

County accepts proposed 50.42¢ tax rate

By Janet Felderhoff
"The actual tax rate this year is one cent lower than the tax rate last year other than the jail, which was passed by the voters, which is 4.4 cents," observed Judge Freeman as Commissioners Court considered a tax rate to fund the proposed 2004-05 budget. "If you add 4.4 cents back in the actual increase is .342 cents. So we're getting the new jail this year for 3.42 cents basically. A lot cheaper than we thought it would be."

County Auditor Gloria Parrish said that rate would be 50.42 cents per $100 valuation. She broke it out as follows: 4.4 cents for Interest & Sinking for payment of the jail; 35.5

cents for General Fund; 9.0 cents for Road & Bridge; 1.5 cents for Permanent Improvement; and 0.02 cents for the FM & Lateral.

Commissioners approved the proposed tax rate of .5042, which included the 4.4 Interest & sinking to build the new jail, with a unanimous 5-0 vote.

The proposed budget for 2004-05 is $16,924,686. County Auditor Gloria Parrish noted, "It is an increase over last year's budget. It's about a four percent increase for the General Fund."

The proposed budget includes funds to increase money to each volunteer fire department, give $3,000 to Meals On Wheels, hire a secretary for the Commissioners office, hire another dispatcher for the Sheriff's office, and hire a compliance officer to collect fines.

Precinct #1 Commissioner Phil Young asked about adding extra deputies for the Sheriff's Department. Judge Freeman said that even though extra deputies had been requested, he didn't put any in the budget. The Sheriff had a request for five or six additional personnel," said Judge Freeman. "I took them out of the budget because next year when the new Jail opens we're going to be looking at 15 to 18 new personnel and that will really stretch next year's budget." The purpose of hiring a compliance officer is to bring in more funds, said the Judge.

Commissioners voted to accept the proposed budget by a vote of 4-1. Phil Young voted against it.

A Public Hearing will be held for the Proposed Budget and Proposed Tax Rate at 10 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 23. The final budget and tax rate will be voted on at a special meeting set for Friday, Sept. 3.

Commissioners heard a request by Robert and Carol Zimmerer to vacate the subdivision known as Ranchland Estates (Lots 1-5) and all the restrictions associated with it. It is located off of FM 1630 and FM 51 in Precinct #3. Commissioner Jerry Lewis said that Zimmerer had filed a plat on the property in 1995.

Bob and Julie Garrison, represented by attorney Derrell Comer, filed an objection to vacating the subdivision. Comer also presented signatures of four other families with adjacent property who also objected. The Garrisons purchased and built a home on property that is surrounded on two sides by Ranchland Estates property.

Julie Garrison was present and said that before they bought their property in 1997 they checked to be sure that adjoining subdivisions limited use to residential purposes. They wouldn't have made the investment if they thought it might be used for something else. Comer said the potential buyer has indicated he wants to use the property to build storage sheds and put a Subway store in. This would devalue the property of the adjacent landowners, said Comer.

Judge Freeman remarked that if you purchased land next to a subdivision that already had a house on it and the subdivision is deed restricted, you have a reasonable expectation that the subdivision is going to remain there and be deed restricted.

Commissioners were unanimous in denying the request to vacate the subdivision and any restrictions associated with it.

Cooke County resident Wayne Dodson questioned Commissioners Court on the usefulness of the yearly outside audit and on a number of practices in budgets used by the Commissioners. This audit was done by Schalk & Smith, submitted to Commissioners cCurt in June, and accepted by the Court at that time.

Dodson questioned the purpose of the outside audit. Judge Freeman explained it was to audit all departments of the County. He said that the audit was dated April, but not finished and submitted to the Court until June. The cost of the audit was thought to be between 12-15 thousand dollars. Dodson wondered why it took 10 months to get the report and what good it was that late in the year as far as helping to prepare for the next budget.

There is no inventory of fixed assets in the County. When a new commissioner comes in, Dodson wondered how he would know what he was accepting responsibility for, since there is no list.

A list is important stressed Dodson. "This procedure is necessary to bring the records into accordance with generally accepted accounting procedures and the standards set forth by the Municipal Financers Office Association," noted Dodson. The County Auditor should have a list of what each precinct purchased, said Dodson. The County was written up in 2003 for not having an inventory list of fixed assets.

Dodson noted that the Commissioners' precinct budgets represent a large chunk of the budget and that the tax rate is set on needs rather than the amount of money in the

Knabe named to "Who's Who in Executives and Professionals"

Carrie Knabe of Muenster has been included in the 2004-05 edition of the National Register's Who's Who in Executives and Professionals. She is a real estate appraiser and owns her own business, Knabe Appraisal Service. She was presented with an engraved wooden plaque acknowledging the honor.

The National Register's Who's Who in Executives and Professionals identifies the award recipients as having reached a level of recognizable success in their respective field. The edition will be registered at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.

Lindsay goes high-speed

Cable modem high speed internet service was recently connected at the home of Mark and Amy Meece of Lindsay. The Meece's had requested their name be added to the list of interested customers and were soon called to schedule an installation of the service. They are now surfing the web at speeds of up to 20 times faster than with a standard dial up connection.

Residents of Muenster have experienced high speed internet service through Digital Subscriber Line (DSL) in the local telephone service area for quite some time and now the town of Lindsay can also experience high speed internet service through their cable television connection. Nortex Communications began providing broadband services through cable modems at the beginning of August.

Residents of Lake Kiowa have been enjoying access to the Internet at blazing speeds and the reliability of a "always-on" connection since December of last year. After a period of time some customers say that cable modem service is the best thing since "sliced bread."

Nortex Communications began the process of upgrading the cable television service area in Lindsay last spring and are now taking applications for cable modem internet service.

Cable modem broadband service allows you to surf the internet at speeds of up to 20 times faster than standard dialup internet without interruption of your phone line or your cable television service. You can now download large files with record speed while watching cable television and talking on the phone.

The upgrade in Lindsay will enable a future platform for Nortex Communications to provide such emerging services as High-Definition Television, Video-On-Demand and Telephone Voice Service over the cable.

According to Nortex president and CEO, Alvin Fuhrman, the company has wanted to do this upgrade for some time. "It's always a challenge to be a small company serving small communities and do the things we want to do. This type of upgrade is very expensive, but we are committed to bringing all the services you get in the Dallas area to places like Lindsay." As designed, Nortex has placed fiber optic lines deeper into several points around Lindsay and replaced electronics along the existing cable TV plant with the latest technology.

Nortex also provides local telephone and long distance service, internet service including standard dial up and high speed access, wireless phone and cable television service.

Nortex is currently installing modems for customers who have expressed interest in high speed internet via cable modems. If you would like further information on cable modems or to order the service, please contact customer service at 759-2251, email us at info@nortex.net or log on to www.nortex.net.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Hooray! The "Days Gone By..." feature is back. I've missed that section of the Muenster Enterprise. I'm just writing to put my vote in - in case you're taking a poll.

On an unrelated matter, I appreciate the explanation given to the second reader who complained of not receiving the Enterprise in a timely manner. I, too, have very sporadic delivery. Even though I cannot correct the situation, I'll know not to place blame on the Muenster Enterprise.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

At the last college board election, in May, the people spoke loud and clear. We wanted changes on that board and from the direction that the college was going. Yet with a vote of 4 to 3, that extended the president's contract till 2007. Then the board voted to buy out the contract, which should of been done years ago, with a vote of 4 to 3, the applause was long, loud and wonderful.

At the board meetings, there have been one or two lawyers present, from Dallas. One said he is paid $160 an hour. From the time he leaves Dallas, till he returns, he has a good size bill as some meetings start at 6 p.m. and have gone till after mid-night. What is the need of this expense, which is already over $200,000 for this year.

There have been from one to two policemen at the meetings. I feel sure they are also paid.

The board meetings were being held in the board room, with people wanting to hear what was being said and having to stand out in the hall, meeting after meeting. A new regent asked to move the meetings to a larger room, so people could have a seat and hear, but his request was not granted. Till he checked and found out it was a violation of the open meeting act. The Little Theater was vacant and could have been used.

But changes have happened. No policemen at last board meeting, and the last several board meetings being held in the Little Theater where all could be seated. There are questions and discussion at the board meetings now.

Even the one attorney at the last meeting was excused to leave around 8 p.m.

Now with a new college president and the new regents, I look for more and better changes for the college.

To the Editor,

I read the "Thank You Note" in your paper a couple of weeks ago from Ed Shinpaugh, who was a former employee at St. Richard's Villa. I have been the hair dresser at St. Richard's for over 15 years and have observed Ed and his work. The people of Muenster should be "thanking him" for his constant loyalty and dedication to the home. Not only did he do his job well, he went far and beyond what most maintenance people would do. His kind acts to the residents and their families, other staff as well, will always be remembered. He could be called on anytime of the day or night, and would come to the assistance of the home. The grounds were always kept beautiful!

Sincerely,
Judy Hoberer

Seven sources of litter addressed by local laws and ordinances

God bless the people who walk with a plastic trash bag in their hands to pick up litter as they go, and shame on those who litter. Littering is not just a crime; it's an insult to the Lone Star State. Litter is misplaced solid waste. Cigarette butts, aluminum cans, plastic store bags, candy wrappers, fast food containers, cattle feed sacks, lottery tickets... it's all litter. Keep America Beautiful has identified seven sources of litter as: pedestrians, uncovered trucks, construction sites, overflowing or uncovered dumpsters and waste containers, loading dock debris, and motorists. Keep Muenster Beautiful has identified how these sources are addressed in Muenster.

Local law states that it is illegal for any person to throw, discard, place, or deposit litter in any manner or amount on any public or private property within the city limits, except in containers provided for that purpose. Police officers are authorized to enforce the litter control ordinance and individuals are subject up to a $500 fine. Illegal dumping can result in thousands of dollars in fines and a state jail felony.

There are trash barrels available at local businesses, on Main Street and in the City Parks in which pedestrians can throw their litter. Motorists, including uncovered trucks, transporting loose materials are required to secure or cover litter in the vehicles so that litter does not blow out. Construction sites should have commercial containers or other adequate means to place or control litter. Residents are responsible for keeping their property free of litter and ensure trash is secure. Commercial businesses are required to keep dumpsters/waste containers that can handle the amount of trash they generate and to have it picked up frequently to ensure the containers aren't overflowing. Containers are to be covered or secured at all times. Businesses are required to keep their establishments free of litter, which includes parking lots and loading docks.

Upon violation, the City first warns the owner, agent, occupant, or lessee that the litter needs to be picked up. If the litter is not picked up, the City may serve written notice. After written notice of noncompliance, the City may do such work and charge the owner for the work performed. The City may then file such charges as a privileged lien against the property, until the amount is paid.

The community is asked to report littering from motor vehicles to the Texas Department of Transportation "Gotcha" program. You may anonymously report litterers to the "Gotcha" program. To report littering from a motor vehicle, record the license plate, date, time, location, color, and make of the car, type of litter and if the culprit was the driver, passenger, or did the litter blow out of the back of the vehicle. You may then email the information to dmwt@dot.state.tx.us or fax the information to (512) 486-5909. The offender is sent a friendly "don't litter" message and a litterbag for their car.

Adreinne Reiter

Adreinne Marie Reiter, age 16, died on Aug. 8, 2004 at Muenster Memorial Hospital. She was born March 28, 1988 in Gainesville and resided in Muenster her entire life. She was a member of Sacred Heart Parish.

Adreinne Reiter

Survivors are her mother, Janet Sall of Tom Bean, sisters Courtney Reiter and Stephanie Sall, both of Tom Bean; grandparents Allen and Shirley Reiter of Muenster; and several aunts, uncles, and cousins.

A vigil, celebrating the life of Adreinne, was held on Tuesday, Aug. 10 at 7 p.m. in McCoy Funeral Chapel officiated by Fr. John Ohner, OSA. Music was provided by Ruth Felderhoff and Christy Hesse. Songs included "On Eagle's Wings", "Amazing Grace" and "Let the Children Come to Me".

At the vigil, Mary Cain of Allen, Texas, great-aunt of Adreinne, made the following remarks: "Adreinne Marie Reiter is God's special child, and He shared her with us. Born a beautiful baby, it soon became apparent that she would bear multiple handicaps for all of her life. Early on, family members came to call Adreinne 'our angel'."

"To the casual observer, it did not appear that Adreinne had a meaningful life. But to those who loved her and took care of her, she was a vision of pure innocence. She was so easy to love; she brought out the best in all of us. She taught us, by her patient forbearance, to accept God's plans for us. From her we learned that the person inside is what really matters."

"The family is deeply appreciative of the loving care Adreinne received at the nursing home, especially from nurse Debbie, who seemed to 'adopt' her as one of her own. As a homebound student of Muenster ISD, Adreinne enjoyed visits from Lou and Stephanie who spent countless hours reading to her..."

"On numerous occasions, nursing staff saw evidence of God's closeness to Adreinne. 'Bathed in light' is how they described her appearance. Her beautiful spirit is now free of her earthly body and we know that she is surely 'dancing' with our Lord in Heaven."

Graveside services for Adreinne were held at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 11 at Sacred Heart Cemetery under the direction of McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Fr. John officiated the services. Pallbearers were Troy Sicking, Matt Sicking, Rodney Vogel, and Scott Vogel. Honorary pallbearer was Kyle Caldwell.

FAA accepts McCool's weather course

Dr. Ken McCool's CD and Classroom Instruction Weather Refresher courses have been designated as acceptable to the FAA Administrator, and therefore qualify as industry conducted recurrent training programs (McCool is president of Meteorological Associates). This means that McCool's weather courses satisfy the FAA Safety Seminar requirement for pilots participating in the FAA Wings Program.

The Wings Program is designed to improve pilot skills in the areas that have historically been most associated with aviation accidents. Since approximately one-third of all aviation accidents occur with unfavorable winds in the take-off or landing environments, weather is a significant cause, or factor, in aviation accidents.

McCool's CD is a collection of approximately 80 slides, which is approximately one-third of the number of slides in his PowerPoint Presentation that is based on the Silver Anniversary Eighth Edition (2004) of his text AVIATION METEOROLOGY: For VFR & IFR Operations / Certificates & Ratings.

McCool says that he submitted the CD to the FAA as a minimal Weather Refresher, designed primarily for airmen who live out of state.

McCool feels that the maximum safety benefit will come from attending his one or two-day Weather Refresher courses in a classroom setting. The next such course will be offered at the Gainesville Municipal airport on Aug. 28 -- this will be a one-day course. Although the course is designed primarily for airmen, anyone who is interested in weather can attend (a minimum age of 15 is recommended). In fact, according to McCool, there were more weather spotters in attendance at the January course than pilots!

An autographed copy of McCool's book is a part of the fee for the one-day course. He says that his book has been in continuous use at the Aviation Institute of the University of Nebraska at Omaha since 1990! He reports that his new 2004 anniversary edition has been adopted by the following programs since March of this year: Georgia State University, Iowa Western Community College, Ohio University, Lynn University, and Southeastern School of Aeronautics, with prospects for several more adoptions by the end of the year.

McCool will also be offering his one or two-day courses at other locations in Texas, and possibly in other states as well, and the CD is also available. In any event, it is McCool's desire to help ensure that "weather preparedness" is a major component of a safe, and hence an enjoyable, flight.

A large mix of factors is responsible for any successful venture, in McCool's opinion. It is easy to say, "follow your dreams," but it is not always easy to do. One does have to be careful not to pursue an "almost impossible dream," meaning only that one has to be aware of his/her own strengths. Being weak in math can be a major hindrance in achieving a meteorology degree, for example. However, it is possible that one can have difficulty with math in public school and then finally begin to "see it" in college.

In McCool's opinion, attitude is the most important factor in any success. A little "luck" also helps, but with the "proper attitude," one will work harder and likely create his/her own luck -- possibly becoming good in math, for example. However, just as one's own attitude is a factor, so is the attitude of others. There will always be those who will try to hold others back (often begins with gossip, and then escalates).

McCool encourages youngsters to remember that, "those who can, do" and "those who can't, often criticize." Trials in the adult world are usually more difficult, or challenging, than when growing up, especially when interacting with other people is concerned. Probably half of one's success is determined by how one interacts with others (colleagues, supervisors, etc.). However, if one is optimistic and focuses on "those who can, do," then one will find a way to succeed (even among those who try to hold others back) -- all successful people do this, and often many times!

McCool is a contributing writer to the Phoenix Newsletter, a quarterly publication of the FAA's Aviation Safety Program (Fort Worth Flight Standards District Office).

Students sharpen academic skills at summer camp

The Summer Academic Camp put on by Brittany and Paige White was a great success! Over a period of three days (July 21, 22, 23) a group of 20 students touched up on skills in math, reading, and English to prepare them for the upcoming school year.

The younger group of kids learned a variety of things including opposites, rhyming, angles, and counting patterns. The older age group enjoyed learning everything from math tricks to context clues and expressive reading and writing. Learning games and activities provided a fun way for students to grasp the concepts they were taught. To encourage their participation treats and prizes were awarded to the winner of all the games.

On the last day after a review of the things they had learned and a comprehensive worksheet, the students ended the camp with smoothies and games. The older group enjoyed a water balloon fight that many students said was the highlight of the camp.

A "Camper of the Week" Award was awarded to one student in each age group on the last day. They were chosen by Brittany and Paige for their all around attitude and participation during the camp. This year's "Camper of the Week" award went to Kylie Hennigan from the 1-3 grade group, and John Paul Hesse received the award for the 4-6 grade group.

MMH Auxiliary to host welcome for Dr. Carter

Members of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Auxiliary met on Tuesday, Aug. 3 for the monthly meeting. Darlene Williams, president, conducted the meeting.

Plans were completed to host a welcome brunch for Dr. Bonnie Carter. Dr. Carter recently moved to Muenster and joined the medical staff of the Muenster Hospital and Family Health Clinic. Christine Weinzapfel will host the brunch in her home on Saturday, Aug. 28. Invitations will be mailed to local businesswomen or the wives of local businessmen and others. Faye Hamric is in charge of the invitations. Auxiliary members are asked to come at 9:15 a.m. to assist with setup.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 7 at 7 p.m. in the MMH Administration building. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

on Halloween. Treats offered would be healthy snacks or other options to candy. This would give parents a safe, healthy alternative to Trick or Treating from house to house. Many are hesitant to visit homes if they don't know the people who live there. This suggestion was positively received and will be discussed more at the September meeting.

Each member present took invitations for the September meeting and will personally invite several people to attend the meeting. This is an effort to promote awareness of the organization and possibly increase membership.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 7 at 7 p.m. in the MMH Administration building. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Bauer roast benefits Polio Plus worldwide

Kathy Bauer, the immediate past president of the Gainesville Rotary Club and a resident of Muenster, suffered a roast by the club recently on the basis of $5 per minute of roast time. She was allowed a rebuttal during which she did the reverse roast with names attached.

She was challenged to wear the antique Coca Cola promotion pants and T-shirt by Jim Anderson, a retired Coca Cola executive and who was responsible for the roast, for an additional $50. Kathy was both a good president throughout the year and a good sport through the roast. The roast netted roughly $250 which Kathy designated to be given to Polio Plus, a deserving Rotary Fund used to stamp out polio around the world.

The art of growing things

By Shirley Marshall Cawyer
Cooke County Master Gardener

2004 Texas Master Gardener course

Fall is the perfect time to devote nine weeks to become a Texas Master Gardener. Cooke County Cooperative Extension will work in concert with Grayson County Cooperative Extension to offer the academic portion of the training. The course work will be offered in Sherman at the Grayson County Court House and in Gainesville at the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. starting Sept. 8 unless otherwise specified.

The curriculum is as follows: Session 1 will cover orientation and Soils and Composting taught by Dr. John Sloane, Texas A & M Experiment Station and will be held in Grayson. Session 2 in Gainesville will host Dottie Woodson, Extension Horticulturist from Tarrant County teaching Horticulture Basics, plant growth, and development. We will travel back to Sherman on Wednesday, Sept. 22 to hear Dr. Kevin Ong, Extension Plant Pathologist from Dallas cover plant diseases. The Sept. 29 session in Gainesville will be taught by Dr. Mike Merchant, Extension Urban Entomologist from Dallas and the subject will be entomology. Students will take a field trip to Dallas on Oct. 6 to hear Dr. Steve George, Extension Horticulturist, teach Landscape, Plant Materials, and Landscape design. The sixth session held in Sherman will discuss fruits and nuts in the morning taught by John Cooper, Denton County CEA-Horticulture, and the afternoon session on vegetables and fruits will be taught by Jeffery Holmes, Lamar County Master Gardener. Gainesville will host Dottie Woodson again on October 20 and her topic will be propagation of plants and pruning of roses. Jim McAfee, Extension Turfgrass Specialist, will teach turf in Sherman on Oct. 27. The final session will be a field trip to the Dallas Arboretum.

Carpool from each town to the two Dallas events will be incorporated in the class, and carpooling to all sessions is encouraged. Those Master Gardeners who have already completed the course may attend any session as a review or for training hours at no charge.

I can attest to the quality of the faculty for the course. Upon completion of the academic portion of the course, Interns will need to complete volunteer hours during the upcoming year to become Master Gardeners. Cooke County is fortunate to have an active Master Gardener chapter with MaryLee Alford as president. The Cooke County Master Gardeners as well as community organizations too numerous to count brought about Gainesville's award of $75,000 in the Governors Community Achievement Award for beautification.

The 2004 Texas Master Gardener Course registration fee is $125 and the deadline is Sept. 1. Those registering in Cooke County should make checks payable to Cooke County Master Gardeners. Those registering in Grayson County should make checks payable to Grayson County Extension. Please contact the following with further questions: Mark Arnold, CEA-AG/NR, Texas Cooperative Extension-Grayson County at 903-813-4206 or Wayne Becker, CEA-AG/NR, Texas Cooperative Extension-Cooke County 940-668-5412. These Extension offices will mail registration brochures upon request. See you there.

Sacred Heart spotlights new faculty

By Janet Felderhoff
 There are three new faces numbered among the faculty of Sacred Heart School this year. They are Barbara LaChance, Bernard Bujard, and Fr. Pat Murphy. Also new at Sacred Heart is a full-time director of curriculum, instruction, and assessment (CIA) for the elementary and high school, Debbie Endres has accepted this position. Last year she was CIA director for the elementary school. She resigned her position of 22 years as fifth grade homeroom teacher to undertake this new project. As the elementary CIA director, Endres initiated Explore-A-Courses. This enabled students to select certain non-graded courses. Students could experience fine arts, explore careers by visiting local businesses or working with a professional. "My philosophy is that learning should be a joy. Giving students the opportunity to explore different fields without graded tests, to enjoy learning outside the classroom setting, these are exciting achievements," remarked Mrs. Endres in the July 2004 "The Alumni" newsletter.
 Endres lists increasing literacy as one of her major goals. Kindergarten students will be using a new phonics program that has them reading in just weeks. Teachers will emphasize reading and writing in all subject areas, she notes.

 Barbara LaChance will be stepping into the position vacated by Endres as fifth grade homeroom teacher. LaChance has served as a substitute teacher and been involved with children through the RCIA program. LaChance attended the University of Maryland, Louisiana State University at Shreveport, Tarrant County Junior College, and completed her degree at the University of Texas at Arlington. She earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree and is also certified as a Generalist in Education for grades 4-8.
 While serving in the U.S. Air Force, LaChance worked as a weather station specialist. She achieved the rank of sergeant.
 Two of LaChance's three children, Jordan and Stephen, attend Sacred Heart School. Her daughter, Lauren, teaches kindergarten at St. Andrew's.
 Bernard Bujard's teaching assignments include Chemistry, Physics, Advanced Science, and Computer Science. He worked at St. Michael's School and was a TA for three years while attending UNT.

 Bujard studied Theology for three years. His undergraduate work was done at the University of Texas at Arlington where he earned his BA in Chemistry. He next earned a M.S. in Chemistry and a M.S. in Materials Science and Engineering. He holds minors in Computer Science, English, and Biology. His teaching certification is from the University of North Texas. Bujard authored three scientific journal papers.
 Bujard and his wife Maria have five children, Patricia, Theresa, Michelle, Michael, and Rose Maria. Patricia and Theresa are enrolled in Sacred Heart School this year.
 Fr. Pat Murphy will be associate principal for Sacred Heart High School and high school Religion teacher. He is familiar to many in Cooke County.
 Fr. Pat served as assistant pastor for St. Mary's in Gainesville and was Mass celebrant for last year's graduation. He also served as director of the last two Lenten retreats held in Sacred Heart Parish and has offered Mass at Sacred Heart.

 Fr. Pat is a native of Chicago. He attended St. Rita's High School and St. Nicholas of Tolentine College where he received his B.A. He earned his M.A. in Religious studies from the Catholic Theological Union and his M.E. in Administration from Loyola University in Chicago. He did his graduate work at the University of Oklahoma.
 Returning to Chicago, Fr. Murphy first taught at St. Rita's and then served as principal of the 1300 student all-boys school. He went on to become the vocation director for the Midwestern Province of Augustinians. He was pastor at St. Rita's and administrator for Cascia Hill Preparatory School in Tulsa.
 "We had an outstanding staff here at Sacred Heart and with the addition of Mrs. LaChance, Mr. Bujard, and Fr. Murphy, we look forward to our educational staff to become even better," remarked Principal Jon LeBrasseur.

Koch and Sacred Heart students help library in the Caribbean

Many aspects of our daily lives are affected by cutbacks in local and government funding. As is true in America with cutbacks in library funding, the problem is exacerbated in a third-world developing country where government's funding is non-existent, or what little is available is earmarked for development of the country's infrastructure.
 Sacred Heart High alumni of 1980, Karen Koch, has been in the Caribbean island of Nevis for the last eight years and has seen the effects of this first hand. Knowing that an education and good reading skills are important building blocks for a successful future, Karen realized that there was a definite need that needed to be met right in her own neighborhood. As such, she began to rally other business leaders and educators on the island to the cause. Her successful efforts have led to the formation of The Friends of the Gingerland Library. The Friends of the Gingerland Library is a nonprofit community based group dedicated to supporting the area library.

 With much help from Sacred Heart School, the 5th grade class packing the books for shipping, plus additional book donations from the Muenster Public Library, the dream of creating a library with quality resources is quickly becoming a reality for the community of this Caribbean island. All books to the library are shipped free of charge through the donations of Koch Sales Company in Muenster and Tropical Freight in Miami.
 The Friends of the Gingerland Library believe that an institution is only as strong as the community that supports it. SHS students sponsor sailor

The Vendee Globe round-the-world sailboat race for solo sailors is a brutal 25,000 mile course round-trip and without any assistance. The quadrennial race has a limited following in the U.S., but is watched by tens of millions on TV and the internet worldwide. This year, American Bruce Schwab from Portland, Maine, a lifelong sailor, will attempt the grueling race and hopes to become the first American to complete the course. The race begins in southwest France on Nov. 7. Sacred Heart School is one of the hundreds of sponsors for the sailor, and will be following his progress on the internet throughout the year.

New hunting and fishing license packages go on sale August 15

New hunting and fishing licenses for 2004-05 will be available beginning Aug. 15, and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is reminding customers to be aware of some significant changes. All current annual hunting and fishing licenses expire on Tuesday, Aug. 31.

The biggest change will affect recreational fishermen. Beginning this fall, Texas anglers will have to pick the fishing license package that matches their fishing preference: freshwater, saltwater, or both. That's because a new $5 freshwater fishing stamp to generate funding for fish hatchery construction and repair will be required to fish in freshwater starting Sept. 1. A similar endorsement to fish in saltwater has been in place for several years, with revenue generated by coastal anglers earmarked for that fishery.

According to the new licensing structure, anglers will select from several fishing packages: a freshwater fishing license ($28 for residents, $11 for seniors, and $55 for non-residents), a saltwater fishing license ($33 for residents, $16 for seniors, and $60 for non-residents), or an all-water fishing license good for both fresh and saltwater ($38 for residents, $21 for seniors, and $65 for non-residents). All packages come with the appropriate required stamps.

Similar license packages will also be available in conjunction with hunting licenses, including a freshwater combo ($47 for residents, and $15 for seniors), a saltwater combo ($52 for residents, $20 for seniors) and all-water combo ($57 for residents, $25 for seniors). The popular super combo "one stop shop" license package will incur just the additional cost of the freshwater stamp ($64), as does the senior super combo ($30).

The types of temporary fishing licenses available also has changed. The 3-day resident, the 5-day non-resident, and the 14-day temporary have been replaced by a 1-day temporary with an option to buy additional daily privileges at the time of purchase. The first time a resident purchases a 1-day resident license the price will be $11 for freshwater, $16 for saltwater and $21 for all water privileges, with additional consecutive days costing $4 per day. The same customer may choose to purchase the same 1-day license package at a later date for only $6, with each consecutive additional day costing $4. The first time a non-resident buys a 1-day license the cost will be $17 for freshwater, $22 for saltwater, or $27 for all water, with additional consecutive days costing $8 each. The same non-resident customer may choose to purchase the same 1-day license package at a later date for $12 with each consecutive additional day costing $8.

There is also a new summer's-end license for Texas residents only valid for the months of July and August. The freshwater version will cost $25, while the saltwater will run $30, and an all-water license $35.

The agency also created for convenience sake a "year-from-purchase" all-water fishing license valid for 365 days from the date of purchase. The cost of this license option will be $45 and available to Texas residents only.

Texas issues 3.2 million hunting and fishing licenses annually through 28 TPWD field offices, more than 100 state parks, and at many retailers across Texas. Also for the first time, Texas hunting and fishing licenses may be purchased over the Internet (http://www.tpwd.state.tx.us/licenses/online_sales/).

Game Warden Field Notes

The following are excerpts from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

Tragedies

* An adult male drowned while saving his 9-year-old son on the Llano River in Kimble County recently. The child stepped into a deep hole and began to struggle. The father dove in head first striking his head on a rock, but was able to save his son before he passed out from the head injury and drowned.

* Brown County game wardens searched for two drowned victims on the Pecan Bayou at Fabis Park.

Three subjects went fishing in a 10-foot flat-bottom boat. This craft started to take on water and sink. Two subjects swam to the bank and noticed the third still in the water. One subject went back in to help him. Both subjects went under and did not resurface. Life preservers were floating in the water when they drowned.

* Recently, Travis County wardens responded in two separate patrol boats to a drowning call in Devil's Cove on Lake Travis. Upon contact with the rented party barge, it was found that a subject had hit his head on the slide while going down it and once in the water never resurfaced. The scene was secured and search of the area was done with no results. A dragging operation was conducted, but nothing was found. Dive teams searched the area until the body surfaced and was recovered later.

Snake Tales

* A Menard County game warden reported that recently, a subject was bitten by a water moccasin snake. The victim was transported to Kimble County Hospital and was in fair condition. The victim is a crewmember of a film company that is filming a

Sportsmen urged to buy a gun for America by FMG Publications

FMG Publications is encouraging American sportsmen to vote with their wallets this fall by supporting their Second Amendment right. The message from the publisher of American Handgunner, GUNS and Shooting Industry magazine: "Buy a Gun for America."

"You can't move without slipping on a campaign button or choking on another political promise," said FMG promotion director Randy Molde. "Sportsmen have the power to sway the election process with their vote, to be sure -- but their untapped strength lies in that fist full of cash they're willing to plunk down on a new gun, the ammunition, and the accessories to go with it."

FMG has kicked off the "Buy a Gun for America" program at the retail level with a two page ad and bumper sticker in the August issue of Shooting Industry magazine. The ad features the classic "I Want You" Uncle Sam-style recruitment theme with gun writing legend John Taffin as spokesman.

"These are the good old days for shooting sportsmen," proclaims Taffin. "It's up to all of us to protect our freedom. Don't buy a gun out of fear or contempt or hatred. Buy a gun because you live in a country where you can. Shoot and care for your guns responsibly. Always respect the laws. The shooting sports build friendships, keep families together, and offer a lifetime of memories that will be cherished for generations. So go ahead and buy a gun."

Posters and stickers are available to Federal Firearms Licensed dealers to display in their store. The "Buy a Gun for America" campaign will also run in American Handgunner and GUNS Magazine urging sportsmen to visit their favorite gun store. FMG Publications encourages other industry related companies to adopt the program as well, by including the "Buy a Gun" tag line in their ads and retail promotions.

"If twice as many guns were sold this fall over the same time last year," continued Molde, "you can bet it would have an impact on the campaign front."

Maps for scouting

By Michael Waddell
Understanding the lay of the land is very important for effective pre-season scouting. You can scout smarter and save a lot of time and effort if you have a good overview of your hunting area. Topographic maps and aerial photos are a great first step toward smart scouting.

Both maps and aerial photos can help you identify key terrain features that may translate into the locations of travel corridors, bottlenecks, funnels, bedding areas, sanctuary areas and even food sources. Of course this must be verified by on-the-ground observation, but maps can tell you where to start looking. These same maps can help you get back to the good spots you've scouted out once hunting season starts.

A trophy buck knows his ground intimately and so should you. Topographic maps and aerial photos may give you that "missing link" of information, often invisible on the ground, that ties key terrain features together with your quarry.

Topographic maps and aerial photos are available from the U.S. Geological Survey. Call 1-800-ASK-USGS.

County Budget

bank. He had visuals charting each commissioners' budget since 1999.

Dodson expressed his opinion that the County's report didn't show actual expenditures. He also said that changes to the budgets can be made by a vote of Commissioners Court, but said a copy of the minutes with that vote should be attached, to the budget being amended. "Taxpayers deserve to see where the money's at and how it is being spent," stated Dodson. Another concern Dodson referred to was who would make sure that the County departments that were written up by the outside auditor did something to correct whatever was noted as being done incorrectly. "I'm here, I'm a citizen, and I'm going to be participating and I am going to be watching how you score," Dodson told the Court.

Judge Freeman responded to some of Dodson's questions and remarks. "We do the outside audit to make sure the County is in good physical shape and everything is accounted for," he remarked. "I think the audit is pretty good, especially this year, we had an outside audit." It was looked at by attorneys for the jail bonds and a financial advisor from First Southwest. Also a security firm that issues insurance on bonds requested a copy of the audit before insuring the County for $10.5 million on the jail bonds. None of these people had any problem with the County's audit report, he said.

"Schalk & Smith is one of the more reasonable firms in the north Texas area to do an audit," said Freeman. "Sure we got wrote up on two or three items. There's not any auditor worth his salt that's not going to, when they do an audit, find one or two things wrong that they might write you up on. That's their job to find something that they can try and correct." He said what was written up would be corrected as best the County could and there would be an audit again next year. "As long as I'm County Judge there will be an outside audit every year just to keep everybody correct for the taxpayers. As far as I can say, everybody's not perfect in this County. Everything's not perfect in 254 counties in this state. We do the best we can do." "Mrs. Parrish has worked hard and served this County for 28 years and done an outstanding job as an auditor. This County has never been in the red. This Court has always been a very frugal conservative Court and this County's always stayed in the black. There is nothing wrong with the way this County is run. I have no problem with you watching us."

In other business Commissioners Court:
• Appointed Merle Shipoch to Place 1 on the Cooke County Child Welfare Board.

County Agent's Report

Twenty-nine states to receive funds for animal ID systems

Recently, the Agriculture Department announced the selection of 29 state and tribal projects to receive $11.64 million to advance the National Animal Identification System (NAIS).

USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service will distribute the funds through 29 cooperative agreements. States and tribes can use the funds to register premises through a standardized system provided by APHIS or through other systems that comply with NAIS data standards. Besides registering premises and establishing necessary data transfer procedures, many states and tribes also will conduct field trials or research in order to test and fine-tune ID technologies and collect animal movement data.

Applicants who did not receive funding in this round may apply again, as the president's fiscal year 2005 budget calls for $33 million for the NAIS. According to USDA, the goal of the program is for the NAIS to gain the ability to identify all animals and premises that have had direct contact with a foreign animal disease or disease of concern within 48 hours of discovery. A functioning system will also be crucial as USDA works to complete disease eradication programs currently underway.

Factors effecting Cow/calves herds

Economists say the best measure of profit in the cow-calf business is return on assets (ROA). What factors result in the highest level of ROA? A study of 148 cow-calf enterprises in the Northern Plains showed that highest ROA was associated with below average levels of investment, low annual costs, and excellent marketing, but only average levels of production. High production often comes from high cost, which can lower profit. (Proceedings of Beef Improvement Federation Annual Meeting: 2002, p. 67)

There's an obvious reason stockers and backgrounders try to milk as much gain from pasture as possible: it may not be free, but it's the best game in town.

Jason Sawyer, Texas A&M University (TAMU) stocker specialist, served up a quantitative perspective of the fact for participants at last week's TAMU Beef Short Course.

"Forage is 33% cheaper than corn and 75% cheaper than alfalfa," Sawyer said. He used a cow-calf scenario (Table 1), basing the example on a cow running on leased ground for $15/month and consuming 25 lbs. of forage/day; making for an estimated effective 2¢ cost/lb. of forage.

"Once forage value has been calculated, this cost can be compared to alternative sources of energy," Sawyer explained. "It is most appropriate to compare these options based upon units of available energy, rather than on the basis of pounds or tons of feed."

One other interesting tidbit shared at the session: as a reminder, count on losing an average of 30-40% of every round bale that you just drop off on the ground in the great wide open.

Equine Farm Tour

The Cooke County Extension Equine Committee presents their second annual Equine Farm Tour. This year the program will begin promptly at 1:00 p.m., at the North Central Texas College equine facilities. At this location Shelley Switzer, Equine Program Coordinator at NCTC, will give us an overview of the program and a tour of the facilities. We will then retire to the air-conditioned classroom for a pasture management presentation. 1 CEU, applicable towards TDA Private Applicators Licenses, will be available for this portion of the program, for those who need it.

At the conclusion of the pasture presentation we will caravan to McQuay Stables, near Tioga. This is home to all time leading reining sire, Hollywood Dun It, who has sired offspring that have earned over $3,600,000 in NRHA earnings. Upon arrival, participants will be treated to a tour of the facilities, and reigning and English riding demonstrations. Evergreen Feeds will provide refreshments.

DCP Sign-Up Continues

If you are one of the few producers who did not sign up for the Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP), you still have time. Sept. 30, 2004 is the final date to apply for the 2004 program; however it will cost you $100 per farm. Final DCP payments will be issued in October.

Non-Insurable Crop Assistance Program (NAP)

We have a NAP application deadline that is rapidly approaching. There is a $100 fee per crop up to $300 per county not to exceed $900 per producer, producer's income cannot exceed $2 million gross revenue, conservation compliance requirements must be met, and only non-insurable crops are eligible for NAP coverage. For more information contact our office.

NAP Producers with 2005 coverage must remember to complete the following to qualify for benefits; timely file acreage reports and keep track of harvested production using acceptable methods. For example, bale weights or other means of determining quantities of hay are required.

Sales closing dates for 2004 crops are as follows: Small grains-grazing, Sept. 1, 2004; Small grains-forage, Oct. 1, 2004; Native pasture-grazing, Dec. 1, 2004; Improved pasture-grazing, Dec. 1, 2004.

If you have a 2004 NAP application and suffer a crop loss, you must report that loss within 15 days of the date the loss becomes apparent, request a crop appraisal if needed and file an application for payment needs to be filed as applicable. You may continue NAP coverage on the same crop(s) for the 2005 crop year if the applicable service fee is received in our office by the earliest application closing date without having to file another application for coverage. However, if you wish to add or delete any crops to the application for coverage, you will be required to file a new application. For additional information, please contact this office.

Maintenance on DCP Acreage

DCP participants are required to control water and wind erosion and weeds including noxious weeds on ALL DCP base acres. Weeds are not an acceptable cover. Failure to control weeds or limit erosion on contract acres will cost you. Program benefits will be lost if the County Committee determines you failed to demonstrate a good faith effort to control weeds and/or erosion.

Land Changes

If you have purchased land, sold land, or are renting different land, make sure you report the changes to the FSA office after they occur. For farm ownership changes you will need to provide a recorded deed or recorded land contract.

Please Note

Office closed Sept. 6 in observance of Labor Day.

Genetic markers tag

Cargill Inc. recently revealed that through genome research, they've found the genetic markers that indicate whether cattle will produce a tender, juicy steak or just an adequate one.

Cargill says they'll use a prototype blood test the next 18 months to determine calves' potential for desirable traits.
