

Muenster City Council reviews map, contracts for ETJ map

By Janet Felderhoff
Muenster now has an updated official City map. Ira Schoppa drew it.
"Now we need to get a map showing our ETJ (extra territorial jurisdiction) boundaries, which is a half mile out beyond the present city limits," remarked Muenster Mayor Henry Weinzapfel. "Within that boundary, our only jurisdiction is that we issue building permits. Whatever goes in there has to be up to our building code standards. It's not zoned and we don't have a lot to say in that respect. We do need to know, and the public needs to know, what our actual official boundary is."

City Manager Stan Endres said he'd talked with Schoppa about an actual description all the way around the city limits. By describing the distance from certain markers, it will be simpler for everyone to know where the actual ETJ ends.

Alderman Jack Flusche asked if the new home being built on the old Antonetti property would be in the ETJ since it is near the annexed lake property. Endres said no because it is more than 1/2 mile from the ETJ boundary.

Cooke County gave up its control of ETJ some time ago. Should somebody wish to put in a subdivision within the ETJ, but outside the city limits, Muenster would still have control over how the roads or streets are laid out.

Weinzapfel explained that the reason that the City could annex the Sicking property north of Muenster was because it bordered property annexed for the lake. Endres added, "You cannot annex any property outside the city limits unless it's contiguous, which means it's got to be touching part of your existing city limits. If someone who lived a little more than a half mile out of town who wanted to come into the city, he couldn't if there were a property owner in between him that didn't want to come into the city."

The Council was unanimous in its decision to have an official map drawn of the ETJ. Funds will come from Administration in the budget, said Endres.

The TCEQ has a plan to establish a Groundwater Conservation District that would include Muenster and Cooke County. Endres and Weinzapfel wrote a letter to the TCEQ asking for more information so that they could make an informed decision. "We really don't know how that would protect us, help us, or hurt us at this point," Weinzapfel remarked. A coalition of counties that included Grayson, Fannin, and Cooke came out against it, said the Mayor.

Endres said they received a letter extending the deadline to reply for another 90 days and he anticipated more information. It is estimated that it would cost between $150,000 to $200,000 to start up a district. Endres noted that he attended a meeting in Gainesville where they considered starting a district that was only Cooke County.

Sabrina Truelsenbach requested permission from the City Council to place a snow cone stand at 309 East Second Street near the old City ballpark. Della Campbell owns the property where she would park the fully enclosed trailer. Since the area is not commercially zoned, City permission is required. Truelsenbach asked for spring and summer during this tee ball and softball game season.

Cheerleaders have the concessions at the new ballpark, but there are no concessions offered at the old ballpark.

Truelsenbach's request was granted. The Council also voted to limit the time the trailer could be parked on that property to the coming spring and summer ballgames.

Endres's City Manager's report included:

- Atmos Energy hooked up gas in the City shop so it could be heated.
- A tree in the City Park had died and was posing a danger. Endres got three bids of $675, $800, and $1100. The low bid was from Matt's Tree Service in Gainesville. Endres said they did a good job and you couldn't tell there had been a tree there.
- The water tower needs to be cleaned and inspected this year. The City was draining the well that evening (Monday) and the inspection should be completed the following day.
- Explained product that would remove sludge at the wastewater plant. Drying beds don't work properly during periods of rain. The inability to get rid of the sludge affects reports on the chemical tests making it hard to stay in compliance. Alderman Flusche was tasked by the Mayor with working with Chris Yosten to learn more about the product.
- Noted that there is a large difference in the amount of water pumped into the system (105 million gallons from wells) compared to the amount shown (111 million gallons) being put in the system. Yosten said that as meters age they become less accurate. Endres said that either the meters at the wells are off or the ones at the distribution center are off. Alderman Joey Anderson was assigned with checking on the meters and with learning about an electronic device to measure water.

Mayor Henry Weinzapfel called for an election for May 12. There are three positions opening. They are for mayor, for Place 3 held by Joey Anderson, and Place 5 held by Jack Flusche. Dates to sign up as a candidate for any of the positions are Feb. 12 through March 12.

In other business, the City Council:

- Approved bills totaling $73,129.33.
- Wayne Grewing and Gene Walter were approved as board members of the Muenster Water District.
- Held an executive session, but took no action.

Progress continues at Lake

Recent rainfalls have Muenster Lake finally looking like a lake, as water has begun to cover the area. Spring showers will hopefully fill the Lake, submerging the trees and spillway shown above.

John Grunzke (above) was part of the crew that planted 4,130 bur oak and pecan trees in a woody buffer area at the Muenster Lake site. Planting for the Water District began Sunday and concluded Tuesday by Piney Woods Reforestation of Jacksonville, Texas. Next week, Keep Muenster Beautiful is expecting the delivery of 200 trees. Volunteers are asked to assist in planting the trees and in doing some clean-up at the site (see letter on page 2).

Tom Otto recreates the Last Supper scene

By Janet Felderhoff
From a line drawing to rich colors on the wall of a home, Tom Otto is recreating a painting of the Last Supper. Doyle and Debbie Hess commissioned him to paint the picture on the wall of the breakfast nook in their new home north of Muenster.
Debbie said that the painting was Doyle's idea. It was about 2 1/2 years ago when Doyle got the idea of asking Tom to do the painting of the Last Supper scene. After Doyle showed Tom the painting he had in mind, Tom drew the scene to be painted on paper. He then traced the drawing with an instrument that left perforation in the paper. Charcoal placed in a sock was used to pound the imprint of the drawing onto the wall of the home.

Tom decided that the rectangular shaped picture wouldn't work on the wall because it would be too large. His solution was to make it an oval. The oval was drawn on the wall using a string "trick" and centerline to keep it symmetrical.

There was a period of about 1 1/2 years that Tom didn't work on the Last Supper recreation. He was invited to go with a group on a venture to clean up debris after the hurricane hit the New Orleans area. "I was told it would be a profitable thing, but it didn't turn out to be," admitted Tom. "It was quite a chore to get back here with everything that we left with."

Asked to describe what he saw in the hurricane struck area, Tom said it would be easier to draw a picture. "The quickest way to do that is to just take a pencil and scribble and make a mess and that's the way it looked," he said. "It was quite a deal." The group Tom traveled with worked as carpenters doing repairs and rebuilding.

"There was something that happened down there that made me want to come back here and do this, Tom said referring to the Last Supper painting. "All that down there was well and fine, but this was really pulling me back. I don't like to start something and not finish it. It wore on me for a year and a half, but I was kind of stuck."

The painting is being done with lead based paints. Tom mixes his own colors.

Although not yet completed, the painting already shows intricate details in the white tablecloth, rich hues in the clothing of the apostles and Jesus, and small details in other items in the room that capture the attention of those viewing the scene. Faces are one of the last things that Tom will paint.

According to Tom, the painting needs a border or something to complete the painting. He suggested a three dimensional frame painted around the oval scene. Doyle seems to favor that idea. What the final touch will be remains to be seen. Debbie said many people are anxious to see the finished creation.

Doyle and Debbie explained that the picture they chose is the Catholic version. They didn't know that there were two versions of the Last Supper, one Catholic and the other Protestant. The Catholic version has the wine jug, is what a local priest had told them.

Referring to watching Tom work, Doyle said, "It bugs him how the original painter painted the shadows in some places and not others where it should be." There are some other things about the original painting that bother Tom because he doesn't feel they are quite as they should be.

Tom is actually trained as a sign painter. He painted his first professional sign while still a teen in high school. It was of an eight ball on a sign for the pool hall in Muenster that no longer stands. Tom said the very first sign he painted was for his brother who was opening a little garage at their home. Ten-year-old Tom wanted to help his brother by painting a sign for him. The sign Tom crafted read, Garge. He said it stayed there for years despite the misspelling.

After high school, Tom trained under a sign painter in Sherman who Tom said was also an artist. Trisha Williford of Gainesville is an art teacher. She saw talent and potential in Tom and offered to give him free art classes. The classes were given in a church in Gainesville. Tom said that he didn't take many classes, but established a friendship with Williford. She assisted him at a difficult time and he said she's his spiritual mentor.

"My mother Mathilda was an artist and that's where I got it (ability to paint) from," said Tom. "She is actually the one who got me to go ahead and do this stuff."

Another person Tom credits with assisting his artistic endeavors is his ex-wife Cathy Otto. "She studied art history and she's helped me a lot with what she has learned in college," he noted. "She taught me a lot and I still ask her stuff. She's pretty wise and pretty artistic." Cathy and Tom have four sons. Tom said he thinks that the boys might have inherited some artistic ability.

Tom hopes to branch out more by doing more wall paintings. There is a growing demand for paintings on walls in homes and even some of the schools being built now.

The reason for seeking new avenues Tom said is that the demand for sign painters is not as high as it once was. He attributes this to computer technology that makes it hard to compete cost wise and time wise. "After 35 years and that I've been doing signs, I'm no longer in such high demand that I used to be in. I used to be in pretty high demand before the computers came along with computer generated stuff," said Tom. When doing work for someone, Tom prefers to have an idea or example to go by. "Most of it is in the planning and the pattern, and the drawing stage," he remarked. "If you didn't have something to go by I might not get too interested. I can modify, enhance, whatever, if you have something." Other examples of Tom's work in the Muenster area include the signs of Doc's, Old Theatre Mall, Sisters, and Hoedebeck Marketplace, Chamber of Commerce billboards, and murals on the Sacred Heart High School gymnasium wall. Tom's concluding comment was, "I just want to remind everybody that Jesus is the Lord.."

Area supers honored by Texas legislators

On Jan. 30, the Texas House of Representatives passed House Resolution 174 honoring the state's school administrators for their service to the State of Texas, and commended them for their continued involvement in the legislative process. The resolution referred to school administrators as standing tall among the group of Texans who are unsung heroes who contribute to the growth and prosperity of the Lone Star State each day. While attending the Texas Association of School Administrators annual mid-winter conference, Superintendents

Dr. Jason Ceyanes, Lindsay ISD; Jeremy Thompson, Era ISD; Kathy Garrison, Valley View ISD; and Phil Newton, Sivells Bend ISD attended the event at the Capital and stood to be recognized by House members. Dr. Ceyanes stated, "It was truly an honor to be recognized by the House of Representatives in Austin. Hopefully, this is an indication of a congenial 80th legislative session between the House members and the public school administrators, as we continue to work together to provide the very best education for the children in Texas."

Dear Editor:

Keep Muenster Beautiful raised money at the Rain Dance held last September in order to help build a forest of trees at the new lake. Trees have been ordered and are expected to be delivered on Feb. 15. This order of trees was specifically donated by funds donated by Atmos Energy. Volunteers are needed to assist in planting the trees. This letter is a call to everyone and anyone who has an interest in helping make improvements at the lake. On Feb. 17 those people interested should meet at the turn-around on the east side of the dam. This is now CR 316 but was called Old Picnic Grounds Road. Follow Main or FM 373 north past Ash Street and take the next left onto CR 316. We will gather at 8:45 a.m. and depart about 9 a.m. to begin planting. The water is rising in the lake and many things need done before the water inundates fences and various junk piles left on the property. If we have enough volunteers we will form a cleanup group to tackle some of the more urgent cleanup issues. Workers are asked to come in work clothes, bring leather gloves, and wear proper footwear for rugged terrain. Volunteers should expect to carry personal water and any other personal gear they want. Most worksites will be quite a distance from vehicles, so a light backpack may be in order. Bring a sack lunch if you want to stay later. This would be a good time to work a little and look around a lot. We expect to be done by noon, but may continue if workers wish. If it is actually raining at 9 a.m. we will meet again the next day, Feb. 18 at the same time and place. Thanks, in advance for your help. Call me during the day if you have any questions 759-4644. Gary J. Fisher

Dear Friends and Neighbors:
It is Youth Fair time again and the Friends of Muenster are making their annual appeal to you, the citizens of our community, to help our youth as they prepare their projects for the Cooke County Youth Fair. This year the Youth Fair will be held in Muenster at the Circle A Arena, just north of town on Highway 373. The Home Economics division will be in the KC Hall in Muenster. The Muenster Friends is a volunteer organization that helps collect money to be paid to the students as premiums on their projects. One hundred percent of what is donated goes directly to pay for premiums to the students who participate in the Youth Fair from our community. Last year a total of $18,750.00 was paid as premiums to the students of the Muenster community, $11,975.00 of which was paid by the Muenster Friends organization. This year the sale will be limited. We would like to compensate every youngster, even those who do not make the sale. This makes your donation even more important than ever. The youth of our community put forth a great amount of effort and expense and also a great deal of pride in their projects. Please help them out with a donation of $1000, $500, $250, or an amount of your choice. Your support does not go unnoticed. Please take the time to visit the Cooke County Youth Fair in Muenster this year. You will truly appreciate where your money has gone in support of our youth. The Youth Fair will be held on February 28th through March 3rd. Thank you, in advance, for taking this into consideration. We look forward to seeing you at the Youth Fair this year!

Where You Always Get a Sweet Deal

Fisher to head MMH Auxiliary

Officers of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Auxiliary for the 2007 year were installed on Monday, Jan. 8. Outgoing President Darlene Williams conducted the installation ceremony.

Penny Fisher accepted the responsibility of president of the group. As she pledged her duties she lit a red candle symbolizing that the president is the heart of the organization.

Accepting the duties of their office for an additional year were Adelia Wilson, vice-president, Janet Felderhoff, secretary, and Aileen Knabe, treasurer. Penny agreed to continue her job as historian for the group.

It was discussed that Boy Scout Michael Valliere had completed his Eagle project. It involved cleaning the St. Francis statue and restoring the flowerbed surrounding it. Many large rocks were dug out, old electrical lines found, and the bed prepared for planting in the spring. A large tree stump proved stubborn to remove. Stick Lamar donated his services and removed the obstacle with a grinder.

After the meeting, members took down and stored Christmas decorations in the Hospital.

Meetings are held on the second Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Administration building of the Hospital. Membership is open to everyone. The next meeting is Feb. 12.

Ali celebrates one!

Alisha "Ali" Marie Knauf Fleitman, daughter of Jody and Tanya K. Fleitman, turned one year old on Nov. 27. Ali was fortunate to celebrate her special milestone on several different occasions between the holiday hustle.

On Sunday, Nov. 26, she was honored with a birthday celebration for both her and her paternal grandfather, James Fleitman at the James and Nita Fleitman home where gifts and desserts were enjoyed by the Fleitman family.

On Ali's actual birthday, her parents gave her special birthday wishes and toasted her special day with sparkling grape juice.

Ali's big birthday party was held on Sunday, Dec. 3 at the James Fleitman home. "A Little Girl's First Birthday" was the theme, and Ali enjoyed the company of many friends and family members. Decorations were in the same motifs and colors of her guest invitations. Ali wore a special party dress and 1st birthday tiara. The guests were served snack foods throughout the party and, after the opening of the gifts, ice cream and their choice of either pumpkin cake (to fit the holiday season) or oreo cookie cake, both made by Michele Knauf. Ali had the opportunity to "dig into" her own pumpkin cake made by her grandmother Michele Knauf, and decorated by her mother, to fit the party theme.

Those wishing Ali happy birthday at one or more of her celebrations were her parents; grandparents James and Nita Fleitman and Bob and Michele Knauf; great-grandparents Ed and Louise Knauf; Godparents/uncle and aunt Chad and Debbie Fleitman; uncles and aunts Rhonda Green, Zack and Kristen Fuhrman, Aunt Kristen Knauf; cousins Johnny, Michael, Christopher, and Brittany Green, Jordan, Nicole, and Ashley Fleitman; and numerous family friends. Many others sent wishes from afar.

Muenster FFA Dairy Cattle Judging Team wins again

The Muenster FFA Dairy Cattle Judging Team participated in competition in San Antonio this past weekend. The team was comprised of Amber, Cletus, and Abe Fuhrmann, and Paul Crabtree, with Miss Leah Dower as their advisor. While at the San Antonio Livestock Show, the Muenster team placed 1st Over All Team out of 180 teams, with only eight points separating them from the 2nd place team.

They were able to take home the 1st place team ribbon due to Amber placing 7th high point individual and Cletus placing 2nd high point individual. Along with the title of 2nd place high point individual Cletus received a $10,000 scholarship to be distributed over four years. The team also participated in the Fort Worth Livestock Show Dairy Judging Competition earlier in January. While there they placed 2nd Over All Team. So, the next stop after placing 1st at the State Fair and San Antonio and 2nd place at Fort Worth, the Muenster FFA Dairy Judging Team has their sights set on District competition with the hopes of moving on to Area and then State. "These students have done a great job so far and will continue to impress us all the way to State," remarked their advisor.

Scholarships available through Nortex Communications

Nortex Communications continues to foster relationships between graduating high school students in local schools and the desire to return home to work in a profession in rural America by providing scholarships for continuing education. Nortex provides two scholarships to eligible students.

The Gene Henry Fuhrman scholarship, founded in 2003 and named for the son of owners Alvin and Gracie Fuhrman, is awarded each spring to two graduating seniors in the Company's service area in the amounts of $1000 and $500. Students must submit the application to Nortex by March 31 to be eligible for the awards. Applications were mailed to each high school principal and counselor in mid-January.

Along with the Gene Henry Fuhrman scholarship (GHF), the Foundation for Rural Service (FRS), Texas Cable & Telecommunications Association (TCTA), and the Mid-America Weary Scholarship

Foundation, Inc. are also providing scholarships to local graduating students. Following are web sites to download applications from each of the organizations listed:

GHF: www.nortex.com
 Deadline: March 31, 2007 (1) $1000 and (1) $500;

FRS: www.frs.org Deadline: March 1, 2007 (1) $2500 scholarship;

TCTA: www.txcable.com Deadline: April 1, 2007 (1) $1000 scholarship;

Mid-America: www.midamericacable.tv Deadline: March 23, 2007 (1) $1000 scholarship.

Students interested in these scholarships must be a graduating senior and receive their local telephone or cable television from Nortex Communications, be accepted for enrollment in an accredited two-year or four-year college or university, or vocational-technical school and have at least a B grade point average. The applications request a 300 word essay be prepared by the applicant discussing their professional and personal goals and objectives, a brief description of the applicant's plans after school, and a description of how the scholarship would be used to attain the goals and objectives.

"We are happy to be able to aid students with training that will help companies like our own," said Alvin Fuhrman, president of Nortex Communications. "We hope that the students will return home to this area to live and work."

Check with the school counselor or principal for the Gene Henry Fuhrman (GHF) and the FRS scholarships, or log onto their web site. Log on to the web sites of TCTA and Mid-America for the Texas Cable & Telecommunications and the Mid-America Weary Scholarships.

Nortex Communications serves the cities of Muenster, Valley View, Forestburg, Myra, and Rosston with telephone, long distance, and Internet service; and Lake Kiowa, Collinsville, Lindsay, and Saint Jo with Internet and cable television service.

Lady Hornets, Lady Knights even up

Tuesday night, the Lindsay gym was packed, one half wearing red, the other black, as students, family, and just fans came out to see the final girls District battle for 1st place. The Lady Knights earlier in the season took a 1 point win from the Lady Hornets. This week, Muenster returned the favor, defeating Lindsay 57-55. Both teams ended the District competition 7-1, with their only loss to each other, making them District Co-Champs.

Competition continues between the two teams with a tie-breaker game to determine seed placement in Bi-District. A re-match between the Lady Hornets and Lady Knights is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. in Whitesboro. Lindsay will be the home team. Admission is $4, and $2 for students.

At the Lindsay gym Tuesday, the first to score was Megan Felderhoff with 4 points. At 3:41, Amanda Hess dropped in the first Lindsay basket. Over a minute later, Chelsea Hermes tied the game. The 1st quarter ended with an 8-5 Muenster lead.

Thirty-eight seconds into the 2nd period, the Lady Knights took the lead, extending it to 7 points with four minutes on the clock. Free throws by Sandy Endres and Felderhoff closed the score to 3 points a minute later. A last second shot by Emily Fuhrmann gave Lindsay a 26-20 halftime lead.

Endres popped in a 3 to open the 3rd quarter, but free throw points by Brittany Anderle, and three consecutive baskets by Christina Eckart gave the Lady Knights a 34-23 lead at 5:40.

Samantha Endres scored 5 points to close the score to 6. Free throws, and a 3-pointer by Alison Teafatiller at 54 seconds gave Lindsay a 1 point lead, 36-35. The 3rd quarter ended with a 38-37 Lady Knight lead.

Hess scored first in the final quarter, then Laura Heers to keep the 1 point spread. Later, free throws by Rebecca Grewing tied the game 42 all with 5:10 left in the game. A Sam Endres 3-pointer gave Muenster their first lead since early in the game. Teafatiller stretched the score to 47-42 at four minutes.

At 1:15 Lindsay closed the score to 50-48. The Lady Hornets worked on the clock, forcing Lindsay to foul to get the ball back. Felderhoff hit three free throws to extend Muenster's lead to 53-48 with 27.2 seconds on the clock.

Anderle hit a basket at 19.8 to close the score to within 3 points. Lindsey Watson hit two free throws at 12.6, then Hermes dropped in a basket at 6.6 for a 55-52 score. With 5.5 seconds on the clock, Sam Endres hit two more free throws for a 5 point Muenster lead. Hermes popped in a 3-pointer before the last 10th of a second ticked off the clock for a 57-55 Muenster victory over Lindsay.

Free throw shooting paid off for the Lady Hornets, as they hit 28 of 32 of their shots, 13 in the final quarter. Samantha Endres was high scorer for Muenster with 15 points. Megan Felderhoff added 13, and Sandy Endres 12. Lindsey Watson dropped in 7 points, Alison Teafatiller 5, Rebecca Grewing 3, and Laura Heers 2.

TPWD proposing to adjust Spring turkey season

The proposal, which was presented to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission's Regulations Committee along with several other suggested changes to the 2007-08 State-wide Hunting and Fishing Proclamation, would open the South Zone season for Rio Grande turkeys two weeks earlier than in recent years and open the North Zone one week later than normal.

Mike Berger, TPWD explained, "After re-evaluating this move, we've opted to move the South Zone up to the Saturday nearest March 18 and the North Zone to open the Saturday nearest April 7. Both zones would retain a 44-day season length."

The proposed change would increase hunter opportunity by allowing hunters to take advantage of peak gobbling activity.

2007 Texas cattle inventory down 1%

The inventory of Texas cattle and calves totaled 14.0 million head on Jan. 1, 2007, down 1% from last year's inventory of 14.1 million head, and up 2% from the 2005 inventory of 13.7 million head.

"Cattle prices were generally favorable throughout the year, but drought conditions, limited hay supplies, and higher feed costs forced producers to reduce herd size or completely liquidate in some areas of the state, said David Abbe, state director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture National Agricultural Statistics Service Texas Field Office.

Texas continued to rank first in the nation in total number of cattle and calves with 14% of the total United States inventory.

Beef cow inventory, at 5.3 million head, was down 3% from last year's total. Milk cow inventory, at 347,000 head, was up 22,000 head from the 2006 total of 325,000 head.

Total inventory of all cows that have calved was 5.65 million head, down 2% from last year's total.

Beef replacement heifers totaled 770,000 head on Jan. 1, down 11% from the 2006 total of 870,000 head. The milk replacement heifer inventory was 150,000 head, up 20,000 head from last year's total.

Texas' inventory of steers 500 pounds and over totaled 2.95 million head, up 4% from the 2006 total. Total inventory of heifers, steers, and bulls less than 500 pounds was 2.5 million head, up 3% from last year.

The 2006 calf crop totaled 5.0 million head, down 3% from the 2005 revised calf crop of 5.13 million.

The United States inventory of all cattle and calves totaled 97.0 million head on Jan. 1, slightly above last year's inventory of 96.7 million head.

All cows and heifers that have calved totaled 42.0 million head, down slightly from the 42.1 million on Jan. 1, 2006.

Beef cows totaled 32.9 million head, down slightly from a year ago, while milk cows were up 1% from a year ago to 4.13 million head.

Beef replacement heifers, at 5.88 million head, were down slightly from the previous year. Milk replacement heifer numbers were up 1% to 4.31 million head.

The 2006 calf crop was estimated at 37.6 million head, down slightly from 2005.

Johanns briefs cattle producers on farm bill, trade, animal ID

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Mike Johanns gave the keynote address Feb. 2 at the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA) Convention in Nashville. A capacity crowd of cattle producers from across the nation heard Johanns outline USDA's 2007 farm bill proposals, which were released recently.

Johanns focused on several farm bill proposals of particular interest to cattle producers, including programs to assist beginning farmers and ranchers, funding dedicated to enhancing exports and reducing trade barriers, and increased conservation funding for conservation programs such as the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

Johanns said cattle producers have been among the leading participants in EQIP. But he emphasized that all conservation programs need to be simplified, and their primary objective must be "to reward the best stewards of the land."

Turning to trade issues, Johanns said his patience has run out with South Korea's continued blocking of U.S. beef shipments, despite the fact that the market is ostensibly open to American beef.

Korea's (Sept. 2006) announcement about accepting

U.S. beef was all about words, not actions," Johanns said to the applause of cattle producers. "But I'm not giving up. I'll continue pressing this issue through all channels available and at my disposal."

Johanns said he understands the frustration cattle producers feel as a result of trade disputes. But he encouraged support for USDA's proposed rule to expand the range of cattle and beef imports from Canada. Comments are due March 12 on the proposal to allow imports of cattle up to eight years of age and beef from cattle of any age.

"I appreciate that there is a big debate here about this proposal, and there should be," he said. "But I always say there's a golden rule of trade. We need to treat others the way we expect to be treated."

But Johanns emphasized that trading partners must also show a stronger commitment to trade in good faith. USDA hopes to advance that cause by petitioning the International Organization for Animal Health (OIE) for a BSE risk classification that will help restore beef export markets.

Having already submitted data from more than 800,000 BSE tests over a three-year period, Johanns anticipates a preliminary finding on the appropriate risk level classification to be released in March, with a final vote by OIE members likely taking place in May. He predicted this proceeding could pave the way for establishment of greater export levels, if all parties involved are committed to abiding by the results.

"We are prepared to live by international guidelines," he said. "We are prepared to 'walk the walk.'"

Johanns said trade barriers are not only unfair and frustrating, but they also limit choices for overseas consumers.

"You know, we heard all these (negative) reports about what Japanese consumers would do with U.S. beef," Johanns said. "You know what they did? They stood in line for it."

In closing, Johanns praised NCBA for its leadership on animal identification issues. He encouraged voluntary participation in the livestock premises registration effort.

"I think it's the wrong approach to say, it's the Washington way or the highway," he said. "Help us make a voluntary identification system a reality — a meaningful reality."

Cattle-Fax: Favorable weather, strong corn crop critical in 2007

Weather, corn prices and surging demand for ethanol dominated the discussion at the annual Cattle-Fax Outlook Seminar held Feb. 2 before a capacity crowd at the National Cattlemen's Beef Association Convention in Nashville.

Cattle-Fax Executive Vice President Randy Blach said while 2007 is likely to bring a downturn in profitability for most cattle industry sectors, cattle producers should keep this news in perspective.

"In the past several years, we've had one of the greatest runs of profitability in recent history," Blach said.

He expects most segments of the cattle industry to remain profitable in 2007, but clearly not at the same levels enjoyed in recent years.

"Profitability within the cattle industry will be more marginal," he said.

Much of the dampened outlook for 2007 rests with sharply higher corn prices, driven in large part by skyrocketing production of ethanol. Cattle-Fax analyst Mike Murphy said demand for corn has increased 50% in the past 15 years, with ethanol production responsible for most of the recent momentum.

Murphy said the projected U.S. corn crop for 2007 is 12 billion bushels, and every last bushel will be needed. He warned that drought in the Corn Belt in 2007 could have particularly drastic consequences, because even a strong corn crop will be hard-pressed to meet current demand. He noted the strong demand for corn extends well beyond U.S. borders.

Murphy expects corn prices to be volatile, with moderation possible only if summer growing conditions are favorable. But he cautioned that the grain market is now well-established in a higher trading range, and cattle producers shouldn't expect or plan on significant price relief.

Cattle-Fax Senior Market Analyst Kevin Good reported that 2006 was the third straight year of U.S. herd expansion, but qualified that this expansion occurred at a very mild level and was held back by drought and soaring feed prices. These conditions contributed to a higher level of cow slaughter, as well as increased heifer placements in feedlots.

Good also noted that carcass weights increased an average of 12 pounds in 2006 — about double the 25-year average. This has resulted in a plentiful beef supply, even though beef demand has remained fairly robust.

Blach says despite higher costs, the cattle feeding industry won't undergo wholesale changes. But all sectors need to adjust to changing market conditions in order to identify and capitalize on profit opportunities — opportunities that still exist for cattlemen, even though they may be more difficult to realize.

Cattle-Fax is a member-owned and member-directed market information, analysis, research, and educational service organization.

When to terminate grazing of winter wheat desired for grain

According to researchers for Texas Cooperative Extension, grazing wheat and other small grains after the appearance of a hollow stem will reduce grain yield. With wheat grain prices higher than in the past several years, there is more incentive among producers to pursue higher grain yields rather than prolonging grazing.

As wheat growth progresses from late winter into spring, at some point it will switch from a vegetative to a reproductive state. The visible sign that the wheat has entered the reproductive phase of its life cycle is the appearance of a hollow stem at the base of the stem. The hollow stem is visible a few days prior to jointing (visible node on tiller). This does not occur at the same time every year. It is influenced by variety, planting date, and warm or cold weather. These factors can move jointing forward seven-14 days in some years, and delay it by a similar amount in others. To optimize grain yield potential, it is best to physically examine the wheat rather than relying on a calendar date to decide when to terminate grazing.

In studies conducted at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station near Bushland, Texas, irrigated wheat yields were reduced 0.28 bushels for every day wheat was grazed during the month of February. When wheat was grazed the first two weeks of March, wheat yield was reduced 0.94 bushels per day. In general, when the leaf sheaths become strongly erect, new tiller development has ceased and soon the growing point, which is below the soil surface, begins to develop an embryo head. At this stage, head size or number of spikelets is determined. Once the embryo head has developed, the first internode will begin to elongate pushing the head up through the leaf sheaths.

This first internode will be hollow, and that is what you look for. This will be visible before you can actually feel the first node.

To scout for first hollow stem, dig up one of the larger plants from an ungrazed area and cut it off just above the roots. Then dissect vertically upwards to the newest leaves. If you see the developing seed head with 1/4 to 3/4 inches of hollow stem between this point and the roots, grazing should be terminated.

It is a grower's decision as to which is more important, a couple of extra days of grazing vs. reduced grain yield potential. Checking fields every two to three days after the middle of February is advised, especially if temperatures are warming nicely and growth is progressing.

Noble Foundation supports Governor's request for the creation of an Oklahoma Bioenergy Center

The need is great. The goal has been set. And Oklahoma has responded with a plan.

Following President George W. Bush's call for the production of 35 billion gallons of ethanol by 2017 during last week's State of the Union address, Gov. Brad Henry announced an initiative to create the Oklahoma Bioenergy Center (OBC). The center is designed to provide Oklahoma with the tools to become a significant contributor to the national ethanol effort.

Joe Bouton, Ph.D., director of the Forage Improvement Division for the Noble Foundation, said the Oklahoma Bioenergy Center will be successful because it capitalizes on Oklahoma's heritage industries — energy production and agriculture.

The Oklahoma Bioenergy Center will combine Oklahoma's comprehensive higher education institutions with the world-class plant and agricultural research of the Noble Foundation.

The Oklahoma Bioenergy Center will also launch an educational effort to assist farmers and ranchers in the transition to and the development of energy crops. The OBC will work closely with existing extension services, including the conservation districts, and the Noble Foundation, which has worked hand-in-hand with Oklahoma producers for more than six decades, to promote successful integration.

A bioenergy industry is expected to create jobs directly and indirectly related to the industry across the state, focused mainly in rural communities.
