

Building of helipad approved by Muenster Hospital Board

By Janet Felderhoff
What has been talked about for years is now coming to fruition. At its regular meeting on Tuesday, June 19, the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board of Directors voted to move forward with building a helipad for use by ambulances such as CareFlite.

It was hoped to get grant funding to assist with building the helipad, but they did not receive the grant this time. Waiting until the next opportunity to apply was discussed and decided against.

"The helipad will be built south of the administration building and directly behind the clinic," explained MMH Administrator Lynn Heller. "The size will be 50' x 50'. We have been very lucky not to have had a problem with the helicopters landing on the parking lot."

Land on which to build it has been purchased from Juanita Bright at a cost of $11,205.82. Construction of the concrete pad is estimated at $18,038 by Dangelmayr Construction Co. Lighting is $4,214, and estimated electrical wiring is $2,000, and windsock pole $2,100, "We've already paid $11,000, so the balance to complete this project is estimated at $26,000," noted Heller. Construction is now underway.

A grant award of $3,500 was given to fund some ACLS training at the Hospital. The actual cost was $3,723, so the Hospital will fund the difference of $223.

A Health Resource and Services Administration grant for $36,352.77 was approved. It is a Homeland Security grant dealing with bioterrorism. It is to construct a 20x20x10 metal storage building to house items such as a disaster response trailer and security equipment and includes security cameras. It will be constructed near the present maintenance building. "All we have to do is the slab, and we got a bid for $3,575 to complete the slab," Administrator Heller said. He added that they were told to expect to receive another $9,000 to cover the cost of purchasing radios and other items required for the facility. The Board approved paying the expense of the slab.

Dick Teeter, CFO, prepared a proposed budget for fiscal year July 1, 2007 to June 30, 2008. It was reviewed and approved by the Board.

County stands ready for onslaught of rain

By Janet Felderhoff
Weather forecasts on Monday were grim for an area already saturated with rain. Rain fell on last Friday, Saturday offered a sunny break, then Sunday it was more rain. Rain was in the forecast every day for a whole week.

It is especially difficult for those who suffered from flooding last Monday and are attempting to clean up and restore their property to a livable state.

At the request of County Judge Bill Freeman, Cooke County's Emergency Management Coordinator Ray Fletcher updated Commissioners Court of last week's events and what is now being done. He reported at Monday's regular meeting.

Fletcher said that the events of Monday, June 18 began to unfold in Cooke County about 1 a.m. when Denton County was under a tornado warning. Some time later an individual citizen reported sighting a tornado on the ground between Rosston and Era. A tornado warning was issued for the County at 4 a.m.

"As that progressed, that complex really moved along the southern part of the County and at the same time we had storms on the northern and northwest area of the County," Fletcher recalled. "We had weather spotters put out to find the little storms to watch and report any increase in severity." About 4:50 a Severe Thunder Storm Warning was issued for the County.

Fletcher said that they didn't realize how bad the water was going to be at the time. About the time Monday's first storms reached their peak, another large cell developed over Gainesville and the central part of the County that

Bids studied for Pct. #4 County Barn

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County Precinct #4 is a step closer to getting its new County Barn. Bids were opened and accepted at the regular meeting of Commissioners Court held Monday, June 25. Three companies submitted bids, but a decision was not made. Precinct #4 Commissioner Virgil Hess will study the bids before a vote is taken.

Submitting bids were: PVP Building, Inc. of Decatur - $137,100; David Flusche of Muenster - $212,812; and BJ Construction of Gainesville - $192,500.

EMS Director Bob Harbin requested an increase of about $1.05 an hour to bring the salaries of his EMS employees back up to where they were before the County went to a pay every two weeks system instead of twice a month as had been the policy. The EMS employees work 24 on and 48 off. They get time and a half at a certain point, but with pay every two weeks, the 15th day that was overtime, lost the overtime pay.

Harbin said that it was difficult enough for Cooke County to compete with the nearby Metroplex counties without decreasing the already lower pay.

Commissioners said it was not their intention to cause the EMS employees' salary to decrease. They agreed to adjust the hourly pay to the amount needed to make up the deficit. There are three pay levels and the exact amount will depend on that. The money is already in the budget, so no change was required there.

In other business, Commissioners Court:

- Approved Ray Fletcher submitting a grant to Homeland Security Commercial Equipment Direct Assistance Program.
- Heard a presentation by Pinnacle explaining their service for required DOT screening regarding County employees with CDLs. Action was tabled until it could be studied more.
- Approved adopting the Enterprise takes a TPA first

The Muenster Enterprise was awarded a 1st place in the Texas Press Association's 2007 Better Newspaper Contest. Janet Felderhoff, writer for the paper, joined the Winners Circle, taking the division 9, small medium weekly newspaper's top prize in Feature Writing. She submitted two stories, Dakota Lamkin and Shattered Dreams to the contest. Judges noted "Diagnosis changes small Dakota Lamkins world" was compelling lead, subject matter that was nicely written. Dreams shattered, it's not just you're hurting" was good coverage of the mock wreck. Photo gallery told a compelling story as well," noted the judges. Janie Hartman photo

Cutting and Auction Friday to benefit Jutta Heller Roeshmann

By Janet Felderhoff
Uwe and Jutta Heller Roeshmann were living their dream. They left their home in Germany and came to Texas to be in the heart of cutting horse country. Uwe trains and competes with cutting horses. They hope to purchase their own ranch in this area in a few years. Recently that dream took a crushing blow.

Several months ago the Muenster Enterprise printed a feature story about them and the business they operate northwest of Muenster. Not long after it was published, Jutta discovered a lump on her neck. Visits to doctors had diagnosed as T-cell lymphoma cancer. She has no health insurance.

Uwe and Jutta are members of the Soon Tex Cutting Horse Association. That group is reaching out to help. On Friday, June 29 a cutting show and auction are planned at the Circle A Arena with all proceeds to benefit Jutta. The National Cutting Horse Association (NCHA) approved show begins at 9 a.m.

Three additional unapproved "fun" classes will be held with proceeds going to fund prizes to class winners.

Around 2 p.m. a live auction kicks off. There is an assortment of items to bid on that range from breeding to stud horses such as DJ Tracker, Kodo, ZZ Hoss, and JR Little Trouble to cutting instruction from World Cutting Champion Bill Freeman or riding lessons from Toni Deweber, to gifts items from local merchants such as Gehrig's, Christi's, Whole Lotta Pretty, Lora's Flowers, Jan Cain and Amy Smith of It's All About You Salon, Rosenbaum Chiropractic, to animal health care opportunities, to home decor, horse items, hay, and so much more.

Smoked brisket dinner will be served complete with potato salad and homemade desserts. Cost is $8 a plate.

Auction items continue to flow in hourly. To donate to the auction, contact Toni Deweber (940)727-4617, Loyd Trubenbach (940) 727-1572, Mary Dangelmayr (940) 759-4599, or Angela Taylor (972) 849-2819.

Those who cannot attend the benefit, but who would like to help Jutta with her medical expenses, an account for that purpose has been established at Prosperity Bank, P.O. Box 117, Muenster, TX 76252

Flood hazard warning issued

On Tuesday, June 26, the following warning was issued by Neil Bowie of the Clear Creek Watershed Authority:

"Heavy rains have fallen in the Clear Creek Watershed for more than six weeks. The ground is saturated and can no longer absorb rainfall. Run-off has filled our flood-control reservoirs. Nearly all of our dams are discharging through their principal outlet pipes.

"Additional heavy rain will flow through the emergency spillways, releasing large volumes of water downstream. If we receive an extreme rainfall event at this time, it could result in overtopping of a dam, with resultant dam failure. Any dam, no matter how well built, can be overwhelmed by an extreme storm event.

"Stored water is dangerous! Stay out of the areas immediately below these dams! Stay out of the reservoir area-es above the dams! If you live in a low lying area, be prepared to move to high ground in the event of additional heavy rainfall! Use Caution! Be alert!

"We are receiving unusually heavy rainfall. Do not be overconfident or complacent!"

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Enterprise,
Every year my son tries to make it to Germanfest to run in the 5K fun run. But this year he couldn't make it because he was deployed to Iraq in early April. He asked me to get him a T-shirt and send it to him. He loves the shirts and wanted to show his fellow Marines how cool they are.
He had his picture taken outside his barracks wearing it. Since they can't go anywhere without their guns, the gun had to be in the picture.
His name is Sgt. Brian Lautenslager. He's in the Marines and stationed at a base called al-Asad in Northern Iraq. He's married to Kelly, and they have a 16 month old son and another one on the way! When he is back home in the states, he's stationed at Camp Pendleton, California. This is his second deployment to Iraq.
Brian's grandparents are the late Girlie and Val Fuhr-dumped between eight and 10 inches of water on the County. This caused water to rise all over the County, and the National Weather Service issued a Flash Flood Warning at 5:20. The County was already getting calls at 5:10 or 5:15 for water rescues on I-35 and the service road south of Valley View. There was also a call north of Lindsay on an electrocution that emergency personnel had difficulty responding to due to high water.

"From that point, about 5:15 Monday morning, it was a complete react mode to rescue," Fletcher said. "We had all the fire departments respond and set up regional command - one at Lindsay, one at Muenster, and one at Valley View, and Oak Ridge." Neighboring departments were sent to those locations to try to affect rescues out of those places. He noted that at that point about every FM road in the County was impassable at some place. The exceptions were in the far western edge of the County.

This created serious issues in attempts to rescue people. Three or four had to be attempted before rescuers could reach those needing help. About 20 rescues were executed for between 30 and 40 people by volunteer fire departments and police personnel, he said.

Property loss to the County during rescue attempts included a Sheriff's Department vehicle. "They got the job done when it needed doing," Fletcher praised the rescuers.

Fletcher said that a shelter had been established at Whaley Methodist Church for people with flood damage or flood issues with their homes. They are still accepting people and are providing food. The Salvation Army and Red Cross are involved.

Property damage assessments were done. Gov. Rick Perry declared Cooke County a Disaster Area. FEMA cannot get involved until a Presidential Disaster is declared.

Pioneer Valley has had a boil order issued for water supplied by its water provider. Red Cross has been serving that area with bottled water and food twice a day.

He urged everyone involved in loss from the flood to keep all related receipts, to take pictures documenting damage, and have them available to assist with damage assessment since total damage figures into the money amount that might be received.

"We need to make sure we have a good accounting of all the damages we sustained on our roads, bridges, buildings and we need it to the level of county road number and the distance that was washed away," he advised Commissioners.

Fletcher noted that any significant amount of rainfall this week will be a problem. The ground is saturated and has no place to go but to run off.

The good news was that the State is providing, as the County requested, two swift water rescue boat teams that are being staged at the County Justice Center. They were to be in place by 2 p.m. Monday and would remain at least until Thursday. They brought three boats to position there. They will respond to any area in Cooke, Grayson, Montague, or any county in the area where there is need. Fletcher said by having the teams here we would not be in such a reactive mode should the need arise to get out a rescue team.

Precinct #1 Commissioner Gary Hollowell expressed appreciation to TxDOT for their assistance in clearing out brush and debris from bridges and culverts in his precinct. This was after they finished clearing bridges and culverts south of Gainesville in an effort to get the water moving.

Some of the others who lent assistance were channel 4 news helicopter who took a police officer up to spot victims in need of assistance, all of the responders who did everything they could, and game wardens with Texas Parks & Wildlife who helped with rescue.

Commissioner Al Smith remarked that many people were displaced with 290 homes destroyed. "We need housing," he stressed. He said Era had one vacant home and it was used to house a flood victim. He said that Landmark Bank has set up a fund for donations to help those who need it because of the flood. "We need money in that relief fund as much as we need refrigerators, food, clothing, and that kind of thing," he added. "Food is an issue in Pioneer Valley and parts of south Gainesville. This will be with us for a while and we've got to find housing for these people."

Judge Freeman agreed that there is not a lot of available housing in Gainesville. He said that they are compiling a list of all available housing from Sanger, Decatur, Whitesboro, and anywhere in this general area because there is such a shortage. With federal assistance, there could be some type of portable housing provided.

"This problem will not go away soon," remarked the Judge. "It is going to be a long process to recover. Cooke County has recovered, since I've been County Judge, from three disaster, and this will be the fourth one. We've recovered every time and we will recover from this one. It will just take time and everybody working together doing what each individual can do to the best to continue to help those who were affected."

Cooke County is in the process of working on a mitigation plan to try to affect a way to reduce damage and loss to areas often affected adversely by flooding. That may be to zone an area that typically floods so it is not developed. This can be done by not approving septic tank permits to such areas or not allowing building in flood plane areas of subdivisions.

Commissioner Hollowell asked people to drive in the center of the flood damaged roads when they can do so safely. The shoulders have been cut off on some of them. Driving slower on them was also stressed.

Dennis Holt

Lindsay names Holt superintendent finalist

By Janet Felderhoff

After a special called meeting held last week, the Lindsay ISD Board of Trustees announced a lone finalist for the superintendent position. Dennis Holt was named after the Board finished the final interview process of the candidates for that position.

Phillip Hall is serving Lindsay ISD as interim superintendent since the end of May when Dr. Jason Ceyanes resigned to accept a job with Argyle ISD as its superintendent. Hall is the high school principal. Hiring Holt was the culmination of reviewing more than 40 resumes and narrowing them down to five candidates. Those five candidates were interviewed and two selected for the final interview process.

Holt's 20 plus years of experience in education include serving as a math teacher, coach, and high school principal. For the last eight years, he has been employed by Tulia ISD, a 3A district in West Texas. There he was principal of the junior high until this past school year when he served as principal at Tulia High School.

A 1979 graduate of Holiday High School, Holt earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Education from Texas Tech University in 1985. In 1998 he received his Master's degree in Educational Leadership from Texas Tech University.

Holt and his wife Jane have been married for 22 years. They have two children, Nicole age 19, and Dawson, age 13. Nicole is attending New Mexico State University where she is a member of the women's basketball program. Jane is an educational diagnostician for Tulia ISD.

District Judge's rulings overturned by higher ups

In a unanimous opinion, the nine judges of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals (the state's highest court to decide criminal cases), ruled on June 20 that District Judge Janelle Haverkamp was without authority to order certain discovery sought by criminal defendants. The court said that Haverkamp should quit ordering the prosecution to create documents for criminal defendants, or otherwise produce things not in existence or that were part of the State's work product.

District Attorney Cindy Stormer objected to those orders on several grounds and filed a petition for writ of mandamus asking the high court to require the district judge to enter a ruling in compliance with the discovery law. Stormer explained that although the mandamus petition had been characterized as a lawsuit against Judge Haverkamp, it was simply a request that the higher court review the judge's legal ruling.

"The high court's ruling will make Cooke County a safer place as the District Attorney's Office backlog will continue to shrink and criminal cases will reach trial faster. The costs of criminal court-appointed attorneys' fees should be reduced and we can deal with our case load on a more timely basis. This will also eliminate the need for additional personnel and funds to comply with the judge's orders."

The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled that the State was not required to manufacture and compile documents and deliver them to defense counsel as this was not the methodology required by statute.

Stormer explained "Haverkamp was ordering that expert witnesses, most often the over-worked chemists at state crime labs, produce a summary of their expected testimony and that this be delivered to the defense attorneys well in advance of trial. Other documents were also ordered to be manufactured by the state, such as, descriptions of oral statements and locations of recovery of items by the police. Because there were deadlines for this to be done without regard to whether the cases were set for trial, our ability to prepare other cases for trial was jeopardized."

"Under the Judge's orders, the District Attorney's Office was required to deliver these copies to the defense attorney's offices (many of whom are out-of-county). The District Attorney's Office had already agreed to provide everything that the law required, and more, through an open file policy. The district Attorney's Office can again focus on trial preparation"

Safety tips for July 4 holiday

Here are some driving tips the DPS recommends for travelers:

- * Do not drink and drive. Find a designated driver.
- * Have everyone in the vehicle properly secured, either with a safety belt or in the appropriate car seat or booster.
- * Slow down, especially if weather and road conditions do not allow for the designated speed limit.
- * Save your phone calls for home or find a safe place to pull over to place or answer mobile calls.
- * Be polite and courteous while driving-do not practice road rage behavior.
- * Have your vehicle checked to make sure it is roadworthy before a long trip.

Diocese of Fort Worth to ordain four priests

For the first time in the history of the Catholic Diocese of Fort Worth four priests will be ordained by Bishop Kevin Vann at an ordination Mass at St. Patrick Cathedral in downtown Fort Worth. The Mass will be at 10 a.m., Saturday, July 7.

The historic event is expected to attract large numbers of clergy, dignitaries, family, friends, and interested members of the Fort Worth Catholic Diocese.

The highlight of the ordination Mass will come when Bishop Vann lays his hands in silence on each of the men followed by the Prayer of Consecration which will bring the men into priesthood. Each new priest will then be vested and Bishop Vann will anoint the hands of each. He will conclude the Liturgy of Ordination by offering to each of the newly ordained a fraternal kiss of welcome into the Catholic Diocese of Fort Worth Order of Presbyters.

The men who will be ordained are:

Deacon Thomas Jerome Kennedy, 54, is a member of St. John the Apostle Parish in Fort Worth. Kennedy is the son of Thomas and Margaret Kennedy. He is a graduate of St. Maria Goretti Catholic School and Nolan Catholic High School. Kennedy earned an Associate of Science degree from Tarrant College in 1978. He entered the Assumption Seminary in San Antonio in 2001.

Deacon Raymond Lamar McDaniel Jr., 43, is a member of St. Mary the Virgin Parish in Arlington. McDaniel is the son of the late Raymond McDaniel and Eugenia McDaniel. A convert to Catholicism, McDaniel is a graduate of First Baptist Church School in Shreveport. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Bachelor of Science in Business degree from Centenary College and a Master's in Music degree from University of York in England. He entered Assumption Seminary in 2000.

Deacon Isaac Orozco, 29, is a member of St. Matthew Parish in Arlington. Orozco is the son of Caesar Perry Orozco and Esther Gonzales. He is a graduate of MacArthur High School in Irving. He entered the Holy Trinity Seminary in 1998. He graduated from the University of Dallas in May 2002 and North American College in Rome.

Deacon Jonathan Wallis, 33, is a member of St. Peter the Apostle Parish in Fort Worth. Wallis is the son of the late Charles Wallis III and Nancy Lichtenfeld. He graduated from West Plains High School in West Plains, Missouri. He earned a Bachelor's in Music Education from Texas Christian University, a Master's in Theology from Oblate School of Theology, and a Bachelor of Sacred Theology from St. Paul University in Ottawa, Canada. He entered Assumption Seminary in 2000.

"We are indeed blessed that God has called these four outstanding men of the Catholic Diocese of Fort Worth to priesthood," Bishop Vann said. "There is no higher calling than spreading the Good Word of the Lord through the ministry of priesthood."

The Catholic Diocese of Fort Worth currently has 89 active priests—44 diocesan priests and 55 religious order priests or priests from other dioceses. The diocese has 89 parishes in the 28-county North Texas area. Twenty men from the Catholic Diocese of Fort Worth are currently studying to become priests. Five men entered the seminary in 2006 to begin their training for priesthood, and four additional men will enter the seminary in Fall 2007.

Because of the large number of officials and family who will attend the historic ordination Mass, only a limited amount of general seating will be available at St. Patrick Cathedral. To accommodate anyone who wishes to participate in the ordination Mass, the ordination will be shown live at the nearby Fort Worth Convention Center's Rooms 202 A, B, C, and D, located at 1201 Houston St. Downtown parking also will be limited because of the diocesan ordination and a large Jehovah Witnesses meeting at the convention center.

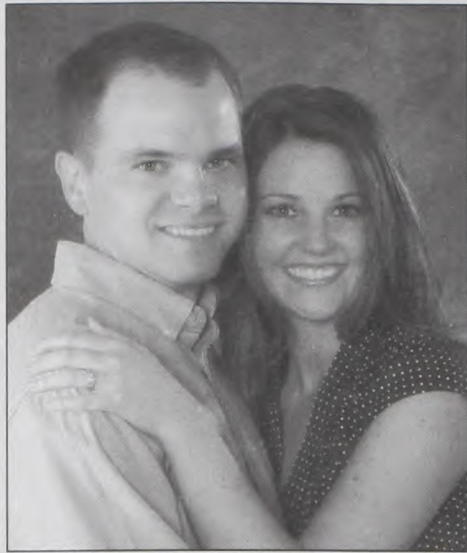

A park and ride service will be available to persons wishing to attend the ordination. Free parking will be available at LaGrave Field, located at 301 NE 6th St., which is north of the Tarrant County Courthouse and one block east of North Main Street. The free shuttle service from LaGrave Field will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will shuttle between the cathedral and convention center until the start of the ordination Mass. Once the cathedral is full, the shuttle will run only to the convention center.

Following the ordination Mass, Bishop Vann, the newly ordained priests, and the St. Patrick congregation will proceed to the Fort Worth Convention Center Rooms 202 A, B, C, and D for a reception in honor of the new priests.

The return shuttle from the convention center to LaGrave Field will begin at 1 p.m. and will continue to 2 p.m.

Flood cancels celebration

The Area Agency on Aging and Meals on Wheels had planned to sponsor a patriotic celebration for Cooke County senior citizens on Tuesday, July 3 at Pecan Creek Apartments. Due to flooding, that event has been cancelled.

Pete and Terri Hayes of Flower Mound announce the engagement and upcoming marriage of their daughter, Lauren Hayes, to Jeff Klement, son of Wayne and Doris Klement of Muenster. Miss Hayes is a 2001 graduate of Jonesboro High School in Jonesboro, Arkansas and a 2005 graduate of Texas Woman's University. She is currently employed by Prosper Dentistry and Orthodontics as a dental hygienist. Mr. Klement is a 2000 graduate of Muenster High School and a 2004 graduate of Texas Tech University. He currently works as a civil engineer for Jones & Boyd in Dallas. The couple plans to wed at Sacred Heart Catholic Church on Aug. 4, 2007, with a reception following at Saint Peter's Centennial Hall in Lindsay. After a honeymoon in Jamaica, the couple will reside in Little Elm.

PURPLE HEART SCHOLARS Jayna and Kalya Rohmer, twin daughters of Ken and Cindy Rohmer of Muenster, receive congratulations for the $500 scholarships awarded to each of them by Chapter 744, Military Order of the Purple Heart (MOPH) of Cooke County. This continues a MOPH tradition of awarding scholarships to NCTC students who are direct descendants of combat-wounded armed services veterans awarded the Purple Heart. For Jayna and Kalya, that is their grandfather Morris Eikman. According to scholarship presenter Fred Rosenbaum, left, MOPH commander, then U.S. Army Sergeant Eikman was both taken prisoner and wounded during the December 1945 offensive against Allied Forces in the Ardennes Forest that became known as the "Battle of the Bulge." Coxes' daughter earns COLLEGE GEICO volunteer award

Renee Exler of Dallas was recently honored as the GEICO Volunteer Service Award winner for her work to serve children through CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) and by working closely with Child Protective Services. Award ceremonies took place June 18 in Washington, D.C. She is the daughter of Bill and Sheila Cox.

Exler, a claims supervisor in GEICO's Dallas regional office for 18 years, has served as a court appointed guardian through CASA for three years.

"I've always wanted to help kids," Exler said. "My work with CASA has its joys and frustration; it requires a lot of patience, but is very rewarding. The children want to live in stable homes and be loved. I'm glad I can help them along the way."

Exler acts as a liaison between children, foster families, and the biological families to ensure that children in troubled families reside in safe and healthy environments. Her duties entail reviewing the facts of each case, investigating the situation, monitoring the children's welfare while in foster care, monitoring the progress of biological parents, and testifying her findings in court on behalf of the children.

Renee Exler

GEICO's Gary Brown, regional vice president in Dallas, said, "Renee was chosen because she epitomizes the spirit of volunteer service. What makes Renee special is how she is able to fit all of her volunteer work in each day. GEICO rewards its associates who make a difference by contributing to the organizations for which they volunteer. We are very proud of Renee."

Exler was treated to a weekend trip to Washington, D.C. She received a certificate of appreciation, a cash award, and a $1,000 contribution in her name to CASA.

When thunder roars, go indoors! Lightning Safety Week is June 24-30

Summer is the peak season for one of the nation's deadliest weather phenomena—lightning. The campaign is designed to lower lightning death and injury rates and America's vulnerability to one of nature's deadliest hazards.

In the United States, an average of 62 people are killed each year by lightning. In 2006, there were 47 confirmed deaths and 246 confirmed injuries. The injury number is likely far lower than it should be because many people do not seek help or doctors do not record it as a lightning injury.

People struck by lightning suffer from a variety of long-term, debilitating symptoms, including memory loss, attention deficits, sleep disorders, numbness, dizziness, stiffness in joints, irritability, fatigue, weakness, muscle spasms, depression, and an inability to sit for long.

Improve your bass fishing

Bass fishing is a very sought after sport in the United States and many other countries like Australia and Canada. Many tournaments are held throughout the year and this has made bass fishing a very lucrative industry.

Although bass is an edible fish, sport anglers do not treat them as food. During a fishing tournament, bass are caught, weighed and then released back into the water. If the bass are stressed, they are placed in a holding tank for treatment and then released back into the water right after treatment is completed.

There are many factors that can affect your performance as a professional bass fishing angler. First, you need to understand the biology and behaviour of the bass that you want to catch. Knowing how bass behave in different water and temperature environments, their habitats and many other factors can affect your fishing outcome.

For example, bass fish are pretty sluggish in extremely hot or cold water. They usually do not fight very hard when they are caught. However, they feed and grow rapidly when the temperature is moderate and will put up a hard fight if they are caught.

Bass also prefer to stay in covered areas and usually prey on smaller fish. This should give you an idea of where to look as well as what lures to use when bass fishing.

Besides learning about the bass fish, you need to understand and maximize the use of your fishing equipment. The type of rods, reels, lines, and lures to use will depend on the type of bass fish you are expecting to catch. You certainly do not want your equipment to fail at the moment when a fish bites.

In a fishing tournament, you seldom stay in the same spot for a long period of time. If you are not having great result in one spot, you will have to quickly look for another spot to improve your catch. Your ability to read a fishing map quickly and accurately will help in your chance of locating a good fishing location.

A good piece of advice would be to visit the angler supply store near the tournament venue. You can pick up a few useful tips from the store owners on the potential spots for landing a big catch.

Regardless if you are a sport or recreational angler, you need to improve your fishing techniques and knowledge on a regular basis. Always seek out other successful bass fish anglers to exchange ideas and pointers. Most successful anglers love to share their knowledge.

You can also go online to visit bass fishing forums and make new friends. You will likely meet anglers from around the world which will further broaden your bass fishing knowledge.

By taking all the above factors into account, you can make every fishing experience enjoyable and fruitful.

USDA weakens organic food definition

Organic food manufacturers and producers in the United States will be able to use more non-organic ingredients and still be able to label their food as being wholly organic under new rules proposed by the USDA.

It will allow foods to include another 38 "minor" ingredients recommended by the National Organic Standards Board (NOSB). The interim final rule, which became effective June 21, also provides a 60-day period for additional comment on the amendments.

The 38 minor ingredients contained in the interim final rule are non-organic, agricultural ingredients that may be considered for use in an "organic" processed product. A minor ingredient cannot comprise more than 5% of an "organic" product. Before an organic handling operation can consider using a non-organic, agricultural minor ingredient, the organic form of the ingredient must be first sourced and confirmed unavailable.

The NOSB recommendations to amend the National List with these 38 non-organic, agricultural minor ingredients are consistent with the Organic Foods Production Act of 1990, the National Organic Program (NOP) regulations, and the district court's final judgment and order on Harvey v. Johanns, dated June 9, 2005.

The district court's final judgment and order clarified that 205.606 shall be interpreted to permit the use of a non-organically produced agricultural product only when the product is listed in 205.606, and when an accredited certifying agent determines the organic form of the agricultural product is not commercially available.

On May 15, AMS published proposed rule AMS-TM-07-0062 to add 38 minor ingredients to 205.606 of the National List with a 7-day comment period. AMS received approximately 1,250 comments on the proposed rule, including comments expressing concern about the abbreviated comment period. Under the interim final rule that AMS is publishing, organic businesses will be permitted to continue use of the 38 non-organic, agricultural minor ingredients while additional comments are sought over the 60-day comment period regarding the addition of these minor ingredients to 205.606.

Interested persons may comment on the interim final rule by mail to Robert Pooler, Agricultural Marketing Specialist, National Organic Program, USDA/AMS/TMP/NOP, 1400 Independence Ave., SW, Room 4008-So., Ag Stop 0268, Washington, DC 20250 or by Internet at www.regulations.gov

Written comments on the interim final rule should be identified with the docket number AMS-TM-07-0062. Comments should identify the relevant topic and section number of the interim final rule.

TDA secures johnsongrass control herbicide

Agriculture Commissioner Todd Staples announced recently the Texas Department of Agriculture has been granted approval by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to extend a Section 18 quarantine exemption allowing the use of sulfosulfuron (Maverick herbicide) in Bermuda grass pastures and hayfields to control johnsongrass.

Applicators may continue using the product through June 30, 2008.

Maverick herbicide, manufactured by Monsanto Technology LLC, may be applied following all directions, restrictions, and precautions on the EPA registered product label, as well as restrictions within the exemption notice.

Applications can only be made by certified applicators, licensed applicators, or persons under the direct supervision of licensed applicators.

For more information, contact your county Texas Cooperative Extension office or TDA at (512) 463-7544 or 800-TELL-TDA. A copy of the approval notice is located on the TDA Web site at www.tda.state.tx.us.

Farm Bill update

The Full Committee on Agriculture Farm Bill markup has been postponed to an unknown later date, most likely in mid-July following the 4th of July Congressional recess. Committee consideration of the bill was originally scheduled for June 26-28 in the Longworth House Office Building.

In related news, the House Agriculture Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities and Risk Management approved proposals for the commodity and crop insurance programs for the 2007 Farm Bill earlier this week. The committee basically voted to continue the current commodity title through the next Farm Bill. Copies of the discussion drafts and the amendments approved by the Subcommittee are available online at <http://agriculture.house.gov/inside/2007FarmBill.html>.

Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns reacted, "I am disappointed in the Title I legislation put forth by the House Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities and Risk Management. The bill fails to recognize the need for greater equity and predictability in farm policy, and does nothing to provide a more responsive safety net."

The subcommittee markups are a starting point before the full committee markup, expected later this summer. It was originally thought that the Farm Bill would be on the House floor before August recess, but this timeline remains in flux. To date, there has been no official action in the Senate on the Farm Bill.

Weed control - then and now

Cooke County rancher Isaac Stevens sprays weeds at Spring Creek, near Valley View in the late 1960s. What used to be called chemical weed control or spraying pesticides on crops or grassland is now known as pest management. Pest management is utilizing environmentally sensitive prevention, avoidance, monitoring, and suppression strategies to manage weeds, insects, diseases, animals, and other organisms that directly or indirectly cause damage or annoyance. For more information on pest management practices, contact the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service office at Gainesville at 940-668-7794, extension 3.

COUNTY AGENT'S REPORT

WAYNE BECKER
CEA - AG/INR

Notes from FSA regarding recent flooding

Even though no compensation packages have been approved at this date, it is important to report all agricultural damages to the Farm Service Agency (FSA). Chance Fenoglio, Cooke County executive director reminds us the recent flooding events have caused extensive damage to crops, fences, live-stock, and land across a wide area in Cooke County. He asks that agricultural producers report all damages sustained due to the floods to his office. This information is extremely useful to the FSA as they try to assess the impact of the recent flood and make applications for assistance packages. If no damage is reported, it is very difficult for decision makers to justify recovery assistance.

As a result of this flooding, the Cooke County FSA Committee has requested assistance through the Emergency Conservation Program (ECP) to help rehabilitate damaged farmland and structures. Farms damaged by the flood may be eligible for the ECP program administered by the Cooke County FSA Office if the damage will be so costly to rehabilitate that Federal assistance is or will be needed to return the land to productive agricultural use; is unusual and is not the type that would recur frequently in the same area; affect the productive capacity of the farmland; will impair or endanger the land.

A producer qualifying for ECP assistance may receive cost-share levels not to exceed 75% of the eligible cost of restoration measures. No producer is eligible for more than $200,000 cost sharing per natural disaster occurrence. The following types of measures may be eligible: removing debris from farmland; grading, shaping, or releveling severely damaged farmland; restoring permanent fences; restoring conservation structures and other similar installations.

To be eligible for assistance, practices must not be started until all of the following are met: an application for cost-share assistance has been filed; the local FSA County Committee (COC) or its representative has conducted an onsite inspection of the damaged area; the Agency responsible for technical assistance, such as the Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS), has made a needs determination, which may include cubic yards of earthmoving, etc., required for rehabilitation. Some exceptions apply regarding situations where life or property is at risk.

It should be noted that this program has not been approved and a sign-up has not been announced as of this article. If and when the program is approved, the COC will announce a sign-up period to request assistance. Until that time it is important that you document all the time, materials, machinery, and any other expense in completing any of those practices listed above. Other documentation, such as pictures of the damaged area, is also helpful in completing the application.

If you have spring seeded crops and participate in the Direct and Counter Cyclical Farm Program and have not certified your crop yet, please come by the office and certify as soon as possible. With the recent flood damage to crops and property, we are expecting an increased workload over the next few months, so come in early and avoid any backlogs. You have until July 15 to certify your crops. After that date a late file fee will apply. As a reminder, if you have acreage of any crop that has failed due to the flooding, please report that to our office on form CCC-576 within 15 days of the date the loss is apparent. Form CCC-576 is available at the County office. If you have any further questions please contact the Cooke County Farm Service Agency at 940-665-4397 ext. 2.

Dates to Remember:

- July 14 - Progressive Farmer Safety Day Camp; Youth K-5th, Gainesville Civic Center.
- July 19 - Summer Crop Field Day; 4 CEUs; 7:30 a.m., Prosper Research Center.
- Aug 6-8 - Texas A&M Beef Cattle Short Course at College Station.
