By Janet Felderhoff

Several local vehicles have provided easy targets for theft. All were left unlocked. Muenster Police Chief Bob Stovall reported an attempted burglary, a stolen pickup, and three incidents of theft from unlocked vehicles.

Another burglary attempt made on the Muenster Pharmacy proved unsuccessful. Two suspects were apprehended after it was burglarized on Oct. 21. A trash can filled with pills taken in the burglary was recovered.

On Saturday, Nov. 7, another attempt took place around 10:58 p.m. According to Chief Stovall, they tried to force the front door open, but a bar recently installed prevented easy access. When Muenster police responded, the person or persons attempting to force the door open had left the scene.

Sometimes during the night hours of Nov. 6, a 1998 Dodge pickup left unlocked with the keys inside was stolen from 733 N. Elm Street. It was reported stolen at 6:51 a.m. Within the hour, Chief Stovall said that it was entered into the TCIC (Texas Crime Information Center) and the NCIC (National Crime Information Center). At this time it has not been recovered.

During the same night, two vehicles were entered. One was ransacked, but nothing taken. From the second, company checks and a small amount of cash were stolen.

He also reported that about two months ago, an unlocked vehicle was entered and a rifle taken.

Residents are warned to take it in, lock it up, and be aware. Report suspicious activity to police.

Muenster P.D. adds a third police officer

By Janet Felderhoff

Gary Amburn was hired to serve as the third officer on the City of Muenster's police force. The Department had been working short-handed for several months. His first day was Nov. 3.

Amburn is single and grew up in the Jefferson area.

He got his training at the Cedar Valley Police Academy College in Dallas and has been a certified officer since 1994. Prior to coming to Muenster, Amburn worked as Henderson County Constable, Linden Police Department as a canine officer for four years, for the Dallas Housing Authority, and most recently for the Cactus Police Department.

Some of the reasons that Amburn gave for becoming a police officer were, "It's not day to day stuck in the office. And I like helping people."

Amburn decided to take the job in Muenster because he likes the area and the hunting and fishing offered here.

"I like working with people," remarked Amburn. "Being a police officer gives you the opportunity to experience several different cultures and help the community."

Amburn's hobbies are hunting and fishing. He enjoys all types of hunting.

"I'm just glad to be here," said Amburn. "These are some of the easiest people I've ever worked for. The town is real friendly."

Flusche creates designs on CNC machine

By Janet Felderhoff

With the push of a button, Neal Flusche puts in motion a CNC (computer numerically controlled) plasma cutter capable of slicing designs from sheets of metal. The number of designs and what can be created from them seem unlimited.

"It's just limited to a person's imagination," Neal commented. "We can make almost any part for someone or we can do their art work. On a big thing, like several people's trailers, we don't actually build the trailer. We'll make a few parts on it, and them (customers) being able to have their name on it identifies it as their part and it customizes it."

As an example, he points out a fire truck for the Era Volunteer Fire Department. Neal said that there are several places where Era Volunteer Fire Department is written into it to customize it for them.

In May 2007, the CNC machine first became a part of Flusche Enterprises where Neal is co-owner with his uncles Tom and Jack Flusche. They bought the machine to make various parts needed in the machine shop and for a customer needing oil field parts. About a year ago, the oil business fell off and the parts were no longer being sought.

Needing some way to utilize the CNC machine, Neal took on the task of making some signs. He hung a sample along Hwy. 82, and soon people sitting at the red light saw it and called for signs. "We made a lot of ranch overhead signs, county road signs, 9-1-1 addressing, that type of stuff," he said. "The signs have been pretty popular. It's good for the Fire Department."

Neal, a Muenster volunteer fireman, explained that the firemen know the county roads, but not the house numbers so much. It can be confusing when there are several houses close together with no signs or very small signs. It is hard to know where to go when answering a call at night going down a dark road at 50 m.p.h.

People are even giving the address signs with a name as Christmas or birthday gifts.

Flusche Enterprises has always made branding irons for people. They had to heat the iron and bend it into the desired shape. Now Neal said he just types it into the CNC's computer and tweaks it to the customer's satisfaction. It is then cut on the CNC machine in a very short time.

Neal said that he's purchased several programs with images. He has four to five thousand images on those programs plus some that either he or his son Micah have designed.

"If someone needs a part, if they can give us a few basic dimensions, the computer will tell us a lot of the others," Neal explained. "Or, if you have an idea, I can draw it."

Drawings brought in by customers can be used. They usually require more time to key into the computer and are therefore more expensive. Camera-ready art is best because those that aren't have jagged edges and take a lot of time to clean up enough to make a good product.

After the design is cut from metal, it must be sanded to remove any rough areas. Then it is ready to be painted. This can be done in a number of ways. Often the customer chooses to paint it himself with a type of krylon paint. Neal has places that he takes the finished product to be painted. A powder coating can be applied at a Gainesville business and this, even though more expensive, should last a lifetime.

Being able to get more uses out of a sheet of metal is another plus for the CNC machine. What would once have been unusable and sold for scrap iron can now be used several times over as many smaller pieces are cut from it for various uses. This might be something as simple as washers. All different thicknesses can be cut by the machine.

The metal sheet from which a design will be cut is set on metal grates with a water filled pan underneath to catch the hot sparks. It can hold a sheet of metal measuring 5 feet by 10 feet. Larger signs can and have been made. According to Neal, the largest he's made was two feet tall and 35 feet long.

Neal, and anyone watching, puts on dark glasses to prevent welder burn to the eyes. With the design set in the computer, he sits near the sheet of metal and pushes buttons that put the CNC plasma cutter into action. Sparks fly as it cuts designs from a sheet of metal. Within a short time, the design is complete and all that remains to be done is sanding and painting, and putting the product to use as a sign or if it is a part then to use it to finish that project.

Drafting was a subject Neal took in high school from Rudy Koessler. He also took CAD at Cooke County College in 1985. "When I bought the machine, I was a little concerned about the computer end of it," recalled Neal. "The salesman asked me, 'Can you play Nintendo?' and I said I'd never played. He asked if I had a kid who played and I said I did. He said, 'Let him teach you.' It was pretty simple. It's just a matter of sitting down and start working with it."

A unique project that Neal is currently working on is a bench for himself and his wife Susan. It is all metal and all the parts were cut out on the CNC machine. Their last name is cut out of the metal in the back rest.

Asked what the most unusual or interesting thing he'd ever made was, Neal said it was a sign for the Four Winds Ranch which is owned by four brothers. The sign has four horses with their butts facing the road and their heads looking back toward the road. It was designed from a business card.

"There's nothing the same. Everybody wants a unique item," said Neal of the challenge of designing on the CNC machine. "Nobody wants the same thing over their gate entrance. Everything is a new challenge."

VFW Ladies Auxiliary honors Veterans

Muenster Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars to Post 6205 honored the Veterans of all wars on Wednesday, Nov. 11 with an 8 a.m. ceremony in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Auxiliary President Frances Bayer greeted everyone and thanked all the guests for attending. She gave a brief history behind Veterans Day, which began as Armistice Day to be celebrated on the 11th month, 11th day, at the 11th hour. It soon became Veterans Day which honors all Veterans because when the dead are honored, the living are also honored.

The Sacred Heart High School Choir under the direction of Clint Kelly began the ceremony with the singing of "America," before Auxiliary President Bayer and Post Junior Vice Commander John Roane led the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance.

President Bayer then placed a memorial wreath as Auxiliary Conductress Linda Knabe explained the significance of the colors of the wreath. She noted that red symbolizes the zeal of our departed comrades in upholding brotherhood, truth, and justice. The white flowers are a token of purity of our affection for them. The blue of our national standard symbolizes truth and loyalty. The color evergreen bespeaks life everlasting, that these men and women be immortalized in our hearts forever.

Mr. Kelly then sang "Amazing Grace." Fr. Ken offered prayers for the Veterans before invoking a blessing on all present.

President Bayer asked all Veterans who were present to step forward and be recognized. She also suggested that everyone seek out any Veterans and thank them for their service and dedication to our country. She then read A Soldier (Veteran) meets God in the morning before the choir closed with a beautiful rendition of "God Bless America."

Color bearers for the services were Dorothy Hesse and Lucille Hesse.

VFW Auxiliary meets

The Ladies Auxiliary VFW Post #6205 held their regular meeting, Monday, Nov. 16 in the Post Home with President Frances Bayer presiding. Chaplain Hilda Sicking, pro tem, led the opening prayer assisted by Conductress Linda Knabe and Patriotic Instructor Eleanor Felderhoff. The pledge to the flag followed. Roll call and minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary Ida Mae Bindel. Agnes Hesse gave the treasurer's report for Lucille Hesse.

The Bonham VA sent a list of items they can use for Christmas. Members voted to send one sweat suit. They also voted to send a donation to the Fisher House, a house where family members can stay while their Veteran is hospitalized.

President Bayer spoke about the various Veterans Day programs and expressed her appreciation for all who made them possible.

Members signed a birthday card, two get well cards, and 11 cards for local people in the military.

Donations made to the Auxiliary's fundraiser, In Lieu of Christmas Cards, can be addressed to Juanita Knabe, Box 474, Muenster, TX 76252.

Agnes Hesse served refreshments to nine members.

The next meeting will be Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m. Ladies are asked to bring a covered dish to share with the VFW members.

Delicious autumn! My very soul is wedded to it, and if I were a bird I would fly about the earth seeking the successive autumns.

CASA awards Art Contest prizes

CASA of North Texas awarded prizes for its Fourth Annual Art Contest. Prizes were awarded to, from left, Josiah Jones, Destiny Munoz, and Patricia Neusch. All three were presented art kits and certificates by District Judge Janelle Haverkamp, back. "We are so happy to recognize the very special pictures that were done for our contest. Choosing a winner for the contest was quite difficult," said CASA Director Vicki Robertson. "I think having Judge Haverkamp presenting the awards made it a very special time for the children. She took the time to give them a tour of her Court and explain how things work in the Courtroom. CASA will use the winning artwork to incorporate into our annual campaign. These young artists helped us to present what we do in a very sweet, visual way."

Laura Marshall, with some help from her husband Mike and their daughter Elizabeth, created a mural on the east wall of the Muenster Memorial Hospital patio. She was commissioned by the MMH Auxiliary to design a mural using verses from Ecclesiastes 3, and decided to do an outdoor scene with animals and a tree with the verses worked into its branches. The Auxiliary's goal with its ongoing patio project is to generate an area for patients and staff to get outdoors, relax, visit with family, or simply enjoy a change of scenery from the Hospital atmosphere.

Local students train at State Conference

Natalie Valliere and Logan Cheaney of Muenster High School were two of more than 500 members and advisors attending Family, Career and Community Leaders of America's (FCCLA) Peer Education Conference held Oct. 11-12, in Austin.

During the 10 hour state training event, the Chapter Peer Education Team members were provided in-depth information on the topic of their choice, Childhood Obesity. A registered dietitian and chef, Kim Granato, trained the students for their peer-to-peer outreach responsibilities. The state conference centered on learning what the role of peer educators is and examined issues facing youth: school violence, financial literacy, alcohol poisoning, childhood obesity, and environmental issues.

This powerful program certified attendees as peer educators and provided them with resources and materials to be successful when conducting their training.

Muenster Band to perform

On Thursday, Dec. 10 at 6 p.m., the Muenster Independent School District's Band program will present a Christmas Concert at the new Cafeterium. Grades 5 through 12 will perform Christmas songs and the public is invited free of charge. Refreshments will be served following the performance.

The Muenster Hornet Band Boosters are conducting a raffle of 16 prizes, including a $300 gift card from Cabelas and a weekend night stay at the Embassy Suites Outdoor World, among other great items! Tickets for the raffle are $1 each, or 6 for $5. They are on sale now until Dec. 7. You may purchase these tickets from any band member, who will be selling door to door in your neighborhood, or you may contact Susan Hermes at 759-4488 for tickets. Money accumulated from fundraisers are used to offset costs for band trips, events, concerts, and band instruments for the school.

Muenster ISD gets grant from ExxonMobil Corp.

Muenster High School has received a $750 grant from the ExxonMobil Educational Alliance program to support the school's Math and Science departments. John and Darla Pollard of Bayer's Kolonialwaren Exxon Station in Muenster worked with the school officials to secure the grant, which is one of 2,400 available to schools across the country served by Exxon or Mobil stations. The grants were made possible by funding from the Exxon-Mobil Corporation.

"Muenster High School works hard to make learning interesting and fun. They are striving to make it a school of higher education so that all students will have a chance to become successful adults, and they also genuinely care for all students' well being," said Darla. "As an Exxon retailer, I am proud to be able to help young people of this community."

The ExxonMobil Educational Alliance program is designed to provide Exxon and Mobil retailers with the opportunity to invest in the future of their communities through educational grants to neighborhood schools. ExxonMobil believes that, as members of the community, local retailers are best qualified to work with local educators to help identify schools and programs most in need of support.

Bayer's Kolonialwaren met stringent eligibility criteria before applying for and being awarded this grant, including having a commitment to provide a superior buying experience for customers. They are pleased to be able to help out the public school system and to have the opportunity to support the education of its students.

The Muenster Hornets traveled to Pottsboro last Friday to meet the Wolfe City Wolves in the Bi-District playoff game. It was the second time this season the teams took the field together and the fourth time in the past two years. Last season, Muenster defeated Wolfe City 33-26 in Bi-District. Last Friday, the Hornets were victorious 46-28.

"We did a really good job against a team that's familiar with us. We went out and made things different from our other games with them (Wolfe City). The boys were ready to play and did a great job," commented Coach Allen Cross. "Turnovers are a concern, but they are all fixable. It's amazing to turn over the ball that many times and score that many points. Twenty-eight points in the 1st quarter is a dominating start."

The Hornets scored on their first possession of the game on a 55 yard pass play from Levi Trubench to Eric Hellman. Aaron Flusche added the PAT for a 7-0 Muenster lead with 6:43 on the clock.

A minute later, Wolfe City fumbled the ball. Dalton Koelzer picked up the ball and returned it 70 yards for another Hornet touchdown. The PAT failed for a 13-0 score.

After the punt, Muenster was set on the 46 yard line. A Trubench to Garrett Walterscheid completion later, Wolfe City's attempt of a 28 yard field goal failed, and Muenster took the ball on the 20. The 1st half ended with another Muenster interception.

A 32 yard Luke kick return started the 3rd quarter, but the Hornets couldn't keep the drive going and punted. It was three plays and punt for the Wolves. Three Muenster plays and the Hornets lit up the scoreboard with a 65 yard Trubench to Hellman pass play. The PAT failed for a 34-13 score with 7:50 on the clock.

Muenster scored again after an interception by Scott Porter placed the Hornets 28 yards from paydirt. A Trubench to Luke pass put Muenster ahead 40-13.

The Hornets let up their guard and allowed Wolfe City a 57 yard TD run the next ball snap for a 40-20 score at the 6:20 mark. Four plays later, Wolfe City stole another interception and returned it 53 yards to close the scoring to 40-28 with 5 minutes still remaining in the 3rd quarter.

The Hornets got in seven plays and fumbled. The Wolves punted, then Muenster threw another interception. Two plays later, Eric Hellman covered a loose ball on the Wolfe City 30. The Hornets took advantage of the turnover A Trubench to Andy Flusche 30 yard pass play took the ball to the 1 yard line. At 9 minutes into the 4th quarter, Valliere man. Defense - Dillon Bayer and Jeremy Lutkenhaus. Special Teams - Steven Valliere.

Next Action

The Hornets will take on the Perrin-Whitt Pirates, District 15A Runner-up, who got a bye through the first round of the playoffs.

"We're a little familiar with them from scrimmage," noted Coach Cross. "We'll see a defense against us that is zone coverage." The Pirates primarily run the ball. "Anytime you get to the second round of the playoffs, you can expect a tough match-up."

Coach Cross wants to get to the third round to improve over last season's Area loss.

The game will be played in Springtown. Muenster will be the visiting team. Admission is $6 for adults, $4 for students, with a $3 parking fee.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Tigers take Trailblazers 31-8

District 1 Champions the Sacred Heart Tigers hosted Irving The Highlands Trailblazers last Friday in the first round of TAPPS Division IV Playoffs. When the final seconds clicked off the clock, the Tigers claimed the Bi-District Championship with a 31-8 victory over the Blazers.

"We started off with a very high tempo, created some breaks and took advantage of them," commented Coach Dale Schilling. "We had to score often and quick, so we jumped on them early as they stuck to their game plan."

The Tigers scored 21 points with only four offensive hikes of the ball. Sacred Heart had a total of nine plays in the first two periods, while The Highlands got in over 40, but no scores.

The Blazers took the opening kick, lost yards, and punted. The Tigers first play gained only a yard. The next play, Matt Hesse pitched the ball out to Greyson Evans. Evans gained 10 yards, then lateraled the ball to John Krawietz who ran 43 yards for the Tigers' first touchdown. Jae Kook Im added the extra kick for a 7-0 score with 8:59 on the clock.

The Tiger defense, led by Josiah Yosten and Hesse, forced a quick Blazer punt. A fumble the next snap gave the ball back to The Highlands, who moved to the Tiger 20. Josiah Yosten forced a Blazer fumble that was picked up by Hesse and returned 62 yards for 6 points. Im's PAT gave the Tigers a 14-0 lead with 1:44 remaining in the 1st quarter.

Tackles by Chad Henschel, Hesse, Kyle Knabe, and Garrett Berend, and a sack by J. Yosten forced a high, short, 7 yard punt, giving the Tigers possession at midfield to start the 2nd quarter. A Hesse to Krawietz pass was good for another 6 points with just seconds off the clock. Im added the extra point for a 21-0 score.

The teams exchanged punts, with flags calling back two big Highlands plays. A field goal attempt went wide for the Blazers as the 1st half came to a close.

The Tiger offense opened the 2nd half, but on the third play, the Blazers picked off a Tiger pass. A holding flag and tackles by Hesse, Berend, Krawietz, and Michael Davis forced a punt.

Starting on their 38, runs by Hesse, Clay Hogan, and Krawietz moved the ball to the Highlands 28. A Hesse to Krawietz pass put Sacred Heart a foot from the end zone. With 5:44 on the clock, Hogan charged in for the score. Im gave the Tigers a 28-0 lead.

The Blazers ran out of downs, the Tigers fumbled, then Davis intercepted before the beginning of the 4th quarter.

With just 5 seconds off the clock, Im booted a 42 yard field goal to give the Tigers a 31-0 lead.

The Blazers' next drive began at their 11 yard line. Eleven plays later, The Highlands scored on a 6 yard run. The extra points gave a 31-8 score with 4:39 remaining in the game.

The Tigers ran four plays and the Blazers five before the game ended.

Cumby crumbles against Knights 48-14

Twenty-eight points in the 3rd quarter sealed a 48-14 Bi-District victory for the Lindsay Knights last Friday at the expense of the Cumby Trojans.

Lindsay scored first, then allowed Cumby to take the lead before tying the game at halftime. The Knight defense held the Trojans scoreless in the 2nd half, allowing the offense to put 34 more points on the board.

"We started slower than we liked, but the 2nd half we picked it up and did really well. Hopefully we can carry that to the next game," commented Coach Cody Bounds.

Cumby took the opening kick. Four plays later, Frankie Cornett covered a loose ball. The Knights then fumbled the ball back to the Trojans who got in six plays and punted.

Starting on their own 20, the Knights moved downfield with runs by Ryan Haverkamp, Jordan Lane, and Josh Mueller, and a Dax Fleitman to Cornett pass, getting to the 1 yard line in eight plays. Haverkamp carried the ball across the goal line to put the Knights on the scoreboard with 2:40 on the clock. Travis Skinner added the extra point for a 7-0 score.

The Trojans took a dozen plays to tie the game 7-7, 2 minutes and 50 seconds into the 2nd quarter.

A flag kept Lindsay from getting a 1st down, punting. Six plays later, Cumby scored on a 56 yard run to take a 14-7 lead with 2:46 remaining in the 2nd period.

A penalty put the Knights on their 28 yard line after the kick. Fleitman passes to Lane and Madison Parkhill and runs by Mueller and Haverkamp moved the ball to the 5. Haverkamp made the last yards with Skinner adding the PAT to tie the game 14-14 with a minute on the clock. Cumby attempted a field goal that fell short as the 1st half ended.

The 3rd quarter was all Lindsay, beginning with the opening kick return, 75 yards by Mueller, to put the Knights back in the lead. Skinner booted the point after for a 21-14 score.

Cumby gained a yard and punted a 14 yarder to their 41 yard line. Haverkamp gained 6, Lane 7, then Cornett 24 to the 4 yard line. Haverkamp again carried the ball into the end zone and Skinner once more kicked the extra point to give the Knights a 28-14 lead with 8:42 on the clock.

Cumby got in seven plays, then ran out of downs at midfield. It took the Knights eight plays to find the end zone, an 11 yard pass from Fleitman to Cornett. Skinner's PAT gave Lindsay a 35-14 lead with 57 seconds remaining in the 3rd period.

But the Knights' scoring was not yet complete. Two plays later, Robert Arend intercepted a pass and ran it back 25 yards for another Knight touchdown. The PAT was good and Lindsay had a 42-14 lead with 38 seconds on the clock.

The teams exchanged possessions, Lindsay's ending with an interception. The Trojans took the ball inside the 10, but a 4th and goal play ended with a 17 yard loss and a 15 yard unsportsmanlike conduct call that moved the ball out to the 43 yard line. Four runs later, 48-14 after a 19 yard touchdown run by Mueller with 3:06 remaining in the game.

Cumby's offense played out the remaining time.

The winner will play the winner of the Munday-Bronte Area game.

The Knights will play at Birdville ISD Stadium in North Richland Hills. Lindsay will be the home team. Admission is $6 for adults and $4 for students. There will be a $2 parking fee.

Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m.

FARM & RANCH

COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by Wayne Becker

Plan ahead for potential disasters

The Small Business Association has some very relevant information concerning disaster preparedness for all businesses - Agriculture included! They recommend that you plan for the worst and hope for the best. In Cooke County, we are most likely to be affected by wildfires, tornados, or floods. Following are some suggested practices.

Wildfires

Maintain a 30 foot "combustible-free" zone around your facility.

Remove any trees and combustible material, such as brush.

Keep grass mowed and irrigated.

Consider the use of flame-resistant building materials when building or renovating.

Keep the roof and gutters clear of debris.

Attach non-flammable, fine-gauge screening over all chimneys.

Tornado

Assign one person to be responsible for monitoring weather alerts.

Establish interior, preferably basement, locations for employees to gather. Bathrooms, corners, and short hallways are safest.

Remember, a "watch" means a tornado could happen, and a "warning" means you should take immediate cover.

Keep surplus blankets in a shelter area.

Flooding

Check with your insurance agent on how to ensure adequate protection.

Reduce damage and ease clean up by building with flood-resistant materials.

Check with local authorities to find out the 100 year flood level of your structure.

Consider working with a licensed contractor to raise electrical and HVAC systems above the 100 year flood level.

el mark. Keep computers, electronics, and important files raised off the floor.

Consider working with a licensed plumber to install a back flow valve to prevent sewage backup.

During a time of disaster, equipment, property, and records are at risk. But even in times without natural disasters, man made disasters can cause havoc to our record keeping, especially those records on computers. The SBA makes some recommendations that are specific to this vital area of operation. For security of your records, it is advisable to document all processes that make your business run from answering the phones, to tracking finances, to distributing your product or service; develop a schedule for backing up all computer records; and keep current copies of all paper and computer files off-site and accessible.

Of course, we hope that disasters never strike. However, we know that they have in the past and that they probably will in the future. Fall and winter can be an excellent time for agricultural producers to set aside some time to complete some important disaster preparedness tasks.

Non-insurance assistance program deadlines

Chance Fenoglio, county executive director with the Farm Service Agency (FSA), has some important, time sensitive information for area agriculture producers of crops like pecans, native and improved pastures, small grain grazing, and forage crops. He says these crops are not insurable in Cooke County, but they are eligible for coverage under the non-insured assistance program (NAP), which does provide coverage equivalent to catastrophic (CAT) level of crop insurance. Application closing dates for pasture are approaching fast! All application deadlines are as follows: 2010 Crop - Sales Closing Date - Native/Improved Pastures - 12/1/09; Pecans - 3/15/10; Sorghum Forage/Grazing - 3/15/10.

Contact the FSA for more information or to make an appointment: (940) 668-7794 ext 2.

Dates to remember

Nov. 24 - Marketing Club Meeting, 7 p.m., Gainesville Farm Bureau Building.

Dec. 1 - NAP Filing Deadline with FSA for pastures.

Cattle thefts on rise in Texas

Standing on a hill scanning his herd below, David Hopson wonders how it all happened. It's as if the cows just vanished. No clues are evident: No fences cut, no tracks on the parched land. And with two longtime employees living on-site, the boost continues to baffle him.

"We came up 14 cows and two bulls short," Hopson said of one June morning. "That's basically a big gooseneck load of cattle. I just don't know how someone got that gooseneck load of cattle loaded up and hauled out of there without somebody seeing them."

In his hometown of Mound, cattle are a way of life. Barely a blip on the map, the small Coryell County community receives little notice from those passing through. But the area is beginning to gain attention for all the wrong reasons. It's become a target for cattle thieves.

Since the middle of summer, 40 head of cattle have been stolen within a five-mile radius of Mound.

It is the first case of cattle rustling Hopson has fallen victim to since the mid-1990s. A towering man with a quiet monotone voice, he is known for his generosity and willingness to help others.

"It just goes against our grain to have someone take something from us," Hopson says. "I've worked hard to put together what I have. I've never done anything in my life but work. To have someone come in and just help themselves to $30,000 worth of livestock...it kind of irritates me a little bit."

Beyond the money, Hopson says the worst part about the thefts is second guessing lifelong associates and knowing deep down "every one of them is fair and honest." He is not alone.

"We're in a real upswing right now," Marvin Wills, a special ranger with the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association (TSCRA) said. "In the last six months, our theft has really gone through the roof. It has to do with the economy, just like any other theft. Right now I'm really overwhelmed. I've got actually more than I can handle."

Wills covers eight counties around Waco, an area that is averaging about one cow stolen per day for the past 90 days. Thieves usually take 10 head or less at a time. The calls are constant.

"When did you notice them missing and what kind of brand was on them?" Wills asks over his cell phone while scribbling the information down.

The special ranger works closely with local law enforcement in tracking down cattle thieves, working as the task force for sheriff's offices, and serving as the eyes and ears out in the field, forming good relationships with those who can help crack the case.

Truth be told, cattle are a quick cash crop for those out there with sticky fingers. A midnight theft can turn into a fat wallet at a sale the next day.

When it comes to tracking down a missing bovine, a good brand is the best starting point. It works much like a car's license plate.

"Your first impression is the most important thing," TSCRA market inspector Ray Davis says while inspecting cattle at the auction barn in West. He moves through the barn, checking brands, earmarks, scratching them down only to enter them into a massive database moments later.

"A fresh brand is something that you're watching," he says pointing to a suspect bovine moving through the chute. "It may look funny, like somebody may have just taken that animal and put their brand on it. On your earmarks, if they chop an earmark off on the left or right side, that's a very conspicuous kind of a thing."

Davis constantly keeps an eye out for those red flags. In fact, a livestock sale cannot commence without a market inspector present. For Davis, it's a constant flow of on-the-job training as thieves become more creative.

He notes that cattle aren't the only thing disappearing these days. Equipment, saddles, and hay are also lifted.

TSCRA has the world's largest database on livestock which the special rangers can retrieve with a simple e-mail or phone call. If the cattle are marked, the recovery success rate is about 90%. Recovery is iffy without a brand.

"The majority of livestock producers in this area are small producers and they just don't mark their cattle," Wills says. "They don't brand them, they don't earmark them. They don't keep good records. So all they have is a black-faced cow that was stolen from Waco, Texas. Here today at West, there are probably 400 cows that meet that description."

Wills will tell you that a good crook is hard to catch and very few good cattle thieves ever slip up. Such is the case of the thief who stole Hopson's cattle. The rancher did everything that Wills says a good producer should do, starting with branding his herd. However, Hopson thinks his cattle weren't destined for the auction barn.

"I have an idea that my 14 black cows are somewhere raising 14 calves today," he says.

Punishment for such crimes increased in the 81st legislative session. In the past, it wasn't considered a felony if a person stole less than 10 head of cattle. That would put thieves right back on the street, free to steal again, and they did. Today, taking one or 100 head will stick you with a third-degree state jail felony.

That's good news to Hopson. But both he and Wills know cattle rustling will continue.

"I think punishment for most crimes is not harsh enough. I think more punishment would be a deterrent. There doesn't seem to be much consequence for misbehavior and for theft, specifically. Years ago when they found a cattle rustler, they strung him up in a tree. I think if that were true today it would solve some of this," Hopson says chuckling.

But for Hopson, Wills, and cattlemen across the Lone Star State, cattle theft is no laughing matter.

Study: No link exists between processed meat, brain tumors

A study published in the September issue of the American Journal of Clinic Nutrition found no data to suggest that consumption of processed meats is related to the development in adults of a certain type of brain tumor, called glioma.

The study, by five researchers in London and at Harvard, notes that the risk of glioma has anecdotally been related to exposure to nitrosamine for decades. Ni-trosamine develops in the body in relationship to intake of nitrite and nitrate, often used in the production of processed meats such as bacon, but also ubiquitously found in the environment.

The researchers examined data from three U.S.-based studies, which were combined for the analysis. They looked at 335 cases of glioma and compared it to the subjects' diet, based on self-reported information, and the corresponding levels of nitrate, nitrite, and nitrosamine.

The study found that the risk of glioma was not elevated among those who ate the most processed meats compared with those who ate the least. Furthermore, the consumption of vitamins C or E, or other antioxidants, did not have a measurable modification of the risk.

The study was supported by a grant from the National Cancer Institute, National Institutes of Health, and the Department of Health and Human Services.

TDA market recap

For the week ending Nov. 14, feeder cattle prices at Texas auctions were mostly $2 to $4 lower per hundredweight with a few locations steady and some $6 lower. Declining fed cattle and higher grain prices pressured markets. Fed cattle prices fell by nearly $3 on lower beef prices and lighter processor demand for the upcoming holiday week.

Soil moisture remains in mostly short to adequate supply statewide.

Corn was 97% harvested and grain sorghum harvest was 76% complete. The state's winter wheat crop was 87% planted, behind the normal 92% and was reported in mostly fair to good condition. Cooler temperatures slowed forage growth in many areas and pastures were reported in mostly good to fair condition.

RRC production statistics and allowables for October 2009

The Texas average rig count as of Sept. 18 was 378, representing about 39% of all active land rigs in the United States. In the last 12 months, total Texas reported production was 347 million barrels of oil and 7.6 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. Texas natural gas production represents approximately 29% of total U.S. natural gas demand.

The Commission's estimated final production for July 2009 is 29,377,764 barrels of crude oil and 607,345,116 Mcf (thousand cubic feet) of gas well gas.

The Commission derives final production numbers by multiplying the preliminary July 2009 production totals of 27,292,609 barrels of crude oil and 512,743,872 Mcf of gas well gas by a production adjustment factor of 1.0764 for crude oil and 1.1845 for gas well gas. These production totals do not include casinghead gas or condensate.

Texas natural gas storage reported to the Commission for August 2009 was 423,074,268 Mcf compared to 261,329,689 Mcf in August 2008. The September 2009 gas storage estimate is 433,945,523 Mcf.

The Texas Railroad Commission's Oil and Gas Division set initial October 2009 natural gas production allowables for prorated fields in the state to meet market demand of 15,675,734 Mcf (thousand cubic feet). In setting the initial October 2009 allowables, the Commission used historical production figures from previous months, producers' demand forecasts for the coming month, and adjusted the figures based on well capability. These initial allowables will be adjusted after actual production for October 2009 is reported.
