

MMH notes increase in patient numbers

By Janet Felderhoff

Members of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board of Directors voted at the May 18 meeting to retain the same officers as the previous year. Kenny Klement remains Board president, Ronnie Weinzapfel, vice-president, and John Aytes, secretary.

Neither John Aytes or James Walterscheid, who begin new three-year terms on May 1, were present at the meeting. Aytes took his oath of office earlier, said MMH Administrator Lynn Heller. Walterscheid will take his later.

Statistics for the month of April showed a combined average daily census of 11.77. "That's the highest we've had this fiscal year," remarked Administrator Heller. "That's a pretty good volume in light of the decrease in average length of stay for swing bed patients. We've had a substantial decrease in that average."

In answer to a query from Board member John Aytes on the reason for the decrease, Heller responded, "It's just the mix of the patients that we're seeing now. A lot of people think that we primarily take care of nursing home patients and that's not true. We take care of primarily people who have gone to have knee surgery, or hip surgery, or all kinds of things. They don't want to go to the nursing home for their rehab. They want to be here where they get better and go home. In the mix of that, we have people who might come in and stay for just a short stay and get some rehab and then go home. Just a few of those can skew your average quite a bit."

The percent of occupancy for April was 65.37%. After reconvening from executive session, the Board unanimously voted to accept Dr. Ann Hood's proposal to develop a Wellness/Fitness Program.

In other business, the MMH Board:

- Approved the Medical Staff's recommendation of granting hospital courtesy privileges to Elaine Schilling, DDS, Joseph Barns, M.D., and John Lewis, M.D., and ancillary privileges to Melissa Trubench, FNP-C.
- Approved Bad Debt Write-offs totaling $74,995.30 for the month of April.
- Heard that the sale of St. Richard's Villa is still on schedule for June 1.
- Heard that four David Bright Scholarships and one Dr. Josh Phillips Scholarship have been awarded for the coming school year.
- Approved change orders for the Phase III construction project which is still going well.
- Saw Quality Assurance report from Diane Neu, RN, BSN that on May 5, the MMH Family Health Clinic underwent a Texas Health Steps Program Primary Care Case Management (PCCM) survey. A score of 88% was received with no corrective actions to complete.

Muenster hires coach, band, and UIL leaders

By Janie Hartman

The Muenster ISD Board of Trustees took only 25 minutes last Wednesday, May 26 to officially approve three District contracts.

The Board approved a two year, 12 month, probationary dual assignment contract for Brady Carney as athletic director, teacher/coach for the 2010-11 and 2011-12 school years.

Carney comes to Muenster from Lindsay with four successful years as football offensive coordinator and boys track coach. He has been teaching and coaching for eight years. He grew up in Collinsville and is already on the job. Carney, his wife, and two young children presently live in Sanger.

"I believe we found the best coach for the kids, the school, and the community," commented Muenster ISD Superintendent Clay Richerson.

The Board also approved a one year, 11 month, probationary contract for Joshua Skipper as band director for the next school year. Skipper has been with Chico ISD the past four years, developing a successful band program in both concert and marching. Besides band director, he will teach elementary music.

Final business was the contract approval of Leigh Hale as the UIL director/teacher for the 2010-11 school year. Hale taught in Muenster 17 years as an elementary science teacher before teaching in Lindsay for the past four years. She'll return as UIL coordinator for the Muenster district.

"Hopefully she will help beef up the UIL academics in Muenster," said Richerson. "We'll work on what we do (here at MISD) and try to get better every year."

Muenster ISD graduates urged to seek work they enjoy

By Janet Felderhoff

Commencement exercise for the Muenster ISD Class of 2010 was held on Friday, May 28 in the Muenster Hornet Gymnasium. Graduating seniors entered to "Pomp and Circumstances"

Graduates of 2010 are Jadi Daun Abner, Antonio Joseph Acuna, Jr. Ashley Nicole Archer, Matthew Allen Bain, Aaron Nathaniel Bayer, Amanda Lee Dangelmayr, Winter Diane Ditt-

Jadi Abner gave the invocation. Muenster High School Counselor Kristi Schneider introduced members of the Board of Trustees and administration. Shaina Felderhoff then introduced Eric Hellman, Class Salutatorian.

Eric welcomed everyone present to witness their final moments as high school students. He commented, "Tonight is about remembering what we have done in the past, and preparing to begin the next chapter in the book of life."

Games of Robin Hood played in elementary school, occasional arguments quickly forgotten, getting along well with teachers, class sweet talkers and the advantages they could sometimes gain, and time spent talking with Mrs. Schneider were a few of the memories he recalled.

"The teachers and staff truly are the reason to our success," Eric noted. He added that the class has worked together to accomplish many different things. They were successful academically, athletically, agriculturally, musically, etc. "Our friendships have allowed us to work together to achieve all the success we have throughout our high school says," he said.

Eric said that it is now time to step into the real world and prove to everyone else and themselves who they are. "Just remember to live your life to the fullest and be the best you can possibly be," he concluded.

Christopher Valliere introduced Valedictorian Lia Heers.

Lia remarked that conformity is a word that could never be associated with any of her classmates. She noted that they would not be the individuals they are without the help of the school and everyone connected to it. She then read a poem that she felt described her class perfectly. It described someone urged to conform to the society boat, but who was compelled to be an individual, speak their own mind, be an individual with wise blood in their veins.

"Throughout high school, we figured out the person we want to become, what we expect of ourselves, and what we expect of others," Lia commented. "We have our own distinctiveness that makes us special. It is time for us to let the world see what makes us that way."

Lia said that the class was a group of leaders who would shine above others and excel to higher accomplishments than they ever thought possible. She challenged them, "Do not be satisfied with mediocrity when you are capable of superiority...Do not be afraid of failure. It is inevitable. How you recover from failure is what matters. Do not be afraid of success. Success is the reward of hard work...Be prepared to work hard to get where you want to be. Do not take criticism personally. It's just a fact of life...you must believe in yourself for good things to happen...Never lose your hope, faith, and courage. These three things will get you through the rough times, beyond the bad to the success that lies on the other side."

Lia then thanked their parents for helping them get through school to graduation and for dealing with them when others lost hope.

Cooke County District Attorney Janice Warder was introduced as the guest speaker by Mrs. Schneider. Warder spoke on the three important reasons for having goals in life. She noted, "First, they give us purpose and motivation. Second, they guide you in a specific direction. Third, they keep you focused on accomplishments. To achieve anything, you must have an idea of what you want to achieve. People with no purpose in life never get anywhere. He who expects little will not be disappointed."

Warder warned that things never go as planned and one must be prepared to roll with the punches. Life can be full of surprises. She said, "Sometimes there will be disappointment, but sometimes they're not what they seem. They may be the very events that get you where you were meant to be. An answer to your prayers in disguise. Be ready for that opportunity. What you think may be a setback can be a calling to go in another direction and may be much better than what you had planned."

Never quit learning until the day you die, Warder told the graduates. She also told them that if they have a dream and are persistent enough, they could do anything. She commented, "You should live to the fullest. Try new adventures. See new places. Learn new things just for the heck of learning. Stop and smell the flowers."

"Find a job that you absolutely love whether it's in the workplace or raising a family. If you can do that, you cannot help but succeed. If you love your job, you will work hard, focus on success, and have pride in your work. The best part is you will be one happy person. You spend more time on the job than you spend anywhere else."

Before announcing the various scholarships and awards, Mrs. Schneider recalled that the graduates were the last class she taught before becoming the counselor. She shared some memories of them in elementary school and spoke of her pride in their accomplishments. A total of $242,465 in scholarships was offered and a total of $210,215 was accepted.

Superintendent Clay Richerson then presented the Class of 2010.

Levi Trubench gave the closing and benediction.

The graduates processed out to "Pomp and Circumstance."

Class sponsors are Courtney Christenson, Amy Binder, Vicki Eldridge, Nancy Perryman, Kristi Schneider, David Skeans, and Daniel Waneck.

Letters to the Editor

To whom it may concern,

My family and I always thought of the Sacred Heart Cemetery as a sacred place.

Our uncle, August A. Fleitman, son of Joseph and Kathryn Roewe Fleitman, enlisted in the Army on Jan. 27, 1941. He entered the 36th Division, training in Camp Bowie, Texas, Camp Blanding, Florida, and Camp Edward, Massachusetts.

He began overseas duty with the rank of P.F.C. in April 1943 in the North American-European Theatre, where he participated in the invasion of Salerno and served in all combat through Italy in World War II until he was killed in action on Feb. 2, 1944 (his 25th birthday) at Mount Cartellone, Italy. His awards included the Good Conduct Medal, Pre-Pearl Harbor Ribbon, European Theatre of Operation Ribbon, and the Purple Heart and Silver Star for meritorious service and recognition for his life given in service for his country. His family was notified about a month later about his death. He was buried in the Sicily-Rome American Cemetery - Plot G - Row 8 - Grave 45 - in Nettuno, Italy.

To honor the Muenster boys who lost their life in service to their country, the cemetery had a military section. Every year, the church and the VFW honor these veterans with a blessed service after Mass. Sunday, my sister took flowers to put by the cross of our Uncle Gussie. She found his name was removed from the cross and replaced by another veteran who was buried there recently. That cross was his final place of honor for 66 years.

I would like to know who decided this was okay without letting the family know this was going to be done. What gives you the right to do this to five veterans? Several years ago, you built a large monument in front of this section. WHY didn't you have it built farther east to have plenty of room for all veterans who want that place for their place of honor?

Helen Fleitman Prescher, Gainesville, TX

Letter to the Editor,

I'm sure most of you readers have heard about my story of "Bow," the black dog that became my best friend after my dad's death - April of 2009. For those of you that haven't heard the story, I'll catch you up on a good dog "tail!"

The week of the funeral, we were trimming trees, etc., at my mom's house, when this black dog with a huge collar came up to us. The phone number on the collar gave us a comical message, but the menu was full, with no response. The next day, Mom called to tell me the City picked up the dog - he's in the pound - exactly where a stray dog should be!

After permission from my wife

CCEC hosts guests at open house

Cooke County Electric Co-operative (CCEC) hosted a Chamber of Commerce ribbon cutting ceremony and open house on Thursday, May 27 from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Co-op's new service center. Refreshments were served and tours were given. Rev. Ralph Gourley of First Baptist Church said a blessing for the building and for all of those gathered.

CCEC's steady growth has utilized all of the warehouse and office space in the present facility which was built in 1972. Recently, the Co-op's growth in the commercial areas, specifically the Barnett Shale, has increased needs for material and space. The lack of available space decreased productivity and made it difficult to maneuver around the building.

The employees worked in tight quarters for many years. They were asked to please be patient and when the time was right, the Board would consider building a new service center. Although the new service center was built to increase efficiency and productivity for member-owners, it is very exciting that the employees finally have some breathing room. The employees have continued their dedication to the company through some difficult times.

CCEC is very excited about their recycling of engine oil, transmission fluids, and other burnable liquids. The fluids are filtered and pumped to a holding tank which in turn will be used during the winter season to heat the warehouse and maintenance shop.

CCEC has also added a cardboard recycler which has cut the dumpsters needed from three to one. The cardboard baler has already paid for itself.

The Co-op's new outage management room will be used to deploy a quick-response system to outages. As efficient as the employees are at the present time, the Co-op is looking to improve procedures of handling outage calls. This will take time to implement and perfect. Weather information is seen all throughout the day in this office.

and Stan Endres, City administrator, I brought "Bow" to the country with jack-rabbits to chase and John-Deere Gator rides!! Oh, how he loved those Gator rides!! He was there for a pat on the head when I left for work, and he was there to greet me when I came home!

As summer arrived, I took the large collar off! It was in July or August when I saw the collar in my shop, and just out of curiosity, called, again, to hear the funny message. An hour later, I received a call from that number.

The owner of "Bow" was a young man in the service, just out of boot camp, who was on his way home to Whitesboro. "Bow" had got lost on a hunting trip, and his owner sure wanted him back!!

I then realized that I had just given my "best friend" away! The young serviceman and his brother arrived, and I tried my best to buy "Bow," but "Bow" left on the truck with his owner!

I was kind of in a depression and wrote a letter about "Bow" to the Muenster Enterprise, and so many people responded to me!! It was such a good "Dog Story!" I really missed getting in that Gator without the "thump" of "Bow" jumping in the back!

We finally got over "Bow," but last Monday evening, he showed up on the back of a pickup truck driven by the young soldier's dad and brother! It seems the young soldier is training for a tour in Afghanistan. His dad is moving to Arlington, and he didn't think "Bow" would be happy in a backyard in Arlington.

It's like nothing ever happened! "Bow" stays in the Gator until somebody gets home from work to give him a ride! He's a dog that's starving for affection, and for this dog, I've got a lot to give!! As I'm writing this letter, it's Memorial Day weekend - I wish all of our long lost friends could have come home!!

God bless our friends, and our troops.
Wayne Klement, Muenster, TX

Memorial services held by VFW Post

In a time-honored tradition, the Muenster Veterans of Foreign Wars to Post 6205 and its Ladies Auxiliary paid tribute to the deceased veterans when they held memorial services on Sunday, May 30.

The annual observances began with the 8 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church with Fr. Ken Robinson celebrating. Auxiliary President Frances Bayer gave the scripture readings, and VFW members Doug Martin and James Hess presented Ofertory gifts. Musicians were Christy Hesse, Jack White, and Isaac Davis.

Immediately following Mass, the Post Color Guard, Post Rifle Squad, Auxiliary officers, Auxiliary Banner Bearer and Color Guard, and First Communicants led the congregation in a procession to the cemetery where Chaplain Pro Tem Audrey Hillard placed a floral tribute at the main altar in memory of all the faithful departed of the parish, and Fr. Ken led the assembly in prayer.

The Color Guard then led the group to the flag-covered veterans plot where District I Conductress Frances Bayer and Auxiliary Vice-President Sandra Hennigan placed a memorial and buddy poppy wreath at the Veterans Monument in memory of their departed comrades. The First Communicants and Auxiliary officers then placed a red carnation on each individual grave in the plot.

The graves of veterans throughout the cemetery had been decorated with flags and flowers earlier by Linda Knabe, Frances Bayer, Sandra Hennigan, Janet Barnhill, Isaac Barnhill, and Hunter Hennigan.

Christy Hesse and Jack White sang "America" as the group processed off the plot. Fr. Ken then remembered the brave service men and women, past and present, in prayer.

Post Commander Doug Martin gave the memorial address, reminding those gathered of how and when Memorial Day was instituted.

The tribute continued when the Post Rifle Squad paid them the highest honor with the traditional 21 gun volley salute, followed by "Taps" played by Ronnie and Tina Weinzapfel. Members of the Post Color Guard were James Hess, Leonard Vogel, Doug Martin, Gary Hacker, and Don Eckart. Rifle Squad consisted of Arthur Bayer, Eddie Hughes, Jake Luke, Melvin Luke, Gilbert Hess, Don Hess, Alice Fleitman, and Bernard Hesse.

Auxiliary Banner Bearer was Janet Barnhill, and Flag Bearer was Lucille Hesse, with Linda Knabe conducting. First Communicants participating were Abby Walterscheid, Kenadie Hess, Ashleigh Deweber, Keith Bezner, Hunter Hennigan, Koby Hogan, and Colby Endres.

Auxiliary officers participating were Rose Marie Sicking and Mary Lee Hennigan.

The day's events concluded with a bounteous meal cooked by Don, Gilbert, Tim, Vicky, Jesse, and Jeremy Hess.

MHMRST makes appeal for softball equipment

Mental health case managers serving clients at Mental Health Mental Retardation Services of Texoma are requesting donations of softball equipment, such as gloves, helmets, bats, pads, balls, and all other gear used in the game. "We want to make exercise fun for the individuals we serve. Many mental health clients tend to lead a sedentary lifestyle, and several of the medications used for mental illness treatment may cause weight gain. Exercise will attribute to a better mindset and help build self-esteem. Since they all seem to like softball, it is the perfect choice," states Melissa Henderickson, MHMRST case manager.

Anyone donating equipment will receive a tax form. To donate or for more information: call 903-957-4865.

Seminar set June 15 for pastors and pastoral care lay representatives

The Last Walk: A training seminar for pastors and pastoral care lay representatives will be offered Tuesday, June 15 from 11 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at Landmark Bank in Gainesville. A light lunch will be served at seminar.

The purpose of the seminar is to provide tools that will enable church pastors and lay representatives to increase their support for members of their church who are walking through the final days, weeks, or months of life. The seminar is presented as a part of the community education program to all by Home Hospice of Grayson, Cooke, and Fannin counties. There is no cost to attend this seminar, but reservations are requested.

"Our final walk is a difficult part of our journey. Sometimes we have fears and concerns and lack the resources to address those. This seminar can put information and resources into the hands of those we often ask to walk alongside us," said Sherry Little, executive director of the Home Hospice office.

Presenting at the seminar will be hospice-trained medical personnel, social workers, a chaplain, and other professionals who will empower those in attendance to better work with families who are experiencing end-of-life needs. Some of the topics will include Maximizing a Good End-of-Life Experience, The End-Of-Life Process, End-of-Life Options, Grief for the Patient and Family, The Role of Spiritual Care, Self Care for Clergy & the Caregiver, and more. Cheryl Myers, chaplain at Home Hospice, said, "We hope this seminar will be an opportunity to focus on various aspects of death and dying and to provide tools that preachers and lay care representatives can utilize to supplement their own ministries in their local churches."

If you have questions about the seminar, call Nancy Russell at 903-868-9315 or Kathi Kirby at 940-665-9891. To register for the seminar call Vicki McMahon at 940-665-9891 or email vicki.mcmahon@homehospice.org.

Kids Care program teaches 3rd graders about County United Way

Cooke County United Way's "Kids Care" is modeled after a program called "Karen's Heroes" which honors the memory of Karen Chattin-Ney, a third grade teacher in Pennsylvania who died of cancer in 1998. Karen's Heroes is a miniature United Way allocation process. It is basically what United Way does.

United Way carefully selects qualified agencies who provide services for our communities, collects information from the agencies, interviews the agencies, and then a panel of community volunteers decide on how much money to award to the agencies. It was determined that Cooke County United Way needed to adopt a program similar to Karen's Heroes so that local youth could learn about community spirit.

Cooke County United Way has spoken often with Mr. Ney (Karen's widower) of Orwigsburg, Pennsylvania comparing the two programs. Mr. Ney said that this is the only other community in the nation offering this event modeled after Karen's Heroes. The name "Kids Care" was adopted locally to better reflect the youth of this area.

The Spring 2010 program was presented in a joint activity with the third grade classes of Muenster Elementary and Sacred Heart Elementary. The program, held Tuesday, May 11, began with the opening and welcome by Lou Heers, elementary principal of Muenster ISD, Dr. Rafael Rondon, Sacred Heart Catholic School principal. Galene Morris, Kids Care coordinator, then introduced Mary Rondon and the committee, followed by Angie Hare, director of Cooke County United Way.

Interview #1 was given by Lois Essenburg with Special Olympics who spoke on "Everyone Can Be Somebody." The Second interview was given by Kathy Vogel of the Sacred Heart Food Pantry who presented "We've Got You Covered."

During interview #3, Phyllis Griffin with the 4-H Safety Camp presented "Head, Heart, Hands, & Health." Molly Worthen of Habitat for Humanity talked of "Building Houses for Our Community" during interview #4. The last interview featured "Give a Helping Hand" by Sharon Watson of the American Red Cross.

After the students listened to each speaker, a recap was given and the students voted. Each vote equaled a dollar amount. The United Way included a base amount of $250 for each organization.

The following day after the votes had been tallied, the presentation of checks to each agency was held at the Sacred Heart Community Center. The agency receiving the most votes was the American Red Cross. They received a check for $350.92.

Special Olympics and 4-H Safety Camp each received $289.75. Habitat for Humanity received $285.96. Sacred Heart Food Pantry was awarded $284.07.

A total of $1,499.85 was given to the organizations.

It is the goal of Cooke County United Way to bring the program to all schools (public and private) within Cooke County.

Spring of 2007 was the first Kids Care program and the partners were the third grade students of W. E. Chalmers Elementary School which represented approximately 200 students. The recipient agencies included American Cancer Society (in honor of Mrs. Ney), CASA, Habitat for Humanity, Cooke County Meals on Wheels, and Noah's Ark.

In 2008, there were two Kids Care programs: Callisburg ISD and Lindsay ISD. Each program highlighted five agencies. The planning committee will continue to include the American Cancer Society each year to honor Mrs. Ney. The 2009 program was presented to the third grade students at Valley View ISD.

Field trip provides working experience

MISD Junior High Student Council ended the year with a field trip to the Muenster Lake. As members of KMB, the group collected trash and debris from the dam side of the lake. They also enjoyed a picnic lunch before exploring the lake bottom. The most interesting thing the group found was an old circular saw blade. Mrs. Lisa Walterscheid and Ms. KaTina Bartel co-sponsor the group. MISD photos

Math Stars recognized at MISD

"Math Stars" in Mrs. Carolyn Lutkenhaus' Algebra I and Geometry classes received certificates and rewards last week for their work. The students at Muenster High School are encouraged to excel in math through the posting of "Math Stars" on the wall each six weeks. The stars are given for six weeks grades of 90 or above, or for exceeding the previous six weeks grade by five points or more. Seventy-one students accomplished this, some every six weeks. A total of 181 stars were given. Each math star received a candy bar or cookie donated by Fischer's Meat Market, Kountry Korner, and Subway.

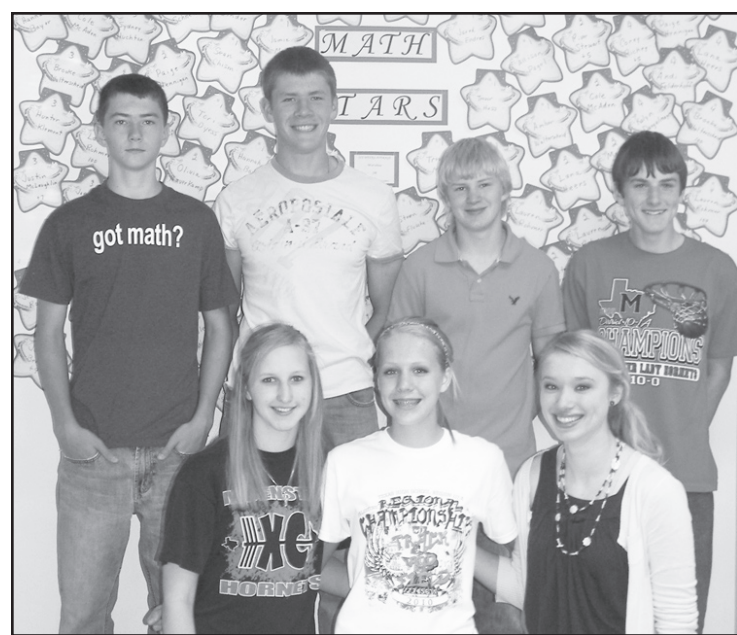

Following are students and their number of stars: Six stars - Hannah Bayer, Austin Creswell, Andi Felderhoff, Lana Heers, Paige Hennigan, Clayton Hess, Sydney Huchton, Hunter Klement, Jay Patel, Lauren Rohmer, Payton Sanders, and Brooke Walterscheid; Five stars - Kalyn Dangelmayr and Jared Endres; Four stars - Cole McAden, Audrey Taylor Saavedra, and Amber Walterscheid; Three stars - Mason Binder, Blake Grewing, Olivia Haverkamp, Trevor Hess, Allison Pagel, Chloe Schneider, Tony Schniederjan, River Stewart, and Cole Walterscheid; Two stars - Kendi Bayer, Caitlin Beavers, Shelby Dangelmayr, Tori Dyess, Steven Flusche, Chase Hammer, Tome Harrell, Austin Hennigan, Erin Hess, JJ Horsman, Jamie Magee, Joe Monday, Trevor Muller, and Corey Richey; One star - Tyler Anderle, Brianna Bayer, Julia Berner, Sean Chism, Kendall

Classes were also encouraged to be consistent in completing and turning in work by records posted on the wall each day. If everyone in the class turned in homework with the required minimum grade, the class received a mark on the poster. A running total was posted with consecutive days of completed homework. If anyone in the class missed the requirement, the class total became zero again. When a class achieved 10 days in a row, the class members each received a small snack as a reward.

The 2nd period Pre-AP Geometry class of Andy Flusche, Austin Hennigan, JJ Horsman, Hunter Klement, Lauren Rohmer, Payton Sanders, and Brooke Walterscheid was the most successful. The class had 49 consecutive days of all work turned in with the minimum grade requirement. They had a cumulative total of 132 days of completed work.

Sacred Heart Catholic School Second and Third Grade students spent the afternoon of Wednesday, May 19 at the farm of North Texas Organics. Owners Kevin and Nathan Bruce taught the children about composting and vermiculture, the raising and production of earthworms and their by-products.

The students toured the worm bins and harvested several of them. Then they spread the worm castings over the field of tomatoes and peppers. Kevin and Nathan Bruce explained the importance of healthy soil for healthy plants.

North Texas Organics sells worms, compost, worm castings, and organic veggies. They are located just south of Lindsay.

SHCS students dress for charity

During the 2009 football season, the whole school had the opportunity to dress in spirit clothes every Friday, but there was a catch. In order to dress out, the students had to pay one dollar. All of the money that was raised was donated to Our Mother of Mercy School in Fort Worth. This is a school in dire need of money, and all the students were happy that they could help out.

On Wednesday, May 5, the senior class got the privilege of traveling to Fort Worth to perform community service at Our Mother of Mercy School. They helped out by organizing a storage room and putting books away in the library. They also took a tour of the school and interacted with many of the young students.

This was a great experience for the seniors, and they were glad that they could make a difference in these young children's lives. Senior Kevin Kulle remarked, "It was a humbling experience that showed me the importance of helping those in need." His classmate John Krawietz added, "It was definitely a worthwhile trip, and I loved having the opportunity to serve those who are less fortunate than I am."

Loch, Marjory Thomas Luttmann, Kristin Nicole Martin, Amy Renay McCleskey, Brenna Nicole Mlinar, Wesley Wayne Morrison, Clayton Trent Mueller, Joshua Blake Mueller, Kaylee Michelle Murphree, Cammi Elizabeth Neu, Jonathan Francis Neu, John David Nystrom, Sarah Leigh-Ann Redder, Kelli Nicole Reed, Austin John Reiter, Cade Hamilton Steger, Jessica Marie Thurman, and Gage Mackenzie Turner.

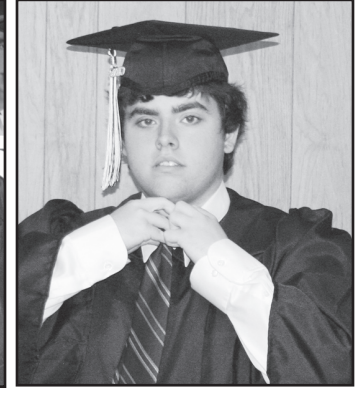

Class Vice-President Shirley Hess gave opening remarks. Sheila Baekgaard introduced Salutatorian Colton Hermes. Colton recalled his excitement on the first day of school and the fun of meeting new friends. At that time, he had no idea of the journey he was about to begin - first grade after kindergarten, second grade after first, etc. He was now excited to be standing on the brink of a future that is the rest of his life.

Referring to a quote from Magic Johnson that said all kids need is a little help, a little hope, and somebody who believes in them, Colton noted that all three of those things have come from the people in the audience. He said, "You parents who helped us through the hard times, you friends who gave us hope during our darkest hours, and you teachers who believed in us even when we didn't. It is because of you that we have grown into who we are today." Colton said that it is important to realize that their future would not just happen to them, it was up to them to create their own future. He urged them, "Embrace the opportunity before you. Take what you have learned the last 12 years and put it to good use."

and English 4 - Emily Copeland. Backgaard introduced Class Valedictorian Dillon Hanson. Dillon spoke of a t-shirt that he saw at the State track meet that said, "Hard work is not an option. It is a necessity." He said that the shirt could not explain Lindsay High School better. Dillon noted that Lindsay students succeed due to the amount of time and dedication that they put into everything they do. "Lindsay succeeds because we want to," he said. "We got four consecutive Lone Star Cups because we wanted it. Although we fell a little short this year, we definitely didn't fall short of success."

Lindsay High School Class of 2010 Graduation

Referring to seniors' success in athletics and academics during the year, Dillon claimed to have the best overall class that Lindsay has had in quite some time. He added, "Our class has created memories, friendships, and more mischievous havoc than this town deserves to deal with...we have never been afraid to voice our opinions. We have gone through so much together... We have always had each other's backs and taken care of each other through every burden." Dillon spoke of the seniors getting the senioritis bug because they were excited about the successes that they see in their futures. "Every one of us has something to look forward to, and we all believe in one another to succeed even more in our futures," he remarked. "Lindsay has helped us grow, made us strong, and helped to lead us to what we are now, and what we will be in 20 years."

In a gesture of appreciation, each of the graduates presented hugs and fresh long-stem roses to their parents. Superintendent Holt certified that the seniors were eligible to graduate. Diplomas were awarded by Superintendent Holt, Principal Hall, Tim Short, and Shirley Gibbs. Class President Haley Haverkamp gave the closing remarks.

Superintendent Dennis Holt announced that Sheila Backgaard was this year's winner of the Davelyn Neidhardt Award. Sophomore Caroline Dieter read the essay she wrote nominating Backgaard. Superintendent Holt and Principal Phillip Hall presented Awards. Class Awards presented included: Accounting Kaylee Murphree, Ag Period 1 - Cade Steger; Ag Period 2 - Matt Dieter; Ag Period 3 - Ryan Kendall; AP Bio - Dillon Hanson; AP Calculus Dillon Hanson; AP English 4 - Colton Hermes; BIBM - Colton Hermes; Computer Multimedia - John Nystrom; Computer Science - John Nystrom; Career Prep - Amy McCleskey; Economics - Brenna Mlinar; Government - Kristin Martin; Nutrition & Food Science - Bailey Kuhn; Yearbook - Jessica Thurman;

FARM & RANCH

Since flies can decrease cattle gains, invest time & effort in control methods

Think how much aggravation 200 flies biting and flying around you would create. No wonder research shows that blood-sucking horn flies can reduce calf weaning weights by up to 20 pounds and reduce gains on stocker cattle by 25 pounds per head when flies are not controlled.

The threshold level for economical fly control begins around 200 flies per animal according to Eldon Cole, a livestock specialist with University of Missouri Extension.

"Counting flies isn't easy, so most of the estimates are made using the assumption that if there's an area of flies on the animal the size of the palm of your hand that's roughly 50 flies," said Cole. "I've assisted with a field trial that involved using binoculars and actually counting flies early in the season when they weren't too numerous and it is easy to get 200 flies per animal."

In addition to horn flies, horse flies, stable flies, and face flies may create problems for cattle as the summer goes on. Each of these creates a unique problem for animals and are difficult to control according to Cole.

"The routine control measures for horn flies will only have limited success with the other fly species," said Cole.

Sprays, insecticidal ear tags, dust bags, back rubbers, pour-ons, and oral larvicides are the controls used on horn flies.

"There is even research supporting biological control with fly predators, but they work mainly in densely populated cattle areas such as feedlots," said Cole.

Another interesting point in cattle fly control is that some animals seem to be less susceptible to flies than others. Researchers are looking at this from the cattle's genetic resistance standpoint. It could involve hair density, hair color, sex of the animal, hide thickness, etc.

Cole added, "Most of the fly control methods for horn flies do work. However, cost, convenience, and length of control must be considered."

Deciding which Horn Fly control measure is best for you

Eldon Cole, a livestock specialist with University of Missouri Extension, says there are several things to keep in mind when deciding which horn fly control measure is best. Keep the following items in mind:

* Resistance to pesticides can develop, so rotating each year or so between the pyrethroids and the organophosphates will help slow down the resistance buildup.

* Remove old fly tags at the end of their useful life. Leaving them in aids in fly resistance buildup.

* Many fly tags are still effective, but frequently are put in too early in the season. Rotate the active ingredient used in the tag from year-to-year.

* Backrubbers or dust bags are highly effective and economical, but they require regular management to make sure cattle use them.

* If you're fortunate enough to have a supply of wire and burlap bags, you can make your own rubber at a significant savings. Old flannel material will work in place of burlap.

* Feed-throughs offer convenience, but cost more per day or month. They are most effective when consumed by all cattle in a fairly large area. The additive interrupts the life cycle of the horn fly in the manure pat.

* Combining horn fly control tactics may be helpful to give the cattle maximum relief. Remember, you'll never have totally fly-free cattle.

* Face flies are generally not resistant to pesticides and insecticidal ear tags and other control methods for horn flies are effective against them.

* Treatment costs per head per day can vary from a couple of cents up to eight to 10 cents depending on method and expected length of effectiveness.

For persons not wanting to use pesticides, University of Missouri Extension does have plans for a walk-through fly trap (that reduces flies up to 70%) that can be located where cattle pass through it daily. Ask the nearest MU Extension Center for guide sheet 1195 or find it online at extension.missouri.edu.

TDA market recap

For the week ending May 29, feeder cattle prices at Texas auctions were mostly steady to $5 lower per hundredweight, with a few to $2 higher and a few to $9 lower. Fed cattle prices were lower following declines in wholesale meat values as falling stock markets and the financial crisis in Europe renewed concerns about future demand.

Grain prices were lower for the same reason, with added pressure from ample global supplies for many commodities, lower crude oil, and favorable weather.

As for futures markets, feeder cattle, fed cattle, cotton, wheat, corn, and lumber were lower.

Most areas of Texas received rainfalls from .01 to 5.0 inches, with the topsoil moisture mostly short to adequate across the state.

Wheat crops for the state are 97% headed and 6% harvested, with corn 97% planted and 88% emerged. Crops and pastures were reported to be in good condition.

Late spring is a good time to treat fire ants

As the unofficial first day of summer approaches, one might think about applying pesticides for red imported fire ants, said an expert with the Texas AgriLife Extension Service.

"Fire ants are most active in the summer, from May through September, so late spring is a good time to apply baits or other pesticides to infested areas," said Kim Schofield, an AgriLife Extension program specialist in Dallas.

Ants have been known to crash picnics, but fire ants aren't an average pest, Schofield said.

"Imported fire ant workers bite with mandibles or jaws and sting aggressively and repeatedly, since they have a smooth stinger," she said. "After the first sting, it can rotate its stinger and sting again, leaving a circular pattern of stings."

Fire ant stings should be treated like those from other insects, by keeping the wound clean to avoid infection, Schofield said. After several days, the wound will appear as a pustule that takes about 10-14 days to heal. For more information about stings, visit http://www.extension.org/pages/Fire_Ant_Stings.

Pesticides can help control fire ants, which also helps beneficial native ants return to the landscape. Pesticide instructions should be followed carefully.

Fire-ant baits, drenches, dusts, and contact granular insecticides may be applied to control fire ants. Schofield recommended treating individual fire-ant mounds directly if there are fewer than five mounds on a quarter-acre or fewer than 20 on an acre.

Where there are more mounds, fire-ant bait or contact insecticide should be broadcasted over the entire infested area.

"Before broadcasting the fire-ant bait, foraging activity should be assessed, by placing a potato chip or hot dog next to the mound," Schofield said. "If fire ants find the chip or hot dog within twenty minutes, then it is a suitable time to broadcast the bait."

For more information, please visit the Texas A&M University fire ant webpage at <http://fireant.tamu.edu>.

In Texas, they cost about $1.2 billion annually in agricultural losses, ecological damage, and pesticide expenses, according to Texas A&M's fire ant economics website, <http://fireantecon.tamu.edu>. Their sting makes them dangerous to humans, livestock, pets, and wildlife.

County Agent's Report

Grasshoppers: a looming menace

The main factor affecting grasshopper populations is weather. High populations are usually preceded by several years of hot dry summers and warm autumns. Dry weather increases the survival of nymphs and adults while warm autumns allow grasshoppers more time to feed and lay eggs.

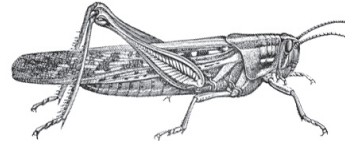

This year does not necessarily conform. The spring has been cool and damp, but immature grasshopper sightings have been rampant.

Female grasshoppers lay an average of 200 eggs per season, but sometimes as many as 400. Eggs are laid in pods beneath the soil surface, with each pod containing 20 - 120 eggs. Eggs begin hatching in late April or early May and peak around mid-June. Grasshopper nymphs go through five or six stages and become adults in 40 to 60 days.

Control options: There are several types of control options ranging from biological, mechanical, and cultural to insecticide use. Of these, only insecticide treatments will provide a quick knock down if control is needed immediately.

Mechanical control: grasshoppers prefer undisturbed areas for oviposition, so tilling in mid to late summer will reduce oviposition sites. In CRP acreage, tilling is not permitted but shredding can reduce the food supply.

Cultural control: control weeds in fallow fields to reduce available food; eliminate tall weeds and grass in and around crops you want to protect.

Biological control: a naturally occurring fungus Entomophthora grylli can kill grasshoppers during warm humid conditions. The spores of the protozoan Nosema locustae have been incorporated with bran to make insecticide baits. Baits containing Nosema are more effective on early instar nymphs with little effect on adults.

Insecticides: There are many insecticides labeled for control of grasshoppers. If grasshoppers are a problem, read the label carefully. Make sure to treat the appropriate area with the proper chemical. The use of insect growth regulators can be very effective if applied early in the season (right now!).
