VOLUME VI

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1942

NUMBER 20

Easter in this part of the Ozarks dawns as a beautiful, invigorating day — at least so it seems from a hospital window.

Con's luck is getting him no where fast. Two weeks ago he was confident of recovering and being back to duty within a few days. That should be enough for a case of flu. But then some sort of lung ailment came along. From then on the big hope was to get away before Easter. Having missed that, Con's not so particular, won't complain if this lasts another two weeks. Which, perhaps, isn't a bad guess. With temperature back to normal, it may be assumed that the worst is past. Not much left to do besides regain strength. Two weeks ought to be about enough for that.

In civilian life a person feeling as I do would not consider remaining in a hospital. He'd recover at home. But army life is different. Either a fellow is well enough to stand the daily grind or he goes to the hospital. No such thing as loafing around the house a day if a person happens to feel indisposed.

That's why an army hospital is so different from all others. The way fellows visit around from bed to bed, laugh and joke does not suggest a great deal of sickness. About one out of ten seems to belong. Of the remaining nine a few are ill and the others are just taking life easy. At the present time Con belongs in that last group. Not sick, but not able to take the strain of regular duty.

Returning to the original thought — Easter — it is the very bright, cheerful day a person might associate with the first Easter, a fitting day for the triumphant resurrection of Divine Light after an apparent victory of Darkness.

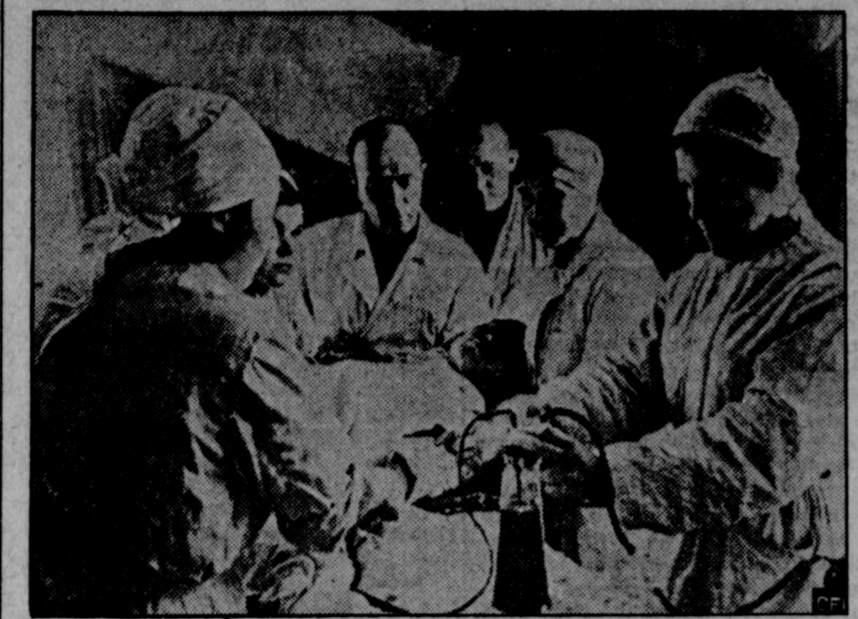

It's a fitting day also for a resurrection of human ideals, faith and optimism. Easter is an appropriate day to appreciate the blessings of the civilization we have known. All have been the product of Christianity, which would be non-existent if there were no Easter. Is there a better occasion to realize the sacredness of human rights and dignity, and to resolve that the present conflict must end in the destruction of slavery?

Our greatest failing nowadays is not in the realization that totalitarianism must end, but in our own stubborn reluctance to discard some of the evils we have permitted to creep into our civilization. Selfishness continues to retard the success of our crusade. Men in high places, racketeering labor czars, and profiteering industrialists are still thinking in terms of personal gain instead of public welfare. Less conspicuous but no less guilty are representatives in almost every other walk of life. Their continued waste of essential materials, evading responsibility, or failure to help the cause when they have a chance are all severe handicaps to the common good. If only everybody in this country could forget business as usual for a while and pitch wholeheartedly into the victory effort! What we could save in lives, time and money.

Continued mixture of good and bad news during the past week emphasizes the fact that we still have to go a long, long way before the conflict is over. While we merely exhort the enemy with the enemy we accomplish little, except that the blows, perhaps, are causing us less damage. There is cause for optimism, for instance, in the report that Japanese naval construction is not keeping pace with its losses whereas American naval construction is ahead of its losses. Without a doubt, we can look forward with confidence to the day when American might will overwhelm the enemy. Besides there is the possibility that fortunate circumstances will bring victory at an earlier date. Russian successes, for instance, could lead to Hitler's defeat within a year. With that accomplished America would not have to wait for its two ocean navy.

BUY UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS AND STAMPS
Muenster's clean-up campaign, slated for this week has been postponed until next week, it was announced Wednesday, when bad weather continued, making it impossible for citizens to clean up their premises, and too muddy for trucks to pick up the rubbish and haul it to the dumping grounds.
Mayor Ben Seyler stated that the clean-up will take place next week and the hauling will be done on Thursday and Friday, exactly one week later than originally planned.

RUSSIAN MEDICAL CORPS WORKING ON WOUNDED

MOSCOW, RUSSIA — Men and women in white, members of the Red Russian army medical corps are shown in a dressing station on the front pumping blood into the veins of a severely wounded soldier. Blood used is from a blood bank, a system in world-wide use that was inaugurated in Russia.

Farmers in Campsite Area Asked Not To Plant Their Crops

Variety of Names Are Suggested For Cooke County's Army Camp
Fifteen landowners in the construction area of the Cooke County army cantonment have been asked not to plant further on their crops for 1942, due to anticipation of early construction work, it was learned during the weekend.

Landowners advised not to plant crops are H. G. Perry, W. C. Morrow, G. W. Frost, R. L. Mayers, Lester Embry, John Blanton, J. C. O'Brien, Elizabeth Hughes, Anton Hermes, J. A. Thomas, J. J. Thompson, William Schmitz and T. H. Hemphill. Also affected are the lower half of the Mrs. A. F. Jones ranch and the south portion of the S. K. Lockard land.

Right-of-way for the Texas Power and Light company line was completed Friday and construction will probably begin next week. If the weather permits, work on the railroad spur dump was halted Monday on account of rain. Rig has been set up to drill a second water well in the northwest section of the campsite proper.

A variety of names for the camp have been received by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce. Citizens of the county are invited to submit names and the deadline for this is Wednesday, April 15. They must be written and the name of the person sending them in must accompany the suggestions.

Some names already suggested are Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, W. O. Davis, D. T. Lacy, O. R. Anderson, and William Stephens, the latter being the first Gainesville man to lose his life in the Pacific war.

Seventy-four citizens of Muenster signed a petition suggesting the name of Robert J. H. Weinzapfel for the camp inasmuch as he was the first Cooke county man to lose his life in the current war.

David Crockett and Sam Houston were also suggested, along with one person's suggestion that it be named Camp Carole Lombard after the picture actress, killed in a plane crash after a defense bond sale campaign.

General Arthur MacArthur, Colin P. Kelly, H. T. Anderson, former commander of the Alamo division, Admiral Dewey, Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson were also sent as suggestions for naming the camp. Several would like to have it named Gaines of Cooke, after whom Gainesville and Cooke county were named, and a combination of both, Gainescooke, was submitted. Others were Texas and Texas Ranger.

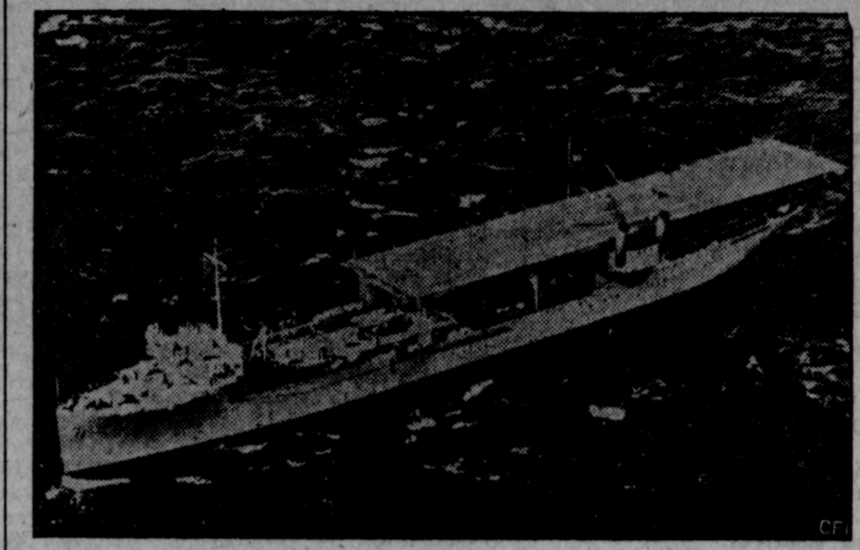

It is customary to name such camps after deceased persons of local, state or national importance. Cliff McMahan, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has asked Congressman Ed Gossett to provide full details of qualifications which must be followed, in order that the names finally submitted will meet the demands of the War Department, which makes the final choice.

City Clean-Up Postponed Until Next Week; Rain Stops Outdoor Activity

Muenster's clean-up campaign, slated for this week has been postponed until next week, it was announced Wednesday, when bad weather continued, making it impossible for citizens to clean up their premises, and too muddy for trucks to pick up the rubbish and haul it to the dumping grounds.
Mayor Ben Seyler stated that the clean-up will take place next week and the hauling will be done on Thursday and Friday, exactly one week later than originally planned.

HEAVY RAIN WITH SMALL TWISTER HITS COMMUNITY MONDAY

Rain, which began falling early Monday morning, continued lightly throughout the day and turned into a downpour, accompanied by an electrical storm and wind that took on cyclonic proportions in several sections of the community, shortly after 9 p. m.
At George Koelzer's a chicken house and water tank were blown away, but no chickens were killed. John Hess, however, did not fare so well, his brooder house was swept away and 200 chicks were lost. Buddy Pette's windmill was damaged and John Walterscheid's chicken house was blown over without injury to the flock. A number of trees were broken and bent and window panes in various homes were either cracked or broken. No damage to livestock from lightning was reported.

Rain continued to fall all day Tuesday and through night and on Wednesday either light precipitation or mist continued. Thermometers hovered slightly below the 50 mark all day Wednesday.

While it was more rain than crops needed, normally, farmers reported optimistically that if the weather falls off and warmth and sunshine follow the grain bugs will be whipped. There was no grain left to speak of and corn and gardens benefitted by the moisture.

According to Frank Hoedebeck and the reading on the government gauge here, total precipitation up to Wednesday morning was 5.38 inches.

Rain Monday amounted to .84 inch up until the heavy downpour in the evening which registered 1.16 in little more than an hour. An additional 3.38 inches fell since then.

BAD WEATHER FAILS TO HALT SUCCESS OF PARISH PICNIC

Rain, bad roads, high winds and lightning Monday and Monday evening in no way impaired the success of the annual Easter Monday picnic and dance, which proved to be a success, both from the standpoint of attendance and from the financial returns that contributed considerably in swelling the new church building fund.
All activity was under the direction of the parish Mothers' Society, assisted by the Sisters and other volunteer local groups. The Yosten orchestra played for the dance.

MOVIE TO BE SHOWN IN PARISH HALL BY GARDEN CLUB FRIDAY

Vote Favors Muenster-Linn School Merger

Opens Way For Extensive Improvement of Local School System

Residents of Muenster and Linn favored consolidation of their school districts in a referendum last Saturday, April 4. At Linn the issue was somewhat contested, the final tally of votes showing 26 for and 14 against the merger. Here a favorable vote had been taken for granted and a considerable number did not take the trouble to vote. The count was 114 for and 1 against.

The success of this election is regarded as a definite starting point for the eventual building up of the Muenster school to the best in the county. The next step, to be taken after the county commissioners' court formally approves the consolidation, is to call an election to decide if residents of the consolidated district want to assume a 25 cent tax, the purpose of which is to buy school buses to transport the children to the Muenster school.

The petition on the bus proposition is in order and needs only the approval of the county judge. Included in the petition is the sliding clause whereby the tax may be reduced to a lower figure when the buses are paid for and only actual operating expenses are needed.

In the school trustee election, held the same day, E. S. Lawson and Herman L. Pierce were unopposed and their names were on the ballot. Since the consolidation, Muenster's school board of seven trustees is automatically void. Local persons will, within the next few days, recommend seven members for the board to the county school board for approval, who, after approval, will constitute the new board. No mention has been made of names of the men to constitute the new board, but it was supposed that the list will include men from this and from the Linn section.

PVT. HARRY FISHER WRITES INTERESTING LETTER FROM CAMP

The Enterprise received such an interesting letter from Pvt. Harry Fisher of Camp San Luis Obispo, California, this week, that we are reproducing it herewith because we feel that many of our readers will also be interested in it and enjoy it as much as we did.

Greetings from Camp, San Luis Obispo, located in the beautiful and colorful Chorro Valley, midway between San Francisco, and Los Angeles. This is the home of the 35th Division, of which I am a member. We are only about 10 miles from the blue Pacific.

Needless to say, I enjoy reading the Enterprise each week, particularly Pvt. R. N. Pette's Confetti column. Army life is much the same at all the camps and Ramble is doing a grand job of telling you folks about it thru the column. He was the last Muenster man I saw before leaving Camp Leonard Wood, and coming to the coast. I must admit I was a little homesick, and when I was rushed off from that camp I had no idea where I was going. It was after I arrived here that I learned I was originally destined for Australia but by arriving later than was anticipated, missed the boat, and someone else filled in for me.

I rather enjoyed the trip here from Fort Leonard Wood. Such lovely scenery all the way. We arrived here in a downpour of rain, nevertheless, I was almost stunned at the beauty of this place. Rugged mountains with their large boulders of various colors and formations, hilltops covered with green grass and grazing cattle, and clear mountain streams well stocked with fish. And redwood trees. It reminded me more of a park than an army camp. All this is so different from Fort Leonard Wood where there was nothing much to see besides the oak trees that scattered dead leaves all over the place. I didn't even see an animal all the time I was at Fort Leonard Wood.

There are plenty of animals here, both domestic and wild life. Cattle and horses graze right up to the doors of the camp and it isn't anything unusual to have rabbits, foxes and deer to visit you while on guard duty and sometimes the coyotes get pretty noisy.

This is by no means a dull place, there is excitement and entertainment all the time. It has been my lot to get guard duty since I am here. Seventeen days and nights of it, all told, and I've been here just 35 days. Even then I've found things interesting.

Personally, I think engineering is the most interesting branch of the army, but I'm not especially in love (Continued on page 6)

MUENSTER PLAYERS TO STAGE 3-ACT COMEDY SUNDAY P. M.

Muenster Players, under the direction of Father Richard, will present their play, "Where's Grandma?", a three-act comedy in the parish hall Sunday, April 12, at 8:15 o'clock. The Muenster Youth Band will also participate by giving a number of musical selections.

Headlining the cast is Miss Anselma Pagle in the title role, portraying an old lady who first of all wants to be young and second of all, is quite content to be her age. An excellent supporting cast includes Miss Harriett Schoech, as Gretchen Blake, and Andrew Wimmer as Bob Blake, her brand new husband; Edward Endres as Jack, Gretchen's brother; Miss Rosalie Henschel as Lucy King, Jack's sweetheart; Miss Celia Walterscheid as Arline, Gretchen's "pick" for Jack; Miss Clara Henschel, as Carol, Gretchen's self-willed sister; Earl Walterscheid as Midnight, a "chocolate brown" houseman, and Miss Mildred Walterscheid as Dahlia, wife of Midnight, "high yaller" and a determined female.

Grandma is a delightful old lady, whom everybody laughs at in the beginning of the play but who proves to be the kind of grandma young folks dream of before the final curtain. This grandma has never seen her grandchildren and she longs to have them like and want her. When at last their invitation comes to have her visit them she is overawed and studies books on Youth Psychology in which she learns that modern children like gay times, youth, beautiful clothes and constant activity. How she manages all this is the story and members of the cast say it is a scream. They look forward to a full house next Sunday for the performance.

WRITE-IN CAMPAIGN ADDS HEAT TO CITY CONTEST LAST HOUR

Muenster's city election Tuesday, with only two unopposed aldermen, Nick Miller and L. A. Schoech, on the ticket, was practically unnoticed until 6 p. m., one hour before the polls closed, when a heated write-in campaign got underway. Up until 6 o'clock only 12 votes were cast. During the last hour 63 votes rolled in.

Miller and Schoech, incumbents, were re-elected to the offices by a margin of 5 votes. H. M. Schmitz and Henry Luke were the write-in candidates.

FRANCIS RUSSELL, FORMER LOCAL LAD, DROWNED SUNDAY

Francis Russell, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Russell, former Muenster residents, now residing in Big Spring, was drowned Sunday afternoon in a circulating tank on an oil lease near that city where he and a group of youngsters were playing.
Funeral services were held Tuesday with burial at Big Spring. The Russell family moved to that city about two years ago after living here five years during which time Mr. Russell was employed on the Merrick lease.

Vaccinating Children is Important, Says State Health Officer

AUSTIN, TEXAS, April 5.—"The cruelty of our war-time enemies is no more deplorable than the cruelty of American indifference which every year allows thousands of small children to suffer, and possibly die from diphtheria and smallpox when these two diseases are absolutely preventable," Doctor Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today in commenting on President Roosevelt's act in setting aside May 1 as Child Health Day.

"There is no more important phase of national health than national child health, and the tragic annual death rate from diphtheria and smallpox is difficult to understand when we remember that science has produced successful immunization for the prevention of both these diseases," Doctor Cox said.

In pointing out the necessity for preventing epidemics, lowering the death rate from communicable diseases and elevating national health standards, Doctor Cox stressed the fact that if all the parents would cooperate with the President in his campaign to have every child in the United States over nine months of age immunized against diphtheria and smallpox, these two killing diseases would be completely eliminated as threats to the health of American children.

President Roosevelt has asked the cooperation of all American parents in this nation-wide campaign to stamp out diphtheria and smallpox, by immunizing all children over nine months of age. With our country in urgent need of its entire manpower to successfully defend itself against an aggressor enemy, President Roosevelt has asked the same close cooperation in health matters that he expects to receive in all phases of our defense program.

Doctor Cox has notified all Local Chairmen of Health and Emergency Medical Service in the State of Texas that he, as State Chairman on Health and Emergency Medical Service, will greatly appreciate their complete cooperation in this vital matter and urging them to give this activity in the communities full support as a most important measure for the war-time protection of our civilian population.

"I sincerely hope," Doctor Cox asserted, "that Texas will cooperate with President Roosevelt in this Child Health campaign to the extent that every child in Texas will have been immunized against diphtheria and smallpox by May 1, National Child Health Day."

IT'S NOT ONLY A MAN'S WAR, SAYS WOMAN MECHANIC

PERRIN FIELD, TEXAS — So this is a man's war, huh? Don't ever believe it!

Here at the first Army Air Corps Basic Flying School to swing into action after declaration of war, there is one woman who has taken over an important role heretofore recognized as strictly a man's job.

She is Mrs. Juanita Pringle, 37-year-old mother of two children, who lives at 1626 North Woods, street, Sherman, Texas.

Mrs. Pringle is rated as a mechanic's helper on the civil service roster at Perrin Field. And the rating means just that!

Here is not a task that just involves the handling of tools to a regular mechanic. Dressed in the conventional powder-blue slacks-and- blouse uniform of male mechanics, she actually crawls in, around and under the PT-13A basic training planes in use here as she drives rivets, rolls out dents and myriad other details involved in sheet metal work at the Perrin Field Sub-Depot Engineer's hangar.

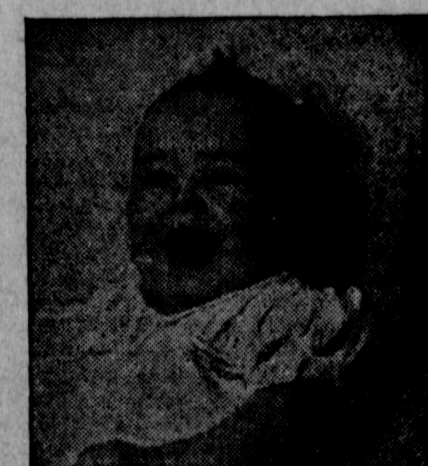

Now the brown-eyed, brown-haired Texan holds the distinction of being the first woman mechanic's helper at Perrin Field and one of the first in the Gulf Coast Air Corps Training Center. From her present job she hopes to be able to "graduate" to handling any part of any plane and is more than anxious to try her hand at flying.

According to news releases from Washington, the Air Service Command has predicted that before the end of this year 25 per cent of the employees in air depots will be women.

So, those of you who have a desire to take a more active part in the battle of democracy, shine up those wrenches. There's a definite place for you in the defense picture!

DO YOU WANT A BABY? New Vitamin Combination Brings Hope to Childless Homes

Nothing equals a baby to bring complete unity and happiness into the home and its husband and wife together in a stronger bond of enduring love and mutual interest. Divorce is rare in the homes of couples that have children.

Unhappy wives, childless due to relievable functional weakness may now enjoy the desires and activity of Nature's most wonderful creation—a normal, fully-developed, vigorous woman. A sensational new vitamin treatment specifically for women may be just the thing needed by the childless wife and quickly bring the happiness of a baby in the home. It is, of course, absolutely harmless.

If you are childless due to functional weakness and lack normal vigor—if you wish to eliminate one of the great causes of unhappy marriages, by all means try Perlex for one week. To introduce this new vitamin combination to a million women quickly, the Perlex Company, 1207 Southern Bldg., Chicago, Illinois, will send a full $2.00 supply for only $1.00 and a few cents postage. Send no money—just your name and address. Perlex comes in a plain wrapper—directions are very simple and no diet or exercise is required. Write today as this offer is fully guaranteed.

IT'S A LAW

According to an old Portland, Ore., ordinance, those returning from market can not carry their purchases in baskets hung on a pole across the shoulders.

Rome, Italy, forbids blowing of auto horns at any time.

A Chinese proverb has become an unwritten law: "Before you buy, visit at least three merchants."

In certain New Jersey towns, laws forbid the barking of dogs between the hours of 6 p. m. and 8 a. m.

A Seattle, Wash., law makes it compulsory to license all cats.

THE SMALL TOWN

The small town is a place where there is not much to see but the things you hear make up for that.

The small town is where everybody isn't three months behind with installment payments and where the wild life that stays up all night belongs to the cat family.

The small town is where you get the social status of the new family next door when you see the family wash on the line.

Lady Motorist—"My, isn't it wonderful how these filling station people know exactly where to set up a pump and get gasoline."

Bits o' Fun

It was Sunday afternoon and the Chaplain strolling around camp came upon a small group of men shooting craps behind one of the barracks. He singled out a dusky member and called him aside. "Sam," he said, "don't you know it's wrong to gamble for money, especially on the Sabbath?"

"Yes, pahson," replied the untucky one ruefully, "an' believe me, Ah's prayin' fo' mah sins."

"How's the cooking at your camp?"

"Swell! I found a beetle in my soup and sold it to a collector for $10."

"Water, this is a very small steak."

"Yas, suh, ah expects it is."

"And it's very tough."

"Den it's suttlenly lucky it's small, ain't it suh?"

Mose was in the war. At every explosion he ran for the rear line. His colonel talked to him about it. "You shouldn't be afraid, Mose. Why, what if you do stop a shell? Heaven's your home."

"Yas, sah, boss, Ah knows. But Ah ain't homesick."

"Now, you men," roared the sergeant-major as he dismissed the company, "you will parade again at two o'clock precisely. And when I says two o'clock precisely, I don't mean five past. I means five to."

"I'm sorry, old man, but I make it a rule never to lend money. It ruins friendship."

"But why let that worry you? We never were what you might call wonderfully good friends, were we?"

The traveller put up for the night at a little country town, put his shoes outside the door to be shined but found them unshined the next morning. "I left my shoes outside and they weren't taken away..." he began to say the next morning. "You might have left your watch there, too," interrupted the landlady, "we're all honest people here."

Her allowance had run out, so she wrote home for more money. Feeling uncertain, as to the impression it would make, she opened her letter and wrote: "P. S.—I did not like writing to you, in fact, I ran after the postman to get this letter back."

Several days later she received the following reply: "Dear Daughter: You'll be glad to know that I didn't get your letter. Dad."

The local air warden was patrolling the village when he saw a bright gleam of light coming from a half-open shed door.

Muttering furiously, he strode forward and peered inside at a villager chopping wood.

"Here you," he ordered, "what about this light? It's shining right across the road."

"Oh," came a voice from the shed, "I knew it must be shining somewhere else, I can't see in here to chop the wood!"

Diner: "This soup's very thin, waiter."

Waiter: "Yes, sir. The manager likes the people to admire the design on the plate."

First Private—I've certainly peeled a lot this week.

Second Private—Too much sun?

First Private—No, I refused to drill in the sun, and the Serge has me in the kitchen peeling potatoes.

The crystal gazer peered closer into her mystic glass. "I see, she whispered, "I see buried a treasure."

Her visitor moved impatiently. "I know," he said. "I know all about him. He's my wife's first husband."

Dozier—"I want to a stag party last night."

Bill—"I thought that was where you had been when I heard you staggering in."

"Remember," wrote the instructor of the correspondence school of journalism, "to write on only one side of the paper."

And by return mail came the following inquiry from the new pupil: "Which side shall I write on?"

Teacher—"How old would a person be who was born in 1894?"

Johnny—"Man or woman?"

Alco—"But if you are a thought-reader, why do you read my hand instead of my mind?"

Thought-Reader—"It's so much easier. I can see at once that you have a hand."

Little Johnny (his eyes filled with tears, to mother peeling onions): "Those onions are strong, mom, I can smell them with my eyes!"

Campaign Manager—"That was a splendid speech our candidate made on farm relief, wasn't it?"

Farmer—"Oh, it wasn't so bad but a good night's rain would've done a darn sight more good."

Father: "I'm afraid your young man is living beyond his means."

Daughter: "Oh, no, daddy. He hasn't any."

Judge—"Hank, I have known you for many years. I am sorry that my first duty is to try you for being intoxicated. What was your reason, if any, for being drunk?"

Hank—"To celebrate your election, your honor."

Voice from Rear Seat of Taxi—"I say, driver, what's the idea of stopping?"

Driver—"I thought I heard somebody tell me to."

Rear Seat Voice—"Drive on; she wasn't talking to you."

"To inspect these coats is an inducement to purchase something different."—Advt. in New Zealand paper spotted by Punch.

Son—"Papa what is the difference between prosperity and depression?"

Father—"Well, my boy, in prosperity, we have wine, women and song. In depression we have only beer, mamma and the radio."

Chance For A Bright Idea

There's only one reason why so many people use advertising—they haven't found a cheaper way to do what advertising does.

And what it does is save time in finding enough customers to keep factories and stores busy.

There's a chance here for a bright idea.

But it's got to be mighty good. Advertising is.

HOME FIRES

Since America was bombed into the war on December 7 we've seen some rough going for our side. We've had to take bad news as best we could, and it hasn't been easy. Hunched over our papers, bending close to our radios, we've all passed through some dismal moments of anger and despair.

Before this war is ended we'll pass through many more. Even though our factories are speeding up their production of war materials we won't have enough to take the offensive on a big scale for many a long month to come. We're going to have to work harder than we ever have before. We're going to have to face ugly facts with courage, shut our eyes and ears to defeat, dig in and do our jobs better than ever. That's the only way we can win.

Our war industries are trying in many ways to deliver the goods as fast as possible. In addition to all other jobs they're trying to keep up the morale of their employees, for during the last war, when morale sagged, production also dropped. To keep that from happening this time, some plants are serving between meal "snacks" to offset fatigue caused by longer hours. Others are supplying free home-town newspapers to counteract homesickness in workers who are away from home. Pep rallies, special recognition for extra-hard-working employees—they're trying not to overlook a single thing that will increase production.

Keeping up morale is a job that all of us can do, however. It's bound to be tough, giving up many of our easy comforts, changing our lives under the impact of war. But we can do it cheerfully, and we must. For back here behind the lines we've got to keep those "home fires burning." We've got to accept what we must and keep going. Indeed, that's the very least that we can do.

Economic Highlights

At the present time, there are slightly more than 2,000,000 men in the American Army. There are 1,000,000 more men in the Navy, and 500,000 in the Air Force. That marks an immense change from a few years ago, when the Army was down to around 150,000 men, and other military branches were also negligible so far as numbers are concerned. But the change that will take place in the future, according to current plans, will be infinitely greater—and will have an infinitely greater effect on the normal ways of the nation.

Top military men believe that the Army will have to be increased to 8,000,000 men and perhaps still more—that the Navy will have a personnel of around 2,000,000 men that the Air Force will also reach the 2,000,000 mark. In short, if this war continues, between 12,000,000 and 13,000,000 men will be required for military service.

Not all of these men, by any means, will be combat troops. A major Army is a world of its own, requiring every skill, talent, craft and profession. For each man in the fighting lines, there must be several men behind the lines in the departments of supply, communication, transport, etc. The same thing is true of the Navy and Air Force. But all of these men, whether they serve with guns or with tools, will be wearing uniforms, and all of them will be out of civilian life.

The reasons for planning so vast a military establishment are obvious. We must figure on a long war whose end will be the actual invasion of the Axis countries. All hope that will not be necessary and that Germany and Japan will collapse. But it would be the height of folly to plan on that. We must, instead, plan on doing it the hard way.

What will be the effect of this demand for manpower for the military services?

First, it can be stated categorically that every man under forty without dependents, and without a job which is considered absolutely vital to the war effort, will be inducted, and soon. Men who are physically unfit, of course, will be exceptions—but men with relatively minor physical disabilities will be taken, and placed in non-combat work.

Second, Congress will probably pass a measure providing for government support of men's dependents. There will be considerable debate over this, and a great deal of argument concerning how much money will be provided. But it is thought certain that a law will eventually be approved. Then the millions of men in the 3-A classification will gradually be taken. The Selective Service Boards have recently been reclassifying men with wives who are self-supporting, changing them to the 1-A bracket.

THE NEW ARRIVAL

Third, the registration of older men (up to 64) will give the government exhaustive information concerning a reservoir of manpower which is too old for actual combat, but which can be called upon for other necessary duties. These men, for example, could be used for farm labor, and for work in war industries. They could release younger men for the fighting forces. If this war goes on long enough, it is considered inevitable that the government will decide where, when and for how much pay you will work.

Fourth, it is a definite possibility that we will eventually classify and conscript womanpower. That is already being done on a volunteer basis, and in time may be done on an enforced basis. Women can drive cars, run elevators, serve as clerks in shops, perform many operations in war industry, and do a thousand and one other jobs which are now being performed by men. The military forces need and want.

What will be left for civilian production, civilian life? The answer is clear: "The barest minimum of what is needed." If this war lasts long enough, the drain on our human resources will be as great as Germany, England, Japan, or anywhere else. The home fires will be kept burning by women, by men who are unfit for military service, and by old men. Then, when the war is over, the vast job will start of reestablishing life on a peacetime basis. In the meantime, any man in good health who is not beyond the registration limits should be prepared for sudden disruption of his economic, social and domestic life. This war is being fought "for keeps," and all the wealth of the nation, human and material alike, is dedicated to winning it.

This country is at last winning "the battle of production." We haven't lived up to all our hopes and forecasts. But the instruments of war are rolling out of the plants in a steadily gaining stream. That stream will soon reach flood proportions.

The next job is to win "the battle of ocean transportation." We're trying to keep the actual combat away from this continent, but we can't do that unless we can produce the vast amount of shipping that is needed to transport and serve and supply United Nation's troops on all the far-flung warfronts of the world.

This isn't simply a matter of producing enough ships to offset losses. Our rate of production must be far greater than our loss rate, especially in the matter of tankers. So far, ship production has been under the schedules previously laid down. Strenuous efforts are being made to bring it up to the necessary level. The work done in our shipyards will have a tremendous bearing on the length it will take to win this war.

Classes Resumed:
Classes were resumed Tuesday morning. Thus ended the Easter holidays. The students are entering into the school spirit whole heartedly after having the past few days as a short vacation. Adding to the studiousness of the students is the fact that they are faced by the state examinations, which will be taken at the end of April.

First Aid:
The First Aid Class was held on Easter Monday although there was no school. The attendance was rather small due to the picnic and the large rain.

Annual:
The plans for the Annual have been completed and it is now ready for press. The staff is breathing a sigh of relief as their hard work has been finished. It is not certain just when the books will be ready for distribution but we hope to have them by the end of the school term.

Athletics:
Tennis and softball playing have been temporarily halted due to the rain. Everyone is anxiously awaiting the appearance of the sun and pleasant weather.

Graduation Cards:
The anxiety of the seniors was relieved on Tuesday when their graduation invitations arrived. They have been practicing their song and the programs for class night and for the Graduation exercises.

Biology:
The Biology class is making progress in the text book as well as in the laboratory work. At present we are studying plant biology. Although it isn't as interesting as that concerning the body, the students are very much interested in it and are beginning to realize the importance of parts of plants.

Easter vacation. The weather was very pleasant until Easter Sunday night when a much-needed rain came which helped to clear our minds for a fresh start in school Monday.

The mumps seem to be quite the go around here. Kenneth Chapman and Ellis Burt have them now. Poor little Patsy Moore didn't get to enjoy the Easter holidays much because of them. Martha Jane and Ruby Lee Jennings are still absent for the same reason.

Quite a number of the freshman class was absent Monday. We don't know whether they have the mumps or if they haven't returned from their Easter vacation. Their absence, however, will surely show when our State exams come up at the end of April and the first part of May. But we hope everyone will pass these even though we expect the tests to be very hard.

Some of the teachers seemed to have deserted Muester over the Easter holidays. Mr. Welch went to Fort Worth and Dallas on business. ## EASY TO GO TO SLEEP IF YOU JUST RELAX

Ten "tricks" listed in the Journal of the American Medical Association as helpful in relaxing:

1. Cut down on the intensity of your thinking half an hour before retiring. (Think of pleasant things.)
2. Take plenty of time to get ready for bed.
3. If you like to read in bed choose non-fiction. Force your mind to grapple with cumbersome facts, bore it into unconditional surrender to sleep.
4. Transplant your mind from fears or hates to a field which has interest without excitement. (A new wardrobe, possibly.)
5. Make your mind hop from one idea to another. Just as the mind loses consciousness and sleep comes, thoughts become disjointed and scattered.
6. To quiet the body, get rid of any pressure or pain. (Lighten the weight of covers.)
7. Tepid bath without a rubdown.
8. Imitate the slow, deep rhythmic breathing of sleep.
9. Relax the muscles completely.
10. Get rested before trying to sleep (by getting into bed an hour or more before your regular time for retiring.)

Twister Does Damage At Wm. Loerwald Farm

Lindsay.—Rain and wind in this vicinity did considerable damage Monday night. At about 9 p. m., a small cyclone hit the W. J. Loerwald place, twisting the windmill tower like a rope, damaging the wheel beyond repair, raising the roof of the big barn and granary and moving the garage back several feet. One of the trunk plays of the twister was the driving of chicken wing feathers one inch into the body of a tree nearby.

Loss at the Loerwald place was estimated at about $130 and was covered by insurance.

The heavy rain again on Tuesday night sent streams out of their banks and carried an amount of good farm soil down the creeks.

with that little (C) attached to my address. That little letter stands for Combat, and combat engineers are the first ones in a new field of battle to prepare the way for the rest of the army, and are the last to retreat . . . set up barriers, blow out bridges, destroy roadways to hinder the enemy, even if the enemy is too uncomfortably close.

We have tent roofs here and the best three meals a day I've had since I was inducted. I get my mail regularly, and plenty of it, especially since my address appeared in the Enterprise. I wish I had time to write to all those good folks. They are so kind to remember me. Most of you can't realize how much those things are appreciated by the boys in service. Can you thank everybody for me, and tell them that I like hearing from them so much, I wish they'd keep it up. I'm going to try to answer all the messages that I can.

For entertainment—almost every week some celebrity honors us by giving a show or program of some sort. The field-house and the only USO club are about 2-1/2 miles from our quarters. But a movie is right next door and we do see good shows. We also go kodaking, or take a postman's holiday by climbing the mountains and exploring abandoned quicksilver mines. And the trains fascinate me. Practically everybody watches them go past. It's something to see those long freights make a charge at the grade and by the time they wind themselves well up the hills all four of the giant locomotives are puffing and snorting, but they always make it.

I can't mention anything about the military side of things but I can say that all the boys out here have no doubt about who is going to be the winner in this fight. We're not going to call it quits until we are the champions. We're going to stay right in there soldering.

With the Men In Uniform

Private Frank Felderhoff of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., last week qualified as a marksman when shooting for the record took place, his father, John Felderhoff, disclosed this week. Frank scored 152 points and was one of the best in his barracks. He was awarded a medal.

Confetti---

Transferring its Atlantic power, along with Britain's to the Pacific scene would determine the outcome in short order. Wishful thinking, perhaps, but not at all absurd.

Those are the things for strategists to worry about. As regards us buck privates there's only one thing to do—keep training and developing into an efficient unit. For some of us that may prove to be a strain. What we miss while sick is simply past, and a man enters advanced training not quite up to par. For some, however, who get transfers to other kinds of work it doesn't make a great deal of difference. But there's one thing that cannot be overlooked, firing for rifle record. Until he's done that a soldier does not transfer.
