CAPITAL TODAY PREPARES FOR EXTRA SESSION

AUSTIN, Texas, July 9—(AP)—The capital today prepared for return of the Texas legislators who will be back Tuesday to try their hand at solving the troublesome oil problem.

Governor Ross S. Sterling yesterday issued a call for a special session. It can last 30 days, and probably will, though the law makers are empowered to adjourn as soon as they finish their work.

Breakdown in enforcement of the Railroad Commission's oil proration orders was claimed as necessitating the session. The commission did not have the legal authority to make its pronouncements effective in the giant new East Texas field.

GIBSON NAMED U. S. DELEGATE DEBTS PARLEY

WASHINGTON, July 9—(AP)—President Hoover today designated Hugh S. Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, as American representative on the experts committee which will work out details of the inter-governmental debt moratorium.

Acting Secretary Castle of the State Department in announcing the designation said the Ambassador would serve as an observer.

Frederick Livesey, reparations expert of the State Department, will be sent to London to assist Gibson. Castle expressed the opinion a satisfactory arrangement would be found for the suspension of Germany's conditional reparations payments, due July 15th, so that nation would not be considered technically in default of its debts.

Negro Man Held in Wednesday Slaying at Jail

James Scott, 30, negro, who on Wednesday afternoon shot and killed Daisy Jones, 22, negro, said he had seen his companion since their arrival in Brownwood about three weeks ago, declared in the county jail that he is not sorry for what he did and he does not care if he is sent to the electric chair.

Scott shot the negro woman three times in the back with a .38 gauge shotgun at the rear of Allen Moore's rooming house, 801 Beaver street, at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and a few minutes later gave himself up to Assistant Chief Norman Jack and Motorcycle Policeman Jack Pink who were on their way to the scene of the shooting. Scott was in a car going toward town and said he had started to surrender to the police. When he saw the policemen he jumped out of the car and said: "Here I am, I done it, I done it. Go ahead and send me to the electric chair—send me without trial—I don't care. She misused me." City policemen turned the negro over to county officers and he was lodged in county jail.

The negro man has been here for about three weeks working for the Standard Paving Company on the dam. He came from Oklahoma City, first stopping at Temple for a time. There he met Daisy Jones and brought her here in his car together with another negro man and woman. Scott said he had been an employee of the Standard Paving Company in Oklahoma for seven years.

Scott says he was "not treated right" by the other negroes. He paid all the expenses for the trip and then got the rooms here after they arrived. The other negro man was a few days ago and he had to pay all their bills, he continued. When he found out that his companion was also contemplating running away he "decided to stop it, and I did," he said.

Someone told him Wednesday afternoon that Daisy Jones was ready to leave with several other negroes. When he learned this he went for his shot gun. He already had the shells in his pocket so he loaded the gun and went to the rear of the Moore house, he stated after the shooting.

There was an automobile at the rear of the house and several negroes were around it and Daisy Jones had come out of the house. Scott told the others to get out of the way because he did not want to hurt them. Daisy Jones turned and started to run into the house. Scott fired into her back and she sank to the ground. As she sank he fired two more shots into her back, according to the story he told.

The woman lived for several minutes but died in a hospital. A funeral home ambulance which was carrying her to a hospital, the body was not badly torn up by the three shots but the back was covered with small holes.

Innocent to Penalty—Scott asked newspaper reporters as they were questioning him if they were taking a statement for court. When he was told they wanted the information for the newspapers he said, "Oh, is it going to be a write up? Make it a good one and say that I'm not weakening a bit. I killed her and that is what I wanted to do. Ain't nobody can mislead me. One thing I hate is I didn't get to kill the other two that ran away. I ought to kill them too. I'm not sorry I done it and they can send me to the electric chair or give me life in the penitentiary. I don't care."

SUSPENSION OF FALL SENTENCE IS ASKED FOR

WASHINGTON, July 9—(AP)—Frank Hogan, attorney for Albert B. Fall, moved in the District of Columbia supreme court today that Fall's jail sentence of one year be suspended because of his physical condition.

Just previously, Atty. General Clegg, special prosecutor in the oil lease cases, had asked Justice Bailey to hand down the mandate for execution of the sentence on the former secretary of the interior.

Hogan reviewed the illnesses which Fall had during the criminal trial growing out of the oil leases and also presented affidavits by three physicians who had examined a recent report on Fall's physical condition by army surgeons in Texas. The physicians were Dr. Frank Leech, Dr. Thomas J. Clayton and Dr. W. D. Tewksbury, all of Washington.

The report by the army physicians said Fall was suffering from hardening of the arteries and heart trouble, as well as arthritis, chronic tuberculosis and chronic pleurisy. The affidavits of the Washington physicians agreed that on the basis of the report by army surgeons, imprisonment would endanger Fall's life.

Government counsel had announced previously that they felt after an examination of the report by the army physicians that Fall was able to come to Washington to begin his sentence.

Justice Bailey also had before him a motion by Frank Hogan, Fall's attorney, that the prison sentence be suspended because of Fall's physical condition.

Pomerene read a memorandum from Assistant Attorney General Youngquist which expressed the opinion that Fall could be committed to some other jail than the one in the District of Columbia.

Hogan replied that it seemed mandatory that Fall be brought here to serve unless the sentence were suspended.

PISTOL FOUND ON FLOOR NEAR BODY THURSDAY

HOUSTON, July 9—(AP)—Former Congressman R. L. Henry, 67, died today of a bullet wound in the head. He was found wounded this morning and a pistol was found nearby, in his home.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 9—(AP)—Former Congressman R. L. Henry was found shot and fatally wounded in his home this morning. Mr. Henry, who campaigned unsuccessfully in the last senatorial election for the democratic nomination to the United States Senate, for many years was congressman from the eleventh district, which included Waco.

A pistol with one bullet discharged was found on the floor beside the wounded lawyer.

Dr. M. L. Graves, the family physician, said the shooting was accidental. The bullet entered the right temple and ranged upward in the head.

Detained By Council—Mr. Henry was defeated several years ago for re-election to congress by Tom Connally of Marlin, who now is the junior United States Senator from Texas.

Henry took an active part in the Alfred E. Smith campaign in Texas in 1928. His unsuccessful senatorial campaign was based largely upon the contention that a change was needed in the national prohibition laws.

Mr. Henry was graduated from Southwestern University at Georgetown, Texas, in 1885. He went, then, to the University of Texas, from which he took the degree of bachelor of laws. He returned to his former home, Texarkana, and began the practice of law. He served as mayor of that city for one term.

He was appointed an assistant attorney general under the late former Governor Culberson and later ran for the office of attorney general, but was defeated.

He removed to Waco and in 1896 was elected congressman from the 11th district.

BOY'S ARM BROKEN AND SHOULDER FRACTURED IN FALL FROM WAGON

J. C. Alexander, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alexander of 11 miles southeast of Brownwood, suffered a broken left arm and fractured shoulder about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when he fell from a load of grain. The youth was on a load of grain hauling it from a field and as the wagon went across a ditch the double tree broke and the horses pulled him off the load. His shoulder struck the wagon tongue.

The boy was unconscious when he was picked up and did not regain consciousness until today. He was rushed to the Central Texas Hospital as soon as possible after the accident and is resting fairly well this afternoon, according to reports.

Road Celebration Committee Meeting at 4 P. M. Today

"The further you go with them the bigger they get to be." This was the comment this morning of W. D. Armstrong, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Chamber of Commerce, regarding the tentative or probable plans for the Highway No. 10 celebration to be held July 28. He had nothing definite as the plans are all yet to be worked out, but had just been scouting around a little to see what might possibly be gotten up in the way of a big entertainment program.

A committee meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon at 4 o'clock to outline plans. Information received here has indicated that Comanche, Blauket and citizens of Comanche county generally will give their hearty cooperation in the day's program, which will celebrate the completion of the paving on Highway No. 10 from Brownwood to the Comanche county line.

Kelly Field Cadet Is Badly Injured As Plane Crashes

SAN ANTONIO, July 9—(AP)—H. M. Celik, Kelly field cadet, was possibly fatally injured today when his plane crashed while he was flying in a formation. His pursuit ship narrowly missed a residence as it dived toward the ground.

Cadet Celik was pulled from the wreckage. He was recently transferred to Kelly Field from March Field, California, where he graduated from the army primary flying school.

Little hope was held for his recovery by hospital attendants.

The cadet, 38 years old, is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma. His parents reside in Okemah.

Lehmann, Raines county agent. Mr. Marshall and other agents will discuss "Pecan Development" and Mr. Rainey will speak on "Improving the Native Pecan Grove by Top Working."

DALLAS MAN IS VICTIM HEART ATTACK, GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Tex., July 9—(AP)—Stricken with a heart attack while in bathing, J. T. Vinson, 29, of Dallas, was drowned in the Gulf here yesterday. His body was recovered by Wesley Westmoreland of Dallas, and two life guards. Vinson was one of a party of four in bathing.

UNITED STATES TO PARTICIPATE IN ARMS MEET

WASHINGTON, July 9—(AP)—The American government will accept within the next few days the invitation of the League of Nations to participate in the world disarmament conference in Geneva next February.

Acting Secretary Castle of the state department made the announcement of the government's plans late yesterday when the invitation was received. The acceptance will be wholehearted, the administration, urged by President Hoover, being strongly in favor of reducing armaments to relieve economic stress.

The announcement came shortly after the Hoover administration reaffirmed its adherence to the integrity of the inter-allied war debt agreements. President Hoover's plan for a year's moratorium on inter-governmental payments was a definitely described by Castle as contemplating no revision of the debt agreements.

Later Undersecretary Castle described intergovernmental debts as one of the deterrents to feeling prosperity and declared "unproductive expenditures on armaments" even more important.

Speaking over a National Broadcasting system, the undersecretary recast the moratorium would bring about general economic recovery and expressed hope that this would lead to success next year at Geneva disarmament parley.

Recovery Will Come. He predicted that recovery would come "if the people of this country will stand strongly back of the government in optimism and in that determination to carry through which is one of the characteristics of the American people."

"We hope," Castle said, "that by this temporary relief from intergovernmental debts, such good feeling, such a sense of loyal responsibility to each other, may be engendered among the nations that all may enter the disarmament conference next year determined to succeed."

Castle said it was impossible to put into action at once all the forces of recuperation, but added the president felt the moratorium method of relief "might well open the door of hope and thus lead to general economic recovery." He appealed to the people of the country to support the administration's move to return prosperity, reduce unemployment and to aid the farmers.

In a formal statement, Castle said President Hoover had at no time proposed or considered any permanent revision of the foreign debt settlements in proposing his moratorium.

The state department made known also that the United States would be represented at the London meeting of experts designated to work out the details of the Hoover debt payment holiday plan.

President Hoover May Not Be Able To Visit California

WASHINGTON, July 9—(AP)—The hopes which President Hoover may have entertained for going to his California home this summer have been lessened by recent developments in the capital.

Regular week-end trips to his Rapidan camp in Virginia mountains are expected to break the strain of dealing with the many complex problems which he found on his desk when he turned from the successful negotiation of his war debt holiday proposal.

Some of these problems are: Governmental study of the coal industry which begins today in a conference of coal operators with Secretary Lamont.

The giant wheat surplus from last year's crop partly held by the Farm Board and the threat of another this year.

A treasury deficit of nearly $1,000,000,000.

The completion of a study of all government departments looking to a curtailment of federal expenses.

Appointment of an ambassador to Denmark and a number of less important appointments.

Preliminary study of the part the United States will play in the Geneva disarmament conference in February.

Final action on a large number of recommendations by the tariff commission.

Preparation of a speech which he probably will deliver in Yorktown in October.

Outlining of his message to congress which will deal with a large number of important domestic issues as well as with his recent proposal to declare a reparations-war debt holiday.

Coleman Bonded Debt Is Reduced

COLEMAN, Texas, July 9—(Sp.)—Financial depression has not prevented Coleman county from reducing its bonded indebtedness, and saving five per cent interest for taxpayers.

Just recently twenty-five $1,000 bonds have been taken up. Mrs. E. K. Thomson, county treasurer said this morning, saving 5 months and 5 days interest at 5 per cent. The bonds were purchased for $99.75 at a cost to the county of $25,475.65, and materially reduced the bonded indebtedness of precinct No. 1, which embraces Coleman. On July 1, the precinct had a balance on hand of $79,569.34. The bonds redeemed were not due until February 1, 1938, and the commissioners court felt that it would be wise to save interest rather than leave the amount on deposit at the county depository at a less rate. There is still approximately $300,000 worth of precinct 1 bonds outstanding.

Twenty-five precinct 2 bonds were redeemed April 6 for $25,081.60. Precinct 2 embraces Santa Anna and adjacent territory.

WILEY POST WAS HAPPY MAN WHEN WAY WAS PAVED FOR HIS GLOBE GIRDLING TRIP

By LEON H. DURST
(Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Press)
Part VII

Wiley Post was happy when the way was smoothed for the opportunity to make the "biggest thing he could think of—that bug to go around the world."

With assurance of the financial backing of F. C. Hall, his Oklahoma friend, and the spontaneous cooperation of his navigator, Harold Gatty, Post went to work in earnest shaping things for the argosy he had "dreamed of for over four years."

The big moment had arrived for the young man who, as a farmer boy, had expressed his aviation bent by whittling out airplane models.

It was primarily the job of the meticulous Gatty to fuss with maps, charts, logarithms and all those things a good navigator relishes.

To make perfect his plane Wiley spent a month at the air factory on the Pacific coast where he once worked as chief test pilot. The 425 horsepower, supercharged motor of his "Winnie Mae" was to be what he termed both his "mascot and good luck charm."

Was Real Motor. Upon his throbbing nine cylinders he lavished the mass of unshaken lore gleaned from his working on all sorts of engines. He even reached back to utilize that experience born of barnstorming days when he thrilled country crowds with his wing walking and parachute leaps, and gave the right click to erratic motors.

It was only a shell of the engine that carried him to victory in the 1920 National Non-Stop Air Derby from the Pacific coast to Chicago. Parts had been replaced only after they had been X-rayed, etched and microscopically studied.

"We spent as much money on it," Post said, "as a new engine would cost, but we wouldn't trade it for two new ones, I'm sure."

To gain more speed he worked out his own fuel carrying arrangement and altered the wing adjustment. The fuselage and five wing tanks served as gasoline receptacles. This moved the weight sufficiently to the front to permit what Post said would be easier handling, even better balance and better speed flying position.

A slight negative angle of incidence to the wings was made to "give more speed and at the same time balance the load better."

Fully loaded, the ship weighed about 6,000 pounds with a range of 3,400 miles on the 540 gallons of gas and 91 gallons of oil which she carried.

Spare parts assembled were valve springs, bearings for engine rocker arms and spark plugs. "Post saw no need of carrying either parachute or life raft. The food was limited to just a few bites." Wiley sized up the situation this way:

Wouldn't Need Food. "If we come down in the ocean—well, it'll be all over. Food won't do us any good."

YOUNG REGISTERED THOROUGHBREDS SCORE HEAVILY BRADY RACES

BRADY, Texas, July 9—(Sp.)—A string of young registered thoroughbreds scored heavily in this year's 9-day July Jubilee race meet at Brady and proved their superior running prowess.

With practically every entry a registered blooded animal, several previous racing records of the local track were shattered and in all but one of the other events this year's runners equalled the best previous marks set in local racing annals.

Corral Boss, noted 5 year old gelding owned by John Oliver bettered the local 7-8 mile record by 1.6 running the stretch in 1:30 2-5. Evelyn C also an Oliver entry, clipped the previous record in the 4 1-2 furlongs 2 year old event by 1.6 by negotiating this distance in 56 seconds.

Corral Boss, with two first awards and one second award in the long distance events, topped the list as a money winner, while Wee Tot, a 3-year-old, also of Oliver's stables, took the long end of two purses and third money in one race for second rank as a revenue producer.

Valvictoria, H. R. Clark's 3 year old horse trailed just a few dollars behind Wee Tot with an equal number of victories, although in the small purse event.

With Corral Boss and Wee Tot and five others of his young registered thoroughbreds, in the winning class, John Oliver won a surprisingly large share of the Brady purses in spite of the stiff competition. His seven sprinters copped five honors in six races, second awards in five events, and third money in three finishes.

All of the Oliver horses, with the exception of Corral Boss, were purchased last year from White and Strickland of Brady from a string of imported registered Kentucky thoroughbreds from the best stock farms of the Blue grass state. Three more of these Kentucky colts, entered by White and Strickland themselves, were among the Brady winners.

Other outstanding winners in the Brady meet were Chas. Dean's 5 year old mare Sunrise; E. A. Atwell's aged gelding Lilliputian, one of the favorites in racing circles of former years; and W. T. Lockhart's veteran of the turf, Penrod Connell.

Rodeo features, which provided entertainment for the spectators during the intermission of the races under the direction of James Brook, local ranchman, offered some of the best wild horse and wild mule riding exhibitions of this section. In the calf roping contest George Spiller won the best three-day average with a score of 74 1-10 seconds for the three lariat contests. Chas. Capps turned in the best three-day average in the wild cow milking. He and his partner roped and milked their 3 animals in 84 1-2 seconds.

Race horse men praised the local management for their efficient way of handling the meet. There has never been any complaint on the Brady meet since its organization six years ago. J. W. White, chairman of the race committee, is himself a raiser of polo and race horses and has a thorough acquaintance of the problems of the race horse owner.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stewart, tourists from the United States, were fined in Juarez, Mexico, for kissing in a public place.

More than 3,000 miles of roads will be constructed in Missouri during 1931, the highway commission has announced.

Facts About Modern Methods of Today, Compared With Few Years Ago

Everybody is talking about wheat and the low price. Times sure have changed. It used to take all summer to harvest a little old wheat crop but with modern machinery they harvest 1,000 acres in just a day or two and I reckon that next to the modern laundry the combine has done more to emancipate women than anything else.

It used to be that the women had to work harder during wheat harvest than anybody else. They had to cook first for the harvesting crew that cut the grain and either stacked or shocked it. And then a little later they had to cook for the thresher crew of 30 or 40 men.

And cooking for a harvest or thresher crew is some job. The boys get to work about daylight and work until dark and mother and the girls had to get up around 4:00 o'clock in order to have breakfast ready and it was always after 9:00 before they got the supper dishes washed.

Yes, the combine has done a lot for the farm women and sure has made life a lot easier for them. I still contend that the laundry has done more to free woman from the oldtime slavery than even the combine. The combine only makes it easier for the women during the harvest-time while the laundry is on the job every day and every week in the year.

They don't harvest wheat but once a year, but clothes have to be washed and ironed every week.

The farmer who would use the old-fashioned cradle to harvest his wheat crop would be a back number and all of his neighbors would laugh at him.

Using the old pot or the big zinc tubs and a washboard to do the family laundry is just as much behind the time as using a cradle to harvest wheat crop.

Yes, I reckon we laundrymen have done a lot to make life more comfortable for the women of the nation.

It's mighty hard to find anybody who doesn't have access to a modern laundry. Down here we get a lot of bundles by parcel post from women who live out on the farms and ranches and whose husbands have combines and riding plows and tractors and milking machines.

If the man of the house uses all of this labor-saving machinery and gets out of a lot of hard work then it surely is right and proper that the women should send their clothes to the laundry. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. Every farmer should have a combine and every housewife should patronize the laundry.

No Unemployment In Leland, Illinois, Is Railroad's Report

CHICAGO, July 9—(AP)—Talk about unemployment, M. K. Madison, a section foreman for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad was in Leland, Ill., looking for two men to work, but spent all day yesterday and last night searching for jobless without success. He finally wired his division office.

"Have looked all over town and was unable to hire men anywhere. Everybody in this town is employed. Kindly hire men elsewhere and send them to me at once."

Leland is a town of 580 inhabitants, 30 miles south of Aurora.

Lew A. Hurlbert of Perry, Ia., has invented a device for removing husks from sweet corn so that diners on "roasting ears" will not be annoyed to let President Hoover have it.

Preaching Of The Apostles

Text: Acts 4:1-14.

Such a Christian attitude is not inconsistent with the highest conception of citizenship. It is only, in fact, where citizens have a strict and keen sense of right that there can be in general a high response to duty, and it is only somewhere at that margin line where Christian and non-Christian interests conflict that conscientious scruples would be likely to operate.

Conflicting Principles

However, whatever one thinks of such a case, we are being compelled anew to consider the nature and obligations of the Christian life in much the same way that these early Christians had to consider above all things their duty toward God. Here in our lesson we find the Christian church growing up under adverse conditions of authority. The church is inherently in conflict with the religious authorities of the time because it represents a free movement of religion in which earnest men are acting according to the dictates of their conscience and not in formal obedience to ecclesiastical authority seeking to impose its will regardless of inherent right.

Under these conditions the Christian church was founded in conviction and courage. Something always happens in the world when men dare to open their minds and hearts to God and then dare to follow in the way in which his spirit leads them. Christianity in its reality was a vital force in the ancient world, and it is always a vital force wherever its reality is brought to bear upon any life or any environment. To assume that Christianity had power to change the ancient world but that it will not affect great changes in our modern world is to disregard either the actual nature of the world or the actual nature of Christianity. The spirit of Christianity lays the supreme stress upon goodness and truth. All that is out of harmony with the plumb-line of righteousness and love represents a disordered world to be brought under the orderly sway of spiritual impulses and facts. To emulate these early Christians is the highest task and privilege for any Christian of today.

Max Baer And His Bride On Honeymoon Trip To California

RENO, Nev., July 9.—(AP)—Max Baer, young heavyweight boxer, and his bride, the former Dorothy Dunbar Wells, who was an actress, were on a honeymoon today. The former Livermore, Cal., butcher boy and his bride, congratulated by Baer's manager, J. Hamilton Lorimer, said they would leave tonight or tomorrow for Oakland, Cal., to receive belated blessings of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Baer, his parents. Baer's mother had objected to the union with the assertion Mrs. Wells was "old enough to be Max's mother." Lorimer, who earlier had expressed a desire to sell Baer's four-year contract "cheap to anyone except Jack Kearns," said he had changed his mind.

LUTHERANS PLAN LOCATE SCHOOL IN GALVESTON

GIDDINGS, Texas, July 9.—(AP)—Heads of the Texas district of the Missouri Lutheran Synod yesterday announced the selection of Galveston as the site for another Lutheran school in Texas. The membership was urged by F. Pfotenauer, general synod of the Texas district, to adhere strictly to the verbal inspiration of the scriptures. He scored modernism.

WHEN you set out to buy tires, what do you expect to get for your money?

What nearly everyone really wants is most miles and the utmost in safety at the lowest possible price.

That being your only objective, which tire should you buy?

If the experience of 20,000,000 motorists means anything, you should certainly buy Goodyears.

But if you try to puzzle through the welter of statistics on thicknesses, weights and diameters you lose the main issue and are as much at sea as ever.

A difference of two or three one-thousandths of an inch in the width of a tire carcass is no guarantee against blowouts.

It's what the carcass is made of and how it's made that counts.

Longer wear is not a matter of logarithms.

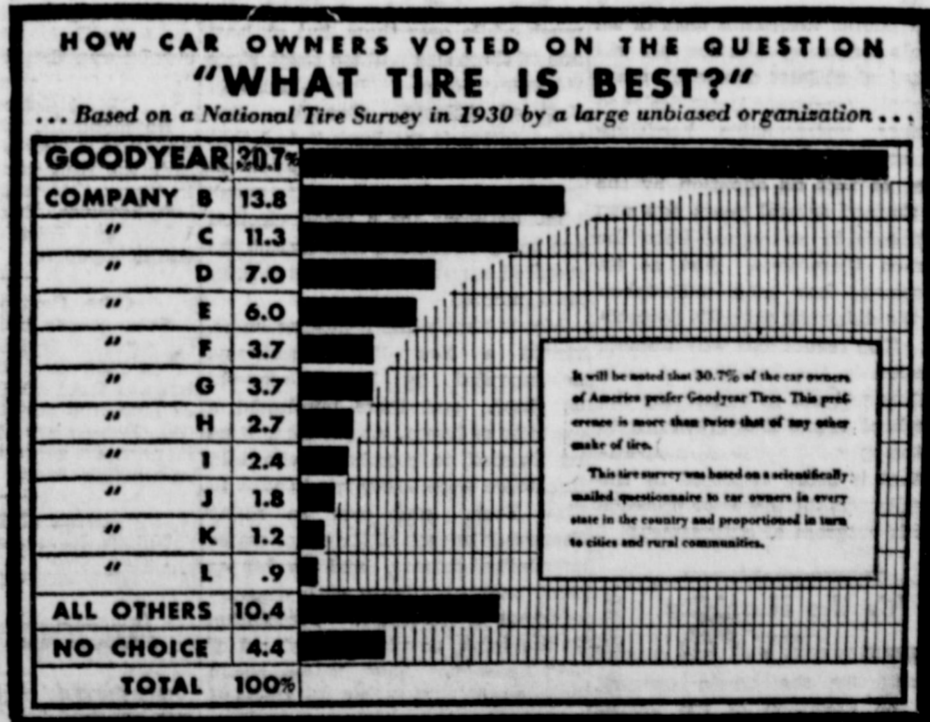

It is the honest product of materials and craftsmanship.

The one and only reliable guide for you to follow is the seasoned preference of the public.

And that preference is overwhelmingly for Goodyear.

This fact expressed year after year by Goodyear's great leadership is concretely told again in the findings of an impartial investigation made by an unbiased dependable institution that asked 205,000 car owners this simple question:

QUESTION: "Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what make of tire do you consider the BEST tire made?"

There's the only buying guide that means anything to you car owners.

Rudy Vallee Finds His Ideal Girl And She's His Wife Now

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP)—Rudy Vallee, who crowned himself to fame and fortune with a collegiate jazz band and megaphone, has found his ideal girl. The marriage of the 29-year-old Yale graduate and radio idol to Miss Fay Webb, screen actress and the daughter of Santa Monica, Cal., chief of police, is announced. The ceremony was performed by Police Recorder Herbert Lighthouse of West Orange, N. J., on Monday night. It was the second marriage for "Jailie," who rose to popularity with such songs as "Vagabond Lover" and "The Maine Stein Song." His marriage to Leopie Cauchos McCoy, daughter of a coffee merchant, was dissolved after three months by annulment in 1928. Miss Webb was a Vallee radio fan before she met him when he went to Hollywood to make a picture. She is a brown-eyed brunette, 23 years old, an accomplished dancer, pianist, swimmer and equestrienne. She played small screen parts with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

He goes to leave the hospital Thursday to go to Waco where his wife is visiting.

PLANE CHASES CLOUDS

ANACOSTIA, D. C.—Dr. J. B. Anderson, Naval Air station meteorologist, chases clouds in an airplane to learn how fast they grow. To illustrate how they pile up, he says that to keep even with the top of one cloud he was studying he had to climb from 300 to 300 feet a minute. Addition of moisture to the cloud made it grow that fast, he explains.
