Precinct #4 purchases land for new County barn and EMS substation

By Janet Felderhoff
It's been some time in coming to fruition, but Precinct #4 Commissioner Virgil Hess received approval from Commissioners Court at the Monday, June 13 meeting to sign contracts with landowners to purchase property. The County bought 10 acres from Chris Cagle to build a new Precinct #4 County Barn and EMS substation. Plans are in progress to have EMS substations in several areas of the County to better serve its citizens. Land had already been purchased to build a substation in the eastern end of the County.

Price paid for the 10 acres from Cagle is $50,000. A 0.86 strip of land purchased from Nortex Communications for $8,630 will serve as the access road from Hwy. 82 to the new County land.

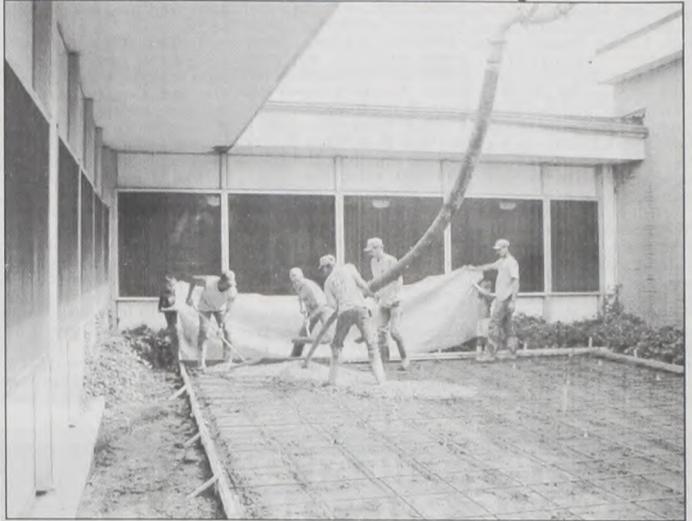

Asked why he had decided to move the Precinct #4

County Barn outside the City limits, Commissioner Hess said, "Mostly room. There's not enough room where we're at with two acres even. So in order to build a new facility I need to have more property. We're going to have to build an EMS building, and have to drill a water well, and all that anyway, so I decided to just combine them and save some money."

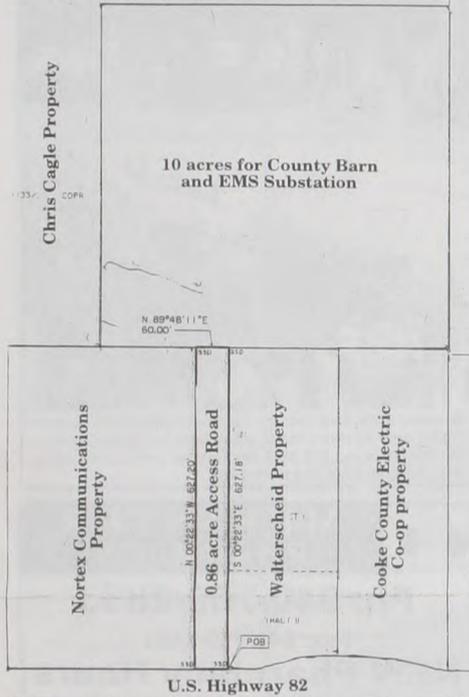

An acre of the two acres that the County Barn presently sits on was acquired from Muenster ISD in exchange for work that Precinct #4 did for Muenster ISD several years ago to put in a parking lot. Hess said that the land in the City limits will be sold after the new County Barn is completed.

Commissioner Hess also requested and got approval for budget amendments for the Precinct #4 budget. He said he was a little short on the amount needed to purchase the land. He asked for $55,130. That included $1,200 for closing costs, $800 for the survey, $14,500 to drill a water well, $8,000 for a septic system, and $22,000 to fence the property and pave the road.

Work begins on patient patio for Muenster Memorial Hospital

Patients at Muenster Memorial Hospital will soon have a new place to relax outdoors and visit with family or friends. Dangelmayr Construction, Inc. poured a patio slab and sidewalk Tuesday for the Hospital Auxiliary's project. This is the first step towards what the organization hopes to make into an attractive and inviting area, complete with seating surrounded by beautiful foliage. Petition requests action on Proposition 13

By Janet Felderhoff
Should citizens 65 and over and those with disabilities get a tax break? That is a decision that a group of County citizens is asking Cooke County Commissioners to make. They have the choice of voting to give the tax break or setting an election date to let all of the voters in the County make the decision. Kenneth Arterbury spoke for a group of 33 citizens who circulated petitions asking that the County freeze ad valorem residential homestead property taxes for those who are disabled or 65 years of age or older. He first approached Commissioners Court on the topic in June 2004 and then again in February of this year. On June 7 the number of registered voters in Cooke

County was 21,563. The minimum number required for the petition to be considered is 5% or 1,079. There were 2,126 signatures on the petition filed with County Clerk Rebecca Lawson on June 8. Arterbury noted that there were persons of all ages who signed the petition. Younger persons who signed the petition

Jerry Metzler resigns as Lindsay ISD superintendent

By Janet Felderhoff
Lindsay ISD has joined the ranks of area schools that will have a new superintendent. Jerry Metzler has resigned from the superintendent position at Lindsay to accept employment with the Education Service Center. The Board of Trustees, at a special meeting held Monday, June 13, officially accepted his resignation. Metzler said he has no plans to move from Lindsay. His wife Glenna is the counselor at Lindsay and their children attend school there.

Elementary Principal Monica Parkhill resigned her position in May. Valley View ISD hired her as the director of instruction and curriculum. Kim Otto, assistant principal at Chalmers Elementary in Gainesville has been offered the position of elementary principal at Lindsay. The Board reviewed and discussed budget items. Their only decision was to offer Clara Hellinger, the part-time school nurse, a full-time position.

An improvement to the Agriculture building was approved. A covered work area is to be added to the west side of the facility.

The new gymnasium was toured and decisions made as needed.

By agreement, the regular June meeting was delayed until June 28. It is hoped that some applications for the superintendent position can be reviewed by that date.

Sixty-nine teens attend Saturday retreat

Sacred Heart Parish hosted a one day retreat last Saturday. Ryan Sicking and Ashley Hartman were the featured speakers. The day was filled with inspirational talks, games, small group discussions, skits and prayer. About a dozen adults and four members of St. Peter's youth group, ROCK, supervised the 69 youths. Pictured above, participants burn written notes of things that they wanted to change about themselves. Watch next week's paper for more retreat pictures. Courtesy photo

VBS children go on 'Prayer Safari'

Two hundred and three children ages four years through 5th grade attended "The Kingdom of the Son"

Vacation Bible School (VBS) held at Sacred Heart June 6-10. The program was a Prayer Safari based on the Lord's Prayer. The children learned Bible stories and a Scripture verse each day. They also sang songs, played games, did crafts, and ate snacks. During the week the children collected items and donations for ABBA Women's Center in Gainesville.

Directors for this year's VBS were Lisa Miller and Clarissa Hess. Denise Pagel was in charge of crafts, Tina Weinzapfel and Lee Ann Mollenkopf coordinated the music and the closing celebration; Jill Reiter was in charge of snacks; and coordinating the nursery was Grace Bezner.

expressed concern that their parents would lose their homes," said Arterbury. "Many of the younger voters who signed the petition told us they were willing to sign because they realized that they will benefit from the tax freeze when they reach 65."

Arterbury pointed out that when the issue was on the ballot for the State of Texas in 2003, 81% of the voters statewide and 77% in Cooke County voted to approve the property tax freeze.

Using figures obtained from Cooke County Appraiser Doug Smithson on May 5, Arterbury said that Cooke County has 41,850 residential homesites, and that only 3,525 of those are owned by persons 65 and older or disabled. That indicates that approximately 8.5% of the total property owners would receive the property tax freeze, he said.

County Judge Bill Freeman said that he has promised a public hearing on the proposed tax freeze. Arterbury asked if they would consider voting now. The Judge said the item was not posted as an action item and could not be voted on.

Arterbury said the right thing for the Commissioners

Court to do was to vote in the freeze without an election, since the voters had already voted for it. Judge Freeman said that when people voted in 2003 it was for a Constitutional amendment that authorized an election on the matter.

Freeman inquired as to whether Arterbury felt that the 2,000 people who signed the petition should decide for the 21,000 plus voters in the County or the 40,000 residents to freeze a section of the tax base.

Another thing to consider is that somebody will have to make up the difference and that will be the younger homestead owners and business owners. Judge Freeman added, "Any taxing entity can only raise 7.9% more revenue, not taxes, than they raised last year. If you freeze a section of your tax base, a rollback is 8%, if it is frozen for the section and can't be raised, and you raise the taxes, some people may be getting a 10 or 12% increase without the option of a rollback because they are having to make up for this freeze. Is that right or wrong?"

Precinct #3 Commissioner Al Smith applauded the group's effort to get the petition. He said he supported an election to decide on the homestead property tax freeze.

"I personally am not for a tax freeze just because someone turns 65," Smith remarked. "I do not believe the reasoning that when you turn 65 you automatically have less income, less wealth, less ability to pay. I can't say the same thing for disability. I recognize that there are disabilities that cause problems. I think that single parents, single moms with kids, people who've been laid off, there are many classes of people that I can identify and say, 'these people are having a hard time paying their taxes and they are not able to pay.'"

"I don't think that just because we turn 65 we can stop the world and get off. On the County taxes, I continue to drive the roads, I continue to want ambulance service, I continue to want fire service, I continue to want the Sheriff to come visit me, I continue to want all these things. Yet I'm saying to the younger people, 'You pay my bill'. In time what will happen is what we saw in Gainesville. The younger people will look back at the older people and say, 'Quit voting on this, it's not affecting you anyway.' I'm not willing to participate as being part of a society that says just because I turned a certain age I will no longer pay my fair share."

A Public Hearing was set for Tuesday, June 21 at 10 a.m. Those wishing to speak must arrive 30 minutes prior to the meeting and sign in at the Judge's office located on the first floor of the Courthouse. Public comment will be limited to not more than five minutes per person.

Don Blakely with ES&S Voting DRE Machines demonstrated two models that would be suitable to bring the County's voting precincts into compliance with HAVA (Help America Vote Act). A demonstration was scheduled for Wednesday, June 15 by another company. HAVA will require that each voting precinct offer a voting machine for people who are visually impaired or have some other physical handicap that prevents them from voting without assistance with the current ballot method.

One machine uses a paper ballot and would allow the County to continue using that method where most voters would not use a machine to vote. The other is a paperless machine. In the event that a recount is needed, there is a method to go into the machine and count the votes on each ballot again.

The paperless machine is less expensive than the one using a paper ballot. All voters would have to use a machine to vote if this option is chosen.

Election judges from around the County were present for the demonstrations. They seemed to favor the paperless ballot. There were 14 present and 12 voted for the paperless method, while the other two preferred paper. One remarked, "We'll all have to learn to do that sooner or later." Commissioner Virgil Hess noted that he feels many voters his age and older wouldn't feel comfortable voting with a machine.

In other business Commissioners Court:

- Approved proclamations honoring Lindsay Knights UIL Elementary State 1A Academic Champions, Lindsay Knights UIL High School State 1A Academic Champions, Lindsay Knight Boys Track Relay Teams for winning the 1A State Championship, and Lindsay Knight Chelsea Hermes for winning the State Track Championship.

- Heard a report from Cooke County Library Director Jennifer Spence. She said that there are currently 120 children signed up for the summer reading program that runs from June 7 through August 30. Children have another week to come to the Cooke County Library and have their handprint placed on the wall of the children's area. The Library will be closed for several days so that the staff can complete their work bar coding the books. It will probably be the week of July 4.

- Tabled a decision on update of rates for equipment and operators for projects. This is mostly for work done in interlocal agreements with entities such as Muenster and Callisburg.

- Tabled decision on request to install a fresh water line about 4/10 of a mile from the intersection of FM 372 and Spring Creek Road (should have read Spring Road).

- Tabled a request by Cimmarron Transportation a subsidiary of HEP Oil Company to place a six inch gas pipeline along CR 424 (should have said CR 426) west to CR 355, then south along CR 355 to Hwy. 82. Publication of correct road names will give property owners notice so that they can bring any objection to Commissioners Court before a vote is taken.

- Approved bond for Terry C. Sawyer, investigator for the District Attorney's office.

- Approved bond for William Strakos, jailer for Sheriff's office.

- Reviewed Preliminary Budget and adopted schedule for departmental hearings from June 27 through July 29.

- Amended the budget in the amount of $41,256.65 for TxDOT right of way purchased on FM 371. This agreement was signed in October 1999 and the cost at the time was estimated at $26,500.

Muenster State Bank held its Customer Appreciation Day on Friday, June 10, with a Hot Dog and BBQ Sandwich Cookout. 300 Hot Dogs and 300 BBQ Sandwiches were served along with chips, cookies, and lemonade.

From My Side Of The Fence
BY ED CLER

I think it was 1937, or near, when Gus Reiter prevailed on my dad to use his truck and a driver, if possible, to haul his wheat from a farm just north of Dub True's home place. John and Cooney Fette would be there with their independent threshing rig in a few hours.

Well, Dad sent me and the truck to help him out, since the truck was not busy at the time. Mr. Reiter had already engaged a truck and driver from Joe Felderhoff to help.

The two trucks were almost identical. Each would nicely hold 125 bushels, and the two could handle it, but we still had to scoop it to a big bin, and the name of the game was "hurry".

Joe Streng was the other guy, and as the afternoon wore on, we just waved at each other as we passed. About 6 in the evening, they finished the job, and one of the threshing men called all hands, and opened a keg of beer that was well chilled.

Music ministers were Ruth Felderhoff and Christy Hesse. Sacred songs included "Be Not Afraid", "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman", "How Great Thou Art", "Ave Maria", and "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name".

Remarks of remembrance were given by Edna Smith.

Burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery was directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Pallbearers were grandsons, Greg Swirczynski, Michael

Katie Swirczynski

Swirczynski, Cody Swirczynski, and Mark Donnelly, and two grandsons-in-law Charles Lamahieu and Shawn Pratt.

Blood drive set as blood supply is critical

Texoma Regional Blood Center has put out an urgent call for blood, as a rash of recent accidents and surgeries has depleted the local blood supply.

The Texoma Regional Blood Center will be conducting a blood drive at North Texas Medical Center in Gainesville on Friday, June 17, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For more information on the blood drive, contact Gayla Blanton, Director of Community Relations at NTMC, (940) 612-8373, or any Gainesville Kiwanis Club member.

Boy, they all went for that. It did taste good, and about then Joe and I got to talk for the first time that afternoon. "How can you still be feeling so good, now?" Joe asked.

Well, I never had a chance to tell him that every time I got to the granary and just got started to unload, Mrs. Reiter would appear in the alley-way, with a big smile, and a bottle of cold home brewed beer in one hand, and two crackers and a small piece of cheese in the other.

Well, Joe looked a bit downcast as he said, "I didn't get any." What he didn't know was the Cler's and Reiters were always friends.

Purcell, Reed exchange vows in Sacred Heart Church

By Elfreda Fette
Tiffany Purcell and Jonathan Reed, both of Muenster, were married in Sacred Heart Church on April 9, 2005, in a double ring wedding ceremony officiated by Father John Ohner OSA, pastor, at 7 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Roy and Connie Purcell of Gainesville, and the granddaughter of William and Dorothy Purcell and Paula and the late George Bush.

She graduated from Era High School in 2001, and from IBS, the International Business School, in Denton in 2002. She is employed by Muenster Memorial Hospital in medical billing.

The groom is the son of Jerry and Jo Ellen Reed of Muenster. He graduated from Muenster High School in 2001. He is employed by Cooke County Electric Co-op as a lineman.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing an elegant, formal, straight line white gown with a beaded bodice, accented with a band embroidered to match the beading on the bodice; and spaghetti straps across her shoulders. She wore a beaded tiara.

Nystrom achieves State TIP recognition

Sacred Heart School student John Nystrom was honored at the 2005 Duke University 7th Grade Talent Identification Program (TIP) State Recognition Ceremony at the University of North Texas College of Math and Sciences on May 31, where he was presented with a medallion embossed with the TIP logo. To qualify for state recognition, a student must score at or above the national average on at least one part of the SAT or the ACT college entrance exam. John scored well above the national average in both the English and Reading sections of the ACT, missing Grand Recognition qualification by one point. Students who qualified at the Grand Level scored at or better than 90% of the juniors or seniors in high school who took the college entrance exams and represent 2% of the entire Talent Search population. John was one of six students in his seventh grade class who qualified to participate in the TIP Talent Search by scoring in the 95th percentile or above on the nationally standardized Stanford 10 Achievement test. Five of the students chose to participate in the Talent Search by taking the ACT or SAT, with Ian Barnhill coming within one point of receiving State Recognition for his ACT Science score. Duke TIP provides participants with comparative information concerning their academic abilities and resources for unique educational opportunities. The goal of the program is to assist young people with excellent mathematical or verbal aptitude.

Nortex awards Fuhrman Memorial Scholarships to two area graduates

Once again this year the Gene Henry Fuhrman Memorial Scholarship was awarded to two area graduating high school students to help further their education.

Cheryl Knabe from Lindsay High School was selected to receive $1000 from the Gene H. Fuhrman scholarship fund and was presented a certificate at the graduation ceremony on May 27, and a $500 scholarship certificate was awarded to Tara Swirczynski from Muenster High School on the same night.

Cheryl Knabe is graduating from Lindsay High School and is ranked number three in her class. She is the daughter of Dominic and Collette Knabe. Having been accepted to Texas A & M University, she plans a career in computer science and mathematics.

Cheryl says she wants to work a few years for a larger company and then return home to work. While in college, she is interested in volunteering for an organization to help provide care and comfort for others.

Tara Swirczynski graduated number seven in her class from Muenster High School. She has been accepted to the University of Texas at Austin. Her plans are to major in the Public Relations field and hopes that Nortex will have a job for her when she returns to Muenster to live and raise a family.

Tara is the daughter of Dale and Jill Swirczynski of Muenster and says that she will be the first one to attend a university and has high expectations for herself.

She has volunteered for many local organizations including Keep Muenster Beautiful, where she currently holds the adult office of vice president of the Board of Directors. "Her ability to get the youth of her school involved in volunteer activities that ensure Muenster is clean and beautiful in order to attract quality tourism and business for the community, is a tremendous strength indicative of her character and leadership abilities," says Mary Lee Alford, past president of Keep Muenster Beautiful.

Sacred Heart Varsity Cheerleaders attend camp in Denton, June 6-9

The Sacred Heart Varsity Cheerleaders attended the 2005 ACA Summer Cheerleading Camp on June 6-9, at the University of North Texas in Denton. The girls went to camp with over 350 other cheerleaders and competed against many squads with over 20 girls. The girls were accompanied by Annette Bayer, who stayed the night with the girls, Rhonda Walterscheid, who stayed with the girls during the day, and their sponsor Nicole Hennigan, who stayed with them in the evenings.

The girls had very strict workouts every day for the few weeks before camp to make sure they would come home with many ribbons and honors. At camp, the girls learned many new cheers, chants, dances, stunts, and leadership skills. During the leadership period, they established their goals and a squad tradition for the 2005-06 year. Every night they would end their day with either individual or team competitions.

The girls received the honorable Bid to Nationals, Camp Champion, Finalist and 4th place in the All-Star Stunt Team. In team evaluations, they received two 3 Star Ribbons and two 4 Star Ribbons, which is an excellent rating. Kara Felderhoff was chosen to be on the All Star Team. Also, Shannon Hartman and Whitney Wimmer were asked to apply for the future ACA Cheerleading Staff. Sacred Heart's new mascot, Kristina Koesler, also known as Tina the Tiger, received the Most Improved Mascot's Award.

The girls had a wonderful time and brought home many honors and memories. As a fundraiser, the Sacred Heart Cheerleaders are putting on a Lock-In for any girls Preschool through 8th grade. The Lock-In will be June 17 and 18 in the Muenster KC Hall. Forms can be turned in at Hess Furniture. The camp fee is $20 per camper and $15 for each additional family member. Don't miss out and please come join in on all the fun!

Too much water can be harmful in athletics

Drinking water during a long-distance race may do serious harm rather than keep you safe from injury if you're drinking too much, according to cardiologist Dr. Benjamin Levine at UT Southwestern Medical Center.

Runners or any long-distance athletes who drink too much water during a race could put themselves at jeopardy for developing hyponatremia, a condition marked by a loss in the body's sodium content that can result in physical symptoms such as lethargy, disorientation, seizures, and even respiratory distress.

Competitive runners are less likely to suffer from hyponatremia. "Those who are running to finish the race very fast don't have time to drink a lot of water along the way," Dr. Levine said. "Those who are not running the race competitively tend to stop at every water station and take a drink. Over the course of a long race, they can dilute themselves."

In addition, popular sports drinks don't always include enough sodium to offset the body's loss of the mineral during exercise. The drinks often carry more water with smaller concentrations of salts than are normally found in the human body; therefore, they do not replace salts adequately, said Dr. Levine.

People lose water and salts from their bodies at different rates during exercise, he said. Heat and humidity also play a role in the rate of this loss. Calculating fluid loss is as simple as weighing yourself before and after exercise and comparing that number to the amount of fluid you consumed throughout.

He also added that taking along salty snacks to eat during the race is a good way of combating hyponatremia. Generally, athletes of all types are instructed prior to activities that water consumption is necessary to prevent illness from heat and to maintain performance levels.

It is also clear, however, that fixed global recommendations for fluid replacement may not be optimal for individual athletes of different body types and with varying degrees of training and heat acclimatization.

The early and late ruts

What about the early and late ruts? Hunters and outdoor writers often talk about the rut being early or late. In Texas, at least, the breeding season for white-tailed deer is fairly predictable from year to year. Within a specific area, habitat conditions not only affect fawn survival, but can affect the timing of breeding. A doe in poor condition or a young doe may not breed until late in the season. A doe may be attractive to bucks for about five days, but may be willing to breed for a period of only 24 hours. If the doe is not bred during her first cycle, she will generally come into heat again about 28 days later.

In areas where there are few bucks, a doe may not encounter a buck when she is first receptive and may not be bred until one of her later cycles. A hunter, landowner or biologist who sees the late breeding activity may be convinced that there was a late rut. On the other hand, those who see does attended by bucks in the early part of the season believe there was an early rut. This helps explain the wide variety of opinions on the timing of the rut during a particular year.

"Hunter chronology" has a lot to do with the perceived timing of the rut. Traditionally, hunters are more likely to be a-field during cool weather. They will usually be out in force with the onset of the first weekend northerner during the deer season. When there are many observers spending time in the field it is more likely that breeding activity will be noticed.

Bucks, like hunters, have a tendency to move around during cool weather. Bucks with hardened antlers are ready to breed and are looking for a willing doe. More movement means more opportunity to encounter a receptive doe. This increased movement helps give rise to the idea that cold weather causes the rut. However, this theory is disproved by white-tailed deer breeding in tropical climates.

We once thought that late fawning could be a problem in areas where survival was low and antlers were poorly developed. Newly weaned fawns on the range in late fall would have a harder time surviving. A lack of adequate nutrition at this time could affect future body and antler production. The study showed that very few fawns are born late in Texas. South Texas has the latest breeding period. Even there, fawns are born before August and are weaned by October.

Lake Lewisville gives up record largemouth to pro angler

Fishing Lake Lewisville on the first day of the Bassmaster Elite 50 tournament June 1, Kevin VanDam of Kalamazoo, Michigan, hauled in a new lake record largemouth bass that was also the biggest fish he's ever caught in competition.

VanDam went on to win the four-day event, vaulted to the top of the Elite 50 standings, and pocketed a total of $106,000. He also took home a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department lake record largemouth bass certificate.

Further evidence of the quality of the fishery was the total catch for each day. On day one, 41 of the 50 anglers brought in five-fish limits. The 233 fish weighed 528lbs., seven oz. On day two there were 38 limits totaling 219 fish and 457lbs, one oz. The field was cut to 12 anglers on day three, and they produced two limits and 34 fish weighing 68lbs, 13oz. On the final day of competition, VanDam brought in the only limit among the six anglers left, who brought in a total of 12 fish weighing 22lbs, 10oz.

GAME WARDEN REPORTS

Game Wardens Like to Fish Too — An Aransas County game warden was wadefishing in Aransas Bay on a day off recently. The speckled trout were being cooperative, as the game warden was catching a few keeper fish and releasing the undersize schooling fish. A neighboring fisherman not far from him was not being as conservative. The game warden waded his way toward the unsuspecting subject and asked if his day was going all right. The subject stated that everything was just fine as long as the game warden did not show up. A very surprised and very shocked subject got a real close up look at the badge, and the subject now has a date with the Justice of the Peace in Rockport.

GAME WARDEN REPORTS

Keeps Running into and Over Game Wardens
 Bowie County game wardens filed several cases, three of which were BWIs. First subject blew a .103 and a .101, the second subject — the same person who ran Warden Hervey over with a four-wheeler two years ago — blew a .140 and .140. The third subject, who claimed to have been credited with the first BWI ever written on Lake Wright Patman back in 1994, blew a .193 and a .180. The third subject is now also known as the first repeat BWI offender on the lake. Cases are pending.

TEXAS FARM BUREAU

COUNTY AGENT'S REPORT

Trans-Texas Corridor bill passes in the final hour

HB 2702 passed in the last hours of the session. This bill was the vehicle used to address many concerns of rural Texans regarding the Trans-Texas Corridor Plan. Issues addressed included a limitation of ancillary facilities, as well as a two-year moratorium on building such facilities with the exception of Travis and Williamson Counties. Any groundwater used for the production for the TTC must adhere to local groundwater specifications. Additionally, the Department of Transportation is prohibited from marketing water on the corridor.

The bill addresses access in relation to emergency needs, connectivity with significant FM and FR roads, as well as connectivity at state highways. HB 2702 allows for monetary consideration in situations where a landowner has lost access and experienced a decrease in property value due to severance of property by the corridor.

Texas Farm Bureau is opposed to the Trans-Texas Corridor. However, we supported efforts to provide additional protection of private property rights.

Bill exempting agriculture from electrician requirements passes

HB 1317 by Representative Joe Driver (R) of Garland has passed. This bill, as reported, provides an exemption for agriculture operations from having to use a licensed electrician. The exemption applies to buildings, structures, and equipment used in agriculture (legislation was passed in the last session which did not provide for this exemption).

Legislature approves groundwater district procedures and joint planning

HB 1763 by representative Robby Cook (D) of Eagle Lake was approved by the Senate, the House agreed with the Senate amendments, and the bill has been sent to the Governor. This bill, as reported, would create a statutory administrative procedure that a Groundwater Conservation District (GCD) must follow in adopting rules and considering permits.

The bill was amended on the Senate floor to require GCDs in a common management area to conduct joint planning. Part of the planning process will require the districts to establish the future desired condition of the groundwater resources for the area. Conditions must be reviewed every five years. Once established, each district is responsible for achieving goals.

The future desired conditions can vary for different regions of the groundwater management area. It does not have to be a "one size fits all" goal.

The amendment also added an appeals process to the state agencies whereby a landowner can challenge the future desired conditions or the management of a groundwater district. This allows a landowner to protest an action without having to first sue the GCD in court.

House approves land vacancy bill

SB 1103 by Kevin Eltife (R) of Tyler and by Representative Hughes of Mineola was approved by the Senate and House and sent to the Governor. This bill, as reported, would change the powers and duties of the General Land Office (GLO) with respect to land vacancies.

Under this legislation, the GLO would notify interested parties about a land vacancy application. The vacancy applicant must pay all expenses related to proving the vacancy; a determination of "No vacant land" by the GLO is final and is not appealable; the vacancy finder award of a mineral interest has been reduced by half, and a good faith claimant can purchase the vacant land and up to half of the mineral interest.

Education reform bill

HB 2 by Kent Grusedorf of Arlington could not be agreed upon by the House and Senate. A conference committee was appointed and worked to reach a compromise, but failed. Competing versions were passed in each chamber. The House and Senate versions had similar proposals with the goal of improving student, teacher, and school district accountability. Also, funding formulas were altered to address recent shifts in the cost of providing an education to Texas schoolchildren.

Scenic byways bill dies

HB 2051 by Representative Mike Krusee (R) of Austin died on the Senate Calendar. This bill would require TXDOT to establish a state scenic byways program and solicit federal funds to implement it. This program would allow TXDOT to have controls on private property along specified scenic byways.

BSE: WHAT DO WE KNOW?

Because of the fact that Secretary of Agriculture Mike Johanns announced during a Friday night phone conference that the animal that yielded a presumptive positive for bovine spongiform encephalopathy last November using rapid testing, and then negative for the disease after immunohistochemistry (IHC) testing was performed, has since returned a positive result under the Western blot test. We may find ourselves asking what do we really know about this disease. BSE (Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy, also known as "mad cow disease") is one of a number of TSE (Transmissible Spongiform Encephalopathy) diseases. The first report of a TSE was in 1732 involving scrapie in sheep. BSE was first observed in the United Kingdom in 1984 and was specifically diagnosed in 1987. A recent review by

Illinois researchers of 217 references summarized the current state of knowledge. The major findings of the review were: TSEs are thought to be caused by an abnormal prion protein; effects are primarily neurological (behavior changes, impaired coordination, muscle spasms, etc.); transmission is by exposure to infected tissue or residue, and the primary method for BSE seems to have been through meat and bone meal from infected animals; most mammals are potentially susceptible to TSEs; transmission between species is rare, but BSE may have arisen from sheep to cattle; there is evidence that TSEs can develop spontaneously at very low levels (possibly 1 in 1 million), so they probably can not be eradicated; and because of the low probability of transmission between species and the low levels of prion in non-nervous tissue, there is minimum risk to humans from consumption of conventional animals. While the biological risk of BSE may be minimal, the political and potential economic risk is not. If for no other reason, protection and development of export markets will be highly influenced by continued concerns about BSE. (J. Animal Sci. 83:1455)

Drip Irrigation

In this day and age, when water is in the spotlight as a critical resource, there is a great potential for water conservation using drip irrigation. Drip irrigation, also commonly known as trickle- or micro-irrigation, is merely the precise application of water where and when plants need it. The concept is not new, as the Germans and Italians worked out the basics in the 1930s.

It took the development of UV-light resistant plastic pipes and fittings to make drip irrigation practical for home gardeners. The greatest selling point for drip irrigation in its earliest applications was that great savings in water could be realized. Remember, a plant's water requirement is the same regardless of how the water is applied. Initially, water savings are realized when plants are small, and only a small volume of soil must be wet. However, as plants grow, more and more soil volume must be wet for drip to be effective. The real conservation features of drip irrigation come from the precise application of water and minimal runoff, less evaporation from an essentially closed system, and less water lost to weeds and undesirable plants, since the system is placed exactly where the desirable plants need it.

The basic component parts of a drip irrigation system are as follows: (1) water source (well or city), (2) filter, (3) delivery lines, and (4) emitters. The water source used will dictate the amount of filtration needed. If the water is sandy or dirty or from an open pond, there is a greater need for filtration as opposed to using city water. Although it is best to filter city water, it can often be used unfiltered without too much problem. However, the life of the lines and emitters can be prolonged using filtration.

Basically there are two types of drip emitters. In one, the water path is very long thus reducing the amount of water which comes out of the emitter. The other type utilizes a very tortuous or crooked path. Emitters are also designed to be either low- or high-pressure. Low-pressure emitters usually apply one to two gallons per hour at operating pressures of 2 to 5 psi, whereas high pressure emitters typically apply one gallon per hour at 15 psi.

Such devices can be purchased or made. Considering the low cost of emitters, it is best to purchase them. They can be placed at the desired spacing along a poly hose, or hose can be purchased which already have holes or emitters within. Spacing between holes varies with the product; 12-, 18-, and 24-inch spacing is common.

There are many drip irrigation products on the market. All are basically good, and there is no great advantage of one over another, but regardless of how good the products are, they all eventually stop up. Drip systems must be maintained and cared for, as with other water systems; hence, it is best to leave the emitter and loops on top of the ground so they can be checked regularly. The most practical applications for drip irrigation in the home landscape are in gardens, hedge rows, shrub or flower beds, and combinations of these along with trees.
