VOLUME IX

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1945

NUMBER 40

According to our guess there's a disappointment in store for the Jap who in a VJ day message to his people stated "We have lost—but this is temporary." The one thought now uppermost in the minds of the United Nations is to make certain that Japan's defeat is permanent.

First steps toward that end are incorporated in the provisions of the Potsdam conference. The military clique will be disbanded, arms will be confiscated, and industry capable of armament production will be banned. It is hard to imagine any nation's rise to power in the face of such handicaps.

What the speaker probably had in mind is sweating out the restrictions until allied vigilance relaxes and then proceed on the same old plan of conquest. A scheme that could work under conditions of the past few decades—but there is little chance that those conditions will return. Henceforth, we hope, there will be means of discovering and discouraging aggressive tendencies in all nations. At least that is our understanding of the purpose behind the world security council.

Another Japanese quotation worthy of note is that of Premier Suzuki. He said "this day has become the day that never, never will be forgotten by the Japanese people." Obviously he also hints at a day of vengeance, but he may have been correct in an altogether different sense. The day may be remembered as one of deliverance from the tyranny and suffering caused by the now defunct military machine.

Perhaps the rank and file of Japanese do not realize it now, but they are at the threshold of the best opportunity they have ever known. The allies have already announced their intention of encouraging free speech, free press, free enterprise and personal freedom as distinguished from the regimented, militaristic, feudal system that was in effect since the turn of the century. As individuals the Japs may confidently regard their surrender as the dawn of a new and better era. In time they may even consider their present victors as benefactors and acquire a sense of loyalty comparable to that of the Filipinos. Not so long ago, we recall, fierce tribes of those islands had to be subjected by armed force. In the war just ending those tribes were conspicuous as the only native population coming to the support of a mother country.

Sentiments like this in behalf of the Japs may be a bit premature at this time. Nevertheless possibilities for just such developments are incorporated in the Potsdam declaration, and we know from experience that public resentment toward the enemy will grow thin in a year or two after the war. It always goes that way. Our public will be opposing firm supervision and close observation of the Japs long before our officials are willing to relax their vigilance.

Unfortunately the lot of the average Jap is being jeopardized by the shameful performance of Hirohito and his top notchers in negotiating peace. First there was the delay in replying to the Allied peace offer. Then after surrender, the reluctance to cooperate with MacArthur and the deliberate failure to end hostilities on scattered fronts. Such obvious display of bad faith is no less contemptible than some of the Jap standards of warfare. Unless it ends soon we may find the war flaring up anew.

Now that the time of reconversion has arrived Con is going to stick out his neck and predict that the dire warnings about economic confusion have been mostly false alarms. This prediction is based on confidence in the integrity and good judgment of the American public.

While admitting there are some who fiddled away their lush earnings of the past few years, we believe the vast majority laid aside a reserve for the rainy day. They will be able to take a brief lay-off in their stride. Many will even welcome it as a convenient opportunity for a deserved rest or for long delayed improvements about their homes.

The same applies to men getting out of the service. Their muster-out pay plus their accumulation in bonds and savings accounts can sustain them for several months.

It's a mistake born of socialist thinking to assume that people become public changes the moment they lose their jobs. Average people show better judgment than that. Along with a right to do as they please they admit a responsibility to take care of themselves. The billions of dollars in

Erected at a cost of $1,286, the stone is of Puritan white granite, measuring four feet, four inches in height, and 8 inches in width with a 10-inch base. ## 'Fill 'er Up' Back In Usage As Gas Rationing Ends

Canned Vegetables And Fruits Also Off Ration List; Others To Follow

"Fill 'er up" is back into usage again. The old familiar phrase is being heard repeatedly since Aug. 15 when OPA announced the immediate termination of gasoline rationing, which went into effect in November 1942.

At the same time OPA lifted the rationing of canned fruits and vegetables and fuel oil.

The end of the war brought the forecast that shoes will be off the ration list by the end of the year and that nylons are due by Christmas, with elastic girdles to be back on the market by next year.

The War Production Board said the long awaited day for most critical items is still four to six months away, and forecast something like this:

Nylon hose are expected by Christmas.

Elastic girdles will not be plentiful until 1946.

Sheets and pillowcases: Slightly better supplies are expected as early as September with considerable improvement during the last three months of the year.

Shoes: Increases of civilian supplies are anticipated within days or weeks with the possibility of rationing ending soon.

Rationing of meats, fats, oils, butter sugar and tires will continue until lowered military requirements and increased production bring civilian supplies in balance with civilian demands.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Vogel are the parents of a daughter, Justice, born at the family home on Aug. 12. The baby was baptised on Aug. 15 by her uncle, the Rev. Alfred Hoehn of Corpus Christi who visited relatives here last week. Serving as godparents were Lawrence Vogel and Mrs. Leo Fetsch of Rhineland.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Henschel announce the arrival of a daughter at the local clinic on Saturday, Aug. 18. The baby was named Carol Marie at her baptism Sunday. Father Thomas officiated at the service assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henschel as sponsors. Mr. Henschel served as proxy for S. Sgt. Harold Trachta overseas with the army.

Mrs. N.J. Mayer and infant daughter, Mary Rose, who have been living in Chicago left during the week for Fort Devens, Mass., to make their home. Pfc. Mayer is stationed there. Mrs. Mayer is the former Miss Josephine Yosten of this city.

Rhineland Parish Observes Golden Jubilee Tuesday

A half century of notable development in the community was celebrated Tuesday with a Golden Jubilee, commemorating the founding of Saint Joseph's parish and community at Rhineland.

Sponsored by the parish, the anniversary celebration was highlighted by a Pontifical High Mass, the church's most sacred and colorful religious service. His Excellency the Most Rev. Joseph P. Lynch, Bishop of Dallas, officiated.

Bishops, abbots and numerous other members of the clergy attended, who along with the laity brought the attendance to more than 4,000 guests.

The celebration and coronation ceremonies were held in the parish hall and Miss Bernadine Urbanczyk was crowned Miss Rhineland, Queen of the Golden Jubilee. School children participated in the coronation ceremonies by presenting a fantasy and forming the procession preceding the Pontifical Mass.

Concerts were given by the Pep Texas Band, the Lone Star Band and Rhythm Orchestra. The afternoon was filled with activities by the women's group and other events and the celebration ended with a platform dance.

To accommodate the large crowd, tents were erected on the parish grounds for bazaar activities and for operation of refreshment concessions.

A renovation program for the whole town had been underway for more than a week. Elaborate decorations in the church, extending even to the business and residential districts.

Designed to be the most elaborate celebration in the Rhineland history, the event drew hundreds of former residents and citizens from neighboring towns.

Rev. Father John, assistant pastor here, headed a delegation from this city.

Plans for the affair were under the supervision of the Rhineland pastor, Rev. Herman Laux, a native of Lindsay, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Laux of that town.

LOCAL GIRLS ASKED TO REPRESENT CITY AT GAINESVILLE SHOW

There is no limit to the number that may enter, it was pointed out. Muenster girls wishing to compete are asked to leave their names well in advance with Miss Loretta Hartman at the local REA office.

U.S. TREASURY IS PLANNING VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson has announced that he has begun plans for a Victory Loan drive. It will be the eighth War Bond campaign and is expected to be launched in October.

Vinson said it should "provide a fitting climax for the series of successful drives by which we at home have financed the war."

It is probable that the goal will be ten to fourteen billion dollars. The last drive, the 7th, had a goal of 14 billion dollars.

In the seven drives the nation has subscribed 135 billion 749 million dollars, toward combined goals of 95 billion dollars.

PARTY AT LAKE SUNDAY HONORS JOHN MYRICK

Schools To Open Here Sept. 10th

Public School Faculty Re-elected; Parish High School Staff Complete

School bells will ring again in Muenster on Monday, September 10, it was announced this week.

The teaching staff for the Public school is complete, the same faculty having been reappointed for another year. It consists of John J. Hoffman, superintendent, and Mrs. L. Burchfield, Mrs. Daisy Thompson and Miss Elfrida Luke.

Rev. Thomas Buerger, pastor of Sacred Heart parish, in making the announcement that Sept. 10 is the opening date for Sacred Heart school, added that the faculty has not been definitely named to date but that there will be at least three changes in the teaching staff.

The three high school teachers have been named definitely. They are Sister Geraldine, Sister Jerome and Sister Eymard. The latter is a new member of the faculty. She arrived here Friday and Sister Geraldine had come in earlier. Sister Jerome is expected next week.

By next week the eight teachers for the grade department will be confirmed. Already here are Sisters Anastasia, Gebharda and Remigia, who were on last year's staff. Expected back for another term are Sisters Genevieve, Martina and Theophane. Two new teachers on the faculty will replace Sisters Louise and Xavier who have been assigned to other schools for the coming term.

Meanwhile, workmen are rushing to complete the high school building so that everything will be in order for the opening day. All inside carpenter work was completed Tuesday, after which follows sanding of the floors and painting. The remodeling program has provided ample space for 100 students and the coming term promises to enroll the greatest number of students in the history of the high school.

The school was recently accredited by the Texas State Board of Education.

Other advantages as the result of the building program are rearrangement of class rooms for greater convenience, added windows, for more correctly placed lighting, and general improvement in the inside and outside appearance of the structure.

It has been stated that school buses will run on the same routes as during the past year. Four will be in operation.

Tentatively the opening hour has been set at 9 a.m. for both schools. At the parochial school classes are preceded by Mass for the students.

More than 400 students are expected to register on opening day at the two institutions.

BROTHER OF MISS MARGARET SIMONS CAR WRECK VICTIM

Visiting here last week as the guest of his sister, Miss Margaret Simons, was Jake Simons of Leoti Kansas. When he left Miss Margaret accompanied him, planning to take a 10-day vacation with him to visit relatives at Robstown, Raymondville and Port Isabel and enroute back to stop at Windthorst with relatives.

Greeting cards came from Robstown Monday stating that both were enjoying the trip, but on Tuesday a telegram arrived advising that Jake Simons had been injured in a car wreck Saturday night and had died Monday evening. The message was sent to the Sacred Heart rectory by a son of the deceased and since it did not mention Miss Margaret, Pastor Father Thomas thinking she might have been in the accident telephoned relatives to secure more details.

He learned that Miss Margaret was not in the car at the time of the wreck, and that she plans to accompany the body to Leoti where burial will be held. Complete details were not learned.

Miss Margaret is housekeeper for the local pastors.

Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Devers and little son of Gainesville visited here Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Knabe and family.

County Agent Urges Use Of "Safe" Insecticides

"In small Victory gardens there is advantage in relying as far as possible on the 'safe' insecticides that are used in dosages which kill insects and are not poisonous to men and animals," says B.T. Haws, County Agent for the A. and M. College Extension Service. Rotenone and pyrethrum are not plentiful this season and substitutes may have to be used, especially on large plantings, but safety factors make these materials particularly desirable for use in home gardens. At close quarters the application of an arsenical to one crop may endanger another because of the drift of dust or spray. "Nearly all gardeners will require at least one nicotine preparation for use against sucking insects (particularly aphids). Nicotine is an active poison and should be used and stored carefully," Haws says.

If it is necessary to use calcium arsenate or cryolite, care must be exercised in preventing accidents. Care of stored material and care in application is emphasized so as to avoid residues on parts of crops that are used for food. Following is a list of precautions recommended: (1) Do not keep garden or household insecticides in the storage spaces used for food where they might get mixed up. Mark insecticides clearly and keep them locked up. (2) Keep insecticides out of the mouth and eyes when mixing or applying them. (3) Keep the body covered when spraying. (4) Do not leave containers of poison open or unguarded. Put them away after mixing a batch, and keep animals and children away from the mixed insecticides.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB
 of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

A very good friend of mine says he has spent most of his time trying to figure out how to prolong his life, but if he doesn't get the answer in another five years he's going to quit worrying about it. He was 90 this spring.

A cow, now, is much more inclined to worry about whether you are figuring out how to prolong the number of days each year she can spend in a good, rich pasture. This is a fine time to take steps to give more pasture days to your herd. Seeding of crops which will provide fall, winter and spring grazing should be done in August or early September.

In this area, barley, rye and rye grass hold preference among the extension folks for seeding in August or September, to provide this additional pasture. There are several recommended varieties of barley and rye which will do the job for you.

Wheat ranks high on the list for fall grazing in Oklahoma, also, but Missouri places barley first. Here are some bulletins which discuss this problem which you can get from the extension services as listed:

Experiment Station Circular 193, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.; Bulletin OP-87, Bulletin OP-89 and Experiment Station Circular C-116, Oklahoma A & M College, Stillwater, Okla.*

The first thing you do before you start to shave your whiskers off is lather your face. Purdue University says you should do the same thing for your pastures. In this case, however, instead of lather, what you should use is limestone.

Liming a soil gets it ready for production, just as the lather gets your face ready for shaving. Liming "conditions" the soil—that is, it puts the soil in a favorable condition to make full use of nitrogen, phosphate and potash. It is not a substitute for fertilizer.

Use of limestone in your pasture will help legumes to grow and will improve the quality of other forage plants, Missouri says. Weeds will be discouraged because grasses will take hold better and crowd them out, if the soil is "sweetened" with lime.

You can apply limestone at any time of the year. Because quarries are behind in their deliveries, I suggest you place your order now so as to be sure to get an adequate supply as soon as possible.

You'll be interested in reading discussions of lime I found in Circular 218, Extension Service, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., and Publication 208, Extension Service, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.*

A man wouldn't give his wife a pearl or ruby or something of the sort strung on a piece of baling wire. Yet there are places where you don't see the proper setting for something which is far more precious than any jewel.

I'm talking about milk, of course. Everybody knows the dairy industry is the biggest business there is and that milk is the most vital food product produced.

Milk needs to be handled properly, which makes a milkhouse most important on a dairy farm. Right at this moment you can do more concrete planning for a milkhouse than you've been able to do for a long time.

Lumber is being released for farm construction. Before many months pass the labor situation on farms may be relieved to some extent. A milkhouse pays dividends because it provides a separate and better place for handling milk; it has a place to cool milk and it provides a proper place for sterilizing and storing utensils.

Your county agent and the fieldman from your dairy plant can help you with plans and I'd like to suggest that now is a mighty good time to get ready to build a milkhouse.

*NOTE: There usually is a 5c charge for pamphlets mailed to non-residents of a state, but possibly your own state has a free pamphlet on the same subject. Ask your county agent.

THE SUMMER SEASON...

means extra work for your electric refrigerator and a regular system of correct care and use will prove invaluable in prolonging its usefulness. Check the suggestions listed below... you'll find them helpful in keeping your refrigerator on the job for vital wartime service.

HERE ARE SUGGESTIONS THAT WILL HELP...

- 1—DEFROST REGULARLY... Follow manufacturer's directions. Defrost when ice on freezer reaches approximate pencil thickness. Too much frost makes mechanism work harder to maintain proper refrigeration.
- 2—STORE FOODS PROPERLY... Meats and fish below in the cold storage container; milk and cream on top; butter, left-overs in the middle; vegetables and fruits in the crisper. Avoid overcrowding of foods—it retards necessary air circulation.
- 3—KEEP THE INSIDE FRESH, CLEAN... Wash with baking soda and water. Don't forget the freezer. Use soap and water for the shelves... and don't open the door too often—this overworks your refrigerator... especially in hot weather.

Mayoroddities

By J. M. Weinzapfel
Muenster Mayor

The enemy has surrendered, so we can be thankful to know that our boys in the far-flung corners of the world have hope to return home in due course. The responsibility of our citizenship will be even greater to meet the hopes and ambitions of the returning veterans. Our post-war planning will become a reality, for it will not be just planning but actually executing plans to create employment and improve every possible circumstance so that we have a better community to live in so that all can enjoy the many inventions and improvements discovered during the past mighty conflict. Those in military service and civilians had to deny themselves of many comforts when every effort was applied to win the war.

Now the time is here to come to definite conclusions as to the needs of our city. The administration of our city affairs are not disposed to force improvements and new construction upon the citizens, therefore invitation preails for suggestions as to the needs for the future development. In order to facilitate the definite and specific planning for such improvements, the Federal Bureau of Community Facilities has granted a loan to the City of Muenster of $1,200.00 for the engineering services required to improve our water-works system and build a swimming pool. Also $1,200.00 loan is granted to acquire architectural services in the construction of a Municipal Building that would provide accommodations for a City Hall, City Library, Council and Corporation Court room, Fire-department, Vault and Office room, rest rooms, recreation room for the volunteer fire-department and supply and repairs for the city utilities.

The engineers favor the location of the swimming pool on the North portion of West half of Block No. 39 being the tract the city now owns and where the No. 1 City Water well is located. On this tract a nice park could be developed, trees, shrubbery and flowers planted to beautify the grounds and make use of the water from the swimming pool to water the plantings. This would make double use of the water, be convenient to the business and resident section of our City. The water connection can be conveniently made to the new proposed water line from the new City water well to the present ground reservoir, thereby avoid operating the booster pump into the elevated tank for the water supply to the swimming pool, and the water would be pumped direct from New Well into the proposed pool. At this time the weeds on the ground and out-buildings nearby are not pleasing to suggest this site. However the revenue from such installation should justify plans to make this a beauty-spot of our city instead of the eye-sore it now is.

It has been suggested to locate the Municipal Building on the South-side of the Elevated Water Tank Tower, where it would not occupy any ground now used for any purpose on the City Square and be centrally and prominently located for convenience and practical purposes. Some are questioning the idea and say how are we going to pay for all this planning and construction. We can recall the same expressions when the water and sewerage systems were installed and we must admit that no one has found anyone that would want to part with them now and the financing has not been a burden on any individual, even though vested in war bonds prove conclusively that people have been taking care of themselves.

Neither is Con perturbed over the threat of widespread unemployment. There are too many things to be done. Working at the old time basis of efficiency it will take a few years to catch up with the demand for cars, radios, electrical appliances, and the many other things we used to take for granted. Then there's the matter of building and repairing homes, churches, schools, municipal buildings, roads, dams, and what not. In addition there are the vast possibilities opened by scientific advancement during the war. New some had to pay taxes without service their property has enhanced in value may times more on account of these installations. The financing can be discussed later, after the citizens determine what Muenster should have for its welfare and future development.

Pan-Americana

With the present trend for Latin-American music, this comedy with-music is swell entertainment, the kind of entertainment that everybody will enjoy. The story tells of several members of the editorial staff of a magazine who go to South America for the purpose of gathering material for a feature on Latin-American beauties. Boy meets girl and a number of complications arise before the situation is cleared up.

The cast is excellent with Phillip Terry, Robert Benchly, Eve Arden and others. There is, for instance, Miquelita Valdes from the Curaz show, Rosario and Antonio who do some excellent dancing; and there are three different bands, Samba, Rhuma and Conga.

developments in plastics, drugs, television, radar, radio, refrigeration, jet and turbine power, perhaps even the commercial use of atomic energy. There will be no shortage of work, and resourceful men will be crying over a shortage of opportunities.

A welcome trend the past few weeks has been the mounting opposition to peace time military conscription. With President Truman adding his objection the measure seems to have even less chance than before.

In all probability the president is thinking of a larger standing army and a larger, more active reserve army as our first line of defense. However it seems that he expects to operate on a basis of voluntary service. That's the important point. Regimentation and compulsion do not fit in a society dedicated to the principles of freedom.

At this time compulsory training is not justified on the basis of preparedness. For the next several years our country can depend in an emergency upon the millions of men to be released from the armed services within the next year. After that, if world conditions warrant, military training can still be introduced. However, we fervently hope by then other nations will have seen the light and decided to reduce their military strength. In the long run a policy of equal unpreparedness is just as safe and far more conducive to international harmony and prosperity.
