DISCUSS PLAN FOR FINANCING CHARITY WORK

It was the decision of a meeting of representatives of local civic organizations Monday night that immediate action should be taken concerning a charity movement during the coming winter. The meeting was attended by more than 30 representatives of service clubs and other organizations and short talks were made by representatives of each organization present.

Mr. W. D. Armstrong spoke for the Lions club and said that it would be pleased to have the meeting today and that they could be counted on to do their share toward helping the movement and that the group could depend on the club.

Other Speakers Kent Hallum spoke for the Rotary club by saying that all individual members of the club would do all possible and that it would be discussed at the next meeting with the whole program being given to charity assistance.

Dr. Power speaks for the first Presbyterian church, spoke briefly saying that he agreed with Dr. Power that the present plan of handling charity in Brownwood is very unsatisfactory and that the best way of handling the matter would be to set up a community chest with everyone helping.

Dr. Ben Shelton said that the meeting was developing into a real one and that he believed someone should be made responsible for the money and its distribution.

Dr. J. M. Horn spoke briefly, saying that one thing which was being overlooked was the unemployed who are now walking the street who will later become a real menace if not helped as they will begin to get desperate for want of food and clothing.

Dr. Power again spoke a few words saying that he agreed with Judge Davis' remarks in two respects; how much overhead will be incurred in an organized move? and, if it is not done in this manner, it will be only postponing the evil day in Brownwood.

and its relation to the new dam. He said that if it was noised about that the dam was to be started and laborers were needed it would be one of the greatest injuries that could come to Brownwood. He said that all the labor needed was already here and that no outcry for labor need come into town because it would only hinder work of local labor. He spoke of the clearing of land for the new reservoir and outlined the plans of the district in handling this matter, saying that this would be about the only aid that could be given by the water district.

He said that he wished to repeat what Judge Davis had said concerning the press reporting the movement and wished to ask that discussions and plans of meetings such as the one Monday night be included in the community chest which he believed a committee should be appointed and all work available turned over to them for distribution among those needing work.

is growing rapidly. The condition of livestock and their ranges, which had become critical in the drought-stricken areas prior to the rains, has been greatly improved. Grass and weeds on the ranges have started and with a late frost considerable pasturage should be available during the winter. The movement of livestock to market has been considerable reduced and prices have turned upward.

The review stated that trade in both wholesale and retail channels had continued on a considerable smaller scale than a year ago but that September business showed a substantial improvement over August. The department store sales in leading cities were particularly improved, 39 per cent over the previous month and but two per cent less than in September, 1929.

Commercial Loans Increase A sharp advance in the commercial loans of reserve city banks was regarded as a significant development in the financial situation these loans early in October reaching the highest point since the last days of February. The daily average of net demand and time deposits rose from $820,381,000 in August to $830,125,000 in September, but the increase was considerably less than usual at this season," the review stated. "Federal Reserve Bank Loans to member banks reflected a gradual decline during September and remained comparatively stable at around 10,000,000 during the first half of October. On October 15, these loans amounted to $40,578,327, which reflects a reduction of $4,297,487 during the six-week period, and was $19,379,639 lower than on the same date in 1929. Liquidation during the past six weeks has been general throughout the district."

The decline in construction activity from a year ago but the September activity, as measured by the valuation of building permits issued at principal centers, was 13 per cent smaller than the preceding month and four per cent below September, 1929. Shipments and new orders for lumber reflected a slight improvement over the previous month but the production and shipments of cement reflected a substantial decline as compared to both the previous month and the corresponding month last year.

'Enlarged Screen' Suit Is Looming

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 29.—(AP)—A legal battle involving the motion picture's latest departure, the enlarged screen, appears to be on the immediate horizon.

Edwin W. Clark, gray-haired inventor, today said injunction proceedings would be instituted against the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film corporation to restrain showing of its first "wide screen" production unless an accounting of profits were made to him and his associate, Charles M. Richter, New York financier, for alleged infringement on his patents.

Officials of the film company admitted Richter had telegraphed violations in their process, but denied any infringement, saying their method was developed in their studio laboratories. Richter, Clark said, also has served notice on the New York theater now showing the film, such notification being the preliminary step to legal action.

Clark's process for enlarged screening of motion picture does away with the need of special projection apparatus in the theater, he said, which makes it commercially practicable. Similar virtues are claimed by M-G-M for their process. Both films are of the "standard width" of 35 millimeters.

PILOT'S ESPERANTO

PARIS—Learn Esperanto, is the advice of Henry Farman to airplane pilots. Farman, himself a veteran pilot, urges the mastery of international language because he believes it is an invaluable aid to persons who make extended journeys in foreign countries.

'Free Tourists'

He spoke of what he termed "free tourists" as people who come into Brownwood and appeal to the charity group for help saying that they are only passing through and need money to complete their journey. With this kind it is a hard matter to deal as they can't go on if not helped and if funds are taken from the local poor to help the free tourists it works a hardship here.

Many Appeals Made

County Judge E. M. Davis was the next speaker. He opened his remarks by saying that during the past 13 months that the average number of charity seekers to the county has been three per day and that during the cold weather last year this increased to an average of five per day. He said a business man is needed to deal with the charity cases and not a person who would let sympathy rule his distribution of funds. "There are three and four times more charity cases now in Brown county than ever in history and they must be met by an organized method," he declared. He said he believed funds should be raised to care for the needy this winter, but that reporters should be ragged, stepped on or what ever other steps were necessary to keep down publicity. He said the press by advertising that Brownwood had charity funds would do more harm than good and that they should be throttled on this subject. He believes all that possibly can be done in an organized way should be accomplished, but without any publicity.

Dr. Power again spoke a few words saying that he agreed with Judge Davis' remarks in two respects; how much overhead will be incurred in an organized move? and, if it is not done in this manner, it will be only postponing the evil day in Brownwood.

Murphy speaks W. P. Murphy then stated that he was in hearty accord with any permanent organization, and that he was ready to help in any way in his power toward securing assistance for the needy in Brownwood during the winter.

Mrs. W. D. Armstrong spoke for the American Legion Auxiliary by saying that now they had numerous calls for help and that they were always ready to help and that they would do all possible toward assisting a central organization.

THE FUTURE OF THE FAIR

WHETHER the Brown County Fair Association is to continue to function will depend upon the favorable or unfavorable sale of its present property, according to the stockholders who met the other night to consider the matter. The grounds heretofore used by the Fair Association can not be used another year, it is stated, on account of the routing of highways which cut off a part of the land for right-of-way purposes; and unless this land can be sold profitably and a new site secured upon a favorable basis, the Association seems disposed to close up its business and suspend operations.

The availability of the city park property as a new site for the fair is being considered, and if that location is found to be acceptable and the cost of moving the buildings from the present fair grounds is not prohibitive, the transfer of fair activities to the park may be undertaken at an early date. The city park property lies along Pecan Bayou, and has not been improved heretofore because of the constant menace of overflows. The construction of the big water project, however, will end this danger because flood waters will be impounded in Lake Brownwood and the actual value of the park property for recreational purposes will be greatly increased. The property lies very near the route of Highways 10 and 7 as these roads enter Brownwood, contains some very attractive pecan timber, and probably could be converted into one of the best county fair sites in the country.

The Fair Association has been compelled to struggle against many difficulties from year to year, but this far has been able to overcome all obstacles and to continue the fair programs on a very helpful basis. It is hoped that the newest difficulties of the Association may not prove to be insurmountable, and that the problem of securing a new site for the fair may be solved in a satisfactory manner. The fair is worth so much to Brownwood and Brown county that it ought to be continued if there is any possible means of doing so.

NOW HE'S SANE AGAIN

NOT LONG AGO we discussed the strange case of LAZ ARCOS, who was convicted of a triple murder and sentenced to be executed in the State prison, but who was found to be unprepared for entrance into the great beyond and was granted a week's reprieve by a sympathetic Governor in order that he might seek and find salvation.

Well, as was predicted, there have been certain eventualities in the case of Senor Arcos. Before Governor Moody granted him a reprieve that saved him from electrocution on September 12th, he was sane, but unsaved. But immediately after that reprieve was given, Arcos developed insanity in his cell in the Huntsville death house. He stayed insane through two additional reprieves and a trial at Hondo. But when the jury brought in its verdict stating that he was sane his sanity returned, and he is now presumably in the death house again, awaiting electrocution on November 7th, unless something else happens. While insane it was impossible for him to pursue his spiritual research work, of course, and the conclusion is that he is still unsaved. Now we are wondering whether he can find salvation in the two remaining weeks, or whether it will be necessary to grant him an extension of time.

A YEAR-ROUND COURT

TEXAS PEOPLE must decide next Tuesday in the general election whether they are satisfied with the present Constitutional provision which makes it mandatory for the Supreme Court of this state to close up shop for a three months vacation each summer. If they are satisfied with this plan and with the delay occasioned by it in the handling of the Supreme Court's business, they will vote against the proposed amendment which would change it. But if they think the Court should be in session twelve months in the year, or for so much of that time as may be necessary to handle its business, they ought to vote for the amendment which would remove the Constitutional direction for a three months vacation.

The Supreme Court doesn't suspend its activity each summer merely because the judges are lazy or weary or for other reasons are unwilling to give a full year's service. They do it because they must; and they do not like the plan. The business of the Supreme Court is very heavy and is constantly increasing. Even a twelve months session would hardly give time enough for attending to all of it. And when the Court is on enforced vacation during the summer, business piles up to such an extent that many months of labor must be given to the task of catching up with the docket, so that decisions are handled down in job lots, the findings of the Court are often so indefinite that skilled lawyers can not interpret them, and delay after delay occurs in the work of trial courts that are attempting to dispense justice.

The Court amendment ought to be adopted. It places no undue burden upon the Supreme Court, for that judicial body will be able to arrange for adequate vacation periods for each justice. It adds nothing to the state's expenses, for no salary increases are involved in it. It does offer Texas a Supreme Court in action and available for service to all the people every week in the year instead of only three-fourths of the time; and it offers an opportunity to check some of the delay in court procedure that has become so distressing in recent years. The amendment ought to be approved.

OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE

HERETOFORE the Fourteenth Congressional District has conducted a biennial circus of its own, electing a Republican, Harry M. Wurzbach, after nominating a Democrat in the regular party primaries, and nobody paid very much attention to it. But this year the Fourteenth District and its voting next year is of national importance because the Republicans are making a desperate effort to retain their majority in Congress, and need the Congressman from the Texas district. And because it is of national importance, the people of the district seem to be more interested in the situation than ever before.

The Fourteenth District, it should be kept in mind, is a Democratic district. Mr. Wurzbach, the Republican nominee, was given less than 3,000 votes in the Republican primary. Henry B. Dielmann, Democratic nominee, received more than 60,000 votes in the party primary. Mr. Wurzbach has represented the district three or four terms by virtue of the support of Democrats, but he voted with the Republicans while on duty. He first got into Congress during the klan controversy several years ago, when a majority of the voters of the Fourteenth District refused to support the anti-klan Democratic nominee; and he has held it in spite of the active opposition of the regular Republican organization in this state, whose antagonism was aroused by Mr. Wurzbach's refusal to fit into the niche prepared for him by R. B. Creager, the party boss in Texas.

We do not know Mr. Dielmann, the Democratic nominee, but since he was regarded by 60,000 Democrats of the Fourteenth District as suitable material for Congressional representation, we hope he may triumph over his Republican opponent next week. Texas Democrats ought to be represented in Congress by Democrats.

KANSAS GETS THE AXE

IT ISN'T GOOD football ethics to permit friends of the institution to pay an athlete a salary as a "retainer" to guarantee a job after he finishes school; that is, when evidence in the case becomes public. Kansas University seems to have made the fatal mistake of permitting it to become known that Jarring Jim Bausch was receiving $75 per month from a Topeka insurance company, and as a result of that negligence is banned as a member of the Big Six Conference.

Kansas University, quite naturally, is indignant, and is demanding a thorough probe of the athletic situation in all the conference schools. There will be a probe, of course, but it probably won't develop much information. Other schools, warned of what might happen to them, are profiting by the Kansas example, and either ridding themselves of subsidized athletes or covering up the evidence.

It is just the annual fuss over professionalism in college athletics, and nothing more. Almost every large institution has a high-powered football team, and high-powered football teams are assembled by many devious means. In few colleges and universities is professionalism permitted with the knowledge of the school authorities, but there are many ways of subsidizing athletes without bringing school officials into the picture as parties to the offense; and these many ways are employed here and there to help in the development of conference champions.

Kansas University has been naughty, and has been caught, and will become a horrible example. And other naughty institutions will assume a virtuous air and rejoice greatly that nobody thus far has been able to prove anything against them.

MEN AFRAID FOR THEIR JOBS

"BUSINESS CONFIDENCE" week has been observed in Fort Worth under the inspiration of the Lions Club, and as a result ten of the major business concerns of that city have gone on record as having assured their employes that there will be no wage reductions and nobody discharged or laid off on account of slack business. It was a courageous thing for these business enterprises to do, because it pledges them to a policy that can not succeed unless the volume of their business is maintained, but none save the courageous can hope to survive in the world of commerce and industry; and the Fort Worth employes are seeking to inspire their employes with a type of courage that will aid them in doing the difficult thing they have promised to do.

One of the many causes for the widespread business depression has been that large numbers of men who heretofore have been wage earners have lost their employment, and with it their incomes, so that they no longer can be counted among the potential buyers of the products of industry. Another cause undoubtedly has been the fear of many wage earners that their employment may be lost, resulting in exaggerated economies as precautions against the expected "rainy day." As a matter of fact, many thousands of wage and salary earners who have been complaining loudly against "hard times" have been receiving the same pay and holding the same jobs throughout the past year as in the prosperous times before the depression began; but they have been frightened, and in many cases with adequate cause, by the probability that their earnings might be stopped.

When employes assure their employes that their jobs are secure, they give relief from this fear, and employes are encouraged to spend their earnings in a normal manner. After the experience of the past year, none except the very foolish are going to spend as foolishly as most of us did during the period of unlimited prosperity; but the resumption of spending by those who are able to spend will have a most beneficial effect upon every division of business and industry. The most important effect, however, of actions such as those of the Fort Worth business men is that employes who feel secure in their employment are more profitable to their employers than those who are afraid for their jobs. When a man expects to lose his job, he begins losing respect for it and interest in the welfare of his boss. There is no spirit of loyalty and enthusiasm in any organization of workers who do not know today whether they will be on the job tomorrow; and when employes begin to lose loyalty and enthusiasm their employers begin to lose money.

The Fort Worth business men, therefore, are not entirely unselfish in their action. They are loyal to the interests of their employes, of course, but they calculate that their courage in giving assurance of steady employment will be supplemented by greater efficiency and greater zeal on the part of the employes. After the depression has been ended—and it will be ended, some time—there will be another day. It will be a day when employes who have encouraged loyalty on the part of their employes will begin to cash in on their investment; and when employes who have given loyal service to employers who kept them on the payrolls during the depression will carry on without interruption their organized efforts to promote the interests of their employers. But employes, when that day comes, who have cut salaries and slashed their personnel in order to maintain profits during the period of depression, will have to secure new staffs of workers and set up new organizations and go through all the tedious processes of teaching their policies and methods to new workers, and they will have to do this at a time when labor can be secured only in a competitive market.

IMPROVEMENT TURKEY GRADES IS EXPECTED

After a thorough schooling in the grading of turkeys according to the United States standards and learning better how to feed, handle, pick, dress and pack turkeys to meet these grades, the local delegation to the turkey grading school at San Angelo last week October 20-25 returned to Brownwood expressing satisfaction with the results of this school which is the first of its kind in Texas or the Southwest. Those attending the school from here were W. E. Bradley of Central Produce Company; A. J. Jackson, Southwestern Produce Company; E. T. Garmon, McDonald Moore Produce Company; T. O. Hurst, Southwestern Poultry Association; W. S. Wolfe, Witcher Produce Company, and O. B. Singleton. O. P. Griffin and Miss Mayesie Malone, county home demonstration agents, respectively of Brown county attended part of the school and met with 175 other agents from the west half of Texas in annual district meetings held at San Angelo by the A. & M. College Extension Service.

For Uniform Grades. The big idea of the grading school as outlined to local representatives was to lay the foundation for buying and selling Texas turkeys on uniform grades recognized the nation over; to improve the quality of Texas turkeys; to avoid the discrimination often held against Texas turkeys; and to create stronger local markets for the turkey crop. Of a total attendance of 144 at the school, there were 93 dealer and cooperative association representatives working for federal grading licenses from 52 Texas cities.

The school was held under the joint auspices of the A. & M. College Extension Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture, with instructors furnished by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Seven out of ten years the Christmas turkey market beats the Thanksgiving market, the representatives were told by T. W. Heltz of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and five out of ten years the January market is equal to or better than the Christmas market. This is of immense importance to Texas turkey raisers, he said, because it is very difficult to produce prime grade turkey in Texas by Thanksgiving time due to the fact that a turkey waits until real cold weather to put on fat and free itself of pin feathers. This fact alone accounts for much of the discrimination against Texas turkeys in the terminal markets, and Texans should awake to the opportunity that awaits them most years in the later markets when Texas turkeys can be made to grade high and command premiums Mr. Heltz pointed out.

Other Factors. In addition to immaturity, lack of fat, and excessive in feathers, turkeys are graded down because of careless handling and poor bleeding, the turkey students were shown. Tying wings or feet, loading in shallow crowded coops or any kind of rough handling from farm to market, or in the dressing plant will produce bruises which materially reduce the grade. Feed left in the crop quickly sours and unless the crop is carefully removed at the dressing plant, the grade may be lowered as much as two or three cents per pound. Even if removed, such a turkey cannot make the prime grade which is highest. Other er grades are choice, medium and common, all four grades being further qualified by age and sex. As a follow up of the turkey grading school many county and home demonstration agents are planning one day turkey schools in co-operation with local dealers to acquaint farmers with the grade requirements the kind of turkey to keep at home for further feeding, and how to meet the increasing demand for quality. O. B. Martin, director of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, announced at the conclusion of the San Angelo session.

Up to October 1, Alabama farmers had been loaned $8,548 in connection with the government's drought relief program.

PROHIBITION REPORT WILL BE MADE AFTER NOV. 5

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(P)—The variance of conditions prevailing under the prohibition law in different sections of the country is improving a problem to President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

Not only do the multitudinous prohibition reports now in the hands of the ten men and one woman on the commission show varying results in scattered sections of the nation but they reveal fluctuations in the same localities.

Despite the problems besetting them, however, there is evident a determination within the ranks of the commission members to get the job of reaching a decision on the prohibition question over with as early as possible.

COUNTY AGENTS WELL PLEASSED WITH MEET HELD AT SAN ANGELO

Miss Mayes Malone, county home demonstration agent, and O. P. Griffin, county farm agent, returned Saturday afternoon from San Angelo where they attended a meeting of county agents, home demonstration agents, district agents and college specialists from five districts in this section of the state. The meeting opened at 9 o'clock Thursday morning and closed at noon Saturday.

More than two hundred county and district agents attended the meeting and the time was given over mostly to round table discussions of farm and home problems and plans for the work of farm and home demonstration agents during the winter.

"William," said the boss, "there will be a vacancy here soon and I'm thinking of giving your twin brother the job!"

Geese Flying South

Note.—The following was written by Ernest E. Kirkpatrick, vice-president of the Tom Slick Oil Company, in memory of his friend, Mr. Slick, whose death occurred during August. Mr. Kirkpatrick is a Brownwood citizen, formerly a member of the editorial staff of The Bulletin, and a gifted writer as well as a successful oil man and widely known sportsman. The lines appearing below were inspired by a little news item in a Texas paper, telling of the early flying of geese and ducks with the accompanying prediction of an early fall and a hard winter.

There's an autumnal tinge in the twilight.
There's the call of wild geese in the air,
There's a myriad of ducks
And the limit of ducks
Awaiting my coming down there.

There's a long line of blinds on the bay shore.
There's the boats, the decoys and the guides;
There's a gleam of a light
From the clubhouse at night,
And the swish of the waves and the tides.

There's the flash of the deer at the dawning,
There's the howl of the coyote at night,
There's the whippoorwill's call
By the lone waterfall,
And the November moon's yellow light.

So I take down my gun from the closet,
I reach for my boots by the door,
But my memories call
To the great hunt last fall
And the one who is with me no more.

And my fingers grow palsied and tremble
And tears fill my eyes to the brim;
There's a pain in my heart
Like a quivering start
When memory runs backward to him.

There's a space by the fireside that's vacant,
And a chair by the table that's bare,
And a great empty coat
And his place in the boat
And the fun he will never more share.

So I reckon I'll skip this one season,
For the hunting may not be so good,
And the pleasures of him
Will need to grow dim
By the seashore, the hills and the wood.

So, old friend, as I sit retrospecting
On a friendship that ever was true,
I'll drink one more drink
And you'll get what I think—
When I turn down an empty for you.—Kirk.

FAIN URGES SUPPORT PROSPERITY CAMPAIGN OF BROWNWOOD FIRMS

A talk by Ben A. Fain on "Prosperity" was the feature on the program of the regular Tuesday noon luncheon of the Brownwood Lions club at the Southern Hotel. Mr. Fain gave excerpts from articles on prosperity, saying that most business men were of the opinion that there is a revival of business at hand and are optimistic in their outlook. He stated that the "Buy something you need today" more, sponsored by the Brownwood Business and Professional Women's club was a very good thing and that the merchants should co-operate in putting it over. "Brownwood people should talk good times and especially the bankers should be more optimistic," he said.

Lion Sterling Holloway explained to the Lions the steps taken at a meeting of civic club members at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Monday night toward supporting organized charity in Brownwood. Judge E. M. Davis also explained the charity situation in Brownwood and said that instead of the ministers of the city administering charity, a man should be employed and paid to have charge of the charity work when a fund has been raised.

COUNTY COUNCIL OF P. T. A. ASSOCIATIONS IS REORGANIZED HERE

For the purpose of reorganizing the County Council of Parent-Teachers Association and to make plans for the future work of that group, representatives of several rural school P. T. A. organizations met at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the county court room.

Mrs. A. E. Wilson, a district P. T. A. officer and a representative of the Brownwood City P. T. A. Council, directed the meeting in which talks were made on various phases of P. T. A. work. Mrs. E. B. Clardy of Woodland Heights spoke on: "The Seven Objectives of Parent-Teacher Associations," and the work of such clubs was heartily endorsed in a brief talk by L. A. Nunn of Brooksmith.

An effort was made to have as many school communities represented as possible in the officers who were elected, as follows: Mrs. W. C. Broughton of Early High, president; Mrs. C. M. Kilgore of Zephyr, recording secretary; Mrs. D. A. Drake of Winchell, treasurer; Mrs. C. A. Earp of Early High, publicity chairman; Mrs. Farner of Williams, first vice-president; Mrs. Patsy Pulliam of Bangs, second vice-president; Mrs. E. M. Kilgore of May, third vice-president; L. A. Nunn of Brooksmith, fourth vice-president; Mrs. R. E. Fort of Blauket, fifth vice-president; Mrs. Sallee of Indian Creek, sixth vice-president; and Mrs. L. N. Franklin of Woodland Heights, seventh vice-president.

FORMER BROWNWOOD MAN DIES IN LOS ANGELES LATE SUNDAY

Louis Kilker, 36, for many years a citizen of Brownwood, died in Los Angeles, California, Sunday afternoon at 5:30, according to information received by his sister, Mrs. J. Day, of 1507 Durham Street, this city. Mr. Kilker had returned to work only last week after being incapacitated from an attack of pneumonia in August. He was stricken with meningitis about the middle of the week and succumbed Sunday.

Mr. Kilker was born February 18, 1894, at Nance, Kentucky, but when two years of age the family moved to Brownwood. Here Mr. Kilker lived until seven years ago, when he with his father, G. B. Kilker, and three brothers, went to California.

Mr. Kilker was educated in Brownwood schools and was a student in both Brownwood colleges, and played football with both schools. He enlisted in the United States Army after war had been declared on Germany and served with an artillery regiment in France.

Mr. Kilker is survived by his father, three brothers, Raymond, Forrest and Charles, all of Los Angeles, two sisters, Mrs. Urban Spee of San Diego and Mrs. J. M. Day, of Brownwood.

HIGHWAY CONTRACTS FAR UNDER ESTIMATES EHLINGER DECLARES

A saving of more than $42,000 was made at the recent letting of contracts for the construction of Highway No. 10 from Brownwood to the McCulloch county line, according to Leo Ehlinger. The estimate for the construction as given by Mr. Ehlinger was almost $42,000 more than the amount for which the contract was let. During the week before the letting of the contract there were more than 35 contractors who visited Brownwood and inspected the proposed route. This was the largest number of contractors to inspect any route in the county.

The competition was very keen at Austin and practically every bid entered was below the engineer's estimate. A large saving also made in the letting of the Pecan Bayou bridge and the road connecting it with the present highways. The bids for this strip were asked separately and as a result the Cagle Company was awarded the bridge contract while a San Angelo contractor was awarded the grading contract.

With the completion of the inking of plans for the Colorado bridge it is believed that the contract for this structure, which is considered as an emergency bridge, will be let before the first of the year. With the letting of this contract the only remaining road out of Brownwood will be Highway No. 7 toward Zephyr, which is surveyed and on which a contract will be let soon, completing the present highway system in Brown county.

GAINED TWELVE POUNDS BY TAKING ARGOTANE

Breckenridge Man's Kidneys and Other Troubles Now Gone and He Feels Like New Person.

"When I tell you my husband has been relieved of twenty years' aching suffering and actually gained 12 pounds in weight besides, you can readily understand why we are so strong for Argotane," was the remarkable statement made by Mrs. W. W. Poston, of 311 West Sixty Street, Breckenridge, Texas recently. "He had a number of troubles," she continued, "and it's the first time in several years he has been rid of kidney disorder. Before he began taking Argotane he would lose a lot of sleep on account of getting up so many times during the night, and he had a tired, nervous, groggy feeling all the time through the day. He had no appetite and nearly everything he would eat disagreed with him. His food would sour and the gas would press on his heart so he could scarcely breathe. Besides his terrible suffering he had an awful tired feeling and would wake up in the morning feeling so tired no account he could hardly get out of bed.

"He tried every kind of treatment and medicine he heard of but got no relief until he began taking Argotane, but three bottles of the medicine have made him feel like a new man through and through. I have never in all my life seen him have such a ravenous appetite and you may know everything agrees with him or he could never have gained back his normal weight, which is 170 pounds. He sleeps all night long without waking and his nerves are steady as a clock, all that groggy, dizzy feeling has left him entirely and he is never bothered any more with gas on his stomach, shortness of breath or other signs of indigestion. You may count us among the many Argotane boosters and you are welcome to this statement which I hope will be the cause of others finding relief." Genuine Argotane may be bought in Brownwood at the Camp-Bell and Peerless Drug Stores. (adv.)

Third Story Elks Building Discussed

There has been some discussion of adding another floor to the Elks hall at the corner of West Lee and Brown streets, but members of the lodge said today that there had been no definite action taken in the matter and no decision as to the advisability of making the move.

Some of the members have suggested that this be done and as soon as possible and there has been quite a bit of discussion of it. W. Lee Watson, member of the lodge, said today when questioned on the matter that the question was to be taken up by the lodge at an early meeting and that it would be decided by the members whether or not they would build another story to the building.

11TH DISTRICT CONDITION IS NOW IMPROVED

DALLAS, Oct. 29.—(UP)—Improvement in agricultural, commercial and live stock conditions in the eleventh federal reserve district was reported in the October business review of the Dallas bank today.

"Soaking rains early this month relieved the prolonged drought, left a good season in the ground and created a brighter outlook for agriculture and business, the report said."

"While trade in both wholesale and retail channels continued on a considerably smaller scale than a year ago, the month showed a substantial improvement over the preceding period," the review continued.

"Distribution of merchandise at wholesale again showed a heavy decline over a year ago, yet the increase over the previous month in some lines was more than seasonal in character. Despite the fact that business is at a low ebb, there are some indications of returning optimism and a strengthening of the undertone of confidence."

Girl Is Badly Hurt By Leopard

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 28.—(P)—Nine-year old Elnora Vowell of Colorado narrowly escaped scalping and death, as Colorado yesterday after she had been borne to the ground by a supposedly tame leopard. The animal's claws inflicted a gash in the back of the child's head extending from ear to ear, and the scalp was torn back from the skull for three inches.

The leopard, owned by a carnival man here for the week, was being exercised by the owner. It was leashed on a chair, but when a crowd of curious children came too close, it suddenly broke loose and bore the Vowell child to the ground.

The little victim was rushed to a hospital where her condition was today reported as favorable. Fate of the leopard was under consideration today, many citizens demanding that it be destroyed.

MAY DRILLING FOR SUB TILT HERE FRIDAY

MAY, Texas, Oct. 29.—(Sp)—The May High School Tigers have been working hard this week in preparation for their battle in Brownwood Friday afternoon with the Cubs of Brownwood Junior High. Several of the May boys have returned to the squad following absence because of injuries and indications are that the Tigers will be stronger than at any other time this season.

The team that takes the field against the Cubs Friday afternoon will be lighter than hitherto but anything lacking in weight will be made up for in speed. Plans are being made to bring the May girls' pep squad to Brownwood.

Brownwood Junior High has also been working plenty hard this week in an effort to present a stronger combination Friday afternoon. The Cubs are anxious to avenge the 13-0 defeat handed them by May several weeks ago.

BIG BRIDGE AT NEWCASTLE TEXAS, FALLS

NEWCASTLE, Texas, Oct. 28.—(P)—Damage estimated at more than $100,000 resulted early Wednesday morning when one of the cables suspending the 1100-foot bridge over the Brazos river, two miles southwest of Newcastle, gave way and more than half of the structure fell into the stream. The other half was left suspended in midair.

The bridge, erected in 1910, at that time claimed the distinction of being the longest bridge west of the Mississippi river. It crosses the Brazos river on highway 120 between Newcastle and Throckmorton.

This Judge Repays "Favor" To Trapper

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 29.—(P)—Magistrate Ed Lawrence is a man who will repay a favor. Five years ago he tried a defendant for catching skunks out of season and made an unpleasant mistake by permitting the evidence to be brought into court. Judicial procedure was sadly disrupted.

Yesterday Squire Lawrence had a similar case before him. The defendant, William Glickerson, was considerate enough to leave his three skunks outside before appearing for trial.

The squire assessed the trapper $5 and costs, then made him a present of the costs for being so solicitous of magisterial dignity.

YEGGS MAKE $7,000 HAUL WINDOM, TEX.

WINDOM, Fannin county, Texas, Oct. 29.—(P)—The First National Bank vault and safe were entered last night by yeggs and about $3,000 in cash and $4,000 in negotiable bonds and securities were taken.

Sheriff Bud Hughes, who came here from Bonham, the county seat, shortly after the robbery was discovered, said he believed professionals were responsible for the job. A finger print expert from Gainesville was summoned.

Entrance to the bank was made through a rear window, which had been jimmed.

A hole was cut in the rear of the vault, evidently with an acetylene drill and entrance to the safe, inside the vault, was gained in a similar manner, officers said.

The robbery was discovered by the bank janitor when he went to sweep out early today. W. E. Boaling, president of the bank, and Max Wheeler, cashier, said the loss was covered by insurance.

BROWN COUNTY SCHOOLS DOING SPLENDID WORK

Brown county schools are doing a very fine type of work, and most of them are in good financial condition. And Brown county as a whole is economically able to take care of itself, with less need for outside drouth relief than most Texas counties. These conclusions were reached by the state school aid inspector after he had visited every portion of the county, inspected many schools and conferred with school patrons in all the districts.

John Olson, state school aid inspector who has been in Brownwood for more than a week inspecting the rural schools of the county, completed his work Tuesday by visiting Williams Cross Cut and Rocky Point. In speaking of the school situation in Brown county Mr. Olson said that the schools of the county are now at a stage when it is hard to tell exactly the class of work that they are doing as they are in a formative period.

"The schools are now attempting a class of work far above their financial ability and in three or four years Brown county will have one of the most efficient rural school systems in the entire state. The work being done shows much interest by both the patrons and the trustees of the schools. It seems that the trustees as a whole have the real school spirit. By that I mean they have the interest of their various schools at heart and are doing all that they can to make them better," Mr. Olson said.

Good Teachers. "Most of the county schools are employing teachers which are beyond their means, but which will give much better instruction to the students. The condition of the schools at present shows that somebody has been doing a lot of hard work for rural schools in Brown county. The systems are all advanced and the attitude being shown when they have had more time to settle, the Brown county system will be ranked as among the best in Texas."

Mr. Olson was greatly impressed with the attendance in every school. He said that he visited many of the schools while roads were practically impassable, but that in spite of this the attendance record was above the average. He said that when he visited the Clio school, it was raining and the roads were in a terrible condition, but there was a 100 per cent attendance of the 79 students enrolled at school on that day, Monday. He spoke highly of Zephyr and Grosvenor as well as other schools for their attendance.

Future of System. In speaking of the future of the system he stated that the schools which showed the greatest prospect for future development were in the worst financial condition at present. He said there are several schools in the county which would advance very rapidly if they had adequate funds.

He commended the consolidation of Brown county school saying that the larger units, May, Zephyr, Bangs and Blanket were all working hard trying to make real schools and that with the attitude being shown they would make real schools in the near future.

"Of course, in making my observations I have to take into consideration that the schools have just opened and that they are still very unsettled and that their work at present is not what it will be later during the year. But Brown county is to be congratulated on the present system and every person in the county should be highly elated over the future prospects of the school system."

He said that one district was in as good a financial condition as any school in the state and that their tax money would more than take care of their needs. He spoke of this district very highly, saying that it had more money than it needed and did not have any bonds voted and would not need any bonds.

In concluding his school remarks, Mr. Olson said that he wished to thank all the school trustees and teachers of every one of the 32 schools visited for the treatment and assistance which they had given him in making his survey.

Mr. Olson said that when the inspectors left the state department at Austin, they had been instructed to make surveys of the counties which they visited with the view of drouth relief. He said the department of education and Mr. Marrs were more than anxious to assist in any way possible in obtaining relief through legislation or any other means for the 82 counties stricken.

In speaking of Brown county, Mr. Olson declared that by talking to farmers, merchants and bankers he had found that between eight and ten per cent of the people of the county were in actually destitute circumstances and needed immediate relief. This eight or ten per cent are in addition to the class which would not work if they had jobs, and are really deserving people who should be given assistance.

RELIEF PLAN FOR HOLIDAYS IS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Nearly a quarter of a million persons will be employed in the postal service during the Christmas holiday season under a plan devised by Postmaster General E. A. Tamm to give the maximum of aid in relieving distress due to unemployment.

Under the plan the department expects to spend $6,720,000 in this work. In addition to 224,000 temporary clerks, carriers and laborers, the department will employ 3,240 extra railway mail clerks, 1,000 additional helpers in the motor vehicle service, and 250 auxiliary rural carriers.

The breadwinners of destitute families will be given preference in the work. Under an executive order approved by the president and sent out today by the postmaster general, the civil service qualifications for the extra workers have been waived. Postmasters have been directed under today's instructions to employ to the fullest extent possible competent men with families to support and who are now out of work. The postmaster general said: "Postmasters will cooperate with federal relief agencies and local charitable organizations in selecting temporary help, always stressing the necessity of excluding those incapacitated by the handling of Christmas mail."

The most thorough inquiry must be made by postmasters to verify statements submitted by applicants as to their need of employment and as to their fitness for employment in the handling of the United States mails. "The instructions to postmasters specifically pointed out that no regular clerk, carrier or laborer would be permitted to work overtime exceeding two hours a day, excepting such trained distributors as are needed to insure a speedy and uninterrupted flow of the mail. In addition it was set out that classified substitutes would not be employed for more than 12 hours a day and temporary employes shall not work more than ten hours a day."

FINISH SURVEY OF NEW ROUTE TO INDIAN GAP

The permanent survey of the right-of-way from Friddy to Indian Gap along the new road being constructed from Brownwood to Hamilton was completed last week. The new route surveyed shows a total distance of 5.1 miles between the two towns as compared to the present road which is 8 miles in length. The new route is over much better ground than the present location and will be easier to keep in repair than the route being used at present.

The Hamilton county commissioner for the precinct which includes Indian Gap is negotiating for the right-of-way in Hamilton county which is approximately half the distance between the two places. The right-of-way which he is seeking will be 100 feet wide and it is expected that the construction of the road in Hamilton county will be started soon, as all indications point to early purchase of the required land at a reasonable price.

New Direct Route When this road is constructed it will make a direct route from Brownwood to Hamilton, which will be a distance of only 50 miles. The new route will be in a new territory for Brownwood beyond Zephyr, as at present all business in that section goes to other places. The territory thus opened to Brownwood merchants covers a distance of more than 40 miles and is not reached by any other route running east and west. At present it is served by one highway, that being the Pecan Belt highway between Goldthwaite and Comanche. There is no railroad serving this vast territory and only the two roads, the new road sponsored by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce and the Pecan Belt highway.

It is thought that when the road from Brownwood to Hamilton is completed with culverts, bridges and grades it will be an easy matter to have it designated by the Highway Commission as it will be a logical east to west route from points east of Hamilton into West Texas. The right-of-way is 100 feet wide over most of the distance and the rest is at present 60 feet wide and can be easily changed into a 100 foot road it is believed. A trade extension trip will be made Thursday afternoon by more than 30 Brownwood merchants over the new road and they will meet people of the Indian Gap community at a banquet there Thursday night. Plans for the trip are being made by Elmer Haynes, chairman of the road committee.
