Calling leads Dan Aedo to Muenster

By Janet Felderhoff

Dan Aedo brings with him to Muenster scrapbooks filled with memories of young people and successful youth ministry events from previous parishes. Dan recently accepted the position of youth minister at Sacred Heart Parish and is filled with ideas and plans he hopes to carry out in Muenster.

A service career is what Dan sought when he graduated Hilbert College, a small Catholic College with Franciscan values in Hamburg, New York, in 1997. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Criminal Justice. He planned to serve as a cop, but he said the Lord had a different plan.

In 2001, Dan said yes to the calling the Lord had for him and became a full-time youth minister. He had been a catechist for three years, assisting with the Confirmation program. "We took over 100 youth to World Youth Day in Rome in 2000 to see the Holy Father Pope John Paul II," recalled Dan. "That's when I felt the call to serve them full time. It's been amazing ever since. In 2001, I was the full-time youth minister at St. Thomas Aquinas and ran their Life Teen Program from 2001 to 2004 and headed up The EDGE Program." The EDGE is a middle school youth program.

While in the military from 1986 to 1992, Dan was in Texas twice - for his basic training at San Antonio and again at Wichita Falls Air Force Base for training.

Dan calls Buffalo, New York home, but he's made his home in many places. In 1997, he moved to Mesa, Arizona where he spent seven years as a youth minister. Father John from St. Patrick's in Denison brought him to Texas. Dan was youth minister for St. Patrick's for five years. In 2009, Dan moved to Arizona where he accepted a job as youth minister. During the time he was there, he trained core members and established a program. Due to finances, the parish decided not to pay for a full-time youth minister. Dan was looking for a new parish when he learned that Sacred Heart in Muenster had an opening. He contacted Father Ken and was hired.

"I had worked with some Muenster kids from Sacred Heart. There are some from Sherman and Denison who go to Sacred Heart High School," Dan noted.

With the population of Muenster being about 95% Catholic, Dan is excited about the experience. He said that the other areas he served had more Protestants than Catholics.

Here in Muenster, Dan explained his goal as being, "To bring the teens closer to God through Jesus Christ and His Church. How we do that is to teach them what their parents have already brought them up in - the Catholic faith and to form good relationships amongst their peers, to help them feel part of the parish, to do some exciting new programs. I am very, very excited."

Dan will be building on to some of the things that have already been brought to the parish youth. He plans to

Fuhrmans gift $1.5 million to Germanfest, Inc. project

By Janet Felderhoff

Alvin Fuhrman believes in the benefits that Germanfest offers the local community. He has been involved in the local event since its inception in 1976 when he served on the founding committee. During those years, Fuhrman developed a vision of what he felt Germanfest should become.

Two years ago, he formed a board to aid in bringing this vision to fruition. Known as the Germanfest, Inc. Board, the team set out in search of land suitable to build a place near Muenster to hold the event. Then, 92 acres were purchased just west of Ash Street from Bayer Brothers. Of that acreage, 28 were kept for the future Germanfest park, and the other 64.625 were sold to the Muenster Industrial Foundation for future development. Both properties were annexed into the Muenster

City limits in June.

To push the park project closer to becoming a reality, Alvin and Gracie Fuhrman donated $1.5 million to Germanfest, Inc. for developing the park. They made the donation official last Thursday afternoon when the couple presented a check to Germanfest, Inc.

An amphitheater is being sponsored by the Clyde Fisher family.

The pavilion and an amphitheater are being sponsored by local donors, but there are many other needs to complete the park and ready it for crowds.

A ground breaking ceremony scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 15 at 5:30 p.m. is open to the public. Donations will be accepted that day. Board members offer to discuss the future park or a donation at any time. Serving on that Board are: Alvin Fuhrman, president; Chas Bayer, vice president; Kirk Klement, treasurer; Carolyn McPherson, secretary; and Matt Sicking, Annette Walterscheid, John Broyles, Kathryn Koch, Stan Endres, and Margie Starke.

The Board of Directors of Germanfest, Inc. plans to hold other functions to cover the cost of things such as utilities, parking, landscaping, fencing, etc.

Germanfest is not the only event that will take place at the new Germanfest location. The goal is to hold at least one Muenster Chamber sponsored event there per month. It will be available for other functions as well.

Non profit organizations taking money into their coffers from the Annual Germanfest include Muenster Jaycees, Muenster Knights of Columbus, Sacred Heart Alumni and Supporters, and Muenster Public Library.

Barr considers variables of game warden career a plus

By Janet Felderhoff

Cooke County native Darla Barr transferred back to her home county and family farm when she took over the duties of game warden for Cooke County. Game Warden Jim Lundberg's retirement in May opened this window of opportunity for Barr.

Barr worked in areas of law enforcement for the past 22 years. In October, 18 of those will be with the Parks & Wildlife. Barr began her law enforcement career as a dispatcher for the Whitesboro PD, a patrol officer at Whitesboro PD, then served as a correctional officer for Cooke County Sheriff's Department. During her years with Texas Parks & Wildlife, Barr taught at different police academies. She is certified as an EMT. "I got that just because of the locations I patrol and the times I'm there," noted the game warden. "Especially if we have to do a search and rescue, it can come in quite handy." She began her game warden career in Dallas County and transferred to Lamar County where she's worked for the last 12 years.

Barr attributes her desire to serve as a game warden to her rural upbringing along the Red River. She noted, "My father farmed and ranched. I know well some of the problems that landowners have with persons who trespass and poach, tear up property. It just seemed to me the thing to do would be to do something to make a difference in that. I can completely sympathize with the property owners who have had property shot up and livestock shot, because I've been in their shoes too."

Some of Barr's courageous and protective attitudes came out when she was 17. She recalls that someone shot one of the family's calves. There was only one road in and out of that property, so that weekend she got a lawn chair and her 22 and set up watch in the shadows to see if the trespasser returned. (She's not sure now what she'd have done had that been the case.) That just might have been the spark that brought her to her chosen career.

Also, Barr enjoys being outdoors. Spending a lot of time in an office was not appealing to her outdoor spirit.

Barr is numbered among the very few women who have achieved the office of game warden. She said of this accomplishment, "It has its challenges, but it has its benefits as well." She has not personally had problems because of her gender. She added, "I think that has to go with how you approach and how you present yourself. You can have unique niches and unique opportunities whether you are male or female in this job. As long as you treat people fairly and they know that you are there to conduct business and that you are there to protect resources, and you present yourself in a professional manner, that is going to be the main part to gain the respect that you have to have."

It is difficult for anybody to become a game warden ac-

For me that's been an almost born-to position."

Game wardens often work alone at night in remote areas. To be successful in this unique calling takes a special determination, said Barr. "It's definitely not a job, it's a career," she reflected. "It is something that we love to do. You don't do this job to get rich or to have the weekends off. You do the job because you want to be there and because you want to make a difference with conservation law enforcement."

Game wardens have the opportunity to work outdoors, have flexibility in scheduling, and the variety of tasks change with the seasons. This appeals to Barr who said, "You never end up with a job that is the same thing day after day after day and nothing changes. This one, something is always changing. It keeps it fresh and new. Going to work is something you really enjoy."

The unexpected can sometimes be a bit spine tingling. Barr recalls something that occurred in her first years as a game warden. She was filling in for someone in a county that she was not familiar with. She had backed her vehicle into an area and was keeping watch. It was 2 a.m. in the dead of night with nobody coming or going on the road and no creatures near, she thought. Suddenly at the back of her vehicle a calf coughed and snorted. She said that was an awakening experience that quickly made her aware of her surroundings. Looking back now, she laughs about the incident.

The worst parts of the job are having to go out on fatalities and body recoveries, she revealed. "Through the years, there's been many drownings that I've been out on for the recovery of bodies. Many of those had been children. The very sad part of that is the majority of those deaths could have been prevented if parents had been attentive." Standing out is three four-year-olds in one weekend on a couple of different lakes. "Had the parents been right there with them, had they had life jackets on, they could have all been prevented. That's what I would consider the thing I worst of this job. The things that happen that could have been prevented. There's going to be accidents that happen. Accidents are things that are unforeseen and you can't prevent. In these particular incidents, they could have been prevented. It was a tragic loss of life."

No day is routine in the life of a Texas game warden. Responsibilities change with the seasons. For instance, dove season opened last Wednesday, and Labor Day weekend brought people to the lakes. Teal season opens this weekend and lasts for two weeks. Then the opening of bow season for deer kicks in, and so on. "A standard day just does not exist," Barr commented. "You can plan on doing something in advance, but that's always subject to change from emergency calls that come in to injured wildlife calls that come in, or being called away on disasters. It's a never constant schedule. It's always changing."

Barr said that a game warden has the same authority as a deputy sheriff, highway patrol officer, or a city policeman. "We can all investigate and stop people for speeding or DWI or burglaries," she explained. "I, however, focus primarily on the wildlife, the hunting, fishing, water safety regulations. Those officers can enforce them if they know what they are, but the majority of your police officers are not trained in the wildlife laws. We have the training in the wildlife laws in addition to standard penal code and traffic laws. That's not something I try to focus on, but if I'm there and it happens, then we'll take care of the situation." She added that game wardens are the only officers who are given the authority to go on to private property without the landowner's consent when they have a possible wildlife violation occurring. Also, for search and seizure of game or other articles that may have wildlife illegally taken or contained, that's where they have more power and duties than a regular peace officer.

Cooke County has some youth programs going and Barr plans to continue with them and possibly add some of her own to the mix. "Our youth really are our most precious renewable resource," remarked Barr. "Our youth will be our leaders of tomorrow and if we can teach them to be responsible and to respect wildlife, respect outdoors, that goes hand and hand with respecting other people's rights, and taking responsibility for their own actions, which is something that adults would do well to carry on. Youth will be the ones to carry on our hunting and fishing traditions. So if they are taught early to be respectful, to be courteous, and to do what is ethical (we explain that as doing what is morally right even if no one else is there to see you but doing the right thing because it is the right thing to do), I think that goes a long way to helping the youth becoming adults and having a good self esteem, having an outlook for fairness. Those seem to be some of the values that are lost along the way these days."

Cooke County's enthusiastic new game warden said she plans to continue to serve the area citizens and landowners as her predecessor did. "As problems arise, we will work together to solve them," she pledged. "We can resolve issues, but with one person in Cooke County, you rely on landowners and ethical hunters to be watchful for those who are taking advantage of wildlife and then to report them. That's the only way that we can keep them from continuing to abuse our resources. I really do look forward to working with the landowners and the residents of the County. I really encourage them to be involved."

Barr also suggests that citizens utilize Operation Game Thief (OGT), a 24-hour, seven day a week hot-line, that allows people the opportunity to call and possibly collect a reward for information on people who are taking wildlife illegally. This can be done anonymously should someone fear retaliation. A reward can be requested should a conviction be made from your information. Barr stressed, "The more information you can give, the better chances we will have of making a case. If you have somebody that you saw shoot off the side of the road and they retrieved a deer off of somebody's pasture, if you can give the location, the type of vehicle they were in, a license plate is great." Other helpful information includes the color, make, any distinguishing marks, a tailgate or not, stickers in the window, anything that would be a distinguishing mark; number and gender of people in the vehicle, ages, etc. The OGT number is 1-800-792-GAME. This number is good throughout Texas.

Barr remarked, "There are just a little over 500 game wardens to cover the State of Texas and that's 254 counties. We have to have the landowners and the other hunters' help."

Barr said that she will conduct hunter education courses at various times during the year. She plans to offer education programs for schools and civic organizations, and try to let people know what the game warden's job is and how people can help them or how to become involved.

There are two options when trying to contact Barr. Her cell phone number is (940)390-9206 or call the Cooke County Sheriff's office. At times, she is out of range and can't be contacted. A voice mail will be answered. If it is an emergency, call the Sheriff's office and there will be a response, she urged.

Darla and her husband Tom live on the farm where Darla grew up. Her parents are Doris and the late John Hargesheimer. Tom is a deputy sheriff for Lamar County. They met while they were attending Cooke County Junior College and have been married for 21 years. She earned her degree in Criminal Justice from the local college and had graduated from Callisburg High School.

continue with the activities such as the DCYC and Camp Fort Worth. He plans to add some leadership camps and retreats during the year - both for junior high and high school. Dan said he is in the building stage right now and he needs volunteers and core members to help with the programs. He welcomes those interested in helping to contact him.

"My goal is to build this program to help them make good decisions," Dan explained. "To help continue to form their consciences, to choose the good and avoid the bad and evil in the world, and to live sacramental lives. To really understand what the gift of our Catholic faith is with the Eucharist and Mass, and the excitement of going to Mass and participating at Mass. Also, our Catholic faith is a universal faith, so to participate in different activities like World Youth Day in our Diocese of Fort Worth and Dallas, to come together in October to participate with that like we have in the past." Service projects will be another aspect of the youth ministry.

Fun and exciting are adjectives Dan hopes will describe the local youth program. In January, it is Dan's goal to transition into a non classroom setting for the religious education program for grades seven through 12. "It's been an amazing ride watching the teens grow and seeing them get married and leading their own programs; seeing them grow in their faith and share it with others," Dan remarked of his experiences as a youth minister.

Dan admitted that he loves sports. He played three years of college baseball and still plays hardball when he gets an opportunity. Camping, fishing, and traveling are also enjoyed by Dan. He participated in mission trips to Honduras that he very much enjoyed.

The new youth minister said he plans to be here for some time. He looks forward to establishing programs and bringing in more programs as they grow. "I'm blessed and humbled to be here," he said. He plans to meet soon with junior high and high school students from the local community. Dan looks forward to meeting them and their parents in the coming days.

Dan is the youngest of three children. He has two older sisters. He is single and has two black labs, Lacy, age four, and Lucy, age five. He presently resides in Denison, but is looking for a place closer to his job.

Citizen-led I-35 planning committees seek the public's input on the future of the I-35 Corridor

The I-35 Corridor Segment Committees behind the citizen-driven MY 35 effort will seek input from members of their community in September at a series of public involvement workshops. The Committee will hold workshops in nine towns to gather public feedback on their plan. On Tuesday, Sept. 14, they will meet at the Gainesville Civic Center from 6-8 p.m. Each of the four segment committees have met regularly over the past nine months to turn their locally-generated ideas for I-35 improvements into a draft plan for the future of the well-traveled corridor. Sharing the draft plans with the public is one of the final steps before each segment finalizes their plan and collaborates with the I-35 Corridor Advisory Committee and other I-35 Corridor Segment Committees and consolidates each regional plan into a comprehensive, long-range mobility plan for the entire I-35 corridor. Ultimately, the MY 35 effort will result in a plan that reflects the interests and concerns of citizens living and working along the corridor.

perspective on I-35 improvements including identifying corridor needs, conducting public outreach efforts such as the upcoming public involvement workshops, collaborating with the public and local stakeholders, and creating regional transportation blueprints. The MY 35 plan, which is overseen by the I-35 Corridor Advisory Committee and the four segment committees, will be given to the Texas Transportation Commission and the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) to guide future corridor development in 2011.

Members of TxDOT staff will be present at each public involvement workshop to explain how the MY 35 effort fits in with the Department's statewide planning efforts, and segment committee members will be available to discuss the specifics of their draft plan. Each segment's draft plan, notes from prior meetings, and a full schedule of the upcoming workshops is available online by visiting www.my35.org.

Head for the freezer for produce

The produce section may be a bit bare this time of year, but that doesn't give anyone a free pass to skip on fruits and vegetables.

Dr. Jo Ann Carson, professor of clinical nutrition said the solution lies in choosing as much fresh seasonal produce as possible, then augmenting it with a mixture of frozen and canned offerings.

Frozen fruits and vegetables often contain nearly as many nutrients as fresh produce because they have been picked, frozen, and packaged at their peak, she said.

Dr. Carson also notes that some canned vegetables, including pumpkin, provide more vitamins per serving than their fresh counterparts.

The key, she said, is to watch the sugar and sodium content, because canned produce can be higher in both. "A good principle is to look for fruit without added sugar or syrups and vegetables without extra butter, salt, or cream sauces," Dr. Carson said.

Endres, Rozell exchange vows in Sacred Heart Church

Lisa Ann Endres of Muenster and Andrew Douglas Rozell of Highland Village were united in Holy Matrimony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster on Friday, July 23, 2010 at 7 p.m. Fr. Ken Robinson and Fr. Kyle Walterscheid celebrated the wedding Mass. Fr. Ken officiated for the double ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Gary and Mary Endres of Muenster. She is the granddaughter of Clara Endres of Muenster and the late Ed Endres and the late Gary Endres and Caroline Hess. Parents of the groom are W. Ronald and Sarah Rozell of Highland Village. His grandparents are Margie Rozell of Dallas and the late Wallace R. Rozell, the late Henry Burks, and Christopher and Florence Quail of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in her formal wedding gown, something new, and a veil borrowed from her sister Shauna. Something blue was her garter. She carried a bouquet of red roses in which was entwined her paternal grandmother's gold cross necklace, something old. The necklace was also worn or carried by the bride's aunts, cousins, and older sisters on the day of their weddings.

Music for the wedding was provided by Jack White, vocalist, and Isaac Davis pianist. Selections before Mass included "Wedding Song," "Bridal Prayer," and "Surely the Presence." The wedding party processed to "Canon in D" by Pachelbel. The bride's processional was "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell. Mendelssohn's "Bridal March" was the Recessional. During Mass, songs included "The Greatest Gift," "Take and Eat," and "How Beautiful."

ATTENDANTS

Nicole Bayer of Muenster, best friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Nicole Hennigan, Shauna Huchton, Natalie Endres, and Victoria Endres, all of Muenster and sisters of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Alana Endres of Muenster, sister of the bride, and Judy Rozell of Highland Village, sister of the groom. Claudia Hennigan, bride's Goddaughter, was flower girl.

Mat Burkepile of Denton, friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were friends of the groom, Steven Armstrong and Matt Di Giovanni, both of Denton, and Tony Gutierrez and John Woerly, both of Fort Worth. Ushers were Luke Endres, bride's brother, Doug Hennigan and Shane Huchton of Muenster, bride's brothers-in-law, and Andy Hogue of Austin and Michael Sabot of Smyrna, Georgia, both friends of the groom.

Assisting as altar servers were Scott, Will, and Ben Green of Muenster, and seminarian Daniel Cochran, all friends of the bride.

The First Reading, Sirach 26: 1-4, 13-16, was given by Roy Endres, brother of the bride. Angelo Nasche, Jr., cousin of the bride, gave the Second Reading, Ephesians 5:22-33. Fr. Kyle read the Gospel, Mark 10: 6-9, and he gave the homily. Friend of the groom Philip Airey read the petitions. Eucharistic ministers were Stevan Nanche, bride's cousin, Nolan Hartman, bride's cousin, and Tony Gutierrez, groom's friend. Doyle and Debbie Hess, bride's Godparents, presented the Gifts at Offertory.

RECEPTION

A reception for approximately 250 guests hosted by parents of the bride and groom was held outdoors at the home of Doyle and Debbie Hess. Hors d'oeuvres made by Debbie Endres, bride's aunt, and her family were served. Music was provided by the Willie Kick-It Band.

The bride's cake was a four-tier vanilla and chocolate confection with white icing decorated in black. Baby red roses cascaded down the side of the cake and a kneeling bride and groom with Jesus standing behind them topped the creation. Annette Bayer was the reception assistant.

The rehearsal dinner, given by the parents of the groom, was held Thursday evening at Rohmer's Restaurant. Approximately 55 friends and family were in attendance.

The bride is a 2004 graduate of Sacred Heart Catholic School and attended the University of Dallas. She is employed as a bookkeeper by Stevens Floor Coverings.

Moody completes Navy basic training

Navy Hospitalman Apprentice Eryn Moody, daughter of Denis and Susan Moody, completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Illinois on Aug. 27.

During the eight-week program, HMSA Moody completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

and the core values of Honor, Courage, and Commitment. Its distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

Eryn was assigned to the "910" division which is an elite drill division, consisting of the Navy Drum and Flag Corps, Rifle Team, and Navy Choir, dedicated to performing during graduations and for visiting dignitaries.

Traveling to Great Lakes to celebrate Eryn's graduation from Navy boot camp were her parents Commander Denis Moody and Yeoman Chief Petty Officer Susan Moody, and her brother Naval Aircrewman Second Class Petty Officer Christopher Moody.

Eryn is excited about her follow on assignment at Great Lakes Naval Training Center as she begins her 14 week course to start her initial studies at the Hospital Corpsmen "A" school before taking future orders.

Preventing MRSA infections

Antibiotic-resistant staph infections, usually involving the skin, are showing up more often among healthy people. Here are some prevention tips:

- Wash hands thoroughly and often with soap and water.
- Keep cuts and abrasions clean and covered with a bandage until healed.
- Avoid contact with other people's wounds or material contaminated by wounds.
- Do not share items such as razors, soap, ointments and balms, towels or wash cloths, clothing or uniforms.
- If participating in contact sports, cover cuts, scrapes, and other wounds with a bandage.
- Shower with soap immediately after each practice or game.
- Wipe down all nonwashable equipment (mats, head protectors, gymnastics equipment, etc.) with alcohol or antibiotic solution after each person uses it.
- If caring for someone with an infection at home, wash hands with soap after each physical contact and before going outside. Only use towels for drying hands once. Change and launder linens frequently, right away if they are soiled.
- When contact with body fluids is expected, wear disposable gloves and wash hands after removing them.
- See a physician promptly if you have a suspicious skin sore or boil.

An Open House was held in the afternoon. The event was hosted by the couple's daughters and son-in-law, Alice Margaret Gruber and Annette and Joe Schmitz,

Mr. and Mrs. Gruber were united in holy matrimony on Aug. 13, 1960 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster by Father Alcuin Kubis, OSB. Matron of honor was Irma Forrester, sister of the bride, and best man was Bill Gruber, brother of the groom.

Cooke County CASA needs volunteers for Teens and Tweens

We've all heard it said that it takes a special kind of person to work well with teens and those who are between childhood and the teenage years, known as "tweens." This could be true, but more often than not, children of all ages desire someone to be "there" for them, someone who simply makes time for them to show they care.

If you're that kind of person, CASA could use your help. The non-profit child advocacy agency has, in recent weeks, experienced an upswing in the number of older children (teens and "tweens") who are now in foster care.

"We have cases that don't have a CASA volunteer at this time. Some are older children who are not only going through the normal struggles of adolescence, but who also have the added turmoil of just now being thrown into foster care because of abuse or neglect," said Vicki Robertson, executive director of CASA. "We are struggling at this time to meet the need for people who will come alongside these kids and look out for their best interests."

If you are newly retired, experiencing the "empty nest" syndrome, or simply looking for a worthwhile volunteer project to do individually or even as a couple -

CASA's children could use a friend, a volunteer, someone to look out for them. If you often count your blessings and then wish you could do something to help those less fortunate - think of getting involved with CASA.

CASA is taking applications for an upcoming volunteer training set for mid-September and another in October. Both daytime and evening classes will be held.

In order to become a CASA volunteer, one must be 21 years of age, have a clean criminal background, no prior history with Child Protective Services, have a heart for children, and complete a 33-hour training. There are no educational requirements necessary to become a CASA volunteer.

CASA volunteers are trained volunteers who are appointed by the local District Judge to help the court deal with child abuse cases. CASA volunteers bring three critical assets to their work: they focus on one case at a time; because they come from outside the child welfare system, they bring a unique perspective to the case; and their sole responsibility is to speak up for the best interest of the child.

To request a volunteer application packet or an appointment, call (940) 665-2244.

KMB teaches SH science students recycling and beautification

Dr. Elaine Schilling, president of Keep Muenster Beautiful (KMB), served as guest speaker on Aug. 23 for the environmental class at Sacred Heart Catholic High School. She came at the invitation of Katrinka Bartush, teacher of the school's environmental class and Principal Dr. Rafael Rondon to give an informative speech to the new students about Keeping Muenster Beautiful while learning about the environment around them.

The KMB calendar of events/membership brochure was distributed and reviewed. A slide show put together by Kay Broyles was used to show the many changes Muenster has seen over the years due to the monies won through Keep Texas Beautiful. The class was shown how best to make their campus environmentally friendly while beautifying.

Paper, aluminum cans, ink cartridges, and other items have been recycled over the years, but need to be taken to the next level for full campus participation. The students have already begun an awareness bulletin board for Keep Muenster Beautiful and are interested in the Waste in Place program sponsored by Keep America Beautiful. All students were given KMB T-shirts and bumper stickers before posing for a class photo.

After Dr. Schilling's presentation, the class decided to form a Sacred Heart KMB Club. The class will be the focal point for activities Sacred Heart students can do on behalf of KMB. Mrs. Bartush said that they have also contacted Keep Texas Beautiful to request training for the Keep America Beautiful Program "Waste in Place." This training will enable students to educate students in the lower grades on the impact of reducing waste and recycling.

The class has implemented two programs on campus to encourage recycling and reducing waste. Additional activities such as assisting with the community garage sale will be added throughout the year. "We are very excited about this opportunity to help our community," remarked Mrs. Bartush.

College and Career Corner Considering community colleges

By Rose Rennekamp

This year, 12 million students are enrolled in community colleges. And that number is bound to grow. President Obama has called for every American to complete at least one year of postsecondary education. So if you're looking for a college, consider your local community college.

ACT surveys for Faces of the Future show that:

- Community colleges play a substantial role in preparing students for today's workplace;
- Students who have already attained advanced degrees often choose community colleges to upgrade skills;
- Community colleges are the best hope to ensure career and earning competitiveness for the least skilled and most economically disadvantaged.

To be sure, there are real economic reasons for pursuing education beyond high school. According to research from the U.S. Census Bureau and Bureau of Labor Statistics, for every year of education beyond high school, mean wages increase and unemployment rates decrease. The research surveyed 2007 earnings for year-round, full-time workers 25 years and older. The mean earning for high school graduates was $39,035 per year. People with some college/no degree earned $46,001, while those with an Associate's degree earned $48,083 per year. Those with a Bachelor's degree earned $68,176.

In addition to higher salaries, unemployment rates have historically been lower for the more educated. In 2008, those with a high school degree reported a 5.7 unemployment rate. That number dipped to 5.1 for those with some college/no degree and to just 3.7 for people with an Associate's degree.

On a per-credit basis, community colleges offer benefits similar to four-year colleges. Pew's Economic Mobility Project (EMP) reports that credits at both types of institutions "convey an annual earnings increase of roughly 4-6% for every 30 credits (two semesters) of courses completed."

Community colleges serve many populations and provide many resources. For some, community colleges are:

- The first step towards a four-year degree;
- A place to gain vocational training;
- A destination to earn a two-year Associate's degree;
- The best way to earn college credits while still in high school;
- A place to re-train, re-group, and re-enter the workforce after being unemployed.

Community colleges offer a wide variety of programs and career options for both recent high school graduates and those returning to school. They also provide affordable education, local access, transferable credits, and vocational opportunities.

All high school students — no matter what their future plans — should take a rigorous core curriculum to prepare for life after graduation. ACT recommends at least four years of English; at least three years of mathematics, including Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II; three years of science, including Biology, Chemistry and Physics; and three years of social studies. Students who take these classes are more likely to be ready for college or work when they graduate.

Whether attending a community college for an associate's degree, a certification program, or to complete general education requirements — it's important to map out a blueprint for success.

Make plans to meet with a community college counselor as soon as possible. The counselor can help you:

- Plan courses;
- Get involved in school activities and clubs;
- Assess readiness for certain classes and programs;
- Explore careers;
- Research financial aid options;
- Verify if your credits will transfer to both your chosen four-year school and your chosen major.

I recently attended a reception at our local community college. I was so inspired with the students I met there. I asked each student why they'd chosen a community college and if they felt they'd made a good choice. They had many reasons for their decisions, but to a person, they told me that they felt they'd made the right move.

In addition, many I spoke with were planning to attend well-known four-year universities and — because of their hard work and good grades in community college — had earned scholarships to continue their studies.

Clearly, community colleges work. That's why President Obama wants to increase the number of community college graduates. ACT looks forward to the realization of this goal as it fully supports our mission to help everyone achieve workplace and education success.

Muenster Hornets claim second victory of the season -- 26 -14

The Muenster Hornets' trip to Nocona last Friday was a huge success for the varsity football team as they brought home a 26-14 victory over the Indians.

"The 1st half, we moved the ball offensively, but couldn't finish the drive," noted Coach Brady Carney. "Defensively, we had an outstanding 1st half." The coach added that they came out flat the 3rd quarter, with their first two possessions three and out that gave the ball right back to Nocona and gave Nocona the lead. "We stepped it up. In the 4th, we fought back and didn't quit."

Dalton Koelzer took the opening kick, returning it 20 yards to the Nocona 39. A 24 yard run by Garrett Walterscheid and a 23 yard Tyler Anderle to Jason Luke pass moved Muenster to the 9 yard line. Three runs took the Hornets to the 5. A 4th down field goal attempt failed, ending the first drive of the game.

Muenster's defense held Nocona to 1 yard, forcing a punt. The Hornets were not able to score on their second series of plays, but they did keep the Indians out of the end zone when Trevor Hess covered a fumble on the Nocona 14 yard line.

A 31 yard Luke run was followed by Chase Hammer carrying the ball into Indian territory. Koelzer and Luke each gained 6, with

The Hornet defense stopped Nocona's run to 6 yards, taking over at midfield.

Staying on the ground, runs by Walterscheid, Koelzer, Hess, Hammer, and Anderle took the ball to the 2 yard line. With 4:11 remaining on the clock, the Hornets sealed the game when Walterscheid found the end zone. The PAT pass play failed for a 26-14 score.

The teams exchanged possessions before time ticked off the clock.

"In the 4th quarter, we finished the game like we should have started it," Carney added. "Our special teams helped win the game. And we had some young kids step up and play well."

Tigers tumble to Knights

The Tigers of Sacred Heart traveled East down Highway 82 last Friday night to tangle with the Knights of Lindsay.

"We came in and thought we were prepared," commented Tiger Coach Dale Schilling. "I am proud of the team. With all the trauma, the boys kept their composure very well," Schilling added, referring to the injury of Chad Walterscheid. Lindsay went on to take a 38-12 win over Sacred Heart.

The Tigers took the opening kick, but couldn't make any progress and punted.

Starting on the Tiger 47, four consecutive runs by Robert Arend quickly moved the Knights to the 17 yard line. Two short runs by Blake Walker were followed by two from Arend, including an 8 yard touchdown run with 6 minutes on the clock. Garrett Yancey booted the extra point for a 7-0 score.

The Tigers ran six plays divided between Matt Hesse and Josh Biffle to get to the Knight 20 yard line, but an intercepted pass by Jordan Lane ended the drive at the 8 yard line.

Tackles by Hesse and Austin Springer forced an end zone punt which gave the Tigers possession on the Knight 41. Sacred Heart paid for a 17 yard run by Hesse, when senior Chad Walterscheid was injured, delaying the game for 25 minutes. The Tigers got 20 yards from paydirt, but ran out of downs.

The Knights in their third possession, took only eight plays to march 80 yards. Arend ran for 31, a Dawson Holt pass to Madison Parkhill gained 25, Walker ran to the 16, with Hud Harrison picking up 1. A Travis Skinner pass to Lane put 6 more points on the board for the Knights. Yancey added the point after for a 14-0 score.

Sacred Heart got in two short runs and fumbled. Arend covered for the Knights. Tackles by Mark Bartush and Biffle forced a Lindsay punt, placing the Tigers inside the Knight 20. Runs by Biffle and Hesse gained 17 before plays forced a 4 and 14 punt.

Lindsay returned the ball to the 23. A flag backed the ball 10 yards, but with 1:01 on the clock, Arend scored on a 33 yard run. Yancey added the PAT for a 21-0 score.

A short kick was covered by the Tigers at midfield. A quarterback keeper by Hesse took the Tigers to the 24. The next play, Biffle's run put Sacred Heart on the scoreboard. The PAT failed for a 21-6 score with 36 seconds remaining in the 1st half.

An on-side kick to start the 3rd quarter was covered by Parkhill on the Knight 43. Five straight runs by Arend moved Lindsay to the 8. Unable to find the end zone, Yancey booted a 23 yard field goal to increase Lindsay's lead to 24-6 with 6:31 on the clock.

The Tigers, assisted by a flag, got to the Lindsay 30 yard line, but ran out of downs. Two plays later, Yancey took off downfield 66 yards for another Knight touchdown. He then kicked the extra point for a 31-6 score with 3:12 remaining in the 3rd quarter.

The Tiger offense struggled against the Knights, punting, going into the final period of play. A loose ball was covered by Alex Turner, but Lindsay got the ball back three plays later when Lane picked off his second pass of the game. Two plays later, 38-6, after a 66 yard Harrison run and Yancey PAT.

Starting on their own 23, the Tigers began a scoring drive, mixing runs by Biffle, B. Bartush, Hesse, and Michael Davish to the 2 yard line. With 3 minutes remaining in the game, Biffle crossed the goal line for a 38-12 final score. The Knights killed out the clock in their second victory of the season.

Coach Schilling noted that Walterscheid had both bones in his leg broken. The bones were repaired by a surgeon Saturday morning. He will be out for the remainder of the season.

an Anderle to Luke pass getting the ball to the 14. On 4th and 6, a fake field goal allowed Blake Voth to power in from 10 yards out for the first points of the game. The PAT failed for a 6-0 score with 10:05 remaining in the 2nd quarter.

Nocona's next attempted drive ended when Voth covered a fumbled ball near midfield, but the Hornets did not take advantage of the turnover and punted.

The Indians punted twice and the Hornets threw an interception before Muenster's next scoring drive. Although it might have taken a little longer (13 plays), the next time the Hornets had the ball, they scored again with 1:21 left in the 2nd quarter. A bobbled snap on a field goal attempt was picked up by Luke and passed to Voth for 6 points. The PAT kick failed again for a 12-0 score.

The Hornet defense continued to dominate the Indians when Voth intercepted a pass and returned it 27 yards. A Muenster fumble at midfield five plays later was followed by an interception by Koelzer to end the 1st half.

On the first possession of the 3rd quarter, the Indians marched 65 yards in 13 plays to find paydirt. The point after made a 12-7 score with 6:20 on the clock.

It was no gain for the Hornets deep in Indian territory. A short punt put Nocona 22 yards from the end zone. Six plays later, they scored. The PAT put Nocona in the lead 14-12 with 3 minutes remaining in the 3rd period.

Starting on their 16 yard line, the Hornet offense mixed runs and passes for 14 plays to take the ball to the Nocona 27. With 9 minutes remaining in the game, Muenster took back the lead with an Anderle to Luke pass play. Hammer ran in the extra points for a 20-14 score.

Shade Tree Run this Saturday

Muenster High School is hosting the 2nd Annual Shade Tree Run Cross Country Meet this Saturday, Sept. 11 in and around the Muenster City Park.

"Runners will enjoy not only the shade of the large oak trees, but some challenging trails through the woods," noted Amy Binder, Muenster Cross Country coach. "The course is also very spectator friendly, with much of the final mile being seen from the middle of the park."

Races start at 8:30 a.m. with the varsity girls, followed by varsity boys, JV girls, JV boys, junior high girls, and junior high boys.

Varsity and JV boys will run a three mile course, while all other divisions follow a two mile path.

At 11 a.m., a one mile Little Hornet run will take place for younger runners.

Muenster vs Ponder

The Muenster Hornet Junior Varsity Football team started their season with an impressive 32-19 victory against the Ponder Lions on Thursday, Aug. 26. Quarterback Mason Binder threw two touchdowns, one to wide receiver Colton Lang and one to running back Clint Sidwell. Sidwell also added one rushing. Hunter Klement came in as quarterback and threw a touchdown pass to tight end Clayton Hess.

"The offense looked good most of the night, but we still have some things we need to work on," commented Coach Trey Gray.

On the defensive side of the ball, Sidwell had an interception, with Binder and Hess both getting fumble recoveries. Binder and Blayne Styles blocked an attempted Ponder field goal.

Sacred Heart vs Lindsay

After a close 1st half, the Junior Varsity Lindsay Knights took home a 30-0 win over the Tigers of Sacred Heart.

The 1st quarter was scoreless, with Lindsay scoring their first points the second play of the 2nd quarter. Elijah Walker scored on a 6 yard run and also ran in the extra points.

The Tigers got in four plays before Darryl Block intercepted a pass. Three plays later, Tavi Saldana picked off a Lindsay pass at midfield. The Tigers rushed to the 10 yard line before time ran out for the halftime break.

The Knights took the opening kick. Five plays later, Walker scored again, on a 28 yard run. A John Haverkamp pass to Block gave Lindsay a 16-0 lead.

The Tiger offense struggled with penalties and a fumbled play. A good punt by Bob Bartush put the Knights on their 25 yard line. Two runs by Dakota Ellender quickly moved the ball to the Tiger 20. With 1:25 remaining in the 3rd quarter, Walker scored again. The extra run by Haverkamp gave Lindsay a 24-0 lead.

Sacred Heart carried the ball into the final period, but soon ran out of downs. Five plays later, a Dylan Hughes to Neely Rose pass play found the end zone. The PAT failed for a 30-0 score with 5:38 remaining in the game.

Lindsay covered their own kickoff and ran out the clock to claim the win.

"Our numbers really helped us wear down a thin Sacred Heart team," commented Lindsay Coach Cody Bounds. "Hats off to the Sacred Heart team for fighting all night and playing hard."

Leading rushers for Sacred Heart were Bob Bartush, Keith Metzler, and Justin Brown.

Muenster vs Nocona

The Muenster Hornet JV Football team traveled to Nocona on Sept. 2 for their second game of the season and came up short against the Indians in a 22-12 loss. Quarterback Mason Binder threw two touchdown passes, both to Colton Lang.

The Muenster Hornet JV team traveled to Bells Thursday, Sept. 9, for their third game of the season.

THE BOUNTIES OF SUMMER FISHING

Lots of anglers refer to this time of year as the "Dog-Days of Summer." I don't know where that phrase came from, but many people who fish believe that "Dog-Days" equate to poor fishing. While it is true that fishing during the hottest time of the year can be challenging, the fact is that there are still lots of fish to catch. Their metabolism is high due to warmer water, so they eat more. If we put a bait in front of them at the right time and in the right manner, they're going to eat that bait. Here are some things you can do to catch fish during the dog-days of summer.

First of all, wear sunscreen, and make sure it's of a high-enough SPF (sun protection factor) to be of help. Wearing a "2" SPF really doesn't do much good.

Fish fast. Keep moving until you find the fish.

Once you find them, you can slow down and work them over good.

When I suggest that you fish fast, here's what I mean. Let's say you're fishing walleyes. Check out potential walleye areas with your depth-finder. If you don't see fish, or at least bait fish, move to another spot. Don't put a line in the water until you are sure you're near fish.

Once you find the fish, give them good opportunities to bite. Go through them with several different presentations before you move on. Make a pass with crank baits of a couple different colors or sizes. If nothing happens, make a troll with spinner rigs. If that doesn't do the trick, maybe slow down and work them with slip-bobbers. If they still don't go, mark the spot on your GPS and come back later. Eventually they will bite.

If you're after large mouth bass, try throwing crankbaits along the weedline or on a deeper largemouth structure. Crankbaits can be worked quickly and will enable you to cover lots of water. If you get a couple bass off a spot, it might pay to slow down and work a slower presentation, say a jig/trailer combo or maybe a jigworm. Find the fish by fishing fast, and catch as many as you can by fishing fast. But if and when they quit responding to the faster presentation, give them something worked a little slower. You'll probably catch a few more.

When fishing is tough in the summer, a four inch worm in one of the Power-Bait or Gulp! shapes will be good, but if the fish are active, go with the seven inch size. Bigger baits catch bigger fish from now until ice-up.

Fishing in the heat of the day during the summer months can be uncomfortable, and if it gets too uncomfortable, you should head for some place cooler. But reality is that most of us who live in the Midwest look forward to the summer months and summer fishing. Don't complain about it being too hot, go fishing early or late in the day when it isn't so hot.

If you do that, and if you keep these ideas in mind, summer can provide some of the fastest fishing of the year.

Game Warden Field Notes

Water spinach on the High Plains

Potter County Game Warden Steve Urben and Shane Lewis assisted a USDA inspector at various food stores in Amarillo. Numerous violations were found such as improperly labeled water spinach (either not labeled at all or labeled on choy), no retail fish dealer's license, and no finfish import license. Citations and educational warnings were issued. Retailers were also reminded to keep all water spinach invoices for two years and advised they may only purchase from permitted water spinach growers.

That's his story, anyway
Kimble County Warden Lee Morrison was contacted by South Llano State Park in reference to a turkey hunter killing a whitetail deer out of season. When Morrison contacted the hunter, he said he was hunting turkey and saw a Sika deer. He said he had been told he could kill exotics so he shot the deer with his shotgun. Three slugs later, the deer was dead and the hunter was shocked to discover he had killed a whitetail. The hunter was adamant that he knew what a Sika deer looked like and reasoned the rain had darkened the coat to make it resemble a Sika. Case pending.

Wardens snag snaggers

Marion County Game Warden Robb Furlow and Rick Lane caught eight people snagging at the spillway on Lake Wright Patman. They had undersized crappie and bass. Citations pending.

In last week's Lindsay football story vs Tom Bean, the Knight quarterback was mistakenly identified as Garrett Yancey. Dawson Holt was the guy behind the center taking the snaps.

The second workshop, scheduled for Sept. 21, will be held at the McAlester Army Ammunition Plant in McAlester, Oklahoma.

During the workshops, consultants and researchers from the Noble Foundation will discuss topics such as deer biology (including facts, myths, and misconceptions), habitat, food habits, population management, antler development, health factors, and management associations. The workshops will also include a plant walk focusing on deer food plant identification.

"These are hands-on workshops designed to address many aspects of deer biology and management," said Steven Smith, Noble Foundation wildlife and fisheries consultant. "We cover several major topics and provide a wealth of information for both novices and experienced managers."

The fee for each workshop is $20, which includes lunch, and space is limited to the first 50 registrants. Participants of the McAlester workshop must preregister. To register for a workshop or for more information, contact Tracy Cumbie at 580.224.6411 or by e-mail at tlcumbie@noble.org, or visit www.noble.org/agevents.

The event will be held at the Decatur Civic Center at 2010 W. U.S. 380. There is a registration fee of $10 per person. The program begins with a catered lunch at noon, ending with a question and answer session from 4:30 to 5 p.m.

For more information, contact Jeff Goodwin at 817-645-7711, ext. 5, or email at jeff.goodwin@tx.usda.gov

County Agent's Report

Apply pre-emergent herbicides for winter weeds soon

Remember last spring when the lawn was over-run with winter weeds like bur-clover, henbit, chickweed, and annual bluegrass? These are very common in Cooke County lawns and they, along with many others, come from seeds that germinate in fall. These weeds grow slowly during winter and appear in early spring. They are unsightly in lawns and interfere with the growth and spread of grass. They die out when hot weather arrives, leaving brown spots in the lawn and crunchy, dead stems underfoot.

Pre-emergent herbicides are an effective way to control annual weeds.

The herbicide kills seeds as they germinate so that weeds never emerge from the soil. However, pre-emergent herbicides are not effective against weeds that are already growing, so they must be applied now to be present in the soil when germination occurs. To prevent late winter/early spring annual weeds, apply a pre-emergent herbicide in early September here in Cooke County.

Pre-emergent herbicides for home lawns are most readily available in granular form and can be applied with a fertilizer spreader. For uniform distribution, apply the granules at half the recommended application rate while walking north and south across your lawn, and the other half walking east and west. After applying, thoroughly water the herbicide into the lawn. The herbicides are formulated to remain in the top portion of the soil, even after a heavy rain. Before applying pre-emergent herbicides, be sure to read and follow the product directions carefully. There are several different choices for pre-emergent herbicides. Visiting a local gardening store and reviewing the labels on the products available will help you decide which product best suits your needs.
