

Each Cub Scout receives a block of wood, a set of wheels, and Pinewood Derby rules. He carves his car design from the wood, fits it with wheels, and, while adhering to the rules, strives to add just the touch that makes it the fastest car in the race. The assembled car is then painted in the color and design chosen by the Scout. Pictured below are the entries in this year's Derby. At right - capturing top honors in the Pack 664 Pinewood Derby were, from left, Jacob Walterscheid (3rd), Jared Walterscheid (2nd), and Michael McCoy (1st). See story on pg. 4.

Residents warned - beware of scams

By Janet Felderhoff

There have been a variety of scams attempted in this area recently. Muenster Police Chief Mark Blankenship reminds residents, "Don't fall for deals too good to be true." He asks if people suspect or see something illegal, they report it to the police department.

Chief Blankenship described some of the most recent attempted scams. One is a group offering to inspect lightning rods on homes. Another is a collection agency that will tell you that you owe money and if you don't pay it, legal action will be taken and criminal charges filed. He said this call comes from Pakistan.

Another call came from Jamaica. The caller tells the person on the telephone that they have won a large sum of money. To get the money they have won, they are asked to send a certain sum of money to the caller.

Then there is a scam on grandparents. A call comes from their "grandchild" saying that they are in jail in Mexico and need money for bail. The grandparent is asked to send money to a lawyer's office. Of course, if the grandparent checks, it will be discovered that the grandchildren are not in Mexico!

Do not give out personal information such as social security numbers, bank account numbers, or credit card numbers to people or unknown businesses soliciting them over the telephone. Check with someone if you are not sure about a person or company seeking to provide you a service.

Thefts reported at 2 local businesses

By Janet Felderhoff

Thieves targeted Klement Ford of Muenster last week. According to Muenster Chief of Police Mark Blankenship, the thieves jacked up a new vehicle parked outside the dealership building and removed its wheels and tires. Although the dealership is well-lit, the vehicle was located in a somewhat shadowy area.

Chief Blankenship noted that the thieves entered the dealership through a locked gate, which they then closed behind them. The incident occurred either late Wednesday, Jan. 4 or early Jan. 5 and was detected when Klement Ford employees came to work Thursday morning.

Blankenship said that he checked with the Gainesville Police Department. They indicated that there have been similar thefts in a 120 mile radius of Dallas and Fort Worth.

Sometime between Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon, thieves struck at Muenster Mill. Chief Blankenship reported that they broke into a trailer belonging to the company doing tank construction at the Mill located at 202 S. Main. Taken were tools and equipment valued at more than $25,000. They used a backhoe to load some of the equipment.

Anyone seeing something unusual at the Mill during the above time, are asked by Chief Blankenship to contact the Muenster Police Department at 759-2236.

Public invited to envision possibilities of the new Germanfest, Inc. facility

By Janet Felderhoff

Germanfest, Inc. and Mages Group have planned a Sneak Peek Party for Saturday, Jan. 21 at 2 p.m. at the festival grounds. Snacks and drinks will be served. Those include bratwurst, Dr Pepper, beer, and water.

Chamber of Commerce Executive Director John Broyles is excited about the potential of the project. He feels that once people have the opportunity to get inside the 60,000 square foot building to look around, they will be able to envision its potential. There is an opportunity to bring more events to Muenster such as other festivals, concerts, and trade days. There is no comparable structure at any close distance.

Broyles speculated that with the above events taking place in Muenster, there would be a need for other businesses to provide services. An enterprising person might provide those services.

What guests will see Saturday is the completed shell of the festival ground's main structure. The restrooms and stages have not yet been started. Electricity and water are also still needed. The park area has been graded to the level needed for a parking lot.

The next phase will be construction of the amphitheater and installation of bridges. Broyles noted that they are unsure of a completion date for the entire project. It is being built with donated funds.

The next fundraising campaign will begin soon. Donations do not have to be monetary, noted Broyles. They are open to suggestions. In-kind donations such as paving the parking lot with a business providing the labor and Germanfest, Inc. providing the materials would be one example of an in-kind donation.

Those attending the Sneak Peek will be able to walk through the building and see what is planned for the area they are in at the moment. A slide show will display the area as it was transformed from a pasture to its current state.

Germanfest, Inc. invites everyone to come see what they are excited about and to bring their imaginations to dream of what might be there in the future.

MISD Board hears staff input on new building

By Janet Felderhoff

After studying the proposed plans for Muenster ISD's new elementary building, some of the staff had concerns and suggestions. They shared them with the Board of Trustees and architect at the Jan. 11 meeting.

Librarian Vicki Eldridge remarked, "Even where the library is now, it's very disheartening that it's so far away from our high school campus. Students really aren't able to use the library like they should be able to. Typically, you find the library at the forefront of the building. It's what you see when you walk in along with the front office. It's located there so the teachers, students, and classes can easily make their way to the library, get something that they need for class, get a book that they are wanting to read, or classes can easily go there to research or look up information without taking up too much time from instructional time going to and from the library."

Eldridge suggested that a library in both the Elementary and junior high buildings would make the library accessible to all students. When the architect drew plans for the elementary library, he thought that there was a library in the high school building and didn't make it large. Eldridge had spoken with both principals about her concerns to have two libraries and wanted to make the Board aware also.

Bernadette Otto, science teacher, voiced concerns about the size of the new elementary science lab. "I didn't think that new would mean less," she said. "We currently have a science lab that 113 students visit daily." She said they often have labs that can't be finished in a day or in two days. They need a place to store the materials until the lesson is completed. There are six classes of various age levels using the lab daily.

Debra Sicking voiced concerns with the location of the telecommunications and networking main distribution facility. It is now in the junior high building, but must be moved before that building is demolished to be replaced with the new junior high school building. "We have to figure out how we are going to address this issue," she stated. "Where do we want to put this main location of our internet, telephone, bell system, fire alarms. Do we want to put it in the elementary or the high school? We have to think about where to run lines."

Classroom technology such as smart boards needs to be considered also, said Sicking. The funding for such is not part of the bond and so a decision on how much money they want to put into it will be a decision to be addressed.

Board members quizzed the staff who spoke on various aspects of their concerns. After much discussion, they thanked them for bringing the concerns prior to the construction so that they can be addressed.

Joe Jordan, project development director with Lincoln Renewable Energy, L.L.C., spoke to the Board about a potential 313 agreement in regard to a potential solar farm near Muenster. He said that the company hopes to be selected by Denton Municipal Electric for a solar energy project. Lincoln has an option to buy 200 acres of property located 3 1/2 miles west of Muenster along Hwy. 82. Proposals must be submitted by Feb. 21 and the bid will be awarded in June.

After listening to Jordan's request for the 313 agreement, the Board agreed to a non binding letter of intent that he could submit with Lincoln's bid proposal.

Board President Steve Trubenbach noted that there are three Board positions up for election this year. They are Place 5 held by Richard Dangelmayr, Place 6 held by Kimberly Walterscheid, and Place 7 held by Steve Trubenbach. The first date to file for the School Board Election is Feb. 4, and the last day to file is Monday, March 5. If there are contested places, the election is on May 12.

Although January is the scheduled time to discuss the superintendent's contract, discussion on Clay Richerson's contract was delayed until later in the month. Board President Steve Trubenbach reported that Mr. Richerson was not feeling well enough to discuss it prior to the Jan 11 Board meeting. It could be addressed later in the month at a special called meeting if needed.

The Board recognized the football coaching staff and football team for their second consecutive season of 12 wins and 1 loss. They were praised for their hard work and sportsmanship.

Also honored by the Board were the Elementary UIL directors, coaches, and students for winning first in the District competition.

Director Dianne Endres remarked, "Seventy-five kids 2nd through 6th grades made the UIL team. Probably double that tried out for one. It's quite an accomplishment. Some of these kids sacrificed their lunches, came before school, stayed after school, and spent many, many hours studying for their teams and their practices that they had to have for UIL."

Earl Hess

Mass of Christian Burial for Earl Henry Hess of Muenster was held at 10 a.m., Monday, Jan. 16 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Rosary/vigil service was held Sunday at 6 p.m. in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. During the rosary/vigil, Danny Lovelace sang "On the Wings of a Snow White Dove." Services were officiated by Father Ken Robinson and directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Earl died at the age of 68 at 8:50 a.m., Thursday, Jan. 12, 2012 at his home.

Born Aug. 2, 1943 in Muenster, Earl was one of 10 children born to Albert and Agnes Knabe Hess. The family lived north of Muenster at the time Earl was born and later moved to town in 1951. Earl attended Sacred Heart School. He entered the U.S. Army on April 28, 1965, spending most of his service time in Germany. He was honorably discharged with the rank of sergeant.

After his tour in the Army, Earl returned home to work in the oil field in the Muenster area, working for Hess Brothers Drilling for several years. He later worked in Venezuela and the Middle East oil fields including Santa Fe Drilling Company in Bahrain, Abu Dhabi, and Saudi Arabia. He worked a number of years for Jimmy Jack Biffle, and was recently a pumper with WFW Production Company.

Earl and Mary Ann Hermes Hess were married May 25, 1974 at St. Peter's Church in Lindsay. At the time they were married, Mary Ann was a widow with a set of very young twins. About a year after marriage, she and Earl became the proud parents of another set of twins; thus, Earl, in a very short period of time, went from being single to a married father of four young children.

Earl was diagnosed with throat cancer in 1993. In 2004, Earl learned that cancer had returned and was in his pelvis and back. He fought hard and lived much longer than expected.

Earl enjoyed the outdoors. He was an avid hunter and fisherman and a longtime member of the National Rifle Association. He loved his family and enjoyed being with his many friends. He was a life time member of the local VFW and served on many honor guards for his deceased fellow veterans. Earl enjoyed figuring out how things work and was an expert in repairing almost anything.

Survivors include his wife Mary Ann of Muenster; daughters and sons-in-law Alethea and Jaret Kindiger of Era, Darlene and Randy Williams of Muenster, and Marlene and Martin Phillips of Arlington, Virginia; son and daughter-in-law Jerry and Rhonda Brawner of Aubrey; sisters and brother-in-law Angie and Cy Yosten of Greenville, and Florence Stockard of Muenster; brothers and sisters-in-law Leo Hess, Pat and Tommie Sue Hess, Gilbert and Shirley Hess, Melvin Hess, Tim Hess, and Clarence Hess, all of Muenster; sister-in-law Judy Hess of Muenster; grandchildren Kelsey Brawner, Jacob Brawner, Stacey Brawner, J.J. Brawner, Colton Morris, Macie Kindiger, Jacob Kindiger, Rae Ann Morris, BriAnna Bayer, Dalton Williams, and Warren Williams.

He was preceded in death by his parents, brother Virgil Hess, and sister-in-law Mary Lou Hess.

Pallbearers were Tim Hess, Melvin Hess, Clarence Hess, Brian Hess, Nathan Hess, and Phillip Yosten. Honorary pallbearers were Colton Morris, Macie Kindiger, Jacob Kindiger, Rae Ann Morris, Kelsey Brawner, Jesse Hess, Jacob Brawner, Stacey Brawner, J.J. Brawner, BriAnna Bayer, Dalton Williams, and Warren Williams.

Assisting during the funeral Mass were altar servers Stuart Hess and Kimberly Fitts. The First Reading was given by Heather Warren. Rodney Hess gave the Second Reading. Prayers of the Faithful were read by Rodney Hess. Offertory Gifts were brought up by Florence Stockard and Angie Yosten. Eucharistic ministers were Clara Hermes, Pat Wimmer, Diane Neu, Carol Grewing, and Ethel Bayer.

Music ministers were Doug Yosten, Christi Klement, Jim Endres, Linda Flusche, and Diane Grewing. Sacred songs included "On Eagle's Wings," "Prayer of St. Francis," "How Great Thou Art," "Amazing Grace," and "I'll Fly Away."

The eulogy was given by Jerry Brawner who remembered that Earl "enjoyed fishing, hunting, golfing, and cooking. Oh my, could he make some fried chicken, wonderful steaks. He was a master griller... He enjoyed spending time playing with and flying model airplanes..."

"Although he struggled with reading, he was a very talented man, mechanically inclined. A jack of all trades, master of none as he would say. He loved to tell stories, loved to prank, and loved to tinker with things..."

"Some might say Earl was a little hard-headed, stubborn at times. But mostly this character trait was one of perseverance. When he had his mind made up, he had his mind made up..."

"As life became more difficult, he became stronger... more gracious, more tolerant, more appreciative. Papa loved his family the best he knew how..."

The family requests memorials be made to Home Hospice of Cooke, Grayson, and Fannin counties.

Aileen Anna Hoenig
1918 - 2012

Aileen Hoenig

Surrounded by family who had just finished reciting the rosary at her bedside, Aileen Anna Hoenig, 93, drifted off into the waiting arms of our Lord on the morning of Friday, Jan. 13, 2012 at the Renaissance Care Center in Gainesville, where she had spent the last six years with a lingering illness. It was a fitting and beautiful conclusion to Aileen's life, which was guided by deep devotion to her God, her Roman Catholic faith, and her family.

Aileen and her husband of 58 years, the late Tony Hoenig, both members of Sacred Heart Parish in Muenster, together were the parents of five children: Betty Ann (Raymond) Blockus, of Shickshinny, Pennsylvania; Gene (Peggy) Hoenig of Gainesville; Danny (Karen) Hoenig of Denton; David (Sandra) Hoenig of Denton; and Alvin (C.J.) Hoenig of Graham. Aileen, a member of St. Ann's Society, and Tony also had 10 grandchildren: Bryan Hoenig of Lindsay; Mark Hoenig of Gainesville; Greg Hoenig of Sanger; Amy Hermes of Lindsay; Ryan Hoenig of Coppell; Darrin Hoenig of Keller; Scott Hoenig of Boerne; Eric Hoenig of New York, New York; Leigh Ann Hoenig of Richardson; and John Michael Hoenig of State College, Pennsylvania. They also had 11 great-grandchildren: Stephanie, Kody, Makenna, Will, Ebby, Eli, Noah, and Luke Hoenig, and Raheem, Amaan, and Farhan Ali.

Mass of Christian Burial was held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 17 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster, followed by interment in Sacred Heart Cemetery in Muenster under the direction of the McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Mass celebrants were Fr. Ken Robinson and Fr. Victor Cruz. Readings were given by great-grandson Kody Hermes, and by granddaughter Leigh Ann Hoenig. Prayers of the Faithful were read by Scott Hoenig. Music ministers were Christy Hesse, Linda Flusche, and Frank Luke. Songs included

"On Eagle's Wings," "Psalm of the Good Shepherd," "Lord, Send Out Your Spirit," "Softly and Tenderly," "Songs of the Angels," and "How Great Thou Art." Eucharistic ministers were Harold and Jeanine Flusche, Clara Hermes, and Theresa Mae Walterscheid. Gifts were presented by great-grandchildren Stephanie, Makenna, Will, and Ebby. Pallbearers were grandsons Bryan, Mark, Greg, Ryan, Scott, Darrin, and John Michael. The eulogy was given by Amy.

A rosary/vigil was conducted at 6 p.m. Monday, Jan. 16 at McCoy Funeral Home.

Aileen, born June 25, 1918, was the daughter of Tony and Clara Otto of Muenster. In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by sister Hazel Flusche, and brothers Sid, John, Ray, Earle, and Tom Otto.

She is survived by sisters-in-law Emma Fetsch, Jewel Otto, Mary Otto, Billie Reinart, and Clara Stanley.

A native of Muenster, Aileen lived most of her life there and was widely known throughout the community. Despite the fact that she was first and foremost dedicated to her roles as a wife, mother, and tireless homemaker, many will remember Aileen from several of her employments, including a period at the former Hofbauer's Market, the likewise closed Scott's Furniture Store, the former Ben Franklin Store, and as a carrier for the Gainesville Register. Some still can recall Aileen's well-practiced routine of driving up to her customers' property and, taking a rolled edition of the Register, slinging it out of her open car window onto the customer's doorstep with amazing accuracy.

If her skills at the jobs she held were exceptional, so were those as a mother and homemaker, according to her children and their spouses. All rave about Aileen's culinary accomplishments, among them her delicious fried chicken, as well as various soups, jams and jellies. Her children speak of their childhood years with fond memories of Aileen's knack of putting an entire meal on the table, at least three times daily, whereupon everything was always piping hot and tasty.

But exceptional food preparation was not Aileen's only skill. So were her talents with a needle and thread or a sewing machine, as she often made the clothes worn by her children. She also was a seasoned quilt-maker. Other attributes include her untiring housecleaning habits, and the admirable manner in which she gardened, including her annual efforts to grow much of the food consumed by her family, and her unceasing assaults on the weeds that tried (and failed) to gain a foothold, and the knack she had of planting that rose bush, and other flowers, in just the right spots.

Aileen's busy daily routine understandably left relatively little time for recreation, but when she did partake in it, her joy was a simple ride throughout the countryside, where she could name the residences of countless families. She knew the back roads like a seasoned mapmaker, surely because of her early years when she and Tony farmed north and south of Muenster. The longest trips she made were to Pennsylvania to visit Betty Ann and Ray. One such trip, by train, was time-consuming but probably a lot easier on her stomach than another by airplane, according to her. Other "fun times" saw her enjoying a game of dominoes or cards with members of her family, watching "Wheel of Fortune" or a Texas Rangers game on television, or just curled up in an easy chair with a word puzzle book.

Often, as she approached the onset of a new day, Aileen could be heard singing or humming one of her favorite songs, "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning." And so it would be, according to her family, who could only add to that, "Oh, What a Beautiful Day," thanks to her.

Memorials can be made to Sacred Heart Trust Fund or Home Hospice of Cooke County.

Margaret Medders Orr
1918 - 2012

Funeral services for Margaret E. Orr were held Monday, Jan. 16 at McCoy Funeral Home in Muenster. Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery in Muenster. Services were officiated by Fr. Ken Robinson and directed by McCoy Funeral Home. She died Thursday, Jan. 12, 2012 in Brookville, Ohio.

Margaret, as a young woman was a pediatric nurse for an orphanage. She later was a private duty nurse. She was a member of the Catholic faith who supported her church in many ways throughout her life. After the death of her first husband, she married Ernest Medders, soon retired from nursing, and became an avid political fundraiser while helping with farm work in Muenster.

After being widowed again, Margaret married James Nathan Orr, a Methodist preacher. She did all sorts of volunteer work in Kentucky for more than 20 years as a minister's wife.

She again worshipped at the Catholic Church in Corbin, Kentucky following the death of Mr. Orr. She was the author of The Medders Story, a book published in the 1970s.

Margaret last resided in the Brookhaven Care Center (a retirement community) in Brookville, Ohio.

Survivors include daughters Mary Dyson of Austin and Sarah Lyler of Brownsville; sons Ernest F. Medders and wife Gail of Lewisville, Ohio, and John Riggs and wife Alma of Edenburg, Texas; brothers Joseph C. Smiddy and wife Reba of Wize, Virginia, and Robert L. Smiddy and wife Blanch of Palm Harbor, Florida; 16 grandchildren and 20+ great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by husbands Gene Riggs, Ernest Medders, and James Nathan Orr; daughters Betty Jo Murphree, Mary Nann Riggs, Danna Sue Proctor, and Cathy Riggs; son Gene Riggs; sisters Edna Jane Rose, Mary Elizabeth Brooks, and Ella L. Martin; and brothers Clayton Smiddy and Sillus Smiddy.

The February Brown Bag Book Review will be held at the Morton Museum on Thursday, Feb. 2, at noon. Julia Mayo, a 15-year resident of Lake Kiowa and fifth-generation Texan, retired seven years ago as a national consultant with McGraw-Hill Publishers School Division. She was a teacher prior to joining McGraw-Hill.

The February review will be a look at poems about love written by selected Texas poet laureates by Julia Mayo. The poems will include romantic love, love of friends and family, and love of the land. The poet laureates will include William D. Barney, Larry Thomas, Steven Fromholz, Red Steagall, Paul Ruffin, Karla K. Morton, and Alan Birkelbach.

Cub Scouts display skills at the Pinewood Derby

This year's Cub Scout Pinewood Derby was held on Jan. 15 at 1 p.m. in the Old Muenster Gym. Boys ranging from 1st through 5th grade competed in categories of creativity and speed. The boys receive a Pinewood Derby kit at the Cub Scout Christmas Party. The kit contained a block of wood, wheels, and the Cub Scout Pinewood Derby rules. The boys cut and painted the blocks of wood to create their cars. Each car runs in four races. The car will run once in all four lanes. A computer program randomly selected the boys in groups of four and tracks the speed and order of each race. This year's results are:

Hunter Peel;
Most Creative Design - Owen David;
Best Craftsmanship - Jackson Knabe;
Scout's Choice - Keith Bezner.
Tiger Den 1 standings - 1st Jackson Knabe @ 207.1 mph, 2nd Wyatt Moster @ 202.1 mph, 3rd Hunter Peel @ 198.8 mph;
Wolf Den 2 standings - 1st Robert Batha @ 208.3 mph, 2nd Jace Johnson @ 208.2 mph, 3rd Logan Stewart @ 204.5 mph;
Bear Den 3 standings - 1st Preston Smith @ 206.1 mph, 2nd Nolan Vogel @ 201.3, 3rd Ralf Rondon @ 198.4 mph;
Webelos I Den standings - 1st Jared Walterscheid @ 208.7 mph, 2nd Jacob Walterscheid @ 208.7 mph, 3rd-Cole Hess @ 208.0 mph;

Webelos II Den standings - 1st Michael McCoy @ 213.2 mph, 2nd Ian Kintz @ 197.0 mph, 3rd Ben Ganzon 183.4 mph;
Overall standing - Michael

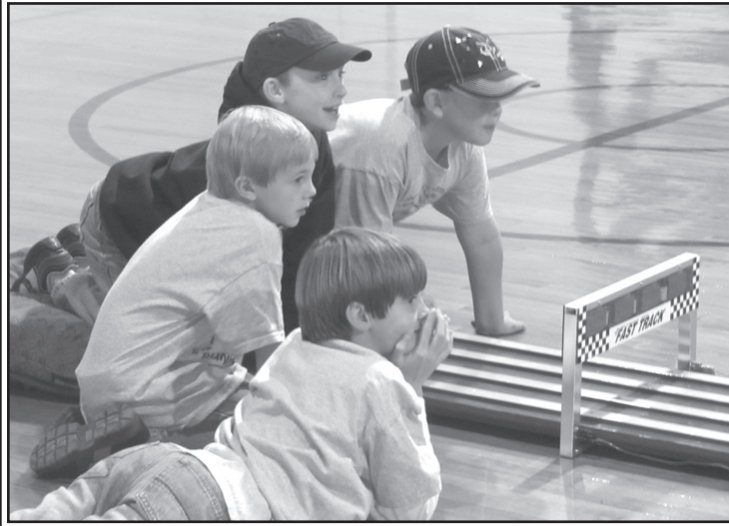

McCoy set a new track record running 214.5 mph, and ranked 1st overall with an average speed of 213.2 mph. Jared and Jacob Walterscheid ranked 2nd and 3rd respectively, both running an average speed of 208.7 mph.

Baptism

Dunlap

Noah Alden Dunlap, son of Keith and Debra Dunlap of Bedford, was baptized as a child of God on Dec. 11, 2011 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church with Fr. Ken Robinson officiating for the sacrament. Noah wore his mother's christening gown and the white booties worn by his Godfather on his Baptismal day. He was wrapped in a white crocheted blanket handmade by his great-aunt Lynn Dunlap. Noah's Godparents are his aunt Allison Dunlap of Irving and his uncle Adam Dangelmayr of Denton. Also present to join in this joyous occasion were his grandparents Joe and Pam Dangelmayr of Muenster and Al and Jody Dunlap of Abilene; uncles and aunts Josh and Kelly McCoy, and Glen and DeeDee Dangelmayr; cousins Samantha and Ethan McCoy, and Cole and Clay Dangelmayr; and family friends Chris and Dana Fuhrmann, Amy Pagel, Jackie Bartush, and Ryan Starrett. Following the ceremony, all gathered at the maternal grandparents' home for lunch. A cake decorated by Noah's Grandma Dangelmayr was served for dessert.

MISD

March 19, May 4, 29, 30, and 31. The purpose of these days is to increase one-on-one instruction of students who qualify. Parents are notified by letter if their child is required to attend school on Flex Days. Flex Days do not apply to students in PreK through second grade and they must attend school on those days.

In her discipline report, Principal Heers listed five or 6% student conferences or office referrals. Of the five students, none were referred more than once. There was one detention from the principal and 12 detentions from teachers. Of those 13 detentions (conduct and homework), four students attended more than once.

The passing rate for the 3rd six weeks was 87% and 91% for the semester.

Principal Browning reported that letters were mailed home for students who must attend the Jan. 16 Flex Day. There are 56 students at the JH/HS level. One third of those are attendance only (five or more absences in the semester). There were no assignments for discipline issues. The remainder of the assignments were a combination of TAKS failures, poor performance on benchmarks, and failing grades.

Technology Director Jeff Presnall's report said training for STEMscopes for the elementary and junior high science teachers took place Jan. 2. This new on-line science curriculum will be introduced to students.

The superintendent's computer was configured for remote access and cloud storage to allow Mr. Richerson to work from home when needed.

Athletic Director Brady Carney told of football All-State honors. He said that there is still another list to be released later this month.

Two State Qualifier boards for individual sports are displayed in the new gym. Coach Amy Binder worked on the board information.

Carney said that football realignment will be done on Feb. 2. Muenster will drop down to a lower classification. He feels that they will be going west and have a good distance to travel next year. He feels that basketball districts will stay close to the same with less travel distance.

In other business conducted at the Jan. 11 meeting, the Board:

- Approved track repair by filling in cracks at a cost of $2,300 with work to be done by Texas Sports & Turf Builders.

Prior to the meeting, Board members were treated to a catered meal. This was in appreciation for their hard work. January is School Board Month.

GAVA to hold annual exhibit

Gainesville Area Visual Arts (GAVA) Group, opens its second annual exhibit of member's paintings called Art & Flowers. Some of the art work is appropriate to Valentine's Day and will be exhibited on Feb. 10 and 11 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The show will be at Vine & Branches located at 401 N. Grand in Gainesville.

There will be a raffle of paintings, sale of paintings, and sale of cards. The drawing for the raffled paintings will be at 3 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 11. Winners will be notified by phone and will choose their painting, according to the first to last name drawn.

A percentage of the proceeds will benefit the GAVA scholarship fund. This $500 scholarship helps a graduating senior of any Cooke County high school who plans to do further study of the visual arts. Applications for this scholarship can be made by contacting GAVA at (940) 372-8176.

Cooke County working for you featuring Extension Office

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County is one of the Texas counties fortunate enough to have three Texas AgriLife Extension Service agents serving them. Phyllis Griffin specializes in 4-H and youth development, Angel Neu in family and consumer programs, and Wayne Becker in agriculture and natural resources. There is a fourth focus, community development, which all three agents strive to fulfill. They try to better the community through beautification, education, fundraising for scholarships, etc.

As the agricultural extension agent, Becker works with farmers, ranchers, gardeners, home owners, and others relaying his knowledge of agriculture or natural resources. He writes a weekly column that keeps the public informed of current issues whether it is what to do with your lawn or garden, insects and pests in crops or gardens, or whatever. He works with volunteers in the Master Gardeners Program and the Cooke County Beef Cattle Association. People go the Extension office seeking information on a wide variety of topics and the Extension agents do their best to assist them. Neu remarked, "One of the things that is unique about our office is that we have something beneficial to everyone depending on what stage they are at. If we don't have it, we have the resources of Texas A&M at our back to call." Formerly located in the Cooke County Courthouse, the AgriLife office was moved to the old county jail building at 301 South Chestnut in Gainesville. That is now their permanent home. Amy Botcher serves as secretary for the Extension office.

Police Notes

from Muenster Chief of Police Mark Blankenship

The Muenster Police Department during the first 15 days of January 2012 responded to 22 CALLS FOR SERVICE, recorded eight INCIDENT REPORTS, issued 21 CITATIONS, and made two ARRESTS. This was in addition to routine patrol, safety, and security services.

It has been noticed that an incline in thefts and burglaries are occurring in our area. We urge everyone to lock cars, doors, and secure all valuable items to deter being a victim. Also on the rise are the ever present SCAMS. Don't fall for deals to good to be true. If you suspect or see something believed to be illegal, report it as soon as possible .... NEIGHBORS PROTECTING NEIGHBORS ....

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I just want to share a good memory of Earl Hess with your readers. I have a farm that borders Earl's, so we were neighbors. We built a new divider fence together and we got along great!!

It was in the 1970s and I was teaching at the Gainesville State School. I was also raising some small calves on this farm next to Earl's.

One weekend, Tudor and I went out of town. We returned Sunday to find four calves missing, with tire tracks and hoof prints where they wrestled them on the trailer. Not much evidence for our County sheriff to work with!

Two months later, we left town again - with the same results - four more calves missing! Someone was either watching us, or knew when to hit!!

I went to Earl and told him what had happened. He was upset - kinda' like John Wayne - not wanting any injustice in his territory!! I asked him to call me if he ever saw any lights around my barn!

It wasn't a week later when I got home late from work, and, of course, I had to feed those calves in the dark! As I was bringing a bale of hay out of my barn, this bright spotlight hit me right in the eyes!!

I had no idea what was going on until I heard "Oh - it's you!!" I walked to Earl's truck to find him in his underwear! He didn't even take the time to put his pants on - but his loaded shotgun was right by his side!! He was sure he had caught the cattle thief, but we were both kind of relieved he didn't!!

Earl did several favors for me - one of the biggest was thawing pipes to my dairy barn with his welder one cold night. You can't milk cows without water - but Earl was there - and of course, he would never take pay!

Earl was what you would call "an old fashioned neighbor" - when everyone looked after and helped anyone they could! He was a good one, and I'll sure miss Earl with his dog, driving by my house!!

Sneak Peek Party

Date: Saturday, January 21st

Time: 2:00PM to ?

*Refreshments and snacks will be provided.

Germanfest, Inc. and the Mages Group invite you to come see a 'Sneak Peek' of the new festival grounds located off Highway 82 and South Ash Street in Muenster, TX.

We are proud to announce that Phase 1 of the new park has been completed. The sixty thousand square foot festival pavilion is now near completion, and the sixty-four acre festival grounds are close to being leveled and ready for parking lots, bridges and the amphitheater.

This project has come a long way with a great deal of planning, support, dedication and donations, and we want the community to join us in celebrating the much anticipated reality of the new festival pavilion that will provide a location to host many various events, stimulate our local economy and promote our German heritage.

Come see for yourself what Muenster's future has in store with a "SNEAK PEEK" of the new festival pavilion!

County Agent's Report

AgriLife Research study aimed at reducing drought-stress losses to wheat

Texas AgriLife Research scientists are trying to make the best of an "extreme" situation. Drought conditions crippled wheat crops the past year; but drought is not new, it is expected to continue, and needs to be dealt with, according to the group.

"Texas AgriLife Research is building a very strong team to study the drought tolerance in wheat in the Texas Panhandle, which is one of the best environments in the world to work on drought," according to Dr. Jackie Rudd, AgriLife Research wheat breeder.

During 2011, drought stress resulted in the loss of about 240 million bushels of winter wheat in the Southern Great Plains. Texas wheat production was down 80 million bushels from the 2010 crop, Rudd said, which is "close to a $500 million hit on the Texas economy at today's wheat prices."

The team will look at different angles of drought stress in wheat with different expertise, but all with the same objective in mind: develop wheat varieties for the variable and unpredictable High Plains' environment, Rudd said.

Wheat is the second most important cereal crop in the U.S. and winter wheat, planted on 70% of the cultivated wheat area, often suffers yield reductions due to periodic drought, he said.

Rudd is joining forces with Dr. Qingwu Xue, AgriLife Research crop stress physiologist; Dr. Shuyu Liu, AgriLife Research small grains geneticist; and Dr. Srirama Krishna Reddy, a postdoctoral research associate, to take drought studies from the field to genetic laboratories and back to producers with more drought-tolerant wheat varieties that can reduce those losses.

"We chose three wheat varieties that are all among the top yielding under irrigation but they differ in their yield response to drought," Rudd said. "The next step is to determine what is going on inside the plant and use this understanding to move to the next level."

The three AgriLife Research-produced wheat varieties, TAM 111, TAM 112 and TAM 304, are widely planted - 3.25 million acres in 2011 in the Southern Great Plains, he said. While it is known that each has a different response to water stress, the physiological and molecular basis of their adaptation is unknown.

TAM 112 is the best when the drought is season-long like this past year, Rudd said. TAM 111 can take intermittent dry spells very well but needs rain from time to time. TAM 304 yields great when fully irrigated, but is usually not in the top ranks in dry years.

The team has already learned a lot by collecting data during two contrasting years of rainfall. 2010 was a good year for wheat yield and 2011 was one of the driest years on record, he said.

"Initially, we propose to use physiological measurements and yield parameters to evaluate the impact of specific drought-stress treatments on the phenotype and physiology of the plants in controlled greenhouse and field conditions," Xue said.

"We will then employ a systems biology approach to elucidate the drought tolerance mechanisms of the above mentioned varieties," Krishna Reddy said. "Recent advances in genetics and basic biology have given us tools that will complement the traditional breeding approach."

"Understanding the mechanisms of drought tolerance will enable us to design more effective molecular markers to be used in screening breeding populations for wheat improvement," Liu said.

The results will be validated under field conditions with a wide range of wheat genotypes. Then wheat breeders can apply the molecular markers to screen for targeted drought-tolerance genes in breeding programs, he said.

Rudd said the knowledge generated will help to accelerate variety development in the U.S. and in other similar environments throughout the world, and ultimately result in the release of drought-tolerant and high-yielding wheat varieties that benefit producers.

"Improved genetics cannot replace timely rains, but we have made significant improvements in drought tolerance through traditional plant breeding, and further improvements are likely in the future," Rudd said.

Farm Bureau leaders attend Texas Farm Bureau annual meeting

The time to plant early, cool season vegetables is near

The vegetable planting guide for Cooke County tells us that planting season for vegetable enthusiasts is just around the corner. It is almost time to put some vegetables in the ground. These include: radish, rutabaga, and spinach. Others can be put out as early as Feb. 1. Among these are: cabbage, garlic, onions, and peas. A whole host of other cool season vegetables follow very shortly: beets, broccoli, brussel sprouts, carrots, cauliflower, collards, Kale, Kohlrabi, lettuce, mustard, parsnip, potatoes, swiss chard, and turnips. Of course, it is not critical that you plant at the earliest possible time for most of these vegetables. However, the fact is, if you plan to have cool weather crops early this spring, it is certainly time for soil preparation.

Soils should not be prepared for planting when too wet or too dry. If soil sticks to your shoes or shovel, it is too wet. Press a small amount of soil in your hand. When the moisture is right, the soil crumbles and breaks into small clumps. If it is too wet, it stays molded in a ball. Have your soil tested for the amount of fertilizer or manure to apply before planting. A routine soil test gives information on any lime requirement, phosphorous and potassium needs, and estimated nitrogen requirements. We have soil sample bags at the office and would be happy to help you with the instructions as you prepare the sample to be sent to the lab in College Station.

Rake or harrow the planting area immediately after tilling or spading. A firm, fine seedbed is best, particularly for small-seeded crops, but packing the soil too much could promote crusting of the soil surface and damage emerging seedlings. If you were able to till the soil in late fall, you are more likely to be ready for earlier spring planting.

Foaling and drought recovery seminar
There will be a free seminar Jan. 26 at 7 p.m. at the Gainesville Civic Center located at 311 S. Weaver, Gainesville. It will be the 4th Annual Seminar for Horse Owners in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma. The theme for the seminar will be Foaling and Drought Recovery.

Dr. Khris Crowe will discuss the first 72 hours of your foal's life; Dr. Brett Spencer will tell us about different diseases being noticed because of the drought; Wayne Becker will talk about post-drought pasture recovery; and Carlton Crowe will discuss the effects of the drought on horse nutrition.

The event will be free to the public, but RSVP is requested (940-668-5412). In addition to the speakers, the night will feature door prizes, refreshments and commercial exhibits. The event is co-sponsored by Midpoint Equine Clinic, Red River Equine Services, and Texas AgriLife Extension Service from Cooke and Grayson counties.

Dates to remember
Jan. 25 - Master Gardener Training Course Begins. Call (940) 668-5412 for more information.
