

Yosten reflects on farming from horse drawn to horse powered

Henry Yosten takes great pleasure in driving this 444 International diesel tractor which he restored. He took on the project as a hobby, but found that the tractor is excellent for harrowing and sowing. Janet Felderhoff photo

Henry Yosten has spent most of his life farming for his livelihood and knows from experience the bond between God and a farmer. "You realize what He does for us," commented Henry Yosten. "You sure as heck can't do it without Him. You can go out and plow and plant and fertilize, and everything else, but if He doesn't help you out, you don't make nothing."

Henry just celebrated his 80th birthday in July and still spends most days out working on his farm located about three and a half miles northwest of Muenster.

Asked what keeps him farming, Henry replied, "Got to have something to do, you know? And I still like it."

And why does he like it? He remarked, "It's just the way of life - it's such a wonderful way of life. You don't have a boss breathing down your neck all the time and telling you what to do. Mistakes are your own."

Something has to be especially appealing about the way of life. Henry recalled rainy times when dealing with milk cows and sloppy, slippery mud gave him pause to wonder, "Now why in the heck am I doing this?", to ice storms that caused treacherous conditions just going from house to dairy barn. "You have to take the bad with the good, I guess," he commented.

In 1940 when Henry was 13, his mother Marie died. He was the youngest of five children and the only one still living at home at the time. He worked the farm, which was about five miles northwest of Muenster, with his dad Frank. In 1942 Frank sold the family farm and moved to town.

Henry graduated from Sacred Heart High School in 1945 and joined the U.S. Navy Reserves where he eventually became a teletype operator stationed in Guam. He started out typing copies of messages and lists of items brought in on the ships. "Page after page of 100 rolls of toi-

Bed increase pondered by Muenster Hospital Board

By Janet Felderhoff
Muenster Memorial Hospital's swing bed program has been very successful and that success will soon require its Board and administration to make some decisions on patient bed numbers. The growth and some pros and cons of up sizing were discussed at the Sept. 18 regular Board meeting.

A few years ago, MMH sought a Critical Access Hospital (CAH) designation in order to keep its doors open. With the CAH designation, a hospital can have a maximum of 25 beds and only 15 can be filled with acute care patients. Currently MMH is only licensed for 18 beds and would have to apply to the State should they wish to increase that number.

Administrator Lynn Heller reported a substantial increase in total patient days with 362 this August compared to 189 last August. Accumulated year-to-date was 699 versus 454. Visits to the ER were down slightly, but all others including the Health Clinic, outpatient, and Home Health were up.

John Aytes, Board secretary, remarked, "On our census situation, in the last few weeks we've run, I don't know how many days, up to the maximum. We had to turn away patients and that's a problem also. It's the swing bed patients who are coming in volume. We have not increased our acute care patient census all that much over the past several years." He wondered what the determining factors should be for taking action to increase patient bed numbers.

Heller said that the old rule of thumb was if you are 80 to 85% occupancy, then you are full. This is because patients overlap as they come and go during the day. To average between 12 and 14 patients a day would be pretty full for MMH, he noted. "We're having some difficulty," Heller confirmed. "We're really facing a little bit of a dilemma right now because we have had to turn a few folks away and tell them that we don't have an extra bed available right now." Those were swing bed patients. Heller said that was during the slow months. With flu season coming, the acute census is expected to increase. He said they have discussed limiting the number of swing bed patients to allow ample bed space for acute care patients.

Board member Angelo Nasche remarked that he feels the swing bed is good for the Hospital because it gives people who have surgery some other place a facility to get rehab at near home.

Heller told of Dr. Dunn visiting for a peer review meeting and also attending a swing bed meeting. "He just couldn't believe it," Heller said. "The interaction and the discussion he had with the family members and the rehab people here. He thought it was just great."

Board member Dr. Walter Knight asked if the current need situation was anticipated to continue. Heller replied that he sees it continue to escalate as word of the program spreads.

To add more beds would not require adding on to the Hospital. Offices, therapy rooms, etc. occupy former patient rooms. New places would have to be found for those people. "It would be cheaper to find a place to put those people than it would be to put new patient beds," Heller commented.

Harris Hospital is beginning a new model stroke program for TPA medicine. Harris has asked Muenster to be the first hospital to participate in the program. The patient would be treated by MMH using the protocol established by Harris and MMH prior to transferring the patient. He noted that it had a lot to do with MMH's CAT scan capability.

Dr. Knight noted that such a relationship would assist MMH's transfer ability.

Heller also told of a federal lab program that they have the ability to participate in soon.

"There are just some interesting opportunities coming our way," said Heller.

Commissioners consider CCAD Board appointments

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County Appraisal District's Board of Directors consists of five members appointed by the taxing entities of the County. All of their terms expire on Jan. 1, 2008. Each entity has a certain number of votes depending on its tax base. It takes 824 votes to elect a member to the Board. Cooke County has 1175 votes.

County Judge Bill Freeman explained that Commissioners Court could appoint one member and split the remainder of the votes any way it decided among other candidates, or it could split its total votes any way it so chose. Nominations will be taken at the Oct. 8 meeting. Freeman said the County could nominate as many people as they want to nominate.

One thing is changing this year. The five school districts that have property in Cooke County will also have a say in the election of the CCAD Board. Those districts include Whitesboro, Slidell, Pilot Point, Saint Jo. "It will change the dynamics of the local nominations because they are allowed to make nominations and cast their votes also," noted the Judge.

Currently serving on the CCAD Board are David Clifton, Bob Knauf of Muenster, Jim Myrick, Beverly Snuggs (Gainesville representative), and Zach Nichols (Gainesville ISD rep).

A change in the Precinct 17 and 18 polling places was made for the Nov. 6 election. Originally listed as being at the Muenster Junior High School, a move was approved to the Sacred Heart Community Center. Classes will be in session that day, making for too much congestion for the election to be held there.

A new State law requires that polling places be made available in the County for people who live in a school district that is not in the county that they reside in such as people who live in Cooke County, but whose property is in the Saint Jo School District. Commissioners approved the sharing of the Community Center for the Nov. 6 election for voters in Precinct 18 who are also in the Saint Jo ISD.

Kelly Zwinggi brought plans and specs for the construction of a road to the Cooke County Justice Center.

Commissioners approved the plans and specs and authorized advertising for bids for the construction of the road.

An amendment was approved for the tax abatement granted to Allied Production several months ago. They plan to put in two tank manufacturing facilities, one for metals tanks and the other for fiberglass. A change in the location of one of the plants is the reason for the amendment.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Under the direction of its president, Elaine Schilling, her great Board of Directors, and the volunteers of Keep Muenster Beautiful, Muenster just won another $65,000.00 Governor's Community Achievement Award (GCAA) for additional beautification projects in Muenster! All of Muenster should be extremely proud of what the Keep Muenster Beautiful (KMB) organization has done for this community. Many may not realize that when donations, in-kind services, and awards won by this organization are calculated, the combined total given to Muenster is well over $1,000,000.00 (one million dollars)!

All of this stays in Muenster and benefits the businesses and residents of Muenster. The new fence park along Highway 82, the renovation of the park pavilion, the newest sidewalks, planters, flowers, trees, trash bins, antique-like lighting on Main Street, planters in front of the Chamber, Library, Post Office, and City Hall, and the Keep Muenster Beautiful Park across the street from Sacred Heart Church on Main Street are all there because people volunteer and donate to Keep Muenster Beautiful.

I'm most amazed at the transformation of (one of) Muenster's biggest eye sores, the old cheese plant on the corner of Main Street and Highway 82! It is now one of the most beautiful attractions of Muenster! It's amazing what imagination, a little paint, and dedicated volunteers can accomplish! No doubt that this magnificent art work will be shown at the Keep Texas Beautiful conference this year and will draw people to Muenster. When thousands of people come to Muenster for Germanfest they will be so impressed by this new tourist attraction that they will tell others, who will want to see what KMB has done.

Tourists will spend money while here. They'll eat in Muenster's restaurants, shop in its stores, and stand in awe of the only glockenspiel in the state of Texas. There will be more talk of the "little German community of the north Texas hill country".

Anyone in the community who wishes to be present at the award ceremony where Muenster will receive the Governor's Community Achievement Award may do so. In fact, all who can be present to show support and appreciation of KMB are encouraged to attend the GCAA dinner at 6:30 p.m. at the Omni Mandalay Hotel at Las Colinas on Thursday, June 26. I cannot stress enough what a wonderful and important event this is and how honorable it would be to have a great delegation from Muenster.

We are fortunate this year that the award dinner is only an hour drive rather than in Austin, Houston, or El Paso. Those interested in registering for the GCAA award dinner can save $15 if registered before May 25. If interested you may find additional information at the Keep Texas Beautiful website: www.ktb.org or call 1-800-CLEAN TX.

Keep Muenster Beautiful (Muenster Proud, Incorporated) is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization whose mission is to continuously educate, clean up, and beautify Muenster so that it is attractive to residents, business, and tourism. People who are proud of what this organization has done and continues to do for Muenster might consider showing support and appreciation with a tax-deductible contribution. Remember that all of your donations stay right here in Muenster and benefit the local economy.

Way to go KMB! I'm so proud of all of you!

Anna Marie is three!

Anna Marie Becker, daughter of Michael and Billie Becker, celebrated her third birthday on March 14. Her party was held on Saturday, March 15 at her house. Anna Marie picked the party's theme. She chose Cinderella. There were pink and purple balloons along with Cinderella in her horse-drawn carriage balloons. Anna and her friends dressed up like ballerinas and played toys for awhile.

Guests were served chopped beef sandwiches, beans, strawberries, chips, and veggies. Cinderella cupcakes with rings on them were also served.

Attending the party were her parents; sisters Amelia and Heidi; grandparents

Linda Becker and Connie White; Wayne and Alison Becker, Stephen Becker, Greg, Mandy, Rory, and Maya Dulock, Jennifer Fuhrmann, and Anne Poole.

Unable to attend was her great-grandmother, Rita Becker, Godparents Paul and Beth Bartush, and Christy, Rosemary, and Della Hartman.

Anna Marie received many gifts for her birthday. Pretty dresses, a new baby doll, baby bottles, a baby bed, and coloring books were among the gifts she received. Anna Marie's celebration of life was delightful.

Msgr. Hubert Neu set to step down as rector of St. Patrick's Catholic Diocese of Fort Worth Bishop Kevin Vann has named Father Richard Flores as rector of St. Patrick Cathedral, effective Aug. 1.

Father Flores, who currently is the long-time pastor of St. Rita Catholic Church in East Fort Worth and assistant director for Hispanic Vocations, will replace Msgr. Hubert J. Neu who is stepping down from full-time ministry after almost 57 years.

Father Flores is the first Hispanic to be rector of St. Patrick Cathedral, the cathedral for the Diocese of Fort Worth.

A native of Laredo, Father Flores was ordained on June 19, 1984.

Father Flores received a Master's of Theology from the University of Dallas, a Master's of Liturgy from the University of Notre Dame, and a theology degree from North American College in Rome.

Msgr. Neu, a native of Lindsay, was ordained a priest on May 30, 1951 in Lindsay while the Fort Worth area was still a part of the Catholic Diocese of Dallas. His first assignment was at St. Bernard Parish in Dallas. From 1964 to 1977, he was pastor of St. Matthew Parish in Arlington. He was pastor of Our Lady Queen of Peace Parish in Wichita Falls from 1977 to 1981. In 1981, he became pastor of Most Blessed Sacrament in Arlington where he remained until he became pastor of St. Patrick Cathedral in 1995.

In addition to his pastoral duties, Msgr. Neu has been a tribunal judge, a long-time member of the diocesan Building Commission, a member of the Diocesan Priests' retirement committee, and active in many other ministries.

Bishop Vann said he is grateful that Msgr. Neu will continue to help with Masses throughout the Diocese, as well as continuing to service on the Diocesan Building Commission, the Pastoral Finance Council, and as a judge for the Diocesan Marriage Tribunal.

"I served as the first Assistant City Attorney for the City of Dallas from 1988 through 1991. During that period of time, I had the pleasure of working with Cindy Stormer. She was assigned as the Chief Attorney in the Police Liaison Division. She supervised seven attorneys and various support personnel. Of the some 70 assistant city attorneys that I supervised, Ms. Stormer was one of the most outstanding. She demonstrated an excellent knowledge of the criminal law which was very helpful to the day-to-day operations in the Dallas Police Department. She is a highly motivated, self-starting individual who works long hours and has an excellent analytical mind, good judgment and common sense. Ms. Stormer taught regularly at the police academy and was one of the most popular instructors during her tenure.

Kenneth C. Dippel
Former First Assistant City Attorney, Dallas

"Cindy's election as District Attorney precipitated much needed changes for Cooke County, tackling a backlog by bringing more cases to trial, no matter how old or difficult. As your DA, Cindy has worked diligently and fearlessly for the victims of your community, increasing the timely disposition of cases while employing the highest degree of ethics. Because Cindy Stormer believes in justice, she continues to lead by example, always giving more of her experience, creativity, and self to a position that she fully embraces and continues to faithfully serve. I have tried jury trials with Cindy Stormer when we were prosecutors in the Tarrant County District Attorney's office. Some of our trials involved victims that were seriously injured and complicated medical testimony. We were successful in prosecuting our cases. Cindy has an excellent character and her work ethic is to be admired. She is also very smart and knows the criminal law."

Malena Calderon
Attorney at Law, Former Prosecutor Tarrant County District Attorney's Office
Special Prosecutor, Cooke County 2005, 2006, 2007

"During a twenty-two year career with the Dallas Police Department, I had professional association with many attorneys. Never did I work with anyone who displayed greater professional competence combined with devotion to duty than Cindy Stormer. I had the opportunity to observe Cindy next as a prosecutor for the Tarrant County District Attorney's office. She was the lead prosecutor in a case in which an officer who worked for me was providing expert testimony. The case involved complex forensic issues. She was successful in that case in the face of opposition from a very experienced trial attorney.

Finally, I had the opportunity to work directly with Cindy at the Dallas Police Department. She was the Chief Legal Advisor to the Chief of Police and supervised a staff of attorneys and support personnel. During her tenure, she improved productivity and morale of the staff. She dealt with a number of personnel issues and showed that she had the ability to make difficult decisions when necessary. She possesses the professional skills and character to serve you well."

Douglas D. Sword
Captain of Police (Ret.) Dallas Police Department

"Cindy Stormer is that rare sort of lawyer: comfortable and powerful in the courtroom, and yet an excellent and persuasive appellate lawyer with unsurpassable research and writing skills. She is the kind of lawyer that you want on your side.

W. Scott Brown
Of Counsel to Vinson & Elkins LLP.

"Thank you for all your hard work & dedication in winning an almost impossible case. We both knew up front how difficult the case would be but you guaranteed me that you would work hard on the case and you kept your promise. It is now a published opinion that will help women in the future to protect their rights and the rights of their children. People in the same situation as I was can be helped by this case for years to come. You are someone who truly cares, somebody who gave me hope and had the same passion as I did to the case. You knew how much this meant to me. Thanks."

Check the source of online health info

When it comes to something as important as health and wellness, Texans seeking more information should always consult their doctor or licensed healthcare professional. According to a recent Pew Internet and American Life Project study, every day an estimated eight million Americans search the Internet for health care information. But Texans should never solely rely on a Web site to diagnose or treat a serious illness. Equally important, Internet users should always pay close attention to their information source.

Although many Web sites offer informative, helpful information about a variety of health and lifestyle issues, not every site can be trusted for accurate, factual material. Texans who consult the Internet for health care information should always pay close attention to who or what operates their favored Web sites.

In some cases, what appears to be a medically-oriented Web site may actually be an advertising tool for a third party with a financial incentive to exaggerate or downplay a product's benefits or dangers. For example, Web-based law firm advertising is particularly common among Web sites that are dedicated to certain specific illnesses or prescription medications. In fact, a recent study revealed that Internet searches for medical information produced results that were "dominated by Web sites paid for and sponsored by either class action law firms or legal marketing sites searching for plaintiff referrals."

In contrast, an unbiased online information source might include a broader spectrum of data about a given subject matter. For example, Web sites created by reputable organizations like the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association often feature peer-reviewed medical journals and other impartial research sources. In addition, many government agencies, including the Food and Drug Administration, impose similarly rigorous standards upon any research included on their Web sites.

But even trusted, verifiable online information cannot be relied upon to treat serious ailments or answer critical medical questions. Texans should always contact a licensed medical professional whenever their health is at risk. An in-person visit to a doctor's office or local clinic is the best way to ensure patients are getting accurate information that is tailored to their unique health needs.

Texans who have encountered misleading or deceptive medically-oriented Web sites may file a complaint with the Office of the Attorney General by calling (800) 252-8011 or visiting their Web site at www.texasattorneygeneral.gov.

Productivity Appraisal reduces property taxes on farms and ranches

Farmers and ranchers may be eligible for property tax relief on their land. They may apply for a special, lower appraisal of their land, based on what the land will produce rather than what it would sell for in the open market, said Doug Smithson, chief appraiser of the Cooke County Appraisal District.

"The Texas Constitution provides for two types of agricultural productivity appraisal," Smithson said. Article 8, Sec. 1-d-1, addresses what is known as agricultural appraisal. Article 8, Sec. 1-d, also addresses agricultural appraisal but has different qualification requirements. Because the qualifications of the owner are more stringent, property owners rarely apply for agricultural appraisal under Section 1-d.

Landowners must file for special appraisal at the appraisal district office by April 30. Those who must file this year include owners of land qualified for 1-d appraisal, landowners whose property did not previously receive 1-d-1 appraisal, and new owners of qualified land. The appraisal district must accept late-filed 1-d-1 appraisal applications until the day before the appraisal review board approves the 2008 appraisal records, but late applications will draw a penalty. The chief appraiser may require an updated application when the 1-d-1 appraisal use has changed from the original application.

"The requirements for applying and qualifying both the land and the owner are different for the two types of appraisal," Smithson said. Most property owners apply for 1-d-1 appraisal. To qualify, the owner must use the land for agriculture or growing timber. This form of appraisal does not restrict ownership to individuals and does not require agriculture to be the owner's primary business.

This special appraisal requires that the land's use in a qualifying agricultural or timber purpose meets the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area. (Minimum of 5 acres to qualify). Owners must show that they devoted the land's use principally to a qualifying use for at least five of the preceding seven years.

The law also provides that a property owner may use the land for wildlife management to receive the special appraisal, if the land had been qualified for agriculture in the preceding year. Land under wildlife management must meet acreage size requirements and special use qualifications.

Under 1-d, the owner must file an application each year. The owner must be an individual—not a corporation, partnership, agency, or organization. The land must have had an agricultural use for at least three years. The owner's primary job and source of income must be agriculture.

"Landowners should know," Smithson said, "that the law provides specific penalties for taking qualified land out of agricultural or timber production."

The rollback tax is the difference between the taxes paid under productivity appraisal and the taxes that would have been paid if the land had been put on the tax roll at market value, Smithson explained. And, rollback taxes include interest charges.

Under 1-d-1, an owner triggers a rollback by changing the land's use to a non-agricultural use. The rollback taxes are based on the five tax years preceding the year of the change.

Under the 1-d appraisal, if the owner sells the land or changes its use, the rollback extends back for the three tax years before the year in which the change or sale occurs.

Owners must apply for productivity appraisal with each appraisal district in which they have land. Failure to do so could result in paying taxes on the land's full market value.

Additional information and application forms are available from the county appraisal district office. The staff will help landowners determine if their property qualifies for special appraisal. For more information, landowners may contact the Cooke County Appraisal District at 201 North Dixon, Gainesville, TX 76240, and Phone: 940-665-7651.

Children's feet grow fast, so check them often to head off problems

It's no secret that children's feet grow rapidly. Parents should check their youngster's shoes every few weeks to ensure there is adequate space to expand.

"The wrong shoe size can cause foot problems," said Dr. Philip Wilson, an orthopaedic surgeon at UT Southwestern Medical Center. "Parents should check the fit of a child's shoe when the child is standing and pay particular attention to the front of shoes. There should be one-half the length of an adult's thumbnail between the tips of the toes and the front of the shoes."

Dr. Wilson also recommends that shoes be wide enough so they don't cramp the child's toes from side to side. Shoes are unnecessary for infants except in cold weather or if the child has started walking and is on a hazardous surface.

"When shoes become necessary, parents should purchase inexpensive, well-ventilated soft shoes with flexible, soft soles," Dr. Wilson suggests.

"I know Cindy Stormer to be an honorable and ethical attorney. In fact, she taught legal ethics to attorneys, with me and retired Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzales in 2006 when we were members of the first legal delegation allowed into Tibet. The rule of law is based on honesty and integrity by those who are charged with administering our laws in order that the rights of all people are protected. I feel Cindy Stormer can and will do this."

Richard Pena, Attorney at Law
Former Texas State Bar President

"Cindy Stormer is doing a great job as District Attorney and should continue serving the citizens of Cooke County. A vote for Cindy is a vote for law and order in Cooke County. Join me in voting for Cindy Stormer"

Alex Cord,
Cooke County resident known for his roles in Stagecoach, Airwolfe & Gray Eagle

"Cindy Stormer is a personal friend of mine. I know her to be hard working and honest. She has done a great job as Cooke County District Attorney. Please join me in re-electing her as District Attorney."

Robert Fuller,
Cooke County Resident and known for roles in Laramie, Wagon Train, Emergency

"I have been blessed to know Cindy Stormer for several years since my moving back to Cooke County in 1992. She works non-stop, even weekends, with honesty and integrity that is so rare in today's public officials. She is against wasteful spending in our county government and needs our help to back her up."

Margie A. Felderhoff York, OD
York Eye Associates, PC

"Cindy Stormer is an elected official that really cares about the community. She has been involved in the Cooke County Planning Association since its inception and gives useful and informative advice on issues. She is also available for many other local organizations when she is needed. Please join me in re-electing a great District Attorney for Cooke County."

Suzanne McCann, Valley View

"I was an Assistant Chief with the Dallas Police department from 1989 until 1991. During that time I was pleased to work quite often with one of our Legal Advisors, Cindy Stormer. I found that in all of my dealings she was extremely competent and found ways to assist in problems instead of only supplying negative answers. I gladly support Cindy Stormer in whatever endeavor she undertakes."

Sam Gonzales
Former Chief of Police Dallas,
Former Chief of Police Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

"I have known Cindy Stormer for about thirty years. When I first met her she was one of my students who was paying her way through college working as a police officer. She was an outstanding student who was highly respected by her fellow students, her teachers and her colleagues in the police department. She continued working while completing her law degree. Ms. Stormer taught government, criminal justice and legal assistant classes for me while working full-time as a Tarrant county Assistant District Attorney. I know her to be hard-working, honest and a strong leader. She is an excellent role model for those interested in a legal career, particularly young women. I believe her record of accomplishments speaks for itself."

Wayne Zatopek,
Assistant Professor Emeritus, Tarrant County College

"I observed Cindy Stormer trying a murder case when I was a juror in Cooke County. She is a remarkable trial lawyer. The case was six years old and a very difficult one but she did a great job and we returned a verdict of guilty and a long sentence."
Pat Cheaney, Gainesville, Texas

"I have observed Cindy Stormer on numerous occasions in front of Commissioner's Court and she is always very professional and respectful to all and a credit to her profession. I also served on one of her first grand juries and know that she has prosecuted hundreds of very old cases in order to make Cooke County a safer place. We need to keep her tough, effective District Attorney."
Ken Arterbury, Cooke County

Smithson reports that homestead exemptions reduce property tax bill

Homeowners can reduce their property tax bills in 2008 by taking advantage of homestead exemptions. Application forms are available at the Cooke County Appraisal District.

Chief Appraiser Doug Smithson informs homeowners that Texas law allows them to file a one-time application for homestead exemptions. These exemptions reduce the appraised value of the home. "You do not have to pay a fee to file for a homestead exemption," said Smithson.

Property owners who have not received the general homestead exemption on their homes in which they were living on Jan. 1, 2008, and those who became totally disabled or turn 65, must apply this year to receive their exemptions for 2008.

For the general homestead exemptions, homeowners must own and live in their homes on Jan. 1, 2008. Homeowners 65 years of age and older and those who become disabled don't need to own their homes on Jan. 1 to qualify for the age 65 and older or disabled homestead exemptions. State law provides that they may apply as soon as they turn 65 or become disabled, own the home and live in the home as their principal residence.

If an age 65 or older owner is entitled to the general homestead exemption, the Appraisal District will automatically apply the age 65 exemptions if the owner's birth date was on the original homestead application or other written correspondence to the Appraisal District about the home.

State law also allows that if the age 65 and older spouse dies before applying for the age 65 and older exemption, the surviving spouse age 55 or older may apply for the age 65 and older exemption for the deceased spouse. The same filing deadlines apply.

If a homestead is located in a taxing unit that overlaps into two or more counties, the homeowner must apply at each county appraisal district.

A homeowner's principal residence and land are considered the homestead. It can include up to 20 acres of land and improvements. Improvements include the house, a swimming pool, greenhouse, or any other structures, as long as the owner uses them for residential purposes.

Smithson said that a property must meet four tests set by law to qualify for the residence homestead exemption. The person or persons claiming the exemption must own the property on Jan. 1 (homeowners 65 and older or disabled need not own the property on Jan. 1 for the age 65 and older or disabled homestead exemptions only); the property must be designed or adapted for human residence; the owner must use the property as a residence; and the property must be the principal residence of an owner who qualifies for the exemption.

A mobile home, even on leased land, can qualify for the exemption if it meets the four tests.

"A property owner can still qualify for the homestead exemption if part of the residence is rented out or used for other purposes, such as a home business," Smithson said. "The home will not lose its exemption if the owner moves away temporarily for a period of less than two years, so long as he or she intends to return and doesn't claim another homestead exemption elsewhere."

A property owner may continue to maintain the residence homestead exemption if the owner is absent from the property for more than two years due to military service outside of the country or residency in a facility providing health, infirmity, or aging service.

Texas law provides several types of exemptions for homeowners. For school tax purposes, all homeowners may receive a $15,000 general homestead exemption and homeowners 65 and older or disabled receive an additional $10,000 exemption.

The school tax exemption for those homeowners 65 and older or disabled provides a special property tax "ceiling" for school taxes. While the market value of an elderly or disabled person's home may fluctuate with the market, the school taxes cannot increase above the tax amount in the first year that person qualified for that homestead for the age 65 and older or disabled exemption.

The tax ceiling can increase, however, if the owner adds an improvement, other than normal maintenance or repair. When the owner adds a new improvement, such as a room or garage, the new improvement is taxed at its current market value and the current tax rates. The new taxes are added to the previous tax ceiling to create a new ceiling.

Homeowners 65 and older or disabled may transfer the same percentage of tax savings to a new home. The homeowner transfers the percentage of school tax paid on the former home, based on the last year the homeowner qualified that home for the tax ceiling, to the new home. The new tax ceiling is calculated to give the homeowner the same percentage of tax paid as on the former home. The homeowner may not claim two different homes in the same year.

For example, if the homeowner had a school tax ceiling of $100, but would pay $400 in school taxes without the tax ceiling, the percentage of tax paid is 25%. If the school taxes on the new home are $1,000, the new tax ceiling would be $250, or 25% of $1,000. The homeowner may request a certificate from the appraisal district where the former home was located that gives information about the tax ceiling. The homeowner gives this information to the appraisal district where the new home is located.

If the elderly homeowner dies, the surviving spouse may apply to keep the school tax ceiling if the surviving spouse was at least 55 years of age when the qualified spouse died. The surviving spouse also may transfer the tax savings with the school tax ceiling to another homestead, as discussed above.

The county, city, or junior college district may decide to set a tax ceiling provision for homeowners 65 and older or disabled. Each taxing unit's governing body may decide to grant the tax ceiling provision, or the local citizens in a taxing unit may petition for an election to vote on granting the tax ceiling provision in that taxing unit.

Homeowners should notify the chief appraiser when they no longer qualify for the general, age 65 and older, or disabled homestead exemptions. A 50% penalty is added to delinquent home taxes if homeowners fail to notify the appraisal district and receive homestead exemptions to which they are not entitled.

Different types of taxing units—counties, cities, and special districts—may offer different homestead exemptions. Counties must offer a $3,000 general homestead exemption on the portion of the county tax levied for farm-to-market roads or flood control.

Any taxing unit's governing body may grant an additional optional exemption on the homesteads of disabled or elderly residents, or both. This optional exemption may be no less than $3,000 from the home's appraised value and has no limit on the maximum amount.

Taxing units may also offer a local option exemption based on a percentage of a home's appraised value. In 2008, any taxing unit can exempt up to 20% of the value of each qualified homestead. No matter what percentage of value the taxing unit adopts, the dollar amount of exemption for any home must equal at least $5,000.

For more information, homeowners may contact the Cooke County Appraisal District at 201 North Dixon, Gainesville, TX 76240, and Phone: 940-665-7651.

Lady Hornets win one, lose one

Last week, Muenster hosted two District softball games. On March 26, the Lady Hornets defeated Saint Jo 12-8, then fell to Valley View 29-21 on March 28. Against the Lady Panthers, Muenster scored 3 before Saint Jo got into the game in the 3rd inning for a 3-2 score. The Lady Hornets outscored their opponent 8-1, but the Panthers fought back in the 6th to close the score to 12-8. Scoring for Muenster were Samantha Endres and Hillary Swirczynski 3 each, Alison Teafatiller and Anne Walterscheid 2 apiece, and Jenni Luke and Jackie Klement 1 run each. Getting hits were Swirczynski and Jodi Abner 3 each, Teafatiller, Taylor Klement, and Walterscheid 2 apiece, and J. Klement 1. Luke faced 36 batters, allowing 10 hits, 8 walks, and 4 strikeouts. Muenster scored 12 runs in the 2nd and 3rd innings to lead the Lady Eagles 12-9. Valley View regained a 1 point lead in the 4th, then Muenster tied the game 14-14 in the 5th. The Lady Hornets were outscored 15-7 the next two innings, for a 29-21 defeat. Luke faced 60 batters, allowing 26 hits and 9 walks, striking out only 4. Muenster had 17 hits, led by Luke with 4, which included a homerun. Teafatiller and Samantha Endres hit 3 each, Alison Miller 2, and 1 each by J. Klement, Swirczynski, Abner, T. Klement, and Walterscheid.

JV Knights double up against Krum

The Lindsay JV Knights baseball team took on the Krum JV team last Saturday in a double header. In the first game, Lindsay got their first junior varsity victory of the year, 15-8. Todd Bezner pitched a complete game, and did a good job," said Coach Cody Bounds. Austin Hermes led the Knights at the plate. In the second game, Lindsay lost 15-3. Keith Hermes got his second homerun of the season. Dax Fleitman and Travis Skinner both pitched for the Knights.

Muenster golfers advance

The Muenster Hornets and Lady Hornets golf teams both advanced to the Regional rounds of the State playoffs Monday. It's the second year in a row for both teams to advance, but was special for the young Hornet golfers who claimed the District title over Lindsay. The Lady Hornets edged out the Celeste Blue Devil ladies who kept them from being District Champs last year, but the Lady Bland Tigers claimed the District Championship, and the girls advanced once again as District Runner-up.

In boys action, Lindsay jumped out in front and had a 5-stroke lead after completing the first nine holes. After a short lunch break however, the Hornets got their games going in the second nine. The comeback was inspired by very solid play by Tanner Herr, Garrett Hennigan, and Lee Walterscheid. Tanner finished par-birdie, and Garrett finished par-birdie-par to shoot 39 and 41 respectively, as Lee came in with a respectable 42. Tanner Herr tied for the low score of the day at 83. By the rules, a sudden-death playoff to determine the District Individual Champ, found Tanner having to punch out from under a tree only to bogey the hole and allow his opponent from Collinsville to win with a par. This was a great team effort to gain the comeback win. As usual, Josh Heilman and Keith Hermes and the rest of the kids from Lindsay kept the pressure on us all day long. It came down to the #4 player to break the tie as Taylor McGrew nudged out Blake Hunter to win the Championship. Hornet scores were Herr 83, Hennigan 85, Walterscheid 89, McGrew 94, Jeremy Lutkenhaus 110, and Corey Sicking 113.

Team scores in the 10 team field were: Muenster 351, Lindsay 354, Collinsville 365, and Trenton 384. In girls action, the Lady Hornets could never get it going. The front nine, played in rain and wind, was solid for the girls. But when the sun came out and it warmed up, the Lady Tigers from Bland just turned it up a notch and blew us away! Bland finished at 433 on their home course, while Muenster 467, Celeste 484, and Lindsay 492 chased the Champs. Mara Erickson led the team again, shooting 104. Jenni Luke 116, Erin Endres 119, Hannah Weger 123, Noel Barnhill 125, Brandy Dangelmayr 128, and Caitlyn Barrett 138 helped take the runner-up spot to advance to the Regional Tournament. The Lady Hornets tied the girls from Bland in a tournament in early March, so getting them off their home course to a neutral site is a positive for us and we feel that we can compete with everyone at the Regional Tournament.

Next action for both teams will be an after-school two or three team meeting next week and then a big Post Season Qualifiers Tournament to be held April 14 at Turtle Hill in Muenster. A Regional practice round will be played at Piney Woods Country Club in Nacogdoches on Sunday, April 20, followed by the Regional Tournament April 21 and April 22. Submitted by Coach Dan Hamric

Just a thought

Live a good, honorable life. Then when you get older and think back, you'll get to enjoy it a second time.

Never be ashamed of laughter that's too loud or singing that's too joyful.

Deadlines are important. Meet them.

Violent crime began to drop in Gainesville shortly after Cindy Stormer became District Attorney. Stormer prosecuted a lot of old cases and started moving the cases faster. With less defendants on bond in the community there was a noticeable difference. There are considerably more criminals being sent to prison thanks to Stormer. Stormer is a hard working prosecutor that is not afraid to take on the difficult cases. She obtains lengthy sentences on defendants. Jim Colwell, Police officer (Ret.), Cooke County Resident

If you want someone who will have unstoppable compassion and zeal for crime victims and their families, you want Cindy Stormer on your side when fighting for justice. Check her record — it speaks for itself. Crime has decreased in Gainesville every year she has been District Attorney. Because of aggressive enforcement and prosecution, more trials, reducing the backlog, and getting federal agents and prosecutors involved in Cooke County crime problems, there are far less felons out on bond in the community today than there were when she took office. I have known Cindy for years, and can attest to her integrity, work-ethic and unstoppable passion for justice. The Rev. Dr. Karla K. Akins

"Cindy Stormer, District Attorney, cares about the elderly in our community. She spoke at the Stanford House at the Elder Rights Lunch and Senior Beware on KXII TV. She supports our community functions to raise funds for our volunteer firemen. Taxpayers need Cindy Stormer. She is a caring, honest, & hardworking. She has my endorsement." Dolores Reiter Myra, Texas

"I have known Cindy Stormer for the last eighteen years. During that time, I have never known her to be anything but the consummate professional, both in person and in her work. Whether as an attorney for the state, city or the defense, she has always presented well reasoned arguments grounded in the law, not half-baked theories that create bad court opinions. As proof of my belief in Ms. Stormer's legal talent and knowledge, I regularly referred my appellate work to her when she was in private practice." David P. Ward, Rihard & Ward, L.L.P. Houston, Texas

"Cindy Stormer and I have tried jury trials, including very complex law and one two week long trial. She tried many jury trials when she was assigned to the trial section in Tarrant County. We won every case that we tried together. Having worked in both the Appellate and the trial section, she has a broad background. Her extensive Appellate experience makes her and even better trial attorney for complex cases. She is very well-respected and well thought of in Tarrant County." Elizabeth Horan, Attorney at Law, Former Felony Prosecutor, Tarrant County District Attorney's Office

"Cindy is a personal and dear friend of our family, and has proven her amazing diligence to us long before she became District Attorney four years ago. She has continued with her focused and determined dispatch of her considerable legal skills as District Attorney by prosecuting more criminals and lowering crime in Cooke County by 25% in 2005-2006. Susan Fisher, Gainesville, Texas

"Serving as an Attorney Ad Litem for the abused and neglected children of Cooke County was not just another job to Cindy. She was genuinely concerned about their future welfare and best interests. She has a high work standard which has benefitted the children and strongly believed that child abusers and perpetrators should be dealt with effectively. She will not hesitate to see that fair justice is delivered to those that need it. She freely gives her spare time to teach CASA volunteers." Muenster competes at Tanglewood Course

The boys golf teams from Atlanta, Pleasant Grove, and Frisco Wakeland high schools showed the rest of the field just how high school golf should be played on Monday, March 24 at Tanglewood Resort and Golf Course. The three tied at 309, which was a very good score on a very tough course in cool, windy conditions.

The local Hornet team was the lone Class A group and finished 14th in a field of 21 teams. Tanner Herr led the Hornets with an 87, followed by Garrett Hennigan 92, and Lee Walterscheid and Taylor McGrew 94s, and Corey Sicking at 115. Tanner's 87 placed him in the 43rd spot out of 120 boys, and Garrett finished at 66th.

In the girls division on Tuesday, March 25, the Callisburg girls continued their winning ways, shooting a 367 to claim an easy victory over Plainview and Frisco Wakeland. Whitley Patterson of Glen Rose, who last week won the "Turtle Hill Classic" was the medalist shooting another great round of 79.

The Lady Hornets finished in the top half of the field, finishing in 8th place out of 16 teams. Mara Erickson, senior and team captain, led the Lady Hornets again with a 111, and finished in 26th place overall. Jenni Luke finished 30th out of 90 participants with a 113. Mara and Jenni both shot their poorest scores of the season, but the 45 m.p.h. winds were just horrid! I look for both to be back in the 90s next week at District.

Playing without the services of Brandy Dangelmayr, who was competing in literary writing, the rest of the team, consisting of Caitlyn Barrett 120, Noel Barnhill 124, Hannah Weger 129, and Erin Endres 132, picked up the slack for a respectable finish.

The only other Class A school in the field was Petrolia, led by freshman sensation Brittany Smith who shot an 82, and team score of 445 for a 5th place finish. Petrolia plays in Region II, whereas Muenster plays in Region III, and the two will not meet again until possibly the State tournament.

MUENSTER VARSITY POWERLIFTERS FINISH SEASON AT STATE

The Muenster powerlifting teams have completed their season, with two advancing to the State powerlifting meets.

The season began at Nocona, with the Lady Hornet team placing 3rd. In their classes, Jodi Abner placed 1st, Jenni Luke 2nd, Sara Walterscheid 3rd, and Corrie Marsh 6th. Chase Serna, the lone Hornet lifter, finished 2nd in his weight class.

At the S&S meet, Alley Trubench finished 1st in her class, Jodi Abner 3rd, and Jenni Luke 6th. Serna settled for a 5th place.

Competing in five different weight classes at the Jacksboro meet, the Lady Hornets finished 5th as a team. Individually, Jenni Luke was 1st, Alley Trubench 3rd, C.J. Harrison 4th, Corrie Marsh 7th, and Bianca Velasquez 9th. Serna won his class, bringing home the Gold.

At the Region VI Powerlifting Meet, Jenni Luke lifted a total of 630 pounds and advanced to State competition. Alley Trubench lifted 640, good enough for 8th place in her weight class.

Chase Serna lifted 1080 pounds for a Silver Regional medal and also advanced to State.

At the State meet, Jenni Luke was unable to place, and Serna finished 12th with an 1100 pound total lift.

Cindy has served our county well and has an impressive background and education. My personal reasons for supporting Cindy - I had the honor of serving on the Grand Jury. I was also the recording secretary while serving on the Grand Jury. My responsibilities included recording the dates of arrest for crimes. During my tenure on the Grand Jury I was astonished at the age of the cases we were reviewing for indictment. We handled an extreme backlog of cases. It was also shocking and eye-opening to see the amount of and severity of crime happening in Cooke County.
 Cindy has been strong at dealing with crime in our county under adverse conditions. Cindy continued to do an excellent job for our county within the budget constraints. I have observed her working extra long hours, through lunch, and taking little time off in order to get the job done.
 Cindy is respectable, honorable, and tough enough to do what is "right". We need to keep her! MaryLee Alford, Muenster, Texas

"I am the mother of Jordan Saager. My precious baby, 2 years old was murdered on January 4, 2000 in Gainesville by our babysitter. Our case was finally solved in 2005, under Cindy Stormer's watch, as a District Attorney.
 Here are some simple facts...when Cindy Stormer came into office, she made our case one of her priorities. Why, because she cared. The monster that murdered my daughter was eventually arrested and found guilty of Capital Murder. Cindy Stormer, the new District Attorney of Cooke County, finally, was able to give my baby the Justice that was long coming.
 Cindy Stormer is a person who will always be there for the People of Cooke County. She is a person with goodness and faith in her heart. To put it simply, Cindy Stormer is an advocate of Justice and the Law. The City of Gainesville will surely continue to gain a safer community with her as District Attorney.
 Mother of Jordan Saager, precious loved baby, 2 years old, murdered in Gainesville."
Yolonda Saager and Family
 Former Gainesville Resident

"I came to know Cindy Stormer when I was a felony trial attorney with the Tarrant County District Attorney's office. She was respected by her fellow prosecutors for her knowledge of criminal law, legal analysis and zealous advocacy. Her quality representation before the court of Appeals prevented dangerous felons from overturning their convictions and being released on society. Cindy Stormer's commitment to the people of the State of Texas, her talent as an attorney and her personal integrity make her an excellent choice of attorney."
Tom Bernstein, Attorney at Law

"I have personally observed Cindy Stormer trying jury trials as a prosecutor with the Tarrant County District Attorney's Office. She did so with a high degree of professionalism and effectiveness in the courtroom. I am aware that she has tried and won jury trials against defendants who were represented by prominent Tarrant and Dallas county criminal defense attorneys. Her knowledge of criminal law surpasses that of ninety percent of her peers who practice in that area. She was trained by the best District Attorney's office in the State. I also recall that she was one of the instructors at the Basic Prosecution course presented by the Texas District and County Attorney's Association in Austin when I attended the course."
G. Lynn Clanton, Attorney at Law
 Fort Worth, Texas, Former Assistant District Attorney Tarrant County/ex-Texas State Officer

"I have personally seen Cindy Stormer in court trying many cases and handling appeals in the Appellate Courts. She worked alongside me for about four years in the Tarrant County District Attorney's office. She was always hard working, well-prepared and an excellent advocate for the victims and citizens."
Betty Marshall
 Former Co-Chief of Appellate Section Tarrant County District Attorney's Office

"I have known Cindy for several years and her integrity is beyond reproach. From her time in private practice to being our District Attorney she has been a valuable asset to Cooke County."
Roger Colwell, Drug Counselor, Gainesville
 "I knew Cindy Stormer well as a hard-charging prosecutor. She knows the law, courtroom tactics and procedure. She later excelled at appellate advocacy. I enthusiastically recommend her as an aggressive advocate for victims and well-qualified courtroom lawyer."
Edwin Youngblood, Attorney at Law, Former Assistant District Attorney Tarrant County

Cattle fly control starts with manure management

House flies are the predominant flies found in and around livestock and poultry facilities. Although house flies can develop in just about any type of decaying organic material, the large accumulations of manure generated in these facilities has the potential to produce significant fly populations. Thus, manure management is of critical importance and should form the basis of an effective house fly control program.

During warm weather, house flies can complete their life cycle in as few as 10 to 14 days. Removing manure that accumulates in livestock and poultry facilities on a weekly basis and spreading this manure thinly on fields to dry could provide effective house fly control. However, the lack of available land on which to spread the manure, increased labor requirements, and other factors seriously limit the usefulness of this approach and have necessitated the development of facilities designed for long-term manure storage.

Although house flies can develop in any type of manure, they cannot develop in manure that is too wet or too dry. Therefore, confinement facilities that incorporate long-term manure storage are usually designed with either a dry manure system or a liquid manure system. For example, most caged layer facilities incorporate a dry manure system where birds are housed in the top floor of the unit and the manure accumulates on the bottom floor. The key is to promote rapid and thorough drying of the manure and to eliminate or minimize moisture buildup. To do so requires effective ventilation, inspection, and repair of leaking watering systems, evaluation of feed and water salinity, proper grading of outside areas to promote adequate runoff of rainwater, and identification of other factors that may contribute to excessive moisture problems. If additional moisture problems are avoided, the manure can cone and effectively dry so that fly reproduction is substantially reduced. It also promotes the establishment of naturally occurring predators and parasites, which further aid in reducing fly numbers.

Rather than a dry system, many swine facilities incorporate a system where liquefied manure is stored in a pit. These facilities typically experience excellent fly control for the first year or two of operation. However, after that time, a crust may form over the manure, which provides an excellent breeding source for house flies. Unfortunately, removing or breaking up this crust or treating the crust with an insecticide is extremely difficult.

Manure management is also important in open livestock facilities such as beef feedlots. In these facilities, the lots should be stocked to maximum capacity to facilitate trampling and subsequent drying of manure. Mounds should be constructed or maintained to dry rapidly and allow adequate and thorough runoff of rainwater. Low areas within lots should be filled or graded to prevent water accumulation. Watering tanks should be adequately maintained to prevent water from collecting around the base. Manure that accumulates underneath fences or in similar adjacent areas should be removed. Other potential fly breeding materials such as spilled feed and wet bedding also should be removed on a frequent basis.

Although manure management forms the basis for an effective fly control program, supplemental measures may be needed. Chemical control options include space sprays, residual wall sprays, larvicide sprays, baits, and feed additives. Space sprays provide a quick knockdown of adult flies but provide no residual control and may need to be applied on a frequent basis. Residual wall sprays applied to areas where flies rest can provide some level of control for several weeks.

Sprays are also available for application to manure to control fly larvae but are not generally effective and are only recommended as a spot-treatment. Baits can aid in the reduction of house flies but should only be used in limited areas to avoid unnecessary exposure to nontarget animals. Feed additives are available for use in some production systems and can aid in control if fed before fly numbers have reached high levels. Biological control options include the release of commercially available parasitic wasps. These wasps can help reduce fly numbers if they are introduced early in the spring before fly populations have had a chance to build up. Although these wasps can be released into all types of livestock and poultry facilities, they seem to work best in caged layer facilities as opposed to swine facilities or open feedlots.

Commissioner Staples announces major cattle trading agreement between U.S. and Mexico

According to USDA, trade of breeding beef cattle with Mexico was scheduled to reopen March 28, reports Commissioner Todd Staples, Texas Department of Agriculture. "We applaud Commissioner Staples for being instrumental in working with USDA to re-establish beef cattle breeding stock trade with our fellow beef producers in Mexico," says TSCRA President Jon Means, Van Horn.

The sale of breeding age beef cattle to Mexico was banned after a single Canadian-born cow in the state of Washington was confirmed to have bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE), or mad cow disease, in December 2003. Since then, Texas cattle producers have been denied access to a market worth more than $80 million. "Since 2003, we've concentrated our efforts on regaining this market for TSCRA members, and for all cattle producers in Texas and the Southwest," explains Means.

"Thanks to the leadership of Commissioner Staples, and his ability to foster the cooperation of agriculture departments in our neighboring states which border Mexico, shipment of Canadian origin cattle headed to Mexico, through Texas and our neighbors, was stopped earlier this month," he explains. Clearly, this move by Staples, which TSCRA supported, achieved this positive outcome.

TDA market recap

For the week ending March 29, feeder cattle prices at Texas auctions ranged from $5 per hundredweight higher to $8 lower compared with a week ago.

High feed grain prices continue to pressure the market, but the numbers offered for sale have also declined seasonally, which helped support feeder prices. Lower beef prices led to a decline in fed cattle markets. Texas cash cotton prices were lower than a week ago, but still well above last year's level as demand remains good for the available supplies. Corn and grain sorghum markets were also higher, while wheat prices declined.

As for futures markets, cotton and corn were higher, while feeder cattle, finished cattle, wheat, and lumber closed the week lower. A few scattered showers were reported last week, but most of the state remained dry with topsoil moisture rated mostly short to adequate statewide. Wheat is 4% headed and reported in mostly poor to fair condition.

Corn planting progressed to 47% complete, slightly behind the normal 51%. Cotton planting is 7% complete. Pastures continue to green-up, but supplemental feed is still necessary in many areas. Pasture condition was rated mostly fair to poor.

Farmers, farm products helping Americans in their pocketbooks

Americans are feeling the pinch of high gasoline prices, but the fuel could cost as much as 5 cents to 10 cents more a gallon if it was not routinely blended with ethanol. Overall, U.S. consumers and taxpayers benefit from saving $7 billion to $14 billion in lower gasoline costs as a result of increased ethanol use, according to Terry Francl, senior economist at the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Francl said Americans will benefit in other ways, too. After farmers endured years of barely breaking even with corn priced around $2 a bushel, today's relatively high market prices for corn, soybeans, and other crops mean federal farm program payments will be reduced by at least $8 billion and possibly as much as $12 billion annually, he said. The overall gains to the economy from ethanol will more than offset any incremental food price increases associated with the production of biofuels.

These and other points about the emerging ethanol industry were shared by Francl during his presentation at a renewable fuels conference in Omaha recently. The aim of the 25 x 25 Alliance, is to advance the concept that by 2025, 25% of U.S. energy needs will be met by resources produced by this country's farms, forests, and ranches.

Among the major factors influencing the prices of key U.S. crops and the foods derived from them are investors' growing interest in commodity-focused funds, rising world demand—particularly in China and India where middle-class populations are expanding - years of declining stocks of essential crops, and the falling value of the U.S. dollar.

"Commodity funds, in particular, have helped drive up prices and made prices more volatile—with frequent and large movements up and down the price scale—as investors move in and out of the markets, especially the futures market," Francl said.

High crude oil prices are another contributor to today's high crop and food prices, but Francl emphasized the extent to which increased use of ethanol and biodiesel may stem even higher gas prices.

"It's easy to say the growth of the ethanol industry is leading to higher fuel and food prices, but that's just not the case," Francl said. "Complex and overlapping issues that developed over several years are at play, and the growing use of ethanol actually helps keep gas prices from going even higher."

In addition, Francl said the U.S. benefits in other important ways from the burgeoning domestic ethanol industry. Besides a reduced reliance on foreign energy sources, the ethanol energy industry spurs new job growth and economic growth in rural areas. Ethanol also helps the environment because it is made from corn and other renewable resources.

Don't think expensive equipment will make up for lack of talent or practice.
