CCAD considers dropping tax collection

By Janet Felderhoff
Collecting taxes is one headache that most entities in Cooke County don't have to deal with; they pay the Cooke County Appraisal District (CCAD) to handle it for them. Soon that may not be an option.

At their regular meeting held Tuesday, July 29, the CCAD Board of Directors and Chief Appraiser Doug Smithson held some serious discussion on the benefits of dropping that service. The CCAD provides two separate services for entities in Cooke County. Its main purpose is to fairly appraise property for the purpose of taxation. The CCAD also collects taxes for any taxing entity in the County that contracts for the service. Expenses for these services are divided among the participating entities. All services are contracted for on a yearly basis. The City of Muenster chooses to collect its own taxes and therefore is only charged for the appraisal service.

The topic came up due to Gainesville ISD not approving the collection contract with CCAD. They had wanted Smithson to attend their Board meeting.

He was on a trip with a group of youths from his church and wasn't aware of the meeting.

Smithson noted that the contract is for doing their collection and their effective tax rate. Barnhart said that CCAD had nothing to act on at the meeting because it considering not collecting their taxes wasn't listed as an agenda item.

"I'd take a $7,500 pay cut not to collect for any entity," commented Smithson. Barnhart responded, "I've always advocated that this shouldn't be a collection agency."

Klement said, "If you want to solve a lot of the tax problems in this State, have the entities that charge the taxes go out and collect them." McHorse agreed that it might be a good idea.

Smithson said that only 45% of the appraisal districts in the State of Texas collect taxes. Why does Cooke County do it? "Part of it is that it's more efficient and that it works well for the title companies because of problems and different things on it," Smithson remarked.

Barnhart said that a year's notice was called for if CCAD was not going to collect. It was agreed to place the consideration of not collecting on the next agenda. Smithson said it was on the agenda in 1999 and seven of eight superintendents attended to say they didn't care what Gainesville ISD does; they wanted their taxes collected.

Charlie Cler of Lindsay attended the meeting to protest how he was treated at the CCAD office and the way his new home in Community Estates of Lindsay was appraised. Some of the complaints that Cler listed included: his home was mismeasured from the start; it showed a fireplace when there is none; appraised at $65 a square foot when most other homes in his area were at $42 to $57; a small building listed as a garage (garage door, but too small to use as such) and appraised at $19.50 a square foot when the most expensive one he could find was $7.50 a square foot and it had a half bath and was large enough to be used as a garage.

"I'm the taxpayer; I'm paying them," Cler remarked. "I should be treated right when I come in here, that's the first thing, like a human being; like a customer, not like an idiot. That's a problem here and we have no recourse. There are three realtors on the ARB Board. That's a conflict of interest. The higher they can get these prices up, the better they look. But they did nothing for me no matter how much information I had."

Cler said he knew the CCAD Board wouldn't do anything for him, but if nothing else he wanted that taken off since he didn't have one. He also asked them to justify the high appraisal on his home.

Smithson said he tried to assist Cler with some of the corrections, but Cler declined until after his ARB (Appraisal Review Board) hearing.

Board President Leon Klement noted that this was not a Board item that they could take action on. Also it was against the law for the CCAD Board to tell Smithson or anyone with CCAD how someone's house or property should be valued is against the law.

Cler said that Smithson was the only person who

Summer vacation concludes for both Muenster schools

By Janet Felderhoff
With temperatures well above 100 degrees it is hard to think of the fall semester beginning at school. Regardless of the temperatures, students of Muenster ISD are expected to report for classes that begin promptly at 8 a.m. (first bell is 7:45 a.m.) Wednesday, August 13 and Sacred Heart students begin the following day, Aug. 14, at 7:50 a.m. There will be an opening Mass for Sacred Heart students at 8:00 a.m.

Aug. 15 is the Feast of the Assumption, (a church holiday) and usually no classes are held. School administration said that classes have been scheduled for the 15th this year and so they will celebrate the Feast of the Assumption with an all school Mass.

Sacred Heart's back to school information will be published next week. This is because they were without a principal for part of the summer and are still filling some positions. They won't be completed before press time this week.

"Muenster students have many things to be proud of from last year and quite a few things to look forward to for the coming school year," remarked MISD superintendent Clyde Steelman. "Last year proved again why MISD is considered around the State as an academically driven district where students exceed state and national standards."

When Texas Monthly magazine listed Muenster High School as one of the top 10 high schools in the State it brought state and national recognition to the school district. It was also chosen as a Texas Pathfinder School.

Other accomplishments listed by Mr. Steelman were the students' many academic accomplishments and the girls' basketball team saw its first post-district play in 10 years. He pointed out that MISD students like other students across the state experienced the new Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Skills (TAKS) tests. TAKS tests a higher degree of knowledge and skills than the TASS tests.

Texas Education Agency (TEA) conducted a routine District Effectiveness and Compliance (DEC) inspection at MISD. "The representatives were very impressed with MISD and the programs offered," said Steelman. "The District received praise for its development of its gifted and talented program."

There will be several new faces with the MISD staff this year. Stephanie Bierschenk will teach junior high Special Education and Jackie Crisp will teach high school Special Education. Coach Keisha Dill will teach junior high and high school English, as well as coaching. Crisp and Dill are replacing the coaching positions vacated by Amy Binder and Deanna Hellman. Mandy Dulock is the junior high/high school Technology teacher. Tommy Felderhoff is teaching Shop and vocational Ag. Jeff Presnall transferred to Technology Director and will remain the head girls' coach. Debra Voth Sicking is second grade teacher. Amanda Klement and Vickie Hess are new cafeteria workers.

High school teachers and staff are alphabetically as follows:

Barbie Barnhill library aide; Stephanie Bierschenk JH/HS Special Ed, JH Theater Arts; Amy Binder Math, Athletics, JH & HS; Joyce Boydston HS receptionist; Brad Budish Athletics HS & JH, Elementary PE; Jackie Crisp HS, JH Special Ed; Mary Dangelmayr Math, Art, JH & HS; Keisha Dill

Muenster Volunteer Firemen perform a great service to the community

By Janet Felderhoff
The Fire Department has been a tremendous asset to the community over the years," remarked Muenster Mayor Henry Weinzapfel. "They have worked wonderfully with the city council, outlying areas, and neighboring communities. The main thing that makes me most proud of the Fire Department is the knowledge they have of firefighting and responding to accidents. They are ever ready to respond to any emergency situation."

Mayor Weinzapfel pointed out that the local volunteer firemen have studied to take part in the Emergency Preparedness programs of both the City and the County. Should there be an emergency situation such as a tornado or other disaster, the Muenster Volunteer Firemen are well prepared to act as the First Responders in this area.

"They did this without any urging from the City or anyone," Weinzapfel noted. "They knew it was their job and took it on early. They are way ahead of the game."

"They seldom come to us asking for funds to improve their causes. They do most of their own fundraising to take care of their day to day needs." He also commented on how well the members worked and played together, on their comradeship, and how much it benefited the welfare of the community.

Weinzapfel said he feels that Muenster has one of the most outstanding small volunteer fire departments in Texas. "I am so proud of our Fire Department," said the Mayor. "I don't have the words to say how proud I am of them."

The praise and gratitude to the local volunteers is countywide. Cooke County Precinct #4 Commissioner Virgil Hess remarked, "Cooke County is fortunate to have such outstanding volunteer firefighters. It takes courage, teamwork, leadership, strength, and sacrifices to become a firefighter. Over and over, firefighters have risked their own life to save others and that is why I say over and over, thank you for your hard work and dedication in the service to Cooke County and its citizens."

Cooke County Precinct #3 Commissioner Jerry Lewis recognizes the importance of the volunteer fire department. "Without our well-trained and equipped volunteer fire departments such as Muenster VFD, property and lives could be lost," he said. "Whether responding to a fire or as first responders in the event of accident or illness, the local volunteer fire department is there to help. We should consider them as our most important insurance policy and support them with our donations."

Members of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department took on the enormous responsibility of First Responders in the early '90s at the Cooke County EMS's request. The County equipped them with a JAWS of Life. This is an instrument used to cut into vehicles when a victim is trapped and needs extricated.

Volunteer Fireman Bert Walterscheid said this change required them to start carrying medical equipment such as oxygen, first aid supplies, special masks for doing CPR, backboards, and ropes for extraction. Doug Fleitman said that since they have become First Responders the number of calls they respond to has increased considerably. "They call us out before they call the EMS when it is a medical Steelman said, "Thanks to voters, students will arrive on the first day of school to greatly improved facilities. The elementary science building has new paint throughout, carpet in the classrooms, and tile in the hallways. The vocational wing, (old 3rd and 4th grade building) which housed maintenance and transportation, technology storage, and weight room, have been moved and will be housed in the new building addition to be completed by October. This building will now be utilized as junior high and high school classrooms. It has new carpet, paint and HVAC systems were modified to correct the air quality issues that resulted in vacating it several years ago for instructional purposes. The junior high has a new roof over the classrooms, band hall, and gym a new HVAC system in classrooms, and carpet removed from hallway walls and replaced with textured walls, new acoustic ceilings, and lighting. The band hall storage area was doubled and is receiving a fresh coat of paint. The junior high classroom wing should be completed before Labor Day and students in these classrooms will be accommodated in other areas on campus until its completion.

"The community has much to be proud of in MISD and can look forward to its continued academic and extracurricular success, as well as its new and improved facilities."

emergency," he noted.
EMS Director Bob Harbin said that Muenster VFD's contribution is very valuable and has probably saved lives. They cover a large area of the western part of Cooke County and can respond much more quickly than the EMS unit. Harbin said that Muenster VFD is always good about responding quickly when called.
Walterscheid said that he had attended ECA (Emergency Carrier Attendant) classes for his training. "You have to renew that every four years, but its something you never forget," he said. Other volunteer firemen taking the ECA class were Jim Gehrig, Ryan Bayer, and Doug Fleitman. The Department is also fortunate to have certified EMTs Mitch Westervelt, Mark Pollard, and Scott Green.
All other members have had training in first aid, CPR, and each year they are all trained on how to extricate from new car models. "The EMS people come over and show us what to do," explained Walterscheid. "We get updated on different car models because every year they change and there are certain places you don't want to pry on them because they've got the shocks in the doors and they can explode on you. If they are on fire you know where to stay away from."
Fleitman said that EMS personnel are good about coming over and giving training to the fire department members.

Bert noted that he doesn't mind acting as First Responder. "When you get to a scene where it's somebody you know, then that's the worst part about it. Living in a small community you're going to run into a lot of that."
Fleitman said that the First Responder program was started about the time he joined the department 12 years ago. "I don't mind it. I like helping people," Fleitman said of the First Responder program. "I'd just like to see fewer kids hurt. I wish that they'd be more careful," he added.
After responding to a bad accident or fire, the MVFD members critique everything. There is counseling available at no charge when it is needed.

This Saturday the Muenster VFD is putting on one of its annual fundraisers. Everyone is invited to come to an all you can eat barbeque meal in the Muenster City Park. Serving begins at 6 p.m. There will also be an auction and a raffle. This is always a fun social event where the community gathers for good food and to show support and appreciation to our local volunteer firemen/first responders. See ad inside for more details on event.

talked to him like a gentleman.
Mack Barnhart told Cler that they appreciated his plight, but they were a governing Board and had no authority to assist him.
Klement asked, "What are we supposed to do in our position when the law says we are not to get involved. We are already accused by some people on the tax protesters' side that politics are still in the appraisal of property. Can you imagine what it would be like if someone could come before this Board and say, 'Look my values are too high,' and we'd go see Mr. Smithson or whoever and say, 'Look, you're going to change that?' It would be a nightmare. It sounds like a cop out, but it's the way the State of Texas set things up."
Smithson said that the square footage in the house had been corrected. "There will be a reappraisal of your property next year," Smithson promised Cler. "We look at the market each year. Each year stands on its own. If this market drops, it may be that all those houses drop in value."
Board members agreed that there was no excuse for anyone being treated badly when they come to the CCAD office and the problem would be addressed. Klement apologized to Cler for his being ill-treated.
In other action the Board:
• Approved Lori Hendrickson being added to the list of those with access to the safety deposit box.
• Approved revisions for the 2004 Texas County and District Retirement System.
• Tabled cleaning contract.

CCAD holds hearing; approves budget

By Janet Felderhoff
A Public Hearing on the proposed 2004 CCAD Appraisal and Collections budget preceded the regular meeting. Of the two people present, none protested the budget. Nita Harlow asked if employees were to receive a raise. Chief Appraiser Doug Smithson said that they were receiving a three percent raise.
The proposed 2004 Appraisal budget was composed of total salaries $394,500 compared to the approved 2003 Appraisal salaries of $381,400. Proposed Appraisal operating expenses for 2004 were $356,350 compared to the $343,750 approved in 2003. The total Salaries and Operating expenses for the CCAD Appraisal Department is $750,850.00. In 2003 it was $725,150.00.
Proposed Collection expenses for 2004 include total salaries of $90,617 compared to the approved 2003 Salaries of $88,000. Operations for the Collections side is proposed at $112,950.00 compared to the $108,750 approved for operations of Collections in 2003. The total Salaries and Expenses approved for 2004 is $203,567.00 compared to the 2003 total Collections expenses approved of $196,750.00.
After closing the Public Hearing, the Board opened their regular meeting The 2003-04 Budget was approved 4-0.
Board members present were Leon Klement, Mac Barnhart, Monta Sewell, and Mike McHorse. David Clifton was absent.

Werner H. Becker, Sr. 1917 - 2003

Werner H. Becker Sr.

By Elfreda Fette
Mass of Christian Burial was held for Werner H. Becker, Sr. on Tuesday, Aug. 5, 2003 in Sacred Heart Church at 10:00 a.m. officiated by Father John Ohner OSA, pastor.

Werner Henry Becker, Sr. died at his home in Muenster on Saturday, Aug. 2, 2003 at 4:02 p.m. at age 86. He was born on Feb. 13, 1917 in Myra to William Becker and Elizabeth Knabe Becker. He attended Sacred Heart School and was a member of Sacred Heart Parish.

On Nov. 12, 1940 he married Rita Pauline Rohmer, daughter of Leo and Anna Koelzer Rohmer in Sacred Heart Church.

On March 9, 1941 they moved to the farm in the Hood area, about twelve miles southeast of Muenster. Werner Becker Sr. was a dairyman and a farmer. Cows were milked by hand, and the milk was sold to the Farmers Marketing Association cheese plant in Muenster. As the years passed he expanded in the dairy business and built a Grade A dairy barn. On Jan. 1, 1966 he and his son Werner Becker Jr. formed a father and son partnership and were incorporated. He remained a dairyman and farmer until May 2001 when he and Rita moved to Muenster to a new home they had built here.

Werner Becker Sr. was a member of Sacred Heart Men's Choir since the age of 16. He was a good musician and had a fine tenor voice, loved to sing, and was a strength of the men's choir. As a farmer, preservation of the land was a major concern and of utmost importance to him. He was a winner of the Soil Conservation Award during his agricultural career.

Survivors are his wife, Rita Becker of Muenster, daughters Monica Lowrey and husband Gene of Irving; Theresa Benton and husband Pat of Lindsay, and son Werner Becker Jr. and wife Linda of the Hood Community. There are 13 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren; also one sister, Marie Hundt of Muenster; one sister-in-law Gloria Becker of Muenster. Preceding him in death were his parents; one brother Martin Becker; one brother-in-law Herbert Hundt.

A Rosary Service was held in McCoy Funeral Chapel of Muenster on Monday at 4:00 p.m. led by Monica Lowrey. Vigil at 7:00 p.m. was led by Father John.

Participants in the special liturgy of the funeral Mass, with Father John were altar servers Werner Becker III, Michael Becker, Joe Becker, and Paul T. Bartsch Jr.

First and Second Readings from the Old and New Testaments were given by Tisha Green, granddaughter. Petitions were read by Kristy Hanks, granddaughter. Offertory Gifts were presented at the altar by Victoria Becker, Megan Benton, and Amber Becker. Eucharistic was "Grosser Gott, Wir Loben Die". His grandmother Barbara Becker taught it to him when he was three years old... Werner and Rita started dating in 1935, for a long courtship... They were married in 1940 and settled on a farm... Werner placed his faith in God, to provide weather suitable for growing successful crops... He loved the land and won a prestigious Soil Conservation Award... He loved music especially, and loved to tell stories to his grandchildren, about the '20s and the '30s, when families played dominoes Sunday evenings, movies cost about 25¢, ice cream cost about 10¢, and soda pop cost a nickel... Werner enjoyed visiting friends.

Billie stated "...the most wonderful characteristic about Werner was his love for his wife... After Werner was in the hospital for a week and Rita had not been feeling well, she decided to surprise him with a visit. When she got to the hospital and he saw her face he said, 'Oh my, this is the most wonderful surprise I have had all week' and he laid back in his bed, put his hand on his chest and simply laid there in amazement for a few moments. They continued to hold hands and seek each other's eyes for a few minutes before they began their visit. This most wonderful display of love was the most valuable gift they could give to their family."

Billie Becker concluded by reading the poem "Safely Home"

Burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery was directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Pallbearers were Stephen Becker, Wayne Becker, Brendan Lowrey, Joseph Lowrey, Jason Benton, and Ryan Green, and Pat Benton.

Leo J. Mosman 1923 - 2003

Leo J. Mosman

By Elfreda Fette
Leo J. Mosman of Gainesville died at age 80 in Gainesville Memorial Hospital on Aug. 2, 2003. Mass of Christian Burial was held in St. Mary's Catholic Church of Gainesville on Tuesday, Aug. 5, 2003 at 10:00 a.m. officiated by Father Don Brennan OSA, pastor.

Leo J. Mosman was born in Lindsay to Peter and Elizabeth Krebs Mosman on Jan. 3, 1923.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and a long-time dairy farmer. He married Bernadine Sicking, daughter of Will and Mary Sicking of Myra on Aug. 18, 1948 in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster. They lived one year in Sherman, then moved to Gainesville and began farming in 1949, then moved to Myra in 1950 and continued farming. In 1957 they bought a farm north of Gainesville and began operating a Grade A dairy, continuing to the present.

Survivors are daughters, Bernadette Lowe of Moore, Oklahoma; Jeanette Jones of Whitesboro; daughter and son-in-law Monica and Bill Laux of Gainesville; sons Gary Mosman and Ronnie Mosman, both of Gainesville; sons and daughters-in-law Gerald and Glenda Mosman of Collinsville; and Jimmy and Barbara Mosman of Gainesville. There are 12 grandchildren, two step-grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and two step-great-grandchildren. Also sisters Dolores Friske of Muenster, Annabelle Springfield of Gainesville, Alleen Anderson of Grandview, and brothers Clarence Mosman of Shawnee, Oklahoma, Robert (Bobby) Mosman of Pottsboro, and Raymond (Buddy) Mosman of Anna. Preceding him in death were his wife, Bernadine Body", and "On Eagles Wings".

The eulogy and remarks of remembrance were given by Gerald Mosman, who stated in part... "Dad was very devoted to this church... an active member here since 1956..."

"Dad worked long hard days in all types of weather to provide for his family. He taught us... anything needed to know to work on the farm. Dad was also a good carpenter and shared these skills with his sons."

"Dad had hard working callous hands, but also had tender loving hands to care for each of his seven children... There was a lot of work on the farm, but there was also a lot of fun. Dad had a great sense of humor and it was good thing, because you can imagine what four boys can get into."

"Dad never met a stranger. He loved to talk... "Not only was he a wonderful dad but also a loving and very devoted husband... very tender when caring for mom during her illness until her death."

"We have so many wonderful memories of our dad... We grieve the loss of our dad, but we can also celebrate his passing because God's word gives us assurance of his future."

Burial in New Resthaven Cemetery was directed by Geo. J. Carroll & Son Funeral Home. Pallbearers were John Mosman, Michael Mosman, Jason Mosman, David Mosman, Randy Mosman, and David Sicking. Honorary pallbearers were Joey Martin and Jaret Reaves.

Ernestine Albers 1921 - 2003

Ernestine Albers of Lewisville, a native of Muenster, passed away Thursday, July 17, 2003 at age 82. She was born in Muenster on Apr. 27, 1921 to Fredrick and Anna Huchton Herr, and attended Sacred Heart School. On Feb. 27, 1943 she married Clarence "Dutch" Albers in Houston. He preceded her in death in November 2000.

Survivors are sons, Jerry Albers of Dallas, Robert Albers of Maypearl, and Doyle Albers of Sagle, Idaho. Also sisters Catherine Herr of Muenster and Genevieve Jakubec of Dallas, and a brother, Wilfred Herr of Gainesville. Also preceding her in death was a brother, Albert "Buster" Herr of Muenster.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, July 22, 2003 at Mulkey-Mason Funeral Home in Lewisville. A graveside service followed in Sacred Heart Cemetery in Muenster at 1:00 p.m. presided by Father John Ohner OSA and Deacon Joe Salvo. The family suggested memorials sent to Christian Community Action (CCA) in Lewisville. Mulkey-Mason Funeral Home of Lewisville was in charge of arrangements.

THC launches program to save endangered landmarks

The Texas Historical Commission (THC) needs your help to ensure its newest initiative, the Historic Endangered Landmarks Program (HELP), is a success.

From ancient Native American petroglyphs to historic buildings and battlefields, the THC is working to identify important heritage sites throughout the state that are threatened and in need of assistance.

The program is being launched in conjunction with the THC's 50th anniversary, and will identify, record and publicize significant endangered properties. In addition, the HELP program will assist communities in addressing threats and reducing or eliminating them.

"The people of Texas recognize the importance of preserving their unique and irreplaceable heritage," said THC Executive Director Larry Oaks. "This program combines 50 years of experience as the state agency for historic preservation with public input of what is important and what is endangered."

The HELP program focuses on the concept that citizens are most aware of threatened properties in their own vicinity, as well as the specific nature of the threats and solutions to reduce them. An Endangered Historic Property Identification Form has been sent to preservationists across the state and will soon be available on the THC web site at www.thc.state.tx.us. Once notified, THC staff will develop and maintain a database of endangered historic properties, monitoring their status and tracking recurring threats statewide.

Area residents may be contacted by THC staff to help gather more information on selected locations. THC staff will also work with citizens to target assistance efforts with specific needs. A "tool kit" with funding information, technical assistance and successful strategies to reduce threats to historic properties will be available.

Starting in 2004, the THC will publish an annual list of Threatened Texas Treasures selected from the database to highlight significant endangered properties. Selected sites will be nominated to the National Trust for Historic Preservation's list of Most Endangered Historic Properties.

For more information, contact Peter Ketter of the THC's History Programs Division at 512/463-5942 or email peter.ketter@thc.state.tx.us.

SEATBELT LAW

Texas law requires every person sitting in the front seat of a vehicle to be secured by a safety belt. The law also states that all children under 17 years old must be secured with a safety belt or in a child safety seat, whether they are sitting in the front or back seat. A child less than four years old or less than 36 inches tall must be secured in a child safety seat.

Drivers can be stopped and ticketed for a safety belt violation if any of their passengers under 17 years old are not buckled up or properly restrained. A safety belt violation can result in a fine of $100 to $200 or mandatory attendance at a traffic safety education class dealing with child safety seats and safety belts.

Unrestrained drivers -- and passengers 15 years old and over who are not wearing safety belts in the front seat -- can be ticketed directly. Fines range from $25 to $50.

Redistricting needs expounded by Texas Lieutenant Governor

By Lt. Governor David Dewhurst

There's been a great deal of noise created about "Texas Senate tradition" as the Legislature addresses congressional redistricting during a special session. Nobody wants to protect genuine Texas traditions more than I do.

One Senate tradition is showing up for work -- just like every hard-working Texan does every day. Contrary to what our Senate Democrats say, there is no right in the Texas Constitution for legislators to break a quorum. In fact, the constitution provides each legislative house with the ability to compel attendance of absent members to achieve a quorum.

Another Senate tradition is completing the work at hand. Eleven of our Senate Democrats left town July 28 before we completed the special session. That left stranded $120 million in badly needed new highway funding, $800 million that needs to be reclassified to avoid harming school districts and $676 million that must be appropriated into general revenue. This money should be spent on public education, increasing Medicaid and CHIP medical provider reimbursement rates, and help for children, the frail and elderly.

When Senate Democrats fled the state, they tried to claim that "Senate tradition" always requires a two-thirds vote on any matter. That's partisan spin. Tradition and precedent actually dictate that the two-thirds vote should not govern in redistricting, particularly in special sessions.

In 1971, 1981 and 1992 special sessions on redistricting, Lt. Govs. Ben Barnes, Bill Hobby and Bob Bullock did not require a two-thirds vote on redistricting. In fact, the two-thirds vote was not used in at least 20 special legislative sessions in the past half-century alone.

The situation facing a 1992 redistricting special session was almost identical to that faced by the Legislature this summer. A three-judge federal court in late 1991 had drawn a state legislative map that most Senate Democrats found objectionable. The court map, one publication said, "dramatically shifts the balance of power in the Senate, creating at least the opportunity for a Republican majority."

At a special session called by Gov. Ann Richards starting Jan. 2, 1992, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, a Democrat, publicly announced that he did not have 21 votes, or a two-thirds margin to change the court map. So he purposefully abandoned the two-thirds "tradition," establishing what we now know as the Bullock precedent.

There were only nine Republicans in the 31-member Senate at the time, but three Democrats also preferred the court-drawn map. But none of the 12 Senators refused to participate in the process. They didn't run away to New Mexico or Oklahoma. Instead, they stayed and fought for what they believed in. In the end, the majority approved its Senate map by an 18 to 12 vote -- well short of the two-thirds usually required.

Congressional districts in Texas today are essentially those drawn by a partisan Legislature in 1991. At that time, a national publication called the Texas map "the most outrageously gerrymandered" redistricting effort in the nation, resulting in Democratic strength in our congressional delegation well beyond its representation among voters.

Our congressional lines are even more outdated today. When the Legislature failed to draw new lines to accommodate Texas' two new congressional seats in 2001, the job fell to a federal court. The judges made the fewest changes possible to the existing 1991 map, in essence protecting incumbents.

Democrats, now in a minority, understandably want to cling to that 1991 map for as long as possible. But the plan's integrity, always dubious, is now in tatters. It's even more unrepresentative today thanks to population changes, voting trends, and distortions caused by incumbency, including taxpayer-paid staff, free mailing privileges, fundraising advantages and media coverage.

The result is unfair representation. For example, a strong majority of Texas citizens support President Bush and his policies, while the majority of the state's congressional delegation does not.

State legislators -- elected representatives of the people -- have a constitutional duty to draw legislative seats. Even the President Pro Tem of the New Mexico Senate -- a Democrat and one of our senators' Albuquerque hosts -- declared earlier this year that redistricting should be done by legislators, not by the courts.

The two-thirds vote is a useful management tool employed by lieutenant governors to encourage consensus, bipartisanship and civility in the Texas Senate during debate on policy legislation that affects Texas citizens. I value that tradition and will do everything in my power to retain it.

But as Lt. Govs. Bullock, Barnes, Hobby and others have recognized, that tradition must be set aside on redistricting, particularly in special session. I will honor the precedents created by virtually all lieutenant governors -- my predecessors -- over recent decades. At the end of the day, in a democracy, the majority decides.

Idea Exchange

By Don Rohmer

These days most of us find ourselves inundated with information. The problem is, which, if any, of the information we receive can be believed?

Probably most of us would agree that we cannot believe what we hear in commercials. In fact, a good rule of thumb seems to be that if you want to know what a company is like, just observe the image portrayed in the company's commercials, and assume that the exact opposite is true.

This technique works because companies use commercials to counter public perceptions. For example, a year or two ago, an HMO ran a series of commercials portraying its doctors as taking a deep personal interest in each and every patient. But if you talked to anyone whose health insurance was with that HMO, you heard that their doctors had no interest in them. They felt that all their doctors cared about was getting them out the door as quickly and cheaply as possible.

The purpose of the commercials was to counter a perception, which was based on reality. Commercials are like the automated phone message that says, "You are important to us." (Yeah, right. That's why you've kept me on hold for forty minutes.)

That's understandable. But we don't expect such blatant lies from "news" programs and articles.

At the end of the 1991 Gulf War, the language in a newspaper article made an impression on me. The article was about food and other supplies being parachuted to, as I recall, the Kurds. The language struck me as rather ornate for a news report. I don't remember it exactly, but it essentially described the falling containers as fluttering down like butterflies settling gently onto the open petals of delicate flowers.

Imagine my surprise, a week or so later, when it was revealed that the containers had been falling on the intended beneficiaries and crushing them to death. In that moment, it became obvious that the earlier article, which had appeared in a large daily newspaper, had been written as a commercial for the U.S. military. After that, I started reading and listening to the news a lot more critically. The media certainly seemed to be controlled by someone, but who, why, and how?

Many people say the media have a liberal bias. They point especially to the New York Times, Time magazine, and CNN. But I think those organizations also have a conservative bias. It depends on the issue.

For example, Friday before last, CNN reported on the congressional vote to allow importation of prescription drugs. The bill had passed by a substantial majority, with some Republicans and most Democrats voting for it. But among Republicans, a large majority had voted against the bill.

After showing how congress had voted, the report went immediately into a story about the horrors of pharmacies dispensing drugs online. The story featured a family whose lives had been wrecked by an addiction to prescription drugs by a family member who was able to obtain the drugs online without a prescription.

Allowing consumers to save money by importing drugs from Canada and allowing the unregulated distribution of drugs by online pharmacies are two separate issues. But CNN's juxtaposition of the two issues had strongly implied that they are one and the same, without actually saying so. This "news" report had the appearance of being a propaganda piece for the Republican Party, and, of course, for the pharmaceutical companies.

A more basic problem is that, in just about every election, we have only two choices: a liberal or a conservative. Which way should I vote? For the liberal? Only if I want to support someone who thinks of me as too stupid to run my own life. I'm sure many liberals are sincere humanitarians, but their leaders seem interested mainly in their own power.

University faculties are widely regarded as liberal. That perception is probably accurate. It makes sense. Don't university faculties represent our country's intellectual elite? Is it unreasonable to assume that the intellectual elite want to create more employment for people like themselves? And a big, liberal government not only gives employment to intellectuals, but also gives them power over people's lives. Since we all tend to think that the world's problems are caused by people other than ourselves, that kind of power can be very appealing.

So should I vote for the conservatives? I used to think so, but I've felt betrayed by the conservatives every time they have been in power. Allegations that the conservative leadership cares only about the ultrawealthy seem to be well founded. Their support for the drug companies against the interest of senior citizens and others who can't afford needed medications is just one example.

I don't feel represented by either political party. What we seem to have is a power sharing arrangement between an intellectual/bureaucratic elite and an economic elite. And I'm tired of being fed propaganda disguised as news.

The truth must reside somewhere. But where?

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

We seem to be back in the rut again. Hot and dry. Most plants are suffering for water. Rainfall, this year, has come often enough, but the showers have been small and quickly gone.

Aileen has been watering our pecan trees, tomatoes, and flowers. The pecan trees have a fair crop set, but if they don't receive considerable rain, or a lot of watering, they will shrivel up and likely fall off.

In a letter from a cousin who lives in Fort Wayne, Indiana, I am told they are dealing with too much rain. Virginia says they are able to get around again after the flooding, but says it is a real mess.

I suppose if I had to choose between flooding and dry, I would opt for dry. At least one can get around.

Heard from a grandson who is soldiering in Iraq. He says they are hot and dry, only their hot and dry is more so than ours. He talks of 120° and a lot of sand and dust.

I will be glad when the military can come home, but according to the news, that may be a long time.

Our people have been picking up some of the Iraqi bigwigs. Quite a number of Hussein's aides. A couple of his sons were killed in an attempt to arrest them.

Now if they could pick up the old ogre, Saddam, I believe things would be going more our way.

It's hard to believe that a people could be so terrorized by their leaders, but the everyday Iraqi has been so afraid of Saddam and his bullies, that they want to see them dead before they can feel free to cooperate with our forces, and get to where they can govern themselves, and our military could come home.

Working for the American People

Unlike the rest of the year, August is a quiet month in our nation's capital. Members of Congress leave Washington to head home and spend time listening to their constituents, hearing their views and concerns firsthand. For your "light" summer reading, I will give you a mid-year report on what Congress has accomplished.

Economic Growth

In May, Congress passed the 2003 Jobs and Growth package to provide the American people with $350 billion more in tax cuts, building on the 2001 tax relief. The legislation accelerates many of the reductions from 2001 that were being phased in over several years. Taxpayers will immediately benefit from the lower marginal rates, marriage penalty relief, expansion of the 10-percent tax bracket and an increase in the child tax credit. In July, the IRS began issuing $400 per child advance refund checks to approximately 25 million families. Taxpayers also experienced an increase in their paychecks because of the lowered marginal rates. The bill also provides important relief for small businesses and $20 billion to states where many are facing difficult budgetary shortfalls. I increased Texas' share of this state aid from what had been originally proposed, knowing the severe budget crunch Texas is in. Texas received $1.3 billion.

Medicare Reform

After many years of unfulfilled promises, each year of Congress passed Medicare reform including a prescription drug benefit. It is now in a conference committee to work out the differences. Medicare has not kept pace with the times. The 38 year-old program does not take into account the modern miracles afforded by new medical technologies and pharmaceuticals. By bringing this venerable program into the 21st century, we will better meet the needs of our nation's seniors and help ensure that Medicare will be solvent for generations to come.

Energy Independence

For three years the Senate has been working to pass a comprehensive policy to make our nation energy independent and create jobs for American workers. The clock ran out in 2002 and we were unable to pass a bill that balanced production, delivery and conservation. I'm pleased that this year Congress finally passed an energy bill, which is now in conference committee. The legislation will help protect and create more than half a million American jobs and provide for a number of diverse options from ethanol to crude oil production to meet our nation's growing energy needs. It will also go a long way in releasing us from the grip of dependence on the Middle East.

National Security

September 11th crystallized how vulnerable our nation is to terror and showed what the enemies of freedom and democracy are willing and able to do. The president promised he would not stand idly by while the American people were menaced. In March that promise brought us to Baghdad to eliminate the threat of Saddam Hussein and his weapons of mass destruction. Saddam possessed and used weapons of mass destruction, repeatedly defied the will of the international community and sponsored and harbored known terrorists and terrorist groups. Thanks to the might of the U.S. military and the support of allies like Great Britain and Australia, his regime is dead. Our troops are still in danger and we pray daily for their safety and the stability of the region, as Iraqis begin to take control of their own destiny.

The Muenster Volunteer Fire Department want to remind everyone of the high fire risk conditions in the area. No rain, hot sun, and dry winds have caused Cooke County to enforce a Burn Ban.

Price-Cornelison is new anesthetist at Muenster Memorial Hospital

Muenster Memorial Hospital is happy to announce the addition of Dana L. Price-Cornelison to their medical staff. She will be providing anesthesia services in Surgery, Labor & Delivery, and Pain Management.

Dana is a Missouri native, having grown up on a farm near Springfield, Missouri. She attended college at St. John's School of Nursing and Drury College. She was a Fulbright Swyers Foundation Scholar, MLN Scholar, and AACN Scholar during her college studying in Missouri. Dana graduated with honors from St. John's School of Nursing and Drury College in 1988 with a BSN in Nursing, a Bachelor of Arts in Biology, and a minor in Chemistry. When she decided to further her education and go back to college she attended Kansas University Medical Center in Kansas City. Dana completed her anesthesia training in 1994 and started in private practice. She has also been active in research, writing papers, and doing public speaking in the anesthesia community. Her many credits include membership in Tri Beta Biological Honor

Dana L. Price-Cornelison

Society, Who's Who, Sigma Xi Scientific Research Honor Society, and being inducted into the National Academy of Science in 1995. Dana has a strong background in OB including high-risk patients, which will make her a vital asset to the MMH Labor & Delivery Services. She is looking forward to meeting and taking care of Muenster residents. The goal is to provide pain management, and other anesthesia services locally with familiar faces and a network of trusted medical professionals to meet your family's needs.

Dana's passion in life revolves around her Arabian horse ranch "Lost Springs Farm" in Paul's Valley, Oklahoma. She says there is no better stress release than going down to the barn, cleaning stalls, or taking a horseback ride in the fresh country air. There is just something special about the fragrance of fresh cut hay and odor of freshly oiled leather on a great horse. Her farm is based upon old Polish Baskline broodmares. She stands two stallions and had a crop of nine foals this year. Her other interests include sports, fishing, poetry, music, artwork, and photography.

Dana feels that Muenster is a very special community whose heritage and dedication have remained strong over the years. She hopes to be an active member of the community and looks forward to the local events including Octoberfest and Germanfest.

Elizabeth Fette finds niche in campus ministry at Catholic University (CUA)

By Janet Felderhoff
Elizabeth Fette has been selected to be a House Staff Member (CUA Student Ministers) at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C. The Office of Campus Ministry chooses the House Staff every year. Their purpose is to serve as student ministers by having a regular presence in the residence halls, running campus ministry programs, and serving as student ministers.

To become a part of this ministry a student must fill out an application and submit it to the Campus Ministry. A group of about four people then interview the applicants. Four male and four female students are selected each year. This year the group is comprised of three seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore (Elizabeth).

Elizabeth is not sure what first nudged her to apply. "We worked with the House (Staff) people and looked up to them, but I never thought about it until after Christmas," she recalled. "I felt called." She added that she then kept hearing about service and knew she should apply.

The ministry is geared toward freshmen, but is open to all students. The program is structured with a prayer group on Monday in the dorm, Tuesday a Mass in the dorm, Wednesday is praise and worship night, Friday is fun activities night when the group goes to the movies, roller-skating, or some other activity. They also serve as sacraments at all of the Masses on campus.

The House Staff is currently going through two weeks of training to prepare them for their ministry.

"We spend a lot of time together at the House," remarked Elizabeth. "At certain times we pray together and support each other. We have meals together several times a week."

Elizabeth noted that the minister from her dorm last year, Maggie, was a lot of fun.

By taking part in the Campus Ministry, Elizabeth will be dedicating about 20 hours a week to the program. The eight participants share a dorm which is called "The House". It really isn't a house; it is actually a corner of the dorm.

Franciscan priests are in charge of the Campus Ministry. Fr. Bob Schlageter, OFM Conv. is the Director of Campus Ministry and University Chaplain. Fr. Santo, OFM Conv. is the Associate Chaplain for Religious Education and Retreats.

Other Campus Ministry leaders include Dianne Dewane, Fr. Brad, OFM Conv., Gail Battle, Elizabeth McGranetran, and Regina Lynagh.

Elizabeth received letters of commendation from Dean Mary Sidlin for the Fall of 2002 and the Spring of 2003 when her 4,000 grade point average and 3,933 grade point average respectively earned her a place on the Dean's List.

Denver turns one

Denver Joe Lutkenhaus, child of Duane and Dayna Lutkenhaus, celebrated his first birthday with a party at his parents' home on his actual birthday, July 19. The party had a Winnie the Pooh theme. Fried chicken and side dishes were served. Everyone enjoyed the Winnie the Pooh cake with ice cream.

Denver loved all the attention he was getting opening presents and playing with his cousins. Guests included his brothers Daniel and Derek Lutkenhaus; grandparents Bobby and Angie Lutkenhaus, and Rose Stoffs. Also attending were uncles, aunts, and cousins Daryl and Missy Hinkle, Cassey and Hayden; Buck, Vonnie, and Arvonna Wolfenburger; Steve and Jim Stoffels; Amanda McCoy and children Michael and Bennigan; Donnie, Theresa, and Treston Lutkenhaus.

Birthday wishes were sent from Clara Wilde and Dale, Sara Woodmansee, and Ricky and Mindy Wimmer.

Denver also celebrated his birthday at Rhonda Rohmer's day care on July 18. Friends enjoyed cupcakes, with party favors given out.

Exchange student hosted by Bauers

"Rotary short-term Youth Exchange is a great idea!" began Jacqueline Bauer as she described first her visit to Merida, Yucatan, Mexico and the second half of the exchange, having someone from Mexico come back to Muenster to stay. The exchange was made through the Gainesville Rotary Club and the Merida Itzaes Club. "These exchanges are intended to allow young people to enjoy and learn about another culture while sharing their own. It's a great program and I would recommend it to anyone," explained Kathy Bauer, Gainesville Rotary Club President. "It's hard having your child go away, but we knew that Jacqueline would be staying with another Rotary family."

The Rotary district screens each applicant so we knew something about the Erosa-Burgos family and Ricardo and they knew a little about our activities, interests and us. Jacqueline's father, Bob was worried about her staying with a houseful of boys, but he finally conceded and let her go. "For her part Jacqueline enjoyed every minute of living with four brothers," continued Kathy.

Jacqueline left DFW on June 26 and arrived in Merida that evening. She stayed three weeks as a guest of the Erosa-Burgos family, Mario and Effy, and their four sons, Mario, Rodrigo, Ricardo and Rashit. She fell in love with the food, the people and the home. "I didn't want to come home. I loved it so much."

Everyone was nice all of the time they welcomed me completely. I don't think people should believe what you see on television or hear, it was just unbelievably nice. I want to go back next summer."

Hopefully Ricardo will return to Mexico with similar good feelings about his four-week visit with the Bauers. "I think he was most surprised that we do so much driving. We have driven to Greenville several times since he arrived and have taken numerous trips to Denton, Sherman and even a trip to northwestern Arkansas. I'm not sure he hasn't been in a car more than he has been in any one place," commented Kathy. Most of the travel has centered on basketball in one form or another and although Ricardo loves soccer, he has a new appreciation of basketball. He has spent time visiting Bauer relatives and friends, has been to a couple of different lakes and seems to fit in with the guys and their various toys and electronic games.

"It hasn't taken him long to become a part of our family. I'm not sure if America is much of a surprise to him, but I know living with three sisters has got to be a shock, but he takes everything in stride, even the teasing," noted Jacqueline's sister Raney. With a smile, the other sister, Andrea added, "We have always wanted a brother and Ricardo is great, he's a good sport and is easy to get along with."

American Cancer Society launches cancer survivors network online

With one click of the mouse, or by dialing a toll free number, cancer survivors and caregivers can seek support from coast to coast. The Cancer Survivors Network, created by the American Cancer Society, is a community for cancer survivors and caregivers. From diagnosis, cancer becomes a part of a survivor's life and a caregiver's life experience. The Cancer Survivors Network unites all people touched by cancer. Survivorship can be an opportunity for personal growth and renewal of spirit.

The link to the Cancer Survivors Network is located on the American Cancer Society's Web site www.cancer.org. People may also call 1-877-333-4673 (HOPE). By logging onto the site, cancer survivors and caregivers can listen to, read, or download prerecorded personal stories and discussions among survivors and caregivers. They may also explore and contribute to the Expressions Gallery, a compilation of survivors' stories, poems and songs.

Other options include creating a personal homepage to share stories and get connected to others, participate in chats and discussion groups, and communicate with other survivors and caregivers via email. Cancer Survivors Network also offers suggested books, articles, Web sites, support groups and organizations, and allows access to the American Cancer Society's Cancer Resource Center for cancer information.

No matter how cancer touches your life, the American Cancer Society's Cancer Survivors Network can help. Call or log on right now.

Nemo theme colors Sterling's third

Sterling Grace Walterscheid celebrated her third birthday with a Finding Nemo birthday party at her home on Saturday, July 26. Guests enjoyed coloring Dory and Nemo pictures, "fishing for fish," decorating an underwater scene, and hitting the pinata. Sterling picked pizza to serve to everyone along with a Nemo cake and ice cream. Videos and pictures were made throughout the party. Sterling enjoyed opening all of her gifts with special help from her big sister. She received many nice gifts from all of her guests.

Attending her party were her parents Jennifer and Darren; big sister Kimber Louise; grandparents Judy and Jim Vernor of Arlington, and Pat Walterscheid of Muenster; aunts, uncles and cousins: Jill, Jimmy, Jamie, and Jacqueline Vernor of Arlington; Carla, Stevie, Jackie, and Hunter Klement; and Tim and Staci Bartel all of Muenster; Franklin, Brenda, Alicia, and Frankie Leon of The Dominican Republic; friends Cory, Brenda, and Cade Klement; Tim, Chloe, and Claire Schneider all of Muenster; and Sarah and Sean Porter of Midland.

Sterling Grace celebrated her actual birthday on July 25 by building a Bear at Wal-Mart with her Mother and Kimber. She was also treated to lunch at Chili's. She enjoyed sharing her standup Nemo cake that night with her grandmother and the Leon family.

MMH offers child safety seats

Texas Law requires children from birth to 4 years of age to be secured in an approved child safety seat. From age 4 to 18 all children must use a safety belt. All ages in the front seat must be buckled up.

Muenster Memorial Hospital has teamed up with Safe Riders of Texas to provide child safety restraint seats free of charge to families. Seats for infants, toddlers, and booster seats are available.

To sign up for the seats and to learn how to use them properly call Diane Lawrence at Muenster Hospital 759-2271 ext. 162. Please provide the height and weight of the child that will be using the seat.

Heat-vulnerable seniors, keep cool in the summer

With the coming of summer, seniors will be particularly susceptible to heat-related illnesses because of existing health problems, the number and types of medications they take and because they don't always drink enough liquid (the thirst sensation tends to diminish with age).

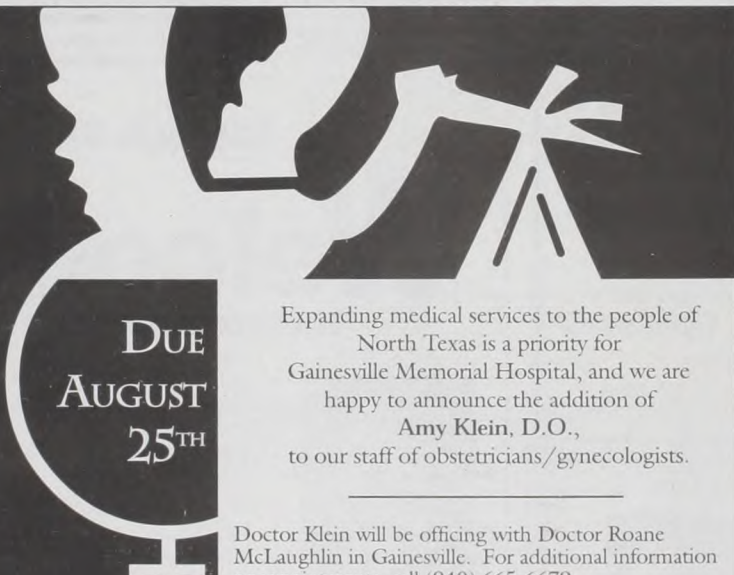

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimates that 300 people die each year from heat-related illnesses. How best for seniors to keep cool? Air conditioning is the best way, says Dr. Kevan Namazi, chairman of gerontology at Southwestern Allied Health Sciences School. The UT Southwestern associate professor recommends other ways to keep cool:

- Open windows on two sides of a room to create cross-ventilation and use a fan to circulate the air. Turn off the lights.
- Drink plenty of liquids - even if you aren't thirsty - but avoid sugary drinks and those with caffeine and alcohol. Eat lots of fruit and salads.
- Take cool showers or baths, or get cool in libraries, senior centers or shopping malls.

What comes around goes around

by Martha McCool

What comes around goes around, and that is definitely the case at "Second Time Around" when donated items are used to help people. Gainesville Lions Club guest speaker Debbie Jones has been a volunteer for "Second Time Around" since 1995; "volunteering is her passion," said Lion Carroll Hollcroft, who introduced Debbie.

Reflecting back to 1976 when the resale shop first opened, Jones said that the main purpose of "Second Time Around" (originally spearheaded by Eula West and Woody Poore of the First United Methodist Church in Gainesville) remains the same - to help the needy by providing clothing and other items at a nominal cost (no charge for qualifying needy).

"We help those in need in many ways, as a result of the donated goods. People come in and donate household items and clothing; we are right there to be of assistance," explained Jones.

Sharing several poignant stories, Jones first told about a family whose house was totally burned down. When they had no place else to turn, they came to "Second Time Around" and were given furniture and clothing - a start to get going again.

Jones also told the story about a man who came in and was able to purchase a shirt and a pair of pants for one dollar. "There is nothing more gratifying than to see someone with only a few dollars in his/her pocket come in and be able to purchase what he/she needs. That really makes them feel good that they have purchased the goods themselves."

But her favorite experience was when a little boy who had lost his father came in; he had developed an interest in the game of golf and Tiger Woods had become his idol. It just so happened that a golf bag and two clubs had been donated to "Second Time Around", and the little boy only had $2 in his pocket. "By golly, he got that golf bag for a $1," said Jones. That kid was so proud, he was beaming. And since that day, the youngster has been in once a week looking for golf tees, golf balls, etc.

"It is so rewarding to be able to help people. Last week, the volunteers were there to assist a transient coming through town, who just needed a sleeping bag and a pair of shoes."

Mothers who have just come out of an abusive situation often have absolutely no place to go. But they can go to VISTO for food, and they can come to "Second Time Around" for clothing or furniture that they may need for their home, she said.

"Second Time Around", located at 105 S. Denton, is open three days a week (Monday, Thursday, and Friday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.) They are always looking for volunteers to help and they welcome donated items such as clothing, household items, furniture, lawnmowers, books, anything large or small, she said. For those donating large items, pick-up service may be pre-arranged by calling the store at 665-7030.

Jones said that the director of "Second Time Around" and long time volunteer Margie Cashion and her husband Bill welcome all appliances (functioning or not). The Cashions have frequently repaired malfunctioning items donated to the thrift shop. Many refurbished electrical appliances (large or small, such as refrigerators, air-conditioners, etc.) have been given to families in need.

"Second Time Around" is non-profit. "The money generated from the goods sold go right back out to ministerial alliance, VISTO ... to all mission work ... and all the used eyeglasses are donated to the Gainesville Lions Club," she added.

"Second Time Around" is growing by leaps and bounds, Jones noted, "but we could never do it without the help of volunteers and donations."

Thinking back to 1976, Woody Poore recalled that Eula West's initial goal was to generate $100 a month from the donated goods. To the amazement of many, Jones stated that the store currently averages about $250 each day that its doors are open for business.

The shop is filled with all kinds of items ... it is like a department store! There is one room for the women's department, another room for the men's department, and a third room for the children's department. There are books, records, tapes and cassettes, numerous household items, light fixtures, ceiling fans - so many different items for sale at very reasonable prices.

Donations are accepted on the days they are open, and receipts are given for all donations. "If someone has spare time to donate to work down there, just show up on Monday, Thursday, or Friday from 10 - 4, and they will happily put you to work," she said.

Past District Governor Billy Graham gave a brief report on the Lions Club International Convention, held last week in Denver, Colorado. Eyeglass Chair, Tommy Clark, announced that in May and June, a total of 215 used eyeglasses were collected.

The Shotgun drawing will take place on August 27; additional information may be obtained by contacting Lions Club members, or by calling Fred Rosenbaum at 668-2782. The Gun is on display at the First State Bank on California Street in Gainesville.

Anxiety can cause 'white-coat' hypertension

Your blood pressure reading at the doctor's office may be alarming, but it may not be a danger sign. Few people enjoy going to see the doctor. Even if you don't feel uncomfortable about doctors, there's all that waiting, insurance paperwork and nervousness about what the doctor might find. As a result, your blood pressure may be higher when you're in the doctor's office than it is the rest of the time. Physicians call this "white-coat hypertension."

Researchers at the Cleveland Clinic in Florida recently reported that a high blood pressure reading in the doctor's office may not be a cause for concern. They followed patients who had a high blood pressure reading in the doctor's office with 24-hour monitoring and found that away from the doctor, patients' pressure was much lower. Although the patients all had systolic pressures above 200 at the doctor's office - which is considered severe - only about 5 percent of these patients actually had seriously high blood pressure. About 7 percent of the patients with severe high blood pressure at the doctor's office actually had normal blood pressure when they were away from the office.

The researchers say doctors shouldn't base a hypertension diagnosis and treatment on a single measurement. It may take more monitoring to confirm the diagnosis and prescribe appropriate treatment.

Doctors at UT Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas say home monitoring with a semi automatic device can help you keep track of your blood pressure. Talk to your doctor if your home readings are significantly different from what you see in the doctor's office.

Poor Rix's Almanac

By Rix Quinn

Dear Poor Rix: My girlfriend and I have decided to marry. I want to take her to a special celebration dinner. Any ideas? Smitten Steve

First suggestion: don't ask the waiter to split the check. Poor Rix attempted this, and discovered that gravy when intentionally spilled by a girlfriend can seriously stain a leisure suit.

Many fine restaurants require a reservation, and few offer a drive-through window. Therefore, your girlfriend will dress nicely. Put on a real tie, not that tee shirt with one painted on it.

When you pick up your date, remember your manners. Open the car door for her. Compliment her dress. If she accidentally burps, do not say "Good one!"

At dinner, the server will hand you a menu that might be printed in elegant type, which makes every word look fancy. Poor Rix once ordered two servings of "gratuity."

Ask the server to recommend his favorite dish. When he describes it, don't ask, "Is it canned?"

On special occasions, some people order wine. White wine goes with seafood or poultry. Red wine blends with cheese, meat, and nuts. Poor Rix once got in trouble asking for a "wine that comes in my school colors."

Finally, after a high-priced dessert (often something the waiter sets on fire), you will be presented the check. If it's more than your apartment rent, ask if you can make monthly payments.

Poor Rix offers stupid answers to smart questions. Got a question? E-mail rixquinn@charter.net, or write him in care of this newspaper.

North Central Texas College reviving drama program, as Talbott joins faculty

With new faculty and a new institutional commitment in place, the curtain is set to rise on a whole new era for the performing arts at North Central Texas College, particularly in regard to theater arts and drama.

NCTC officials announced that Thom Talbott, for many years the artistic director of Gainesville's Butterfield Stage Playhouse, will be joining the college faculty on a half-time basis beginning this fall as the first step in the process of reviving the drama program.

"We're very excited about Mr. Talbott's new association with the college and what it means for the future development of our theater arts program," said Dr. Eddie Hadlock, vice president for instruction.

Plans are to have Talbott go full-time as faculty member and drama program coordinator in the fall of 2004. He will spend this year organizing the program, teaching a limited number of drama classes and recruiting students.

Dr. Hadlock said Talbott will continue his association with the Butterfield Stage Playhouse (BSP) as part of a new partnership being forged between the college and BSP - a partnership both parties believe will vastly expand the scope, quality and variety of future productions staged by both the community theater and the college.

"It makes perfect sense to have a 'community' theater organization closely allied with a 'community' college," Talbott said. "It not only will enlarge the talent pool for both BSP and NCTC as well as joint productions, it will enable also us to share resources in terms of scenery, costumes, stagecraft and technical expertise, equipment and facilities."

"From an educational standpoint, it will enable us to expose students to such a broader, richer learning environment. They will have significantly more opportunities for real hands-on involvement in virtually every phase of staging productions - from acting and backstage crew assignments to designing and building sets to running lights and sound."

Talbott said he is already making contacts in regard to potential students. He is also contacting area high school drama teachers to tell them about NCTC's renewed commitment to the program and about future plans for improving and expanding facilities.

"I hope any area student or teacher who's interested or who would like additional information will contact me," Talbott said, "I'm really eager to talk to them and tell them about the drama courses we'll be offering this fall."

Talbott can be reached at either the Butterfield Stage Playhouse, 940-665-8152, or by calling Dr. Hadlock's office at 940-668-7732, ext. 335.

NCTC's new drama instructor received a master's degree in drama from Texas Woman's University and a bachelor's degree in theater and business from Baker University in Baldwin City, Kan. He's been very active as a director in community theater and as a teacher and director for youth theater.

Working at NCTC will present Talbott with opportunities to challenge and nurture future theater artists and expose more students and community members to live theater.

Such exposure is crucial to developing support for the performing arts. He's excited that the drama program joins well-received jazz band and chorale programs already in place at NCTC.

Thom Talbott

Ryan Bayer
has been with the MVFD for 11 years, having joined in 1992.

Ryan joined the MVFD to give back to the community by doing something he enjoys. Ryan is 32, married to Tara, with one child Hannah, 7.

His hobbies are riding 4-wheelers and street bikes. Ryan says he is a part of a very important organization and a great group of guys. "ONE day when I need the MVFD, I know they will always be there."

Ben J. Bindel
has been with the MVFD for 19 years, having joined in Dec. 1984.

Ben joined the MVFD in order to help others and give back to the community.

His most memorable experience is being pulled out of a burning house by fellow firefighters after falling through a burnt out floor. Also memorable is winning the water polo contest 2 years in a row in Gainesville. Ben is 44, married to Tina, with three children, Danielle, 15; Brandan, 13; and Briana, 10. His hobbies are golf, coin & stamp collecting and fishing. Ben says the MVFD is the best organization a guy can be associated with. Each member is a link in a strong chain, pulling together to help each other.

Ronnie Felderhoff has been with the MVFD for 25 years, having joined in Sept. 1978.

Ronnie joined the MVFD in order to be an asset to the community. His most memorable experience is the first grass fire he went to. He was driving the truck and was told to get closer to the fire even though the flames were within a few feet of the truck. Ronnie is 48, married to Sharon, with four children, Chad, 22; Amanda, 18; Mitch, 22; and Dustin, 15.

His hobby is golf. Ronnie said it's been a rewarding experience to have served the area.

Douglas Fleitman
has been with the MVFD for 12 years, having joined in May 1991.

Doug joined the MVFD in order to do the work the fire department does such as putting out grass fires.

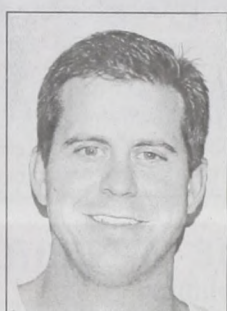

His most memorable experiences are fighting structure and grass fires.

Doug is 37, married to Vickie, with three children, Mikayla, 7; Mikenzie, 7; and Michael, 5. His hobby is riding motorcycles and 4 wheelers.

Doug says the MVFD is the best organization he has ever been involved with.

In recognition and honor of Ryan Bayer for his dedication and service. His family is extremely proud!

Your our hero, Dad!
Love - Mikenzie, Mikayla & Michael

Neal Flusche
has been with the MVFD for 4 years, having joined in 1999.

Neal joined the MVFD because he realized the good the fire department was doing for the community and he wanted to contribute.

Neal is 36, married to Susan, with four children, Micah, 14; Matt, 12; Aaron, 11; and Andy, 8. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

Shawn Flusche
has been with the MVFD for 4 years, having joined in May 1999.

Shawn joined the MVFD in order to help the people of the community.

His most memorable experience was going to his first structure fire. It was a house north of Muenster. The house was engulfed in flames and was put out with minimal damage to the house. He was very impressed with how everyone worked together.

Shawn is 34, married to Shari, with three children, Steven, 8; Morgan, 6; and Seth, 3. His hobbies are hunting and fishing with his children.

James C. Gehrig
has been with the MVFD for 26 years.

Jim was asked to join the MVFD. Jim is 61, married to Cynthia A., with seven children, Jason, 33; Ryan, 30; Mike, 25; Lucien, 22; Joanna, 21; Karen, 16; and Mark, 14.

His hobbies are fishing and gardening. He is about ready to retire and has enjoyed it all.

Jimmy Green

has been with the MVFD for 6 years, having joined in 1997.

Jimmy considers every call memorable because every run is different and, "we learn something new on each call." Jimmy is 36, married to Brenda, with three children, Blake, 17; Tiffany Richey, 17; and Colby Richey, 13.

His hobbies are golf and hunting.

Jimmy wants to thank everyone for their donations & support because if it was not for you, "we would not be the department that we are today."

Thanks, Jimmy

Scott Green

has been with the MVFD for 6 months, having joined in Feb. 2003.

Scott joined the MVFD in order to help out the community. Scott is 28, married to Vickie, with three children and one on the way, Will, 5; Ben, 4; and Gracie, 2.

Muenster Volunteer

Shaw Henscheid has been with the MVFD for 23 years, having joined in 1980. Shaw was influenced to join the MVFD by his Dad, Uncle Curly Pels, and Uncle Ed Endres. Shaw is 44, married to Kyla, with two children, Stephanie, 16, and Jordan, 9. His hobbies are fishing and golfing. Shaw says he appreciates the people who live in our fire district because it seems all other districts have more fires because of carelessness. "We thank you all for your care and concern."

Brent A. Hess has been with the MVFD for 19 years, having joined in Oct. 1983. Brent was approached by Shaw and Ronnie and told that he would like it. Sure enough he did. His most memorable experience was the three day fire in Montague County. Brent is 44, married to Mary, with five children, Ashley, 20; Kristen, 16; HayLee, 15; Andrea, 9; and Clayton, 7. His hobbies are hunting, fishing, and golf. Brent says the MVFD are a good bunch of guys to work with.

Henry J. Knabe has been with the MVFD for 31 years, having joined in 1973. Henry decided to join to help friends and family. His most memorable experience was the large grass fire in Nocona which took 8 hours of hard and hot fire fighting. Henry is 51, married to Florentine, with one child, John, 20. His hobbies are hunting and fishing. Henry says there are a lot of good times with some sad times working with the MVFD.

Herbert Knabe has been with the MVFD for 38 years, having joined in 1965. Herbie joined the MVFD when he was asked and remembered in 1948 & early 50's when there were several fires, that there was little help at fires, and knew they needed help. His most memorable experience was one of his first grass fires. "I was not able to get to the fire station fast enough to get on the only truck, so I drove my personal vehicle to the fire I wanted to work. I was assigned a gunny sack and told to start over there. The fire was along the railroad track." Herbie is 60, married to Edna, with five children, Bert, 38; Tim, 35; Stan, 32; Dawn, 30; and Alison, 26. His hobby is old pickups. Herbie feels the fire department is not for everyone. These guys are special and it makes no difference what time of day and what kind of weather, this group will always be there. Usually within 3 minutes the trucks will be driving out the station door. It's always a mad dash to be on the first truck out.

Milton Knauft has been with the MVFD for 16 years, having joined in 1987. Milton is 47. Milton says the MVFD are a great bunch of guys to work and train with.

Smoke Koelzer has been with the MVFD for 17 years, having joined in Nov. 1986. Smoke decided to join because he liked the purpose of the MVFD. His most memorable experience was beating the rest of the paid and volunteer fire departments in the county in water polo 2 years in a row. There are not too many good memories when you're involved in situations where people's lives, property and livelihood are involved. Smoke is 44, married to Carol, with four children, Wesley, 18; Jacé, 15; Demi, 9; and Dalton, 9. His hobbies are family, watching football and track meets. Smoke says there is not a better bunch of people to be around or being a part of something that everyone needs, that really you do not realize you need it, until you need it!!!

Joseph B. Pagel has been with the MVFD for 11 years, having joined in 1992. Joe was asked to join the MVFD. His most memorable experience is when everyone works together in a crisis and it all turns out okay in the end. Joe is 34, married to Laura J., with three children, Allison, 9; Abby, 7; and Katy, 5. Joe really appreciates all the help and equipment that people bring when they get in a bind at grass fires.

Troy Pagel has been with the MVFD 4 years, having joined in 1999. Troy wanted to be involved with the community by doing something to help the community. I have had a lot of fun working with a great group of guys. Troy is 31, married to Lisa, with one child, Macie, 4 1/2. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

Fire Department

Mark Pollard has been with the MVFD for 1 year, having joined in July, 2002. Mark has always respected volunteer firemen because they do this job without money or compensation. I wanted to be part of an organization like that. I do not have one most memorable moment with the department. I have enjoyed the "calls" that I have made and the time spent with the members. Mark is 32, married to Paige, with three children, Zachary, 6, Nicholas, 2, and Libby, 18 months.

Bert Walterscheid has been with the MVFD for 15 years, having joined in 1988. Bert joined to help his town and community. His most memorable experience is saving a structure from total loss due to fire. Bert is 43, married to Delanne, with four children, Gayle, 22; Justin, 20; Emily, 17; and Kendra, 9. Bert wants to thank the community and town and city council for all the support in the past years, helping our fire department to become the best volunteer department in North Texas.

Duane J. Walterscheid has been with the MVFD for 12 years, having joined in 1991. Duane joined the MVFD to help the city. His most memorable experience was Fire School at A&M, I, II, III, working on #121 and #122. Duane is 38, married to Mariah, with three children, Kendall, 9; Hayle, 6; and Riley, 2.

Mitch Westervelt has been with the MVFD for 8 months, having joined in January 2003. Mitch joined the MVFD because he had previous fire experience and wanted to keep it up. Mitch is 30, married to Kellie, with three children Kayla Otto, 14; Jamie Salisbury, 9; and Derek, 9. His hobby is golf. Mitch says, "I have been a firefighter for approximately 6 years, 3 years spent in New York State. I am also a Certified EMT."

John Yosten has been with the MVFD for 37 years, having joined in 1963. John joined the MVFD because it just seemed the right thing to do. He was in other groups and not happy with their methods. His most memorable experience was bringing a life sized doll out of a house fire thinking it was a real child. John is 58, married to Pat, with two children, Paula, 35, and Christy, 29; and 2 grandchildren. John feels that this is the best organization you can belong to.

New Tiger coach

By Janie Hartman
The 2003 Sacred Heart Tiger football team began its season this week under the command of new Head Coach Charles Boles.

"I took this job knowing the character of the boys, I knew they would play with class and the way the game should be played," noted Coach Boles. He added "No matter what their talent level, they will play hard." Boles added that sending his children to a Catholic School is an extra plus.

Boles began coaching in 1995 after graduating from East Texas State in Commerce with a bachelor degree in Math and Physical Education. His first coaching job was at Ennis. In 1996-1998 he was an assistant coach at Lindsay, then moved on to Cooper for a year before spending four years at Whitewright. Last year he was head football, track, and athletic director at Whitewright. The seasons with the black and gold Tigers produced 43 wins. Every year that Boles coached, the football teams made the play-offs.

Coach Boles noted that character and intensity will be the Tigers' strength. "They got heart!" Their weakness will be all around depth. He also said that this Sacred Heart squad will have a more wide open offense than in the past, with the defense being similar. "We have a very tough schedule. If we stay healthy we will be very competitive."

The Tigers have 21 players reporting to practice, including six seniors - Adam Krahl, Tony Moster, Adam Taylor, Kevin Walterscheid, Wes Wimmer, and Jared Zimmerer.

Boles will also assist with track, teach Geometry, and will be dean of students at Sacred Heart. He will be assisted by Dale Schilling and Michael Becker on the football field. Boles is a 1990 graduate of Sulphur Springs High School and has been married to Ann Yosten formerly of Muenster for 11 years. They have four children Adam 9, Teresa 7, Andy 3, and Rachel 1.

Game Warden killed in the line of duty

Veteran Game Warden Wesley Wagstaff was killed in the line of duty in a vehicle accident this morning while answering an Operation Game Thief call about possible poaching.

At about 8 a.m., Wagstaff, 40, was en route to a call on FM 1293 in Hardin County after receiving a tip about someone hunting deer in a closed season. At about 8:45 a.m., the call came in about an accident.

His vehicle and another one collided. The details of how the accident happened are being investigated. Both Wagstaff and the operator of the other vehicle were killed. The accident is being investigated by the Department of Public Safety.

Wagstaff graduated from the 43rd game warden cadet class in 1993 and was initially assigned to Harris County. In 1996, he started in Hardin County where he has been since. He leaves behind a wife and teenage son.

"This is sad day for the Texas Parks and Wildlife family," said Col. James Stinebaugh. "We have lost one of our own, and it is a stark reminder of the fact that these brave men and women put their lives at risk every single day to protect the resources of the state of Texas. We will never forget Warden Wagstaff."

Wagstaff is the 15th warden to die in the line of duty since 1919. There are about 500 game wardens stationed statewide in Texas.

A complete listing of all the game wardens killed in the line of duty can be found on the Web (<http://www.tpwd.state.tx.us/fish/infish/hatchery/tfc/warden.htm>).

MEETING NOTICE

The Muenster Hornet Booster Club will meet on Monday, Aug. 11 at 7:00 p.m. in the Muenster gym to organize for the upcoming football season. Also volunteers are needed to help with football ads.

Tate hits hole-in-one

Jeremy Tate, 14 year old son of Sharon and Garland Tate of Fort Worth, hit his first hole-in-one Thursday, July 24. Jeremy aced the 170 yard second hole at the Z-Boaz Golf Course using a 7 iron. Witnesses were Rudy Ontiveros, R. Dunmoodie, and his father.

Jeremy is the grandson of Ray and Lou Voth of Muenster.

USDA Welcomes new rangeland management specialist to Gainesville

The USDA-NRCS (United States Department of Agriculture-Natural Resources Conservation Service) welcomes Trina Johansen to the Gainesville Field Office. Trina is a Rangeland Management Specialist who has been working for the service for six years. Trina was raised in Utah and is a graduate of Utah State University, which she says, makes her a Utah "Aggie". Trina received her bachelor's degree in Rangeland Ecology with a minor in Animal Science, and a minor in Illustration.

Trina's career with NRCS began in Lampasas, Texas and has taken her full circle through Oklahoma, Idaho, and returning once again to Texas. Trina holds the certification of "Certified Professional in Range Management" which is obtained through the Society for Range Management.

While in Oklahoma, Trina was awarded the Oklahoma Section of Society for Range Management "Trail Boss" award for outstanding contribution to range management. Her expertise includes developing livestock grazing plans (cattle, horses, and other classes of livestock), forage management (native and introduced), plant identification, wildlife management, prescribed burning plans, and riparian management.

Trina's duties with the NRCS include assisting landowners in Cooke, Grayson, and Montague counties. If you have questions for Trina or would like assistance with a management concerns, she can be reached at (940) 668-7794 ext. 106.

Estes Is Serving on Southern States' Agriculture Committee

State Senator Craig Estes (R-Wichita Falls) will represent the Texas Senate as a member of the Agriculture and Rural Development Committee of the Southern Legislative Conference.

Lieutenant Governor David Dewhurst appointed Estes to the committee. Estes is vice chairman of the Texas Legislature's Rural Caucus and serves on the Senate Natural Resources Committee, the Senate Agriculture Subcommittee, the Senate Business and Commerce Committee and the Senate International Trade and Relations Committee.

"I am pleased to appoint you to the Agriculture and Rural Development Committee of the Southern Legislative Conference. I greatly appreciate your commitment to the state and the leadership you offer to the SLC," Dewhurst told Estes upon announcing the appointment.

The SLC, which serves 16 southern states, will hold its annual meeting Saturday through Tuesday, Aug. 9-12, in Fort Worth. Estes' participation will include meetings Sunday and Monday of the Agriculture and Rural Development Committee, the oldest of the SLC's standing committees, which focuses on issues critical to the future of farming and farm communities.

"The committee has a long history of tackling important regional and national issues," Estes said, "and I am proud to be a voice for North Texas and the entire Lone Star State as we confront the challenges faced by agriculture. The status and future of rural communities is a major topic of the committee's work this year, and I'm excited to be a part of this committee's focus on the changing face of agriculture across America and conditions in the rural South."

Estes serves a large and diverse part of North Texas in the Texas Senate with an 18-county district that includes Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Grayson, Jack, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Shackelford, Stephens, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger, Wise and Young counties and parts of Collin and Denton counties.

"Agriculture is very important to Senate District 30, so I am especially pleased to earn this appointment to pursue this work. I appreciate the confidence placed in me by the people of this district and Lieutenant Governor Dewhurst," Estes said.

TDA to host town hall meetings across the state

Agriculture Commissioner Susan Combs has announced that she will be visiting with agricultural producers and rural communities at town hall meetings throughout the state to discuss issues impacting the agricultural industry as well as rural Texas.

The town hall meetings, hosted by the Texas Department of Agriculture, are open forums where producers and members of the community can discuss rural issues as well as present their ideas and solutions to the commissioner.

Town hall meetings scheduled to date include Cooke County. The meeting will be Thursday, Sept. 4 at 2:45 p.m., Gainesville Area Chamber of Commerce, Large Meeting Room, 101 South Culberson, Gainesville.

"With agriculture and rural communities facing so many challenges, it is important that I know firsthand what the concerns and issues are on a local level," Combs said. "There are a lot of concerns and needs that are specific to regions of Texas, and I want to collectively work with producers, industry groups, and local, state, and federal governments to address these issues to ensure agriculture remains a strong and growing industry throughout the state."

TDA is working with the Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Cooperative Extension Service, and various commodity groups to organize these town hall meetings across Texas. The town hall meetings are free and open to the public.

Texas is the leading melon production state with a $152 million market having a statewide economic impact of $298 million.

Texas ranks third in U.S. production of cantaloupes and honeydew melons and second in watermelons.

In 2002, nearly 50,000 acres of melons were harvested in Texas to produce a billion pounds of melons.

Ag Facts

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Susan Combs has announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture Child Nutrition Programs, formerly located at the Texas Education Agency, have moved to the TDA's Food and Nutrition Division. The federal programs provide funding and nutritional guidelines and services for public schools in Texas.

The Child Nutrition Programs include the National School Lunch and Breakfast programs. The School Lunch Program also includes the Afterschool Snack Program.

McDonald's wants growth-promoting antibiotics eliminated from the meat supply. On June 19 McDonald's Corp. announced plans that call for its suppliers worldwide to phase out use of animal growth promotion antibiotics that are used in human medicine. A McDonald's official said the policy was a result of concerns over increasing antibiotic resistance. Indirect suppliers, which include most beef and pork suppliers, will be offered incentives to comply with the policy and for other actions that may reduce the potential for antibiotic resistance.

County Agent's Report

Wayne Becker
CEA - AG/NR

The results from the milo variety trial are complete. This year has proved to be a good year for the milo crop in the county. Yields in the test plot ran from a low of 5022 pounds per acre to a high of 6212 pounds per acre. The results are presented in the table below.

The test plot was planted on April 3, and harvested July 29 and 30. Tillage was conventional. Row width was 30 inches. Planting rate was 80,000 seed/acre. Fertilizer included 70 lbs of actual N, 17 lbs of actual K, and 100 lbs of 10-34-0. Insect damage never reached treatable economic thresholds. Atrazine was the only herbicide used.

A few of the varieties showed some lodging, DK 36-3%, Garst 5624-5%, KS 524-15%, Croplan Genetic 484-20%. No other problems were noted.

When planning for small grain planting this fall Gaylon D. Morgan, State Small Grains Specialist, reminds us to select no fewer than 3 grain varieties to plant on the farm. Use all available information when deciding which varieties to plant. High yields over multiple years and multiple locations equate to a variety's ability to perform well over diverse environmental factors. Stable yield performance is the best variety selection information. One thing to be cognizant of is decreasing yields and disease resistance over a 2 or 3 year time frame, which may reflect a change in disease resistance.

Farm prices drop in July

After remaining unchanged in June, the prices farmers received for their products went down 2.8 percent in July, according to the Agriculture Department's National Agriculture Statistics Service.

The July 2003 All Farm Products Index of Prices Received by Farmers was 104 percent of its 1990-92 base. The index said lower prices for lettuce, corn, hogs and wheat more than offset higher prices for dairy products, cantaloupe, asparagus and broccoli.

USDA noted that the seasonal change in the type of products that farmers sell affects the overall index. The current index is 5.1 percent over July 2002.

Ag Facts

Agriculture is the second largest industry in Texas and generates $80 billion a year for the economy.

growth and learning afforded our students. For example, the outstanding quality of the school's English and reading
programs, the science enrichment programs, and the fact that a student like Lauren is given the opportunity to take freshman algebra as a seventh grader, all these types of things contribute to the amazing successes of such a large percentage of our students."

Seponski receives state recognition

On the basis of her scores on the ACT college placement exam, Lauren Sepanski has received State Recognition in the Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP) 2002-2003 7th Grade Talent Search.

Fifty percent of Sacred Heart's 2002-2003 seventh grade class qualified to participate in the Talent Search by scoring at the 95th percentile or higher on the nationally standardized Stanford Achievement Test taken last fall. This past winter, those students who chose to participate in the Talent Search completed either the College Board's SAT I: Reasoning Test or the ACT Assessment. Designed for college-bound high school students, these tests offer an above-level testing experience for gifted seventh graders and give more information about their academic talents by allowing them to compare their scores to those of high school students and those of other gifted seventh graders who tested this year.

ACT scores of 21 or above, which are above the average scores of college-bound high school students, qualified Lauren for State Recognition. Her English and reading scores, for example, were higher than those of 78 and 83 percent, respectively, of college-bound seniors at the national level.

Medals for recognized students in the North Texas area were awarded at the TIP State Recognition Ceremony held recently at the University of North Texas in Denton.

In addition to the benefit of the testing experience, Talent Search participants receive many exciting resources, including a directory for quality enrichment opportunities across the United States, the TIP newsletter, and as a tenth grader the College Guide, as well as solicitations from top universities.

Cassie Lee, Sacred Heart School counselor, remarked: "We are so proud of Lauren, and indeed, of all of our

Lauren Sepanski seventh graders who qualify to participate in the TIP 7th Grade Talent Search each year. It is a real tribute to our students and teachers, See SEPANSKI, PG 14

Economics program is "experience of a lifetime"

"What a great week I had! I don't know how it could have been a better experience!" exclaimed Christina Weinzapfel, Sacred Heart High School junior in 2002-2003, after attending The Gillette Company, Economics for Leaders program conducted at Hillsdale College in Hillsdale, Michigan, the week of July 13-20. The program is sponsored in partnership with the Foundation for Teaching Economics, which is headquartered at the University of California in Davis, California, and is conducted at several major college campuses each summer. The week-long course combines leadership training and economics.

"We learned so much about how things work in the real world," commented Christina. "For example, we learned about the stock market and the role played by both buyers and sellers. Another time, we explored the different types of behavior required in the work force — thinkers, doers, bosses, and so on. In one activity, we each had to get a job, and we learned about the role education plays in that process. I really enjoyed the teaching methods they used — a lot of gaming techniques and activities, similar to ones Mr. Caserta uses in his classes."

Classmate Kathryn Sepanski attended the same program, conducted at Beloit College in Beloit, Wisconsin, the week of July 20-27. "I am so glad I had the opportunity to have such an awesome experience! Not only did I learn about real-world economics and leadership, but it was so neat to be able to meet kids from all over the United States. And they were all really great, quality people — we all want to keep in touch. The whole experience got me really excited about going off to college next year." Joseph Caserta, economics teacher at Sacred Heart, remarked, "I encourage my students to apply for this program each year. It's competitive — only one out of four students in the country who apply are accepted into the program, with approximately 30 students per session — so I think that it speaks highly of our students that each year one or more take the initiative to apply and are accepted. Learning new concepts and ways of seeing our world and the people in it, experiencing a different locale, and getting to know people from across the country provide a valuable experience for our students."

Not only did Christina and Kathryn learn about the law of supply and demand, the intricacies of market-place profit, the uses of human capital, and how to get rich, but they discovered the differences between their "Texas talk," a New York accent, a Southern drawl, and the "normal" speech of their Midwestern friends.
