

Weather causes water line break

Freezing conditions earlier this week caused problems for City workers, including a busted water line on Main Street in front of Doc's. Police Chief Bob Stovall noticed water running down the street and notified City Hall. Workers took a day and a half to repair the line.

Chamber Banquet features Billy Cate as entertainment

By Janet Felderhoff

Muenster Chamber of Commerce has announced that its annual banquet is slated for Saturday, Jan. 30 in the Community Center. A wine tasting with cheese, sponsored by Weinhof Winery and Arché winery, begins at 6 p.m. A meal catered by Rohmer's Restaurant follows at 7 p.m.

This year, singer, songwriter, musician, and actor Billy Cate is providing the evening's entertainment. The Texas native uses his soothing baritone voice to sing mellow country songs, traditional cowboy favorites, and to yodel.

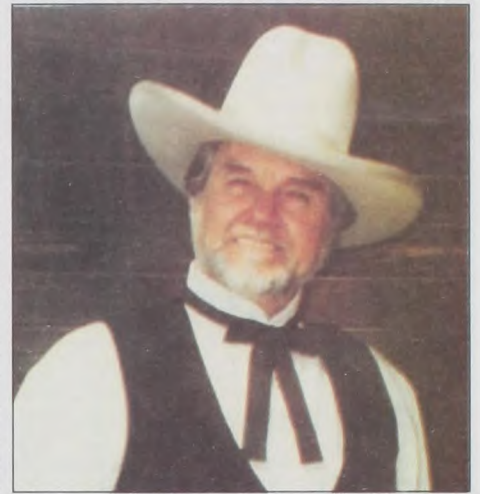

When he was about eight years old, Cate learned to sing and play his Gene Autry guitar with a song book purchased for a quarter. He enjoyed entertaining his schoolmates. His cowboy heroes included Gene Autry, Roy Rogers, Hopalong Cassidy, Tom Mix, Lash LaRue, and the Durango Kid.

Cate built his career singing at clubs and private parties throughout the Southwest United States. He and his wife Carolyn created their own western setting in Chisolm Western Town, which they built along the Old Chisolm Trail in Central Texas near Cleburne.

Businesses and organizations are again invited to take part in a Table Decorating Contest. Three prizes will be awarded in the People's Choice division. First Place winner receives $150 in Muenster Marks, Second Place - $100, and Third Place - $50. A panel of judges will select their favorite and that table receives $150 in

Bidding process begins on Muenster Lake boat ramp

By Janet Felderhoff
Advertising for bids to build a two-lane boat ramp at the Muenster Lake began this week. Ads seeking bids are being published in newspapers and their websites.

According to Muenster Water District Board Vice President Dwayne Rohmer, there was a delay getting a review for American Disability Act (ADA) compliance by an independent consultant. The ADA compliant parking spaces were modified from the original plans and moved slightly from the original plans. Since those changes are finalized, the project can get underway. It was requested that light pole installation and underground burial of electrical service be complete prior to commencement of dirt work. Rohmer said that he expects installation of underground electrical work to begin this week unless weather deters it.

There will be a bid conference and site visit for potential bidders on Tuesday, Jan. 19. Interested persons will meet at City Hall at 10 a.m. The bids will be opened on Friday, Jan. 29 at 5 p.m. in City Hall.

Plans include a two-lane boat ramp with a courtesy boarding dock centered between the two lanes, similar to the design at Lake Ray Roberts. The parking lot will include 39 tow-vehicle/trailer spaces and two ADA compliant parking spaces.

The number of parking spaces was determined by Texas Parks and Wildlife Boating Access Grant requirements which required a minimum of 20 parking spaces per boat ramp lane. The ADA compliant parking spaces will be located near the restrooms.

Rohmer noted, "Funding for restrooms was not approved on this grant cycle, but a request for funding can still be made if money is remaining from the boat ramp/parking lot phase. A recreation grant application for the restrooms is pending if this grant cycle does not provide the needed funds." The boat ramp/parking lot

Ducks enjoy break in icy cold

Last week's below average temperatures left their icy fingerprints lingering in the area days after the temperatures rose above 32 degrees. Man and beast shivered outdoors. Water froze solid in many stock tanks and ponds, making it difficult for animals to get to their normal water source. In the photo taken Wednesday, resident ducks are seeking food on Weinzapfel Lake in a small area where the ice finally melted. Most of the lake remained frozen even though daytime temperatures were in the 50s. An Arctic Blast arrived the night of Jan. 6, dropping temperatures below freezing where they remained until Saturday when they barely rose above 32. At its extreme, night temperatures dipped into the single digits on Thursday, reaching the lowest recorded in several decades. When the sun set, the temperatures settled into teens or 20s until the night of Jan. 13. Snow that fell on Christmas Eve can still be seen in ditches and other areas where it had piled up.

Muenster Elementary achieves TEBC Honor

The Texas Business & Education Coalition (TEBC) Honor Roll is the most prestigious award for sustained, academic excellence in Texas. It recognizes schools that have demonstrated three years of consistent, high performance in all subjects compared to other schools serving similar student populations. TEBC Honor Roll schools have the highest percentage of students performing at the state's most rigorous standard - commended - in every subject.

The staff and students at Muenster Elementary have earned a place on the Honor Roll through hard work and student achievement over an extended period of time. "The faculty, staff, students, and parents of Muenster Elementary are honored to be included in this very select group," remarked Muenster Elementary Principal Lou Heers.

Muenster Elementary School received the 2009 TEBC Honor Roll Award at a reception in San Antonio. Accepting the award there were, from left, Dianne Endres, third grade teacher, Elementary Principal Lou Heers, and Deb Klement, fourth grade teacher.

Muenster KCs honored by Commissioners Court for 100th Anniversary celebration

By Janet Felderhoff

On Monday, Jan. 11, Cooke County Commissioners Court declared Jan. 16, 2010 as Muenster Knights of Columbus Day in Cooke County. The Court signed a petition that was read by Precinct #4 Commissioner Leon Klement, a KC member, and said the Muenster Knights of Columbus chapter was formed on Jan. 16, 1910 and has served the community and area for 100 years. The original organization had 45 Catholic men as members and now numbers over 300. The Muenster Knights of Columbus donate money, time, money, and services to the Youth Council of Muenster, Girl and Boy Scouts, Youth Ministry, ABBA Women's Center, as well as awarding scholarships to local students.

The proclamation concluded, "The Court congratulates the Muenster Knights of Columbus Council and thanks them for their 100 years of inspiring spirit, dedicated works, and overwhelming generosity to our citizens."

Commissioners Court also considered a request to change the location of the Cooke County Sheriff's Office sales. These sales were held on the steps of the County Courthouse until that building was closed in preparation of its restoration. It was voted to hold those sales under the awning of the building (courthouse annex) now housing the County Courts and several offices.

County Judge John Roane explained, "The reason that they asked to do this was because of the cramped space in front of the annex. Also, during inclement weather, they only have the awning to get under, plus there are times when you have conflicts with jury selection days and that sort of thing." It was requested to move the sales to the Sheriff's office under an awning near the main entry. This was in reference only to the Sheriff's sales, not the foreclosure sales.

Judge Roane made a motion to approve the request.

Even though the County Attorney's office gave the opinion that it would be legal to approve the move, Precinct #1 Commissioner Gary Hollowell commented that the reference material from the County Attorney's Office seemed to contradict that decision. Commissioner Klement agreed. It seemed

Henry Voth, Jr. 1933 - 2010

Mass of Christian Burial for Henry Anthony Voth, Jr., age 76 of Lindsay, was held at 10 a.m., Monday, Jan. 11 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster, with Fr. Ken Robinson officiating. Burial followed in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Services were directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Henry died at 9:45 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 7, 2010 at North Texas Medical Center in Gainesville.

A Rosary service was held at 4 p.m. Sunday, followed by a Vigil at 7 p.m., both led by Fr. Ken and both at the funeral home.

Born Dec. 22, 1933 in Gainesville, the son of Henry and Catherine Trubenbach Voth, Henry Jr. lived all his life on a farm north of Lindsay. Henry was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Lindsay. He spent most of his life farming and ranching. He was noted for doing all his repair work, both automotive and farm equipment. Henry loved woodwork, and in fact, made many pieces of furniture, some of which remain in his home.

Some of Henry's favorite things to do were hunting, fishing, woodworking, and playing dominoes (especially 42 and 84). He really enjoyed his farm work and working with his cattle.

Henry was a loving family man, who enjoyed being with his children and grandchildren.

Survivors include his daughters and spouses Mary Ann and Bill Friddell of Gainesville, Sharon and George Luke of Carrollton, and Doris Voth of Plano; sons and spouse Ernest Voth, Glenn and Sheryl Voth, and L.W. Voth, all of Gainesville; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; sisters Ella Mae Rohmer and Gloria Becker, both of Muenster.

He was preceded in death by his wife Della Rose and his parents.

During the funeral Mass, the First Reading was given by granddaughter Melissa Friddell. Granddaughter Krista Luke gave the Second Reading. Prayers of the Faithful were read by granddaughter Morgan Luke. Offerory gifts were carried to the altar by grandchildren. Presented along with the bread and wine, were items representing Henry's life and interests: a tractor, a bale of hay, cattle figurine, and a bag of pecans. Eucharistic ministers were son-in-law George Luke, Terri Luke, Theresa Mae Walterscheid, Viola Rohmer, and Diane Grewing.

Music ministers were Isaac Davis, pianist, and Christy Hesse and Linda Flusche, vocalists. Sacred songs included "On Eagles Wings," "Precious Lord, Take My Hand," "Just a Closer Walk," "On the Wings of a Snow White Dove," "Softly and Tenderly," and "Amazing Grace."

L.W. Voth, son, gave the eulogy. He remembered his dad as "a very unique to old fashioned kind of man. He believed in a hard day and a half work... he loved the farm, the smell of freshly plowed dirt... He loved to give his grandchildren tractor rides, feed cows with them, go fishing, or show them how to pick rocks."

"Dad had the biggest but gentlest hands of any man I know... I've seen him dig post holes by hand faster than a post hole digger, haul hay, scoop grain..."

Henry Voth, Jr.

"I remember many a nights cuddled up and watching John Wayne with him like it was yesterday. He loved John Wayne movies... you'd think 'We're burnin' daylight' was Henry Voth's line..."

Pallbearers were Ryan Luke, Justin Friddell, Jacob Voth, Paul Becker, Gene Rohmer, and Arnold Fuhrmann.

Letter to The Editor:

While opening my mail one day, I came upon a letter directed to Dr. Elaine Schilling DDS and thought that it was remittance from a patient. Upon reading the sender's address, I was surprised to see it was sent from Don Lehnertz of Spokane, Washington! Don Lehnertz is the ninth of 10 children born to the late Joe and Agnes Lehnertz of Muenster. Don was raised in Muenster, leaving for the Spokane, Washington area to open the Longhorn Barbeque Restaurant business with several of his brothers. As I found my letter opener and began reading, it was clear why he had contacted me. Don had enclosed a newspaper article that reminded me of the challenges we face in keeping not only Muenster but also the state of Texas litter free. I thought it would be good to share with the Muenster readers.

Mr. Lehnertz receives the Muenster Enterprise and understood through his reading that I was president of Keep Muenster Beautiful. He thought of me one morning while reading The Spokesman-Review, his local morning paper, and thought I would enjoy the story. The front-page photo and article was about a local woman by the name of Linda Buob. Linda is a 69-year-old crusader against litter! She has adopted a stretch of open road along U.S. Highway 195. What makes her newsworthy is that she has been known to write to people whose names appear on the litter and scold them. The Department of Transportation got a taste of Linda's intensity after she picked up the DOT's construction plans left along the roadside and returned them to the office with her personal recommendations.

Linda is motivated to keep her community clean and adds it's good exercise, too. She states, "The litter in our state is atrocious. I get so frustrated" but she continues on because she loves her country, and loves the state of Washington.

Linda Buob is making a difference and so are the Keep Muenster Beautiful (KMB) volunteers. KMB is gearing up for the 2010 Governor's Community Achievement Award (GCAA) worth $90,000 to the City of Muenster. Let's remember the story about Linda Buob and what one person can do and then let's do it together!

County candidates receive training

Just a thought

A birth certificate shows that we were born.

A death certificate shows that we died.

Pictures show that we lived!

Just because two people argue, doesn't mean they don't love each other.

And just because they don't argue, doesn't mean they do love each other.

Our background and circumstances may have influenced who we are, but we are responsible for who we become.

Fletcher featured speaker at Jan. 6 Kiwanis meeting

Members of the Muenster Kiwanis organization meet each Wednesday at noon in The Center Restaurant. They generally have a speaker scheduled, which is published in the two-week Events Calendar on the inside front page of the paper. All are welcome to attend.

On Jan. 6, Ray Fletcher, Cooke County emergency management coordinator/fire marshal, informed the Kiwanis of the many programs and advice they have in place to assist and educate the residents of the County. The following is a list of the topics covered and how to go about participating:

CERT (Community Emergency Response Team) training is available for individuals or groups. Focus is on preparing to help your family, neighbors, and community. Training includes: First Aid, Utility Safety, Disaster Psychology, CERT Organization, Fire, Terrorism, and Search and Rescue. Call Cooke County Office of Emergency Management at 668-5400 if interested.

Code Red is a telephone notification system used to notify residents of an emergency. Could be for a hazardous material spill, lost infant or elderly person, boil water order, evacuation, or other situation based on the nature of the emergency. To register for Code Red go to the Cooke County website <http://www.co.cooke.tx.us>

National Weather Service SkyWarn weather spotter training will be held on the 10th of February at the Gainesville Civic Center, 7 - 9pm. Open to the public. The better trained and aware the public is about severe weather, the better the reports received which hopefully will reduce fear and panic with understanding.

Cold weather safety - Make sure vehicles are prepared and you carry food and warmth supplies during the winter. Space heaters need to be used sparingly and monitored at all times. Follow the directions!

2009 was odd mix of weather

Weather in the year 2009 has been unusual. Some areas had three hailstorms in the spring. A downburst in early summer damaged trees and buildings. Fall weather was particularly mild, with the first freeze not coming until late November. October was wet, November saw little rain, and December brought three snowfalls within two weeks. A snowstorm on Christmas Eve caused snowdrifts up to six feet on roads halting traffic for a time. Some of that snow is still lingering in large drifts that didn't melt despite rain and above freezing temperatures. The official moisture measurement for Muenster is recorded and reported by Carol Vogel. She measured 8 inches of snow and 1 inch of liquid snow in December.

Supreme Court candidates speak

Four candidates for the Texas Supreme Court participated in a Judicial Candidates' Forum sponsored by the Cooke County Republican Women on Thursday, Jan. 7. Dianne Helms, vice-president-programs, introduced the candidates, who will appear on the ballot in the March 2 Primary.

Judge Vela is running for Place 9 on the Court. Her only opponent in the primary is Eva Guzman, who was appointed by Governor Rick Perry in October 2009, after the resignation of Justice Scott Brister.

Judge Debra Lehrmann, Judge Jim Moseley, and Judge Rick Strange are three of the six Republicans running for the Place 3 open seat as a result of Justice Harriett O'Neill's decision not to seek reelection. Justice Rick Green, another candidate for Place 3, who

Bob Dylan gospel concert set for Jan. 18

Tex Zimmerman and His All Star Revue will present a concert of the gospel music of Bob Dylan on Jan. 18 at the First State Bank Center for the Performing Arts at North Central Texas College.

The music begins at 7 p.m. and is free of charge. Donations will be accepted for NCTC music scholarships.

The performance ensemble was formed in the spring of 2009 and is dedicated exclusively to the music of Bob Dylan. Its founder, UNT jazz professor Mike Steinel, leads the group using the stage name Tex Zimmerman.

According to Steinel, the group's repertoire is drawn from all of Dylan's musical career that has spanned five decades. "We play songs from all the various phases of his career including acoustic folk, folk rock, hard rock, rockabilly, gospel, country swing, and everything in between," he said.

The concert will focus on Dylan's gospel songs, and Steinel acknowledges that saying Bob Dylan and gospel music in the same sentence may sound strange to some. He pointed out, however, that Dylan actually recorded three gospel albums after shocking the world by converting from Judaism back in the early 1980s.

"Yes, Bob Dylan is quirky and controversial," Steinel said, "but nobody disputes his musical genius, and he continues to enjoy both critical and popular success, as evidenced in recent years by numerous Grammy Awards including an 'Album of the Year,' an Oscar for best song and, in 2008, a Pulitzer Prize."

The concert is open to the general public at no charge, and seating is not reserved.

It has been well documented that when people monitor their behavior and measure how they're doing, they are often inspired to do better and achieve positive results.

The program is based on the performance of 10 recommended practices that you can do on a daily basis: five involve health and nutrition, and five involve financial management. Doing even one of the 10 recommended daily practices is a great way to get started on the path to better health and improved financial security.

Muenster Elementary Students visit St. Richard's Villa

In December, Muenster Elementary Student Council held a personal items drive for the residents of St. Richard's Villa. Things like crossword puzzles, old movies, board games, body wash, and slippers were collected by Student Council members. Not only did the Student Council members get to play "Santa" for the day, they also enjoyed spending time with the residents. FARM & RANCH

Estate tax viewed as big ag issue of 2010

The estate tax will be one of the big issues in Congress for farmers and ranchers in 2010, according to Mark Maslyn, executive director of public policy for the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF).

"The exemption levels at the end of 2009 were $3.5 million per household. In 2010 that has gone away. The estate tax has expired," Maslyn said in an AFBF Newswire interview. "However, leadership in Congress and the administration are opposed to keeping it dead, and it will come back to life in 2011, but it will do so in a way that encompasses far more people than it previously affected; a $1 million per household exemption. And that's going to cover a lot more people, particularly in agriculture."

Farm Bureau continues to advocate repeal of the estate tax, maintenance of stepped-up basis, and action to provide certainty for estate tax planning.

AFBF backs HR 3905, the Estate Tax Relief Act of 2009, introduced by Reps. Kevin Brady (R-Texas), Shelley Berkley (D-Nev.), Artur Davis (D-Ala.), and Devin Nunes (R-Calif.).

The bill phases in a $5 million exemption and 35% top rate over 10 years while preserving stepped-up basis, according to Maslyn.

Also for 2010, trade issues should draw more attention and Congress will likely pass new food safety laws, Maslyn said.

Farm Bureau will also be urging Congress to slow down the creation of new climate change rules and other environmental regulations.

Maslyn also said farmers and ranchers can expect more activity from animal rights activists in 2010.

Food prices fall in final quarter of 2009 year

As Texans look ahead to what the New Year may hold, food prices should be one less of a concern than they were a year ago.

Food prices on the 16 items sampled across the Lone Star State rang in at $50.29 in the final quarter of the year, having fallen 17 cents, on average, since the last informal survey conducted three months ago. The survey also found that fourth quarter prices had fallen $1.68, on average, from Texas Farm Bureau's first Grocery Price Watch conducted at the start of 2009.

The current survey was conducted during the week of Dec. 13-19 by 22 volunteer shoppers all across Texas.

Shoppers of dairy goods picked up some of the largest savings of the quarter, the latest survey shows, with cheddar cheese falling an average of 78 cents, and ice cream falling an average of 48 cents. Whole milk, however, was up 39 cents.

Other items noting price declines in the final quarter of 2009 included turkey slices, down 41 cents to $4.45 per 16-ounce package; corn flakes, down 27 cent; grapefruit, down 17 cents; cake mix, down 14 cents to $1.14 per box; bread, down eight cents to $2.12 per 24-ounce loaf; and porterhouse steaks, down a nickel to $8.28 per pound.

The largest single cost increase came in the price of boneless pork chops, up 52 cents to $3.56 per pound. Other increases included lettuce, up 51 cents to $1.58 per head; tomatoes, up 42 cents to $1.78 per pound; dried pinto beans, up 18 cents to $3.93 per 64-ounce bag; and lean ground beef, up two pennies to $2.62 per pound.

Rice, $1.12 per pound, and boneless, skinless chicken breasts, $3.17 per pound, saw no change.

Muenster's wet, winter freeze

Moisture from inches of rain and several snowfalls will be a muddy mess, as the recent freezing temperatures warmed up into the 50s this week and rain showers are in the forecast. Pictured is water frozen after seeping out of the ground forming a frozen puddle of ice. Janie Hartman photo

SURE sign County Agent Report

Beginning Jan. 4, producers who incurred crop losses for the 2008 crop year can sign up for the Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments program (SURE). Eligible growers can apply for the program at their local U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) county office.

SURE, a program of the 2008 Farm Bill, provides assistance in an amount equal to 60% of the difference between the SURE farm guarantee and total farm revenue. The farm guarantee is based on the amount of crop insurance and Non-insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) coverage on the farm. Total farm revenue takes into account the actual value of production on the farm as well as insurance indemnities and certain farm program payments.

Will cold weather reduce insect populations?
I have heard the comment made that this cold weather should, at least, help minimize the insect problem next year. That may be true...but before you get your hopes up, you should know some of the facts. Despite very cold temperatures recently, it is probable that many insects will survive and will be poised and ready to impact landscapes and crops this coming Spring and Summer.

Many factors influence the ability of insects to survive the winter. According to HYPERLINK "http://web.extension.uiuc.edu/macombcenter/staff/ortizrib.html" Loretta Ortiz-Ribbing, Ph.D., Extension specialist for crop systems in Illinois, the individual nature and life cycle of each insect determines its susceptibility.

Predicting the influence of cold weather on insects is nearly impossible. Too many factors like pest biology, temperature, food availability, and moisture make predicting insect demise impossible. Some insects have skills that help them to avoid temperature extremes, like burrowing deeper into the soil or buffering themselves inside plants. Some migrate.

Insects that are unable to avoid cold weather have two mechanisms for surviving its effects. The first is that insects are cold-blooded and do not regulate their own temperature. The other mechanism insects have for tolerating cold weather is to go into a state of hibernation. Insects stop moving when they are cold, and as long as they don't freeze solid, most can wait until temperatures warm back up and then continue doing whatever they were doing.

Finally, in some cases, the cold does hamper the survival of insects. The bad news is that insects that are affected by the cold often have a very fast reproduction rate, so the few that do live will bring the population back to sustainable levels quickly.

If insects do become a problem for you, you can do something to control them. Learn about the biology of pests you frequently encounter, learn how to monitor for them, evaluate pest densities throughout the year, and make treatment decisions based on established treatment thresholds where available.

Cold stress on cattle
Wind, cold, mud, rain, and snow all take their toll on cattle. The more stressful the weather, the more energy is required just for maintenance purposes. When cattle are cold, nearly all the systems of the body are stressed. Muscles shiver, the heart beats faster, breathing becomes deeper, urine flow is increased, and energy expenditures are increased, resulting in heat production. This results in an increase in the cow's requirements for energy.

Cattle do best with mild temperatures. When the weather is either too hot or too cold, stress sets in. For cold weather feeding requirements, the wind chill should be factored in, as well as other factors such as if the cattle are wet. In general, studies have indicated that for every one degree below the critical temperature (60°F when wet; 32-45°F with Dry Fall to Winter coat; 19°F with Dry, mid-Winter Coat) a cow's energy requirement (TDN) increases 1%. It is also estimated that for every 10 degrees below the critical temperature, the digestibility of the ration decreases by 1%. This means that when the temperature drops below the critical temperature the cattle need to be fed better. More and/or better hay usually needs to be fed.

Steve Boyles, OSU Beef Extension specialist, and Jeff McCutcheon, Knox Co., ANR agent, have suggested the following Example of Effect of Temperature on Energy Needs and the resulting extra energy required:

| Effective Temperature | Extra TDN needed | Extra Hay needed (lbs./cow/day) | (or) Extra grain needed (lbs./cow/day) |
|-----------------------|------------------|---------------------------------|--|
| 50F | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| 30F | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| 10F | 20% | 3.5 - 4 lbs. | 2 - 2.5 lbs. |
| -10F | 40% | 7 - 8 lbs. | 4 - 6 lbs. |

Of course it is always advisable to test forages for nutrient content to be certain that cattle are receiving required amounts of energy. Also, monitor cattle for body condition score to avoid reproductive complications. More information can be obtained at: HYPERLINK "https://agrilifebookstore.org/" or HYPERLINK "http://www.extension.org/beef%20cattle/"
