Cooke County reports good election turnout

By Janet Felderhoff

Voter turnout in Cooke County came in at 61.36% with 14,362 residents voting out of the 23,408 registered voters in the County. There were 7,439 (85.09%) voting straight Republican Party. Of those votes, 3,415 were cast during early voting. There were 1,225 (14.01%) voters casting straight Democratic ballots. Sixty-three voted straight Libertarian Party and 16 voted straight

Green Party.
About half of the voters in the United States went to bed pleased to know that Barack Obama would be President for another term. The other half are buzzing about their disappointment and concern for the future. The popular vote was very close. Obama retained the Presidency through electoral votes getting 303 to Mitt Romney's 206.

Cooke County voters favored Romney with 11,901 (83.12%) to Obama's 2,240 (15.64%).

Republican Ted Cruz won his bid for United States Senator. Cooke County cast 11,223 (79.87%) votes for Cruz, 2,457 (17.49%) for Democrat Paul Sadler, 255 (1.81%) for Libertarian John Myers, and 116 (.83%) for Green Party David Collins.

Congressman Mac Thornberry held on to his position as United States Representative, District 13. He was highly favored in Cooke County, receiving 11,581 (90.22%) of the votes. Libertarian John Deek got 860 (6.70%) and Keith Houston "First, it is an honor to be 395 (3.08%).

State Senator, District 30 Craig Estes won another term. Cooke County cast 11,455 (90.02%) votes for Estes and 1,270 (9.98%) for Libertarian Richard For-

Newly elected State Representative, District 68 Drew Springer of Muenster has not been idle since learning that he will be serving in Austin. He had a Democratic opponent going into the race, but that person voted in the Republican Primary which disqualified him as a candidate. The Democratic Party did not recruit a replacement, so Springer spent the last several months preparing for his new responsibilities.

their new Post home and are planning a grand opening celebration. They chose Veterans Day, Sunday, Nov. 11 from 2-4 p.m. Everyone is encouraged to attend.

There will be snacks, beverages, and door prizes. Memorabilia from various wars and branches of the service will be on display. If you have memorabilia that you are willing to have on display that day, contact Don Hess 759-4310 or Ben Hesse 759-4130 to make arrangements.

This draws a lot of attention because people express surprise at seeing some of the photos since they didn't realize some people were Veterans. The new Post home and location were made possible through generous donations. Jack and Mary Allman gifted them an inheritance of a house and a large sum of money.

VFW Trustee Don Hess noted that the Community prepares for Thanksgiving Picnic

By Janet Felderhoff

With beautiful weather drawing people into outdoor activities, it is hard to realize that Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays are quickly approaching. Sacred Heart's Parish Picnic is just a little more than a week away.

Always held the Sunday before Thanksgiving, the event provides an opportunity for the community to gather together to give thanks and enjoy each other's company. It also provides an opportunity to purchase some unique items at the live and silent auctions.

There are many unique items hand-crafted with care donated by parishioners, gift certificates, dinners for groups, holiday items, tools, household decor, and more.

Jerry and Billie Fleitman donated their time share property at Tanglewood Resort with the deed transfer and 2013 maintenance fees paid. The timeshare is for two weeks every other year. Tanglewood Resort offers a championship golf course and a luxury spa for the recreation and relaxation of guests.

This timeshare can be banked or traded for another destination through Interval International of for possible upgrades. These destinations are offered throughout the United States and foreign countries. There will be information available at the picnic explaining where these places are and the advantage of being a timeshare owner. An auction item this year is a meal for eight in the parish rectory to be prepared by Fr. Ken Robinson. Giles and Marlene Walterscheid once again have offered elected by the voters of HD 68. Without an opponent in the general election, I used the last few months to prepare for the 83rd session, which starts Jan. 8 and lasts 140 days. I have traveled back through the 22 county district, and have driven over 1,000 miles a week. The big issues that we will be facing are: the budget, driven largely by Medicaid/HHS growth; education; water; and transportation. There are numerous additional issues that are largely regional or local in nature. Additionally, there will be over 40 new state representatives and most of us have been meeting to see how we can work together to make the state stronger.

For covering the District, I will have the District office in Gainesville while my work and campaign office will be on Main Street in Muenster. As far as the office in Austin, I have found a chief of staff, who has worked in the legislature before and currently is working on the Ted Cruz campaign. He has strong conservative Christian values and will be a great asset in assisting me in representing the District. Once the budget for the office is set, my goal is to have the ability to add a district manager for the Western counties. "I look forward to hearing from people throughout the District during the session on issues that affect us. In Cooke County, Springer garnered 12,045 (100%) of the votes cast for that office.

Over 300 guests attended the reception hosted by the bride's parents in the Lindsay Centennial Hall. They enjoyed a catered meal by Joanie Wyrick. DJ music was provided by Mitch Creed, The Entertainer.

The bride's cake was a fourtiered German chocolate cake made by Claudia Zimmerer. JoAnn and Dana Huchton made the groom's cake of sopapilla cheesecake bars.

Guest tables were decorated with white tablecloths, pumpkins, gourds, wildflowers, votive candles, and burlap table runners. Chairs were covered with white cloth and satin copper bows.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at "The Party Barn" at Dave and Shelly Fleitman's. "Tic" Glenn Block catered the BBQ dinner.

Weather Whys - Frost

Q: Does frost form quicker in some areas than others? A: Yes, McRoberts says. "Cold air is dense and it tends to sink," he explains. "On a calm night, cold air will tend to sink into low spots. That's why valleys can be much cooler than the surrounding area because the cold air from the hills sinks into the lower areas. So when the cold air starts sinking, frost will form quicker in the low spots than the high ones. It's not uncommon for some valleys to be cooler by 10 degrees or more, thus more frost tends to form in these low areas. Also, some soil types, such as sand, retain less heat than others, and frost tends to form quicker on these.

Beautiful day for Hess Meat Grand Opening

On giving ... A minister once told of a very interesting thing that he did in his congregation one Sunday morning. He said that when the elders had taken up the offering one Sunday and brought the plates down to the altar, he took the plates and held them up in the air and he gave a prayer: "Lord, regardless of what we say about you with our lips, this is really what we say about you, this is really what we feel about you. This is really what you mean to us. Amen." Your money follows your heart. If your commitment to Christ has not yet reached your wallet, then it has not yet reached your heart.

Hornets hit high and low to stop Pirate escape.

dominated the contest with the Pirates of Petrolia last Friday night, shutting the score off at 56-0.

"We came out and played really well early as we talked about," said Coach Brady Carney. "Defensively, we kept Petrolia's running game in shape. The offense did a good job blocking up front, making holes for the running back, who found those holes and hit them fast." Carney added that the negative side to the game was too many penalties in the 1st quarter and giving up too many kickoff return yards, "something we have to get fixed."

The game began in the Hornets' favor when Petrolia fumbled the opening kick, giving Muenster possession 25 yards from the end zone. Austin Hennigan covered the loose ball. A penalty the first play set the Hornets back 15 yards, but a 19 yard run by Trevor Hess, 9-yarder by Steven Flusche, and a 4 yard gain by Mason Binder was followed by an 8 yard touchdown play from Clint Sidwell. The 2 point conversion by Binder gave Muenster an 8-0 led 2 minutes into the game.

The Pirates got in six plays before punting. Runs by Flusche and Hess moved Muenster to the 23 before the Hornets ran out of downs.

Petrolia gained 6 and punted again. From the Hornet 42, Sidwell ran for 11 yards, followed by 12 from Hess. A Hunter Klement down and Binder the PAT for pass completion to Sidwell a 43-0 score. put the ball on the Pirate Petrolia moved into Hor-

Tigers score 27 points in 4th quarter to get win

"It was a trap game. The boys were looking ahead to next week and that allowed Calvary to outplay us for three and one-half quarters," commented Sacred Heart Coach Dale Schilling. The Tigers, behind 28-7 at halftime, fought back in the 4th quarter, scoring 27 points in

"Calvary had a great game plan and played very hard. When we got a TD called back in the 4th quarter, we could have given up, but didn't," added Coach Schilling. "The boys bounced back and fought to the very end."
The Tigers took the opening kick, but on play four of the game, a fumble gave the ball to Calvary on the Tiger 35. It took the Conquerors only three plays to find the end zone. The PAT gave the visitors a 7-0 lead with 9:09 remaining on the clock.

The teams

gained a quick 31 yards, but and 27, a double reverse three incomplete passes and pass play - Hesse to Meta punt followed. The Tiger zler to Reeves who passed to defense forced a Calvary punt, then Sacred Heart got in seven plays before running out of downs 23 yards short of the end zone. The Conquerors killed the clock for a 28-7 halftime score.

It was three plays and punt for the visitors as the 2nd half got underway. Runs by Hesse and Juan Salinas, and a Reeves to Walterscheid pass moved the Tigers to midfield, but the drive ended when Calvary intercepted the ball.

Two incomplete passes and a quarterback sack by Garrett Wheeler allowed only a yard gain. The Tiger offense also couldn't get a 1st, followed by an interception by Salinas and a Sacred Heart punt. Grain in the bin? Sell baby, sell!

crop reports, the odds seem likely USDA will increase the size of this year's crop. If you still have a lot of un-priced grain, market expert Jerry Gulke believes you are swimming in risky waters.

This week, two key private firms released crop production estimates. Both groups increased the size of the 2012

Informa Economics estimates the corn crop at 10.738 billion bushels with a yield of 122.4 bu. per acre. For soybeans, the estimates are at 2.925 billion bushels, with a yield of 38.6 bu. per acre.

FCStone is expecting U.S. corn production to reach 10.881 billion bushels, with an average corn yield estimate of 124.0. In soybeans, the firm pegs soybean production at 2.959 billion bushels, with a yield estimate of 39.1 bu. per acre.

In October, USDA projected the corn crop at 10.706 billion bushels with a yield of 122 bu.

crop estimates are at 2.860 billion bushels with a yield of 37.8 bu. per acre.

"FCStone was a little more bearish than Informa," says Gulke, president of the Gulke will release its November Crop Production and World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates. What if USDA comes out and agrees with Informa and FCStone?

"It wasn't that long ago in September that we were talking 35.3 bu. per acre for soybeans. We have jumped that up quite a bit," Gulke says. He expects USDA to increase the soybean yield

If the U.S. corn and soybean crops do get larger, the recent high prices aren't likely to stick around. Gulke says producers need to be ready for USDA to throw a few curveballs next week.

Slap on a price tag

After this week's private per acre. The current soybean ing more than $7.30 and soybean prices exceeding $15.20, Gulke says he has a real hard time holding on to grain. He says unsold bushels equal risk.

We should have made our harvest lows in October and On Friday, Nov. 9, USDA maybe we have. But, we're not far from them now.

"There are a lot of farmers that just want to keep some grain in the bins to gamble." Gulke says he has between 10 and 15% of his crop unsold at this point. "If it goes up or down $1, it's not a big deal in the big picture. But, I'm not comfortable holding anything with the technical outlook like it is.

Farmers should also start penciling out their production costs for next year. Gulke says all of his cash rents are going up for next year. So, he's considering selling some of next year's crop. "I can still get $6 for my corn next fall. That doesn't look as good as today's price of $7.50, but it's

Change in Farm Service Agency acreage reporting dates for 2013 crop year

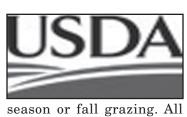

Cooke County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Scott Tiemann reminds producers that the common acreage reporting dates (ARDs) between FSA and the Risk Management Agency (RMA) are in effect for the 2013 crop year.

"Last year, a review team consolidated 54 ARDs for RMA and 17 ARDs for FSA into 15 common ARDs," said Tiemann. "The common reporting dates will reduce the burden on producers and help reduce USDA operating costs by sharing data with partner agencies," he said.

The following acreage reporting dates are for both FSA and RMA purposes:

November 15

All grasses intended for grazing or forage (hay). All Barley, Oats, Rye, Triticale, and Wheat intended for full mixed forages that have grass and small grains in the mix (MSG, SSG, IGS, NSG).

December 15

Barley, Rye, Triticale, and Wheat intended for spring grazing or forage (hay).

December 31

Barley, Rye, Triticale and Wheat intended for grain. March 15

Oats intended for spring/ summer grazing.

May 15

Oats intended for grain or forage (hay), pecans.

Spring crops: corn, cotton, hay grazer, sorghum, soy-

Producers who file accuall crops and land uses, including failed acreage, can prevent the potential loss of SA program benefits.

"I encourage all producers to visit the Cooke County FSA office to file an accurate crop certification report by the applicable deadline in order to comply with FSA program eligibility requirements, Producers are also reminded to report crop losses insured through Federal Crop Insurance and the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) within 15 days of the disaster or as soon as the loss is apparent.

For questions regarding crop certification and crop loss reports, please contact the Cooke County FSA office falling off a cliff and trade is turning sideways as harvest winds down. Demand is strong for U.S. corn, but unfortunately the supply is just not there. Additionally, countries like Brazil, Argentina and Ukraine have grain

Last week's export sales report shows actual sales at 140,300 metric tons. Traders were expecting between 150,000 to 250,000.

Jerry Gulke, president of the Gulke Group, says just a few years ago, export sales were double of last week's level. He's not surprised exporters are the end users that are falling off the fastest in the corn-supply and demand

"That's partly what has to happen when you produce 1 billion bushels less. You have to cut demand somewhere."

Gulke believes the U.S. will likely keep cutting exports until the corn supply is replenished. He is also encouraged by the reduction in exports, as he thinks the supply/demand situation for corn may actually be able to reach equilibrium.

"If we're using market share in exports and aren't feeding as much here, maybe it will balance out. Maybe we'll just make it on this short crop."

Trade turns sideways As of Oct. 22, nearly 90% of the crop has been harvested, according to USDA. Normally, only around half of the corn crop is harvested by this point of the season. Key corn-growing states like have all surpassed 90%.

County Agent's Report

Beginning Jan. 1, 2013, all sexually intact adult cattle in Texas must be officially identified at change of ownership as per new Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) rules. What this means to Texas cattle producers is, beginning next year, sexually intact adult beef cattle 18 months and up, and Mexican origin event cattle must be identified prior to change of ownership. Nursing calves, steers, spayed heifers, bulls, and heifers under 18 months are exempt (unless heifer has calved).

Fizzled El Nino reduces expectation of wet winter

As the El Nino weather pattern has subsided, experts with the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) have revised their expectations of a cooler, wetter winter this year.

Many farmers were hoping that El Nino would bring winter rains that would replenish soil-moisture levels following historic drought conditions. Now, Texas State Climatologist Dr. John Nielsen-Gammon calls the chances of either a wet or dry winter a "neutral situation."

"This means a good chance that rainfall this spring and summer will also tend to be close to normal, to the extent that Texas weather is ever Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota normal," Nielsen-Gammon using one of several approved methods. The most commonly used devices include USDA metal tags, brucellosis calfhood vaccination tags, US origin 840 series Radio Frequency Identification tags (RFID), and breed registration tattoos or firebrands. However, forms of identification are not limited to these methods; other acceptable forms of identification are available. A complete listing of these methods may be accessed at: http://www. tahc.state.tx.us/adt/ADT_OfficialIdentification.pdf The USDA tags mentioned above will be provided free to cattle producers by TAHC. The TAHC is developing tag distribution partnerships with interested veterinary practitioners and Texas A&M AgriLife Extension offices. Partner contact information for Cooke County is not yet complete, but will be published as it becomes available. Producers may locate the closest tag distributor online at www.tahc.state.

Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service will be participating as a distributing partner. This means that you will be able to obtain the USDA silver metal eartags at our local office in Gainesville. The address is 301 S. Chestnut. We will even have a few ear tagging tools to lend to producers who may need them. We are expecting our first shipment of tags at the office by the middle of

This ruling came into effect last June, when TAHC amended its rules to enhance the effective traceability of beef cattle movements in Texas, which is the cornerstone of disease control activities. The newly amended rule permanently cancels the brucellosis test requirement for adult cattle at change of ownership, which was unofficially suspended in the summer of 2011. Before August of 2011, official identification devices such as eartags were applied automatically at the time a brucellosis test was performed. The inadvertent loss of the identification devices applied to cattle when brucellosis testing stopped has threatened TAHC's ability to effectively trace cattle as part of any ongoing disease investigation. The new rule and resulting identification program is designed as part of TAHC disease control ac-

The traceability of the animals is accomplished by reporting requirements placed on TAHC and its partners. At this time, using one of the approved forms of identification is all that is required of producers.

Foreign Wars. At that time, Fette was a member of a VFW in Fort Worth and felt that such an organization could greatly benefit these men and the local community. There were 31 men who served our country in foreign wars present that day. They met in a pool hall. The Muenster VFW's first official meeting took place on May 7 of that same year. They elected Pat Hennigan, Sr. as commander. An honor guard was formed. This squad of volunteers conducted full military services for their comrades. For the first year, the organization held its meetings in the KC Hall. In November of 1946, John thank you for their service.
