BROWNWOOD AIR FAIR OPENS SATURDAY

Woman Parachute Artist Will Leap From Plane Wing

Attired in her beautiful white flying uniform, and with her parachute strapped to her back, Mrs. Almeda Babcock, pretty twenty-one-year-old brunette parachute artist, will make three parachute leaps from Brownwood in one of the most sensational stunts ever staged in Brownwood. Mrs. Babcock is with the Texas Air Fair which will be in Brownwood Saturday and Sunday and will make her leaps at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and at 11 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock Sunday. The leaps will be made from the wing of the Eagle Rock. R. M. Browning pilot, at an altitude of 2,000 feet.

First Jump Just for Thrill
Mrs. Babcock made her first parachute jump something over two years ago, just "for the thrill of it."
This jump was made soon after she met her late husband who followed her out on the wing of the plane and showed her just how she should pull the rip cord that causes her chute to open. Several other jumps were made for fun. Soon afterwards this Texas girl married her instructor and quit parachute jumping. On August 24 of the last year, a bride of only a short time she stood on the flying field at Minneapolis and saw her husband leap from the wing of a plane. Strapped to him were five parachutes. One of them failed to open and he fell to his death. Mrs. Babcock followed in the footsteps of her husband and took up professional parachute jumping and today she is watched by thousands of admirers throughout the United States. She has thrilled thousands over the country with her daring and sensational exhibition of jumping.

Large crowds of people are expected to see Mrs. Babcock make her sensational leaps in Brownwood in the Texas Airfair at McCarty field where the Central Texas Aircraft Company is located. Mrs. Babcock is a Tyler, Texas, girl and made her first jump in her home town. She says she is never frightened in the air. Members of the air show say that Mrs. Babcock is an unusually quiet and unassuming person and at all times a lady who is respected and loved by her associates.

E. S. GIBSON AND HIS WACO F. PLANE

FLYING SAFE COMPARED TO OTHER MEANS

It is claimed by leading manufacturers in the aviation industry that the success of the industry depends on the ability of the manufacturers to sell the value of the airplane to commerce and industry, and prove its practicability and safety. In our means of transportation we take personal risks into consideration, and many people fear the air method of travel, it is claimed, simply because they have been put in the wrong light toward aviation. There is no form of transportation that is 100 per cent safe.

Statistics show a high rate of safety in air travel as compared to other forms of transportation. All flying, in a miscellaneous group, is rated safer than the automobile. Insurance statistics, it is claimed, reveal that a passenger on a scheduled airline, making a 400 mile flight twice a week during the next 4 1-2 years, enjoys a chance ratio of 479 to 1 against accident.

The Federal and state regulations are becoming so strict now, it is claimed that all the incompetent are being weeded out. Pilots and planes undergo inspections every 6 months and the pilots are required to show their license if passengers request. Thousands of people have realized the safety of air travel and many more are being converted daily, as revealed by the fact that passenger traffic was increased four fold during the last year, it is disclosed.

No Rebel

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 9.—(P)—General Geronimo Villareal—one Mexican general, who was never a revolutionist—died at his home here yesterday. He was 75 years old.

General Villareal was best known for his victory over the rebel force in the battle of Nuevo Laredo in 1914. He served in the armies of Mexico for 20 years, under Porfirio Diaz, Madero, and Huerta. He retired from the army 15 years ago and came here to live. He was on friendly terms with the present government, having visited President Ortiz Rubio in Mexico City only three weeks ago.

MAN SHOTS WIFE, SELF

DALLAS, Texas, April 9.—(P)—C. W. Love, 55, shot and injured his wife, Mrs. Eva Love, 41, at their home here today, then walked into another room and fired a bullet into his head. He died soon afterward in a hospital. Mrs. Love's condition was not believed serious.

The shooting, Mrs. Love said, occurred after an argument over money to pay a gas bill.

GEISENDORF PILOT TEXAS AIRCRAFT CO.

Louis C. Geisendorf has returned from Dallas where he passed the tests and renewed his transport pilot license, and is now pilot for the Central Texas Aircraft Company, of which S. H. Young is owner and manager. The company is open for business again after several weeks of inactivity.

Mr. Geisendorf is an experienced pilot and has had many hours air experience and has held a transport license for several years, but took his recent tests to renew the license as required by the Department of Commerce. He had not been actively engaged in flying since being in Brownwood and was formerly employed by the Putnam Supply company.

The Central Texas Aircraft Company will have its plane at the company's regular landing field on the McCarty field during the Texas Airfair that will be in Brownwood Saturday and Sunday and will assist in the aviation program for the entertainment of the people.

CRANE COUNTY RANCHER DIES

FORT-STOCKTON, Texas, April 9.—(P)—T. C. Barnsley, Crane county ranchman who was shot and wounded yesterday at the V-Rocker ranch, died here today without regaining consciousness. Jack Hall surrendered to Sheriff Bud Blair at Crane after the shooting and was held in jail on a charge of murder.

PLAYBOY PLANE WILL SELL FOR AROUND $800

A small airplane with minimum investment has been designed and developed by the Lincoln Aircraft Company, Inc., according to the Popular Aviation magazine. The plane, called the Lincoln Playboy, weighs but 350 pounds. Its wing span is but 14 feet. The 25 horsepower motor will carry it at a speed of 80 miles an hour if necessary, the regular speed of the plane, however, being about 70 miles per hour. The gas tank holds five gallons, enough fuel to keep in the air approximately five hours.

A most remarkable feature of the plane seems to be in the fact that its descent was at an angle of 70 degrees. This was when there was no wind. In a 15-mile wind it is believed the plane can be brought down at an almost vertical angle, and that it will, with the use of brakes, stop within a 25-foot circle.

With the price, which will be about $800.00, complete, according to Mr. Ross, president of the company at such low level it is presumed that the time is not far in the distant when Brownwood people will be taking to the air.

The Curtis-Wright has also recently built and announced the Junior, a two place pusher monoplane. It is powered with a three cylinder radial, air-cooled, 40 horse power Szekeley engine and will cruise 200 miles at 70 miles per hour. The plane is expected to sell at $1,490.

SHAW EXPLAINS REFERENCE TO VOTE CONTEST

In a signed interview this morning referring to the publishing of a statement in Wednesday's Bulletin concerning a contest of the election held in Ward One Tuesday, L. E. Shaw, present incumbent in the office of alderman from that ward, made the following statement:

"I did not state that I planned to contest the election and I was misquoted yesterday when it was said that I was going to contest. I asked City Attorney R. E. Lee in open council meeting what would be the procedure in case disqualified votes were found in the official check. He answered by saying that it would have to go to the district court. At that time I did not have any grounds on which to base such an absurd statement about a contest, even though I had thought it could be contested."

"After the official canvass is made and a check with the county poll lists brings to light any disqualified votes, I will then take any action which I think best for the welfare of the city. If it is found that there are disqualified votes I will then have a statement to make. "All that I want is that the votes of the qualified voters be counted in the official check as this only fair to the people of ward one and the entire city of Brownwood."

Arkansas Youth Is Awarded As South's Best Future Farmer

TULSA, Okla., April 9.—(P)—H. F. Meadows, Wilson, Ark., vocational agriculture student, was awarded a diploma of honor as the south's champion future farmer cotton grower, at today's session of the regional conference of supervisors of vocational agriculture in southern states.

Meadows produced 2,700 pounds of lint cotton on three acres—more than a bale per acre—last year. The award carries with it a $100 scholarship given by the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Institute.

Jefferson Well Gets Attention

JEFFERSON, Texas, April 9.—(P)—Interest centered today upon the Sinclair Oil & Gas Company's Jacobs-Wright No. 1 test, in the Jacob Grover survey, seven miles west of Jefferson. Coring had been resumed at a depth of 3,416 feet, after having been shut down for more than 24 hours of machinery trouble. Sinclair's Dave Couler No. 1, in the William Russell survey, 14 miles north of Jefferson and one mile south of the Cass county line, was below 3,000 feet and rapidly nearing a critical depth. The pean gap formation was found at 2,343 feet.

Fleet Of Planes Billed For Local Aviation School

The Southern Airways Schools, with 12 years unbroken record of safety—the oldest and one of the largest flying aviation motor schools in the South, affiliated with the Southern Airways, Inc., of San Antonio, Texas, is sponsoring the "Texas Airfair" on a good will tour of the State of Texas in the interest of aviation and advocating active airports in every town.

This "Texas Airfair" is under the management of H. B. Charnock, who has taken an active part in aviation since his enlistment in the Naval Aviation Corps during the World War. Mr. Charnock has been in Brownwood making arrangements for landing facilities and the necessary publicity here.

The "Texas Airfair" fleet of modern airplanes, accompanied by their mammoth public address system mounted on a three-ton bus, will be in Brownwood at McCarty field Saturday and Sunday for the inspection of everyone.

The fleet and the public address system is under the charge of "Count" W. E. Sandlin, a licensed pilot and a graduate of the Southern Airways School, Winburn Field, in San Antonio. Mr. Sandlin, the voice of the "Texas Airfair," will be on the microphone directing and explaining each event of the program planned. Accompanying Mr. Sandlin is Herrick Davis, expert radio electrician and mechanic.

The "Texas Airfair" fleet is a select group of representative types of modern airplanes, piloted by government-licensed transport pilots, chosen for their many years experience and perfect flying record in the air.

The mother ship of the fleet is a six-place Stinson-Detroiter cabin monoplane, "Miss San Antonio," powered with a Wright whirlwind motor of 225 horsepower; identical with the motor that carried Col. Lindbergh over the Atlantic to Paris. This "Pullman of the Air" is piloted by V. T. (Mickey) McGuire, "our own Wild Rose," who won his wings in combat overseas during the World War. Mr. McGuire is the chief pilot of the Southern Airways.

The pursuit ship of the fleet, a speedy Monosopone coupe, capable of 150 miles per hour, is a plane for two. "This snappy little plane carries a 110 horsepower Warner Scarab motor and, as you sit side by side with Richard (Dick) Young, the pilot, with every instrument used in aerial navigation before you, you will take your first flying lesson, and see with what ease modern airplanes are maneuvered." A ride you will enjoy and remember, says Mr. Charnock. Mr. Young is accompanied by his charming wife, Mrs. Richard Young.

One of the attractive airplanes of the fleet, a Waco F biplane, arranged for two persons and the pilot, will attract attention. This beautiful little ship is the latest model of the famous Waco. It carries a motor similar to the Monosopone. Its trim lines and bright color appeal to the fastidious. And this famous plane is piloted by E. C. (Gibby) Gibson. Mr. Gibson is accompanied by his wife and baby boy.

Perpetual Smile
R. M. (Brownie) Browning, "the Pilot with the Perpetual Smile," whose smooth and graceful flying attracts the attention of everyone, and leaves not a doubt in the mind that here truly is an aerial artist. "Brownie's" hundreds of air hours are exemplified by his mastery of the ships he has flown. Mr. Browning, as one of the features of this Fair, will climb his Eagle Rock 4,000 feet above the field, kill the motor and, without starting it, spiral down to a perfect landing on the field, thus answering the question that is probably in all minds as to what would happen should the motor of a plane stop while in the air.

The deluxe attraction of the "Texas Airfair" is the presentation of the daring and spectacular "Two Chute" leap by its originator, Mrs. Almeda Babcock, the "Queen of the Parachutes."

These "People of the Air" on this tour of Good Will, will arrive in Brownwood Saturday and extend a cordial invitation to everyone to review "Aviation on Parade."

Stanford To Hold Revival At Rosebud
Rev. P. T. Stanford, pastor of the Central Methodist church, will leave Monday for Rosebud where he goes to hold a ten days revival meeting.

Rev. Stanford has received many cordial invitations to hold revival meetings. He finds it impossible to fill all these invitations but will fill as many appointments as possible, he said today.

Funeral

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(P)—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth today telephoned the speaker's office that the funeral of Nicholas Longworth will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Cincinnati.

Train arrangements were placed in the hands of Sergeant-at-Arms Rodgers of the house, who immediately communicated with railroad officials regarding special service for the occasion.

Miss Mildred E. Reeves, secretary to Mr. Longworth, will leave Washington for Cincinnati later today to assist in making arrangements there.

REQUIREMENTS PECAN STATION TOLD BY TRAUB

A joint meeting was held yesterday of committees from the Chamber of Commerce and City of Brownwood with Dr. H. P. Traub, head of the pecan experiment work in Texas. The meeting was to discuss the future of a proposed pecan experiment station at Brownwood.

It was brought out by Dr. Traub that in order to get a full experiment station here to work in connection with the Bureau of Entomology and other pecan work that a plan must be submitted to the department at Washington.

He pointed out that in order to get the full station here several things must be accomplished. He said that a house would have to be furnished for a foreman who would be at the plant at all times, a shed must be provided for implements and a building for a laboratory must be furnished.

Some Buildings Available
It was said that a brick building is now at the site and with only a small amount of remodeling can be made into a laboratory. An old shed and barn, also on the site can be made into an implement shed.

The fleet and the public address system is under the charge of "Count" W. E. Sandlin, a licensed pilot and a graduate of the Southern Airways School, Winburn Field, in San Antonio. Lessons of the Drouth

INTANGIBLE benefits from the widespread drouth are catalogued by Mr. James L. Fieser, vice chairman of the Red Cross organization, who has just completed an extended tour of the sections in which the funds of his society are being distributed for the assistance of farmers and others who have sustained drouth losses. It may be somewhat difficult to induce the average drouth-stricken farmer to agree with Mr. Fieser, because the average farmer is thinking of tangible rather than intangible affairs and is likely to place small value upon the benefits which are seen by the Red Cross official.

Among the benefits, Mr. Fieser says, is the development of a spirit of leadership. Circumstances have compelled many to assume civic responsibilities who otherwise probably would never have done so; and those, who have involuntarily become leaders, will be somewhat surprised to discover that they possess ability for leadership. Leaders, like heroes, often require the urge of necessity; and certainly there has been no lack of opportunity for leadership in wide areas which have sustained losses because of the drouth. As a result of this type of leadership, the morale of the people in the drouth areas has been greatly improved, and they now are going forward into a new season with renewed hope and courage and actually with better equipment for withstanding future disasters than they have ever had before.

Another benefit of the drouth is to be seen in the fact that hereafter there will be more diversification in the one-crop sections. Just as the boll weevil compelled farmers in many sections of Texas to reduce their cotton acreage and increase their acreage of grains and feeds, the drouth has convinced thousands of farmers that it is unsafe to risk their whole year's labor and investment in cotton or wheat or corn as the exclusive or the major crop. The ideal farmer is one who literally lives on the farm, consuming as much of its products as he and his family require, buying none of the necessities of life elsewhere, and selling the surplus. Many farmers have demonstrated that this can be done even in a drouthy year, and the drouth has convinced thousands of farmers that it must be done if they are to stay on the farm.

So Mr. Fieser may be correct in his idea that the drouth has been beneficial. At any rate, it helps all of us, even including the farmers, to look for a moment on the brighter side of the picture.

Insurance Regulation

THERE WERE many convincing reasons for the enactment of the Robertson insurance law in 1907, and for its continued operation during the next score of years; but the purposes of the law seem to have been accomplished, and its amendment as now proposed in bills pending before the Legislature seems to us advisable.

The Robertson law was designed to correct conditions prevailing in Texas prior to 1907, and none except a law containing its drastic provisions would have answered the need at that time. Since then, strong Texas insurance companies have been organized, and many of them now are in a position to compete successfully with any foreign companies which might enter the state. Foreign companies, after their withdrawal in 1907, would come back to Texas with a better understanding of the needs of the state and with more sympathy for the state's interests, if the more objectionable features of the Robertson law were removed.

The pending bills provide for changes in the statutes which in effect would permit foreign insurance companies to do business in Texas on a basis of equality with state-owned companies. The requirement that 75 per cent of investments be made in Texas securities would be eliminated, and the gross premium receipts of domestic companies would be taxed on the same basis as those of foreign companies. This undoubtedly would result in developing in Texas lower interest rates on industrial loans, because it would increase the volume of money available for investment; and while it is true that the foreign companies would take some money out of the state, they would take away much less than they would bring.

Texas needs industrial development, and in order to get it must secure money from outside the state with which to finance the work. The Robertson insurance law has performed the function for which it originally was enacted, and should now be so amended as to take it out of the way of business and industrial expansion.

Compromising Justice

THE CONVICTION of Leo Brothers as the murderer of Jake Lingle, Chicago newspaper man, seems to have been merited by the evidence presented in his trial, but the verdict fixing his punishment at fourteen years imprisonment reflects another attempted compromise in the jury box which unquestionably stamps it as a violation of justice.

Some of the jurors believed Brothers was guilty of slipping behind Lingle and deliberately shooting him in the back. Others were unconvinced by the evidence and believed that Brothers had no direct connection with the crime. They spent many hours in futile argument with each other, and then compromised. A verdict recommending fourteen years imprisonment was returned, and the jurors then were free to go to their homes and about their business. Obviously, if Brothers were guilty, both the law and justice required a more severe sentence than fourteen years in prison. If he were not guilty, both the law and justice required his acquittal. There isn't any satisfactory ground for compromise of these two situations, and it is a certainty that one of them existed in this case while the jurors were struggling with their problem.

This is only one of many such cases in which jurors have returned compromise verdicts. Jurors, even the best of them, are human. They dislike the restraint of the jury room, the long, tedious hours of futile halting, the stubborn resistance of their fellows whose opinions are at variance with their own. And so long as the rule is maintained that jurors must reach verdicts in which there is unanimous agreement there will be compromise verdicts, resulting from the natural tendency of jurors to sacrifice their convictions if necessary to secure personal relief from onerous duty. In every such case justice is sacrificed, and in many of them, no doubt, both the defendant and justice suffer. It is as unjust to convict an innocent man as to acquit a guilty one.

Two Road Bond Plans

THE SENATE has ended its prolonged controversy over the proposals for submitting a highway bond issue amendment by approving a resolution offering two bond issues for popular approval, and the prospect is that it has done the cause of highway construction a very poor service. At the same time, the House has been considering a plan, opposed by the bond issue proponents, to utilize part of the gasoline tax for retiring county highway bond issues, and there is no certainty as this is written that the two houses will come to an agreement on the Senate plan.

As finally passed, the compromise plan approved by the Senate submits two bond issue amendments, either of which can be approved or disapproved without affecting the status of the other. One calls for the issuance of $100,000,000 in bonds for highway construction, and the other provides for an issue of $112,000,000 in bonds to reimburse counties for moneys they have spent in highway construction. The date for voting on both proposals is next November.

It is hardly conceivable that the people will give their approval to the first of these amendments unless they are guaranteed that the second will also be approved, and no such guarantee can be given. But the second, which provides simply for the reimbursement of counties for money they have spent in highway construction and which carries with it the prospect of reduced tax rates in counties having outstanding bond issues, may be approved; and if it is, then the whole highway financing problem will be greatly complicated because a portion of the revenue now going into highway construction will be diverted to the retirement of the state bond issues and less money will be available for building purposes than ever before.

However, as stated above, there is no certainty that the House and Senate will reach an agreement on the matter. A desperate effort has been made by supporters of the Sterling bond issue scheme to drive it down the throats of a protesting Legislature, and the vote by which the Senate resolution was finally approved does not by any means represent the real sentiment of either house on the proposition.

TEXAS AND TEXANS

By WILL H. MAYES

Will Live at Home.

One result of the late lamented "hard times" is that the people, and especially the farmers, are changing their methods of living. The country has gone through a wild orgy of spending, during which few home products were used if substitutes could be bought on credit at the stores. If the papers are to be believed—and usually they reflect existing conditions pretty well—there is more gardening and truck-growing under way in Texas now than ever before. City and country folks alike are interested in producing at home such things as they can consume in the homes. Dealers in home canning outfits are having a big business, and preparations are being made to can large supplies of home-grown vegetables and fruits to store for future use and to exchange with local grocers for such foods as can not be raised at home. There is hardly a county in Texas in which the people are not studying local production to see if cooperative canneries will not pay, and canneries are being built in several localities. If Texans have really learned the advantages of living at home and will apply the lesson, the hard times and drouth through which the country has gone will prove of far more value than harm.

Increasing Some Crops

Reports indicate that about 2,000,000 more acres will be planted to corn in Texas this year compared with last year's planting, an increase of about 15 per cent. There will also be a large increase in grain sorghums and oats, and a decided increase in the numerous truck crops adapted to Texas. It is too early to predict what the acreage in cotton will be, but present prices and the large left-over crop should discourage over-planting.

East Texas Booms

The low price of oil seems to hold no terrors for the East Texas oil field. Development is going on at an unprecedented rate, and the whole area of Central East Texas appears to be in a wild madcap of speculative fever, justified however by the oil production. East Texas communities are all doing everything in their power to get extensions of the field and are offering large parcels to the first prospectors who find oil in their localities. Many geologists and producers think that what is now most generally known as the Kilgore field will become the greatest in this country—perhaps the greatest in the world.

There Are Dangers Ahead.

Bad results of a kind almost invariably follow discovery of oil. Too many people, and especially small farmers who lease their lands for oil development, quit their farms and go to the towns to spend their money and get into the wild scramble in which they lose their lease-money while allowing their farms to deteriorate. There are not many people who can keep quickly and easily acquired wealth. Too many East Texas farms that were being built up to the highest state of production through scientific diversification will be unutilized this year and so long as the oil boom lasts. Too many good farmers are deserting their farms for fields of endeavor in which they are untrained. This is true wherever oil is found. A few grow rich quickly, but it is at the expense of the many who are made poorer by the riches around them.

Improvements Underestimated.

Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of President Hoover's committee on unemployment relief, is reported as saying that there are $4,000,000 in public and semi-public construction projects now under way in Texas. He lists a score or more. As a matter of fact, the correct figures would be nearer to $40,000,000 of work under way on state highways and public roads alone at this time.

The absurdity of the report is shown in the fact that the $400,000 is the amount being spent for county court houses, that being the cost of the court house at Menard. There are in fact some 10 or 12 more expensive court houses now being built in Texas, the one at Austin costing about $1,000,000 and the several others being nearly as expensive. School building in Texas is given at $250,000, at Fort Stockton and Huntsville there is probably as much as $4,000,000 being spent in the State on school houses alone. Dallas is quoted as having a total of $55,000 in paving contracts under way as the sum total of its public and semi-public construction.

Semi-official reports of the kind accredited to Col. Woods do Texas great injustice. Texas is now doing about three times the total amount of public and semi-public building that Col. Woods appears to have found under construction in the entire United States.

Dodge Corporation Report

The Dodge Corporation reports $189,895,500 in building contracts let for the first two weeks in March in the 47 states east of Rocky mountains. These figures do not include road and bridge building and street paving, but cover merely building construction. They are nearly $2,500,000 in excess of figures gathered in the same way for a like period last year and represent a 45 per cent increase over the same period in February and 29 per cent gain over a like period in January of this year. All of which shows the upward trend in building activities and indicates better times.

Canning Factories.

A can manufacturing plant to cost $150,000 is being established at Houston to supply largely the canning trade of Texas and Louisiana. A number of new canneries are being built now in Texas, among which is a large packing and canning plant at Mission to handle the enormous vegetable and citrus tonnage of that section. The constant increase in canning plants and in home canneries creates a large demand for Texas-made cans.

Building Under Passes.

The Southern Pacific Railway announces that it has planned to spend $3,900,000 on under passes in the city of Houston. The attention of President Hoover's unemployment commission is respectfully called to this item of construction in Texas.

Weatherford Brick Plant

It is reported that Weatherford will build a large brick plant to help supply the increasing demand for Texas brick. The plants throughout the State are reporting that the use of brick in building is expanding steadily.

Del Rio Theater Building

That Del Rio is now in the "city class" is shown in the report that it is to have a new $150,000 moving picture building. That sum of money is never spent for a theater building except in thriving towns.

Some Tomato Plants

Grapeland tomato growers have bought 6,000,000 tomato plants at Mission to take the place of plants killed in a freeze. Evidently Grapeland growers are expecting a tomato market which they intend to supply. It is estimated that there will be 33,000 acres in tomatoes in Texas this year, compared with 42,000 acres in all other States combined.

Texas Onions, Too

Texas will have an onion crop this year of 6,000 acres, which will be more than twice as much as all other states combined, according to estimates made by the Market News Bureau at San Antonio.

Getting Natural Gas

Alpine and Marfa are two progressive towns of West Texas that expect to have natural gas in a few weeks. The apparently unlimited supply of gas in Texas is justifying the extension of gas mains to all sections of the State.

Flowers Advertise Texas

Spring flowers are now in a riot of bloom in Central and Southern Texas and are winning the admiration of Texans and tourists alike. Visitors from the North especially wonder at the marvelous beauty of the flowers seen from every roadside.

FORD SPRING TRUCK CARAVAN COMING FRIDAY

Announcement is made by the Weatherby Motor Company, local Ford dealer, of the coming of the Ford Spring Truck Caravan to Brownwood, the caravan to be here from 7 p. m. Friday, April 10, to 10 a. m. Saturday.

The caravan will consist of a large number of different body types recently added to the Ford line, ranging from the beautiful ambulance and funeral coach to the immense 157 wheel base panel body that has a loading space of eleven feet.

The progress that the Ford Motor Company has made in the commercial line is impressive when it is recalled that only a short time ago the company did not build a single commercial body and painted all jobs black. Now a Ford commercial unit may be had with forty-nine standard Ford bodies of various dimensions and proportions and with nearly forty different colors to suit the taste of the user," it was said in connection with the announcement of the coming of the caravan.

"To every one interested in hauling goods of any kind economically Ford Commercial Units will prove of value. There is a chassis, body-type, and equipment, exactly suited for service in almost any specific field. Three different chassis are available. More bodies are constantly being added, for use in special fields and to adapt Ford units with exactness to the service required. Each of these means a definite saving in first cost.

"A choice of equipment is offered. With the Ford Model AA truck, high of low-speed rear-axle gear-ratios are optional. Four speed transmission, with convenient power take-off plate. Spiral bevel axle gear. Torque tube drive. Four wheel brakes with 474 square inches of braking surface. Dual rear wheels are available at slight additional cost. All Ford trucks and light commercial cars are equipped with Triplex shatterproof glass windshield, for safety.

"With this wide range of choice in standard bodies, chassis and equipment, any one who needs a truck for any purpose can fill his requirements with a Ford, and thus profit by Ford value," the comments continued.

Hens Lay Vitaminized Food And In Sealed Packages

"Vitaminized food . . . on every hand nowadays you hear the claims of various manufacturers and producers of foods that their products contain this or that vitamin. And while no one has ever yet reported seeing one of these much talked vitamins, few there are in the world today who do not recognize their importance as "accessory food factors."

However, when one casts about to find a food rich in these health producers, there's one natural food, untouched by human hands, which is rich in every one of the known vitamins excepting the one designated as "C." And this vitamin rich food—to be had at an especially low price right now—is none other than the common hen's egg.

In this package, sealed so perfectly by nature, there is vitamin A, necessary for growth and increasing resistance to infection; vitamin which promotes growth and protects from the disease known as pellagra, also against beriberi, the nerve disease; vitamin D, highly important in bone formation and the use of minerals in the body, also known as the antirachitic or sunshine vitamin, and vitamin E, the anti-sterility vitamin.

The common egg thus combines the good of many vitamins within its sanitary shell . . . ready to be used as food for everyone . . . from infants to the aged.

Miss Mattie McKinney, 405 Main, has entered a local hospital for a minor operation.

Marketing Code in Effect Pending Commission Action

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—Paul E. Hadlick, of the American Petroleum Institute, said today the federal trade commission is permitting the code of marketing practices of the petroleum industry to remain in effect pending the commission's final action as to whether a modified code should be made effective.

Mr. Hadlick, who is secretary of the division of marketing of the institute, said the commission's action was in effect an extension of his order of January 30th. Under the order, the commission rescinded its action abolishing all but three provisions of the code and extended its life for 60 days from February 9th.

Oil interests asked another 30-day extension, but the commission declined in view of its expectations of an early decision on the whole question.

"The American Petroleum Institute has issued instructions to its state code committees to carry on under the code until further order from the commission," Mr. Hadlick said.

The marketing code is designed to regulate and insure fair practices in the industry, and to protect the

FARMERS GIVEN DETAILS ABOUT LOAN PAYMENTS

"A large number of specific cases have been brought to the attention of the Farmers' Seed Loan Office, U. S. Department of Agriculture, St. Louis, Mo., where farmers who have made application for seed, livestock and agricultural rehabilitation loans, and after having their applications approved by this office, have used a part or all of the money advanced to them for expenditures other than for which they were authorized by law," writes T. Weed Harvey, administrative officer in charge of the St. Louis office, in an announcement to the Brown county drouth committee. Like announcements were sent to all committees in the drouth area.

Mr. Harvey in his announcement emphatically urges the farmers to cooperate with the department by following the conditions of their applications. His further announcement is as follows:

"All the funds advanced to the farmers by the U. S. Government must be used for the purpose for which they were approved and also granted. Flagrant misuse of these funds will not be tolerated.

"It has also been reported to his office from some sections of the official seed loan territory attached to the St. Louis office, that the U. S. Government does not seriously contemplate the collection of these loans when they are due this fall. Such reports should be corrected at once, since this office is already making extensive plans for collection of these loans.

"Loans made by the U. S. Government from the $45,000,000 appropriation, as well as the $20,000,000 fund, are secured by a first mortgage on the 1931 crop and it will be unlawful for any mortgagor to sell any part of this crop without applying the proceeds of such sales to the note held by the Federal Government. Payment of these loans must be made from the proceeds of the first crops sold. Any violation of the foregoing will be severely prosecuted."

TEXAS TRUCK CROPS HARD HIT OF LATE

AUSTIN, Texas, April 7—(AP)—Texas truck crops suffered a severe setback during March because of temperatures which averaged from four to six degrees below normal, a report released today by the bureau of agricultural economics, division of crop and livestock estimates, revealed.

"Not only were temperatures too low for proper growth but occasional frosts ranging from light to heavy killed or cut back tender vegetables, thinning stands and in many cases necessitating replanting," the report said.

Snap beans declined 24 points to an average condition of 58 per cent April 1. Cantaloupes experienced a decline of 31, green corn 19 points, cucumbers 11 points, Irish potatoes 20 points, tomatoes 17 points.

Strawberries, the report said, were reported at 82 per cent, or an advance of two points over a month ago.

Texas watermelon acreage is expected to be cut by about four per cent, the report said.

Letter to McDonald Discusses Fire Causes, With Reference to $33,733 Extra Insurance Cost in Brownwood

A letter to Mayor O. W. McDonald from J. W. DeWeese, state first insurance commissioner, with reference to the "12 per cent bad fire record charge—1931" for Brownwood, discusses the cause of fires and the need of educational work for their prevention, and calls attention to the fact that the penalty that Brownwood must bear this year means that the citizens must pay out approximately $33,733 in excess insurance premiums. The letter is in part as follows:

Three Main Fire Causes

"Since the first day of this year this department has been making a special study of the conditions in the different cities and towns of Texas pertaining to the cause of fires that have occurred therein.

"The reports of the local fire marshals of Texas cities and towns made to the department show that carelessness; over-insurance, and incendiaryism perhaps are the three main causes of our heavy annual fire waste.

"Careless fires are the result of failure to keep down the many fire hazards that are so common in the average home and place of business. As an illustration we call your attention to the fact that a great many fires are caused by careless smokers; the use, or misuse, of matches; defective chimneys and flues; defective wiring and electrical appliances; gas, and improper gas connections; the improper use of kerosene and gasoline; accumulation of empty boxes, trash and rubbish; spontaneous combustion, and the like.

Over-insurance

"Over-insurance as a general rule, results from either of two causes. First, the failure to know property values, and second, it seems that some agents are more interested in the commission they receive than they are in the welfare of their community. Over-insurance no doubt can be classed as one of the greatest moral hazards, and where the property is over-insured encourages carelessness on the part of the assured. And, in some instances where the assured is hard-pressed financially will result in a sale for profit to the insurance company.

"In order that we may impress upon you, your city officials and the citizens of your city, the importance of fire prevention, we wish to call your attention to the fact that the 12 per cent Bad Fire Record Charge your city is receiving this year means that your citizens will pay out approximately $33,733.00 in excess insurance premiums.

"Your annual fire loss is a local problem, and is one that must be solved by the local city officials with the cooperation of their citizens. The remedy by which our fire losses can be greatly reduced will be found in the application of better engineering, education, and enforcement principles.

Proper Construction

"The engineering remedies for fire loss include the proper construction of buildings, proper heating and lighting apparatus, exits, fire extinguishing equipment and the like.

"All of these depend on education—education of every man, woman and child in the hazards of matches, cigarettes, gas, electricity and other things of every day use; education of all citizens to demand proper buildings, equipment, laws, and enforcement.

"Every city and town should have a fire marshal who is capable and efficient in the performance of his duties, and the city or town that does not have such a man for fire marshal will no doubt continue to have fires in the future caused by the failure of the people to keep their homes and places of business free from the many fire hazards that arise daily therein. The fire marshal should have the support and cooperation of the city officials and his citizens, and without this his efforts will be in vain."

BROWN COUNTY FOUR-H CLUB BOYS MAY ENTER CALF FEEDING CONTEST

All 4-H club boys in Brown county are eligible to enter the calf feeding demonstration and contest which will begin in August and continue until March 1, 1932, according to County Agent O. P. Griffin. All club boys who wish to enter the demonstration should enroll at once and start producing feed crops so they will be ready to start the calf feeding next fall and winter, stated Mr. Griffin. Any boy in the county between the ages of 12 and 21 years can enter the contest. A boy under 12 years may also enter the contest if assured of the assistance of some older member of the family.

The demonstration in feeding calves is not planned for the purpose of showing all the calves in the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and winning the county contest does not depend on winning at the Fat Stock Show. A big one day show of the calves in Brownwood after the demonstration is finished is planned and the calves will be shipped to market after the show.

Mr. Griffin is pleased with the response already given by the boys of the county and says already enough boys have enrolled to feed about two carloads of calves. He expects a number of other boys to enroll at once.

Each boy in the contest may feed two calves except those boys who have successfully fed calves before and they may feed more than two this year.

It is thought that a calf project will be about the most profitable work the club boys can do this year, says Mr. Griffin. Feeding of calves for market will be the most profitable work for the boys and is one of the few projects at present that can be carried out profitably and if carried out correctly will mean a profit to every boy who enters the demonstration, he said.

ACID STOMACH AND INDIGESTION END WITH ARGOTANE

Interesting Account of Argotane's Relief Given by Dallas Woman.

Mrs. Laura Burnett, of 5419 Lind-sley, Dallas, Texas, Phone 3-3578, is another prominent Dallas resident who has found great relief from her sufferings in the Argotane treatment. In a recent conversation with the Argotane representative, Mrs. Burnett, who makes her home with her sons and does expert photo-tinting, gave the following account of her case:

"I have been bothered with acid stomach for the past five or six years. I just could not eat things at all and I had to be very careful what I did eat. If I ate cakes or pies or anything of that sort, I certainly would have to pay for it afterward in suffering. Sweet milk soured on my stomach five minutes after drinking.

"I knew that faulty elimination was the cause of my troubles and I have always taken medicines, but it finally got to where the medicine hurt me instead of helping me, so now when I need medicine, I take Argotane. I have already taken one bottle and it is the finest medicine I have ever taken, far ahead of all others. It has relieved me of that gas on my stomach and I feel so much better now in general. For which I am very thankful, for I do photo-tinting in my home and am kept so busy that it is most essential that I keep myself in good health.

"You are at liberty to say that I most heartily endorse Argotane a hundred per cent. Anyone who so desires may call me at 3-3578 and I will be glad to tell them of the benefits I have derived from Argotane."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Brownwood at the Camp - Bell and Peerless Drug Stores. (adv.)
