

Approved funds geared to improve EMS training

by Janet Felderhoff
"This is a big step for emergency medical care in Cooke County," remarked Cooke County EMS Director Bob Harbin. Emergency medical care in Cooke County should soon be greatly improved. On the recommendation of Douglas P. Lewis, M. D., Cooke County Emergency Medical Service will soon have a full time training officer. It was one of the first things Dr. Lewis recommended when he took over as the county's medical director last October.

Cooke County Commissioners Court approved funding ($14,000) for this year, for a salaried full time training officer at its April 13 regular meeting. They also authorized the EMS Department to have two paramedics, rather than a paramedic and an EMT.

Harbin noted that there was money budgeted this year to work with Gainesville Memorial Hospital in training. The training officer would be used to train the county's volunteer fire department personnel, as well as EMS employees.

"The volunteer fire departments have come a long way in being first responders," said Harbin. "We need someone who can continually work with these people, especially since we're now getting AEDs (automatic external defibrillator) in the county - not only the AEDs, but the basic life support. With my current staffing, the number of personnel we have, the numbers of hours we're already work there is just no way we can handle it."

County volunteer fire departments with AEDs are Muenster, Callisburg, and Lake Kiowa.

Just staying up with required certifications doesn't keep the EMS people up on the latest changes in medical techniques, Harbin explained. The Cooke County EMS tries to have training classes to keep them updated.

Since the county purchased a new radio system and pagers for all of the county's volunteer fire departments, the volunteer fire departments, acting as first responders, reach emergency minutes after calls. Since they are based in communities, the first responders are able to give care more quickly than the ambulance crews who must usually travel from Gainesville.

"They want more training and we need to provide it to them," said Harbin in an interview after the meeting.

"We want to set up the training classes at their conveniences. They already give so much to the citizens of our county. They're all doing a bang up job."

It is the plan of Dr. Lewis to have the training officer ride with EMS crews on calls at times to evaluate their skills and determine what skills need upgrading. The person hired for the position will be required to have multiple certifications.

Normally the EMS crews work 60 hours a week, but Harbin said that they have been working 80 to 90 hour weeks due to being on call to handle all of the out of towns (transfers).

The number of employees at EMS hasn't increased since 1979 said Harbin in answer to the commissioners question. Harbin remarked that he had a problem hiring seasoned paramedics. He also noted that he is losing paramedics to the Metroplex because he can't compete with the salaries of departments in the Metroplex. There is a $4,000 to $6,000 difference in pay starting out, he said.

The reason that Harbin requested permission to have two paramedics on a crew is that two can get a lot more done on an accident scene than a paramedic assisted by an EMT. Paramedics have about one year of additional training than an EMT, said Harbin. They can give more advanced care to the patients such as starting IVs, administering drugs, and intubating.

Harbin has encouraged the EMTs to further their training and several are now taking courses to become paramedics. When they become certified they will be paid as paramedics. This will result in the need for an increase in the EMS budget for next year.

Deterioration on the outside of the county courthouse is jeopardizing the interior. "If we don't start some kind of preservation on the outside there's mold or something. There's an awful smell in there. I'm afraid it is going to affect books after a while because it runs underneath the bookshelves."

Brown bows to Cox as Commissioner nominee

by Janet Felderhoff
Bill Cox won the Republican Party nomination for Cooke County Commissioner of Precinct #2 in the April 14 run-off elections. His victory came at the expense of incumbent Richard Brown. Cox contends with Democratic nominee Royce Martin in November for the commissioner position.

Bill Cox received 528 votes and Richard Brown 420. There were 1,189 votes cast in Cooke County according to the County Clerk's office. The Lake Kiowa area had the largest voter turnout.

There were three run offs on the state level. Barry Williamson and John Cornyn were contenders for attorney general. Although Cooke County voted 600 for Williamson and 502 for Cornyn, Cornyn won the GOP nomination. His opponent this fall is Democrat Jim Mattox.

State-wide winners in the Republican election for State Court of Criminal Appeals were Mike Keasler and Cheryl Johnson. Cooke County voted 504 for Vicki Issaks and 502 for Mike Keasler; 627 for Cheryl Johnson and 364 for Harvey Hudson.

MISD must maintain 22:1 ratio

by Steve Cooper
In the weeks to follow I will try to communicate to MISD residents reasons for the recent decision by Muenster school board to call for a bond election on May 16, 1998. Always, the number one reason behind all decisions in the school business, is to provide the best education possible for our students. Important questions must be asked to determine a course of action to address what is needed, why it is needed, where it is needed, how can it be paid for, and who pays for it.

This article will deal with what is needed and why. The why first. MISD is experiencing an increase in its enrollment. MISD's board had the Texas Association of School Administrators do an in-depth study on enrollment and projections in the spring of 1997. Enrollment numbers have impacted our district the most in the elementary school. The Texas Education Agency (TEA) requires elementary grades K-4 to be split when enrollment exceeds a teacher/pupil ratio of 22:1. All elementary grades are now split because enrollment exceeds TEA allowables in each grade. (Eight years ago only one class was split). Two elementary grades are close to another split (two have 40 students). We have no place to put the extra classes. MISD would like to consider moving it's Pre-K program on campus - that cannot be done either since we have no room.

While enrollment has increased at the middle school campus and high school campus, district needs on those campuses are driven more by added curriculum offerings. This means that MISD has to offer new classes that it did not

by Carly Stark

Knightly News
Lindsay ISD's high standards and excellent reputation are two of the many qualities that attracted Travis S. Winn to Lindsay as the fourth superintendent in the school district's history.

Winn formally accepted the position of Superintendent of Schools April 1 following his unanimous selection by the Lindsay ISD Board of Trustees. He will take the reins from Superintendent Gilbert Hermes who has announced his retirement effective the end of the current school year.

Winn, and his wife, Sheryl have one son, Justin, who is presently a junior at Texas A&M University. Winn hopes to begin his duties June 1. According to Winn, the school is what he was looking for. "Lindsay has a great reputation, and a lot of talents," he said.

Winn, 53, has been superintendent at Gary for three years, and from 1993-1995, he was superintendent of Leakey ISD in Leakey, Texas. He grew up in Brownwood,

LISD Superintendent Travis Winn

Texas, and worked for his family-owned drug store, Winn Pharmacy. Winn believes that working at the drug store helped give him the experience that he uses toward his career. "The experience I gained in the retailing business was a good foundation for my college major, business administration and subsequently teaching marketing education," he said. Winn has attended various universities in Texas through the years. From 1963 to 1968, he was a student at Howard Payne University in Brownwood and graduated with a Bachelor of Science. At HPU, he majored in Business Administration with a minor in history. From there, he attended the University of North Texas in Denton and received a Master of Education achieving a major in Educational Administration and minor in Vocational Administration. He was issued a certificate to become a principal from Texas Christian University in Fort Worth and later went on to receive a certificate for the superintendent position from Tarleton State University in Stephenville.

His hobbies include farm and ranching activities, gardening, photography, and traveling. He is a member of several affiliations including Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, and Lions Club. He is also involved in several Professional Educational Organizations, such as The Texas Association of School Administrators, The Texas Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, and The Texas also exists on the first floor. Mrs. Walterscheid noted that it was so bad in one area that it rusted out the filing cabinets where water ran down the walls. "Until we stop the moisture from the outside it doesn't do any good to paint or repair on the inside," said Junior.

Komatsu Architecture, the firm used by Cooke County for courthouse restoration, recommended that the county hire another company to remove some of the terra cotta tiles to test the pins holding them and check on the condition of the area they cover. The estimated cost is $17,000.

Precinct #4 Commissioner Virgil Hess remarked that at first he wasn't for the testing. After looking around and finding some areas with exposed steel that didn't appear to be in very good condition, he changed his mind. He suggested that they go ahead with the testing so that the architect could get them to the bidding point for the restoration.

In a 5-0 vote it was agreed to hire the firm recommended by Komatsu. An offer of $10,833.25 from the insurance company of the car that rear-ended a Cooke County Sheriff's Department car was accepted. It was for the vehicle only and didn't include equipment such as radios and lights.

Sheriff Mike Compton sought the advice of Commissioners Court on the replacement of the wrecked vehicle. His budget was amended by $10,833.25. He was advised that he would need to purchase a replacement vehicle from his budget with that amount or any additional money already in his budget to cover such expenses.

County Judge Russell Duncan opened the meeting by reading the Commissioner's Court Road Meeting from August 18, 1862. This was done in observance of the county's Sesquicentennial Year.

In other business conducted at the April 13 Commissioners court meeting:

- Approval was given 4-0-1 for the preliminary plat for Cross Timber Hills Estates Subdivision in Precinct #2. Judge Duncan abstained from voting.

- Denise Darnell was appointed to fill the vacant position of Place 4 on the Child Welfare Board.

- Indigent burial was approved for Juan Salazar and Morris Covey.

- Approval was given for the preliminary plat of South Ridge of Lindsay Phase II.

- Public official bonds were approved for two employees of the Sheriff's Department.

- Approved minutes of last meeting, bills, and monthly reports.

NEW CLASSES

offer in the past. Much of the curriculum changes occur because of state requirements (for instance - several years ago the state raised the graduation requirement to 22 credits - MISD requires 24 credits). This meant additional classroom space was needed.

There are three graduation plans required by the state: the regular plan, the recommended plan, and the distinguished achievement plan. The recommended and distinguished plans require even more course offerings such as advanced placement courses, a third year of foreign language, and more math and science than other graduation plans. Local requirements also bear heavily on space requirements. Several years ago MISD began teaching Algebra I in the 8th grade to allow some of our students an opportunity to take an additional year of advanced math. Computer courses are constantly being evaluated and our district must offer this current technology to our students. This requires additional classroom space.

Specialized classes are a must. By that, I mean classes that are generally small because of either the special equipment needed, or the small number taking the course, or a combination of the two. Our NTEN class is a specialized class - students take classes for dual credit from North Central Texas College over our interactive video system. Computer Aided Drafting classes, science labs, and computer labs, are other examples. Currently, we don't have space for an elementary science lab or middle school science and computer lab. These are things the state strongly recommends, but we don't have room.

To solve this problem, the board has called for a bond election on May 16, 1998. The bond will be for $1.7 million. The board has indicated they would like the residents of the community to have input into the proposed solution by casting their vote in May. In the meantime the board will make every effort to get out factual information (this article an example of that), so that each voter can vote their conscience.

The bond includes a new high school composed of 10 regular classrooms, a science lab, a homemaking lab, a computer lab, storage space, administrative space, teacher work area, and conference area. Also included in the bond will be a new roof for the elementary building and heating and air conditioning units for that same building.

This will solve our space problems by allowing us to use the existing elementary building for grades PK-3, and move grades 4 and 5 to the middle school, move the middle school to the old high school, and move the old high school to the new high school. This gives the district ample additional classrooms at the elementary for future growth needs. It also gives the elementary a science lab and classroom for art. The middle school gains a computer lab, science lab, and art classroom as well as additional classroom space for future needs. The high school gains additional classroom space for future needs.

Organizations, citywide, have been contacted hoping they will be interested in having the issue explained to their membership at their next meeting. If any group has not been contacted and would like the issue explained, please contact Steve Cooper at 759-2281 ext. 601.

Future articles will go more into detail in explaining the specifics concerning need, what is being proposed to meet this need, how it will be financed, where the building will be constructed, and when the voting will take place.

Brochures will help explain MISD's need for bond election

The Planning and Organization Committee for Muenster ISD's bond issue, has met for the second time. The Committee, composed of about 20 members, is working to determine the best way to get information to the community concerning the pending bond issue. The committee has produced a brochure that gives information pertaining to the Why, What, How, Where, and When of the project.

Brochures will be made available to businesses throughout the city. Hopefully, they will explain much of the reasoning creating the need for

by Carly Stark, Assistant Editor
Knighly News
Lindsay School Board candidates will be featured during a forum at 7:30 p.m. April 21 in Lindsay's School Cafeteria.

Lindsay school and city elections will be held May 2. The candidates are: incumbent Chris Hundt and David Arendt and newcomer Pat Fuhrmann. Voters will select two of three candidates on May 2.

The April 21 forum is sponsored by the Lindsay Education Association (LEA), an affiliate of TSTANEA.

Tom Carson, manager of the KGAF radio station, will be the moderator. The League of Women Voter's format will be used to conduct the forum.

Each candidate will be given a two-minute introduction. Each person will then be given one minute to respond. The closing statement by each candidate will last three minutes.

The audience will have a chance to submit questions in writing during the forum. LEA will start the forum by asking three questions to the three candidates.

Refreshments will be served afterwards to give the audience an opportunity to visit with the candidates. The Knights of Columbus will contribute by helping to set up for the forum and cleaning up afterwards.

Association of School Public Relations, just to name a few.

According to board president, Bob Reese, selecting from all of the qualified candidates was a hard choice. "All the candidates were very fine, and it was a very tough decision to make," he said. Winn was selected from among five finalists chosen by a firm hired to find a new superintendent for Lindsay.

Reese went on to say more positive things about Winn. "He is a first class individual and is very involved with the teachers and classes. He possesses good communication skills, a great sense of humor and is very refined and supportive. We heard hardly any negative comments about Winn; everyone we talked to thought the world of him."

Winn is very excited about coming to Lindsay, and he has good ideas for the future. "I hope to bring new school management ideas into the present system and enhance what Lindsay has already accomplished."

Lindsay Jr. 4-H meeting

Twenty-six members and eighteen adult leaders attended the March 16 meeting of the Lindsay Junior 4-H Club. Kevin Lutkenhaus presided; Jenny Schroeder led the Inspiration, USA, and Nathan Hermes led the 4-H Inspiration.

The Lindsay Jr. 4-H Club made plans to hold a bake sale over weekend Masses, April 4 and April 5 at St. Peter's. Erin Wyrick made the motion and the majority carried. All members reported on their entries and ribbons won at the 4-H and Cooke County Youth Fair.

A program on fire safety and escape routes was presented by Dale Alexander and Danny Zwinggi of the Lindsay Volunteer Fire Department. They were introduced by Randi Reed.

The next meeting will be on April 14 at 7:00 p.m.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

A number of years ago, Aileen, her brother Jack and wife Jeanne, and myself decided to take a look at Big Bend National Park.

It was in the fall of the year and not too hot, so we spent our days there driving out to certain areas in the mornings, and then parking the car and hiking to many of the special sites.

Some of the places, such as Bouquillas Canyon are in rather remote areas, and it is a pretty strenuous hike entailing some climbing to get there, but it is worth the effort.

Another canyon, Elena, is much easier to get to, but is more spectacular, with its sheer walls reaching some 1500 into space.

It is possible to walk your way well into this canyon, on foot, along the Rio Grande, but now and then we had to squeeze our bodies between huge boulders and the canyon walls before finally running out of dry land.

This Park is mostly desert and most of the vegetation shows that Mother Nature has given almost all of it a great deal of protection from man and animals.

If it doesn't prick you, it will grab you with its thorns or fend off anything with sharp spines and other stickers. Even what seems to be lush green grass is barbed and sharp.

Yet the Park is home to many wild animals. Daily we saw herds of mule deer, an occasional coyote, and always the javelins which we had been warned may attack if followed too closely.

After three enjoyable days we took our leave by way of FM 170 - "El Camino del Rio" or "The River Road," a spectacularly beautiful drive, from Lajitas to Presidio. In some of the wild and beautiful areas we passed through, we again stopped and did a bit more hiking.

Jack and I were walking together when we spied a horse lying flat on its side, not showing any signs of life, and after watching it for some time we thought it dead, and continued our walk, but when we returned the animal was up and grazing on the sparse grass.

A bit surprised, I told Jack he was witnessing a miracle. "Yonder stands a dead horse. He simply arched an eyebrow a bit, but ventured no reply.

They will perform Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, The Pirates of Penzance in a dinner theater at the NCTC Little Theater. Shown above practicing are two of the lead soloists, Amber Stone and Bryce Gage, with Dr. Michael Linder, director, and John Dill, accompanist. At press time, the evening is a near sell-out, but Linder says there may be an encore performance if demand is high.

More than 400 Musters will be held around the world this year. During wars, Aggies mustered in foxholes, on the battlefield, aboard ships, in airplanes and in medical hospitals. In W.W.II, a Muster was held on Corregidor Island shortly before the Japanese captured it in 1942.

Every Muster ceremony is the same. Texas Aggies pay their respects to all those who are absent because of death since the last Muster. When the names of the honored dead are called from the Muster Roll, a friend of the deceased answers "HERE!"

Eight initiated into Catholic Church at the Easter Vigil

Eight persons were initiated in the Catholic Church at the Easter Vigil Service at Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, April 11. Father Tom Craig, pastor, presided. The ceremony began outside the front entrance with a blessing of fire and lighting of the Easter candle, attended by a very large number of parishioners. As they entered in a procession into the darkened church, all carried lighted candles.

The Choral Group sang the traditional "Exsultet." Afterwards several Scripture Readings recounted high points of Salvation's history. After a procession with the gospels, followed by incensing, Father Tom read one of the accounts of the empty tomb. A procession of parishioners poured water into the baptismal font. Lorena Taylor then presented the Christ for Confirmation.

Following the Litany of the Saints and blessing of the Baptismal water, the Sacrament of Baptism of Kay Lee Price and Cynthia Voth was conferred by Father Tom Craig. They were presented with a white Baptismal garment and a candle. Kay

Lee's godparents were Laura and Jimmy Fisher and Cynthia's was John Nasche.

Six adults who had previously been baptized in other Christian denominations then made their profession of Faith. They included Audrey Brandon, Jeff McAden, Florence Valliere, Candise Abney, Rachel Covington and Clifford Cox.

The Sacrament of Confirmation for all was officiated by Father Tom Craig. Confirmation sponsors were Doris Koessler, Regi Bayer, Tom Valliere, Alice Walterscheid, Carol Sicking, and Bernard Hesse.

Four of the newly initiated presented the Offertory gifts of bread and wine at the altar. Then all eight received Holy Communion for the first time.

The entire service was enhanced by sacred music and worshipful songs led by the Sacred Heart Choral Group under direction of Patti Bayer. The new members of Sacred Heart Church were greeted in a receiving line outside church, and honored with a reception in the Sacred Heart cafeteria.

In observance of Children's Dental Health Month, Dr. Gerald Graham invited local elementary students for a tour of his office. The Sacred Heart Second Grade were instructed on proper dental hygiene techniques. They enjoyed the demonstration of the Intraoral Camera, which enabled them to see a closeup of their teeth. All students were given a toothbrush and a timer to aid them in their dental hygiene routine.

Volunteers make Muenster Public Library possible

by Kay Broyles

April 19-25 is National Library week. It's a time to reflect on our own library, past, present, and future.

Our library was established by the Catholic Daughters of America in 1959 in the home of Julia Weinzapfel. The library moved several times as it expanded. In 1970, the library moved to its current location.

It became accredited by the state of Texas in 1975. In order to become accredited, the volunteers and the community had to collect 10,000 volumes of books, be open 20 hours a week, and have a paid librarian. This task was accomplished. The library now houses close to 20,000 books, and once again is looking to expand not only its walls but its services.

Without the work and dedication of our volunteer staff, we would not have library in Muenster. The volunteers know and do all aspects of running a library. They check all the books in and out at the circulation desk, and reshelve books. They prepare all new books to put on the shelves. This is a six step process which takes quite a lot of time. They help to remove old and damaged books from the shelves, which is a four step process. The volunteers do filing, typing, and all the custodial care of the building. They answer all reference questions, call people on overdue books, and assist the customers in whatever way they can.

Teresa Fowler started volunteering at the library in 1974. For 24 years, she has been giving over 20 hours of her time a week. Teresa is the "corporate mind" of our facility. She knows all the books, all the library rules and procedures, and all the history of who, what, and when events happened in the library's history.

Betty Felderhoff, Evelyn Koessler, and Marci Klement all serve one 8-hour day a week. Betty began in 1974, Evelyn in 1980, and Marci in 1989. Agatha Wolf also gave us 14 years of faithful service. Alice Davidson has given three hours a week since 1996.

Having a permanent volunteer staff is a gift that is unique to Muenster Public Library. I believe that we are the only library within the Northeast Texas Library System to have a staff with such a longevity record. The community of Muenster is very fortunate to have such skilled and dedicated workers. Please take the time to thank these ladies for the service that they give to you and your community.

We would also like to thank our past librarians still living in our area: Pat Weaver, Mary Mosler, and Bobbie Jean Slater; and our volunteer administrative board: Pat Stelzer, Ramona Felderhoff, Bert Hesse, Lou Heers, Jeanette Meurer, Tom Valliere, and Janie Hartman; Jewel Otto and the city council.

Remember to stop by and see us during National Library week.

Sacred Heart Preschool accepting applications

Sacred Heart Preschool is recognized as an accredited school by the Texas Education Agency and by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. In 1988 Sacred Heart Preschool was the winner of the prestigious St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Award.

The Sacred Heart Preschool provides a learning experience for three, four, and five year olds. The basic principals, methods and materials developed by Maria Montessori are used as a foundation for the program. The environment consists of five main areas: 1. Sensory activities; 2. Practical life activities; 3. Language; 4. Mathematical reasoning; 5. Cultural activities.

Preschool children are treated with respect making them aware of their worth as individuals. Children experience learning as a fun activity thus beginning a positive attitude toward education at an early age.

Teachers and aides work directly with each child's hands-on activities. They encourage the child's freedom to choose their own activities. The children are also given the opportunity to work on the classroom computer.

Sacred Heart Preschool offers half day classes from 7:55 a.m. to 11:15 p.m.; or 12:15 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.; or full day classes from 8:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Also if enough are interested, an extended day for those parents who work until 5:00 will be offered.

Parents who are interested in viewing the school need to call Pam Dangelmayr at 759-2511, ext. 46 for an appointment.

Anyone wanting an application may call the school business office at 759-2511, ext. 24 or an application can be picked up at the school business office located in the west end of the convent (behind the elementary).

Applications will be available for pick up starting April 21. Please pick up as soon as possible so evaluations can get started. Spaces are limited.

Six Flags Over Texas puts the thrill in learning

Six Flags Over Texas transforms into a fun-filled, open-air classroom during THE annual Physics Day, April 17, and Math & Science Day, April 24. Thousands of high school students from the Southwest will challenge the laws of physics and the rate of speed on the park's thrilling, high-tech roller coasters and other exciting rides.

There is plenty of space available to join in on the fun during these exclusive education days. Teachers can inquire about the activities or sign-up their classes by calling 817/640-8900 ext. 4100. Tickets must be purchased two weeks in advance.

High school and junior high school teachers are able to take a lesson plan out of the classroom and apply complex formulas to signature rides such as Flashback, Judge Roy Scream and Texas Giant. The park's streets become a sea of tens as they explore the laws of gravity with their hand-made physics instruments and challenging workbooks.

Working in partnership with area science teachers, Six Flags Over Texas created Physics Day to help students transfer theory into motion.

Physics Day challenges students to solve teacher-designated problems based on their ride experiences, covering exercises on acceleration, speed, velocity, frictional force and centripetal force.

For the Junior and High School science, algebra and geometry classes, Six Flags offers a creative, fun spin on the Math & Science disciplines. While Physics Day activities focus on factors like centrifugal force and gravitational pull, Math & Science Day activities center around speed. Students race their way through the hills and thrills of the park's roller coasters, use formulas to calculate their average speeds, and then answer questions regarding their findings.

Six Flags Over Texas will be open April 17 and 24 from 10-2 p.m. only to program participants who have special pre-purchased tickets. The park opens to the public at 2 p.m. Alternate event days are available. Educators who have questions regarding educational events at Six Flags Over Texas should contact Six Flags Group Sales department at 817/640-8900, ext. 4100.

Life Teen activities

by Kelly Bayer
Last Thursday, in Life Teen, we celebrated our Lord's passion with a lock-in at the Community Center. It was a wonderful experience. We watched a video of the passion performed by "Radix" and also most of "Jesus of Nazareth." We also said the rosary, made the Stations of the Cross and did them. It started with Holy Thursday Mass and ended with the 3:00 p.m. service on Good Friday. You may wonder what we ate. Since it was Good Friday, we had homemade bread and water.

This Sunday we'll be finalizing Germanfest "stuff" at 7:00 p.m. Profits from Germanfest will go to future events for those who work and to the youth ministry for supplies.

Sacred Heart golfers compete in tournament

The Sacred Heart Tigers and Tigerettes golf squads competed in the TAPPS district/regional tournaments this past week in the Metroplex. Freshman golfer Kendall Sellers was the lone golfer to advance to state competition. The Tigerettes competed on Monday in Fort Worth. The wind-blown tournament saw the Tigerette golf team finish in third place. The top two teams advance. After Seller's 121, Sarah Hess fired a 135, Anne Flusche shot 140, Andrea Bartush fired a 155, and Leah Rigler carded a 158. "We are disappointed in our team finish, but we are very excited about the future of the team and our freshman medalist Sellers," said Coach LeBrasseur. The entire Tigerette squad will return next season.

In Plano, on Wednesday, the Tigers finished in the middle of the 22 team field. Matthew Fuhrmann carded a 103 to pace the squad. Vince Felderhoff and Keith Felderhoff shot 111 and 117 respectively. The Grewing boys, John and Kenneth, carded 188 and 199 to round out the scoring. "The field was very strong, and the boys gained valuable experience for the future," said LeBrasseur.

Agriculture wins victory over EPA

Texas and other states got six years worth of "breathing room" recently on strict new EPA air quality standards. The Senate passed an amendment to a recent highway funding bill, guaranteeing that no state will be penalized for non-compliance with the Environmental Protection Agency's new air quality standards for at least six years. The Texas Farm Bureau applauded the amendment's passage.

"We're concerned that the agriculture industry would be unfairly regulated under the new EPA air quality standards to inaccurate measurements," said directors of the Cooke County Farm Bureau. "If this amendment becomes law, it will address our concerns over the accuracy of the EPA's data gathering, as well as give the states much-needed time to adjust to the EPA's new standards." "This is an important victory for the agriculture industry," said the directors. "Every farmer is concerned about the environment, but the solutions aren't always practical on such short notice.

The amendment would force the EPA to absorb the cost of monitoring ozone and particulate matter rather than the states. It also ensures a three-year particulate matter monitoring period before the EPA decides what areas of the country should be subject to its new standards.

Treaty could threaten agriculture

American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner testified before the Senate Agriculture Committee expressing the frustration of the U.S. agriculture industry, which has been shut out of the discussions surrounding the recent Climate Change Treaty that was signed in Kyoto, Japan, late last year.

"Kleckner voiced some critical concerns," said directors of the Cooke County Farm Bureau. "Many of the Treaty's drastic reductions are scientifically unjustified; the ramifications on American agriculture could be severe." "If enacted, the Commerce Department will implement a 25 cent-per-gallon tax on fuel to negate U.S. emissions, dramatically reducing the net income of U.S. farms. Leaders of the U.S. agriculture industry fear the U.S. will lose economic competitiveness in world markets as a result of increased costs. A significant long-term negative impact on the U.S. economy could result.

"Farmers and ranchers are willing to do their part in reducing emissions, but most believe that the administration is moving too quickly by leading international efforts for immediate, legally binding caps on greenhouse gas emissions," the directors said.

Avoid over, under grazing

When grazing, it can be hard to judge whether forage is undergrazed or overgrazed. Grass height should not exceed 6-8 inches at the start of grazing, and not grazed down to less than 2-3 inches.

Undergrazing pastures shades out low-growing forage, reduces forage production and produces low quality stems.

Overgrazed pastures reduce drought tolerance, slows root growth and loses desirable species of forage.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

WHEAT "TAKE-ALL"

Each year it seems we see a disease, insect, or other problem affect our county wheat crop. 1998 is no exception. In addition to the recent hail and freeze that damaged considerable acreage in the county, a new disease for us is now appearing. This fungal disease is commonly called "take-all" and is caused by the fungus, Gaeumannomyces graminis var. tritici.

Plant samples from two fields in the county located near the Hays Community and Lindsay were recently sent to the Plant Diagnostic Lab at Texas A&M for diagnosis.

The roots and crown appear to be rotted with a dark pigmented fungus invading the affected tissue. There is a black discoloration associated with the infected root and crown tissue. There is an abundant growth of a dark-pigmented fungus growing on and in the tissue. Based on the fungal structures present and the symptoms, the lab says the cause is the disease "take-all".

Take-all is most obvious near heading on plants grown in moist soil. Affected fields often have wheat that appears uneven in height and irregular in maturity. Infected plants are often stunted, with some leaf chlorosis (yellowing), have few tillers, and mature prematurely. Roots are often relatively sparse or limited and blackened, especially near the point of attachment to the crown. As harvest approaches, some heads may appear bleached, or may have poor and shriveled grain. Near harvest, the basal stems (culms) may have black, somewhat shiny areas.

Losses will largely depend on the extent of the infection throughout the field and the amount of abasal and root rot.

Varieties of wheat highly resistant to take-all are not available. Grass weeds and volunteer wheat serve as reservoirs of the fungus and need to be destroyed prior to planting. Research at Washington State University shows that killing the weeds and volunteer plants Roundup or disking a few days before planting was much inferior to destroying them two weeks or more prior to planting.

Crop rotation with a crop other than wheat is helpful. The pathogen is a poor competitor in the absence of host plants and is reduced to insignificant levels within one to two years in the absence of host plants.

Application of lime or nitrate fertilizer tend to favor take-all development while ammonical forms of nitrogen tend to be less favorable to disease development. Adequate P and K are important to help promote good root growth and differentiation.

HAY DAY

A County Hay Day is scheduled for Thursday, April 30, 1998, beginning at 10:30 a.m. This tour and demonstration will feature various forage systems along with a view of new haying equipment and equipment operation.

Activities will begin at the No-Till Drill Demonstration that was established in the fall of 1997 on the Fuhrmann Brothers Farm on FM 1199 north of Lindsay. A variety of Extension personnel and equipment dealers will be on hand during the day's activities.

A schedule of the day's activities includes:

- 10:30 - No Till Drill Demonstration at Fuhrmann Brothers - Bermuda Variety Trials and Results
- 11:00 - Jose Tall Wheatgrass Management
- 11:30 - Wheat Varieties for Forage Production
- Noon - Hamburger Lunch
- Equipment Dealers Sponsored
- Demonstrations: Moisture testing using hay probes, testers, meters, microwave
- Ryegrass Variety Demonstration
- 1:00 p.m. till - Hay Equipment Demonstrations
- Conventional Bales
- Silage Bales
- Hay Cutting Equipment
- Bale Accumulators

One of the highlights of the day will be actual harvesting and baling of various forages using silage bales systems and conventional round and square bales. Producers will have an opportunity to visit with equipment dealers while viewing equipment demonstrations.

March 1 grain stocks report
Total sorghum stocks were 6.3 million hundredweight (cwt) on March 1, about the same level as the previous year. On-farm stocks accounted for less than 10 percent of the total.

Total stocks of wheat in all positions, at 50.7 million bushels, were up 80 percent from last year. Last year's level, however, was a near record low for March.

The Texas Ag Stat Service no longer published corn stocks on arms, but the off-farm storage, at 83.4 million bushels, is up 12 percent from a year earlier. This large inventory follows the State's record corn production produced last year.

Total stocks of corn in the United States were 4.9 billion bushels, 10 percent above a year earlier. All wheat stocks were estimated at 1.2 billion bushels in all positions. Farm stocks are 399.9 million bushels and off-farm stocks at 766.3 million. U.S. stocks of sorghum totaled 128.1 million cwt.

Texas wheat producers expect to harvest 125 million bushels this year, 5 percent above the 1997 crop and 66 percent above the drought plagued 1996 crop.

According to an April 1 acreage for the 1998 crop is estimated at 6.1 million acres, down 3 percent from 1997 but up 2 percent from 1996.

Statewide winter wheat condition around April 1 was rated at 76 percent of normal, the same as last year.

The 1998 spring onion production in South Texas is expected to total 3.19 million hundredweight (cwt). Based on an April 1 survey yield is estimated at 280 cwt per acre, up 75 cwt from last year. Harvested acreage is estimated at 11,400. Planted acres decreased 3 percent to 12,000.

United States' producers expect to harvest this year's spring crop from 34,400 acres, up 4 percent from last year.

The April 1, 1998 Texas grapefruit production forecast is 4.6 million boxes for the 1997-1998 season, 13 percent below last year.

All orange production is estimated at 1.55 million boxes, up 9 percent from last year, with early and mid season oranges accounting for 1.4 million boxes and Valencia, 150,000 boxes. The production of all oranges was 1.42 million boxes last year.

Wool production totaled 10.95 million pounds during 1997, 11 percent above the previous year's total. This is the first year-to-year increase since 1992. Texas producers sheared 1.5 million sheep and lambs during the year.

Total value of the state's wool production increased 40 percent from the previous year to $11.61 million. Price per pound averaged $1.06, up $22 from the average for 1996.

Texas mohair production during 1997 totaled 6.38 million pounds. Producers clipped 840,000 Angora goats and kids with an average clip weight of 7.6 pounds.

Value of the state's mohair production declined slightly to $14.56 million. Price per pound averaged $2.28, compared with the $1.95 average a year earlier.

Planted acreage for peanuts is forecast at 335,000 acres, up 5 percent from 1997.
