Agnes Klement attains town centenarian status

Agnes Klement celebrated her 100th birthday this month and the spunky lady didn't get there by sitting around doing little. She worked hard all her life. First as a youth on her family's farm and later on the farm she and her husband operated.

Born on Oct. 8, 1908 to John and Appolina Fisher Bayer, Agnes was the fourth youngest of nine children. She is the only sibling still surviving. "They are all gone now, so I can't find out anything from them," she said. "George Bayer was pretty well versed in everything, but I can't talk to him any more either." The Bayer family lived on a farm about three miles northwest of Muenster.

Agnes recalls helping with farm chores such as chopping cotton, milking cows, and cooking for and feeding the thrashing crews. "Before I was very old, I was out in the cow lot milking cows and raising chickens and all that," recalled Agnes. She milked the cow in a gallon bucket by hand.

The thrashing crews would come early and have breakfast, according to Agnes. She said that they would feed the crew a lunch and then a dinner. They would also give them doughnuts or a sand-wich. The crew consisted of about nine men.

In school, Agnes said they had to take English and German. "We had all our lessons in both languages," she remembered. "I loved Sr. Anastasia. She was my first teacher." School was held in a wooden building. "I remember my mother taking me up to the school to the teacher," she said.

Agnes married her school days sweetheart Norbert Klement. "His father needed him to sow the wheat in the fall, so he quit school," explained Agnes. "It wasn't long and I said I wanted to quit school too. It wasn't fun going to school without him. So, I quit school too and went to the cotton field and chopped cotton. We were 13 and in the seventh grade."

Norbert was a farmer and dairyman. Agnes said that Norbert started farming on his own at about age 19. A farmer in the area had a farm and knew Norbert understood farming, so he rented Norbert his farm.

After their marriage in 1933, Agnes worked on the farm with Norbert. They lived and worked on the farm until Norbert was unable to work any longer. The couple bought a house in town where Agnes lives still today.

couple bought a nouse intown where Agnes lives still today.

Daily life was filled with farm work. Agnes said that they never went anywhere. Her biggest trip was to Lake Texoma. "We never had time to go anywhere, We had to be home for milking morning and night so we never went anywhere," Agnes said. She did remember taking a trip to Iowa to visit her dad's kinfolks. She said her dad was the only one of eight children to move to Texas from Iowa. She said, "He had a lot of crop failures and he was ready to go back to Iowa, if it wasn't for his wife leaving her kinfolks. He didn't go back up there, but he went to visit every once in a while." Agnes said she still corresponds with a cousin in Iowa.

At times when Norbert would step in and do the necessary farm chores. Some were not pleasant. She recalls one time she had to rescue a cow from a huge hay stack. The cow somehow got buried under the loose hay. Agnes got busy tossing hay until she found the animal. The cow did survive her adventure.

Norbert and Agnes were married for 63 years. They had four children, a son Wilfred and three daughters Norma, Marcy, and Shirley.

Recalling her wedding, Agnes, said, "It had to be on a Tuesday and it had to be at 8 o'clock. Towards evening, we left and went to Dallas. That was our honeymoon. We bought our first cook stove and bedroom suite there,"

Agnes Klement recalls some events of her 10 looks through pages of old photos. Agnes turn

Treat Texas children to a safe Halloween

Texas drivers are asked to drive safely around areas where children are likely to gather this Halloween. And trick-or-treaters are asked to make sure they behave safely as well.

"We're expecting more children and adults to be out on Halloween this year because it falls on a Friday. Slow down and watch for pedestrians. If you're planning to attend a Halloween party, please designate a sober driver," said Col. Stan Clark, interim director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.
"Pedestrians should make sure to look both ways before crossing a street, and they should choose costumes that will be easy for drivers to see," Clark said.
Following these safety tips will help keep trick-ortreaters safe.

Have a safe costume:

• Avoid toy guns and knives – they could be mistaken for the real thing.

• Wear costumes that are light in color and short enough to avoid tripping.

• Wear shoes that fit.

• Place reflective material on the costume, so drivers can see you.

• Avoid masks – use face paint instead for better viscansee.

Carry a flashlight.
Keep these tips in mind:
Look both ways before crossing roadways. Always walk, don't run.
Cross the roadway at intersections and crosswalks when possible.

when possible.

• Travel in groups with adult supervision.

• Do not enter the cars and homes of strangers. Avoid homes without visible porch lights.

• Make sure children know their home phone number and how to call 911 or their local emergency number if they have an emergency or become lost.

• Take all treats home for an adult to inspect before eating anything. Never eat unwrapped candy.

An old safe was removed from the Muenster State Bank last week. The time-locks on the safe failed and locksmiths were unable to open it. The safe was built in the 1890s and may have been used in the first bank in Muenster - the Farmers and Merchants Bank, then the German-American Bank before the Muenster State Bank obtained it in 1923. The safe was sent to the scrap yard last week. It was made of manganese. To the Bank's knowledge, no money or important documents were in the safe when it was shift for the last time. If early voting numbers are any indication, there should be a large turnout of voters for the Nov. 4 General Election. Early voting in Cooke County ends at 5 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 31. Polls open on Tuesday at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

According to County Clerk Rebecca Lawson, early voting is up. "It is extremely high," noted Lawson. As of Tuesday morning, 3,853 people had cast their ballots, she said. In the Primary last March, a total of 3,000 early votes were cast for the entire early voting period. There has been a constant stream of voters, with the line often winding around the outer area of the first floor of the Courthouse where early voting is taking place.

There are over 24,000 registered voters in Cooke County.

On the local level, the contested races are for Cooke County Sheriff, Precinct #4 Commissioner, and Precinct #4 Comstable. Incumbent Michael Compton is challenged by Democratic candidate Ben Thurman for the Sheriff's position. Democrat

Arthur and Evelyn Felderhoff honored for their 60th wedding anniversary

Arthur and Evelyn Felderhoff celebrated their 60th Wedding Anniversary with their children and grandchildren on Saturday, Oct. 25 at their home in Muenster. The celebration began with a noon Mass held at their home by Fr. Ken Robinson, with son-in-law and deacon, Kory Killgo, assisting. Grandchildren participating in the Mass included lectors Chad Felderhoff and Ashley Hultstrand, with Dustin Felderhoff presenting the Offertory gifts. A nuptial blessing was performed by Fr. Ken and sealed with a kiss by Arthur and Evelyn. Family photos were taken immediately after Mass and followed by a catered meal provided by Ginny Schneider. Almost 30 family members were served. Dinner tables were decorated with fresh bouquets of fall flowers. Following the meal, Arthur and Evelyn's grandchildren presented them with a surprise production of "This Is Your Life." Granddaughter Ashley Hultstrand wrote the script and acted as emcee. Grandchildren acted out various scenes from the lives of their grandparents, pro-

Halloween dress up can be irritating for those with sensitive skin, said Dr. Sarah Weitzul, a cosmetic dermatologist at UT Southwestern Medical Center.

"Kids and adults should be sure to wash off their makeup, paints, and color from clothing at the end of the night to avoid irritation and breakouts," says Dr. Weitzul.

To help goblins and ghouls avoid day-after rashes, Dr. Weitzul recommends:

Avoid wearing masks and costumes that transfer color onto the skin.

Avoid tight clothing and occlusive fabrics which can cause friction, irritation, and heat rash.

Bayer reunion has big turnout

The John and Appolonia Fisher Bayer Reunion was held Sunday Oct. 12 in Sacred Heart Community Center beginning at 11 a.m. It was a covered dish meal, with around 200 family members of the approximately 450 direct descendants attending. Relatives came from across Texas and Oklahoma.

John Bayer was born on July 16, 1871 in Michigan to Mr. and Mrs. John Adam Bayer. They moved their family to Iowa. In 1883, John Bayer moved to Muenster, where he met Appolonia Fisher. Appolonia was born to Adam and Margaret Fisher on Feb. 16, 1876. John and Appolonia married and had six sons Joe who married Gertrude Walterscheid, Al who married Marie Loerwald, Frank who married Romana Walter, Martin who married Couise Walterscheid, George who married Anna Sandmann, and Johnny who married Adelaide Walterscheid; and three daughters Theresa who married Joe Mages, Agnes who married Victor Hartman. When they were first married, the Bayers lived where Art and Frances Bayer now live. For most of their marriage they lived about two miles northwest of Muenster, their home place.

John was one of the organizers of the first livestock auction in Muenster, located on the corner of Main and

First Streets. Appolonia was a loving and patient housewife, who loved to sing.

During the reunion, a program emceed by Charlie Bayer honored Agnes Bayer Klement for her 100th birthday (Oct. 26). They were both present at the reunion.

An auction was conducted by Charlie Bayer to raise funds to pay for the event. At auction were items from the Bayer family farm in Willey, Iowa.

Green pictures were made.

Home heating Green Tip

Consider replacing your old furnace or heat pump. Just like a car, heating and cooling equipment doesn't last forever. Is your system more than 12 years old? Planning to stay in your home more than a few years? Many authorities recommend replacing it before it fails permanently. New units can pay for themselves over time as they are up to twice as energy efficient. However, government and utility research has found that over 90% of newly installed high efficiency systems have energy wasting mistakes. Today's new equipment is drastically compromised if it is hooked up to bad ducts.

On the dairy, the couple milked about 30 cows with electric milkers. The milk was sold. Agnes said a milk-man would come pick up a can of milk every morning. A cream separator was used where milk came out one place and cream from another. She said the cream was sold to Joe Trachta. That was before they got the electric milkers. After that, they sold all the milk to one place, Agnes noted.

Raising chickens was another of the chores that Agnes took on. She raised them from small chicks. They would buy 200 to 300 baby chicks to raise. The roosters were used for eating and Agnes remembers dressing 100 roosters in the spring and then canning them. "My grandchildren would come in the summer to visit with us and we'd always have fried chicken," recalled Agnes. "They loved that fried chicken," None of them have ever forgotten that."

Agnes said her happiest memory is the birth of her first child.

Her main caretaker Joyce Denton has been with her for many years now. Joyce and Agnes share stories of the old days, Joyce remarked on how hard Agnes worked during her lifetime.

Asked what she thinks the secret to a long life is, Agnes replied, "Work hard and drink a lot of water, and I take a B12. I had pernicious anemia and Dr. Kralicke gave me B12 shots, I've had B12 shots for 30 years already. They've kept me going. I think they've helped me live this long."

Halloween goodies can be good for your kids

If entertaining young ghosts and goblins this Halloween, why not try some healthy alternatives to all those chocolate bars and candy treats?

With only a limited amount of preparation time and creativity, parents can offer such goodies as: apple wedges dipped in caramel sauce, celery sticks with peanut butter, ants on a log (frozen bananas topped with raisins), pretzels dipped in chocolate, or snack cereal drizzled with melted chocolate or peanut butter and lightly sprinkled with powdered sugar.

"Try something that's nutritious, but presented with a little extra twist so as to make it more appealing to kids," said Terry Brown, a

Don't throw out the meat and seeds of a

Carved pumpkin

Before throwing out the meat and seeds of a carved Halloween pumpkin, chew on this: Pumpkin is an excellent source of vitamins A and C and potassium, and the seeds are high in fiber, vitamin B12 and polyunsaturated fatty acids, one of the so-called good fats.

"The flesh of pumpkin and the seeds are abundant in many essential nutrients," said Lona Sandon, a nutritionist at UT Southwestern Medical Center. "Pumpkins are low in fat, calories, and are loaded with vitamins."

If you are planning to use fresh pumpkin for baking, Sandon says, choose smaller, blemish- and bruise-free pumpkins. Smaller pumpkins have softer and tastier meat. To maintain freshness, pumpkins should be stored in a cool, dry place until ready to use.

And don't forget to oven roast the seeds. They are ideal as snacks or as a salad topping.

The Counseling Corner Making the college application process less stressful

By the American Counseling Association
Applying for college is neveral easy task. For many students and their families, however, it can turn into an overwhelming, highly stressful experience. Last minute decisions, sudden deadlines, and unexpected requirements can all take anxiety levels to new highs.

It doesn't have to be that way. With a little planning, the college application process may still require a lot of work, but not nearly as much stress.

Most advisors suggest beginning the college selection process early in the student's junior year. Of course, if you're reading this now because you have an anxious high school senior just beginning the process, it's time to play a little catch-up.

Army worms marching into fields c Reports of armyworms devouring pastures and newly planted wheat increased in many parts of the state as producers attempted to finish the cotton harvest and plant small grains, according to reports from the Texas AgriLife Extension Service.

Most of the Rolling Plains reported infestations. In some counties, they were severe enough to cause producers to replant winter wheat.

Time to plant trees and shrubs

Time to plant trees and shrubs
Fall is the time to add woody plants to the landscape. Now is a perfect time to add a new tree or a grouping of shrubs to your yard. Fall may be the best season to plant, surpassing even the spring.
Dr. Douglas Welsh, Extension horticulturist, has written some information that gives gardeners cause to get outdoors and start planting. He says many people prefer January through March for planting, but the fall months of September through December have distinct advantages. Fall planting follows the heat of summer, before a cool winter season, and trees and shrubs planted in the fall use this to good advantage. Plant roots grow anytime the soil temperature is 40 degrees or higher, which may occur all winter in Texas. During the winter months, the root systems of the fall-planted specimens develop and become established. When spring arrives, this expanded root system can when spring arrives, this expanded root system can support and take advantage of the full surge of spring

Fall is the optimum time to plant balled and burlapped trees and shrubs. Balled and burlapped trees and shrubs. Balled and burlapped plants have ample time to recover from transplanting and proliferate roots before spring growth begins. Remember, however, all bare root plants, including roses and pecan and fruit trees, should be planted in late winter when they are completely dormant. When buying plants for your landscape, be sure to get healthy, well-grown plants. Always buy from a reputable dealer. Those in the plantselling business year-round depend on repeat customers, and only by selling customers quality plants can there be assurance of future business. Beware of plant bargains. They can easily turn out to be real headaches. A bargain is no good if it dies. The price tag, especially the cheapest one, is not the best guide to quality.

"Plan before you plant" is always a good rule of thumb. Whether you are planting a single plant or an entire landscape, plan first, then plant. Good planning is a worthwhile investment of time that will pay offing reater enjoyment of attractive and useful home grounds, and in increasing the value of your home. It's much easier to move plants on paper then to dig them after planting in the wrong place. A plan saves many planting mistakes. Every plant in the landscape should serve a purpose. Ask yourself if you want a plant for screening, for privacy, or for shade. How large will it be five years from now? Plants, like people, grow up. Remember, that a small one-gallon-size plant will look entirely different after a few years of growth in your landscape.

Pirates slip by Hornets 21-19

After having a 13 point halftime lead, the Muenster Hornets allowed the Pirates of Collinsville to get into the game, scoring three straight touchdowns to take a 20-13 lead in the 3rd quarter. Muenster added another TD before the final period, but couldn't out-score Collinsville, settling for a 21-19 win.

Coach Allen Cross. "We

type game."
The Hornets took the opening kick to their 37 yard line. Runs by Levi Trubenbach and Paul Crabtree and a pass to Jason Luke moved the ball to the Pirate 15, but four consecutive incomplete passes stopped the Hornets.

Collinsville couldn't get 10 yards and punted. The next play, the Pirates re-gained possession with an interception. Again, no Pirate 1st down and a punt, Muenster's offense struggled, punting on 4th and 10. Two plays later, Paul Crabtree picked off a pass and returned the ball 11 yards for a Hornet touchdown. Matt Flusche added the extra kick for a 7-0 score with 1:38 on the clock.

The Pirates got in seven plays and punted. The next play, another interception gave the ball back to Collinsville. The Pirates lost 2 yards and the teams exchanged punts until a minute was on the clock.

Starting on their 31 yard line, Muenster moved to the Pirate 41. With 8 seconds on the clock, a Trubenbach to Crabtree pass found the end zone. The PAT failed for a 13-0 halftime score.

A good kick return by Collinsville was followed by a 19 yard touchdown run to put the Pirates on the board. With less than a minute off the clock, the scoreboard read 13-7.

The Hornet offense gained nothing and punted. Three plays later, Collinsville tied the game 13-13 at 8:24.

Again Muenster made no gain and punted. Nine plays and the Pirates had a 21-13 lead with 2 minutes remaining in the 3rd period.

From the Pirate 35, Crabtree ran for 5, a Reynolds catch gained 13, then a Crabtree run took it to the Pirate 10. Trubenbach picked up a yard. A Trubenbach to Eric Hellman pass was good for 6 points. The extra points attempt failed, for a 21-19 score with 5 seconds on the clock.

Collinsville took 4 1/2 minutes off the clock before punting. Muenster got in three unsuccessful plays and booted the ball back to the Pirates. Collinsville again worked the clock, allowing 3 minutes, 45 seconds to tick away before losing the ball on downs.

With less than 2 minutes to play, the Hornets snapped the ball nine times, with then biggest gain compliments of the officials, running out of time, to give Collinsville the win.

"The defense gave us a chance, but it didn't happen," noted Coach Cross, "We have to finish and bring out a win."

Sanders gets first deer

Six year old Zachary Sanders of Muenster got his first deer on Sat. Oct. 25, the opening morning of youth weekend deer hunting in Texas. Zachary hit the spike deer from a deer stand 30 yards away, using a Remington 243 rifle at a Young County lease. He is the son of Bryan and Dana Sanders.

Game Warden Report

Falcon Lake poacher apprehended
On Aug. 4 at approximately 8:30 p.m., Zapata County game wardens were patrolling Falcon Lake when one game warden observed a Mexican boat enter Texas waters from his spotting position. The game wardens attempted to make contact with the vessel, but the occupant refused to stop and a pursuit ensued. After a short chase through the brush, the captain of the vessel finally halted. The game wardens were able to apprehend the subject, who was then filed on for fishing without a valid commercial fishing license and possession of illegal equipment in prohibited waters. The Zapata County Sheriff's Office transported the subject to the Zapata County Jail. Both the boat and motor were seized along with approximately 2,000 feet of monofilament gillnet.

DNA evidence leads to deer poaching conviction

On Oct. 1, an Angelina County jury sentenced David Peters, 35, of Zavalla, to two years in state jail and a $3,000 fine for hunting without landowner consent. The defendant has filed an appeal in this case where DNA evidence analysis applied new technology to help address an age-old concern in the woods of East Texas.

Angelina County Game Wardens James Barge and Heath Bragg gathered DNA evidence from the deer killed in the case. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department forensics analyst Beverly Villarreal tested the DNA from a rifle seized during execution of a search warrant which proved that the rifle had been at the scene of the offense.

Other DNA evidence from beer cans located at the scene and DNA from the defendant was gathered with the help of Lufkin Police Department's crime scene technician Debra Walsh and sent to the Texas Department of Public Safety crime lab in Houston. Angelina County Assistant District Attorney Dale Summa tried the case, working with the game wardens all along the way. All of this evidence ultimately proved that Peters, who owned the gun in question, had been at the crime scene. "Game Wardens Barge and Bragg went far beyond what a lot of officers would typically do in gathering evidence for this case, and they should be commended for their dedication," said Clyde Herrington, Angelina County district attorney. An average quail season?

Late quail production due to dry and hot range conditions has set the stage for an average hunting season, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

The statewide quail season runs Oct. 25-Feb. 22. The daily bag limit is 15, with 45 in possession. Legal shooting hours for all non-migratory game birds are 30 minutes before sunrise to 30 minutes after sunset. The bag limit is the maximum number that may be killed during the legal shooting hours in one day.

may be killed during the legal shooting hours in one day.

"For South Texas, production came late and history tells us when you get these late hatches, they tend to be less productive, so right out of the box we're going to have less birds," said Robert Perez, TPWD upland game bird program director.

"I would encourage hunters to go early in the season, as soon as hunting conditions are favorable for dog work."

About this time a year ago, most of the Texas quail country was lush with vegetation after great late summer rains, but the winter that followed was one of the driest on record.

"The quail season was about average and there were plenty of birds surviving into late winter," Perez noted.
"But the lack of moisture, combined with heavy ground cover, may have made it difficult for bobs to find late winter and early spring greens; a very important part of the diet. Hunters reported difficulty finding birds in their usual haunts."

Because quail production is "density dependent" as birds are striving to recover from hard times in recent years, Perez noted hens typically will make as many nesting attempts as conditions allow until they are successful or run out of time.

This year, most of the state experienced a dry summer with above-normal summer temperatures. For these reasons quail production was spotty in some areas as evidenced by reports of differing size classes of chicks observed by biologists during the summer census survey.

Statewide surveys were initiated in 1978 to monitor quail populations. This index uses randomly selected, 20-mile roadside survey lines to determine annual quail population trends by ecological region. This trend information helps determine relative quail populations among the regions of Texas.

Comparisons can be made between the mean (average) number of quail observed per route this year and the long term mean (LTM) for quail seen within an ecological region. The quail survey was not designed to predict relative abundance for any area smaller than the ecological region.

If you're a game warden, wouldn't I recognize you?

Tues., Aug. 5, the Abilene TPWD law enforcement office received two reports of an individual impersonating a game warden around the local lakes. One of the reports was from a police officer who actually spoke with the individual and was told that he was with TPWD. The officer was in the middle of a contact and didn't realize that there was something wrong with the identity of the guy who claimed to be a warden. The subject was checking licenses and IDs on young people relating to alcohol violations. The local wardens were notified to watch for the subject's vehicle. On Wednesday night, the same police officer checked the lake area and didn't find the individual, but he talked to some young people at the lake and told them to call 911 if this suspicious person contacted them. Ashort time later (about 10:30 p.m.), the young people called 911 and reported the same situation. Officers responded and made a felony stop on the suspect was impounded for evidence. A Taylor County game warden assisted with a Glock. A0 caliber handgun and had two shotguns in the truck. The suspect had body armor and was in possession of binoculars and a thermal imaging unit. The vehicle was equipped with two sets of red and blue lights, take down lights, siren, electrical cutoff switches, a model 5000

FARMAND RANCH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

Despite volatility in many global markets, August results show continued strength for meat exports

U.S. beef exports performed extremely well in August, despite growing concerns about global financial conditions and an upward surge for the U.S. dollar that has diminished the purchasing power of some major trading partners' currencies. currencies

August beef plus beef variety mat exports surpassed July totals by almost 15%, and set a new, all-time monthly record in terms of value. The record total of $416 million exceeds the previous record of $387 million - set in June 2003 - by 7.5%. Year-to-date, beef exports have recovered 93% of value and 75% of volume when compared to January-August 2003.

Mexico and Canada continue to perform remarkably well for U.S. beef, as they combined to account for about 60% of beef export volume and 63% of export volume and 65% of beef export volume and 65% of export volume and 65% of export to Mexico which had set a record for both value and volume in July-set another value record of $150.6 million despite a small decline in volume from the previous month. For January-August, beef exports to Mexico climbed 19% in volume (to 279,735 metric tons or 616.7 million pounds) and 25% in value (to $975.5 million) over 2007.

Beef exports to Canada have increased 35% in volume and 38% in value over last year, to 109,717 metric tons (241,9 million pounds) and $513.8 million, respectively.

Beef exports to Japan over the first eight months of 2008 totaled 51,279 metric tons (113 million pounds) valued at $265 million, representing an increase of 64% in both volume and value over last year. While August results in Japan remained strong (6,951 metric tons or 15.3 million pounds), the volume slowed from its June-July peak - which is likely due to a decline in available cattle less than 21 months of age. USMEF-Tokyo's introduction of alternative beef cuts into Japan should help maintain strong volumes through the winter months, despite the shortage of Japan-eligible cattle.

while the U.S. dollar has strengthened sharply against many foreign currencies, the Japanese yen has maintained a strong level of purchasing power. It is important to note however, that the Australian dollar has declined about 30% against the yen over the past 90 days, which has provided Australian beef with a price advantage in this market.

Beef exports to Russia are being adversely impacted by global currency trends. January-August exports to Russia totaled 28,956 metric tons (63.8 million pounds) valued at $67.5 million, and August exports set a new monthly value record at nearly $25 million.

However, sales have slowed in recent weeks due to economic conditions, devaluation of the ruble against the U.S. dollar, and a decline in the Brazilian real - which has restored much of the price advantage Brazilian beef has historically enjoyed in this market.

"While August was still a strong month for beef and beef variety meat exports to Russia, we expect to see a slowdown in the fall months — especially for muscle cuts, said U.S. Meat Export Federation President and CEO Philip Seng. "Russia's beef demand is always somewhat seasonal, and other economic conditions are working against us there as well. But despite the downturn, we're pleased with the performance for U.S. beef in Russia in what is essentially our first year back in that markets is not all the second and conditions are working against us there as well. But despite the downturn, we're pleased with the performance for U.S. beef in Russia in what is essentially our first year back in that market since 2000.

Beef exports have gained traction in South Korea, with August totals of 12 A04 metric tons (27.3 million pounds) valued at $62.7 million. Seng cautioned, however, that the U.S. beef industry faces a challenging environment as it attempts to reclaim what was once its third-largest export market.

Other Asian markets are performing extremely well for U.S. beef, as exports to the ASEAN region set a new record in August with a volume of 5.416 metric tons (11.9 million pounds) valued at $17.5 million. Vietnam currently accounts for about 71% of the volume and 75% of the value of ASEAN purchases, making it the fifth-largest market for beef exports (by value) in 2008.

The fourth-largest market is Taiwan, where January-August beef exports have increased 38% over last year to 19,388 metric tons (42.7 million pounds) valued at $91.2 million.

increased 38% over last year to 19,388 metric tons (42.7 million pounds) valued at $91.2 million.

Beef exports to the Middle East also showed strong performance in August, with a value of $16.8 million.

Exports to the Middle East thus far in 2008 are down 2% in volume from last year but have increased 37% in value to $97.8 million.

Egypt's purchases of livers and other variety meats account for much of this increase in value, due in part to strong buying competition from Russia. Muscle cut exports to the Middle East also have increased dramatically this year, with the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, and Kuwait being the topperforming markets.

View all updated data for U.S. meat exports online.

Fall is a great time for thistle control

thistle control
You may remember the tall plant with the spiny leaves and purple blooms from late last spring. Musk Thistle is an annual, winter annual, or biennial. In Texas, seeds produced in summer germinate to form young rosettes in the fall. The rosettes overwinter and resume development in the spring. Stems elongate from March to April and the plant typically flowers in April and May. Determinate blooming continues through June, with seeds dropping in June and July. A wide range of growth habits, plant heights, and plant densities are possible primarily in response to local moisture levels.

Controlling these invasive weeds is a priority for many primarily in response to local moisture levels.

Controlling these invasive weeds is a priority for many rural residents because the seed is spread by wind, (like a dandelion). Whether you prefer to kill thistle with herbicides or a hoe, the best time to do so is now.

Stroll through the pasture or bar ditch where thistle grew last year and you will see new rosettes on the ground. These are new plants that will bolt upward in spring. We usually react when we see them in spring, but often too late to stop them from seeding and reproducing. reproducing.

Hoeing or spraying thistle is best in fall when you can more evenly distribute the spray on the leaves while they are lower to the ground. For large areas of thistle, the easiest control method is chemical application. A number of herbicides are labeled and effective for control including 2,4-D, digamma, pictogram and, metsulfuron methyl. http://bc4weeds.tamu.edu/weeds/rangeland/muskthistle.html

Soil test your lawn, garden, or flowerbed
If your garden performed below expectations last year, or maybe things just didn't grow quite right, a few dollars invested in a soil test may be just the solution. Properly prepared and fertilized garden soil is the real key to successful gardening in most areas of Texas. Taking a soil test during the dormant season will allow you plenty of time to prepare for next spring.

of time to prepare for next spring.

The soil test report will tell you the level of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, and magnesium available to your garden plants. It will also indicate the pH (acidity or alkalinity) of your garden soil. For the most part, this is all you need to know how to properly fertilize your garden soil, and increase the likelihood of a bountiful harvest.

To take a soil sample, make a hole about a foot deep in the garden with a spade or sharpshooter. Throw out the first spade full of soil. Then, from the back of the hole, cut a slice of the soil 1/2 inch to one inch thick. Be sure the slice is at least six to seven inches in depth, with fairly even width and thickness. Then place the soil slice in a bucket or tub. Repeat this procedure four to six times in different spots in the garden, depending primarily on the size of the garden. Thoroughly mix the composite of the soil, and mail it to the Soils Testing Laboratory at Texas A&M University. Sample bags and forms can be obtained at the Texas AgriLife Extension Office, located in the old jail building at 301 S. Chestnut, in Gainesville.

Department of Agriculture (USDA) Secretary Ed Schafer and Department of Energy (DOE) Secretary Samuel W. The NBAP was developed in response to President Bush's plans to change the way America fuels its transportation fleets in the 2007 State of the Union Address. The President's "Twenty In Ten" goal calls for cutting U.S. gasoline consumption by 20% over the next 10 years by investing in renewable and alternative fuel sources, increasing vehicle efficiency, and developing alternative fuel vehicles.

"The NBAP was developed and is being implemented by the Biomass Research and Dovelopment (R&D) Board. Co-chaired by USDA and Dovelopment and Dovelopment and Dovelopment. Its membership represents the combined expertise and resources of senior decision makers from nearly a dozen executive branch agencies and the Administration.

cotton, wheat, corn, and lumber closed the week lower.

Only a few scattered showers were reported across the state last week. Areas of the Panhandle and West Texas recorded their first freeze, which may have damaged some immature cotton.

Cotton harvest progressed to 22% complete, behind the normal 29% by this date. The corn crop was 78% harvested, well behind the 95% average. Winter wheat planting was 81% complete and 66% of the acreage has emerged. The crop is in mostly good to fair condition.

Top soil moisture is adequate to short in most areas. Pastures are currently in fair to good condition.

Dairy products represented 5.1% of the total farm value all animal products.

In 1921, approximately 9,000,000,000 pounds of ilk were produced in the

On the average, a cow produced 4,000 pounds of milk annually. Forty - six percent of the total milk is used for household purposes, and 36% for making butter.

Farm butter amounts to 40% of the total U.S. production and is still made in about half the farms of the 1849 - 105,535,893 pounds; 1889 - 18,726,818; and by 1909 - 9,405,864. Practically all the cheese is now made in factories, with about 2/3 made in Wisconsin.

Butter made on farms in 1919 constituted 43% of the total production.

In 1850, there were 275 cows per 1,000 population, while in 1920 there were only 215 per 1,000 persons.

The average number of dairy cows per farm was 13.6 in Wisconsin and two to five in Texas in 1920.

Of pure-bred dairy breeds, 57.7% were Holstein-Friesians; 25.3% Jerseys; 8.7% Guernseys; 3.3% Ayrshires; 0.9% Brown Swiss; and 4.1% "all other breeds."

Powdered milk is one of the newer manufactured dairy products.

Butter inspections have a minimum charge of $1, with a carlot averaging $3. These fees are paid by the applicant.

During the war period 1914-1919, exports exceeded imports in dairy products. In 1920-21, more butter was imported than exported, mostly from Denmark. Cheese imports were largely from France, Italy, Argentina, and Switzerland.

Tobacco crop acreage constitutes about five-tenths of 1% of acreage devoted to all crops.

In 1919, the value of the tobacco crop was about 3% of all farm crops.
