VOLUME X

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1946

NUMBER 45

Formation Of County National Guard Unit Begun At Gainesville

Elsewhere in this issue is the mayor's proclamation designating next week as Fire Prevention Week. It's not intended to be an announcement for an elaborate fire prevention program, rather just a reminder on a very important subject that is too generally ignored.

The purpose of an additional mention here is to place a bit of additional emphasis on the subject. Fire prevention is really a year-round job, and because of that very fact is likely to be neglected all through the year. By giving it special thought and special attention during one week, however, we can overcome at least some of the hazard resulting from the fifty one weeks of feeble observance.

It would not be necessary here to enumerate the many miseries caused by fire. A person's own imagination will picture the grim possibilities of death, injury, loss of treasured possessions, or financial ruin. And after thinking over those possibilities, we believe, the average person will be in a mood to do something about avoiding them.

With those considerations in mind, let's settle down next week to an honest to goodness fire prevention program in every home, business house and public building in the community. Let's look for fire hazards — inflammable liquids and rubbish that might flame up in spontaneous combustion or blaze like tinder from a tiny spark; wiring with bad insulation; open flames where they might cause trouble; defective flues; exposed wood floors under coal or wood stoves; rank, dry vegetation between buildings; and lots of other hazards that careful inspection will reveal.

Eliminating causes of fire is the big job, but caution does not end there. The next thing is to be prepared in case of fire. Extinguishers, if a person has them, ought to be checked for dependability. And finally, there's the little item of being certain about insurance coverage in case.

Such precautions once a year plus reasonable caution through the rest of the year will do much toward eliminating fire injuries and losses.

Those who saw the Muenster Hornets in action last Friday night had plenty of reason to be proud, not only for the victory but for the splendid performance. Win or lose, we can't help being enthusiastic about youngsters who play a good game. The boys had confidence, alertness and lots of hustle. They've earned a hundred per cent backing from the community and we hope to see an increasing number of fans as the season advances.

Equally gratifying is the thought that boys from both schools are now playing side by side on the team. The kids themselves, with the approval of their superiors, are developing a harmonious, cooperative spirit which, if continued, will do wonders for the progress of both schools. This will mean a more adequate athletic program at both places, and no one can deny in these times that athletics have an important part in a school's success.

We have reason to believe this new harmony is partly the result of other inter-school harmony that has been developing during the past few years. Children of the two schools have shared a transportation system for some time. This year they started sharing a lunch program. As time goes on they can continue sharing other facilities for the mutual benefit of all.

It is well for us at Muenster to understand our unusual circumstances and then do what we can to make the most of them. The majority here favor our private school and are willing to pay extra to support it. In fact we should never consider giving it up. The value of Religion along with the other three R's is far greater than the sacrifice required.

However, it is not necessary that all advantages offered parochial children be secured at a sacrifice. Some things can be done as public school projects and supported by tax at a much lower individual cost than they could be supported by voluntary subscription.

Take the case of a gymnasium for instance. The parochial school can hardly afford to build it because the cost, pro rated among a few hundred people, would be too great to each one. It is doubtful whether a sufficient number would contribute a sufficient amount.

Nor is it probable that the public school can get a gym for itself. (Continued on Page 8)

A National Guard unit for Cooke County, to be designated as Troop C, 49th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron, 49th Armored Division, is now being organized at Gainesville under the supervision of Capt. Frank M. Aldridge, Jr., unit commander.

Capt. Aldridge pointed out that the organization is now accepting enlistments and when it reaches full strength will have 165 officers and enlisted men. Equipment already on hand consists of 61 vehicles including 30 jeeps, 6 armored cars and a number of half tracks and field trucks. Contemplated for the near future is a $165,000 armory, funds for which have already been allocated.

According to latest pay regulations a private in the National Guard receives $2.50 for each drill period or $10 per month. Pay for other grades increases in about the same proportion as the regular army pay scale. In addition a guardsman draws 5 per cent for each 3 year hitch completed in the service.

The schedule calls for an average of one drill period per week for 50 weeks and a two weeks encampment during which the guardsman would draw the full army pay for his grade.

Improvements now underway in the Dangelmayr-Fleitman building, former home of Hennigan Motor Company, are in preparation for the opening of the Muenster Motor Company, a new business, in the near future. The opening date has not been set at this writing.

It is an automobile parts and repair business owned by F.E. Schmitz, well known former resident and present Plymouth-Dodge dealer at Gainesville. Ray Bezner will be manager and Clarence Albers will have charge of the shop.

The improvement program, under way for more than a week, consists principally of installing bins and partitions and repainting. Meanwhile Bezner is moving in stock and equipment.

Spectacular Fireworks Display Will Conclude Fair's Daily Programs

The most lavish and spectacular fireworks display ever witnessed in the Southwest will close each night's entertainment program at the State Fair of Texas, held at Dallas, Oct. 5-20.

New and novel innovations and effects will turn the Lagoon area of the State Fair into a fairland of colored fire against the black night sky. Dazzling set pictures, including the old favorite, Niagara Falls, aerial bombshells in color, optical illusions, flashing wheels of fire, whirling dervishes in the sky will be produced. Comedy numbers will be included.

A finale of aerial bombshells will paint the clouds with every color of the rainbow as the American flag waves in flashing lines of flame. Feature numbers will be changed nightly to afford visitors a complete variety.

Lean Ladies and Fat Men Win Benefit Ball Games

More benefit softball games by fat and lean men and women of the community netted a purse of $77 for the donation of a rug to the Benedictine Sisters' home.

Results of the games were very similar to those of the preceding week — the lean ladies won over the heavies and the fat men won over the leans. More than 500 persons saw the performances.

FIRST SUNDAY SINGING

The regular First Sunday of the month singing will be held at the local Baptist church Sunday afternoon and members extend an invitation to any one interested to attend the service.

Title to the Kinsery and Frost oil lease on the Johnson land 5 miles north of Muenster was purchased this week by J.P. Flusche who will operate its 11 stripper wells. The lease house, retained by Frost, will be moved within the next few days to a location adjoining Emmet Fette's home in east Muenster.

Hornets Will Face Saint Jo Oct. 18, Marietta Oct. 21

Two games in rapid succession follow a two weeks' gap on the Hornet schedule according to an announcement this week by Father John Walbe.

On Friday, the 18th, the boys will meet Saint Jo Hi and on the following Monday they will play Marietta, Okla. Locations for the games are not determined at this writing.

Hoping to break the long gameless stretch Father John continues looking for a team with an open date next weekend.

Organizing their team and starting the season with only one game on schedule, the Hornets have succeeded in arranging at least a fair season. Two games are behind them and four — with Saint Jo, Marietta, Decatur and Sanger — are ahead, and chances for another one or two are at least fair.

Notes On Soil Conservation

By Harris W. Wright

J.W. Hess of the North Muenster Conservation Group, has just finished making a fertilizer distributor from an old grain drill. And Felix Becker, of the West Muenster group, had a fertilizer distributor made from an old automobile differential and rear wheels. Both Hess and Becker plan to rent their distributors to farmers who have been unable to find other means of getting their superphosphate fertilizer out.

R.M. Zipper of the Muenster conservation group is constructing 4,700 feet of modified channel type terraces with his Ford tractor, plow and terracing blade.

J.R. Winstead is constructing 1,400 feet of diversion terraces on his farm to protect 18 acres of bottom land from hill water which was cutting gullies across his field.

W.F. Davidson of the Northeast Muenster group had the soil Conservation Service personnel out at his farm to stake off pasture strips to be sodded this fall or next spring. He realizes the necessity of having a well prepared place for terrace water to outlet before the terraces are built and plans to carry out more of his coordinated soil conservation program by planting 6 acres of Bi-annual Sweet Clover next spring for seed production and soil building.

H.N. Fuhrmann of the Muenster group is going to solve his channel problem (his channel has turned into an uncontrollable gully) by sodding a strip on each side of the gully about 40 feet wide. After the sod gets established he plans to divert all the water out of the gully and onto the grass strip by constructing a levee around the gully.

Albert Rohmer Leases Shop of Wilde Garage

Albert Rohmer, now recovered from the recent removal of his tonsils, is back on the job as mechanic at J.B. Wilde's Chevrolet garage, but under a new status. He leased the shop from J. B. and started a business of his own.

Alois Trubenbach is the owner of a new 1946 Dodge pickup.

SOFTBALL TEAMS END SEASON BY UPSETTING SAINT JO AND ERA

The Muenster softball teams turned in two surprise wins during the past week to wind up their season in a flash of glory. The boys beat Era and the girls beat Saint Jo.

Last Wednesday night's 10 to 5 victory over Era, winner of the Gainesville loop honors, was the first the local boys had in their several starts against the team, and resulted from a combination of below par playing on one side and above par on the other. Era had troubles with poor hitting and fumbles whereas Muenster grouped its hits and gave air tight support to Lawrence Knabe's pitching. A five inning nightcap between the same teams went to Era 3 to 2.

In the season's closing game Monday night the girls swamped Saint Jo 18 to 2 for the second big upset. Again it was a case of one team clicking exceptionally well while the other dubbed exceptionally bad.

The ball team's action Tuesday definitely ended the night playing season. The boys took down all light globes and put them away for the winter and turned the transformer back to TP&L.

Trading Tempo At Livestock Auction Sets Snappy Pace

Possibilities at the Muenster Livestock Auction Commission company, favorable at the first sale, were even more promising at the second, according to E.A. Felker and W.F. Solomon, joint owners of the ventures. With plenty of buyers on hand bidding went at a brisk pace and prices in many cases were equal or above those of the Fort Worth market.

Though fewer head were handled than the preceding week the auction actually handled more customer stock, the partners stated. At the first auction they ran through all their own spare cattle, the second time they brought none of their own. And after last Saturday's sale they are expecting even more cattle this week.

Felker and Solomon are both optimistic over the signs. Buyers have assured them that they will be on hand bidding as long as the supply is plentiful, and they expect stock raisers to be interested as long as good bidding continues.

Legumes Pay Off Best When Inoculated And Fertilized, Tests Show

Results of experiments and demonstrations in Texas are convincing evidence that it pays to plant fertilized and inoculated legumes for soil improvement.

As legume planting time is near, E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, points out to Texas farmers that the use of inoculated seed and fertilizer will enable them to get the most out of a legume crop.

To illustrate that fact, Miller points to a demonstration carried on at the Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station. The yield of cotton following vetch that was not fertilized or inoculated was increased only five pounds of lint an acre. On another plot, however where the vetch was fertilized and inoculated, the cotton yield was improved on an average of 59 pounds of lint an acre.

At experiment substations at Nacogdoches and Tyler, fertilized and inoculated hairy vetch produced over 100 pounds more lint cotton an acre than did cotton that was planted on ordinary, unimproved soil. In a demonstration at the Temple experiment station, cotton following Hubam clover, which was harvested for seed and turned under, produced a five-year average of 315 pounds of lint cotton an acre. The yield was only 165 pounds from cotton grown continuously without the clover.

For fertilization, Miller says that 200 pounds an acre of 20 per cent superphosphate, or its equivalent, is a good application on sandy loam soil. Light sandy soils and old fields will require 300 pounds of a 0-14-7 mixed fertilizer for each acre.

Mrs. H.P. Hennigan, who has been spending the past few months in Colorado for her health, underwent an operation last Friday in Denver and is reported making a satisfactory recovery.

Hornets Upset Valley View In 13-0 Thriller

A new, inspired and apparently experienced swarm of Muenster Hornets sprang a surprise on football fans of the county last Friday night by defeating the Valley View Eagles, 13 to 0. The game was played in Gainesville Hi's Leeper stadium before a crowd of about 500 persons.

It was the Hornets' second game of the season and a vast improvement over their performance in the 20 to 7 loss to Lanier Hi of Fort Worth the preceding Sunday.

Two factors, reserve strength and alertness, were largely responsible for the local lads' victory. In the first half they were at a slight disadvantage as the teams see-sawed back and forth, but finally held firm at the 15 yard stripe. That was as near as they permitted the Eagles to get to the goal. Frequent substitutions during that time enabled the Hornets to conserve strength while the Eagles tired from their hard drives.

The second half was Muenster's, in both score and performance. They scored two touchdowns and held a definite advantage in yardage, first downs and completed passes.

Their first marker came late in the third quarter after recovering their own punt on the 20. Blocked by one Eagle and muffed by another, the oval bounced into the open where a Hornet pounced on it. Two end runs advanced it to the one and Swirczynski plunged across on his second try. Gremminger added the extra point from placement.

The second touchdown was made from mid field on a pass from Gremminger to Vogel. The heave was good for twenty odd after which Vogel shook two tacklers and escaped a third who was blocked out by a team mate on his romp across the goal. The try for extra point failed as it bounced off the goal line.

The Eagles' closing minutes rally led to the shadow of the goal but fizzled in an incomplete pass across the line as the final whistle sounded.

J.W. HESS RE-ELECTED SUPERVISOR BY LOCAL CONSERVATION GROUP

J.W. Hess, supervisor of Section 3 of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District for the past 3 years will continue in that position for another five years.

He was elected Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 1, at the city hall in a meeting of cooperating landowners of the section, and the certificate of election has been forwarded to the state conservation board by J.M. Weinzapfel and J.B. Klement, chairman and secretary of the meeting.

Landowners in each of the five sections of the Upper Elm-Red district elect one of their members to serve as supervisor of the soil conservation district and those men select one of their number to serve as chairman.

At the present time Mr. Hess is chairman of the district board of supervisors.

School Daze

MÜNSTER PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Three weeks of school are gone. High school classes haven't been quite up to the standard expected by the teachers due to a scarcity of books which has been a serious problem. It should soon be solved with a shipment from Austin — then it will be work when the students work, saving play until play time.

Outstanding Themes
Best themes handed in so far have been by Frances Tuggle and Junior Hammer. Each has a style of writing that is fluid and easy, and a gift for the apt word and phrase. Some of these themes will be included in this column soon.

Biology Class Active
The biology class has been working on special reports on pathogenic bacteria, now active in Muenster. Thanks to Doctor Myrick and several nurses and several other well-informed people who have so courteously helped us.

History Is Interesting
The World History Class has just finished a project of work on the old Hebrew leaders. Douglas Robison deserves special mention for his excellent report on the books of the Old Testament. He gave a description of the author and summarized the history of each.

Pep Squad Practice
The yelling and whistling heard from the campus occasionally is nothing to worry about — it's just the pep squad practicing. Incidentally, the squad is earning sweaters by taking subscriptions to magazines. Does any one need a favorite renewed, or want to try a new one?

LUCILLE WIMMER AND LEO J. HAVERKAMP UNITED WEDNESDAY

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Lucille Wimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Wimmer, and Leo J. Haverkamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Haverkamp, during impressive nuptial rites performed Wednesday morning at 8:30 in Sacred Heart church. A large number of relatives and friends were assembled to witness the service.

The Rev. John Walbe officiated at the double ring ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass. Anthony Luke, organist, played the processional and recessional and assisted the choir in rendering the Gregorian chant mass.

Mr. Wimmer gave his daughter in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white embroidered satin and chiffon. The satin bodice was designed with fitted, pointed basque and scalloped sweetheart neckline and the long sleeves extended into petal points over the bride's wrists. The extremely full chiffon skirt swept into a cathedral-length train. The fingertip veil of net was edged with lace and was attached to a beaded coronet. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white gladioli and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. For "something old and borrowed" she wore a handsome gold ring, which was her maternal grandmother's wedding ring more than 80 years ago.

Miss Billie Wimmer, sister of the bride and Miss Bertha Haverkamp, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Miss Wimmer wore a yellow faille and net dress, the basque bodice of faille featuring a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, and the full skirt of net applied with faille flowers.

Miss Haverkamp's frock was of orchid net over taffeta made with moulded bodice, puffed sleeves, ruffled drop-shoulder neckline and bouffant skirt ornamented with a multitude of tiny ruffles.

Both wore headresses of chrysanthemums and carried colonial bouquets of the same flower, with accents of yellow and orchid satin ribbon.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Werner Henscheid, and Ray Otto.

Mothers of the couple and the groom's grandmother, wore black ensembles with black accessories and corsages of pink carnations, and roses, respectively.

The wedding was followed by breakfast at the home of the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Al Fleitman, where a sumptuous meal was served to the bridal party, their parents and families and the groom's grandmother. An all white bridal theme was accentuated in the dining room which was decorated with wedding bells and streamers. The linen covered table held a tired wedding cake which was cut by the bride and groom.

At four o'clock a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, followed by dinner for a large number of relatives and friends. The bride's chosen colors formed an attractive setting for the dining room and the bride's table was beautifully appointed and centered with a three-tier cake, flaked with tapers and further ornamented with seasonal flowers.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Haverkamp left on a wedding trip, the destination of which was not revealed. For traveling the bride wore a grey crepe tunic dress with black accessories. When they return they will make their home here where he is in business.

Bert Childers and the Melon Patch

Bert Childers put an ad in the Clarion the other day. Here's what it said:
 "Planted more melons than I can eat this year. Stop by and pick as many as you want. All free."
 As you can guess, plenty of folks sent their kids over and plenty of the parents came too. Stripped Bert's melon patch in no time. And as they went away, Bert treated the kids to lemonade, and offered the grownups a glass of ice-cold sparkling beer.

Naturally it puzzled some folks... but Bert explains: "It gives me a kick to share things when I can afford to—whether it's the melons, or the lemonade, or beer. I guess I just like to indulge my whims."
 From where I sit, if we had more "self-indulgent" people like Bert—who believe in share and share alike, live and let live, this tired world would be a whole lot better off!

AGATHA MOSTER AND JOE HELLINGER WED AT GAINESVILLE

Saint Mary's church in Gainesville was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday morning, Sept. 24, at 8 o'clock to unite Miss Agatha Moster of that city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Moster of Lindsay, formerly of Muenster, and Joe Hellinger, son of Pete Hellinger of Gainesville. Rev. Peter Malloy, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white satin and net, the satin forming the fitted long-waisted bodice designed with a deep yoke of net and round neckline, and long sleeves that ended in points over the hands. The skirt was fashioned of two tiers of net and was extremely full. Satin flowers were applied on the net skirt and yoke. The bridal veil was finger-tip length held in place by a coronet of lace and the bride carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Hilda Moster of Gainesville was her sister's only attendant. She wore a blue orandy dress made with V-neckline, bracelet length sleeves, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her head-dress was a coronet of pink and blue flowers and her corsage was of pink gladioli.

George Moster, the bride's brother, was best man. Following the services the bridal party had breakfast at the apartment shared by the Moster sisters, Misses Louie and Hilda, and the bride. At noon immediate members of both families were guests at a dinner honoring the couple in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table carried out her chosen colors and was centered with a large, decorated cake. In the evening a wedding dance was given in the Lindsay hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hellinger are making their home in Gainesville where both are employed. She was born and educated in Muenster, moving to Lindsay with her parents about 9 years ago. For

PRESS DAY TRADITION AT FAIR REVIVED WITH ELABORATE PROGRAM

An honored State Fair of Texas tradition of a quarter of a century's standing will be revived at the 1946 State Fair in Dallas when newspapermen from over the entire state gather on opening day, Oct. 5, to celebrate Press Day. Andrew de Shong, chairman in charge of arrangements for the event, has reported.

He said that approximately 750 members of the press are expected to come to Dallas to attend this first State Fair Press Day since the outbreak of the war.

An outstanding event of this annual gathering will be the traditional luncheon, tendered by the State Fair Association, at which journalists gather to exchange news and views. Principal speaker for this year's luncheon will be Merriman Smith, United Press White House correspondent and author of the recent book success, "Thank You, Mr. President".

Entertainment attractions arranged for the day include an afternoon football game between Waxahachie High School and Dallas Tech and a night game between Southern Methodist University and Texas Tech. In addition, there will be a matinee and night performance of the Tommy Dorsey variety show, presentation of the Ice Cycles of 1946 and the Pat Hamilton rodeo, all of which will play host to the journalists.

Life Is So Cruel

A man was engaged to a girl who was so pretty that it seemed to him he was hardly worthy of her.

"Darling," he said one night shortly before the wedding, darling, I'm not much to look at, am I?"

"Oh, well," the girl replied, "you'll be out working all day."

Confetti--

The project, requiring a bond issue would be voted down by the people whose children could derive no benefit from it.

But under an agreement that the building is intended for both schools it could be built. Most parochial parents would consider it well worth the small additional tax, and they are the ones who will decide the issue.

So, for the good of the children in both schools it is urgent that parents of both schools carry on the same cooperative spirit that the children have started. The two systems need one another. The parochial system needs the other's taxing privilege. The public system needs the other's voting support.

In fact it's the only practical and fair way we have to do things around here. Practical because it provides facilities at prices we can afford. Fair because all families of whatever denomination would support the projects, hence all children should have a right to share in the benefits.
