Prospective jail location announced by County Judge Freeman on May 10

By Janet Felderhoff
As promised, Cooke County made known the probable location of the new County Jail should the bond election pass. Cooke County Judge Bill Freeman made the announcement at the Monday, May 10 meeting of Commissioners Court. They had just met in Executive Session with the landowner's legal council.

in good faith, which means that we can get this piece of property closed on. We now have a pending contract.

"This is the Commissioners' intent with the closing of this property. The Jail will be located adjacent to and east of the Cooke County Fair Association Farm. We have negotiated for a 20-acre tract of land with a donation of about 2 1/2 acres for a road going into that property." It is their intent to build the jail there should the bond issue pass on May 15.

The location was further described as west of Gainesville on the north side of Hwy. 82 about 200 yards west of the John Deere house. The property runs north back up to the east side of the Fair Association Farm. It is approximately 750 feet wide and deep enough to make 20 acres. "As the crow flies it will probably be a half mile from the (new Gainesville) Hospital," said Judge Freeman.

The Cooke County Jail now in use was built in two phases. In 1980 a 19-bed facility was constructed. Eight years later another 50 beds were added. The Jail Standards Commission granted a four-bed variance later bringing it to a 73-bed facility. The support facilities (kitchen, laundry, Sheriff's office) built in 1980 are to accommodate a 19-bed facility.

According to a needs analysis performed by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, there is an overcrowding problem in the Cooke County Jail. It was their recommendation, based on projected population in 2009 being 41,377, that Cooke County build a jail with 144 beds with support services that would facilitate an additional 48 beds.

On average Cooke County houses 25 or more prisoners in jails outside the County. Recently that has costs in excess of $25,000 per month.

The number of felony cases in Cooke County went from 81 in 1980 to 262 in 1990 to 368 in 2000.

It is the concern of Commissioners Court that without a new jail, the number of prisoners sent out of county will continue to grow causing the out-of-county cost to continue rising.

Cooke County EMS is housed in a facility that was a laundry mat in 1960 and added on to in recent years. At times there are problems responding quickly to certain areas due to delays by trains using the railroad crossings in Gainesville.

If the EMS facility is built with the new jail, it will be near Hwy. 82. This should improve response time.

The County is looking at a $10.5 million bond issue with repayment over a 20-year period. Commissioners Court notes that the County will save a significant amount of money each year by not having the cost of housing prisoners out-of-county. It is projected that the total annual repayment will require a tax rate of approximately 4.45 cents. That doesn't take into account the expected savings from keeping prisoners in Cooke County. Also if the taxable value grows more than anticipated, the actual tax rate for annual repayment could be lowered.

Voting for this issue is Saturday, May 15 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. This is an issue to be decided by the residents of Cooke County, and all registered voters are urged to cast their vote either for or against the bond issue.

Kevin Walterscheid and Kate Sepanski were named Mr. and Miss Sacred Heart High School at the Senior Awards Banquet Monday night.

Dates set for annexation hearing on lake property

by Scott Wood
The Muenster City Council has set aside June 7 and 14 for public hearings to discuss the annexation of lake property owned by the Muenster Water District into the city.

The property consists of 706.6 acres of land in the G. Ivy Survey and the T. Scott Survey on the West side of Muenster.

The June 7 meeting is scheduled for 7:15 p.m. while the June 14 meeting will be held at 5 p.m. The Ordinance is expected to be voted on during the July 5 regularly scheduled council meeting.

Muenster Officer Mitch Westervelt and Saint Jo Police Chief Jonathan Lloyd fielded questions regarding the feasibility of obtaining and using a K-9 drug dog.

The project will be funded entirely by the donations received from some local businesses and individuals.

The drug dog is expected to cost $6,100. Including 80 hours of training for the dogs handler. To date, pledges have been received totaling $6,425.

The Muenster Jaycees will be assisting in the collection of the funds so that donations will remain tax deductible.

The Council approved the purchase of the dog, pending the collection of sufficient funds.

Alderman Anderson indicated that "Officer Westervelt should be commended for his efforts in putting this program together and being interested in taking on the responsibility of the dog."

Muenster Fire Chief Herbie Knabe was appointed to the position of Fire Marshal. The appointment was made to ensure that the Marshals required duties relating to commercial buildings was complete in a timely manner.

Among other duties, the fire marshal is required to inspect commercial buildings for code compliance and safety issues.

Muenster ISD's lease of Water Well #3 was renewed. According to City Secretary Micallee Matson, the well had reached to point some time back it was more useful for irrigation purposes than for drinking water.

The local school district has leased the well in previous years for irrigation of school

Cooke County receives portion of preservation grants

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County Judge Bill Freeman announced at a press conference Friday, May 7 that Cooke County was one of the counties selected to receive grant money for courthouse preservation. Cooke County's portion will be $1,773,280 and will require the County to pay a match of $265,992.

Gov. George W. Bush and the Texas Legislature created the Texas Historical Courthouse Preservation Program in 1999 with an initial appropriation of $50 million. The Texas Historic Commission (THC) distributed $42.4 million in matching grants to 19 counties in Round I of the program in May 2000; an additional $7 million to 28 counties for planning and stabilization during Round II in October 2000; and $48 million to 25 counties for full restorations during Round III from April 2002 through January 2003.

Judge Freeman speculated that Cooke County might be allowed to count some of the money

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am pleased that the much discussed Performing Arts Center at North Central Texas College is already under construction, and will soon be available to NCTC students and all citizens of Cooke and surrounding counties. It will be an asset to everyone, and will be the focal point of the NCTC Gainesville Campus.

As you may know, I have had the honor of serving on the Board of Regents for many years, prior to my retirement, and have seen the College grow tremendously, thanks to the foresight of the Presidents, Administrators, Faculty and the present and past Board of Regents. Congratulations are in order to Dr. Ronnie Glasscock for his hard work in establishing the Corinth Campus in Denton County and the Bowie Campus in Montague County without a penny of taxes from the taxpayers of Cooke County. These additional campuses have insured continued growth for NCTC.

Maintenance taxes for the Gainesville Campus are at the rate of 11.023 cents per hundred, versus the rate of 12.9 cents ten years ago. I commend the Board and Administration for their fiscal responsibility.

I hope that the voters of Cooke County will consider the continuing growth of NCTC, and what a wonderful institution, and asset, it is to our area, and give a vote of confidence to the Administration and the Board.

Also, relating to the education issue, The Muenster ISD Board and Administration have done a tremendous job in recent years in the education of our young people who are the future of our nation. Muenster ISD has received many Exemplary Awards and was the first Texas school of any size to receive the Gold Performance Academic Award. I am sure the Muenster ISD voters will show their confidence in the Board of Trustees, who have worked hard and tirelessly to improve the curriculum and education of our students.

Sincerely,
Urban Endres

Voters of Cooke County,

We have a very important day, that is fast approaching. It is May 15, when we elect members for school boards, college boards, hospital boards, and city councils. We also have several bond elections in Cooke County. Please take time to study the issues and the candidates. Then be sure to take the time to vote.

Some people say, my vote doesn't amount to much, but added to the others, it is very important. That is how people get elected and bonds fail or pass. You can bet the "special interest groups" will have their people vote.

To know how important members of a board are, one only needs to look at the college situation. The present board at NCTC has chosen to ignore tremendous opposition and did what they wanted, when all they had to do was let the people vote. To spend millions that they are spending without allowing the people to vote on it, is a disgrace.

On May 15 let's elect responsible board members to all the boards. We need members who will listen, not dictate. Thank you for your time.

Letter to the Editor,

This is a special notice concerning the election of N.C.T.C. board members. My name is Bill Ledbetter. I reside in and pastor the First Baptist Church of Muenster, Texas. I am not running for office. The Bill Ledbetter who is running for office is an attorney and lives in Gainesville, Texas. Due to the fact that it has come to my attention that there is a significant amount of confusion in this matter, I must state publicly that the positions and views that Mr. Ledbetter of Gainesville embraces are diametrically opposite of what I believe, teach, and embrace.

Thank you,

To the Editor,

There are about fifteen machine shops listed in the local phone book. Not counting automotive machine shops which are a specialty field.

We have an excellent Precision Machining Program at NCTC. Most of our machine shop equipment are manual operated which is fine for beginning and intermediate students. We have two large computer controlled milling machines, only one mill is hooked up to electricity. It is used by Mr. Voth, to teach the computer controlled machining classes. Mr. Knight teaches the basic mill, intermediate and advanced lathe and milling machine classes, along with metallurgy, blue print reading and shop math.

Our machine shop students are energetic and doing very well with their projects. Most of our students are employed as machinist or in the manufacturing industry. We have graduated approximately three times the number of students from our machine program that the state requires. That is doing very good with all the effort to close the class.

We are very fortunate to have our Farm Power and Machinery class which has been held off and on for about 25 years. It is taught by Mr. Glasscock (not the president of NCTC) and is a very interesting class. With tractors dealers shops charging around $50 per hour. With a little management and promotion, Farm Power and Machinery class could easily become a two semester class.

Welding class with a large enrollment is no longer a credit class, but now a continue education class. If a student wants to become a certified welder, must go somewhere else to become a certified welder. With Mr. George Ware, we certainly have a teacher who can teach classes to become certified welders. As our welding class is scheduled to be canceled this time, next year.

We have four excellent shop instructors that would make an excellent drawing card for new students.

There are numerous ways to sell Vo-Tech classes, but nothing is done. It would be interesting to know just what the real excuse and the individuals, for the willful destruction of our shop classes?

Those of you who look down on people who make a living using their minds and their hands, you are looking in the wrong direction. Get to know some of the people who are journeyman in their profession and you will find many people who are above average intelligence and highly skilled in their profession.

One of Cooke County greatest strength is the fact that with all of these shops and skilled people, it is possible to get things repaired here or made here. There are people here who have invented things that have been patented.

This spring semester, I wanted to take advanced lathe and beginning mill class. The catalog I received in the mail did not have machine shop classes listed. I went to the registrar's office and asked about machine shop classes. I was directed to a catalog on the east wall that had machine shop classes listed. Why wasn't Precision Machine classes listed in the mail out catalog? By not listing Precision Machine classes in the mail out catalog, that is an effective way to hide the classes from prospective students.

Yes the agriculture department presently appears to be alive and well. With some fine people who are generous to donate new and badly needed buildings. Now is not the time to close the agriculture department and lose some important monuments for somebody's resume.

We have a lot of great people there as instructors and support staff. I think a lot of our college. However during the past several years, there have been administration decisions made that I view as detrimental to our students, college, staff and physical plant. I am very disgusted with the present college administration.

Letter to the Editor,

Why is our community college - NCTC - so very important to us here in Cooke Co.? And why is it important who is elected to membership on the NCTC Board of Regents? Here are some reasons why.

We know not many businesses do things now the same as they did five or 10 years ago. Things have changed because the world has changed. We are now in a globalized world economy. The dollar is in a contest with the other currencies of the world.

U.S. production is pricing itself out of existence. Jobs are being moved from the U.S. to other economies because many foreign workers are more efficient in terms of labor cost, versus output. Go to WalMart and look at the price of a shirt and ask yourself "...could this shirt be produced in the U.S. and sold at this price?" The honest answer is "NO", and that is because our wages, litigation, and health care costs have swelled to such large proportions that the U.S. cannot compete with many other countries. Manufacturing is being gutted because we cannot compete. We must adjust by working smarter!

There is no shortage in the U.S. for opportunities for those with the education and intelligence to perform. Creative, innovative people will always be in demand. That's why NCTC and other similar institutions must turn their undivided attention to developing that new generation that can perform. All jobs, even the low-skilled, will require higher levels of basic education, math, communications and technology. This is absolutely necessary for survival and growth. Those without some specialized knowledge or skills are going to suffer declining real wages. NCTC is absolutely required and obligated to provide the education, math, communication skills and technology for workers in our county. The college makes it difficult to obtain the needed worker training and re-training because of class locations, class times and class selections.

The "human touch" jobs are also increasing in demand, such as health services and nursing, day care -- also auto mechanics, machining, construction, etc. Robots will never replace a day care provider or a plumber. Workplace settings, business practices and bureaucratic requirements are constantly changing. As a consequence, continuing education is necessary to maintain individual certifications, permits and licenses. The college must offer these educational opportunities -- NCTC is not doing a good job of this now.

Lifelong learning is essential for human progress -- improving productivity is essential. We must do things better and more efficiently with fewer employees. Otherwise the world will pass us, and the U.S. will evolve into a second-rate economy. Some economists are already predicting that China will be the leading economic power in less than ten years. NCTC must do a better job of ferreting out the needs of the community and reconfiguring itself to those needs.

The Board of NCTC must be persons of vision who can contemplate the evolving world. Instead of vision the present board is providing us with a new, expensive building prepare the community for the future which demands continuing job educational courses, math and technology? Next, they are considering building a new campus near Alliance Airport. How will this benefit our Cooke County students and taxpayers? The board has also presided over the removal of some senior faculty members who have reputations for nurturing students to higher levels of excellence. How will this loss of nurturing and faculty experience benefit the community for the challenges that lie ahead? The only conclusion is that the board has simply lost touch with the community.

On Saturday, May 15, you will have the opportunity to vote.

Letter to the Editor:

In previous weeks, many Cooke County citizens have voiced concerns over the spending of NCTC Cooke County tax dollars for maintenance purposes on the Corinth and Bowie campuses.

After hearing these concerns, we have requested information from the Cooke County Campus regarding its accounting and payment procedures of maintenance for each individual NCTC campus. A group of non-politically-aligned individuals from around the county have put money in a pool for the purpose of hiring an auditor/CPA to obtain answers to these questions. However, the auditor's request to meet with, or obtain copies from NCTC administration has essentially been stalled. The NCTC administrative office will not correspond directly, but have directed everything through their Dallas-based lawyers.

The correspondence from NCTC's lawyers states, "NCTC does not budget or operate fiscally in the manner contemplated by your request. NCTC, which has campuses in Bowie, Gainesville, and Corinth, operates as a system, not by individual campuses." This indicates to the auditor "that the ability to identify the individual campus revenues and/or expenses is not possible! Currently we cannot determine where tax dollar revenues are allocated or (even) if they remain in Cooke County."

It had been hoped that NCTC would appreciate the value of such an independent investigation and fully assist in laying to rest any unfounded accusations. Why this has not happened is not known. The sponsoring group deems it necessary to continue to pursue the search for the truth, even after the May 15 election. The request for data is submitted under the Freedom of Information Act, and through the law of that Act the facts will be determined.

spent on work already done on the Courthouse as a part of the match. "The Commissioners Court in the last two years, while waiting on this grant, has budgeted money to fix the west side of this Courthouse and it will be more than enough to match this grant fund until we fix the whole outside of the Courthouse," said Judge Freeman.

Precinct #4 Commissioner Virgil Hess was also at the press conference. He was very involved in the work required to apply for the grants.

"Commissioner Hess has worked many, many years - five or six years - to bring this about," remarked Judge Freeman. "This is a culmination of his efforts to restore our Courthouse. He's done a good job and I applaud him for his efforts."

Hess said the next step is to specify the projects to be done and go out for bids. The specs were prepared early for a master plan that helped to get the grant money. When restoration begins, the bills will be submitted to the THC and the county will be refunded as they proceed.

This phase of the restoration project will involve all the stonework from the terra cotta ledge down to the ground. "That will be cleaning it, repairing it, replacing stone that needs to be replaced such as the west side where we'll have to replace a lot on the steps," Hess explained. "Then they'll redo the mortar joints, put the stand-out beads back on, and then they will seal that stone to keep the moisture from penetrating." Most of the damage on the stone is from moisture. It shows in the black and the white leaching. Moisture has penetrated the stone and as it dries it comes out through the stone bringing lime and salts with it, said Hess.

"That's due to being sandblasted at one time for cleaning and they knocked all of the glaze off the stone and the sealer. They didn't know that years ago," he noted.

Other possible work includes dome work to put bird deterrent up on top of the dome and there is hail damage for which money was received and that could be repaired. The flat part of the roof also needs some work. Hess said that would be determined by the break down on what is allowed.

All work to be done will be exterior projects with the exception of two restrooms in the basement. It was recommended that they be repaired at the same time as the west steps.

Four aspire to fill two expiring terms on Lindsay School Board

By Janet Felderhoff

There are two positions open on the Lindsay ISD Board of Trustees and four candidates who hope to be elected to serve. Currently serving the terms to expire are David Arendt and Richard Connett. Arendt has served on the Board for many years and decided not to seek another term. Connett hopes to serve again. Also seeking a term are Jill Fuhrmann, Jody Henry, and Chris Hundt.

Richard Connett is employed by the United States Department of Agriculture, Natural Resources Conservation Service in Gainesville. He has 21 years of experience in his field. His son, Brent, is a senior at the University of Texas and his daughter, Lauren, is a junior at Lindsay High School.

Jill Fuhrmann, a registered nurse, works in the operating room at Gainesville Memorial Hospital. She has been there 16 years. She and her husband Pat have four children, Jacob 17, Emily 14, Connor 10, and Sarah seven.

Why do you hope to serve a term on the Board and what do you feel that you have to offer as a Board member?

Connett - I hope to serve a second term on the board because it is an honor and a reward to represent the students and tax payers of the Lindsay Independent School District. Each year our district continues to be one of the very best in the entire State of Texas and I am proud to be able to be a small part of such success and tradition.

Among other things, I feel that I offer experience and leadership as a Lindsay school board member. I have served on the board for three years and have not missed any meetings during that time. I have learned a great deal about public education and service, as well as learning more about myself and the responsibilities and expectations of being a public servant. A single board member is obviously only a one-seventh portion of the entire board process but I feel that I am able to lead and deliberate as needed in order to make decisions in the best interest of our students and tax payers. My varied work and professional background, in combination with my personal traits, skills and beliefs, allows me to lead and serve at the high level expected by the LISD voters and patrons.

Fuhrmann - I have four children in the LISD school system. They are my future, and I would like to help make decisions that will have a positive impact on the education of students at Lindsay ISD. I have worked as a nurse for the last 16 years and managed the OR the last year. I am hoping some of these management skills will be an asset to the Board. I have also served on Elementary Site Based for the last two terms.

Henry - My entire adult career has been serving the public. I look at this as an opportunity to utilize my experience to serve the school and community where I live.

Hundt - As a former board member, I feel my experience on the board will help me to make well-informed decisions for the future of our school and of our children. I believe that our children should have success in many different areas of school. Not all students are "A" students but I believe that everyone can learn and benefit through all aspects of school. Students can learn about hard work, leadership, respect, and teamwork from various activities such as U.L.L., being a class officer, student council, being in One Act Play, FFA, FCCLA, or by playing sports. By teaching these skills I mentioned above, it will help them later in life.

What changes, if any, would you like to see at Lindsay ISD?

Connett - Obviously we need a new gym and I hope the bond passes to allow us to construct one. It is extremely important to note that we need the gym as much, or more, for educational purposes as for athletics. We are not proposing a new gym solely for competitive athletic purposes. A new gym, used in combination with the existing building, would allow for much more flexibility in class scheduling and other related activities to better serve the education of all of our students. Other than the gym issue, I do not believe we need many changes in the Lindsay school system. There will always be a need for things to be tweaked a bit here and there, but our past overall success speaks for itself and supports the concept that we simply should stay the course.

Fuhrmann - Lindsay ISD is an excellent school with excellent athletic and academic records. I would like to see these programs grow. I would like to see LISD expand as it grows to include music, more minor sports, etc. and entice all students to get involved with their interests.

Henry - I am not running for the school board with a personal agenda of any kind. I feel that we have a school district to be proud of. The administration and faculty have a reputation in preparing the students academically that is second to none. I feel the school is going to go through some facilities issues in the near future such as the gymnasium bond issue on this ballot. I hope to be a part of making good, informed decisions that reflect the opinions and interests of the community, while doing what is good for the school and the students in a reasonable, conservative manner.

Hundt - We must continually strive to get better as a school. Children usually do what is expected of them, so we should set our standards high and push them to achieve all they can in all aspects of school.

What do you feel should be some of the Board's priorities in the next two years?

Connett - I feel some of the priorities of the board for the next two years should be as follows: (1) passing the bond issue and constructing the new gym, (2) developing some form of a long range plan to anticipate the district's overall needs as we continue to slowly grow and absorb the push of the Metroplex in to North Texas and Cooke County, and (3) continuing to function as a seven member team which works closely with Superintendent Metzler to enhance and improve our district, especially on school finance and budget related issues.

Fuhrmann - 1) Getting the new gym built would be great. It will help with athletics, but it will also allow the elementary students to have more early morning classroom time. 2) Looking at the growth of the school and including an economical way to see the needs for more cafeteria space, elementary school science lab, classroom space, etc.

Henry - Again, I feel facilities issues will be of major concern in the next few years. State funding is an issue now that may force school districts to have to be more creative. I am afraid the small school districts will suffer more than the larger school districts. Whether I am elected or not, I feel that our school board and school administration will have to be very proactive and strong rather than reactive in staying on top of issues and challenges that arise.

Hundt - Our main priority in the next couple of years should be to pass our bond issue and build a new gym. If the bond passes, we can change our schedules so our elementary students don't have to go to P.E. in the morning during prime learning time. This will also give us more flexibility in the scheduling of Jr. High and High School classes. This would allow us to better utilize our staff.

What makes you the most proud of Lindsay ISD?

Connett - I am proud of the Lindsay ISD because the entire community acknowledges the need and desire to furnish our students with the finest educational experience possible. We are very fortunate to have such loyal students, teachers, administrators, staff, parents, and community members in the Lindsay Independent School District. As I mentioned earlier, quite simply, our fine record and numerous accomplishments speak for themselves.

Fuhrmann - The successful, positive students that graduate from LISD that are a product of the excellent school district we have in Lindsay.

Henry - Years ago former LHS Principal Jim Anderson made a comment to me about Lindsay schools. He bragged that our students excel in the classroom and in UIL contests during the week and then they will play you in a good ballgame or a track meet on Friday night. To me, this comment is totally accurate. This tradition and reputation of Lindsay schools is something that I am certainly proud of and feel that nearly everyone in the community shares in this pride. I hope to have the opportunity to do my small part in helping Lindsay ISD to continue this tradition and reputation into the future.

Hundt - I am extremely proud to be a small part of our school. Having grown up in Lindsay, I didn't realize how lucky I was until I talked to other people from other districts. We are fortunate at Lindsay to have such wonderful parents who want to be involved in their children's lives. We never have a shortage of volunteers to go as sponsors on field trips, work in the concession stands, help at U.L.L. meets, or other various activities throughout the school year. I am happy that our children go to L.I.S.D. and if elected, I will continue to do everything I can to help make our school even better.

ATTN: Cooke County Voters

I am asking a favor of you, for the benefit of North Central Texas College.

As you may know, I have had the honor of serving on the Board of Regents for 30 years, prior to my retirement, and have seen the College grow tremendously, thanks to the foresight of the Presidents, Administrators, Faculty and the present and past Board of Regents. Congratulations are in order to Dr. Ronnie Glasscock for his hard work in establishing the Corinth Campus in Denton County and the Bowie Campus in Montague County without a single penny of taxes from the taxpayers in Cooke County. These additional campuses have insured continued growth for North Central Texas College.

The favor I am asking of you is to vote on May 15th for Claude Walter, Karon Sullivant and Ann Kemplin. They are the incumbent Regents running for re-election to the NCTC Board. A group of people are spreading many unethical falsehoods, inaccuracies and lies about the President of the College and various members of the Board of Regents. During my tenure on the Board, there have been occasions of a "divided" Board, and the growth of the College was in jeopardy during those times.

This group falsely claims that NCTC taxes have doubled in the past 10 years. In 1993 NCTC taxes were 12.9 cents per hundred, and in 2003 the tax rate was 11.023 cents per hundred. And above all, none of this tax money goes out of county. Corinth and Bowie Campuses are self supporting. The NCTC Campus maintenance tax is 30% below the State average of Junior College tax rates of 15.873 cents per hundred.

As for the Performing Arts Center, ALREADY UNDER CONSTRUCTION, it will be paid for by revenue bonds, NOT FROM PROPERTY TAXES. A Performing Arts Center has been on the College's "wish list" for more than 15 years, and now the College has the adequate revenue to build this building, and the Gainesville Campus, and all of Cooke County, will benefit from it greatly.

On May 15th, please vote for, and ask your friends and neighbors to vote for Claude Walter, Karon Sullivant and Ann Kemplin, and keep the Board of Regents working for the continued growth of the College, one of our County's best assets.

Sincerely,

Millers open German Village Gift Shop and Gallery to public

By Janet Felderhoff
David Miller has grand plans for the German Village Gift Shop & Gallery that he and his wife Melanie have opened. It is located at 100 North Main in the former building occupied by the Ford dealership.

“I’m excited about it,” Miller said of his new business venture. “I’m excited about the challenge of finding a way to get more people in to my shop and others. I just like the idea of the gift shop here in Muenster. I’ve heard a lot of good comments. A lot of people have made a lot of good comments about what they see inside that corner building.”

An Open House is planned for Saturday, May 15. All during the week of May 10-15, visitors to the business can sign up for a chance to win a $50 gift certificate. It will be drawn for at 3 p.m. Saturday. Saturday’s business hours are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The hours Monday through Friday are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. A Germanfest tee shirt will be given with every purchase.

Merchandise offered includes some very unique art pieces. Miller said the pieces range in price from $6,000 down to $300. There are sculptures and paintings on the art gallery side. “Eventually we will be highlighting pieces from some of the schools from certain artists,” revealed Miller. “We’re going to do that just to help out some of the students to show their art. We’re thinking about once a month we’ll have an amateur artist highlight. It will be people from Gainesville, Muenster, Saint Jo, and all the areas. We want to do a drawing with them for a gift certificate (among featured artists). We hope that the public will come in during the week that those are shown and vote on some of the featured pieces.”

About nine years ago Miller found an old book from the late 1800s at a garage sale. It featured about 50 Catholic pictures of Jesus from birth to the end of His life. They were very high detail pen ink drawings. “I’m now trying to re-create all those pieces on glass and in metal and make decorated pieces and wall hangings out of them,” Miller said. “That’s some of my newest stuff. I’ll put those up for sale.” He plans to offer 9x12s and free-standing 8x10s. He plans to accent them with special pieces of wood. Those will be his higher end pieces. He plans on making lower end pieces on metal to put on plaques. These will be sold to other gift shops.

Miller said that the pieces are so fragile that they break apart when touched and that is why he is recreating them now.

There are a few German pieces offered at the business and there are plans to bring in more variety, but it will not be strictly German products.

Of course, the Millers still make custom tee shirts wholesale and award plaques and trophies in the Unique Images business that shares the building.

CITY BILLS.....

property and sports facilities. Disbursements totaling $77,144.52 in monthly bills were approved for payment.

In accordance with the cities audit recommendations, the bills were approved in three separate motions.

The first motion was passed for all bills except those of Community Lumber and Nortex Communications.

The remaining motions carried with Aldermen Pagel and Anderson abstaining on the respective votes.

The annual audit had recommended the process to avoid any appearance of conflicts of interest. A letter was received from MISD Cheerleading sponsors requesting permission to serve snow cone and candy bars at the city ball field during the 2004 baseball/softball season. The request was approved pending payment of the appropriate fees.

In other business, the Council heard from Terry Tombaugh of TXU Electric and Gas concerning the company and its holdings and operations.

Tombaugh indicated that TXU has sold its interests in Australia and the TXU Pipeline. He also indicated that TXU Gas is on the market for sale as well.

Additionally, the Oncon name is changing to TXU Electric Delivery.

As a courtesy, Friends of the Muenster Public Library notified the Council of a change in board members. Joann Pagel has been appointed to replace Laura Pagel.

Brief reports were made on the status of ongoing projects street repairs/paving and sewer system repairs.

Judge Freeman said they plan to move on the restoration project as soon as possible, possibly going out for bids in a month.

A total of 72 applications were submitted in Round IV, eight being first-time applicants. Funds requested for all 72 applications totaled $160,961,252. Pending additional funding from the Texas Legislature, the THC plans to continue the program with several more rounds of grant will be greater because we’ve already started,” said Judge Freeman. “We’ll have everything outside done and all we have to do is the inside. We may be in line for a quicker grant next time.”

There are many events planned for around the Courthouse square and have been in the past said Judge Freeman. Having the courthouse restored to its original condition outside will just add to the flavor of every event that takes place downtown. “It will also be a real plus for the City of Gainesville to have a restored gemstone right in the middle of their community,” noted Freeman.

THC at its quarterly meeting on May 6 in Fort Worth announced Round IV grant recipients of the Texas Historic Courthouse Preservation Program. Commissioners awarded matching grants totaling nearly $43 million to 28 Texas counties to help preserve their historic courthouses.

The counties to receive funds in Round IV of the program and grant amounts to be awarded are: Bandera ($484,891), Bee ($3,748,163), Bosque ($3,461,592), Brooks ($2,619,835), Cass ($383,282), Cooke ($1,773,280), Dallas ($3,537,500), DeWitt ($3,688,730), Franklin ($209,105), Hamilton ($394,077), Hardeman ($386,448), Harris ($500,000), Harrison ($2,512,500), Johnson ($4,000,000), Karnes ($100,000), Leon ($1,495,033), Llano ($438,430), McCulloch ($481,262), Menard ($2,215,784), Mills ($253,545), Rains ($1,640,950), Randall ($322,365), Roberts ($123,339), San Augustine ($83,482), Sutton ($2,188,000), Trinity ($373,047), Wharton ($1,572,350) and Williamson ($3,755,000).

Brooks. Even houses just blocks from the substation now have to wait for service from a fire station that is more distant.

“The consensus from everybody that was approached was that they do not wish to be in this area. They had no idea. The Association seems to not want to do anything,” said Brooks.

Brooks said he requested a copy of the minutes from when the Association presented the area in question to Oak Ridge. Fletcher is the liaison between the Association and the County. This wasn’t done either verbally or in writing. Brooks questioned how the area could have been changed without a record being made of what transpired.

Fletcher said that he researched the Fire Association minutes he had and could find no record of any particular grids being assigned to any fire department. He said that it is customary for the Fire Association to assign which grids are covered by which departments. He also checked Commissioners Court minutes for about four years back and found only when Oak Ridge was given an ISO emergency service number and recognized as a fire department.

The four grids assigned to Oak Ridge by the Fire Association came from territory covered either by Callisburg or Lake Kiowa. Precinct #1 Commissioner Phil Young asked what problem they actually had with Oak Ridge having those grids. Brooks responded, “The fact that people weren’t informed. It also impacts the fact that we will be paying higher See ISO Pg. 12

THC facts and figures
The awards went to 15 construction projects, including Cooke County, totaling $38,647,247; 10 planning projects totaling $3,187,587; and three emergency grants totaling $907,256. See GRANT, Pg. 9

Citizens concerned over fire district change

By Janet Felderhoff
With a petition signed by 200 residents in hand, Jimmy Brooks Jr., a resident along FM 678, outlined concerns of a number of residents from his area. They were irritated that they had been taken out of the service area of the Lake Kiowa Volunteer Fire Department and placed under the service of the Oak Ridge Volunteer Fire Department.

The concerned citizens live in Cooke County Precinct #2. Commissioner Bill Cox remarked before the group spoke, “I just want to let the people know that Commissioners Court is not trying to run the fire department. We’re not doing it and we’re not planning on it. They have an association set up to do that and that’s where they need to take care of that problem. The County funds each (volunteer) fire station $4,400 a year plus the County buys pagers and software from time to time.

“We’ve got some wonderful hard-working, dedicated fire fighters, ladies and men, about 230 of them. However, there is concern and I feel like we and the public need to hear the concern.”

Brooks said that when people who had been moved from one fire district to another were approached, they indicated they had no idea it had occurred. When a group approached the Fire Fighters Association, the group was told it was their problem and the Association would do nothing about it.

There was also a fire substation for Lake Kiowa’s Fire Department in the area that changed departments. Most residents were unaware of this until the change was made, said

Election ballot in Lindsay holds full slate

Lindsay voters will have many decisions to make on election day, May 15. Voting will be in Conrad Hall from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. On the ballot will be the election of the Lindsay City Council. Candidates Wilbert “Sonny” Block, Robin Rose, and Norbert Magee are running for two positions on the council, and Steven Zwinggi is running unopposed for mayor.

Also on the ballot is the Lindsay ISD Board candidates, the Lindsay ISD gymnasium bond, the NCTC Board of Regents candidates, and the Cooke County Jail bond.

NCTC CHALLENGERS FOR CHANGE

THE INCUMBENT BOARD ALLOWED THE FOLLOWING TO HAPPEN:	THE CHALLENGERS REACTION TO THESE EVENTS:
Increased NCTC Property Taxes by 50% since 1999 resulting in a subsidy to Out-of-County students	NCTC doesn't need this much of your money! Denton County should pay their fair share first!!
Increased hourly Tuition and Fees by 50% since Spring 2002	Students must be able to afford NCTC - Cut frivolous spending!
Approved building a $6 Million PERFORMING ARTS CENTER	Feel strongly that a less expensive building would suffice with taxpayer approval
Reduced the staff by 18 people - some were senior professors	We need to keep the best teachers, not run them off!
Eliminated several "trade" job-training classes that are needed in Cooke County	Blue-Collar Job Training should be a fundamental goal of NCTC
Considering building a second campus in Denton County	Taxpayers are more interested in supporting Cooke County Campus - for our students
A shortage of classes in Gainesville requires students to drive to Bowie or Corinth.	Driving three days a week to Corinth can cost $1300 just in mileage. Offer more classes in Cooke County.

If You Agree with David Flusche, Bill Ledbetter & Steve Gaylord, please Vote for All Three on them on May 15, 2004 in our local NCTC Board of Regents election.

Hertel interviewed for UIL article

In the May 2004 issue of Texas Co-op Power, the Cooke County Electric Cooperative edition, in a special feature story "Noble Scholars of the UIL", Craig Hertel, UIL coordinator for Lindsay High School was interviewed. The article, written by the mother of UIL academic participants, tells the advantages of "flexing brains instead of biceps", even though there is "no fanfare, no cheerleaders, or no banners along the highway that leads out of our small town, just the rumble of the bus..." for these State-bound students.

The article states that Hertel had participated in UIL competition since the 2nd grade, but got hooked in the 7th grade when his teacher took the class to the State finals of One Act Play, and Debate. It goes on to tell how he leads a team of teachers and students with one of the most impressive records in Texas - winning Sweepstakes (highest total points) in State academics for eight of the past 12 years, placing 2nd in the other four years. "Quite a feat from a tiny 1A school."

The article continues telling how 15 years ago, Hertel, an athletic coach, decided to switch to academics and sent out dozens of resumes. Lindsay was one of only two schools that offered him a job to boost their once strong program that began to struggle.

"I didn't know that much, but I had enthusiasm," Hertel said. With 160 students to work with, he found motivation and higher standards to help prepare the students.

"The coordinators and coaches are the best teachers in the state - they're the most motivated and the most dedicated," said Bobby Hawthorne, UIL director of academics. "They spend ungodly amounts of time and in some cases money before school, during school, after school, and weekends."

The article notes that UIL coordinators are the heart of the program at each school, "passing on their passion to new generations."

"The real reward is the success of the kids. Success is not measured in winning, it is measured in personal achievement."

GMH program keeps patients with diabetes "On Track"

Data from the Third National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (NHANES III) show that more than half of people with Type 2 diabetes in the United States have unacceptably high blood sugar levels, putting them at increased risk for serious diabetes related complications.

To address this critical health problem, Gainesville Memorial Hospital has developed a program to assist individuals with diabetes in managing their disease.

"How Sweet Are You?" is a check-up for persons diagnosed with diabetes. For $10, beginning Monday, May 17, and continuing through Friday, May 21, individuals with diabetes can participate in the check-up and receive a Hemoglobin A1c test, widely considered the best test for measuring blood sugar control.

The Hemoglobin A1c is a simple lab test that measures a person's average blood sugar level over the past one to three months. As blood glucose levels vary widely from day to day, standard blood glucose testing only tells you how you are doing today. The glycated hemoglobin (hemoglobin A1c) is a long-term indicator of glucose level. This makes it a much better test to evaluate how a patient's blood sugar has been over time.

The Hemoglobin A1c test should not be considered a substitute for daily monitoring of glucose levels, but is an excellent tool for the patient with diabetes and their physician to use in designing an effective treatment program.

Individuals with diabetes interested in receiving this service should check in at the GMH Business Office between the hours of 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. or the GMH Lab between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, May 17-21. Participants will be asked to complete a simple information sheet and pay their $10 fee.

Blood will be drawn in the laboratory following check-in. No appointment is necessary and there is no need to avoid food or drink prior to the test.

Results will be given on Wednesday, May 26, from 3 to 6 p.m., in the Gerald Culwell Conference Center at GMH.

Other services available on May 26 include free spot glucose testing, blood pressure checks, and foot screening.

Registered Dietitians Kathie Robinson and Angie Groves and Certified Diabetes Educator Joan Walterscheid will be on hand to discuss the results of the A1c testing and answer questions. Information will also be provided on all GMH Diabetes Education Services.

Refreshments will be available. The May 26 date will also serve as a diabetes screening for the general public. Those interested in this free service are asked to avoid eating for two hours prior to the screening.

Symptoms of diabetes include increased thirst and urination, constant hunger, weight loss, blurred vision, frequent infections, slow-healing wounds and sores, and extreme fatigue.

For more information on the Diabetes Check-Up (for persons with diabetes) or the Diabetes Screening (for the general public), call 940-612-8341 or 940-759-2395.

Myths about women and heart disease

Women should be more concerned about other health problems, such as cancer or osteoporosis, than heart disease.

Cancer and other chronic diseases prevalent in women deserve research and attention. However, cardiovascular disease ranks far ahead of them as a cause of death. Heart and blood vessel diseases kill almost twice as many females each year as all forms of cancer combined.

Tornado approaching

If you are outdoors when a tornado approaches, move inside a strong building. If no shelter is available, get into a ditch, culvert, or the lowest spot of ground you can find. Lie flat and cover your head with your hands. Don't try to outrun a tornado in your vehicle, and stay away from the overpasses...they are NOT safe shelters. Act quickly...seconds can save lives.

BPW mixer held May 7

Cooke County Business & Professional Women hosted a networking mixer for prospective members at the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce on Friday, May 7. Angie Hare, CCBPW president and executive director of Cooke County United Way, said, "Cooke County Business & Professional Women truly is a network of women helping women. I think we are beginning to get that word out - in less than one year we have doubled in membership, and we're still looking for more to get involved. I have personally grown through my membership as well as made friendships that will last a lifetime."

"SAFETY IS WITHIN YOUR POWER..."

"Even though electricity is the safest kind of home energy, you still need to be very careful with it. Never fly kites or trim trees near power lines. Be very careful with anything that needs to be plugged in. Make sure children don't play with electric outlets or cords. And never go near a power line that is down...Because safety is within your power."

TDH urges use of repellent to protect against West Nile

Dust off the insect repellent. It's mosquito time in Texas. And with the mosquitoes, West Nile virus once again will be circulating in the state, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH). One of the first lines of defense against getting the illness, health officials say, is using repellent containing DEET.

"DEET is an effective repellent that lasts much longer than other repellents," said Joe Garrett, a veterinarian with zoonosis control at TDH. "It's safe for children if used according to directions." According to TDH, 77 percent of the people who got the more serious forms of West Nile infection in 2003 did not use repellent. Anyone can become infected with West Nile virus, but people over 50 are at greatest risk.

"Older people, especially those who have medical problems, are more likely to develop the more serious forms of the illness including encephalitis and meningitis," Garrett said. "Many of the fatal cases in Texas occurred in the elderly population."

While not every mosquito carries the virus, avoiding any mosquito bite is key to preventing West Nile illness. Health officials advise wearing long sleeves and long pants and using insect repellent with DEET. Avoid going out from dusk to dawn when mosquitoes are most active, and drain standing water from around your home so mosquitoes cannot hatch.

Symptoms of West Nile illness appear from three to 14 days after a person is bitten by an infected mosquito. West Nile virus infections usually are mild with flu-like symptoms including fever, headache, sore throat, body aches, and fatigue. Symptoms of more severe West Nile infections are headache, high fever, stiff neck, disorientation, tremors, convulsions, muscle weakness, coma, and paralysis. If you have these symptoms, contact your health care provider right away.

For more information on West Nile virus, visit the TDH Web site at www.tdh.state.tx.us.

Cooke County R.S.V.P. awards Stella Harrell "Community Volunteer"

The Cooke County Retired and Senior Volunteer Program has determined that a volunteer in Cooke County needs recognition although she currently is not enrolled with the R.S.V.P. Stella Harrell was awarded a certificate of recognition for all the hours she has provided assistance to the ABBA Women's Center, the various committees and Sunday School Teacher at Tabernacle Baptist Church, and as one of the first at the hospital to sit with a patient, or provide a meal for families in bereavement or with illness.

According to Jeanne Greathouse, director of the ABBA Women's Center on Elm Street: "Stella Harrell served as a volunteer at ABBA Women's Center, Inc. from June 1996 until February 2004. She worked on Mondays from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. (or until the last client had been cared for). At one point during her eight years of service, when there was a shortage of counselors, Stella came every day to help where she could. Her primary duties were that of counseling women who were experiencing unplanned pregnancies. This required her to have knowledge of referral sources for such needs as medical care, housing, food, parenting classes, job skill improvement programs, and church families. In counseling with our clients, Stella demonstrated understanding, compassion, and love...

"Stella has been an invaluable part of the ABBA Women's Center. She never missed a day of her scheduled work times in eight years of service. She was an unending source of godly wisdom, support, and encouragement... She is truly the exemplification of the 'good and faithful servant' of the gospels."

Members of the Cooke County R.S.V.P. Advisory Council have seen and do recognize the volunteer contributions made by Stella Harrell. Anyone who performs hours of volunteer services should be enrolled through their service station with the R.S.V.P. Contact Shirley Rector at 940-665-2826 or Judy Fulylove at 800-677-8264 or 903-813-3587.

Tornado warning

If a tornado warning is issued for your area, take cover in a small interior room on the lowest floor of your home or business. Stay away from windows and exterior doors. Bathrooms and closets provide the best shelter from a tornado's winds. Cover yourself with a mattress or overcoats for extra protection. Act quickly...seconds can save lives. ### Flash flood dangers

Flash floods claim more lives than any other thunderstorm-related hazard. If heavy rain occurs in your area, stay away from water-covered roads. Turn around, don't drown! Keep kids away from creeks or drainage ditches. If you're camping or hiking, move to the high ground if heavy rain falls or a flash flood warning is issued. During a flash flood, play it safe. ## NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS COLLEGE

What the Ledbetter slate will not tell you:

- Thanks largely to the Corinth Campus, $9.25 million of State Funding will flow into NCTC this year.
  - And yet the Ledbetter slate claims Corinth does not pay its own way.
- After expenses the Corinth Campus will return $3.2 million to NCTC Central.
  - This is twice the contribution that Cooke County taxpayers make.
- The 850+ out-of-county students now at the Gainesville Campus have doubled enrollment and courses locally.
  - The Ledbetter slate chooses to ignore the positive effect of these students.
- The judicious use of Revenue Bond-based debt has enabled NCTC to compete in the 21st Century.
  - Does the Ledbetter slate really understand Higher-Ed finance?
- In a recent accreditation visit NCTC received a special commendation for financial management.
  - Would anyone really want to entrust NCTC's financial future to the Ledbetter slate?
- Cooke County receives a positive economic benefit of $90 million due to the NCTC System.
  - Does the Ledbetter slate really care about business in Cooke County?

SH Economics class enjoys day in Ft. Worth

Comments such as "That was really cool," "I'm so tired," and "What did you get today?" were heard from a number of Sacred Heart seniors as they returned to Muenster after an enjoyable day in Fort Worth. The SHS Economics class traveled to Fort Worth on the Amtrak Train Thursday, April 15.

There they attended the Main Street Arts Festival and visited UBS Warburg, taking in an afternoon presentation by the brokerage firm's top guns on opportunities in the world of investment. From an office located on the 28th floor of UBS Warburg, students were able to see for miles, viewing the winding Trinity River and even the skyscrapers of Dallas. The Arts Festival proved to be an exciting experience for everyone, as students were able to view art and jewelry, listen to a variety of live music, make crafts, and win free prizes.

After an enriching and fun-filled day, students relaxed on a comfortable train ride home. Chaperones for the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schilling and Mr. Joe Caserta.

Heart & stroke fact

At older ages, women who have heart attacks are more likely than men to die from them within a few weeks. After the first heart attack, studies show that 38 percent of women die within a year compared to 25 percent of men, because women tend to be older and sicker when they have heart attacks.

Lightning danger

Every thunderstorm we see has a potentially deadly component to it...lightning. If a thunderstorm approaches, move inside a strong, grounded building. Turn off electrical appliances except those needed to get emergency information. If no building is nearby, take shelter in a hardtop vehicle with the windows rolled up. Be safe...don't be a target for lightning.

Catholic Daughters of the Americas announce contest winners at meeting

On May 3 at the regular meeting of the Catholic Daughters of the Americas, local winners of the National Education contest were presented. First place winners were awarded $20, second place $10, and third place $5. There were 66 contestants participating in this year's contest. First place winners of each division have progressed to State for competition.

Local winners are:
Poetry: DIVISION I - 1, Laura Sweeney; 2, Zach White; 3, Matt Hesse.
 DIVISION II - 1, Joshua Yosten; 2, Sunni Jo Bayer; 3, Colby Richey.
Essay: DIVISION I - 1, Megan Hesse; 2, Zach White; 3, Victoria Endres.
Drawing or Painting: DIVISION I - 1, Mark Bartush; 2, Austin Miller; 3, Quinn Sicking. DIVISION III - 1, Jon Ambrose; 2, Karina Skotnik; 3, Paige White.

Poster: DIVISION III - 1, Laura Taylor; 2, Frank Klement; 3, Caleb McLaughlin.
 The two themes for this year's contest were "Let Freedom Ring" and "The Spirit Dwells Among Us". The following is the winning essay in Division I.
The Spirit Dwells Among Us
 By Megan Hesse
 I can see the Holy Spirit in many forms. The Holy Spirit is in my family. I know this because when my family moved into a two room house with a kitchen smaller than my old closet, we got closer and didn't fight as much. If the Holy Spirit was not there we would have fought more, but we didn't. When my brothers and sisters and I moved, we helped each other and played together. We were nicer to each other, and got to know each other better. This made my parents very happy. I see the Holy Spirit in my family.

 The Spirit is also in my friends because whenever you need them they are there. Whenever you forget your things your friend will help you get them. They will stick up for you. When I forgot my lunch and we were having something gross in the cafeteria, my friends shared their lunches with me. Also, when I fell and got hurt, my friends made a joke out of it and made me laugh. We often walk to a local grocery store, called Fischers, when we get bored. I see the Holy Spirit in my friends.
 The Spirit is also in the sacraments. When Father is giving us the sacraments, the Spirit is with us. Sometimes you may even be able to feel his presence. The Holy Spirit is there when you need Him. I think He can come in any form. If we look, we can see the Holy Spirit in our lives.

Muenster first graders tour Gene H. Fuhrman Memorial Museum

The first graders from Melanie Miller's and Kim Fleming's classes from Muenster Elementary School toured the Gene H. Fuhrman Memorial Museum on Wednesday, April 28 and Thursday, April 29. Alvin and Gracie Fuhrman, along with Carolyn McPherson, guided the students through a time capsule as they made their way through the telephone museum that displays equipment used from 1909 through 2000. All equipment in the museum was at one time used in the Muenster operations.
 Students heard stories ranging from the inception of telephone service in Muenster to ice storms that knocked out all the phone lines for miles. They enjoyed stories related to the first switchboard that was installed in 1900 in Schenks Drugstore on Main Street.
 Various photos of the first home that housed the switchboard are on display along with operators sitting at the switchboard using the particular equipment and employees climbing telephone poles. Switchboards from Myra, Valley View, Muenster

Hospital, A-OK Motel and Muenster Telephone Office were on display, complete with timing devices called calculagraphs and operator headsets. The students were shown how an operator answered an incoming call and how the call was transferred.
 They were delighted when Gracie found their grandparents' phone numbers in some of the early telephone directories. Phone numbers were listed in codes since the lines were all party lines. The phone company didn't convert to dial until May 4, 1963, so the students heard stories about telephone operators who related information on emergencies such as fires, babies being born, and an occasional lost cow. Operators were the first telemarketers in the early years of phone service. For one dollar, an operator would spread the word that you had wares for sale. This was called a "General" call. Alvin tells the story of one operator who took one dollar from a gentleman who had peaches for sale. He gave her his dollar and went up town and waited for customers. The phone lines were busy with an emergency and after about an hour, the peach salesman returned asking for his dollar. She explained about the emergency, apologized, and refunded his dollar.

 Among the displays is the first local channel (our local Channel 2) equipment made from the transmission of an old washing machine. The motor turns the camera, which is directed at message cards typed with a large-type typewriter, left to right and then up and down, allowing those who had cable TV to view the latest announcements.
 Telephones from the forties, fifties, and sixties are also on display. The students were fascinated as some of them had their first experience with a telephone that had a dial instead of push buttons. Some of the phones are connected for the students to try.
 Finally, they were given a tour of the warehouse, which houses the service trucks and vans.
 For tour information, call 940-759-2251 and ask to schedule a tour of the Gene H. Fuhrman Museum.

Students perform autopsies

People posing as "county coroners" are performing autopsies in north central Texas on bodies that have been subject to gunshot wounds, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) has learned. The "victims" are fetal pig cadavers, the people performing the autopsies are high school students, and TMA is giving their "chief coroner" an award for it.
 He is one of two Texas teachers who has won first place in the 15th annual TMA Ernest and Sarah Butler Awards for Excellence in Science Teaching from the Texas Medical Association's (TMA) Council on Scientific Affairs. Bobby Pierce, a teacher at Whitney High School in Whitney, wins with the lesson plan, "Lab Dissection Autopsy Style." The other first place winner is Debra A. Fleming from Aikin Elementary School in Paris, whose lesson plan, "Help, I Can't Reach It!" earns her the honor.
 The association will honor Fleming's yearlong lesson

Pierce and Fleming at a ceremony May 13 during TMA's annual conference, TexMed 2004: Educational Showcase and Expo.
 Pierce makes the theme of a popular television series come alive in his classroom. His high school students emulate medical examiners' study of victims of violent crimes featured in the program "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation". Students perform autopsies on fetal pig specimens that have been prepared for the class lab - they have been shot with a .22! Students autopsy the pig cadavers to determine several facts including entry and exit wounds, type of bullet used, and organs damaged.
 Pierce schedules the lab, which also features traditional dissection projects, at year's end in order to pique students' interest at a time when young minds typically drift to looming summer vacation.
 Fleming's yearlong lesson takes her fifth grade students through a series of experiences learning about the human body, and includes lessons about the value of prosthetic devices to assist people missing limbs or having other physical handicaps. Her lesson's first phase includes visits by local pathologists welding samples of human tissue for microscopic discovery by students. The second stage features "Take-Apart-Fridays", when students "dissect" old appliances to discover the simple machines inside.

 She caps the lesson by merging the two concepts on a project in which students invent their own mechanism to assist people with special needs.
 TMA also announces two Merit winners in the educator competition. Lisa Viktorin teaches at Johnston Middle School in Houston, where she won for her lesson plan "Brays Bayou Spiderwort Genetic Study". Also capturing a See AUTOPSIES, Pg. 14

Sacred Heart settles for 2nd

It was the first time in 11 years that the Sacred Heart Tigerettes did not bring home the TAPPS State Track and Field Championship. Both the Tigers and the Tigerettes earned 2nd place last weekend at Baylor University.

In the 2A girls division Hallettsville Sacred Heart earned 94 points to take the number one spot. Abilene Christian School and Muenster Sacred Heart tied for 2nd place with 68 points, followed by Shiner Saint Paul 62, then Austin Hill Country Christian 40, on down. Twenty-nine schools participated.

The Tigers earned 74 points, following a very talented Dallas Tyler Street team that scored 134 points. Third place went to Kingwood NorthEast Christian with 63, then Hallettsville Sacred Heart with 50. Twenty-five schools were represented in the 2A boys division.

The Sacred Heart teams earned three gold medals - Clayton Truebenbach set a new State record in the discus and Paige White took 1st place in the 1600m and 3200m runs. They also brought home three silvers, and 18 bronze medals.

Truebenbach sets new record

Sacred Heart senior Clayton Truebenbach set a new TAPPS 2A State record last weekend in Waco. His discus throw of 144' outdistanced the old record, set last year, of 140' 11". Truebenbach set a new school record earlier in the season, when he set a new Hornet Relay record with a throw of 150' 3.5".

Sacred Heart still holds several State records, after two of them were broken at this year's meet. The oldest, Molly Koelzer Sicking's 400m run of 59.35 was broken by a time of 57.51. In 1988, Koelzer, Danna Hamric, LeBecca Hess, and Amy Walterscheid put their 1600m relay on the chart with a 4:16.0 finish.

Aaron Berres made the record book in 1994 in the 1600m run, clocking in at 4:33.12.

The year 1996 was a great track year for the Tigerettes, setting three State records. Kelly Rigler ran a 12:30 100m dash and 26.10 200m dash, both still the best times in 1A, although the 200m was tied this season. Valerie Bartush's time of 12:30.60 in the 3200m was also broken, beaten by 7 seconds.

In 1997, John Bartush added another Sacred Heart name to the record book with a 10:03.20 finish in the 3200m run. Three years later Sarah Hess threw the discus 116' 10" and still holds that State record.

Study rejects myths about kids' attitudes on hunting

The "Bambi Myth" can be put to rest. Results of a three-year nationwide survey presented here recently during the 7th Governor's Symposium on North America's Hunting Heritage show that kids support hunting and are not being misinformed in schools about the role of hunting.

"The first myth is that kids don't support hunting," said Mark Duda, whose Virginia-based Responsive Management market research firm recently completed a study for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service gauging the attitudes of youth toward hunting and fishing. "The information we gleaned from over 2,000 youth ages 8 to 18 shows that 58 percent support hunting, and that support increases as they get older."

"The other myth is that people seem to think teachers are speaking negatively about hunting," said Duda, "when, in fact, most kids don't know if their teachers support hunting. But, those that had an opinion said they knew their teachers do support hunting."

The research findings gave leaders of North America's hunting and wildlife conservation community new resolve in their discussions about hunter recruitment and retention issues during the three-day Symposium.

Steve Hall, education director for TPWD stated, "We've had much success in Texas integrating hunter education into high school curricula; primarily because of the agriculture science curriculum which trains students in outdoor recreation and wildlife management practices. At the elementary level, we train teachers in programs such as Project WILD that teach kids about the facts regarding conservation, wildlife and the environment." He added, "still, we can do much more working with professional educators to help them understand why the North American Conservation Model, which includes hunting as an integral tool of wildlife management, is the greatest conservation success story on the planet."

One of the more important findings, according to Duda, is that kids who hunt or fish tend to have greater knowledge levels about wildlife. Exposure to hunting is a very positive thing.

The study showed that 92 percent of children who hunt come from hunting families. It also revealed that hunting families are leaving the kids on the porch — of the kids who came from a hunting family, only 25 percent went hunting during the last year.

"That means 75 percent of hunting families with kids did not involve those kids in hunting activities," said Duda. "They have all the elements to initiate new hunters, but failed to act. Hunting families produce hunters so programs that invite a youth to hunt need to invite another family member, too. You can't just drop a kid off at a camp."

Texas ninth to sign concealed handgun reciprocity agreement

Texas has signed a reciprocal agreement with North Carolina, allowing citizens with concealed handgun licenses issued by North Carolina to legally carry concealed handguns in Texas, and vice versa.

Gov. Rick Perry signed the reciprocity agreement with the state of North Carolina, allowing licensees to visit Texas with their concealed handguns.

"This agreement will allow licensed Texans to travel freely in North Carolina, while enjoying the same or similar privileges their licenses give them at home," DPS Director Thomas Davis Jr. said.

This reciprocity agreement—the ninth Texas has reached with another state—was made possible by 1997 changes to the state's concealed handgun law. Texas also has reciprocity agreements with Arkansas, Louisiana, Arizona, Florida, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Kentucky and Wyoming.

"Texans should remember that laws vary from state to state, and before traveling, license holders should educate themselves about laws in other states that govern where and when they can legally carry their concealed handguns," Davis said.

Game Warden Field Notes

Jackpot of Violations

Recently, a Travis County Game Warden was patrolling the edge of Lake Travis checking for fishing violations. He observed a vehicle pull up next to him in the parking lot and saw feathers hanging from the rearview mirror. He exited his truck, and after identifying himself, asked the suspects what kind of feathers they were. The man and woman responded that they did not know. The warden shined his flashlight on the feathers and saw a marijuana roach clip attached to the feathers. As the warden got the suspects out of the vehicle, he saw there was a syringe cap in the woman's seat. After a search of his persons and finding more drug paraphernalia, some marijuana and an illegal weapon, the warden did a search of the vehicle assisted by the Lago Vista Police, and more drugs were found. The back seat of the vehicle was full of stolen merchandise from a burglary the night before. In addition, the woman was in possession of stolen credit cards. The woman gave false identification, and it was later discovered she was wanted out of state for robbery, theft and assault.

Wardens Rescue Girls from Tree During Flood

— March 15, game wardens rescued girls from up in a tree in a flooded area. Two vehicles had washed off of a Blanco Creek low-water crossing between Sabinal and Concan in Uvalde County after heavy rains. There were six people and one dog total in the vehicles. All were rescued approximately three miles down-stream from the crossing.

insurance because of the ISO differentials between the departments."

A community's classification is developed using the Insurance Services Office (ISO) Fire Suppression Rating Schedule and related Public Protection Classification system. ISO classifies communities from 1 (the best) to 10 (the worst) based on how well they score on the ISO Fire Suppression Rating Schedule, which grades such features as water distribution, fire department equipment and manpower and fire alarm facilities.

In Cooke County, Muenster has the best rating, a 5, and Lake Kiowa follows with a 7. Lindsay and Era are rated 8/9, Myra and Valley View 9/10, and Callisburg, Moss Lake, Oak Ridge, and Rosston are not rated which automatically makes them a 10. This was from the State Fire Marshal's office as of March 24, 2004. Information on ISO ratings said, "Although homeowners' insurance rates are driven mainly by your area's claim experience, your community's PPC rating also is important. For rate regulated companies, the premium on a brick veneer house is 39% higher in an area rated 10 than in one rated 1. (This range is even greater for frame houses). A brick veneer home's rate difference from one class to the next ranges from 1.5% to 9%."

Since the efforts made to get response from the Fire Association weren't satisfactory to Brooks and those he represented he said, "We are just asking you all to consider the fact that maybe somebody needs to let the Association know that there are some people out there that don't want in this area and they need to talk about what can be done to resolve this."

Young asked, "Are you saying that there's less capabilities between those departments to react to emergencies?" Brooks said, "(My) Personal opinion, you have an experience problem. You have an equipment problem. There is more equipment and more trained personnel. They've had more dealing with the people in this area and they (the people) like the service they have received from Kiowa. Training has been offered to Oak Ridge, but they have refused several times."

County Judge Freeman remarked, "I'd hate to see the Courts get involved into the Association's business. I don't want to get the volunteers mad at each other. That's what the Association is for - to work the problems out, and I think that's what they need to stay." The Court then asked that Fletcher negotiate the Association or with the two departments involved.

Jason Barnett of Election Systems & Software made a presentation and demonstrated his company's iVotronic touch screen voting system. It is a self-contained stand alone system that can run on battery power. He said it would eliminate paper ballots in early voting.

The system he demonstrated is for the physically impaired voter. The ADA unit he demonstrated with all accessories is roughly $3,900. Barnett said, "If you put one unit per precinct, that would make Cooke County HAVA (Help America Voting Act) compliant. HAVA mandates one ADA compliant (voting machine) per precinct." By Jan. 1, 2006 all voting places must be ADA compliant.

A bidding process will take place before the County makes a decision. More companies are scheduled to demonstrate their equipment.

In other business Commissioners Court:

- Heard request by Justin Patterson to raise pay for extra security and bailiff help. Took no action, as pay could not be raised higher than current County employees receive.
- Approved Mt. Zion Baptist Church's request to adopt County Road 203 for the Cooke County TCE-EPC Adopt-A-County Road program, from Mt. Zion Church to FM 902, approximately two miles.
- Approved Cooke County Commissioners Road Report Form.
