Unseasonal Weather Hits Area Tornado, Freezing Rain, Snow

We've all heard it said, "If you don't like the weather stay a little while and it is sure to change." Well thats the way it has been the last week in the Muleshoe area. While every one had been enjoying the summer like weather, others were guessing as to when the first freeze would come. Many of the area farmers needed a freeze for their cotton crops.

The unseasonal weather began when a trailer house in Northwest Bailey County was struck by a tornado Sunday afternoon. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Meeks was completely destroyed by the tornado. The Meeks were away from home at the time and no injuries were reported. It was reported one to one and a half inches of rain fell in the area.

On Tuesday morning the area's first freeze for the season was recorded. The temperature dropped to 23 degrees.

'Old Man Winter' really made his presence known, Wednesday morning, area residents awoke to cloudy skies and freezing drizzle. Freezing drizzle continued throughout the day, covering the streets with a sheet of ice by nightfall, making driving hazardous. Wednesday afternoon the temperature never got out of the 20's.

The sheriff's office reported that they investigated one truck accident. According to the Highway Patrol, a north bound gasoline truck jack-knifed just outside of the city limits, due to the icy roads, the trailer started to slide, jack-knifed, spun around and hit the left side of the truck cab. Driver of the truck, Russell James Wheeler of Amarillo, had unloaded at Dale Oil and was on his way back to Amarillo. Wheeler was not injured.

Several fender benders were investigated by the City Police Department in the late afternoon and night Wednesday.

Wildcats Romp Over Mules 40-6

What started out to be a cold and chilly night turned out to be a warm night for the Littlefield Wildcats as they pranced over the Muleshoe Mules 40-6.

The Littlefield Wildcats taking the opening kick-off were able to rack up some yards and a few first downs before making it into the endzone with 7:57 left in the first quarter.

Wildcat Anthony Goodson put the first points on the scoreboard on a 1 yard run with the point after-try by James Bond being no good.

The Mules taking their first possession of the ball were unable to move the ball anywhere before having to punt the ball to the Littlefield Wildcats at 6:12 in the quarter.

The Wildcats able to move the ball upfield again raced into the endzone for their second touchdown of the game with 3:38 showing on the clock. The TD was good on a pass to Pete DeLeon from Michael Vaught. The Wildcats chose to try for day. No serious injuries were reported. Motorists were warned to stay off the streets unless it was necessary to travel.

Thursday morning a blanket of snow covered the ground with Muleshoe officially receiving one and a half inches. Area schools started one hour late Thursday morning and busses run on pavement only.

Clear skies and warmer temperatures prevailed over the

November 5 Election Discussed At Rotary

Muleshoe's Chapter of the Rotary Club met Tuesday, October 29 in the Bailey County Civic Center with about 40 attending. President Randy Field recognized seven guests. Field then introduced Jay Messenger who discussed the November 5 election with Proposition 4 on the ballot. Messenger says that voting yes for this proposition will bring 1.1 billion dollars to the state for increased prison facilities. According to Messenger the Texas prison system has undergone much criticism of late because of its deficiencies.

Dr. Bruce Purdy discussed Proposition 13 on the same ballot. This proposition deals with the topic of student loan programs. Field then introduced Todd Ellis who was responsible for the program. Ellis introduced Lacie Kirk and Brad Harmon, state troopers. They presented a videotape of several traffic stops made by the state highway patrol.

"We are trying to get video camera systems here in Bailey County," Kirk said. "They will aid us tremendously in our battle against drunk drivers."

When the troopers videotape the arrest of a drunk driver several indicators like speech,

MAIF Urges Registered Voters To Vote

The Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation continues to prepare a proposal to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice for a correctional facility to be built in the Muleshoe Area. The proposal must be submitted in complete form by January 15, 1992 to TDCJ. Those communities selected for sites will be notified by April 15, 1992 with initial phases of construction to follow immediately.

The economic benefit to those communities where facilities were built after the last selection process has been great with the influx of qualified personnel and their families. Also the local resources used and personnel employed during the construction phase which normally takes two years at a cost of approximately 22 million dollars was of a great benefit to the communities. The number of employees required to operate a 1,000 bed facility is planned at 317 with an estimated annual payroll of over 6 million dollars. It is estimated that approximately one-half of the persons employed to operate the facility will come from the local area.

The requirement for information on the site(s) proposed is very comprehensive and includes information such as environmental factors, relief maps and soils information, complete utilities and communication information, logistical concerns, climatological data, community resources to include law enforcement, court system, fire protection, labor supply, education systems, health care and so on. The Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation plans to have their proposal finished in December, 1991.

The Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation (MAIF) urges all registered voters to vote in the upcoming Constitutional Amendment Election next Tuesday, November 5. They especially encourage all to vote YES on Amendment # 4. They feel the passage of this amendment by a large margin is essential in showing community support for this endeavor. The wording on the ballot is as follows:

The Constitutional Amendment which authorizes the issuance of up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new prisons or other punishment facilities to confine criminals, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions, for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of those institutions, and for the acquisition of, major repair to, or renovation of other facilities

Say Yes to Prison Bonds

Prop. 4 to make streets safe, target drug addicts

By Sen. Ted Lyon
Guest Columnist

AUSTIN — On Nov. 5, Texas voters will have a chance to strike back at crime by approving bond financing to build the 25,300 prison beds called for in Proposition 4.

Daily news accounts of shootings, stabbings, rapes, hold-ups and other violent crimes shock and numb law-abiding citizens, who fear to walk the streets.

Six Texas cities rank among the 17 most crime-ridden cities nationwide, according to the latest FBI statistics. Dallas ranks third, with Fort Worth fourth on that dubious list.

We're all outraged over the system that churns out dangerous criminals who serve only 10 to 20 percent of their sentences.

Consider the case of Leonardo Lopez, who murdered three deputies in cold blood while their hands were bound with wire. He was released after serving only 16 years on three life sentences — that's five and one third years per killing.

We need room in our prisons to keep the Leonardo Lopeses of the world for the longest possible terms. Right now, we don't have that room. It's causing our entire criminal justice system to back up like an overflowing drainpipe.

We have nearly 10,000 convicted felons in 54 county jails awaiting transfer to state prisons that are already straining at capacity.

Proposition 4 will go a long way toward easing our prison overcrowding crisis.

Understand that this is only the beginning of the answer to our crime problems. We can't just keep building more and more prisons indefinitely — they are expensive to build and expensive to operate. Alone, they tend to function as warehouses for the drags of society.

What, you ask, is different about this latest prison construction program?

The difference is that, besides 13,300 beds for general population inmates, the bond money will build 12,000 beds to lock up non-violent addict offenders, where they will get mandatory substance abuse treatment.

There is no doubt that drugs fuel the vast majority of crime. Addicts do not care about the consequences of their crimes; they only want to get their next "high." That's why the ones who have not yet become hardened criminals must be forced into treatment. It's a documented fact that mandated substance abuse treatment is every bit as effective as voluntary treatment, according to a study by the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

The idea is to remove the driving motivation for crimes by eliminating addicts' need for drugs. Curing those who are salvagable will save taxpayers millions of dollars by cutting the repeat offender rate. This is the most direct way to make a real dent in our crime problem.

We will save $3 in criminal justice costs for every $2 invested in substance abuse treatment even if only one in four of those treated stays straight. Research shows that we can expect results to be at least twice that good, with a 50-70 percent success rate.

One thing is certain: we have to change our approach, so that we can shut the revolving doors on our prisons. Right now, addicts commit crimes to get drugs, go to prison to serve a fraction of their sentence, then are released with the same addiction that put them there in the first place. About half of those addicts will become repeat offenders if left untreated for their addictions.

In order to break the cycle of crime, we must break the cycle of addiction. Period.

The fact of the matter is that substance abuse treatment works. It's time we recognized the direct savings treatment can generate for the criminal justice system, the taxpayers who fund that system, and the property and peace of mind of law-abiding citizens.

Consider the case of Carl Robins, who committed seven different non-violent crimes, involving property or drug possession. By the time he was 47, Robins had spent 26 years and 11 months behind bars as a direct result of his heroin addiction. Since successfully completing a drug treatment program in 1983, he has stayed straight, become productive and now is helping new parolees find jobs.

Every treated addict won't be a success story, but each one who is freed up prison space to hold a murderer or a rapist or an armed robber.

As for bond financing of prisons, it's no different in concept than a homebuyer taking out a 30-year loan to buy a house. In this case, the term would be 20 years on just over $1 billion. This financing method has been endorsed by the State Comptroller, who understands well the wisdom of bond financing for long-term-use facilities.

The state simply cannot afford to pay cash for these prisons at this time, but we must act now to address Texas' crime problems. The approach here is not piecemeal; it is part of a comprehensive reform package to attack the root causes of crime.

Besides the bond proposal, the reform includes revision of the state's Penal Code by the Texas Punishment Standards Commission to get priorities straight so that the most dangerous criminals will be kept behind bars for the longest terms.

These revolutionary reforms will help safeguard our children and could stand for decades as the turning point in our battle against crime in this state. I urge you to vote in FAVOR of Proposition 4 on Nov. 5.

Sen. Ted Lyon (D-Rockwall) is the author of Proposition 4 and is co-chairman of the Texas Punishment Standards Commission.

Reclaiming Control Of Texas Prisons

By Dan Morales
Attorney General

For nineteen long and costly years, our state prison system has been governed by outsiders.

Texans have been forced to witness the evolution of an environment in which the rights of criminals seem to be more vigorously guarded than the rights of their victims.

Recent progress aimed at reversing this alarming trend could well be the catalyst to return control of our prisons to state leaders, while also restoring proper recognition and protection of the first right of every Texan: the right to be safe in our homes, in our businesses, and on our streets.

Last month, state and county Officials settled the difficult jail overcrowding lawsuit. County jails across Texas have for too long been filled with state prisoners who cannot be sent to state facilities because of a desperate lack of available cells. In the wake of last month's settlement, we now have an historic opportunity to seize upon the momentum and take the next step toward reclaiming complete control of our prisons.

The history of the lawsuit that led to our loss of state control has been particularly arduous.

On June 29, 1972, inmate David Ruiz filed a handwritten petition with Federal Judge William Wayne Justice, stating that living conditions in Texas prisons were unconstitutional. Two years later, his and seven other inmate petitions were consolidated into a class action lawsuit known as Ruiz v. Estelle, which cited overcrowding problems, the use of inmates as guards, inadequate health care, solitary confinement, and a host of other abuses.

In December 1980, after a 161-day trial that included some 350 witnesses and more than 1,500 exhibits, Judge Justice declared the system unconstitutional, ordered sweeping reforms, and appointed a special federal master to oversee our prisons.

Today, our prison system is in compliance with federal standards in all aspects, and we are prepared to prove that we have a mechanism in place to ensure that they never again fall into unconstitutional disrepair.

In my second week on the job as Attorney General, I filed a motion to end the litigation and federal supervision because I don't believe Texans want to see the suit and outside control of our prisons drag on into yet another decade. During the recent legislative session, specific regulatory measures were enacted with the help of Governor Richards, Lt. Governor Bullock, Speaker Lewis and their criminal justice leadership teams. These measures provide that, as our prison system grows to accommodate more prisoners, the availability of medical, recreational, academic, and other inmate facilities will grow in concert. The measures also put in place a structure that will closely monitor inmate population growth. And they modify our prison policies in such a way that Texas prisons can become more civilized and more cost effective with strict guidelines for inmate classification, staffing, nutrition, health care, disciplinary actions, facility maintenance, and other concerns.

In addition to these regulatory measures, the Legislature laid the groundwork for the construction of more than 25,000 additional prison cells to ensure that adequate space exists to house those individuals convicted of criminal acts.

An integral part of this initiative is the dedication of some 12,000 prison beds to confine and treat those criminals whose abuse of drugs and alcohol has affected their ability to follow society's laws. As many as 85 percent of those individuals who break our laws do so because of substance abuse. If we are to succeed in truly turning the tide of crime, we must close the revolving door that shuttles addiction-driven criminals in and out of our criminal justice system.

These actions represent the most comprehensive effort to date to address the needs of our criminal justice system and to end federal control of our state prisons. Texas voters will now be called upon to lend their support to this effort by approving the $1.1 billion bond package on the November 5 ballot to fund the construction of these new prison cells.

Voter approval of these bonds will ensure that our state's best effort is made to inject stability and predictability into our criminal justice system. It will also place Texas in the best position to end the Ruiz litigation once and for all. It is for these reasons that I encourage voters to exercise their right to vote and support Proposition 4 on Nov. 5.

As the state's chief law enforcement official, I recognize that the coming years will bring no escape from the increasing numbers of Texans sent to our prisons, no escape from the need for more prison capacity and more jail cells, no escape from the need to choose very carefully from among the array of community-based sentencing options.

I believe, however, that we can now escape the specter of a prison system governed by the federal courts. The people of Texas are tired of the courts running our affairs, and they believe the time has come to put our policy-making authority back in the hands of those who have been duly-elected to represent the people of this state—where it belongs.

Voting yes on the November prison bond proposal is a critical step toward reclaiming control of Texas prisons.

Joe Biden, U.S. Senator:
"No one should look at today's figures on crime...and believe the epidemic of crime in America has been broken."

Senior Citizens Meet

By Olive Cox, Secretary

Monday, October 28 the Muleshoe Senior Citizens met at the Old Depot for their regular covered dish luncheon. The invocation was given by Durwood Head. We had a delicious meal and enjoyed the fellowship. Odessa Shanks, program chairman, introduced the visitors, Velma Guinn's sister Lois Shields from Salt Lake City, Utah. Robert and Maureen Hooten of Muleshoe, Charlie and Anna Lea Miranda and Marvin and Oletha Sanders from Earth. There were 7 visitors and 19 members present. The four from Earth provided our entertainment. They sang eleven gospel songs, and they were enjoyed by everyone.

Katie Roubinek, president, had charge of the business meeting. The previous minutes were read and approved.

The birthday song was sung to Rita Shipp and Lester Howard. Get well cards were sent to J. C. Shanks and Helen Pruitt and a sympathy card was sent to Lester Howard. His brother Tommie Howard died last week. He lived at El Paso.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Lester Howard.

Susan Lunsford, Lee Decker United in Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lunsford of Muleshoe announce the marriage of their daughter, Susan to Lee Decker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Decker of Pep. Susan and Lee were united in holy matrimony Saturday afternoon, September 28 in the St. Michael's Catholic Church in Levelland. Fr. Tim Schwertner officiated the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with a spiral candleabra entwined with greenery, along with a silk flower arrangement of red, black and white flowers on each side of the altar, then a single arching candleabra behind the altar. The double kneeler was covered in a white lace sheeting, and the aisle lined with white pew bows.

Given in marriage by both her mother and father, the bride wore a white floor length wedding gown with a sweetheart neckline, fashioned with bouffant sleeves. Alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent sequins vastly covered the arms and bodice of the gown. The chapel-length train was attached by a large, satin bow, with appliques of sheer lace in several various designs, seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Oblong pearls dangled from the waistline making a "V" design in coordination with the V-shaped headband on her white double layered veil. The bride's bouquet consisted of a dozen red roses, several freshly blooming callallilies, surrounded by stephanotis and accented with white ribbon streamers.

Awaiting the bride at the altar, the groom wore a solid white Pierre Cardin cable weave style tuxedo in full dress with a white cummerbund and tie. His boutonniere was a white rose bud garnished with baby's breath.

Attendants for the bride wore black satin, off-the-shoulder dresses with a fitted, dropped, waistline and a white bow on the left hip, flowing into an intermezzo hem. They carried bouquets of red and white roses with white ribbon streamers. The groomsmen wore black Pierre Cardin cable-weave style tuxedos with red satin cummerbunds and ties. Their boutonnières were red roses surrounded by baby's breath.

Sally Sams of Lubbock, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Betsy Lunsford, also sister of the bride of Lubbock, and Laurey Riney of Olton. Best man was John David Tyson of Lubbock and groomsmen were Kyle Decker of Lubbock, and Wade Decker of Levelland, both brothers of the groom. Cameron Lunsford, son of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Guests were registered by Lori Decker, sister of the groom. Ushers and candlelighters were Matt Walker of Lubbock, Terry Williams of Lubbock, and Jeff Groves of Rotan, brother-in-law of the groom.

Beta Sigma Phi Sponsors Storyhour

By Anne Camp

Good News! Alpha-Zeta Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi has volunteered to sponsor Storyhour at the Library on the 3rd Wednesday of every month, so we will be able to have two a month. So circle your calendar for the 1st and 3rd Wednesdays at 10:15 a.m. and bring your kids, and other kids if you can, to Storyhours...for an hour of stories, songs, games and movies plus a treat each time they come.

We will continue to have storyhours for the Day-Care Center, and the Early development classes from Dillman school on the 2nd Wednesday of the month.

We have on display this month a very nice collection of unicorns, courtesy of Theresa Orozco. We will be happy to hear from anyone who has a collection they would like to display at the library.

We enjoyed having "Grizzly Adams" or in real life, Dick Robinson visit the library. After starring in the series which was popular quite a few years ago, he has made several full length videos that are exciting stories that are great for young people...or anyone who likes adventure, beautiful mountain scenery, animals in the wild and good clean entertainment. These are under the label of Grizzly Rob's Home Video theatre, and will be circulated for home use only. We are getting new videos often, and have a good collection.

...circulation is very good-especially on the weekend. We have the premier edition of "Gone with the Wind," which people want to re-watch since the sequel to the book has been published. Videos are checked out to adults with a good library record at no cost, unless they are kept over-time.

Speaking of videos, we have a new book--the complete guide to Home Video production. For more information call the library at 272-4707.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. A seven tiered white cake decorated with fresh red roses, and white daisies was served from the bride's table along with mints, nuts and red ginger ale punch. The bride's bouquet acted as the centerpiece for the table.

The groom's table was adorned with finger sandwiches and a heart-shaped, red velvet cake. Freshly brewed coffee was served from a four piece silver serving set. Servers included:

Jaton Tigrett of Lubbock, Tracie Hill of Lubbock, and Marietta Woolam of Levelland.

Photography was done by Lonnie Adrian of Adrian Photography in Muleshoe.

House party members included: Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gear, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Scott, all of Muleshoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Maloy Simmacher and Mr. and Mrs. Al Duesterhaus, both of Morton.

After a trip to Jamaica, the couple will make their home in Lubbock where Susan is currently employed by Dr. Michael Owen and Lee is employed by MTS, Inc.

ENMU To Sponsor History Workshop

On November 23-24 University Outreach at Eastern New Mexico University will sponsor a workshop on Oral History.

Dr. Paul Shakesby, assistant professor of elementary education, will teach the course which will explore oral histories. The class will meet from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the College of Business, Room 104 on the ENMU campus. Registration will be on-site November 23 at 7:30 a.m. Undergraduates will be charged a fee of $79 and graduates a fee of $84. The workshop will be worth one credit hour.

For more information, contact University Outreach at 562-2165.

Texas State Library's Genealogy Department To Close

The Texas State Library's Genealogy Department will be closed from November 11, 1991, through January 10, 1992. No genealogy services will be provided during this time.

Asbestos will be removed from the lobby of the Lorenzo de Zavala State Archives and Library Building and the area housing the Genealogy Department. Other units of the Library will remain open, but there will be some inconvenience to people entering the building through the main (west) entrance. Patrons may also enter the building through the south entrance on 12th Street and the east entrance in the loading dock.

"While we regret the temporary closure of this area and service, the knowledge that the renovated area will be a safer place for State Library patrons as well as staff makes the inconvenience worthwhile," said Director and Librarian William D. Gooch.

Jasmine Dominique Toscano

Richard and Dora Toscano of Muleshoe announce the birth of a daughter, Jasmine Dominique. She was born October 29 at 5:57 p.m. in the Clovis High Plains Hospital. The child weighed 7 lbs., 5 and a half oz. and was 20 and a half inches long. She has a brother, Joshua, 2, and a sister, Samantha, 1.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Andres Bermea of Lariat and Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Toscano of Muleshoe. Great grandmothers are Concepcion Romero of Donna and Hilaria Bermea of Weslaco.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, on any subject, in any style. Contest closes February 29, 1992, but poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible, since poems entered in the contest also will be considered for publication in the Fall 1992 edition of TREASURED POEMS OF AMERICA, a hardcover anthology to be published in August 1992. The public is being warned regarding two men who are said to be operating in this section in the passing of bogus 50 cent pieces. The coins are said to be of rather a crude type of counterfeit, and easily detected if noticed when accepted. Several restaurant and filling station men are said to have been victims of the spurious coinage. They are reported to be driving a 1928 Nash car, of dark color, a roll of bedding tied on the rear of the car.

ability to walk straight and driving habits in general can be captured on tape.

Kirk noted that guilty suspects are more likely to plead guilty when videotaping is used during the arrest. It's easier to prove that the drunk driver is intoxicated with the use of a video camera.

"A video camera helps the troopers show their side of the story. Videotapes are admissible in court," Kirk said. Various sobriety tests can be given in front of the camera. Kirk commented that they are trying to put a video camera in the sheriff's car.

The cameras save court time and save the county money, according to Kirk. When a suspect knows he is being videotaped, he is less likely to argue with the officer on the side of the road. Use of the cameras can save the county money by eliminating law suits.

Kirk said that the cost of the video camera system they want to install is about $1600. At this time about $800 is needed to complete the $1600 goal. The Commissioners Court has donated enough for one of the three cameras that are needed. Several donations were made toward the purchase of the video cameras after the talk.

move it anywhere when the first quarter ended leaving the Wildcats leading the Mules by a score of 18-0.

The Mules in possession of the ball with the second quarter beginning were forced to punt the ball back to the Wildcats. On that same play the Wildcats were able to block the Mule punt and scored at 11:34 in the second quarter. The Wildcats again trying to add two points to their score were successful when Michael Vaught raced into the endzone. With that score the Wildcats still lead the Mules 26-0.

Once again the Mules taking the ball on the kick return were not able to move the ball upfield before having to punt the ball back to the Wildcats at 9:42 in the quarter.

The Wildcats keeping true to their football abilities scored at 6:50 in the second quarter on an Anthony Goodson run. The PAT by James Bond was good giving them an even slightly lead.

The Mules kept possession of the ball, when four seconds later were intercepted by Trevor Blair at 6:02 in the quarter.

The Wildcats kept their scoring momentum alive when they again scampered into the endzone at 2:45 in the quarter. The PAT by James Bond was good.

The Mules still trying to make it into the endzone were forced to punt the ball with :58 seconds left to play in the second quarter.

The Wildcats in control of the ball once again fumbled the ball two plays later but were able to recover it ending first half action.

The Mules taking the opening kick-off in the third quarter kept control of the ball until they were forced to punt the ball back to the Wildcats with 5:58 left in the quarter.

The Mules were able to rack up some yardage against the tough Wildcat defense and several first downs.

The Wildcats taking possession of the ball in their own territory on their own 1 yard line fumbled the ball a play later with the Mules recovering the ball.

The Mules unable to capitalize on the ball were unsuccessful in moving the ball upfield before third quarter action came to a close.

The Mules still in possession of the ball with fourth quarter action beginning were forced to punt the ball with just :07 seconds into the quarter.

The Wildcats again in control of the ball were able to gain some yardage and a few first downs before fumbling the ball at 9:39.

The Mules were able to capitalize on the fumble when they made it into the endzone on a 6 yard run by Kip McCall. The two point conversion try was no good.

The Littlefield Wildcats having control of the ball once again fumbled the ball a few plays later recovering their own fumble.

The Mules keeping their hopes high gained some yardage and about six first downs before being intercepted on the Littlefield 8 yard line with :39 seconds left to play in the game.

Final score of the game was Littlefield 40, Muleshoe Mules 6.

FLBA Lowers

Variable Interest Rate To 9.5%

The Federal Land Bank Association (FLBA) of Muleshoe lowered its variable interest rate to 9.5 percent effective November 1.

This interest rate reduction is the most recent in a series of rate reductions over the last two years, which have brought the association's variable rate down more than a full percentage point to the new 9.5 percent rate.

"We are pleased to be able to pass on to our members the benefits of a favorable interest rate climate," said Bill Liles, FLBA President. "The savings in financing costs should help our area farmers and ranchers afford to purchase land, housing or farm improvements that they might have postponed otherwise."

The new 9.50 percent variable rate is available for agricultural, rural housing and farm related business loans.

The FLBA of Muleshoe provides long-term agricultural financing in Bailey and Parmer Counties. The office is located in Muleshoe.

through the Texas Department of Agriculture's export facilities hit an all time high during the first nine months of the year.

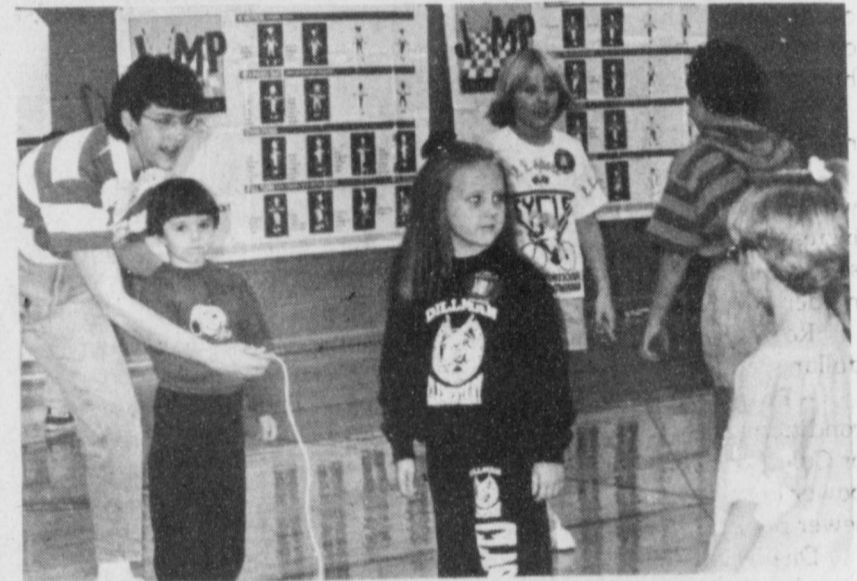

As of October 1, total exports through TDA pens reached a record 868,528 head of livestock, valued at $136.4 million--more than a 50 percent increase compared to the dollar value of livestock exports for the first nine months of last year. During the same period in 1990, 444,565 head, valued at $64.6 million were exported through the pens.

"Soaring exports of beef cattle, sheep and hogs comprised the bulk of the increase," Perry said, "but the numbers are also up for dairy animals, breeding stock, goats and horses."

"Mexico remains the main international customer for Texas livestock," Perry said.

"These high numbers are just another example of the vast, worldwide appeal of Texas livestock," Perry said. "Texas is well-known for producing quality breeds and having a large variety from which to choose."

TDA operates six export facilities--five along the Texas-Mexico border at Del Rio, Eagle Pass, El Paso, Brownsville and Laredo and a sixth at Houston Intercontinental Airport.

SPS To Provide Electricity To Cap Rock Cooperative

Southwestern Public Service Company and Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. today announced an agreement in which SPS will provide wholesale power to Cap Rock, which serves 17 West Texas counties.

Delivery of electricity under the agreement will become effective upon completion of transmission lines between the two companies, expected in mid-1993.

Cap Rock is headquartered in Stanton, 18 miles northeast of Midland, and serves more than 20,000 customers. SPS is a regional, investor-owned utility serving about 350,000 customers in the South Plains and Panhandle of Texas, eastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

Cap Rock will become the 17th rural electrical cooperative to which SPS provides wholesale power.

Cap Rock Director of Power Supply and Regulatory Affairs Steven E. Collier said the agreement with SPS is good news to co-op members.

"We constantly seek wholesale power from many sources, searching for the best deal for our customers," Collier said. "Our contract with SPS will result in lower power supply costs and more flexibility."

He said the agreement with SPS will result in lower rates for Cap Rock Electric's consumer-members than would have resulted otherwise.

Cap Rock Chief Executive Officer David W. Pruitt said savings and reliability will extend far into the future. "This assures our members the benefits of a long-term, stable, competitively priced supply of power into the next century," Pruitt said.

Under the recently signed contract, SPS will supply between 70 and 100 percent of Cap Rock's power needs. Electricity will be delivered at two points, one located near the community of Vealmoor north of Big Spring, and the other near Midland.

SPS Vice President of Marketing Gary Gibson said sales to Cap Rock are expected to reach 70 to 100 megawatts by the end of the decade.

He said SPS is looking forward to its new relationship with Cap Rock.

"Cap Rock is already a strong co-op," Gibson said. "We're pleased we can help keep it strong by providing its members with the low-cost electricity and dependable service we give all our customers."

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. was formed in 1939, and serves Andrews, Borden, Dawson, Ector, Fisher, Glasscock, Howard, Irion, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Reagan, Scurry, Upton, Sterling and Tom Green counties.

The wholesale power arrangement must be approved by the Federal Energy Regulatory Agency, the Public Utility Commission of Texas and the New Mexico Public Service Commission prior to delivery of power.

GOVERNOR'S REPORT

Ann D. Richards

Support needed for prison bonds

Our criminal justice system is broken. Texans are fed up with the spectacle of violent offenders being released from prison after serving only a fraction of their sentence.

County jails are backed up with state inmates, and our state penitentiaries operate like a revolving door -- sending violent criminals back out onto the streets after they have served only a fraction of their sentence.

Judging from the mail my office is receiving, I can assure you that most Texans recognize crime as the No. 1 problem facing this state. And Texans want to keep violent offenders off the streets. One way to do that is to vote on November 5.

Proposition 4 authorizes the state to issue up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds to finance the cost of new prison facilities that will lock up 25,300 new prisoners. When you consider that our current prison capacity is right at 50,000, you can see what a difference these 15 new prisons will make. If we are going to keep violent offenders incarcerated, we must have the space for them.

New crime control laws also create a substance abuse felony punishment and provide space for 12,000 inmates punished under this provision. The money raised from the $1.1 billion bond issue can also be used in this effort to break the cycle of addiction and crime.

To ensure us additional prison space for violent criminals, we need you to vote yes on Proposition 4 on November 5.

There are other important items on the ballot.

Proposition 11 is the constitutional amendment that would authorize a state lottery.

If approved, a state lottery will pump about $500 million into the state treasury this biennium. That's half a billion dollars that can be put to good use educating our children, making our communities safe, creating jobs for Texas and providing health and human services to those Texans in need.

The lottery is that rarest of all beasts -- a popular method of raising state revenue.

At this time in Texas history when we are making cuts in areas we never dreamed of cutting before -- when we are faced with increasing federal court orders to spend more state dollars on human services -- we cannot pass up this opportunity to bring in much-needed revenue.

Remember, every dollar a lottery raises for the state is one less dollar we have to raise in taxation.

Proposition 12 authorizes the state to upgrade the living conditions of those Texans living in unincorporated neighborhoods, or Colonias, along the Texas-Mexico border. It grants the state the power to spend up to $250 million on loans and grants for water and sewer projects in the Colonias.

Disease is rampant in these communities where children are forced to drink untreated water and raw sewage stands in the streets. We must have these bond monies available to eradicate these unacceptable conditions.

Proposition 13 would allow the state to continue issuing up to $300 million in general obligation bonds to finance higher education loans to students. Voters must approve this amendment if we are going to continue funding the Hinson-Hazelwood student loan program. Since 1965, the state has loaned $580 million dollars to more than 200,000 Texas students through this program. It is one of the few state programs that is completely self-sufficient.

In fact, it's a money-maker -- because Texas students have a good record of repaying these loans. It is one of the few programs we can offer middle income students. Texas must maintain its investment in education if we are to be prepared for the century ahead.

We need your support on these proposed amendments. Please vote on November 5.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Twelve Kiwanians, one brave guest, Bekki Brown, and one honorary Kiwanian, Robby (Cold lap) Clapp, and Sweetheart, Tiffany Angeley, met Friday morning at the Dairy Queen. Everybody was dressed warmly. Robby Clapp said he would not pour cold ice water in his lap any more.

Bekki's hands were cold but she has a warm heart. Tiffany in her cheer leaders uniform was dressed real warm also. It is bad going from a hot summer to an ice storm. Quite a change. All Kiwanians meet next Tuesday morning at the Flag hut to put out flags for election day, 6:30 Tuesday morning.

President Larry Parker called the meeting to order. Herb Langfitt led the club in the pledge to the flag. R.A. Bradley gave the invocation.

Tom Bowen has been looking for a friend and has been bribing Tiffany with hot chocolate on Friday nights, got Tiffany to be his friend. You know it is bad when you have to bribe people to be your friend. But it is better than no friends at all.

President Larry Parker presented the proposed budget for the upcoming year and the club accepted it. Since there was no other program, we adjourned early.

Bekki it was good to have you this morning. Be back next week, O.K.

The Kiwanis Club would like to say thank you to this wonderful community for all of your help and support. Thanks Again.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
 Proposition 13 on the Nov. 5 ballot should be supported by voters across Texas. This vital proposition would allow the sale of $300 million in general obligation bonds to continue funding for the state's highly successful student loan program.
 The need for the 25-year-old Hinson-Hazlewood College Student Loan Program has never been greater as more families struggle to make ends meet and the federal government cuts back on its student aid programs. In recent years, the number of student borrowers has increased dramatically--from 6,259 in 1988 to 26,289 last year. This year the total will be even higher. Without voter approval of Proposition 13, funds for new loans will run out by next spring.
 The Hinson-Hazlewood program is paid for by the same people who benefit from it--students. Repayments by students, not funds from the state's taxpayers, cover interest on the bonds and retire them. Not a penny of state appropriations has ever been used to repay previous bond issues.
 Hinson Hazlewood, which serves middle-income as well as low-income students, boasts a default rate of about 6 percent. That is much lower than the widely-publicized default rates for some federal student loan programs, and the Texas student loan program should not be confused with them. All Hinson-Hazlewood defaults are covered by interest earnings and federal insurance programs.
 The Hinson-Hazlewood program is a necessary and reasonable measure to help educate Texas college students. I urge Texas voters to say "yes" to Proposition 13 on Nov. 5.
 Sincerely,
 Harry M. Reasoner
 Chairman,
 Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

Senator Phil Gramm Reports

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm is urging all Americans to "thank a veteran" on Veterans Day, November 11, for the service that millions of vets have rendered to America.
 "On Veterans Day, we honor the brave men and women who have answered the nation's call, who have gone all over the world to defend our freedom," Gramm said.
 "I hope you will join me in remembering the 600,000 Americans who died for our freedom in this century and to join me in thanking the tens of millions who have served," he said.
 "Like all of us, they had their individual lives which they left to stand up for America. They left their families, their schools, their jobs and went far away and served with distinction. Many faced combat and they fought with courage and pride. "From Operation Desert Storm to the Revolutionary War, millions of Americans put on the uniform of our nation and pledged their lives to the ideal that is America," Gramm noted.

 The senator said that "all of us can remember and honor those who have served and all of us can commit ourselves to the highest ideals for which they fought by working to make America the greatest country in the world."

The meeting at the Holiday Inn-Civic Center, 801 Avenue Q, is one of a series held each year for leaders of government, business and all facets of agriculture. It will begin at 7:45 a.m. and adjourn at 4 p.m.

The sessions, open to anyone, provide an opportunity to exchange views on current issues, said Dr. Ed Smith, forum coordinator. He is an agricultural economist and specialist in Four legislative leaders, a banker and two business and grower organization executives will lead the day's discussions.

A Mighty Hunter

The story of the dog as a faithful hunter and companion for man is a fabulous one. Doubtless some of our very own ancestors were kept from starvation by the skill and service of the dog, finding game where no man could hunt it out, keeping at the chase when man would have given up. Small wonder that many authors have talked of God as a Mighty Hunter for man, but in a quite different way; the game in this case is man himself. God never gives up in His search for us no matter how we try to hide from Him. Wherever we go, there He will follow though it be the end of the earth. He follows because He loves and He will have nothing less than love in return. No one is shut out from His love; He stands at the door of every heart asking for entrance—only the individual can keep the door shut.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Is something wrong with your life — an inner restless dissatisfaction — the answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure.

Through the church God has committed the provisions and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church in everyone!

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I hear so many women complaining about their husbands wanting to stay home all of the time.
I just want to say that a husband like that would suit me fine and that if some of these complaining women had a husband like mine who wants to be going somewhere all the time, they would get mighty tired of it.
FW.--Tex.

Answer:
Isn't it funny how hard it is to please people? If you find you have married a person whose likes and desires are not yours, it would be a good idea to compromise.
The husband will perhaps agree to stay home half the time if his wife will go with him the other half and be agreeable and enthusiastic about it.
-Louisa.

Your Amazing Skin

THE WICKED ITCH
That wicked itch! Itchy, irritated hand and body skin seem to plague many people especially during cold weather, studies show.

Proper skin care during cold weather is important.

What makes this a time so many suffer from skin problems? Dermatologists cite three main factors:
• Dry air
• Cold air
• Clothing irritation
To soothe the wicked itches of winter, many people use a special medicated cream proven effective for the therapeutic treatment of dry skin pain and itch. The fast-acting, doctor-tested anesthetic in Lanacane[®] Medicated Creme starts to work in just four seconds to stop the itching. A special antibacterial agent aids healing with the help of soothing Aloe.
It can be a good way to say goodbye to the wicked itch—during dry indoor weather.

Baseless Cantaloupe Salmonella Scare Delivers Blow To Farmers

As if Texas cantaloupe farmers didn't have enough to worry about with weather and market conditions this summer, the national Centers for Disease Control delivered an unexpected blow just as Central and West Texas farmers were preparing to take their melons to market.
A CDC announcement that linked a series of salmonella cases to cantaloupe was enough to scare most consumers into not buying cantaloupe—even though the suspect melons were no longer on the market. This fact was not made clear by the CDC until it was too late.

The dollar damage caused by this man-made disaster is hard to pinpoint, but in Texas growers estimated their lowwies at between $40 million to $50 million.
All this grief originated with a murky report. The initial CDC bulletin said the suspected melons "apparently" came from the Rio Grande Valley, Arizona and California. But close examination of the report showed researchers were not sure exactly where the salmonella was picked up. It noted that in a number of cases, suspect cantaloupe was served in salads or in salad bars—where food contamination can occur as melons and other items sit unrefrigerated for too long. The CDC also failed to note other possible sources of melon contamination that might have occurred, such as during transport.

But as Texas Department of Agriculture statewide inspections and testing showed, the salmonella scare was baseless. Nearly 100 cantaloupe samples were taken from fields across the state and analyzed by a private San Antonio laboratory. No trace of salmonella was detected whatsoever.

But by that time, the damage had already occurred. The CDC only targeted the Rio Grande Valley crop as a possible suspect—which the center did not make clear until late August, and only then after TDA's urging. Luckily, the South Texas crop was unaffected because its produce had already been sold, bringing in about $60 million into the region.

Pecos-area packers weren't so lucky. A.B. Foster, president of Pecos Cantaloupe, told us that of 300,000 boxes his company expected to pack and ship, only 192,000 boxes were sold. K & D Produce sales manager Bruce Smith said his company only packed 100,000 boxes out of between 350,000 to 420,000 boxes expected to be sold. With each box valued at between $5 to $8, the damage added up quickly. The state's largest cantaloupe packer, Griffin & Brand, lost at least $3.2 million in Pecos and Presidio, according to company President Wayne Showers.

We at TDA take very seriously our responsibility to ensure consumers receive safe, quality produce. If a problem is found with Texas commodities, we want to be the first to correct and resolve the situation. Yet, the salmonella scare showed the danger involved when unclear, general information is released, particularly by a government agency. The CDC and other government entities must be as specific as possible about potential health problems involving produce or any agricultural product.

Even though harvesting procedures were never implicated, officials at the Texas Citrus & Vegetable Association are reviewing post-harvest procedures to ensure product quality. Already, melons are routinely bathed and scrubbed in water and special cleaning solutions before they are shipped. Also being considered is the possibility of spraying shipping trailers with chlorine to ensure cantaloupes are not contaminated by other products.

The industry is going more than the extra mile with these measures, but unfortunately this is probably what it will take to restore public confidence in cantaloupes after all the miscommunication.

Texas farmers do not have any control over weather or market conditions. We hope through careful release of information, they won't have to worry about man-made disasters in the future.
