North Shore joins Cooke County's force of volunteer fire departments

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County has another volunteer fire department equipped and ready to serve. Cooke County Commissioners Court sanctioned North Shore Volunteer Fire Department on Monday, Nov. 27. The Court also designated grids A-13 and B-13 as the new department's primary response area. That is the very southeast corner of the County.

Cooke County Emergency Management Coordinator Ray Fletcher explained that he and Cooke County Fire Fighters Association President Herbie Knabe were approached by a group of individuals who wanted to start a volunteer fire department there. "We evaluated it and decided that from a strategic overview of the County, we certainly do need some help down in that corner," said Fletcher. "Especially with the construction that we've got happening right now."

According to Fletcher, Valley View and Kiowa are the two departments serving that area. Response time is about 13 minutes. With the location of the new department, response time should be about five to seven minutes, cutting it in half.

Three departments are called out for any structure fire, said Fletcher. North Shore will be the second or third department called on quite a number of grids in that area, he explained. He said it would fill in needed areas. "There is no question that we need them," Fletcher noted.

County Judge Bill Freeman noted that a new department would have some implication on the County since it will be another department to fund annually. Currently the County pays each volunteer fire department $6,000 a year. North Shore will not come into the County's budget until next year. They have paid for all of their equipment themselves.

Chad Johnson, Bill Tackett, Danny Ratliff, and Pat Tomlinson attended as members of the newly formed department. They said that they have already invested over $100,000 in the department and showed photos of their trucks. There are 22 members of North Shore. Of that number, 10 are paramedics certified by the state, and three fire marshals from the area have made verbal commitments to assist the department. Danny Ratliff is donating an acre of land along FM 922 to the department to build a firehouse.

"We are making a real commitment to do this and we want it to run real smooth. We want to be a shining star for this County," remarked Ratliff. Johnson said that he had an inspiration to form a department as he sat watching the County burn during the fires at Callisburg and not being able to help out.

Knabe added, "I think it will be a great asset in that area. Something needed to be done down there."

On Oct. 18, the Firefighters Association officially voted to approve the addition of North Shore. That brings the County's total volunteer fire departments to 10.

Bill Tackett serves as the first chief. The new department hopes to be able to offer training in various areas including HazMat.

Along the line of fire prevention, Commissioners considered the regulation of fire-works in unincorporated areas of the County since drought conditions exist. Fletcher confirmed that Cooke County is now in extreme drought according to the current indicator map. Neither he nor Knabe felt that action was necessary yet. "It was a lot worse last year at this time," said Fletcher. "The freeze this Thursday will make a difference." He recommended waiting two weeks to make a decision.

Appointed to the Cooke County Historical Commissioner for two-year terms were Chair Ron Melugin, Kit Chase, Bill Cox, Sandy Idom, Frank Lorne, Mary McCain, Robert McDaniel, Shauna and John Powell, Barbara Pybas, Ona B. Reid, Scott Robinson, Bill and Nona Stanley. Four of them are new members.

Annie M. Johnson had $978.33 in trust with Gainesville Convalescent Center when she died. She has no known relatives. That was insufficient to have any funeral home bury her. Therefore the County accepted that money as a donation making her indigent. Her indigent burial was then approved.

MM Hospital Board hears of guarantee from United Regional Trauma Center

By Janet Felderhoff

At the Nov. 21 meeting of the Board of Directors, Muenster Memorial Hospital Administrator Lynn Heller announced that MMH would be working with the United Regional Trauma Center in Wichita Falls. He said, "United Regional informed us that they would guarantee us that they would accept any trauma patient that we transferred, insurance or not, they would accept them. They are coming down to pay a courtesy call." Dr. Mercer, the trauma surgeon from United Regional, plans to be at MMH on Jan 3 for a visit.

Board member Dr. Walter Knight inquired if that meant a change in policy. Heller replied, "There is not going to be a policy that directs to Wichita Falls or any other place. It just gives them another option. We do run into problems sometimes accepting trauma patients. Generally it's not the hospital we have a problem with, it's finding an accepting physician."

Financials for October were up a great deal. Net revenues for the month were $687,368. Expenses in October totaled $503,615. Net revenue over expense totaled $212,438. Fiscal year-to-date total for revenue over total is $102,120. Administrator Lynn Heller cautioned, "The way Medicare works, when you have an increase in volume like this, without a corresponding increase in expenses, you're going to be paying a lot of that money back."

Heller also informed the Board that he'd received an email from the auditors that morning telling him that the pay back from Medicare for the past fiscal year would be $126,000. He was happy with that amount.

As recommended by the MMH Board's Executive Committee, a collection contract was signed with Transworld, Inc. Heller explained that the District would pay Transworld so much per letter that they send out on their letterhead after 90 days. They will send out three letters. The company also sends letters to insurance companies when there is a payment problem.

Heller said, "The collection expense, applies to apples collection, rate is about four or five thousand dollars more than what we are paying right now, but their anticipated collection rate is a whole lot more than we are collecting right now. I think it would be worth a change."

An amendment was adopted to be added to the Hospital's Policies Manual. Criminal background checks will be made on all job applicants prior to a job offer being made. If it is determined that an applicant has omitted or misrepresented essential facts, the individual will not be considered for employment. If already employed, the employee will be terminated.

Heller remarked, "State law requires us to do a criminal background check on anybody who is directly involved with patient care. Nurses and people like that, you have to for the state law, and we have

Student choirs invite community to ignite Christmas spirit

Sacred Heart School is proud to announce the presentation of the annual Christmas concert offered by the Junior High and High School Choir. It will be on Sunday, Dec. 3, at 4 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church. The free concert will consist of several sacred pieces including the familiar carols, "O Come All Ye Faithful" and "Angels We Have Heard On High". A particularly lovely new piece is called "On a Cold December Night" and poignantly tells the story of the birth of Jesus.

A select girls' choir will present a pretty two-part arrangement of "Gesù Bambino" by Yon, and the boys' section will sing "Three Men on Camelback", speaking of the Three Wise Men. The entire choir will sing a sweet piece called "The Message of the Holly". The text is a paraphrase on "The Holly and the Ivy", a very familiar carol, but has a pleasant mixture of two counter-melodies combined.

On a lighter note, the choir will sing "A Partridge in a Pear Tree", which is a parody of "The Twelve Days of Christmas". Patricia and Teresa Bujard, Junior Class members of the choir, will sing "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel" and "What Child is This" respectively. Patricia was a member of the choir last year and performed a solo in one of the pieces for TAPPS competition. She received high compliments from the judges. Teresa, Patricia's sister, is a newcomer to the choir, but also has much to offer in sensitivity to the lyrics and the strength of her voice, just as Patricia does, said Choir Director Fran Schully. The choir consists of almost 50 students from sixth through eleventh grade. "The students are extremely capable, and your heart will indeed be blessed by the music initiating the Christmas season," remarked Schully.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

The colored picture of Joanie and Alvin Hartman's Thanksgiving Turkey on the front page of this week's Muenster Enterprise was so nice, and it brought a smile to many faces in and around Muenster; however, I was shocked and appalled to learn that someone had destroyed "Ole Tom!" Now, if they were trying to hurt the Hartman family, they did a pretty good job, as there are more than 130 of us; however, it hurt many more people than just the Hartmans.

For instance, there's a family from Amarillo who come through Muenster every Thanksgiving on their way to visit relatives, and they noticed the turkey on one of their trips, and they stopped and asked if they could take a picture with their small daughter standing next to him. Every year hence, they have stopped to take her picture beside the turkey! It has become part of their family's Thanksgiving tradition! Thank goodness, they came through this year a couple of days before "Ole Tom" was killed. Can you imagine that little girl's face, if she could have seen that he had been destroyed!

Personally, I do not believe that it is anyone from Muenster doing the vandalism. I just cannot find it in my heart to believe that anyone who was raised in Muenster would have the audacity to do such a low-life thing! I think it is someone driving into town in the wee hours of the morning from a town close by. I would like to ask all the citizens of Muenster to pray for the people responsible for the vandalism going on around Muenster. Their lives have to be completely devoid of any happiness and joy. For a person to destroy something that has brought so much pleasure to so many, they have to be mentally deranged.

Of course, "Ole Tom" will be resurrected. Many people have stopped by or called to say that they would be glad to help pay to have him repaired and rebuilt. The Hartmans appreciate their generosity, but this Thanksgiving Turkey, and then the Birthday Cake for Baby Jesus is their gift each year to the community they love, so they will take care of getting him put back together and ready to reappear for all of our pleasure in 2007.

Remember, just try to arrive five or ten minutes early when you go to Mass, and say some special prayers that our Lord will touch these sick people with His healing hands, and that He will let them know some of the happiness and joy that families born and raised in Muenster know, and thus, hopefully, they will stop defacing the property of others. A Mexican lady, here in Denton, had a teenage daughter who was killed in a car wreck. She surrounded her grave with about a dozen statues of our Lady of Guadalupe. One day when she went to visit her daughter's grave site, all the statues had been stolen.

This courageous mother put an ad in the Denton paper that said she was praying for the people who took her daughter's statues because she knew they had to be very unhappy people. Guess what? The next time she went to visit her daughter's grave, the statues had been returned! Prayer is a very powerful thing. Thanks!

Sincerely,
 Judy Cain Hartman

Who would do such a thing?

Sometime between the hours of midnight and 4 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 23, somebody went turkey hunting in Muenster. Their targets were two large turkeys set up as decorations celebrating Thanksgiving. One was located at the Hartman home in the 200 block of Oak Street and the other at Community Lumber on Division Street. "People like to have fun on Halloween and Thanksgiving, but destruction of other people's property is another matter - it's vandalism and they can be charged," said Muenster Chief of Police Bob Stovall who is investigating the incidents. "The person responsible can be charged with criminal mischief." He said that on Oak Street they could also be charged with criminal trespass since they entered a fenced yard. Scott Wood photo

Parker Luke of Troop 7777 achieves Eagle Scout rank

Parker Ramon Luke, son of Ray and Tawni Luke of Valley View, earned the highest rank in scouting. Boy Scout Troop 7777 hosted an Eagle Scout Court of Honor for him on Nov. 18.

Rejuvenating the outdoor activity area at Cross Timbers Church, Parker's church and troop location, were part of the Eagle Scout Leadership Project he chose. Parker completed his Eagle requirements on Oct. 19 at the age 15.

Troop Committee Chairman Dave Isbell introduced Luke. He acknowledged Parker's scouting achievements and awards. Parker is in his second tour as senior patrol leader, and has held other leadership positions such as scribe, troop guide, and patrol leader. Merit badges earned to achieve the Eagle Scout rank were for Personal Fitness, Environmental Science, Geology, Electricity, First Aid, Swimming, Emergency Preparedness, Nature, Soil & Water Conservation, Basketball, Camping, Fishing, Fly Fishing, Art, Family Life, Citizenship in the Community, Citizenship in the World, Citizenship in the Nation, Reptile and Amphibian Study, Communications, and Personal Management. He also earned numerous other merit badges beyond the Eagle Scout requirement to bring his total badges earned to 40.

A Brotherhood level member of the Order of the Arrow, Parker will participate in a high adventure trip to the Boy Scouts of America's Sea Base in the Florida Keys after Christmas. He participated in leadership training Aquatics School at Sir Richardson Scout Ranch in 2005 where he received the Life Saving Skill Award for his ship. He also received the BSA World Conservation Award.

Isbell related, "The presentation of the Eagle Scout badge is an important and serious event, the climax and the goal for a Scout's hard work, an occasion for pride and joy, a time for serious contemplation. ... The Eagle Scout Award is the highest and most coveted rank in Scouting. ... Fewer than 4% of all Scouts in the United States reach the Eagle Scout rank." He gave testimony to Parker's worthiness for the honor.

Congressman Mike Burgess, M.D. of the U.S. House of Representatives was the guest speaker for the event. He said that he always feels privileged to attend any Eagle Scout induction ceremony because to achieve the honor an individual must show commitment, strength of character, ingenuity, and a clear understanding of their responsibility as a citizen of the United States.

"Today is a particularly exciting moment for me, because back in my old profession as an OB-GYN, I delivered Parker into this world on Nov. 1, 1990," remarked Congressman Burgess.

Burgess shared more on Parker's accomplishments, advised that a citizen's Constitutional rights and obligations are, and encouraged the Scouts to continue to be active in community whenever possible.

In conclusion Burgess said, "You should utilize your talents and abilities to help the 'greater good'. You are the future of this country; and Parker - you are one of the leaders. You and your family should be honored by this distinction, and I hope you serve as a role model not only to your fellow Boy Scouts, but also to everyone in your generation."

There were 64 in attendance at Parker's Eagle Scout Court of Honor including scouts, scouters, family, and friends. Parker is the grandson of Lynn and Glenda Vowell of Valley View and the late Dan and Dolores Luke. His father and older brother Preston are also Eagle Scouts.

Sickings sail to Nassau, Bahamas

Evelyn Sicking, a Muenster Avon representative, set sail on Oct. 27 aboard the ship Fascination with Carnival Cruise Lines to Nassau, Bahamas and returned to D/FW on Oct. 30. She invited her daughter Sheryllyn as her guest for the trip. Evelyn won the trip from Avon, who chartered the ship for its reps.

While in Nassau, Evelyn and Sheryllyn enjoyed two tours: a Glass Bottom Boat and Ardastra Gardens and City Tour. On the Glass Bottom Boat they observed the colorful fish such as Red Snapper and learned of the importance of tourism to the Bahamian economy. They also viewed oceanfront homes of the rich and famous including Oprah Winfrey, Nicolas Cage, and Michael Jordan.

On the Ardastra Gardens Tour they marveled at the world's only trained flamingo show. The flamingos performed a forward march, an about face, and right face, then posed for pictures with members of the audience. Evelyn and Sheryllyn then toured the gardens and walked the limestone pathways admiring the exotic plants and watching the endangered animals.

Afterward, they went on a guided tour through the city and learned of some of the history and culture of Nassau. In addition, they shopped at the Straw Markets and enjoyed looking at the many crafts and gifts that the island has to offer.

In addition to touring the island, activities enjoyed by shipmates include Vegas style shows, casual and fine dining, a casino, shops, swimming, and games. They also enjoyed the leisure of sitting on the deck relaxing and visiting with other reps from the 50 states.

Forty children receive First Reconciliation at SH Church

Forty children from Sacred Heart Parish received the sacrament of Reconciliation for the first time on Monday, Nov. 20, at 7:10 p.m. during a communal service. They were accompanied by parents and/or other family members.

Those receiving the sacrament for the first time were Amanda Aldriedge, Alane Bartush, Anthony Bayer, Emily Bayer, Katy Bezner, Cody Dangelmayr, Mark Davis, Katie Davidson, Hudson Eddleman, Billy Felderhoff, Jr., Zina Haverkamp, Bradley Henscheid, Bryce Herr, Ava Hudson, Katie Hutson, Bailey Klement, Leah Knabe, Samantha Koessler, Amy Luttmier, Bennigan McCoy, Rylee Reiter, Nikolas Saldana, Maddie Serna, Devin Sicking, Avery Truebenbach, Nicholas Turner, and Tyler Walterscheid. Three others will receive the sacrament at a later date: Morgan Eldridge, Bailey McCoy, and Christopher Patten.

The presider for the service was Father Pat Murphy, OSA, pastor at St. Mary's in Gainesville. Other priests helping with individual confessions were Father Don Brennan OSA from St. Mary's, Father Ron Scheible OSA from St. Peter's in Lindsay, and Father James Flynn from Immaculate Conception in Denton. Music ministers were Ruth Felderhoff, Christy Hesse, and Barbara Rohmer.

The theme of the service was Jesus the Good Shepherd who searches for the lost sheep and rejoices when he finds it. The opening song was "God Is Rich In Mercy." After the gospel reading, homily, and examination of conscience, those present sang "We Come To Ask Forgiveness" and said the Act of Contrition together. Then there were individual confessions. After each child went to confession, he or she placed a felt lamb on a large banner of Jesus, the Good Shepherd. After all the children received the sacrament, parents and siblings had the opportunity to go to confession as well.

The families were encouraged to have a celebration at home afterward.

VFW and Auxiliary have busy December agenda

The Ladies Auxiliary VFW Post #6205 held their regular meeting Nov. 20 in the Post Home. President Frances Bayer opened the meeting, followed by opening prayer by Chaplain Hilda Sicking and the pledge to the flag.

Members voted to accept two life members, Carolyn Hoyt and Kathleen Hamilton. Roll call and minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary Ida Bindel. Treasurer's report was given by Ethel Mae Hesse.

Frances Bayer reported on the District I meeting, where she displayed the buddy poppy hat she designed and won 3rd place. Rose Marie Sicking and Hilda Sicking participated in "Make a Difference Day" by visiting with members who are shut-ins.

The children's Santa Visit party will be Saturday, Dec. 9 at 9 a.m. at the VFW Club. Santa will arrive at 9:30 a.m. to visit with children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren under eight years of age of the VFW and Auxiliary members.

As a community service project, members are helping at the Home Hospice tree at Gehrig Hardware. A $10 donation has been made in memory of the Auxiliary deceased.

The ladies are asked to bring a covered dish to the Dec. 11 meeting at 7:30 p.m. to share with the VFW men who will meet at 8 p.m. After the meeting, the Christmas gathering will be held. This is the December meeting for the ladies.

Members voted to sponsor the "In Lieu of Christmas Cards" again. A donation of $10 or more will get your name on the Christmas list in the Muenster Enterprise. The monies help with local projects. Call Juanita Knabe at 759-4284 or Frances Bayer at 759-4362 to participate.

One's not enough: 2nd chickenpox shot recommended

The physicians of the Texas Medical Association (TMA) want parents to know that one chickenpox vaccination may not be enough to protect their child.

Physicians from TMA's "Be Wise - ImmunizeSM" advisory panel join other national health experts in recommending a second shot of vaccine to prevent the potentially deadly disease. "A two-dose series will be more effective than one and will reduce the number of breakthrough infections," said Ari Brown, MD, a leading member of TMA's Be Wise - ImmunizeSM program. Breakthrough infections occur when the patient is partially protected but not enough to prevent a mild case of the disease from occurring.

The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) are now recommending a second chickenpox, or varicella, vaccination, primarily for children four to six years old. However, they also suggest adolescents, adults, and HIV-infected children receive a second shot. For the past 11 years, one chickenpox vaccination was the recommendation.

Physicians suggest children between the ages of four and six receive the second shot at least three months after receiving the first. People over the age of six can catch up by receiving the second shot anytime. "I have always viewed the vaccine as a win-win: Either you are completely protected or you get a milder case than you would if you were not vaccinated," said Dr. Brown, an Austin pediatrician. She urges every person over the age of four to get the second shot of chickenpox vaccine.

As recently as a decade ago, many children suffered from lesions, itchiness, missed school days, and in some cases even death, from chickenpox. According to the CDC, more than 1,000 Texans endured serious cases each year prior to the introduction of the vaccine. "People have the perception that chickenpox is not a serious disease because most adults remember having it as a kid," adds Dr. Brown. "But I had the unfortunate experience of caring for an unvaccinated child in the early 1990s, who died from it. It's a disease I don't want any of my own children or patients to ever get."

Patients should double check their child immunization record and talk to their physician if they have any questions. In 2004, TMA launched the Be Wise - Immunize public health program in an effort to increase Texas' childhood immunization rates and to educate parents and guardians that immunizations are important, effective, and safe.

TMA is the largest state medical society in the nation, representing more than 41,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 120 component county medical societies around the state. TMA's key objective since 1853 is to improve the health of all Texans.

Pat Peale, Bob Corker, and Sharon McCormack

Locals take part in GOP Strike Force

Senator-elect Bob Corker of Tennessee, Pat Peale, and Sharon McCormack of Cooke County campaigned in Nashville to help him replace retiring Sen. Bill Frist. Corker won by a 51-49% lead over Democrat Harold Ford. McCormack and Peale were part of the Republican effort by the Strike Force, which included Bob Eggleston, Dorothy Hesse, Frieda Fiske, Bill Black, and Teresa Porter.

The team handed out flyers prior to election day and made phone calls to likely voters, making a reported 151,000 contacts on the final day of campaigning.

On election day, some team members assisted voters in the long, winding lines at the polls by handing out bottled water and snacks, and thanking them for being patient. Pat Peale, Strike Force captain, said there was a two hour wait at some polling sites. Eggleston said there were 2,100 voters left at one polling site after 7 p.m. and the polls remained open until 10 p.m.

Peale indicated that with-

Big tobacco outspending Texas prevention messaging 137 to 1

In the war of money waged to get Texans to smoke or to stop, big tobacco is trouncing prevention efforts, according to Texas Medicine magazine. Tobacco companies spend more than $960 million each year in Texas, while the state spent $7 million on tobacco prevention programs in 2005. Physicians of the Texas Medical Association (TMA) advocate more funding and new laws to reduce tobacco use among Texans, according to Texas Medicine, the society's official publication.

In May, TMA physician leaders adopted a resolution calling for funding and new laws to reduce tobacco use. Physicians believe the effort will improve the health of Texans, and new state health information seems to show their point is valid.

"Tobacco is the single most preventable cause of death and disease in Texas. The state only allocates 39 cents per Texan for tobacco prevention, and each year 60,000 Texas children become daily smokers," said Vince Fonseca, MD, MPH, who believes antismoking funding must increase. He said 24,000 Texans die from smoking-related illnesses each year, and 20 times that number suffer from at least one serious smoking-related illness.

Dr. Fonseca said spending money to convince people not to smoke is a worthwhile investment. Recent studies

Reduce those winter heating bills naturally

Everyone knows that summer temperatures are cooler in the shade, but trees can help cut winter energy costs, too. The most common approach is to plant evergreen trees and shrubs on the north and northwest sides of your property.

"Wind barriers can channel winds away from your house and cut down on cold drafts getting into your house," says Peter Gerstenberger with the Tree Care Industry Association. "In addition, shrubs, bushes, and vines planted next to a house can help insulate the home in winter and summer."

The ultimate goal of planting a windbreak or living snow fence is weather control.

By creating a design that takes into account wind speed and direction, snow accumulation patterns, and areas of high and low usage, spring and summer plantings can offer homeowners benefits ranging from reduced energy costs to more efficient water management.

To reduce winter heating costs, plant evergreen trees and shrubs as windbreaks. Most cold winds come from the north or west (though this can vary locally), so on those sides of the building, plant a dense row of evergreens that maintain branches low to the ground. To provide additional insulation for your building, evergreen shrubs should be planted slightly away from the foundation.

Whether your goal is to reduce the chilling effects of winter winds or control the accumulation of snow, the density of the plantings is key. A rough estimate of density can be determined by estimating the ratio of the "solid" area (branches, trunks, leaves, etc.) to the total area of the barrier. For example, a row deciduous trees might offer a density of roughly 30%, which means that the row consists of 30% trees and 70% open space in winter. By comparison, a row of conifers might have a density of 50% or 60% in winter.

Higher density windbreaks are better at slowing wind speed enough to cause snow to drop to the ground and accumulate both on the windward and leeward side of the row (or rows). These types of living snow fences are extremely useful for keeping roads, driveways, and other high-use areas clear of drifts, which means less plowing, less shoveling, and less aggravation.

On the other hand, trees should not be planted on the southern sides of homes in cold climates because the branches of these trees will block some winter sun. Open drapes on the south side of your home during winter days and close them at night. Sun angles are low in winter, allowing substantial solar heating through all south windows. You may want to trim branches on this side of your house to allow sunlight in. Call a professional arborist to trim any vegetation that shades south windows.

Remember, every location is different, and there is no perfect design that will be effective in all situations. A professional arborist can conduct the proper research and planning to plant an effective windbreak that will offer homeowners a variety of benefits for years to come.

Homeowners who would like a professional arborist to assess their trees should contact the Tree Care Industry Association (TCIA), a 68-year-old public and professional resource on trees and arboriculture. It has more than 2,000 member companies who recognize stringent safety and performance standards and who are required to carry liability insurance. TCIA has the nation's only accreditation program that helps consumers find tree care companies that have been inspected and accredited based on: adherence to industry standards for quality and safety; maintenance of trained, professional staff; and dedication to ethics and quality in business practices. An easy way to find a tree care service provider in your area is to use the "Locate Your Local TCIA Member Companies" program. You can use this service by calling 1-800-733-2622 or by doing a ZIP code search on the TCIA Web site, www.treecareindustry.org.

Muenster FCCLA participates in two national events

The FCCLA chapter at Muenster High School participated in two events recently. On Wednesday, Nov. 15 they organized the "Mix it Up" event, where students were given different stickers and told to sit with people who had the same sticker. This activity helped students to mingle with other students outside of their usual small group of friends.

Also, on Thursday, Nov. 16 the FCCLA participated in the Great American Smokeout. Locker decorations were prepared with the phrase, "You're too Smart to Start!" and were hung on all of the high school students' lockers. Goodie bags were provided for FCCLA members to sponsor a tobacco user to encourage them to go for 24 hours tobacco free. FCCLA members sponsored around 22 tobacco users.

back his argument. Texas launched a pilot program in 2000, funded by tobacco companies in a lawsuit settlement. The money purchased programs urging young people not to take up smoking and encouraging adults to quit. The results? The $3 per capita bought a 5.1% drop in adult smoking rates, twice as much as in the general public. The number of high school student smokers also was cut nearly in half. Based on those numbers, one study estimates more than 163,000 adult smokers would have stopped pilot had happened statewide.

"There's a reduction of youth and adult smokers that is twice the reduction seen in the rest of the state where there was no initiative," Dr. Fonseca said. "Remember, the overwhelming majority of replacement smokers are youths. If they get past the teenage years and early adulthood without smoking, chances are they'll never pick it up."

Studies point to cost savings as well. Texas Medicine says based on the estimated cost savings in the pilot study, $21 was saved for every $1 invested. If Texas implemented that type of program statewide with the same results, nearly $1.4 billion could be saved in five years.

"We can say [to legislators], 'Here's the numbers, you decide,'" said Eduardo Sanchez, MD, TMA member and former state health commissioner. "We could say 'You have many tough choices to make, but here is one that will result in not only better health for your constituents, but overall savings for the state. In fact, the savings will exceed the investments made.'" Dr. Sanchez is now director of the Institute for Health Policy at The University of Texas School of Public Health at Houston.

The resolution adopted by TMA's House of Delegates governing body recommends the legislature adequately fund efforts to reduce tobacco use, and make more public dining and drinking establishments smoke-free.

TMA is the largest state medical society in the nation, representing more than 41,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 120 component county medical societies around the state. TMA's key objective since 1853 is to improve the health of all Texans.

Sacred Heart Tigers settle for TAPPS Regional Qualifier title

The Muenster Sacred Heart Tigers faced the Hallettsville Sacred Heart Indians last Saturday for the Regional round of Division 4 TAPPS State Playoffs at Reicher High School Stadium in Waco.

A 71 yard touchdown run early in the game was the Tigers' only entry into the end zone, as the Indians handed the Tigers a 28-7 loss.

"We were overpowered early," noted Tiger Coach Charles Boles. "Their size and style of play shocked us early and it took a while to adjust."

The Indians took the opening kick, taking 11 plays to travel 65 yards and score. The extra kick gave the Hallettsville team a 7-0 lead with 6:22 on the clock.

Colt Spruill returned the Indian kick to the Tiger 29. A 71 yard gallop by Josh Yosten put 6 points on the board for the Tigers. Nolan Hartman added the extra kick for a 7-7 score with 6:11 remaining in the 1st quarter.

The Indians got in six plays, gaining 22 yards before punting on 4th down. The Tigers took the ball on their 24, then ran out of downs, giving Hallettsville the ball 34 yards from paydirt. Two plays later, 14-7.

Two runs by Yosten carried the Tigers into the 2nd period, but the team punted after coming up short with the sticks. From their 32 yard line, the Indians took only three runs to take a 21-7 lead with 10:31 still on the clock.

A run by Yosten and a Hartman to Colby Richey pass gave the Tigers a 1st down, but incomplete passes again forced a punt.

Tackles by Yosten and Chris Marshall halted Hallettsville's next drive. The punt put the Tigers on their 7 yard line. Theo Otto got in a 12 yard run, then 5 more before the Tigers had to punt again.

Once more the Tiger defense, led by Jake Hess, Spruill, and Hartman, stopped the Indian attack. The punt again placed the Tigers deep in the backfield.

Yosten got in four runs before the buzzer announced the halftime break.

The 3rd quarter started with the Tigers on their 33 yard line. A Hartman to Otto pass picked up 14 yards. A pass interference call gained another 15 into Indian territory. The drive ended when Hallettsville intercepted a pass on their 16 yard line. The Indians got in a few plays, with Spruill, Yosten, Zach Zanchetta, and Hartman all getting tackles. A punt gave the Tigers the ball on their 38 yard line. Two plays later, another intercep-

Richey and a Hartman to Spruill pass moved the Tigers to the 23. Three unsuccessful plays put the Tigers in a 4th and 15 situation. A run by Hartman was short and the Indians took over on the 14.

Gaining only 6 yards, Hallettsville punted. With 5 minutes remaining in the game, the Tigers moved from their 25 into Indian territory with runs by Yosten and Hartman, assisted by a flag, but time ran out as the Sacred Heart Tigers of Muenster ended their season.

tion. This time, the Indians took advantage of the turnover, scoring nine plays later. With 2:38 remaining in the 3rd period, Hallettsville Sacred Heart had a 28-7 lead.

Starting their next drive on the 20, Ryan Bartush gained 19 yards on two carries. Two runs by Yosten took the Tigers to their 45. A Hartman to Richey pass picked up 5 more yards to midfield and the final period began. A Hartman pass to Davis, a Hartman keeper, and a pass to Richey took the Tigers to the Indian 23. A 4th down and 10 pass was intercepted, ending the scoring attempt.

Tackles by Hess, Yosten, and Mark Fleitman gave up only 2 yards. The Tigers started near midfield after the punt. A Hartman to

Hornets halted at Area playoff

An accelerated Tiger team from Electra was too swift for the Muenster Hornets last Friday, as the Hornets fell 47-21 at the Area playoff game in Wichita Falls.

"Our boys fought from the start to the finish," stated Muenster Coach Monte Endres. "They never gave up. I think everyone should be proud of their effort." Endres also noted how proud he was of the senior team members. "They did a great job of leading and of working all year, to make sure we had a successful season."

The game started in Electra's favor. After Michael Faries' 24 yard return on the opening kick, Muenster's first play from scrimmage was intercepted, giving the Tigers possession at midfield. Three plays took the Tigers to the 18. A high snap allowed Micah Flusche to catch the quarterback for an 18 yard loss, but two plays later Electra scored. The PAT at 8:35 gave a 7-0 score.

Corey Reynolds returned the kick 16 yards to the 26 yard line. Bill Haverkamp gained 6, then lost 3. A Brad Endres to Reynolds pass picked up 14 yards. Two Reynolds runs took the ball into Tiger territory. Haverkamp, Paul Crabtree, and a pass to Reynolds moved Muenster to the 30 yard line. Garrett Hennigan gained 19 and Haverkamp 10 to the 1 yard line. With 2:22 on the clock, Reynolds found the end zone. The extra point failed for a 7-6 score.

Electra came right back the next snap with a 66 yard touchdown run. With 2:03 remaining in the 1st quarter, the Tigers led 14-6.

The Hornets lost a yard their next drive and punted. From the Muenster 45, the Tigers took 10 plays to score again. The PAT failed for a 20-6 score with 99:43 on the clock.

A fumble on the kick return set up Electra's next touchdown. From the Hornet 15, a flag moved the Tigers to the 2. The Hornets held Electra for two plays before finding the end zone. With 8:22 on the clock, the Hornets trailed 27-6.

Muenster's next drive began on their 34 yard line. Runs by Haverkamp and Reynolds gained 34 yards. Hennigan earned 1, Haverkamp another 5, and Reynolds 2 to the Electra 24. A 4th and 2 lost 2 yards and Electra took over on their 26. Six plays, 34-6.

The Hornets got in several plays including passes to Crabtree, Hennigan, and Reynolds to the Electra 34. The drive ended with another interception. The Tiger offense played out the 1st half clock.

Electra took the 3rd quarter kick, but was stopped by Muenster's defense on the Hornet 35. Crabtree ran for 5 and Haverkamp 7 between incomplete passes. On 4th and 15, a fake punt turned into a Reynolds to Collin Walterscheid pass for 21 yards to the Electra 37. Haverkamp ran for 6, with Endres passes to Faries and Reynolds getting 19 more yards to the 12 yard line. Haverkamp picked up 2 more yards, then Endres scored on a keeper with 5:56 on the clock. Faries' PAT kick changed the score to 34-13.

The teams exchanged possessions, then Electra scored on a 40 yard run for a 40-13 score with 1:33 on the clock. An Endres to Reynolds pass picked up a quick 38 yards for the Hornets, but Electra picked off another pass to end the drive on the Tiger 17.

Electra carried the ball into the 4th quarter, taking seven plays to score a touchdown.

TEXAS GAME WARDENS FIELD NOTES

The following are excerpts from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

We love youth hunts, just not during the school day

A landowner called Polk County game warden Oct. 23, stating he had two trespassers stopped who were hunting on his property. Upon arrival, two 15-year-old males were apprehended. Truancy charges are pending against the parents and children for skipping school to hunt. The juveniles were issued citations and released to their parents.

Grim duty on the border
On the evening of Monday, Oct. 23, Starr and Zapata County game wardens assisted the Starr County Sheriff's Office with recovering five drowning victims from the Rio Grande River. The bodies were recovered approximately 10 miles below the Falcon Lake Dam. All the victims were Mexican immigrants attempting to enter the country illegally.

Sure it's poaching
On Oct. 22, Tarrant and Wise County game wardens received a call about trespassers. While the wardens were investigating, they discovered a bucket of deer attractant and noticed signs of illegal hunting. The wardens made contact with an individual in a red Dodge pickup nearby and found that he was in possession of a bow and arrow, camouflage clothing, and a .300 Winchester Magnum rifle, marijuana and methamphetamine. The subject was interviewed and confessed to hunting without landowner consent, but he did not believe that what he was doing was considered poaching. Cases are

A subconscious plea?

On Oct. 21, a Palo Pinto County game warden was being followed by an individual in a vehicle who was flashing him with his bright lights. The game warden allowed the vehicle to pass, and then he stopped the vehicle. The game warden found the man to be intoxicated, and while searching his vehicle noticed there was blood in the back of the vehicle. The game warden questioned the individual about the blood and was informed by the man that the day before he had killed a pig while hunting off the roadway. He said that he wrapped the pig in a plastic bag and tossed it out at another location. The individual was cited for DWI and littering, hunting off the roadway, and no hunting license. Cases are pending.

On second thought, maybe that wasn't such a good idea

Ellis, Kaufmann, and Dallas County game wardens assisted in rescuing a family stranded on the Trinity River Oct. 21. A man had taken his three kids onto their flat bottom boat to make a trip downriver. The only problem was, he launched at dusk in a boat full of holes and no running lights on a river he had never been on. The family quickly took to water and called 911. They made it to a sandbar and waited for help. A DPS helicopter was able to land on the bank to rescue them. After speaking with the father about boating safety, one of the game wardens issued him a citation for not having any lights after dark. The family was especially lucky because about 100 yards downriver was a waterfall.

Stock it and they will come

On Oct. 19, a Wichita Co. game warden filed eight cases for over the daily bag limit of channel catfish on four individuals who were fishing at Plum Lake after it had been stocked that morning.

Should have stuck to home repair

On Oct. 18, a Clay County game warden received a phone call about an individual who was shooting at turkeys. After the game warden's investigation, he filed on a subject for hunting turkey during closed season. The man was roofing a house when he noticed some turkeys walking across the yard. He then went to his truck, got his gun, and began shooting at them. Case is pending.

Two strikes ...

On Oct. 12, Bell County game wardens responded to a call in Morgan's Point about illegal hunting activity. The complainant actually saw the subject get out of the vehicle with the crossbow and walk towards the deer. After searching for awhile, game wardens located the suspect vehicle and — no surprise to the wardens — the same two subjects they had apprehended last year taking a deer in the same area, as juveniles. This year one of them was 17 years old and the other was 16. They admitted to shooting at a 10-point buck but thought they had missed it. They were charged with hunting in closed season and made aware of how bad this could be, especially for the 17-year-old, if a class A misdemeanor had been filed. Cases pending.

S. H. Tigerettes outride Cowgirls

The Tigerettes traveled to Bryson Tuesday night and brought home a 41-21 victory. "We might have had too much turkey," commented Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "We did some things well, such as only five turnovers, but we need to step up our game for this weekend's KC Red River Shoot-out."

Leading point maker was Samantha Wimmer with 11.

Kara Felderhoff added 8, Stephanie Krawietz 7, Lauren Creed 6, Taylor Torcellini 5, and Kristin LeBrasseur 4. Creed also had 14 rebounds, Krawietz six blocks, Wimmer seven steals, and Torcellini four assists. The win gives Sacred Heart a 4-0 record so far in the season.

GANDER MOUNTAIN TIPS

Archery Tip
Practicing outside in the same conditions you'll be hunting in (wearing the same clothing) is the best way to keep your confidence up and your shooting ability sharp at the archery range or in the stand.

If you are a right-handed shooter, sew the left sleeves of all your undergarments and outer clothing to tighten them up to give you clearance with your bow string. You may also have to sew in or tighten the chest area of your outer layer of clothing to keep your string from making contact. If you're left-handed, just do the opposite.

Location! Location! Location!
If you having trouble with your tree stand location for deer hunting and need to make a change, any time it's windy or during a steady hard driving rain would be a great time. While rain is a very poor condition for actual hunting, it's a great time to scout or to move a stand.

The sound of the rain coming down will disguise your movements and any noise made during the scouting or stand rigging process. Also, the rainwater washes away

Biocontrol of wavy leaf thistle being studied in Texas

Wavy leaf thistle was difficult to find along Panhandle highways five years ago. But now the noxious weed can be found moving into pastures, said a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researcher.

Dr. Jerry Michels, Experiment Station entomologist at Bushland, along with Nagendra Earle, a West Texas A&M University graduate student, began looking at controlling the intruding noxious weed with natural controls about two years ago.

Michels' entomology team travels the highways to Colorado frequently each year to monitor biocontrol work with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. At first, they noticed wavy leaf thistle growing in small clumps along roadsides, Michels said, but in the past few years it seemed to be spreading.

Deciding they wanted to look at possible control measures, he submitted a proposal for a grant to the Joe Skeen Institute for Rangeland Restoration. His team received funding for two years.

In spring 2005, Earle began mapping the infestations across the Panhandle. The highest concentrations were found in the northern Panhandle down to U.S. Interstate 40, he said. Wavy leaf thistle has been found along I-40 from New Mexico to Colorado, but not much to the south.

"Our idea was that it was coming in through vehicle traffic, because it is common in Colorado, Nebraska, and Wyoming," Michels said. "Also, thistles love disturbed areas, so any road work could have increased the infestation."

Once it was all mapped, Earle looked for naturally occurring insects that fed off the plant. He found one large beetle that fed on the seed heads, but that beetle was considered an economic pest of sunflowers, so it was undesirable for use as a biocontrol agent, Michels said.

This spring, Earle resurveyed to measure the plant's spread and density, Michels said.

"We're finding it is spreading into pastures and becoming a problem," he said. "We need to continue to monitor it for several years to get a good line on it, but we wanted to start treatments also."

A large patch covering several acres in Hutchinson County was selected as a treatment site, Michels said. Cages were set up with four treatments: no action, mowing, chemical control, and biocontrol agents.

The thistle seedhead weevils used for the biocontrol study were collected around Kerrville, where the beetle has been released on wavy leaf thistle with good results, he said. This beetle feeds on the seed heads.

"This preliminary year, the biocontrol seems to be working better than the mowing or chemical control," Michels said.

However, he is going to study a musk thistle rosette weevil used in Colorado to help control musk thistle. This beetle feeds on the root of the plant.

Michels hopes the combination of beetles can control the perennial plant and keep it from resprouting each year.

The musk thistle rosette weevil is found primarily north of Texas where the growing season of thistle is different, Michels said. The problem is trying to gather enough of the beetles in Colorado and bring them to Texas while the plants are still growing.

While the musk thistle rosette weevil hasn't been established in Texas, it has been approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for use as a biocontrol. Neither beetle is considered a threat to crops.

"Whenever we do biocontrol work, that is our first concern," Michels said. The ultimate goal is to get both beetles established in cages on roadside wavy leaf thistle plants at high enough numbers so they can be released around the region to naturally spread, he said.

Another part of the study will be to look at a combination of chemical or mechanical methods with the biocontrol using the beetles, Michels said. The hope is a combination will either kill out the plant or weaken it enough to lessen reproduction.

New privacy laws affect pesticide applicator trainings

Producers can no longer use their Social Security numbers as identification when they attend pesticide applicator trainings, said a Texas Cooperative Extension specialist.

Extension is hosting a training sessions on Dec. 5 at the Texas A&M University System Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Overton.

In years past, producers could present a valid pesticide applicator's license, their driver's license, or their Social Security number to receive credit for the training.

Not any more, said Dr. Billy Higginbotham, Extension fisheries and wildlife specialist.

"TDA advised we cannot ask for their Social Security number - only driver's or pesticide licenses," Higginbotham said.

By state law, the Texas Department of Agriculture requires private pesticide applicators to earn 15 hours of continuing education units every five years to maintain their licenses, Higginbotham said.

A news release distributed in late October listed Social Security numbers as still being an accepted identification method.

"We are still getting lots of calls from folks that must have seen the original mail-out," Higginbotham said.

For more information on the pesticide applicator recertification trainings offered at Overton see <http://agnews.tamu.edu/dailynews/stories/AGPR/Oct3006a.htm>.

COUNTY AGENT'S REPORT

WAYNE BECKER
CEA - AG/NR

Pruning mature pecan trees

From the time the tree comes into economic production, it is a mature tree. There is another group of pruning operations that can help the producer increase or maintain yields and improve nut quality. The other pruning practices are usually accomplished during the training and establishment stage of orchard development.

Mature trees are pruned to decrease shading, to remove bad limb angles, to remove dead limbs, and to remove lower branches to accommodate orchard equipment. It is important to realize that there are differences in pruning recommendations for trees in an orchard vs. trees in the home landscape. Some of the hedging practices include:

Mechanical hedging and complete tree removal are practices that are utilized by the commercial pecan industry to increase pecan production and to make it possible to manipulate large harvest equipment in and around groves of trees. Mechanical hedging will allow greater amounts of sunlight to reach the lower branches of the tree and increase nut production. As the name implies, it makes the trees look as if they are hedges. It will need to be repeated within a couple of years and will improve yields for a short period of time.

After three or four hedging treatments, benefits are reduced to a point where hedging may not be beneficial. The roots start to compete for moisture and nutrients and the trees will shade each other. The only economical treatment is to remove trees.

In instances where trees were planted too close and were allowed to grow together and crowd, growers may try to correct the situation by cutting the trees back severely. This is commonly called dehorning, tree topping, or pollarding. This pruning process is not effective in bringing the trees back into full production. This all-too-common practice of severely topping pecans and other trees is not recommended. Severe topping of a healthy tree ruins its looks and can allow insect and disease entry that may kill the tree.

Also, the new limbs developed after topping usually have narrow branching angles and are easily split out.

A certain amount of corrective pruning must be done each year to maintain tree health and to accommodate orchard equipment. Narrow crotches should be removed. Complete branches should be routinely eliminated in the center of the tree to improve sunlight penetration.

Branches that are getting in each other's way should also be eliminated routinely to prevent limb shading. Cuts should be made to the nearest crotch to prevent regrowth of suckers.

Lower scaffold limbs that prevent clamping of the tree shaker during harvest must be removed. Limbs that are low enough, because of the tree's heavy crop, that tractor wheels will run over or damage them, should be removed. Dead wood can be removed, but most producers just shake it out during harvest. Those orchards that have been hedged a couple of times usually have a large amount of dead limbs.

In orchards, pruning mature trees is expensive but necessary. Most pruning operations that are done to maintain tree size and to reduce shading are temporary fixes at best, and are used to put off the ultimate pruning operation, which is the periodic removal of trees to maximize production and maintain quality.

In our landscapes, large pecan trees seldom need major pruning. Late winter, when the trees are dormant, is the normal time to remove dead wood, low hanging limbs, or branches that are in the way, endangering structures or power lines. However, pruning can be done anytime it is necessary.

Information regarding oil and gas leases.

According to Dr. Wayne Hayenga, professor and Extension specialist, there has been an influx of questions regarding oil and gas leasing information. In an effort to provide information regarding this subject, some publications and articles have been made available to us through The Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University. They can be downloaded at the following website: <http://recenter.tau.edu> (You can click on publications or enter your specific request at Search).

Following are some of the publications and articles from this website that are very useful: Hints on Negotiating An Oil and Gas Lease; Signing Away Mineral Rights Forever; Right to Sue in Sales Contracts; Risky Business Mineral Sales by Mail; Scrutinizing Royal Payments Rights; and Responsibilities of Mineral Coteneants.

AGRICULTURE BRIEFS

This July, 241,000 head of culls were slaughtered compared to approximately 189,000 in July 2005. Prices held steady, averaging $47 per hundredweight.

The Homeland Security Department has taken over the duty of inspecting food and agricultural products entering the U.S.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics notes that 155,000 jobs under "farmers and ranchers" are in jeopardy between now and 2014 because of the long-term trend toward consolidation of farms into fewer and larger farms.

American shoppers spent $51 billion on natural and organic products in 2005.

Seventy-five percent of U.S. crop workers were born in Mexico.

Only 9% of U.S. farms are considered large or non-family farms.

Seventy-three percent of total farm production comes from those large or non-family farms.

Sixty-one percent of all farms do not participate in any government farm program.

Average operating profit margins are negative for small farms, but positive for large or non-family farms.
