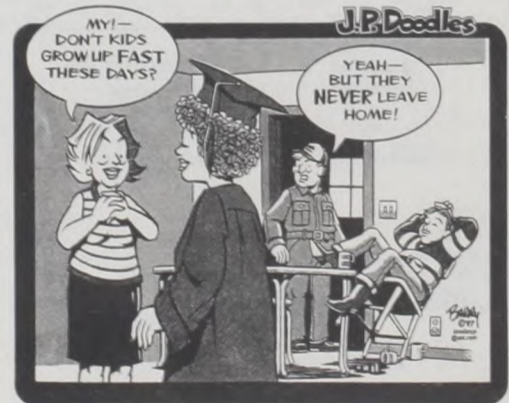

Then, as the Rangers again went on the offense, Pudge Rodriguez stepped up to the plate and took a cut at the first pitch. There was a loud crack of the bat, and we watched the ball sail into the stands, giving the Rangers a 2-run lead. To add to the excitement, Rusty Greer, the next batter, simply duplicated Pudge's feat, and the Rangers led by three.

Folks, 43,469 fans can make a lot of noise, and believe me, they did. This was our first time to witness back to back homers, and few fans were still seated.

Well, the Royals finally scored a run later in the game, on a Ranger error, leaving the score 3 to 1, Rangers, and that's how the game ended.

We are considering offering to attend all Ranger home games if the owners will furnish the tickets, as they haven't lost a game we have attended in the last two years.

Oh well, it was just a thought.

Matter of Fact

Rick Perry
Texas Agriculture Commissioner

You've read or heard about it virtually everywhere in the news. E. Coli has made consumers literally paranoid to eat anything anymore. But the truth of the matter is it's not the disease that's gotten out of hand. It's more like the simple lack of personal hygiene.

Americans are letting hand washing go down the drain. A recent survey revealed that children - and even adults - are in too big of a hurry to wash up. As a result, serious diseases passed on by unwashed hands are on an upswing in this country.

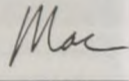

For example, one in four cases of food-borne illnesses result from poor hygiene. Call me old-fashioned, but I remember when you couldn't sit at the supper table until your hands were clean. And even then, you had to make sure your momma gave them the once-over before you'd even think about digging in.

Our industry is constantly aware of food safety measures, working to ensure that consumers get only the highest quality available. It's a shame our society doesn't scrub up on its own personal hygiene.

Giving the Balanced Budget Agreement the Benefit of the Doubt -- For Now

Last month, Congress and the President reached agreement on a plan to balance the federal budget within five years.

If the economic assumptions hold up, this plan will allow us to stop piling up debt for our children and grandchildren to repay. While there are parts of the agreement I don't like -- particularly in areas where it spends too much -- I believe other parts are a step in the right direction.

For example, the plan will keep Medicare from going bankrupt in the year 2001 by adding 10 years to the life of the Trust Fund. The budget plan will also let Americans keep $135 billion more of their own money over the next five years through such common sense tax relief measures as a $500 per child tax credit for working families, a reduction in the capital gains tax, and relief from inheritance taxes. All told, the budget agreement will provide Americans with the largest tax cut since 1981.

The plan is not perfect. However, I doubt a better balanced budget plan could have been agreed to which stood a chance of being passed and signed into law. This fact alone causes me to give the agreement the benefit of the doubt -- for now.

But clearly, the next few weeks will be crucial to making sure that what was agreed to actually gets included in the final plan, and that the tax relief which has been promised to working families and businesses will actually get enacted and go into effect.

"Lunch with Lucy" women's nutrition seminar set for June

"Lunch With Lucy" - a seminar focusing on nutrition topics of interest to women - has been scheduled for 12 noon Saturday, June 7, at Gainesville Memorial Hospital.

The event, which features a unique nutritious meal paired with the educational seminar, will be conducted by Gainesville Memorial Hospital registered dietitian Lucy Krahl. "Lunch With Lucy" is part of the hospital dietitian's ongoing series of educational opportunities, which include "Dining with the Dietitian" heart health seminars, "Shopping For a Healthy Heart" grocery store tours and a four-week weight loss and exercise program.

"Lunch With Lucy" will focus on the influences of diet on key health problems of women, such as osteoporosis, heart disease and various forms of cancer. Also discussed will be anemia, premenstrual syndrome, migraines, and obesity.

The seminar will show participants how to reduce their risk of developing certain health conditions by eating a diet high in fiber, calcium and iron. The luncheon will feature a meal prepared using the recommended guidelines.

Cost of the seminar is $7.00, which includes lunch. Space is limited and reservations are required. Call 612-8340 to reserve your spot today!

A pair of courses offered by the Summer Youth Programs of North Central Texas College this month address skills that could change lives forever, according to instructor David Dietz.

"Both Power Mechanics and Flyin' Tours are designed to open a kid's eyes to worlds of opportunity," Dietz said. "The courses teach things that border on life skills, like repairing something rather than throwing it away or learning about the wide world of aviation and all the areas a person can make a living."

Registration for both of Dietz's classes, "Power Mechanics" and "Flyin' Tours," is limited by the number of available slots. Registration also ends within one week of each class' start date. The last day to register for "Flyin' Tours," is June 9 and the last day to register for "Power Mechanics Small Engine Clinic" is June 16.

"Flyin' Tours" - which takes the student through a variety of activities, field trips and aerospace tours - meets at 8 a.m. from June 16-19. Due to the nature of the schedule, each class meets for different lengths of time each day. Dietz asserts that this class is designed to raise a collegiate teen's interest in aviation and to open their eyes to the number of real jobs in the aerospace industry aside from being a pilot. It's also meant to meet the needs of those who like airplanes as a hobby.

"Power Mechanics Small Engine Clinic" is another class taught by Dietz, who taught the same class at Gainesville Middle School for eight years. He asserts that learning to repair a machine like a lawn mower rather than throwing it away, as is often the case with today's disposable society, can help a young adult learn value and responsibility.

Dietz also says that learning mechanical aspects of one machine like a lawn mower can transfer over to other machines as well. "Power Mechanics" will cover topics such as the sharpening of a mower's blade, maintenance and engine tune-ups, replacing spark plugs and fuel filters and much more.

For more information about the David Dietz classes offered through NCTC's Continuing Education Summer Youth Programs, call 940-668-4272.

Wimmer granddaughter marries in Sherman

by Elfreda Fette
Mr. and Mrs. Mark Edward Heinen were married in St. Mary's Catholic Church of Sherman on May 31, 1997 with Father Jeremy Myers celebrating the Nuptial Mass and officiating the exchange of vows at noon.

The bride is the former Amy Rose Miller of Frisco, daughter of Ted and Cindy Miller of Sherman, and granddaughter of Johnny and Olivia Wimmer of Muenster, and the late Theo and Rose Miller of Muenster. She attended Sherman High School and is a 1990 graduate of Texas A&M University, with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree, and is employed as an accountant for Frito Lay.

The groom, of Dallas, is the son of Charles and Mary Heinen of Oklahoma City. He is a 1991 graduate of the University of Oklahoma with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree and earned his MBA in 1993. He is an accountant employed by Cooper and Lybrand.

Presented at the altar by her father, Ted Miller, the bride was wearing an elegant, formal wedding gown, designed with off-the-shoulder neckline on the satin bodice which was appliqueed with pearls and daisies. The full organza skirt swept into a chapel length train. Her cathedral length illusion veil, edged in satin, was similarly appliqueed and drifted over the length of the train. She carried a bridal bouquet of pastel roses.

ATTENDANTS
Matron of honor was Tobie Benton of Morganton, Georgia, the bride's best friend of twenty years.

Bridesmaids were friends of the bride, Megan Whitten of Allen, and Karen Stallard of Plano, and Jill Heinen of Oklahoma City, sister of the groom.
They were identically attired in full length navy crepe dresses, and carried bright bouquets of fuschia roses.

Flower girls were Cora Heinen, Rose Miller, and Maria Miller.

The best man was John Heinen of Oklahoma City, brother of the groom.

Groomsmen were Stoney Maness of Clearlake, Texas, Scott Lunsford of Dallas, and Damon Smith of San Diego, California. Maness and Lunsford are friends from college and Smith is the groom's first cousin.

Ushers were Brian Miller of Sherman and Darrell Miller of Friendswood, brothers of the bride.

Altar server was David Miller and candlelighter was Daniel Miller, nephews of the bride.

Readings of the wedding liturgy, chosen by the couple, were presented by the bride's brothers Brian and Darrell Miller.

Wedding music was presented by organist, Claire Dering and flutist Tobie Benton playing the Bach Chorales, 140 and 147. Maidensong, a women's trio, presented the prelude Bach Chorale, and "The Lord Bless and Keep You."

Also "Quia Respexit (For He Has Regarded the Lowliness of His Handmaiden);" the Wedding Song; the "Alleluia" from Sound of Music; at the Unity candle, "Where Charity and Love Are Found, God Is There;" "Prayer of St. Francis;" "Panis Angelicus;" "Ave Maria;" and "The Lord's Prayer."

At high noon, just as the wedding processional was to begin, the church chimes rang out the hour, twelve o'clock.

Bridesmaids entered to Pachelbel's "Canon in D." The bride entered to "Maria's Processional from Sound of Music." The recessional was Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Exiting the church after the wedding ceremony amid showers of rose petals, the bride received a big surprise arranged by the groom. Waiting at the curb was a gaily decorated white antique carriage, drawn by a beautiful bay horse. The driver was wearing a tuxedo and black hat, ready to transport the newlyweds in style to their reception and dance at the ballroom. Of interest is the fact that the carriage was built in 1890, providing a unique "something old" for the bride.

At the reception, the happy couple were toasted with fine German wines produced in Trier, Germany, where the winery has been in the Miller family for over three hundred years.

RECEPTION
A reception and dinner and dance in the Sherman Municipal Ballroom, were hosted by the bride's parents for 275 guests. Carol McDonald presided at the bride's book.

The bride's table was covered with a satin and lace-draped cloth, and held candles, silver appointments and a floral arrangement.

The wedding cake had four separated tiers and was decorated with white lattice icing and colorful fresh flowers.

Decorations included white tulle and white twinkle lights artfully draped with fresh English ivy and giant fuschia petunias. The gift table was draped in white lace and a hot pink skirt, and held the portrait of the bride and an arrangement of roses.

Reception assistants were Staci Miller, Michelle Miller, and Jeannine Heinen. Assisting with wedding preparations were Mary Cain and Karen Mendenhall.

The couple left the reception to depart for Negril, Jamaica, showered for a second time with fresh rose petals and good wishes. Upon their return they will reside in Frisco, Texas.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at Kelly Square in Sherman. The formal dinner was served in the Lone Star Room.

5 from Muenster earn youth ministry certificate

by Eric Gray

Last Monday evening, June 2, the very first class of youth ministry graduated at St. Patrick's Cathedral, receiving their Basic Certificate in Youth Ministry from the Diocese of Fort Worth. Five ministers from Sacred Heart Parish graduated, and six were commissioned by Bishop Joseph Delaney at the ceremony.

This was the culmination of a fifteen session course, complete with reflection papers and a project to be done. Topics ranged from involving youth in liturgy, to dealing with families and youth, to organizing events in detail, and all else in between. Fort Worth Diocesan Director of Youth Ministry and Adolescent Catechesis, Kevin Prevon, along with a team of youth ministers from the diocese (including Eric Gray from Sacred Heart), devised the program and facilitated it in the North and Central Deaneries last year.

Those from Sacred Heart Parish who graduated were Kelly Bayer (Life Teen, JELLY, Music), Rita Bayer (Music), Jamie Fisher (Life Teen, JELLY), Ken Hesse (Life Teen), and Ernie Martin (JELLY, Music). These five, along with Eric Gray, were commissioned officially as youth ministers in the diocese.

Special thanks goes to the Knights of Columbus Council 1459 and to Beta Kappa of Muenster for sponsoring these individuals in their studies and formation. Congratulations and God bless you!

Sacred Heart third grade enjoys Muenster Museum

Cecilia Ashley's third grade class took an end of the year field trip to the Muenster Museum. Juanita Bright and Nelda Cooper ushered the students into the museum and each one signed the guest book. Traveling down memory lane brought many questions from these inquisitive pupils, each room brought more questions about life in the "olden" days. They were shown a Victrola from 1890, the crowns worn by the King and Queen of Muenster, and assorted photos and clothes from the early days of Muenster. They were also given the history of the museum, and were told about the building housing the museum, the home of Muenster's first mayor, Ben Hellman. The museum is open 1 to 5 p.m. on Fridays and anyone with questions can call the Muenster Chamber of Commerce at 759-2227, or Muenster City Hall.

Jeff Wilde and the Falcons advance to state Final Four Jeff Wilde, formerly of Muenster, is a member of the state-bound Lake Dallas Falcons baseball team. The Falcons advanced to the final four after defeating Frisco 12-4 Saturday afternoon in the regional finals. They also have playoff wins over Commerce, Kennedale and Atlanta for a 25-4 season record.

Many friends and family attended the regional game in McKinney, including grandparents Ray and Marcy Wilde and Evelyn Monday of Muenster; Jeff's parents Shirley and Gregg Wilde and sister Kaitlin and brother Matt. Lake Dallas played Hallettsville Thursday, June 5 in Austin. If they win this game, they advance to the state title game.

Operation Game Thief issues rewards

Texas Parks and Wildlife announced the authorization of $6,800 in rewards for 19 citizen reports of state hunting and fishing law violations. Each originated with a citizen's call reporting illegal activity to the department's 24 hour toll free hotline, 1-800-792-GAME.

Convictions included violations for hunting deer in closed season, hunting from a public roadway, taking fish by illegal means (netting), taking protected non-game birds, exceeding the daily bag limit on fish, and possession of undersize/oversized fish. Fines assessed averaged over $800 per call, including $500 for over the daily bag limit on red snapper, $2,500 for possession of oversized drum, $2,400 for illegally taken deer, and $1,000 for taking catfish with barrel or "hoop" nets.

Since its inception in 1981, Operation Game Thief has paid approximately $120,000 in rewards to individuals providing information leading to the arrest and conviction of flagrant violators of Texas hunting and fishing laws. Through March 31, the program has logged approximately 20,000 calls, resulting in 6,746 criminal cases filed, and $913,233.29 in assessed fines.

Consumers gouged while dairymen are underpaid

Alpine Lace Brands, Inc., Maplewood, New Jersey, a leading marketer of nutritional cheeses and delicatessen meats, recently announced that net sales for the first quarter ended March 31, 1997, increased 4% compared to sales in the first quarter of 1996.

The company reported that net earnings for the first three months of 1997 increased 92% as compared to earnings in the same period in 1996.

According to Business Wire News, Carl T. Wolf, Chairman and CEO of Alpine Lace Brands, Inc. stated:

"We are very pleased with the first quarter's numbers and particularly the improvement in the bottom line. The strong results reflect the increased margins we were able to achieve as cheese prices moderated from their historical highs in 1996."

Dairy Farmers are up in arms. They contend that this 92% rise in earnings was achieved at their expense. Dairy farmers also contend that the American Consumers are grossly overcharged for their cheese purchases.

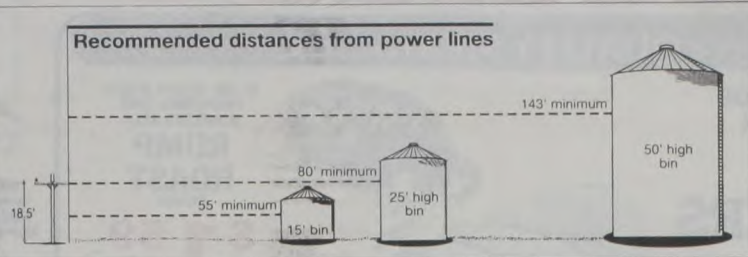

The cheese prices Mr. Wolf referred to are wholesale prices at which are the basis of the price paid to the nation's dairy farmers for the milk they produce.

Consumer prices for dairy products did not decline despite the drastic drop in milk prices paid to dairy farmers. The March 1997 CPI (Consumer Price Index) reports retail dairy products prices are 6.9% higher than a year ago. Farm milk prices were lower for the first three months of 1997 compared to 1996.

David Lively, dairy farmer from Bennington, Vermont, and chairman of the New England Milk Producers Association said:

"It's a slap in the face to America's Dairy Farmers. A corporation can take profits from both ends of the product they control. Buy milk cheap from the farmers, overcharge cheese to the consumer."

Alpine Lace Brands was a trader in the controversial National Cheese Exchange which closed recently under public pressure from dairy farmers and Wisconsin's elected officials.

Planning electrical needs for crop drying and storage

Farmers can save time, money and aggravation by following the rules before installing new grain bins.

Proper placement of grain bins in relation to existing high voltage power lines is extremely important. Adequate clearances can reduce the risk of accidental contact between power lines and tall farm equipment such as portable grain augers, elevators or grain probing devices.

The National Electrical Safety code (NESC) requires specific line clearance requirements for grain bins located near power lines. Building a grain bin too close to a power line may mean that it will have to be moved, often at the farmer's expense.

To help explain the regulations, a guide is available that describes the clearance requirements needed around grain bins, and discusses proper electrical wiring needs at the bin site.

Grubs, lice and mites rob cattle of needed nutrients

Happy, healthy and productive heifers and cows, what every dairy producer likes to have, so they use their time and nutrients for growing and making milk at her full potential.

External parasites, grubs, flies, lice and mange mites, attack the cattle's skin and quietly utilize nutrients, directly by eating blood and indirectly by making cattle uncomfortable. These stolen nutrients hinder growth and milk production. Flies are noticeable, but the size and life cycle of the other parasites are less obvious until rather severe signs are present. Before the damage is seen, they have been busy eating, multiplying and irritating, using the nutrients that could have been used in growth and production.

There are two types of cattle grubs. After popping out of the cattle's skin in the spring, they fall to the ground and develop into a bot fly, whose sole purpose is to transport eggs to other cattle. They are commonly known as the heel fly, where these large, noisy flies leave their eggs.

When hatched, the larva burrows into the skin and migrates through the body to an area under the skin on the back of the cow to form a new grub. The larva are always eating and damaging the hide.

Older cattle seem to develop immunity to grubs, therefore heifers coming in from pasture for the first time should be the focus of treatment against grubs.

There are two types of cattle lice, biting and sucking. The biters feed by eating the skin and the suckers suck the blood. This causes itching, making cattle uneasy, scratching and licking.

There are also two types of mange mites, one more common and not as severe is commonly called tail, head and heel mange. Mange can produce severe itching with cattle, causing bleeding.

It is always important to try and prevent problems before they develop, so put an external parasite control program together and remember, itchy cattle are not happy, healthy cattle.

Watch out for cattle foot rot

Foot rot is an infectious disease caused by bacteria in the damp soil. The organisms establish themselves in the foot through a break in the skin.

Wet pasture conditions and mud influence foot rot in cattle because the tissue between the toes will be softer and more easily injured.

Once an injury occurs, bacteria moves in and causes infection that moves to the foot and joints. Swelling and foul odor are strong indicators of foot rot. A cow with foot rot can redistribute harmful bacteria back into the soil with every step.

To treat the foot, restrain or sedate the animal, because the tissue between the claws is extremely sensitive. Wash the contamination off the foot and between the claws. Use clean baling twine to floss firmly between the claws, making sure a knot grabs on the softest tissue, getting to the healthy tissue to be successful. Once the dead tissue is removed, apply copper sulfate to the foot and give the cow an injection of a long acting antibiotic. Isolate affected cattle from the herd to prevent the spread of infection.

Cattle and Calf Losses
A total of 4.38 million head of cattle and calves died during 1995 in the U.S. Respiratory problems took 28.2% of the cattle with 20.2% dying from digestive problems/ Fifteen point six percent losses are from unknown causes while 15.2 are lost due to calving problems. There were 9.8% weather related deaths, while poison, thefts and other causes took 11% and predators 2.7%.

County Agent's Report by Craig Rosenbaum

TEXAS DAIRY INDUSTRY IS BIG BUSINESS

Texas ranks sixth in the nation in dairy production and has about 400,000 head of dairy cows which produced 6,098,233,434 pounds of milk in 1996. This is 15,546 pounds per cow per year and this is more than double the production of 20 years ago. Texas gained 0.1% in total milk produced for 1996. Production nationally is down 0.7% for 1996 compared to the same period of 1995.

The price paid to Texas dairy farmers in Zone 1 for 1996 was $15.20 per hundred pounds of milk, which was up from $13.10 a year earlier. Total milk sales generated over $927 million in gross returns to the state's 1620 dairy farmers. While most of the milk in the other major dairy states goes into cheese production, about 46 percent of the milk produced in Texas is marketed as fluid milk, which in part accounts for the return to the state's dairy-men. However, the high cost of feed, supplies and other services resulted in 175 dairies closing down in 1996.

Cooke County has 52 producers which produced 81,319,747 pounds of milk for 1996. At a price of $15.20 per hundred pounds, this amounts to $12,360,601.54 income in milk sales alone for the dairymen of our county. Cooke County is ranked 13th in milk sales among all Texas counties.

Texas is well recognized throughout the nation as a source of top quality breeding stock for Jersey, Holstein, Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn breeds of dairy cattle. Production records by some of the top Texas cows will match records made in any of the other dairy states.

The Texas dairy industry supports a strong feed industry and other allied businesses, including a large work force of milk and dairy product processors, distributors and retailers as they supply the Texas citizens with nature's most nearly perfect food - milk.

Detecting signs of heat stress in cows

Heat stress occurs when heat affects the cows ability to perform. The heat can come from body heat as well as air temperature, humidity and solar radiation. The cow disperses heat through panting or sweating. The more the cow pants or sweats, the greater the heat loss.

Heat stress can begin in dairy cattle when the temperature is above 78 degrees F with a humidity above 10%. The cow's performance is then affected, including milk production, breeding, calving, butterfat, protein and somatic cell count.

The first noticeable difference is reduced feed intake, which shortens the nutrient uptake, therefore declining milk production due to lack of energy and protein.

The addition of water and sodium to the diet can be important. Salt should be fed free choice and located near the water. The use of shade, fans and misters along the feed bunks also help keep down heat stress.

Don't knock the weather, nine-tenths of the people couldn't start a conversation if it didn't change once in a while.
