

Wells slated to speak at annual Chamber banquet

Janet Felderhoff
News Editor

Muenster Chamber of Commerce Executive Director John Broyles announced that Jon David Wells is the featured speaker for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. Wells hosts a talk show on 660AM KSKY from 5-8 p.m. weekdays.

Wells began his broadcasting career at age 15 in Barstow, California. He has traveled America for the past 38 years garnering the knowledge and experience he uses on his talk show. A press release noted, "He's a smart, locally-based talk show host who focuses on issues that impact people right here in North Texas as well as issues that we face as a nation."

The Chamber banquet will be held in the Muenster VFW Hall on Saturday, Feb. 2 with a social hour from 6-7 p.m. and the buffet and program beginning at 7 p.m.

Tickets are $20 per person and include the meal, beer, and wine. Each ticket will be entered into a drawing for a Muenster basket. This includes a variety of appealing items and gift certificates for items or services donated by businesses in Muenster. Anyone wishing to add to the basket or to purchase Muenster Marks for the basket, contact John by Jan. 25 so that he can make sure you are recognized in the program.

To purchase tickets, contact John at the Chamber (940) 759-2227 or by email at john.chamber@ntin.net.

Again this year, various businesses and organizations will decorate the banquet tables, competing to win one of the prizes to be awarded to the best decorated tables. Winners will be chosen by those attending. The theme of the banquet is "The Voice of Freedom." Table decorations may follow this theme, but this is not a requirement. John added that decorating the tables is a great way to promote your business or organization.

Lunch program changes coming to MISD

Janet Felderhoff
News Editor

Complaints that some students were not getting enough food at lunch to satisfy them were considered by the Muenster ISD Board of Trustees a couple of months ago. Since that time, Superintendent Clay Richerson looked at several solutions.

Richerson said he contacted Wayne Walker of Muenster who is part of a company called Kids Nutrition. Walker would set up menus and simplify ordering food. Whatever money he saves the District would be shared with Walker which is how he is paid.

According to Superintendent Richerson, the cafeteria manager told him that menu planning and ordering is burdensome for her and takes time away from helping with other cafeteria duties.

The menu would include more than one entree and a student could order more than one, at an additional cost. "They will get an opportunity to get more food," said Richerson of the regular lunch menu.

Walker would also teach how to present the food in a more appetizing manner. "In every school district they've been in, they've increased students participating in the cafeteria instead of bringing their own lunch," said Richerson.

A list of new food items and food items with price increases for the ala carte menu and for the snack bar were presented. Richerson said that they would not have to increase the prices until summer. Looking at the snack bar menu, Trustee Kimberly Walterscheid questioned why there were not any fruits and vegetables.

It was decided not to increase any prices at this time, but new items will be added. The school will make a second entree available at an additional cost. This will be done on a trial basis. A satisfaction survey may be taken later to help evaluate the new program's success.

Following an executive session, the Board voted 7-0 to approve a two-year term contract for Richerson as superintendent of Muenster ISD to begin July 1, 2013 and end on June 30, 2015 with a salary increase to $97,000 per year.

In his monthly report, Superintendent Richerson said that enrollment is down slightly. "We had an influx at the first of school. There are more transient families and their records show that they go from one place to another place." He added that the District is not held accountable by the State in regard to the academic tests of such students, so it doesn't impact Muenster's scores.

There are two Board positions up for election this year. They are Place 1 held by Neal Flusche and Place 2 Mel Walterscheid. The election date is May 11. Jan. 30 is the first day to file for one of those positions and Friday, March 1 at 5 p.m. is the deadline for filing.

Reports

Elementary Principal Lou Heers' report included information on the 3rd six weeks honor rolls, failure report, and discipline reports for students in grades 1-6.

It showed that of the students 1st through 6th (198 students) 85 (43%) were on the "A" Honor Roll, 64 (32%) were on the "A/B" Honor Roll, and 149 (75%) were either on the "A" or "A/B" Honor Roll.

During the 3rd six weeks period, of the students 1st through 6th (198 students), eight (4%) did not pass at least one class, eight (6%) of the students 3rd through 6th did not pass at least one class, and four (50%) of the above eight students in grades 1st through 6th failed more than one class.

The 3rd six weeks discipline report showed that there were 17 (6%) student conferences/office referrals, three (18%) of the 17 were referred to the office more than once. There were seven detentions from the principal and 17 from teachers. Of the 24 detentions (conduct and homework issues), eight students (33%) attended more than once.

High School Principal Sharon Browning noted that the first FLEX Day was scheduled for Monday, Jan. 21. Letters were mailed home to parents of students who must attend school that day.

Technology Director Jeff Presnall indicated that the District's 2013-14 Technology Plan is in development along with next year's E-rate funding application.

Five additional wireless access points have been installed within the District, giving MISD 16 total wireless connections. A wireless pointer was installed in the 3rd/4th grade building. The new fieldhouse is now connected in both the coaches' office and athletic director's office.

Athletic Director Brady Carney listed names of students receiving football honors. He updated the Board on basketball statistics and said that the first power lifting meet would be in Whitesboro on Jan. 19 with four boys and two girls com-

Holter monitors capture patient heart rhythms

Janet Felderhoff
News Editor

Muenster Memorial Hospital offers the service of fitting patients with Holter monitors. According to Chief Nursing Officer Diane Neu, this is a small device used to monitor heart rhythms for 24-48 hours while the patient goes about their normal daily routine. Use of the device is ordered by the patient's cardiologist.

Neu explained, "It is very simple to put on, very non-invasive. It doesn't hurt to be put on and doesn't hurt to take off. There is no electricity in it. You just wear it. It gives a true picture of your heart's rhythm for a 24 hour period in your life."

When a person gets a doctor's order for testing with a Holter monitor, they bring the prescription to the Hospital and the nursing staff applies electrodes from the monitor to the patient's chest. The electrodes are connected to a small device that is worn around the neck or attached to their belt.

There is a flash card which is inserted into the monitor.

Following the prescribed 24 or 48 hour period, the patient returns to the Hospital to have the flash card removed and the monitoring device taken off. The information on the card is sent to the Holter monitor company where it is collected and forwarded to the physician who ordered the test.

Neu said that an EKG takes a picture of your heart's rhythm for right then and there, but the Holter monitor will give a picture of your heart rhythm for the whole time you are wearing it. She said there is a button on the device that can be pushed when you feel different, such as a dizzy spell or other event. This lets the physician know to look at what is going on with the heart during that time.

"It can detect abnormal rhythms that you don't even know you are having during the day or that you know you are having during the day and an EKG doesn't pick up," noted CNO Neu. She said it is used when a doctor suspects abnormal heart rhythms and wants to capture those rhythms and learn what the patient is doing when the abnormal rhythms occur.

Some people have heart rhythm problems that only occur during certain activities, such as sleep or physical exertion. Using a Holter or event monitor increases the chance of recording these problems.

It takes 15 minutes or less to have the monitor put on a patient, and even less time to take it off.

Persons with a prescription for the Holter monitor should call the Hospital at 759-2271 to set up a time to get the device.

Tiffany Lutkenhaus, R.N. demonstrates the application of a Holter monitor on Ward Clerk Ashley Ferguson. This is another facet of patient care being offered at Muenster Memorial Hospital.

Weather Whys - UFO Clouds

Q: There's supposed to be a type of cloud that is often confused with being a UFO. What kind of cloud is it?

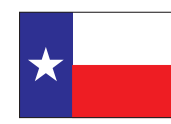

A: It's most likely the lenticular cloud, said Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University. Lenticular clouds are so-called because they often look like a camera lens. They can produce some of the oddest shapes of all clouds, many times looking like huge pancakes stacked on top of each other, he reports. "One reason they may be mistaken for UFOs is their odd shape," McRoberts explains. "Also, lenticular clouds don't move like other clouds. They tend to linger in one spot for a long time. They are often seen in the western U.S. but have been photographed all over the world, including Spain, Australia, and France."

Q: What causes their strange shape?

A: "Lenticular clouds are often formed by waves of air moving over high mountains," McRoberts adds. "At the highest points in the cloud, moisture condenses in an outward motion. By doing so, it tends to form a wave-like appearance and the edges are round, giving them the appearance of a flying saucer. Some scientists believe lenticular clouds tell us a change in the weather is coming, often meaning a snowstorm. If you can find photos of lenticular clouds in weather books, you'll agree that they are some of the strangest looking clouds produced by nature."

Weather Whys is a service of the Department of Atmospheric Sciences at Texas A&M University.

STATE of TEXAS
HOUSE of REPRESENTATIVES

District 68

Texas and the Second Amendment

The Second Amendment is one of the most precious rights we hold dear as Americans. Our founding fathers, in all of their wisdom, highlighted gun ownership as one of only 10 enumerated rights in our Constitution. They knew that without the ability for people to defend themselves against intruders and tyrants, the rest of our rights could be taken away at any moment.

I think it is shameful and cravenly wrong when politicians of either party try to leverage a horrendous tragedy for political gain. That is precisely what our President has done with the announcement of his 23-point anti-gun plan. Instead of addressing the real issues that lead to violence in our society, this President has hijacked the entire discussion to push forward his agenda of eroding our Second Amendment rights.

The President and I agree that the safety of our children should be a top priority for lawmakers at both a State and Federal level. However, we fundamentally disagree on the best way they can be protected. The President philosophically believes that guns are the underlying problem behind any sort of senseless violent act in our country. As such, he wants to limit the locations, amount of rounds, and types of guns law-abiding citizens can purchase and own.

I disagree with the notion that guns are the problem in our society. A person with an intent to harm others will find a way, whether or not they have a gun. I categorically oppose any further erosion of our Second Amendment rights, in fact, I am a proponent of repealing many of the limitations we currently have on the books. Limiting where a good person can carry a firearm, only reduces the amount of people who can help in situations where danger occurs.

The solution to the problem of violence in our country will not be solved by further infringing on our ability to protect ourselves and our children. Our Founding Fathers had it right and it is now up to the states to preserve our Constitution. In Texas, we recognize our role in fighting back an overreaching federal government and will continue to fight as long as our rights and liberties are under attack.

Marie Endres 1920 - 2013

Memorial Mass for Marie Louise Walter Endres of Muenster was held Monday, Jan. 21 in Sacred Heart Catholic Church with Fr. Ken Robinson as celebrant. Rosary/vigil service led by Fr. Ken was held Sunday at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church. Marie died peacefully on Thursday, Jan. 10, 2013 at the age of 92.

One of the 10 children of John and Susanna Trachta Walter, Marie Louise Walter was born Aug. 20, 1920 in Muenster and was raised on the family farm east of town. She and her brothers and sisters went to Sacred Heart School, to which they walked from the farm. It was on the farm that she learned many of the home management skills which she put to use her entire life.

Marie was a person who was not afraid of change. She worked in Fort Worth a few years before marrying Paul Endres in 1940, joining him in regional dances, in the Muenster Motorcycle Club, and in the Catholic Youth Organization, where Paul was president. They began their married life on a farm west of town. They welcomed seven children and celebrated 63 anniversaries.

In 1953, the family moved into town, to the house on Seventh Street, and developed a small farm of cows, sheep, chickens, rabbits, and children. Marie supervised the household, planted a large garden, began a lifelong labor of establishing flowers in the yard, and immersed herself in school and community events, and in mentoring 4-H and Scout projects. She earned a trip to Washington, D.C., as a result of her work with the 4-H organization.

Marie and Paul believed in reading and in education, making sure the children were educated as far as they wanted to go. Marie was highly skilled at creating and sewing her children's clothing, at quilting, and at teaching those skills to others. She excelled at supporting the household through baking, canning, growing a large garden, and managing the yard animals. Dancing, card games, and travelling were her special delights. She organized, and was a member of, her weekly bridge club for over 50 years. No one was allowed to interrupt bridge club.

As her children grew and left home, Marie found time to pursue new interests. Her flower gardens surrounded the yard, and she won many first prizes in flower arranging, eventually becoming a state flower arranging judge. She began singing in the church choir and performing with Cooke County Chorale, which included a performance in Europe. She also took up painting. Many of her artworks hang in homes throughout Muenster.

The house on Seventh Street was for 55 years a house full of children, grandchildren, other people's children, friends and neighbors, ball games in the yard, the smell of cinnamon rolls baking, and love. Presiding over it all was the genius of the house, Marie Louise Walter Endres, who, most of the time unfazed and unflappable, took everything in stride and made that house a home.

Survivors include children Clifford and spouse Selhan, Karen, Patricia and spouse Richard Fiske, John and spouse Nancy, Richard (spouse Martha Kincaid, deceased), Mary and spouse George Holland, Peggy and spouse Larry Abeln; 11 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren; sisters Rose Hofbauer, Sylvia Everette, and Genie O'Dowd; and nieces, nephews, and cousins in many locales.

Honorary pallbearers were Nathan Endres, Eric Endres, Peter Endres, Prairie Endres Parnell, Emelia Endres Kirk, Samantha Abeln, Jana Abeln and Andrea Abeln.

Donations may be made to Sacred Heart Church or to the Muenster Museum.

Dorothea Jo Bedowitz 1944 - 2013

Mass of Christian Burial for Dorothea Jo Pasqua Bedowitz, age 68 of Henderson, Nevada, was held at 10 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 22, at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster. A Rosary/Vigil service was held at 5 p.m., Monday, Jan. 21 at McCoy Funeral Home in Muenster. Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Services were officiated by Rev. Ken Robinson and directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster.

Ms. Bedowitz died in Henderson, Nevada on Tuesday, Jan. 15, 2013.

Born Nov. 22, 1944 in Dallas, Dorothea Jo (or Jo to most) was the eldest of three daughters of Joseph and Dorothea Pasqua. She grew up in Dallas and attended school at St. Edwards High School and then enrolled in East Texas State University where she graduated valedictorian of her class. She taught for more than 25 years at Dallas Wheeler, Sacred Heart, and Forestburg.

The news of her death was posted on Facebook. This resulted in a staggering number of sentiments and stories from her former students. She was, indeed, considered a mentor to many of these students.

Jo never let a day pass without being thankful and proud of her family. Her sons were the topic of so many of her stories. Her daughter-in-law Michelle, and her grandchildren Christopher Thomas and Lillyanna Elia, and her puppy Goniff were always points of so much pride.

Jo had an insatiable appetite for puzzles and fun. She loved reading. She really loved spending the holidays with her family. She was devoted to her faith and loved attending Mass and having her morning prayer time.

Jo is best remembered not through stories, but in the success of all of her students. The life lessons she taught thousands of students helped them to become their own success stories. She was always a well spoken, kind hearted person/teacher/mom/sister/grandma/aunt/friend.

The hardest part of all is saying goodbye to someone who was woven into the fabric of so many everyday lives. Jo will be greatly missed by all her family, her students, and all who knew her!

During the funeral Mass, Sue Davis gave the First Reading. The Second Reading was given by Rachael King, niece. Prayers of the Faithful were read by Teresa Greathouse, niece. Carrying up the Offertory Gifts were granddaughter Lilly Bedowitz, grandson Christopher Bedowitz, daughter-in-law Michelle Bedowitz, niece Stephanie Greathouse, grand-nephew Peter Greathouse, and grand-niece Tuesday Greathouse. Eucharistic ministers were Roger and Janie Taylor, and Theresa Mae Walterscheid. Altar server was Sylvan Walterscheid.

Music ministers were pianist Frank Luke and Mary Del Olmo. Songs included "On Eagle's Wings," "Shepherd Me O Lord," "Parable," "How Great Thou Art," "Ave Maria," and "Amazing Grace."

The eulogy was given by Robin Greathouse who remembered, "Cups of coffee, crossword puzzles, good books, and football - just a few of the things that Jo loved... If royalty is defined by how much you have helped and loved others, for Jo, the sky should be lit up for a very long time...

"You rarely saw her without a book or crossword puzzle at the ready. Woe to those who didn't like a jigsaw puzzle or were too afraid to take her on in Yahtzee. Forget trying to beat her in a game of Scrabble..."

"Jo has left a little piece of herself in all the lives that she has touched over the years..."

Survivors include sons Chris Bedowitz of Denver, Colorado and Joseph Bedowitz and wife Michelle of Henderson, Nevada; sister Jeanne Greathouse and husband Bob of Saint Jo; and two grandchildren.

Jo was preceded in death by her parents and her sister Jan Spears.

Pallbearers were Kelly Bayer, Greg Smith, and Rick Heiberg, and nephews Levi Spears, Matt Spears, and Tommy Greathouse.

Earl Ray Hurd 1936 - 2013

Graveside services for Earl Ray Hurd, age 76 of Forestburg, were held Thursday, morning, Jan. 24, at Mountain Park Cemetery in Saint Jo. Visitation was Jan. 23, at McCoy Funeral Home. Services were officiated by C. E. Cole.

Mr. Hurd died at his home on Jan. 21, 2013.

Born in Saint Jo on Sept. 5, 1936, Earl Ray was one of the three children of Edward Earl and Julia Mae Roper Hurd. The family lived in Saint Jo for a very long time. Earl Ray attended school in Saint Jo and later was inducted into the U.S. Army, a portion of his service was in Vietnam.

Earl worked some 44 years at Weber Aircraft and was about to retire at the time of his death. He spent most of his free time either riding horses, caring for his garden, or lending a helping hand to anyone in need. He loved his kids and grandkids and spent all available time with them.

Earl was a very friendly person, always having something good to say to anyone.

Survivors include his daughter Tina Swirczynski and husband Rodney of Saint Jo; son Bryan Hurd of Nocona; sister Joy Brunson; five grandchildren; and extended family, the Vincent Forrester family.

He was preceded in death by his parents and his brother Leon "PeeWee" Hurd.

The family requests memorials be made to the Saint Jo VFD.

Since March 10, 1980, Deborah Schilling Walterscheid could be seen in some capacity at the Gainesville hospital. From working as a registered nurse on the medical/OB units to her most recent position in Utilization Review, Deb has been working for the patients of Cooke County for nearly three decades. On Jan. 18, just seven weeks short of her 30th year, Deb made her last rounds at North Texas Medical Center. She was honored with a reception hosted by NTMC on Jan. 17, which was attended by past and present coworkers, family, and friends. Deborah is shown being presented an engraved crystal obelisk honoring her service by NTMC CEO Randy Bacus. During her nursing career, she also worked at Muenster Memorial Hospital, Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls, and the Nocona hospital.

United Nations topic of Feb. 7 CCRW meeting

"What does the U.N. have in store for U.S.?" is the program for the Feb. 7 meeting of Cooke County Republican Women. The meeting will be held at the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church, 400 N. Commerce in Gainesville, beginning at 7 p.m.

MerryLynn Gerstenschlager will talk about the United Nations' most recent conference on global warming which she attended in Doha, Qatar. She will also talk about pending U.N. treaties dealing with other issues, treaties which could infringe on the rights and freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution.

Gerstenschlager has been an official observer at 18 U.N. conferences, 10 of which have addressed climate change. She serves as the vice president and education liaison for Texas Eagle Forum.

She is a Parker County precinct chairman, was an alternate delegate to the 2004 Republican Convention in New York City, and a delegate to the 2008 Convention in Minneapolis. She received the Texas Federation of Republican Women's Tribute to Women Award in 2006.

A reception will follow the meeting and guests are welcome! For more information, contact VP-Programs Diane Helms, 940-368-0007, or President Susan Hughes, 940-727-4468.

VFW Auxiliary visited by District I president

District I President VFW Auxiliary Janet Brown of Denison made her official visit at the Ladies Auxiliary VFW Post #6205 regular meeting on Monday, Jan. 21 in the Post Home. President Frances Bayer presided at the meeting, and introduced President Brown who in turn gave a favorable review of all of the local Auxiliary's endeavors. She also offered a few tips to benefit the organization.

President Bayer read from the 2 Cents newsletter about the duties and standing rules of all members. She expressed appreciation for all who contributed to "In Lieu of Christmas Cards" ad in the Muenster paper, which raises monies for local charities. Also mentioned was the donation of several sets of sweat pants and shirts to the Bonham VA Hospital. While there, President Bayer volunteered several hours.

Trustee Agnes Hesse reported that the books were audited and were in order. Members voted to send a donation to the State nursing scholarship fund, and signed get well and thinking of you cards for several members.

The next District I meeting is planned for Feb. 24 in Honey Grove Post #8775. A memorial service will also take place.

Following the meeting, Linda Knabe and Sandra Hennigan were hostesses for the evening.

The next meeting will be Feb. 18 in the Post Home at 7:30 p.m.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Muenster ISD acknowledges contributions of Board

Texans benefit every day from the tireless work and countless hours contributed by a group of more than 7,300 men and women in communities across the state. These volunteers are elected by their constituents and receive no compensation for their work as public servants. These men and women are the school board members of Texas.

January is School Board Recognition Month and Muenster ISD will take this opportunity to thank these local leaders for devoting time to support public education and serve our local school.

"It's more important than ever before that the public shows support for public education. Board members face critical challenges in their roles as advocates, and they will continue to stand strong and guard against anything that takes away from our children and undermines our public schools," said Clay Richerson, Muenster ISD superintendent.

"Even though we are making a special effort in January to show appreciation to our Board members, we realize their many contributions reflect a year-round commitment. They generously give of themselves to ensure that decisions directly affecting our local schools are made by representatives of this community, people who are close to schools and know our teachers, parents, and students. In these challenging times, they face difficult choices and shoulder critical responsibilities. Their ultimate goal is always focused on the future success of the children in our District," Richerson said.

The Board has set in place, for the future, new instructional buildings that will take them well into the 21st century. Through the Board's leadership, Muenster has been in the top of the state accountability, the top 9% of school scores on the ACT Exam, and well above the state's average of students attending college.

The Board members serving Muenster ISD are Ben Bindel, Richard Dangelmayr, Neal Flusche, Doug Hermes, Steve Trubench, Kim Walterscheid, and Mel Walterscheid.

Texas Senators lay out school security measure

(Austin) - Chairmen of two influential Senate committees unveiled a plan Tuesday that would give local school districts the power to enhance security on campus. Senate Finance Committee Chair Tommy Williams of Houston and Criminal Justice Committee Chair John Whitmire of Houston told reporters that the state must take action to prevent a mass shooting like the one that happened in Newtown, Connecticut in December from occurring in Texas. Williams said that the plan he laid out will keep school children safe. "I believe this proposal is a Texas solution that will save lives without sacrificing our freedom," he said. Currently, schools have to pay for security out of their maintenance and operations budget, a broad fund that pays for everything from utility bills to new music instruments for the band. Today, if schools want to do something to enhance campus security, they have to decide what they want to cut in order to do it. The plan proposed by Williams and Whitmire Tuesday would let districts create a separate fund that could only be used for security measures, but would not take funding away from other school programs.

This plan would give local school districts the power to create a new revenue source dedicated solely to school security. It would permit districts to hold local option elections to increase sales or property taxes, provided those taxes aren't already at their statutory caps. Before the election could take place, a district must hold public meetings to lay out how the new money would be spent, as well as detailing the district's security plan. If voters in the district approve the increase, that money could be used for things like more licensed peace officers on campus as well as enhanced security and screening measures. This tax plan would have to be renewed by the voters every five years and could be recalled by petition at any time.

The proposed plan does not include any additional state funds to enhance school security, but Williams, who will lead the Senate efforts on the budget, said that this measure would not preclude there being additional school security funds in the biennial budget. The proposal laid out Tuesday, said Williams, will empower communities to tailor their campus security to their own local needs. "I believe that school communities are smart enough to figure out what works best for them and how much they are willing to commit to solve their security issues," he said.

Storm spotter training program scheduled Feb. 6

Seventeen tornadoes occurred in North Texas during one afternoon in April 2012. Over 5 million people were under a tornado warning at some point on April 3. There were no fatalities and very few injuries. Trained weather spotters were one of the reasons that effective warnings were given to those in the paths of the dangerous storms.

The 2013 severe weather season is fast approaching. Are you ready? Can you recognize the clues that suggest large hail, flash flooding, or a tornado is possible? Do you want to become part of the severe weather warning system in your county? As part of its area-wide weather preparedness campaign, the National Weather Service Office in Fort Worth will answer these and many other questions at the SKYWARN severe weather program on Wednesday, Feb. 6, from 7 to 9 p.m. The program will be held at the Gainesville Civic Center, and is held in partnership with Cooke County Emergency Management and the City of Gainesville Fire Department.

The 2013 program will discuss thunderstorm formation, ingredients, and features associated with severe storms. The presentation will also review tornado formation and behavior, and will give some insight as to why some storms produce tornadoes and some do not. Additionally, they will discuss non-threatening clues which may be mistaken for significant features. Most importantly, they will discuss what you can do to keep you and others safe when thunderstorms threaten. The program will also discuss spotter operations and recommended reporting procedures. The two-hour presentation will be in multimedia format, featuring numerous new pictures of storms, as well as new video from the 2012 severe storm season. "We have quite a bit of new material for this year's spotter training program," said Mark Fox, warning coordination meteorologist at the Fort Worth National Weather Service Office. "We will be showing data from the severe weather events of 2012, plus emphasize how your storm observations help to save lives."

The fundamental purpose of the spotter training - and of the storm spotter network as a whole remains unchanged. Weather Radar is a great tool, but it only tells part of a storm's story.

"Spotter observations are fundamental to the protection of life," said Tom

Bradshaw, meteorologist in charge of the Fort Worth office. "The combination of spotter reports and radar data gives us the best possible picture of the storms and what's going on inside them."

The program is free and open to the public. No advanced registration is necessary. "By coming to this program, you will learn a lot about thunderstorms," Fox said. "Even if you don't become an active storm spotter, you will learn about how storms work and the visual clues you can identify when storms are in your area. This will better prepare yourself and your family for the threats that storms pose."

The Cooke County severe weather program is one of over 60 training sessions that the Fort Worth NWS Office will conduct between January and March 2013. The National Weather Service in Fort Worth provides forecasts, warnings, and weather services for 46 counties in north and north-central Texas.

For more information on severe weather, visit website /www.weather.gov/fortworth, or on Facebook: www.facebook.com/US.NationalWeatherService.FortWorth.gov and on Twitter: @NWS-FortWorth.

peting. Carney said, "We're getting moved into the fieldhouse. Everybody is enjoying the new practice gym. It's a really nice facility in there."

Construction Manager Charlie Price reported that the electrician has completed the final jobs on the fieldhouse. On the elementary school project, the sewer lines are 75% installed and the City is getting ready to install the manholes. Structural concrete is 60% complete on the elementary school. The new Ag building was delivered and about 30% of the framework is up on it. There has been a loss of 15 days or three weeks due to snow, rain, or ice, said Price.

Superintendent Richerson noted that a committee would soon be formed to select colors, finishings, etc.

Price presented preliminary estimates for salvaging a portion of the existing Ag shop building. His total came to $135,960. Board member Mel Walterscheid remarked, "Some of these numbers seem a little high to some of the Board members."

After more discussion, Price asked the Board for more definition on the project such as what they want done, upgrades inside, and what to save and/or expand.

Trustee Neal Flusche commented that they did want it to look nice and to fit in with the new buildings. Price was asked to bring more firm proposals and a variety of breakdowns for consideration.

In other business, the Board of Trustees:

- Heard that $11,837.79 in delinquent taxes were collected in December.

- Reviewed checks paid by District totaling $119,769.65.

- Approved the 2013-14 Mission Statement and Goals as presented. Superintendent Richerson remarked, "This community of Muenster wants core values and that's very, very important to you all. I agree with that. This Mission Statement, that's what you expect of your kids."

Screenings for cervical cancer can lower death rates significantly

The percentage of women in America who undergo mammograms to detect breast cancer has remained steady during the past decade. Unfortunately, the percentage of women who receive Pap tests to detect cervical cancer has declined slightly, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Regular medical screenings are key to disease detection. But some segments of the population may not be familiar with the tools that help prevent cervical cancer in the first place. Research has shown that Hispanic and black women statistically are more likely to develop cervical cancer because they are less likely to have access to early screening and treatment.

"Since screening and earlier treatment of cervical cancer can reduce death rates dramatically, it's important from a public health perspective that women get screened," said Dr. Jayanthi Lea, a gynecologic oncologist at UT Southwestern Medical Center.

A Pap test, or "Pap smear," is the traditional screening method used for cervical cancer, detecting abnormal cervical changes before they become cancerous. The Pap smear is not a diagnostic test, however, and multiple Pap smears are needed to compare and observe any abnormal changes.

The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists recommends that women have their first Pap smear about three years after their first sexual intercourse or by age 21, whichever comes first. Clinical studies suggest that screening with both a Pap test and an HPV test offers women 30 and older the best protection against cervical cancer.

Cervical cancer is one of the most treatable cancers. When caught early, cervical cancer's five-year survival rate is nearly 100%.

January is Cervical Health Awareness Month

Transform your space with color

For today's homeowners who are seeking easy ways to update their homes on a do-it-yourself budget, nothing transforms the look and feel of a room as quickly and affordably as a fresh coat of colorful paint.

"Every home has the potential to look amazing - inside and out," says HGTV star and interior designer David Bromstad. "If your space needs an update, adding color is the easiest way to transform it while reflecting your personality and taste."

Bromstad's tips for sprucing up a space:

- * Highlight unexpected areas. Paint can go beyond walls. You can put it on unexpected surfaces, such as ceilings and accessories. Try a bright hue on the interior of a bookshelf or stair risers for a fun twist.

- * Use white on trim to make your color pop. White trim is classic and elegant, so you never get sick of it, and it's a fantastic way to highlight color on your walls.

- * Paint furniture. If you need or prefer to keep your walls neutral, a great way to add color is by painting a side table, chair, or armoire. This spices up the space and makes it easy to change your room's look anytime.

- * Coordinate your color transitions. For high-impact transitions, combine bolder shades with their more neutral counterparts, and for a more tranquil transition, stick to softer or lighter shades that are from the same color family.

 to advertise!

You're right ... there is a time NOT to advertise.

Ten reasons not to advertise

1. You have all the business in town!
2. Everybody loves you so much they just can't trade elsewhere!
3. There are no new people moving into your area!
4. You have more business than you can handle!
5. The economy is so healthy, anybody could make money in business!
6. You want to keep your large inventory!
7. You have no competition!
8. You don't really want to work very hard anyhow!
9. You have netted your first $million!
10. You have to hire more help to handle business!

The time to START advertising is if ...

1. You do not agree with all of the above statements.

The place to advertise is with

1. The media that will get your message to the most families in your customer area!
2. The media that is most reasonable in cost.

FARM & RANCH

Farm Service Agency emergency loans available to Cooke County

Will hay be the next gold?

As the milk supply grows to meet demand, concern over adequate hay stocks heightens.

It certainly has been difficult over the past year in terms of profitability. A year ago, feed prices were somewhat lower but so were milk prices. We have gone a whole year with virtually no change in the correlation of milk prices to feed prices despite significant volatility.

There was much anticipation for a tight milk supply as high levels of slaughter were taking place as a result of high feed prices last year. Dairy operations were going out of business with overall cow numbers declining. However, declining cow numbers were short-lived and began slowly increasing in recent months. Along with this, production per cow also began to improve, resulting in sufficient amounts of milk available for demand. In fact, the Midwest region increased production significantly. Milk receipts over the past two months have been higher than usual for this time of year. Milk was, and still is, being offered to manufacturers at discounts in order to entice buyers. Some of the other regions of the country are not quite as flush with milk but still have sufficient supply to meet demand.

Dairy producers continue to find ways to improve milk production as well as manage costs. This does not mean there has been much profit, but yet it seems there is enough incentive to continue to produce and improve, much like any other business would do.

It will be difficult to predict what this year holds for us. Weather will be the deciding factor for many things and businesses. We could see grain stocks increase significantly if we have ideal weather pushing yields above the trend line. However, even ideal weather may not have great impact on hay supply.

National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) reported on its 2012 "Crop Production Summary" that alfalfa and alfalfa hay mixture production was at the lowest level since 1953. Hay production was estimated at 52.0 million tons, down 20% from 2011. The drought had a significant impact, with harvested acres the lowest since 1948. USDA indicated on its latest "Quarterly Grain Stocks" report that hay stocks on Dec. 1 totaled 76.5 million tons, down 16% from last year and the lowest hay stocks since 1957.

Reduced hay production is becoming a greater concern as more acres are being turned into row-crop production. Dairy farms that cease milking cows many times will either move to grain production themselves or will rent the land to someone who may produce grain on those acres rather than more labor intensive hay production. High grain prices will increase the desire to plant row crops.

Increasing land rents do not provide incentive for hay production either. This may push hay prices up even further as supply tightens. This can be a great opportunity as a cash crop for those who desire to meet that market, but generally row crops seem to be preferred. What is ironic is that even though hay stocks have tightened substantially, hay exports have increased significantly. According to USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, exports of alfalfa hay for the first 11 months of 2012 totaled 1.749 million tons, up 10% from the previous year. Exports of other hay totaled 1.947 million tons, up 19% from last year. This is expected to increase as world wide demand for hay improves.

Texas Farm Service Agency (FSA) Acting Executive Director James B. Douglass announced that 207 counties in Texas were declared a disaster on Jan. 9, due to drought and heat using the new, streamlined Secretarial Disaster Designation process. Under this designation, producers with operations in any of the 157 primary disaster counties or 50 contiguous disaster counties are eligible to apply for low interest emergency loans. Cooke County along with surrounding counties Grayson, Denton, Wise, and Montague are all primary disaster counties.

The streamlined disaster designation process issues a drought disaster declaration when a county has experienced a drought intensity value of at least a D2 (severe drought) level for eight consecutive weeks based on the U.S. Drought Monitor during the crop year.

"The disaster designation is welcome relief to producers because it allows all qualified operators in primary and contiguous counties to apply for a low interest emergency (EM) loan," said Douglass.

Emergency loans help producers recover from production and physical losses due to drought, flooding, and other natural disasters or quarantine.

Producers with operations in counties that did not receive a disaster designation could be eligible for emergency loan assistance if they suffered at least a 30% loss in crop production or a physical loss to livestock, livestock products, real estate, or chattel property.

Producers with operations in counties that did not receive a disaster designation could be eligible for emergency loan assistance if they suffered at least a 30% loss in crop production or a physical loss to livestock, livestock products, real estate, or chattel property.

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

It is time to begin thinking about the Youth Fair for 2013 and how we can help the students of our community achieve success and receive the proper awards for their countless hours of hard work and dedication to their animals and projects.

Please take a moment to understand who we are and what we do. We are a group of individuals who help raise donations that go to the premium money for the projects and animals that our students, from this community, sell at the Youth Fair Premium Sale. We also help those students who do not make the sale with money to help defray the cost of their projects or animals. One hundred percent of what you donate goes directly to the youth of our community. There is a great amount of expense and effort that the students put into their projects and animals, and your donations help tremendously.

Last year we helped a total of 45 students from our Muenster community. The Friends of Muenster paid $30,125.00 to the youth of our schools for premiums on their sale animals and projects, and also those who did not make the sale. This year we are expecting an increase in the number of entries.

The dates for the 2013 Cooke County Youth Fair are Feb. 26 - March 2. The show schedule is as follows: Swine on Tues., Feb. 26 in Callisburg; Equine on Wed., Feb. 27 at NCTC Equine Arena; Sheep and Goats on Thurs., Feb. 28 in Muenster at the FFA barn; Cattle, Rabbits and Chickens on Fri., March 1 in Valley View. All of the FCCLA fine arts, crafts, and food will be on display Tues. & Wed., Feb. 26 & 27 in Gainesville at the First State Bank Conference Center. The shop and wood projects will be on display Fri., March 1 in Valley View. The Premium Sale will be held Sat., March 2 in Valley View beginning at 1 p.m. Please take the time to visit these locations and show your support of the youth of our community.

Thank you, in advance, for taking this request into consideration. You may send your contributions to the above captioned address or pass them along to any of the names listed below. We look forward to seeing you there!

County Agent's Report

Training for private applicator pesticide license

On Thursday, Feb. 7, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service in Cooke County will offer training and testing for those seeking a Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) Private Applicator's Pesticide license. This license is for the purpose of purchasing and applying restricted use and state limited use pesticides for your own usage. Pesticides refer to herbicides, insecticides, rodenticides, fungicides, etc. Books for this course and training fee are $50. The program begins promptly at 8:30 a.m. and will run until 4 p.m. It is recommended that participants bring a calculator and pencil. Call ahead to reserve a seat in the class and to obtain more information.

Winter lawn weed control

Right now is an important time to get out in your lawn and scan for weeds. Most of us have bermudagrass or St. Augustine lawns. During January and February they should be dormant, appearing thick and tan in color. Identifying green plants in the lawn now can lead to a much healthier, thicker lawn next summer.

Right now we are seeing small weeds: henbit, ryegrass, rescue grass, bedstraw, bur clover, and chickweed. These weeds are called "winter annual weeds". This means they germinate in the fall and grow until late spring. Most of the winter annual weeds got a late start this year because there wasn't enough moisture for them to germinate until the recent wet weather. The weeds may look manageable right now, but they will really become noticeable by March. It is at that time that they begin to shade out the desired grass, out compete it for moisture, and create bare spots in the lawn for the summer.

Winter weeds can be managed with a variety of products. One herbicide treatment reserved strictly for dormant warm season lawns is glyphosate - known as Roundup® or Killzall®. Since glyphosate is absorbed into actively growing plants, it is safe to use on dormant Buffalo grass, Bermuda grass, St. Augustine, and Zoysia. Please be aware, once the grass has begun its spring growth, you could damage it. In general, it is usually safe to use glyphosate on summer grasses through the end of February here in North Texas. If you miss this time frame and need to control weeds, you are likely to need one herbicide to control broadleaf weeds, and another to control grasses. Also, since formulations and products vary, always read the label carefully before purchasing and applying any herbicide.

Finally, no matter what season of the year we are in, controlling weeds in the lawn can always be an issue. The first defense against weeds is having a healthy, thick turf. Following a careful soil fertility regimen, beginning with a soil sample and then watering deeply and infrequently will help to hold the weeds to a minimum.

Get interactive - become an armchair Stock Show Rodeo judge

The Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo recently released a new and improved smartphone application into the Apple iTunes and Android markets. This FREE "app." complete with a list of upgraded functions, now features the highly anticipated SCORE IT! menu option. For the first time in the history of the professional rodeo industry, SCORE IT! will provide rodeo fans with an opportunity to score roughstock rides, predict timed event competitors' times, learn about the history of the Fort Worth Rodeo, access professional competitors' biographies, and develop an understanding of the sport of professional rodeo.

SCORE IT! will debut during each of the 30 PRCA rodeo performances. To install SCORE IT! on your device, search: Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo in the applicable smartphone market.

The smartphone application will also serve as an interactive visitor's guide and features five functional menu options including: Home, Schedule, Activities, Events, and More. Each main menu option includes eight sub-menu options and will allow users to customize schedules, view Frosts Rodeo Roadhouse and Frost Stage lineups, and navigate through plenty of maps to find their favorite Stock Show locations.

Nationwide survey shows retail food prices down in last quarter of 2012

Americans paid slightly less at the grocery store during the last few months of 2012, according to a recent survey completed by the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF). The survey, conducted by volunteer shoppers across the country, revealed that the cost of 10 of the 16 basic food items studied in the survey declined.

Those food items with lower retail prices include: sirloin tip roast, flour, chicken breasts, Russet potatoes, bagged salad, apples, deli ham, vegetable oil, eggs, and bacon.

Six items saw a slight increase in price in the last part of 2012. They include: whole milk, white bread, orange juice, ground chuck, shredded cheddar cheese, and toasted oat cereal.

According to the AFBF, the total cost of the 16 items that were studied was $50.54, which is down by $1.36 from the last quarter. Compared to one year ago, the price is up 3%.

Officials say the percentage farmers receive of consumer retail food expenditures for food eaten at home is also down at 16%.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Americans spend just under 10% of their disposable income in food, which is the lowest of any country in the world.

"Maybe this year will be the year"

Maybe this year will be the year that we get enough rain
 Maybe this year will be the year that we don't get too much rain
 Maybe this year the crop won't burn up in the August sun
 Maybe this year there won't be an early frost
 Maybe this year we won't break down in the middle of harvest
 Maybe this year we'll get a decent price for the crop
 Maybe this year will be the year
