

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME X

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1946

NUMBER 15

Morton Smith of Town Topics in the Gainesville Register makes mention of a theory which, if true, will require recognition of one religious sect, heretofore designated as Protestant, as a group of its own. In addition to the three major classifications of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, there is the Baptist, whose leaders insist that they are not Protestant, and they certainly admit no affiliation with the Catholics or Jews.

The Baptist claim is based on the contention that Protestant refers to that group of religions which once belonged to the Catholic church and in protest broke off to form religions of their own. But Baptists could not be included, they say, because their church, going back to John the Baptist, existed independent of and prior to the Catholic church.

So it seems that all these years the vast majority of the public, including a vast majority of Baptists, were mistaken in assuming that they are Protestant.

In his article Morton Smith says that several Gainesville Baptists of his acquaintance were quite surprised to discover that they aren't Protestant. Naturally they would be, and it's our guess that not many have rejected their old opinion even though an editorial in the Baptist Standard puts it, their belief "reveals a lack of knowledge about Baptists."

In fact, some Baptists might reply that the editorialist himself reveals a lack of knowledge about Baptists. Being familiar with their scripture they will recall that John the Baptist never laid claim to founding a religion. He was only preparing the way for Christ. Being familiar with their own church history they may recall also that their religion actually got started in the early part of the seventeenth century, some few decades after Luther and Calvin broke away from Rome.

Where the enthusiastic Baptist writer apparently slipped was in his assumption that a religion to be named after a certain person had to be founded by him. That doesn't necessarily follow. Lincoln did not invent the automobile named after him. And if a good Baptist strives to imitate John the Baptist, that still does not prove who started the religion.

In addition to that, there's always this puzzle. If he did start a religion, where was it during all those centuries before the early 16 hundreds? Why is it that no one is able to trace back in an unbroken line to the founding?

Speaking about tracing back — this may be going from the sublime to the ridiculous — Con just happens to recall the one about tracing the title of some property in New Orleans. It's got whiskers, so pass it up if you prefer.

In a housing project, the FHA demanded a full record of title and a realtor after considerable trouble submitted the record as far back as 1803. FHA said that was not enough and demanded that the title be traced back farther. Whereupon the exasperated realtor responded somewhat as follows:

"In the hustle and bustle of events up there in Washington it may have escaped your notice, but it is a matter of common knowledge hereabouts, that in 1803 the United States of America acquired a title to said property from France by right of purchase in what is known as the Louisiana Purchase. France in turn acquired her title by right of colonization, having been commissioned by the pope of Rome to settle this portion of the new world and bring Christianity and civilization to its natives. The pope is the representative of Christ upon earth, and Christ is the only begotten son of God the Father Who happens to be creator of the universe. And there, gentlemen, is your blankety blank title traced all the way back to the day of creation."

These international affairs nowadays are truly baffling. Our country protests the presence of Russian spies sent over here by Joe Stalin to steal atomic secrets. On the same day it concedes to Russia's demands to put pressure on Franco Spain.

What's the score, anyway? Why this collaboration with a power that has been insolent and hateful and snaky and demanding ever since the close of the European war? Are we too weak kneed to stand up and tell 'em what's what, or are we pulling a diplomatic fast one and just stringing them along until we're in a position to do something?

In a way the joint statement of America and Britain to the people of Spain is nothing more than an idle gesture. What good does it do to tell them to get rid of the Franco regime when they prob-

Hotel Only A Stack Of Old Lumber But Still Survives Fire

The old city hotel may be down but it's not out. That fact was clearly apparent Wednesday when even though leveled to the ground and stacked as salvage lumber it survived another fire.

This marks at least the fourth time that heap of lumber has been ablaze. The last, while it was still standing, was in December of last year, the one preceding in June of 1944, the one preceding that about six years ago. (Sorry to be running out of information here. — The place may have had a few more fires during the first 51 years of its existence.)

Cause of the fire has not been determined but it is thought that glowing embers left from a nearby trash fire the preceding day may have been carried to the salvage pile and ignited by the wind. Little damage was done. Firemen had the blaze under control in less than 15 minutes.

March Comes In With Wind, Rain

Typical March weather prevailed in Muenster during the week with scattered showers Monday night and Tuesday, and with winds predominant.

Beginning as a light drizzle, scattered rainfall increased to a brief downpour Tuesday morning, then continued intermittently during the day. Total precipitation measured one-fifth of an inch.

The moisture was welcomed locally for gardens which had been seeded the previous weeks and was also beneficial for growing crops and pasture grasses.

This year's weather is a favorable contrast to that of March 1945. Last year this time the county was slowly recovering from a severe ice storm. Communication and power lines were being restored gradually after the worst, arctic blast in the history of the community.

MARCH 20 SET FOR HOSPITAL GROUP'S GENERAL MEETING

Wednesday, March 20, has been set as the date for the first general meeting of the Muenster Co-operative Hospital Association, J. M. Weinzapfel, temporary secretary of the organization, announced this week.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect permanent directors with authority to transact the organization's business. Present directors, having volunteered for their positions solely for the purpose of obtaining a charter, are reluctant to assume that function.

Another objective of the meeting is to decide what benefits, if any, will be instituted before the hospital is constructed.

During the past week memberships continued to come in, however the number is far from that desired for the first general meeting. The wish of the organizers, Weinzapfel said, is to have the largest possible membership to decide on the association's policies.

COUNTY VET SERVICE OFFICE MOVES OFFICE

The office of Ed Merzbacher, county service officer, was moved Friday from the U. S. Employment Service office on West Main street in Gainesville to the county price control office in the basement of the courthouse.

Due to heavy loads of veterans' claims at the USES office, the move to the new location was considered advisable for the service official.

City Expects To Have New Water Well In Operation This Week

By the end of this week the city will be using water from its new well unless unforeseen difficulties interrupt the present rate of progress.

All but about three blocks of the new four-inch line from the well to the reservoir is now complete. Power lines to the well were installed three weeks ago and all necessary pump parts are here.

Work is being done under the supervision of I. A. Schoech, assisted by Steve Mosier, who was engaged in last Monday's city council meeting as assistant waterworks and sewer plant operator. Mosier will work with Schoech for a month or two until he is familiar with the work after which he will take over and Schoech will retire.

Joe Fisher and F. A. Kathman made a business trip to Dallas Monday.

Cheese Factory And Farmer Both Must Guard Against Dust

There's a reason why more than 3000 pounds of milk had to be rejected by the cheese factory last Monday. Workmen at the plant explained that the previous night's high wind blew dust into every inadequately covered milk can in the community.

Attention to details such as this will be a part of the sanitation program being instituted by the state health department, Rudy Hellman, said. The most sanitary practices under ideal conditions at milking time are useless if milk is not protected in storage. Until farmers complete their dairy barn and storage house improvements they will have to exercise special care in keeping out dust especially when strong winds are blowing.

In line with sanitary improvements, Hellman disclosed, the cheese factory will have to make a few changes. All openings to the south of a building will have to be closed in order to keep out the dust from highway traffic. Plate glass will be installed in each door and window to seal the openings completely.

This change will necessitate another. Air conditioning will be installed to compensate for the lack of breeze that used to be admitted through the south openings.

While these changes are in progress, Hellman added, the plant will install a power intake conveyor to move milk cans from the outside directly to the scale. This arrangement will enable customers to unload their cans at a lower level than is possible with the present gravity type conveyor.

The changes were all approved by the FMA directors and work will get underway as soon as conditions permit, probably 60 to 90 days.

A part of the program already in progress is repainting of equipment.

USE FERTILIZER FOR BETTER FISH PONDS, COUNTY AGENT SAYS

The application of fertilizer accomplishes three outstanding things in pond management according to B.T. Haws, County Agent for the A. & M. College Extension Service. First, it vastly increases the food for fish, second it controls submerged pond weeds and third, it makes fishing more successful, as fish bite more readily where the fisherman cannot be seen through the clouded water.

For these reasons pond owners are strongly encouraged to include fertilization in their plans. A pond that becomes muddy with every rain cannot be fertilized successfully however.

Commercial fertilizers will build up the food supply so that each acre of a pond will support from 400 to 600 pounds of fish. As previously explained the increase of food in a fertilized pond is derived directly and indirectly from a tremendous growth of plants so small that they can be seen only with the aid of a magnifying glass. They are present in such numbers as to cloud the water with a green or brown tinge, depending on the kind of plant life.

As fertilization during the winter months yield only minimum returns, the first application should be made as soon as the water warms up in the spring during March. Two or three applications are made at weekly intervals in a new pond and thereafter, only when plant growth in the water becomes reduced to such a degree that the bottom can be seen where the pond is 12 to 18 inches deep. Applications are not made later than October or November, when cool weather reduces fish growth because of lower temperature. A person applies fertilizer to small ponds by walking around the edge and broadcasting the material toward the center by hand. It is not necessary to cover the entire surface as wave action will distribute the food elements.

Most ponds will require 600 to 800 pounds of fertilizer per surface acre annually. Use a complete fertilizer like 8-8-4. Cotton seed meal, hay, manure and other organic materials may be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schoech announce the birth of a 9-pound son, Richard Joseph, at the local clinic Tuesday morning. The baby was baptized by Father John Wednesday morning, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Snaeth of Lindsay. For the christening ceremony the infant wore the long baptismal dress that all members of the Snaeth family wore at their baptisms.

19 Muenster Men Knighted Sunday In Sherman Ceremony

Nineteen candidates from Muenster were knighted Sunday in ceremonies held at Sherman where the first, second and third degree exemption and other festivities took place for Knights of Columbus of the sixth district. Scores of local members and their ladies also attended the day's program.

Festivities began shortly before 11 a.m. with assembly at St. Mary's parish hall from which members, led by Fourth Degree Knights in full regalia, marched to church for attendance at Mass for their knights of the Muenster choir sang.

The initiation was held during the afternoon and the day's program closed with a dinner at Hotel Grayson at 7 p.m. when Dr. Harold O'Brien of Dallas was principal speaker. Muenster choir members gave musical numbers for the program.

Seventy-one candidates composed the class of initiates known as the Monsignor Edward V. McCollough Victory Class. The local council was second in number of candidates, being surpassed only by the Gainesville-Lindsay council which sent 29 candidates for initiation.

State officers at attendance were Herbert Meurer, Muenster, state treasurer; Gus Strauss, Hallettsville, state deputy; M. J. Babin, Jr., Port Arthur, state secretary, and Fred Kinane, Austin past state deputy.

Muenster's initiates were Harold Luke, Larry Yosten, Richard Swirczynski, Bill Hoehn, Werner Yosten, Eary Lehnertz, Dr. A. D. Schmitt, Frank Felderhoff, Walter Becker, Harold and Bobby Lutkenhaus, Joe Hess, Joe Mages, Leo Sicking, Anton Koessler, Carl Schilling, Charles E. Wimmer and Joe Sicking.

NEW LICENSE TAGS MAY BE DISPLAYED

Motor vehicle owners are permitted to display their new 1946 license plates on their cars, and they have until April 1 to purchase these plates.

Sale of the plates began February 1, but motorists were required not to display them until March 1. The plates may be obtained at the county tax collector's office in the courthouse.

The law requires all motor vehicles to be equipped with 1946 plates not later than April 1. Unless the present rate of license plate sales increases soon a great deal of waiting will be done the latter part of the month. Tax Assessor-Collector Hayes stated Monday that approximately 5900 passenger car tags are to be issued in the County and only 859 have been issued to date. The percentage of commercial and farm licenses issued is the about the same.

FINAL MILITARY RITES HELD FOR GRANDSON OF THE JOHN BEARDS

Funeral services, with military honors, were held in Manhattan, Kansas, on Feb. 28 for Gerald Armstrong, SIC, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Beard of this city.

He lost his life in Chesapeake Bay while serving in the Navy last Nov. 29 when his ship collided with a tanker, taking the lives of the 15 personnel on board. The bodies were recovered the latter part of February.

The deceased visited here last summer with his grandparents and made many friends while in the city. He was 20 years old. Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Herren, a brother and two sisters, and the grandparents.

Ed Rohmer's Truck Crashes Through Bridge In Oklahoma

Both Ed Rohmer and his truck had a narrow escape last Friday when a bridge gave way on a side road in Oklahoma. Ed was en route to Denton with a large trailer load of wheat.

The accident delayed Ed's return here by more than 24 hours, however he brought the truck, with the load, in under its own power.

Parochial Boiler Repaired

With almost twenty five years of faithful service to their credit, boiler flues at the parochial school's heating plant sprung a leak last week, permitting water to flood the basement to a depth of several inches. All the flues were replaced this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Morgan are the parents of a daughter, Shirley Ann, born at the local clinic Monday.

Food Research Men Here To See Method Of Condensing Whey

In connection with their research work on by-products of milk two representatives of Standard Brands food corporation, one of them head chemist in the Purdue University research laboratory for the past 16 years, were in Muenster last weekend to observe the local cheese factory's system of condensing whey.

So far as they know, the visitors stated, Muenster has the only whey condensing unit west of the Mississippi river. Once considered as a waste product in the manufacture of cheese whey, at the local plant, has developed into a by-product as valuable as the cheese itself. When operations first began thousands of pounds were drained every day to an evaporation pit south of town. Later it came more in demand for feeding hogs and the amount wasted diminished considerably.

About six years ago the cheese factory installed its condenser to supply dried whey for use in stock feeds. At that time the finished product was hauled from here in tank trucks. Today it is condensed under the most rigid specifications of pure food laws and packed in sealed containers. According to Rudy Hellman it is subject to much more rigid inspections than cheese.

Whey condensed here is used principally in the manufacture of caramels, baby foods, and processing cheese. It has a sugar content of 78 per cent.

MATERIAL SHORTAGE DELAYS CONVERSION OF LOCAL REFINERY

Little by little the Muenster refinery is overcoming material obstacles in the conversion of its old type plant to a new coker-cracking plant. Date for completion of the change first set at April 1 has been moved back one month, however present indications are that it has a good chance to be operating on the revised date.

J. W. Ezell, manager, was in East Texas, on Wednesday arranging for the movement of equipment to Dallas where it will be altered to fit specifications of the local plant. During the past few weeks changes have been under way at the refinery to make it ready for the new unit.

When completed the refinery, using the newly developed process will be able to convert approximately 70 per cent of its crude into gasoline of 75 to 78 octane rating. The present plant converts about 20 per cent into 50 octane gas.

County School Census Begun This Week; Little Change Expected Here

Taking of the school census in Cooke County got underway this week and the enumerators have until April 1 to complete the work in Muenster. John J. Hoffman, superintendent of the public school, is taking the count.

All children who will be between six and eighteen years of age on September 1, will be included in the census. Number of scholastics determines the amount of state aid received by various districts on a per capita basis.

Last year's census figures totaled 397. This year's is expected to be about the same. There will be a few more of the group just reaching six. Mr. Hoffman estimates, but several older students were lost through transfer to other schools.

LENTEN SEASON WILL BE OBSERVED HERE BY SPECIAL SERVICES

The Lenten season is being observed by Sacred Heart parish with special services. Lenten devotions are held three times a week, on Wednesday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock and on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Ash Wednesday, officially ushering in the Lenten season, was observed with the traditional blessing and distribution of ashes at the 8:30 high mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hofbauer announce the birth of a daughter, Jenine Teresa, at the local clinic on Feb. 28. At the baby's baptism on March 2 Father Herman officiated, assisted by Miss Teresa Walter and Joe J. Hofbauer of Dallas as sponsors.

An 8-pound son, Jimmie Joe, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Ezell at the local clinic, Tuesday morning.

Red Cross Drive Well On Way To Reaching Quota

Purse Grows To About $600; Community's Quota Set At $960

With about $600 already collected and lots of prospects yet to be seen, Muenster has a very good chance of going over the top again in its Red Cross drive, Mrs. G. H. Hellman, solicitor, disclosed this week. The community's quota has been set at $960, as compared with $1,200 for last year.

As usual, Mrs. Hellman stated the response has been very gratifying, however it has definitely decreased from that of the previous four years. Many feel that with the war over there will be fewer demands on the Red Cross. Some also are less interested because friends and relatives who previously had received some benefits from their donations are back home in civilian life.

A partial list of donors, as submitted Tuesday, is as follows:

- $58 — Andrew Yosten.
 - $25 — R. W. Trew, Dr. T. S. Myrick.
 - $15 — Henry Sicking, Waples Painter Co., Ben Seyler.
 - $10 — H. G. Stelzer, J.M. Weinzapfel, Muenster State Bank, Herbert Meurer, Muenster Hatchery, Fisher's Market.

 - $1 — H. H. Kathman, Werner Henschel, Ray Owen, Bill Wolf, W.G. Boyles, Herman Fleitman, Tony Gremmlinger, P.J. Hollman, Lawrence Wimmer, George Koelzer, Earl Lehnertz, Barney Voth.
 - $0.50 — Henry Grewing, Matt Schmitz, Mrs. Bob Ryle, and 25c J. E. Hott.
- Additional contributions will be listed next week.

FATHER ZIMMERER GETS ORDERS FOR RETURN TO STATES

Captain Francis Zimmerer, under date of Feb. 25, wrote to the Enterprise advising that he is en route to the states. His short letter says: "This is to inform you that I just received orders which will terminate my term of duty overseas and will send me back to the United States. I expect to depart from here in the next few days and should be home very soon. My forwarding address is St. Peter's Rectory, Lindsay, Tex. 'Til be seeing all of you soon, until then, my sincerest regards to one and all."

Father Francis, former assistant pastor at Sacred Heart church, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Zimmerer of Lindsay. He joined the Army Chaplain's Corps in Sept. 1942 while being stationed at Windthorst as pastor of St. Mary's church. He trained at Fort Benning, Ga., and was commissioned on Nov. 27. He served as a chaplain on Guadalcanal until a few weeks ago when he was transferred to Hawaii.

Apples have been cultivated in Europe for at least 4,000 years.

LET'S TAKE STOCK NOW

Everybody wants goods. Manufacturers want to make them for you. Yet months after the war's end, you still find it difficult to get many of the things you want and should have. So, isn't this the time for all of us to take stock . . . to learn a lesson . . . to find out, if we can, what will cure the troubles we are having and prevent their recurrence?

Let's look ahead and agree on a program that will insure the full production everybody agrees is the real answer to most of our problems. Suppose we begin by taking a good look at three roadblocks to prosperity...

STRIKES
 Whatever their justice or injustice, strikes paralyze production, force people to use up their savings, and result in losses that can never be made up.

PRICE CEILINGS
 Full production isn't possible when industry suffers losses because of rising costs and frozen prices. Price ceilings limit production — goods just don't get made.

GOVERNMENT SPENDING
 Continued huge government spending means continued high taxes. High taxes discourage production, hinder the creation of jobs, and leave you less to spend.

ISN'T THIS THE WAY?
 The people, through Congress, can remove these roadblocks in the long-range interests of all. . .

By establishing a labor policy that will treat labor and management exactly alike, and above all be fair to the public;

By removing the shackles of price control on manufactured goods;

By cutting down on government spending now and balancing the Federal budget by the 1947 fiscal year at a level of income and outgo that taxpayers can stand.

Do you believe this program is in the public interest?
 Your Representatives in Congress are the only ones that can put it into effect. Tell them how you feel about it.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C. March 1—The Atomic bomb and the possibilities of atomic energy is still the favorite subject of conversation and speculation in the City of Washington. Some one remarked the other day that if it should ever become possible to set off atomic bombs simply by time fuses and mechanism there would be little defense from saboteurs who might leave enough switches in strategic places to practically eliminate an enemy country before the outbreak of hostilities.

One of my friends, a Colonel just back from nearly four years overseas, commented that the most strategic places for such sabotage would be in the paper factories and paper warehouses. "If all the paper were destroyed," said he, "no army could possibly fight a war."

A high ranking admiral, in describing to me plans for the Navy's experiment with atomic bombs, says he thinks such explosions might destroy all life on a vessel without doing more than superficial damage to the ship itself, this destruction resulting from radiation. While it hasn't been publicized, the Navy will have some vessels strategically located with numerous animals aboard it in order to determine results, if possible, on human beings.

This reminds me that plans are now being made to fight forest fires by airplane, through release of great quantities of water or chemicals set to explode and scatter by proximity fuse a certain distance from the ground. All these deadly lethal weapons developed in the science of war have possibilities for usefulness in peace. Perhaps if their potential deadliness becomes sufficiently great it may result in prevention of future conflicts.

The House Banking and Currency Committee continued hearings on OPA this week. What to do with OPA, to what extent it should be extended, if at all, is now a subject of serious and earnest debate behind the scenes in Congress.

In an executive order issued on February 14, 1946, the President said "It is the policy of the government, in order so far as possible to prevent price increases, that there be prompt and firm enforcement, during the present emergency, of government controls over scarce materials and facilities."

The converse of this would seem to be that no such controls would be exercised over materials of which there is no scarcity. Again, in a report from the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion, on January 1, the statement is made that price ceilings will be removed "as quickly as supply approaches balance with demand." Chester Bowles, then OPA Administrator, stated on last December 6, "Price control should and must be removed as rapidly as supply conditions permit. Barring continued labor-management difficulties, the production estimates for 1946 indicate that in industry after industry, during the next twelve months, we will find supply and demand coming into balance. As that occurs, I assure you that your government will move promptly to eliminate the last vestige of price restrictions in those industries."

Many other government officials have made similar statements. A large number of Congressmen feel, therefore, that these officials should not object to having written into the proposed bill extending OPA a provision that no controls or ceilings should be imposed on any commodity of which there is a normal or adequate supply. If OPA is extended at all it is certain to be amended in some such particular or particulars.

The AFL and the CIO now seem to be at each other's throats. Recently the CIO bitterly attacked the AFL, accusing the latter organization of having failed to recognize and enact a progressive program for the workers. In a statement obviously aimed at CIO the AFL retorted, "Keep Communists out of policy making positions — Because there are Communist agents among us who are maneuvering to bring about more and more control, it is important for union members to know just what government-dominated industry will actually do to their standards of living."

In this connection, I hope you will read my speech being mailed out this week, entitled "Strikes—Monopolies—The Consumer."

Your Own Pork Or Beef

As You Like It
 When You Like It

You don't have to stick to fresh and cured meat seasons if you use our locker and processing service. You can have both fresh and cured meats the year around.

It's Simple, Convenient, Inexpensive

Just bring in a pork carcass and tell our processing man what cuts you want packaged and quick frozen for locker storage, what cured, what ground into sausage, what smoked, how much fat trimmed off and rendered as lard, what seasoning you prefer.

A few days later your lard and sausage will be ready, your fresh meat, cut to your specification will be packaged and stored in your locker.

About a month later your cured meat will be ready — smoked, too, if you wish. (In case you did not know, we do all our smoking with genuine hickory chips.)

Don't---

Put foods in your locker without first having them quick frozen. Slow freezing in the locker impairs quality. Also the quality of adjacent food is impaired by thawing and refreezing.

KRAFT CO. PRESIDENT SEES BRIGHT FUTURE FOR DAIRY FARMERS

Expressing a belief that dairy men can look forward with confidence to continued heavy demand for dairy products for many years in the future, John H. Kraft, president of the Kraft Foods Co., declared today in a letter to milk producers that opportunities were never greater than at present for young, efficient dairy farmers.

The letter was sent in the January-February issue of the Kraftman, a publication distributed to dairy farmers over the nation. Mr. Kraft pointed out that recent developments in the dairy industry have accentuated the present milk shortage. "Consumers today are not getting all the milk and dairy products they want," he said. "There is every indication that it will be many years before the milk supply catches up with the needs of our people. And this takes no account of the needs of other countries throughout the world, especially those to the south of us."

Because, he said, the war has brought a new appreciation of the value of milk and dairy foods to people of all ages, the demand has greatly exceeded the supply. "Production today of all standard dairy foods... such as cheese, evaporated milk and ice cream, is far below what the consumer wants. A vast demand for good butter remains unsatisfied. The value of dried milk is just beginning to be appreciated by the consumer and by industry. In addition, there has been a big population increase that will have a marked effect on milk consumption for many years. Of particular importance to the dairy farmer, Kraft said, are the tremendous possibilities for increasing milk use in the technological development of milk by-products, such as casein, milk sugar, pharmaceutical products and textiles.

To me this spells opportunity for the dairymen of the future and especially for the dairymen who will make the most of efficient breeding and management in the production of high quality milk.

"The nation now needs and will continue to need more milk and milk products. This expanded market for milk will build a strong foundation for a sound and prosperous agriculture."

MORE THAN 6 MILLION MEN BACK IN CIVILIAN LIFE, ARMY REVEALS

More than 6,000,000 men have returned to civilian life from the ranks of the United States Army during the past nine months, the War Department announced today. This is nearly 2,000,000 more than the estimated number for demobilization last September.

The February schedule called for the discharge of 600,000 men, and during the first week alone a total of 220,000 soldiers passed through Army separation centers. Under the separation criteria announced by General Eisenhower it was estimated that 2,200,000 men will be released from active service between January 1 and April 30 under lowered point and service scores.

Of this number some 1,158,000 already have been discharged, according to reports compiled by the War Department. This meant the halfway mark for the eligible group under the present score has been passed well in advance of expectations.

Preliminary figures show that the present strength of the Army is approximately 3,000,000. Nine months ago it reached its peak strength of 8,300,000.

NEW 14 INCH LINE WILL INCREASE GAS COMPANY'S RESERVE

Lone Star Gas Company has begun construction of a 79-mile pipe line that will tie the gas field near Carthage in Panola County into the company's 5,000-mile network of transmission mains, according to Elmer F. Schmidt, Lone Star vice-president in charge of the transmission division.

The new 14-inch line, extending due west from Carthage and joining the company's present pipe line network at Opelika in Henderson County, will secure additional gas reserves for the company and strengthen the local gas supply and that of nearly 300 other towns and cities served by the Lone Star. The line will carry a maximum pressure of 1,200 pounds.

In case you didn't know, 17 rural cooperative hospitals have been chartered in Texas since enabling legislation became effective September 4.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT By Uncle Bob
Of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

Good pastures make full milk pails when needed most

Hills and valleys are mighty handy things to have around if you are planning a beautiful landscape, but the ups and downs in yearly milk production can cause headaches.

All the reports I've had lately seem to indicate that we're going to need a lot of milk in 1946, maybe even more than in 1945. The biggest part of getting this job done is to fill in the "valleys" in milk production to create a more even flow through the year.

The best way I know to prevent those summer and fall drops in milk production is by a better pasture program, use of supplementary grazing in summer and fall. The beauty of that kind of a program is that it is inexpensive and pays you back in milk dollars much more than you put into it in the way of seed and fertilizer dollars.

Lime, nitrates, phosphate and potash applied in early spring on your native pasture will build up the grass and prolong the time when you can get good, milk-producing pasturage from it. I suggest you get your fertilizers ordered and delivered as soon as possible.

Sudan grass is the best and quickest crop I know of to do a real job in July and August when hot weather has taken the native pastures down. Planted up to June first, this grass can bring you as much as a 25% increase in milk production over the volume you would get if you kept your cows on native pastures through the summer. And if you have more than you need for pasture, it makes good hay when cut at the right time.

For late fall, the old standbys—rye and barley—are tops. Plant these two in August, turn your cows into them a few weeks later and watch your milk cans fill up. Sudan grass, rye and barley need fertilizing too if you are to get the most out of them.

All the forecasts predict a good demand for dairy products continuing through the year. America needs the milk, and it looks like an opportunity for dairymen to build their bank balances by holding milk production to high levels.

One of the most outlandish sights I've ever seen was a few years ago when I witnessed a great big, bright and shiny limousine being towed into town by about as sorry a looking, bony mule that ever hit the country.

Somehow or other I'm reminded of this when I see a battered up milk can being used to hold the world's best food. We've had to hold on to old cans during the war, but new ones are back on the market now.

You can help your quality program by replacing doubtful cans. The cracks in battered cans make nice rooming houses for bacteria.

In the first place Franco has remained on good terms with the pope, who happens to be about as well posted on world affairs, and as insistent on human rights, as any temporal ruler today. That's more than can be said for Stalin. Furthermore it seems to indicate that Franco's government isn't so awful bad.

Then there's the smelly background going back to the days of the Spanish civil war. Spanish Reds strong armed their way into power and started a typical communist anti-Christian program. Franco and a few followers took up arms. Russia sent help to the Reds, Hitler and Mussolini sent help to Franco—not so much as a friendly gesture to Franco as to keep Communism out of that corner of Europe. Eventually Franco's side won, so he went to the throne instead of the gallows.

It matters not what kind of thugs were with him or against him. He was not in a position to be choosy. It matters not that he made friendly promises to Hitler early in the world war. Perhaps he had little choice again. But it is significant that he did not enter on Hitler's side.

And now what happens? Russia is the principal agitator for Franco's scalp. France, with the communist party in power, breaks off diplomatic relations. This thing remains, as before the Spanish war, a systematic plot to establish communism in Spain.

Judging by our own standards, Franco is more our kind of a guy than Stalin is. He has a better record and he's caused us less trouble, too. It's about time that we quit our diplomatic pussyfooting and admitted that before the world.

By way of contrast with complaints that some ex-service men have made about the Red Cross we have one case of praise backed up by a degree of generosity that makes it far more eloquent than all the gripes combined.

Andy Yosten says he saw case after case in the European theatre in which the efforts of the Red Cross brought comfort to the GIs, and other cases in which lives were saved by blood plasma which the Red Cross furnished. Convinced that it was a worthy organization and due all the help he could give, he decided one day to donate all the cash he could spare at the time. That happened to be $8 dollars.

He sent it to the Muenster bank to be included in Muenster's quota in the next Red Cross drive. Arriving in July, after last year's drive was over, the money was held for the current drive.

So in case anybody wonders whether the very generous figure heading the list is a typographical error, it's not, and here's the explanation. A GI in Europe who had plenty of reason to appreciate the Red Cross simply emptied his pocket.

Incidentally, this column has the satisfaction of learning that its remarks of last week brought a few extra bucks into the Red Cross fund. Some fellows told our solicitor that they had decided not to give but reconsidered after thinking over the comment.
