

For the second consecutive week the Confetti column originates from a hospital bed. This is Sunday the 29th, twelve days since my arrival here, a week later than my anticipated date of departure, and no one knows just how long until I will be permitted to leave.

This case of flu — and whatever complications have set in — has turned out to be quite obstinate. The same story every day. Lots of coughing every night followed by a headache and a few points of temperature the next morning. Nothing serious but it is becoming very monotonous.

Big question in my mind now is how to go back to duty after a siege like this. It doesn't leave the kind of energy needed to keep pace in Uncle Sam's army.

Regardless of how that little problem is to be managed, I nevertheless have hopes of getting out of here some time this week. Cannot imagine anything quite as exasperating as spending Easter Sunday in bed. And this is especially true with us since, at last the platoon's quarantine has been removed. The other boys have had a week of freedom now. I'm anxious to get out and get a taste of it. Perhaps army life isn't so bad when a fellow can live it like a soldier instead of a prisoner. My present status is six weeks past due on shows, beers and other such things a person takes for granted, a month past due on a haircut, and at least a few weeks past due a pass outside the camp.

Late comers here at the hospital are saying that Easter furloughs are being given out quite freely. How I hope the report is correct, and if so that I can get out of bed and manage one of those coveted passes! Of course there was no way of knowing whether that applies to basic training groups. Most likely the lucky boys will be those who have been in service longer.

One of the worst things about this present illness, that is as far as I personally am concerned, is that it doesn't give me an opportunity to tell about my work. Lots of intensive and interesting training is going on right now building bridges, tank traps and barriers, and other engineering fundamentals. And I can't be on hand to see how it's done. There's machine gun practice too, and, of course, rifle shooting for those who haven't fired for the record. I hope next week's column can get back to that kind of subjects.

As for the present comment must necessarily be restricted to remarks around the ward or what appears in the daily papers. One man was offering odds that the war will be over in '42. Another thought it was a matter of only a few months, and not many expected it to last through next year.

In general, the outlook for the United Nations is the best yet. Hitler's promised turn of the tide in Russia is rather slow in materializing. And Japan has extended herself so far that she is becoming more and more vulnerable. Meanwhile Allied power in the South Pacific is increasing.

All these signs are favorable and we view them with delight. But there is an important factor too often overlooked. Victory does not simply happen. It has to be earned. Intensive work and sacrifice will have to precede the happy day we all look forward to.

That is the lesson some millions of thoughtless Americans should be learning without delay. Instead of these disgusting cases of exorbitant war profits and outrageous wages we need to hear that the American public is working hard and not extorting easy money from its government.

If we in the service can be expected to give our entire time and many of our lives in this war, labor and industry should also be willing to make a few allowances. What workman, for instance, could not

Farm Planning Meet Held By Local Farmers

Priority Area Land Owners Discuss Soil Conservation; Get Maps

Farmers of the Muenster priority area held a group farm planning meeting with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district staff, Monday evening in the parish hall here. J. W. Hess opened the meeting with brief remarks regarding the purpose of the meeting, and then introduced Oscar Aldridge, district supervisor, who explained the priority area boundaries and discussed over-all plans for conservation work in the entire district.

The featured speaker of the evening was Rev. Frowin Koerdt, O. S. B., local pastor, who skillfully portrayed the disastrous results of land wastage as it is related to citizenship, the church and human deterioration. Among other things he pointed out the fact that America as a nation, is very young, compared to China, for example, but that she is at least a century behind in conservation of the soil. He said that America is rapidly losing its rural populace, partially because of the war situation, and otherwise because of lessened opportunity on the farm due to depleted soil. He also mentioned a number of points on this subject that were stressed at the rural life party he attended in Jefferson City, Mo., last October. His parting admonition to technicians and parishioners was to "Go Ahead."

The different steps in making farm plans were discussed by members and complete maps of Frank Bayer's farm, selected some time ago as a sample unit for the area, were shown. Members were urged to study these maps and plan their own farms accordingly. Maps of all farms in the area have been drawn and farmers who have not yet received theirs may call for them at the Muenster State Bank, J. M. Weinzapfel, disclosed Wednesday.

Farms in the area have been inspected by the soil conservation officials to determine the types of soil, etc., so that the most beneficial program of conservation can be drawn up for each, and dates were made with the score or more land owners present for the planning of each individual farm.

The supervisors hope to get the area planned by the middle of April.

PAROCHIAL PUPILS PRESENT PROGRAM HONORING PASTOR

Honoring Father Frowin, pastor, on the feast day of his patron saint, pupils of the parochial school, under the direction of Sister Lucy, presented a short program Friday morning, March 27, in the school auditorium.

The program opened with a song by grades 5-8. Following this the 8th grade pupils presented a "Feast Day Discussion." Then little Anna Grace Fette and Donald Lehnertz recited a short presentation speech after which they gave the honor to his gifts from the students; one was handed to him in an envelope and the other was a basket of hyacinths.

The fifth grade pupils enacted a short skit entitled "A Modern Peter", and the upper grades sang a hymn. "His Financial Career", a one-act playlet was next, enacted by the high school boys. Girls of the tenth grade recited a poem "Dust" to close the program.

In the feast day discussion it was revealed that Father Frowin's patron saint was an abbot who presided over a monastery in Switzerland from 1142 to 1178. By comparison, the pupils found that Father Frowin possesses all the principal virtues of his patron, namely faith, hope, charity, prudence, justice, fortitude and temperance.

They expressed the hope that he would live long, continuing as Muenster's pastor, and that the new church will be built under his leadership.

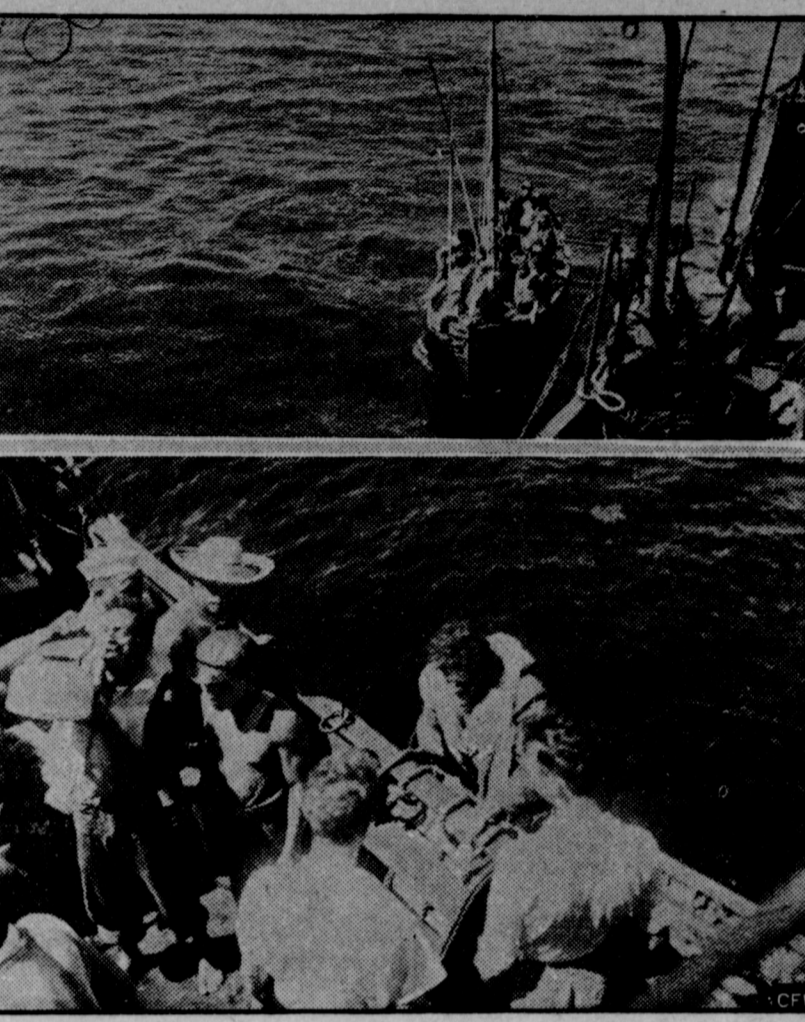

Both Local Schools Are Having Easter Recess

Muenster schools are observing the Easter holidays. Vacation began with the dismissal of classes Wednesday afternoon. For the parochial school children it will be a five-day vacation, classes resuming Tuesday morning, April 7. Public school students will return to classes Monday morning, giving them four days of vacation.

A total of 6,761 bales of cotton of the 1941 crop were ginned in Cooke county during the season just closed. E. J. Huffaker, county cotton reporter for the U. S. census bureau, announced Saturday. Total ginnings for the 1940 season were 15,049 bales.

RESCUE AT SEA AFTER DRIFTING FOR 11 DAYS

Another small Allied vessel was sent to the bottom of the Atlantic by an enemy submarine recently. The crew, debarked in two small boats and was rescued 11 days later by the crew of a general cargo boat. From aboard the rescue ship these excellent photographs were made. The top photo shows one of the small lifeboats pulling alongside. The bottom photograph is an unusual one, it shows a thirsty sailor gulping warm water from a tea-kettle spout as his first action upon setting foot on deck.

Approximately 100 persons co-authored the missive, which required the total sum of $1.42 in postage. It took Jagla three and one half hours to read it.

Mayor Asks Observance of Good Friday

In a proclamation issued this week, Mayor Ben Seyler designated Good Friday as a day of special reverence and called on all the residents of Muenster to observe it fittingly by suspending business and attending church services.

The proclamation requests that all business houses close between the hours of noon and four p. m. In the past Muenster business has been very respectful in its observance of Good Friday, Mr. Seyler said. He asks that this record be carried thru again this year. He pleads for complete cooperation — that all business houses close their doors, that workmen lay down their tools, that activity on the streets be held down as much as possible.

ANXIETY OVER AUTO TIRES GROWS AS MORE THEFTS OCCUR

The safety of their automobile tires is everyone's major concern here and one theft and 4 attempted thefts during the past week only added to car owners' anxiety. Frank Kaiser lost all four tires and wheels from his coupe last Thursday night. The following night thieves made an effort to break into the garage of Bill Stelzer and Virgil Lee Welch, across the street from Kaiser's. Mr. Welch heard the commotion, around 3 a. m., and woke Mr. Stelzer, but the robbers heard them and fled down the road before either Mr. Welch or Mr. Stelzer got close enough to identify them.

On Friday night attempts were made to enter the Rudy Hellman garage for when Mr. Hellman went for his car the following morning he found a broken off skeleton key in the garage lock. The attempt to open it had failed for the prowlers. A similar effort to enter the C. J. Kaiser garage was made Sunday night. The lock was pried off and left on the ground, but nothing was missing inside. Kaiser thinks the thieves were frightened off before they had a chance to finish their dirty work. He keeps a light burning in his yard all night.

BENEFIT PICNIC FOR NEW CHURCH TO BE HELD NEXT MONDAY

The Mothers' Society of the parish, assisted by the three other parish societies, is making extensive plans for the annual Easter Monday bazaar and dance. Mrs. Felix Becker, president of the society, stated Wednesday. It is hoped that the affair will be one of the most successful in the community history. Proceeds will be placed in the new church building fund.

The usual entertainment features will be offered for the afternoon's enjoyment and will continue during the evening hours in the basement while a dance is in progress on the main floor of the parish hall. Lunches, ice cream, home made candy, cold drinks and other refreshments will be available during the afternoon and evening and various games and other entertainment will be offered. The affair begins at 2 p. m. and closes at 11:30.

Garden Club To Have Evening Meet and Film

For their regular monthly session next Friday, April 10th, members of the Civic League and Garden Club are planning to have an evening meeting in the parish hall at 8:30 with the showing of an educational film, "Spring in Texas". It is to be an open meeting and anyone interested in seeing the film is invited to attend, it was announced.

Next Week Is Clean-up Time For Muenster

Mayor Urges Cooperation In Interest of Health, Appearance, Freedom From Fire Hazards

Next week is clean-up week in Muenster. A proclamation by Mayor Ben Seyler announcing the city's cooperation in the state and national movement was made Monday. During the weekend Mayor Seyler conferred with members of the city council and the sanitation committee of the Civic League and Garden Club to discuss preliminary plans for the campaign.

In the interest of health, safety and general appearance, Mayor Seyler urges that every home and business house participate in the clean-up movement. Clean-up week in Texas was set by Governor Coke Stevenson for the week of March 29 to April 4, but two reasons were given by Mayor Seyler for its postponement to the following week here. This week is Holy Week, during which special church services take place, and a general clean-up would have conflicted with attendance at church. Also, the city's sewer system will be completed this week, it has been announced, and Frank Marticello, superintendent, gave the city his assurance that his crew of workmen will do their utmost in cleaning up along the sewer line, removing large rocks, excess gravel and ground, before they quit their job. This will save the city considerable time and expense.

On Thursday and Friday next week, the 9th and 10th of April, a truck will drive over the entire city limits to pick up rubbish that has been gathered by citizens during the previous days and placed for convenient pickup, either at the curb or in the alleys. Junk should be placed in sacks, boxes or other receptacles.

A minimum charge of 25 cents will be made at each home or business house to help defray the expenses for the use of a truck and the service of haulers, it has been announced. Due to current conditions this campaign cannot be conducted without cost to citizens, this year, however, the small fee of twenty-five cents should not stand in anyone's way to make this an all-out city clean-up. People who have heretofore hauled their own trash to the dumping grounds are reluctant to do so now, because they know their car tires cannot be replaced. Citizens who do not have the time or energy to do their own raking, picking up and sacking may get help by notifying the city council in advance, it was disclosed. This, of course, will involve a small extra cost.

Mayor Seyler pointed out that scrap and waste collections for the war effort can be given added emphasis during Clean-up Week. Scrap iron, waste paper and rubber should be given special attention and saved for defense, he stated. However, care should be exercised in storing waste paper so as not to create a new fire hazard.

"We can each set an individual rule for keeping all premises over which we have control, whether owned or rented, clean of all rubbish, trash, weeds, cans and unsightly objects," Mayor Seyler said. "It is begun during our clean-up week and continued, strangers passing through Muenster will remember it as a well kept, clean and orderly city. For ourselves, it will mean pride in our own premises and our community."

GREEN BUGS DAMAGE COUNTY GRAIN CROP

Muenster is being hit by the worst green bug infestation in 30 years, this holds also for Cooke county, in general, while it is reported that it is the worst in Texas in 40 years. Approximately 85 per cent of the grain will be lost here, it was reported.

Here, the oats crop is practically gone and the bugs are making vigorous attacks on the wheat. Some reports this week are that the pests are also going for the corn.

Corn is making little progress and much garden stuff has been planted but is not doing good.

Muenster Players Will Present Comedy April 12

not exactly a thoroughbred, but it had four legs.

One day he took his bargain to the blacksmith to have him shod. The smith regarded the weedy-looking animal critically, paying particular attention to his lean body and spindly legs.

"You ought to have a horse there some day," he said at length. "I see you've got the scaffolding up."

Mandy Johnson—"Ain't yo' son too young to jine de army?"

Eliza Johnson—"He's to'able young but he's jinin' up wid de infantry fust."

"If there be anyone in the congregation who likes sin let him stand up. What's this, sister Virginia, you like sin?"

"Oh, pardon me, I thought you said gin."

Passenger—"Porter please wake me at five in the morning."

Porter—"Boss, we aims to please. Anytime you-all wants to be called, jes' press dat button an' right away we comes an' calls you."

Grocer—"Well, little man, what can I do for you?"

Boy—"My mother sent me to get change for a dollar bill, and she said she would give you the dollar bill tomorrow."

Sandy was after a job in an aircraft factory. "I suppose you realize," the foreman said, "that in a workshop like ours we've got to work to very fine limits? Have you had any experience in that sort of thing?"

Sandy grinned. "I'll say I have. For ten years I worked in a restaurant and it was my job to cut the ham for the sandwiches!"

"Jim," said Farmer Cornassel to his son, "I wish, if you don't mind, that you'd eat by yourself instead of with the summer boarders."

Jim: "Isn't my society good enough for them?"

Farmer: "Your society is fine, but your appetite sets a terrible example."

Visitor: "What a sweet and innocent looking face your little girl has, Mrs. Brown."

Mrs. Brown: "I hadn't noticed it. Mary, what have you been doing?"

Rastus—"Brother President, we needs a cuspidor."

President of the Eight-Ball-Club

"I appoints Brother Brown as a cuspidor."

In a railway carriage a country-woman remarked: "Will you tell me, miss, which is the return ticket?"

Her fellow traveler handed her the return ticket, and she threw it out the window.

"Why did you do that?" asked the second woman.

"I'm not going back."

"Then why did you take a return?"

"They told me it was cheaper."

Mrs. A—"I suppose you carry a memento of some sort in that lock of yours."

Mrs. B—"Yes, it is a lock of my husband's hair."

Mrs. A—"But your husband is still alive."

Mrs. B—"Yes, but his hair is gone."

Mother—"Stop pulling that cat's tail."

Sonny—"I'm not pulling its tail. I'm just holding it and the cat's doing the pulling."

"Hey, don't try to take that meat away from my dog!"

"Oh, he can have the meat. I just want the piece of pants with my wallet in the pocket."

He (on phone): Hello, what are you doing?

Feminine Voice: Getting ready for church.

He: Sorry. Wrong number.

"Anyone on the next green, Cadillac?"

"Yes, sir; there's a gentleman and his caddy and a man carrying his own clubs."

A silk hosiery manufacturer and an aluminum household utensil manufacturer sat next to each other at the club. Both remained quiet for many minutes, gazing with worried and beaten expressions into space. Finally one of them gave vent to a loud-drawn-out sigh. The other looked around sympathetically and said: "You're telling me."

GOOD FRIDAY

Today is Good Friday and thoughtful business men of Muenster are planning again to commemorate the Savior's death by suspension of all business activity from noon to four o'clock.

The customary announcement at all services last Sunday reminded everyone of the day and urged a respectful observance. This publication mentions it again, lest someone has forgotten.

Last year, so far as is known, every business house closed at noon and remained closed until special services at church were concluded. We cannot do less this year.

In times like these when millions of people in several portions of the globe are deprived the privilege of practicing their religion according to the dictates of their conscience, we should feel grateful that our city officials here encourage a special observance of Good Friday.

And while we meditate on the love and supreme sacrifice by which the Son of God merited the salvation of man, let us add a prayer of thanksgiving for our religious liberty, and a prayer that it will ever remain that way.

VOTE SATURDAY

Be sure to vote Saturday in the election to consolidate the Muenster and Linn school districts.

Citizens of both districts have agreed that it is advisable and profitable to bring their systems together. And they want buses to provide transportation for their children to Muenster. An election to secure these buses will take place as soon as it can be called following consolidation.

Muenster has much to offer outlying school districts. Muenster is in a position to offer a satisfactory program as well as a much less expensive one.

Children here are entitled to it, children there and their tax paying parents are entitled to it. And it is a wise precaution against future handicaps to our local system.

This consolidation is the beginning of a movement to make Muenster's school system the best in the county. Everybody should get behind it and do all in their power to bring it about successfully.

CLEANING UP

Next week Muenster will have its cleanup week. As usual, residents will be given ample time to gather up their trash and place it where trucks can pick it up conveniently. It will require a few hours of energy from every citizen but in the end it will leave the town more attractive and more sanitary.

Clubs and civic organizations are expected to join the city of Muenster in sponsoring this campaign.

Every citizen should take a personal interest in clean-up week by freeing his premises — and alleys — of all cans, broken bottles, trash and debris of all kinds.

It is taken for granted that no one will lack the pride to do his part in this work.

Economic Highlights

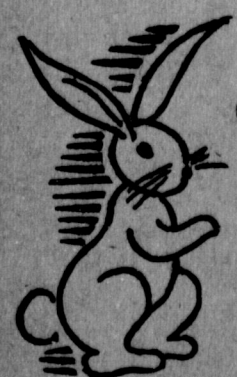

The first step which must be taken in carrying the war to Japan is an obvious one—to disrupt and to break the long-extended Japanese supply lines. Hundreds and in some cases thousands of miles of water lie between Japanese bases and areas she has conquered. Her life line consists of her merchant fleet and naval convoys. So long as she has enough protected tonnage to carry the immense quantities of supplies needed by her expeditionary forces, she will hold the upper hand. Once substantial inroads are made into her transport and fighting fleets, she will have to battle against steadily mounting odds. And the farther she goes across the wide Pacific, the more shipping she will require.

Therefore, there is encouragement in the casualties our military forces and those of other United Nations have been inflicting on Japanese shipping. Much of this news has never made the headlines, which have been largely occupied by accounts of Japan's success in taking and mopping up Pacific positions. But it is the kind of news that, in the long run, will do much to determine the outcome of the war. As Paul Mallon puts it, "Day by day, in every way, our Navy and Army have been pecking away, mainly at the indispensable but unspectacular phase of the Jap attack—the transport, supply and tanker ships and their convoy protection."

The toll of Japanese losses is im-

'Blitz Lunch' Served in Street

The proprietress of a cafe in East End London had her shop bombed out in an air raid, so she promptly moved into the street to serve tea and mid-morning lunch to her customers. This picture is typical, says the British Ministry of Information, of the manner in which the people manage to carry on under adverse conditions.

pressive. Up to March 19, the United Nations officially reported the sinking of 110 supply ships and damaging of 54, or a total of 164 put out of action. That, according to the most reliable estimates, is in excess of 20 per cent of all Japanese shipping which can be used for supply purposes.

The United Nations further reported the destruction of 17 Jap cruisers, along with 27 damaged, and the sinking of 22 destroyers plus 12 damaged. Two Jap battleships have been sent to the bottom. And so have three aircraft carriers.

The United Nations' ship losses have, of course, also been great. But the military importance of such losses can only be judged in the light of replacement capacity. According to Mr. Mallon, Japan's merchant shipbuilding capacity is 300,000 to 400,000 gross tons per year. We will build in the neighborhood of 6,000,000 gross tons this year and almost twice as much next year. In addition to that, our Allies will produce a considerable tonnage.

This does not mean we should run the danger of minimizing Japan's existing fighting fleet and merchant navy. Her main battle fleet has not yet been in evidence in this war, and is perhaps being held in reserve for a major engagement. It is likely that she has more fighting craft than used to be generally believed—there is certainly no reason for thinking that she carried out her part of the naval limitation agreements which she and all other naval powers signed back in the '20s. What this does mean is that, unless all authorities are wrong, Japan does not possess a ship replacement capacity in any way comparable to ours. Japan probably spent twenty years preparing for this war, and she had a big edge at the start. Our part is to overcome that edge.

The world-wide enthusiasm which followed the announcement of General MacArthur's dramatic transfer to Australia, and his assumption of supreme command of all United Nations' air, army and naval forces in the Pacific theatre, is easily understood. He is the war's number one hero. His achievement in the Philippines alone makes him one of the great commanders of history.

But we must not make the mistake of thinking that General MacArthur, brilliant and daring, as he is, will immediately turn the scales. He cannot produce miracles. He made that very clear on his arrival in Melbourne, when he said: "Success in modern warfare requires something more than courage and willingness to die. It requires careful preparation. This means furnishing sufficient materials to meet the known strength of the potential enemy. No general can make something from nothing. My success or failure will depend primarily upon the resources which our respective governments place at my disposal."

There is a challenge in that to every industry, every worker, every government official in this country. For the great bulk of the supplies of war must come from here. Australia is a vast continent, but it has only 7,000,000 people and relatively little industry. We must become the "arsenal of democracy" in fact, not in theory.

The art of generalship is to do the most with what one has, to gain maximum result at minimum cost. General MacArthur has shown that he masters that art completely. But all his knowledge and competence will be useless if he lacks the tools.

In that connection, some of the best recent news is that telling of the production of big bombers on the assembly-line principle. The increase this has made possible in bomber output is a military secret, but it is said that it is great. Ford will shortly go into mass production of pursuit planes on an unprecedented scale. We must have unquestioned supremacy in the skies if our other fighting forces are to gain victories.

Sister Angelina Visits:
On Tuesday morning Sister Mary Angelina, our superior, visited the classes to remind us that school will soon come to a close. She instructed all of the pupils to be on time and to study hard so we may have an honorable record.

Holidays:
School closed Wednesday for the Easter holidays. We are glad that this great season has finally arrived.

Contest:
On Monday the pupils of the tenth grade took part in a contest sponsored by the APLS (Association for Promotion of the Study of Latin). Last year, our classmate, Imelda Felderhoff, received honorable mention. We hope to gain a still higher award this year.

First Aid:
Mr. Keel, our first aid instructor, was unable to come for the lesson this week. We regret this very much because we find these classes very interesting.

Boys' Athletics:
Wednesday evening the boys again came home as the victors of a soft ball game. This time their opponents were the boys from St. Mary's. Although both teams played a fine game, our team was able to edge out the final score of 14 to 13. The preceding Friday

Sister Agnes: "Yes, ordinarily it is."
Joe: "Say! Am I gald I didn't do it."

One day last week Sister Agnes gave the freshmen an unusually heavy assignment in English. Hearing this, Robert, a bright young freshman, said: "My goodness, Sister, I'll bet it took you all last night to dream up such an assignment."

Herbie, another fresh freshman, chimed in, "Gosh, Sister, what a nightmare."

At Gainesville on April the 4th, at 4 P. M., the Grand Champion steer from the National Livestock show from Chicago will be at the J. B. Townsley Motor Co. All the 4-H boys, and other boys and men as well, should try to be there if they can.

Dr. Thurston, district representative of N. Y. A., came to school Thursday and explained the N. Y. A. program. He told us how and what trades we could learn. He explained the N. Y. A. schools and answered our questions about these schools. Mr. Morris Strong from Fort Worth came to school at 3 P. M., Monday. He explained the N. Y. A. program in more detail than did Dr. Thurston.

The big event of this week is the Easter holidays. School will be dismissed Wednesday afternoon and will be resumed Monday. Right now we are having our fifth six weeks tests. This means we're preparing for our finals. This business is so serious that even our shop period has been discontinued until after state exams.

Kathleen and Lola Mae Center withdrew from classes last Saturday. The family has moved to Sherman, and the girls hope to continue school there. They believe they are getting the worst end of the deal since the Sherman schools do not close until the first of June.

First Aid Class was disappointed Monday because its instructor, Verne Keel, was unable to be here.

Ruby Lee Jennings is absent from school this week on account of the mumps. Doeste must have recovered for here he is back in school, and now we wonder where Bill can be.

All boys of the community between the ages of 17 and 24 who might be interested in attending an N. Y. A. school to learn metal work, welding, wood work, cooking or mechanics, are invited to come to the Muester public school on the afternoon of April 17. Mr. Morris Strong, N. Y. A. director, will be here to explain the courses and help the boys get into the classes if they can qualify.

The list of motor-fuel substitutes developed by American researchers again has been lengthened. Chemists at Louisiana State University have announced a new process for making high-octane gasoline from blackstrap molasses, cheap by-product of the sugar industry. Cost of production is said to be fifteen cents a gallon.

WHY AMERICA NEEDS MORE COTTON

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has called upon cotton growers to plant their FULL COTTON ACREAGE ALLOTMENT—4,000,000 acres more cotton than we planted last season—because the United States vitally needs more of the products of cotton and cottonseed. These needs include:

- MORE COTTONSEED OIL to supply the nation's need for food and industrial fats, and to replace oil formerly imported from Pacific areas.
- MORE COTTON LINTERS to supply the increasing needs of the munitions industry for this essential raw material.
- MORE COTTONSEED MEAL AND HULLS to supply feeds needed by livestock producers for the efficient production of "Food For Victory."
- MORE LINT COTTON of certain qualities and grades, especially longer staple cotton, to meet increasing needs of the United Nations in their war efforts.

Cotton is the ONLY crop that supplies all of these products

How YOU Can Help Grow MORE Cotton

In order to produce this cotton, it is highly essential that every cotton grower throughout the South follow these sound practices:

- PLANT THE FULL COTTON ALLOTMENT: Be sure you plant every acre of cotton which the AAA legal allotment permits. Replant as often as necessary to insure a full stand on all of this acreage.
- PLANT GOOD SEED: By using quality planting seed, with a high germination test, you will help to insure maximum yields.
- FERTILIZE ADEQUATELY: Be certain that you use adequate amounts of fertilizer, adapted to your own soils, on every cotton acre.
- FIGHT THE INSECTS: No cotton farmer can afford, this season, to suffer costly losses from insects. Poison promptly and as frequently as needed to reduce insect damage.
- KEEP IT CLEAN AND PICK IT CLEAN: Keeping fields free from weeds and grass, and picking all of the cotton this fall, moving it promptly to the gin, are important to insure maximum production.

In addition to distributing this information as a public service to the Nation and the Cotton Industry, our Cotton Oil Mill will gladly assist you in any way that we can to insure maximum cotton production. Call on us for any service that we can render.

JOHNNIE SPAETH KILLED IN ACTION AT PEARL HARBOR

Lindsay.—Relatives here learned this week that Johnnie H. Spaeth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rochus Spaeth of Harlingen, lost his life in the performance of his duty during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7.

Johnnie was born in Lindsay and lived here before moving with his parents to the Valley in 1928. He enlisted in the Navy on June 19, 1941.

His parents, not having heard from him since before the war, were filled with anxiety since the Pearl Harbor attack, but were clinging to the hope that he was safe and that letters he might have written had not reached them. The telegram of notification from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was received by them last week.

Johnnie was the nephew of George Spaeth, Lindsay, and of Mrs. Joseph Flusche, Muenster, and has other relatives in both cities.

Louis Roberg Sends Regards To Friends Here

Louis Roberg of Norfolk, Va., this week wrote the Enterprise a nice letter in which he stated that he is sending his best regards to all the folks at Muenster and is thanking them for the letters and cards he has received since his address appeared in this paper.

Every one is appreciated, he said, but his training is keeping him too busy to answer each one personally, as he would like to do.

Louis had been assigned to sea duty as of March 12, but a quarantine for measles has kept him on shore. "It will be any day now," he added. Louis also stated that he likes the navy fine. He enlisted in January.

Be Immunized Against Typhoid Fever Now Health Officer Advises

AUSTIN, TEXAS, March 24, 1942. "If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever within the last two or three years, go to your doctor and be protected against it," Doctor George W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises prospective campers, Boy and Girl Scouts, summer vacationists, and all other users of the open road—whether for business or pleasure—as the out-of-doors season approaches.

"Typhoid fever," he continued, "is unnecessary and preventable. Every case is due either to community negligence or to the ignorance or carelessness of some individual."

"A carrier is a person who has had typhoid at some time and who even after recovery carries the germ in the urine and the discharges from the intestinal tract. Carriers who are careless in their personal habits are likely to infect any food they handle with unwashed hands. Some of the most serious and far-reaching outbreaks of the disease have been caused by drinking milk or eating foods that have been handled by carriers. Persons may be carriers without knowing it."

"Typhoid germs are hitchhikers. They are picked up and spread from person to person by water, milk, flies, fingers, food. Every case of typhoid is contracted by way of the mouth and the digestive system. The State Department of Health and the local health departments can be depended upon to continue their fight against the disease, but there will still be sources of infection that can be warded off only through the protection afforded by vaccination against the disease."

Rubber On the Farm Needs Attention, Too

COLLEGE STATION, Apr. 1.—Motorists—and aren't we, all?—have been so busy worrying about the tires on their cars that rubber on the farm has not received much attention.

Rubber has played an increasingly important part in food production in recent years. Rubber tires for tractors and farm implements; rubber tubing in milking machines; rubber rings for canning in glass jars—the list is almost endless.

The following suggestions for care of rubber on the farm are offered by M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer of the Texas A. & M.

Extension Service:
Block up the wheels to keep weight off the tires when machines and implements are out of the fields for any considerable period.

If rubber-tired implements are stored on cinder floors, block up the tires or place planks under them. The sulphur in the cinders breaks down the rubber.

Excessive slippage of tractor tires causes heavy wear, just as skids and quick stops do on automobile tires. Over-loading the tractor is one cause of slippage, and pulling in snow or mud without chains is another.

Keep rubber-tired implements out of the sun when not in use.

Under-inflation damages both rubber and fabric in the tires. Rubber tubing in milking machines will last longer if it is kept clean. After each cleaning and sterilization, the tubes should be hung up to drain and dry.

Wheat Farmers Vote On Marketing Quotas May 2

College Station, Apr. 1.—Put a circle around Saturday, May 2, because it's an important date, according to Geo. Slaughter, chairman, state AAA committee.

On that date, the nation's wheat farmers will vote on marketing quotas for the second consecutive year. To be in effect on this year's crop, quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting. Last spring, farmers approved quotas by an 81 per cent majority the chairman said.

"We'll be wasting labor, machines and materials if we increase wheat acreage this year," Slaughter said, "because we have enough wheat on hand now to supply our needs well into 1943."

Further increases in wheat production will also disrupt transportation and clog storage facilities already filled to capacity, he added.

"We need foods like eggs, milk, fats and oils, meat, vegetables, poultry and dairy products to help win the war, the Nazis and the Italians. That's the big production job we've got for this year," the chairman explained. The present supply of wheat is estimated at 1,428 million bushels on the basis of a July 1, 1942 carryover of 635 million bushels and a 1942 crop of 793 million bushels, which includes a preliminary estimate for 1942 winter wheat of 63 million bushels and average production for spring wheat of 162 million bushels.

"That's nearly 100 million bushels more than a year ago, or the greatest supply on record," the AAA official said.

Aim of quotas is to divide a limited wheat market fairly among all wheat farmers, Slaughter said. Farmers who overseed their acreage allotments are asked to make the same adjustments in marketing that AAA cooperators make when they seed within their allotments.

ANTI FREEZE TO BE SAVED

Service stations attendants have been enlisted in the spring offensive against waste of automobile anti-freeze. U. S. Price Administrator Leon Henderson has asked filling station men to impress on motorists the necessity for saving the contents of their radiators after draining for use next winter. Alcohol, the base of most anti-freeze solutions, is essential to the manufacturers of smokeless powder for the war.

JUKE BOXES INTO BULLETS

That noisy figure, the juke box, is going to war too. After April 30, no more of them will be made—and there will be an end also of vending machines, pinball games and weighing machines.

Surprisingly, it was found that a large juke box contains enough metals for five light machine guns, or brass enough to make 750 cartridge cases of .30 calibre. Now they'll play a more patriotic tune.

Preventing ordinary accidental fires is important as their results can be just as serious as fires from bombing raids.

Confetti---

afford to give a few more hours of his day? And what industrialist could not afford to pare his margin of profit a little? Yes, and how many of our big-shot politicians could not refrain from useless political squandering? This is a job the whole nation must share, not just the few million in uniform. Justice, duty and patriotism all demand it.

One trouble, it seems, is that everyone takes it for granted we will win, and that's that. There's a difference between confidence and over-confidence. The wisest course is to work at this as though every moment is precious. And should it later develop that we worked harder than necessary it will still be far better than learning that we did not do quite enough.
