Janet Felderhoff

There is no doubt where Cooke County Commissioners Court stands on the issue of upholding the Second Amendment. County Judge John Roane called for a vote at Monday's meeting regarding a proposed resolution in support of the Texas Legislature's actions to protect and defend individual Second Amendment rights in the State of Texas. He was answered with a resounding and unanimous chorus of ayes.

Precinct #4 Commissioner Leon Klement presented the resolution, noting that other counties around the Country are taking similar action.

The resolution said, in part, "The Second Amendment to the United States Constitution declares that the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed upon."

"The Commissioners Court believes in the right of our citizens to keep and bear arms. The Federal Government is currently considering taking measures to mandate or encourage restrictive gun control measures at the national level. There have been discussions regarding plans to impose regulations on the manufacture, transfer, and possession of firearms, ammunition, and related materials by private citizens.

"The Cooke County Commissioners Court supports actions by the Texas Legislature to protect our citizens' Second Amendment rights."

Klement commented, "I thought it was a good idea that we ought to get involved as a grassroots organizational kind of thing to support the State. I talked to the Sheriff about it and to Drew Springer. They are trying to come up with something in Austin that is legal. I think it is very important. It's a show of support on the local level."

Commissioner Klement and Commissioner Gary

Hollowell planned to take the signed resolution with them to Austin the next day. They would be attending Counties at the Capitol Day with their representatives. Klement said he will present it to Rep. Springer who promised to take it around and show it to others.

Audience member Herbie Sicking offered his agreement with Klement. "It's time for people to stand up and push back because the government takes things in increments," he declared. "We've been apathetic. We've been complacent. We've been ignorant of what's going on. If we don't stand up and be counted, you are going to be smashed like a bug. The next four years are going to be trying times in this Country."

Sheriff Terry Gilbert and Deputy Larry Winters asked the Court to approve awarding the inmate telephone proposal to Securus Technologies, option B. They based

Locals participate in March For Life

More than a half million people, mostly the youth of our Country, gathered in Washington D.C. on Friday, Jan. 25 to take part in the 40th March For Life. Jan. 22 marked the 40th anniversary of Roe v. Wade making abortion legal in the United States. Since that time, an estimated 55 million unborn babies died as a result of abortion. Thus the theme of this year's rally 40=55M Pro-life: the Human Rights Issue of Today.

Twenty-four Sacred Heart Parish youths, adult chaperones Nadine Creswell and Stephanie Rocha, and Youth Minister Dan Aedo embarked on a pilgrimage to Washington D.C. to show their support of life and to rally against the evil of abortion. They were joined by three from St. Elizabeth Ann Seton in Keller and 17 from St. Patrick in Denison. The St. Patrick's group included Tyler Klement who assisted Aedo and his mother Margie Klement and sister Leslie.

The bus departed from Muenster on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 23 and arrived in Washington D.C. on Thursday evening where they attended a Holy Hour service with the Fransican Friars at St. Catherine's in Maryland.

On Friday, the group attended Mass with Bishop Farrell at Basilica of the National Shrine at Immaculate Conception. Later, they gathered at the National Mall in DC and joined the March to the Capitol building.

Despite the frigid temperatures and falling snow, those who attended felt they were making a difference and found it to be a moving experience.

"This year, the March for Life was different for me," remarked Mariah Rocha who made the pilgrimage for a third time. "Before we started marching, listening to the speakers really opened my eyes. The 19 year old college student that spoke really made me realize that I am one of the many youth in the world that is continuing the March for Life. I just want all the teens to know that it may be sometime in our lives when abortion comes to an end and it is truly up to us because we are the future of our country and our faith."

Stephanie Rocha shared, "This was my first time to attend the annual March for Life. Seventeen years ago I was unmarried and pregnant...I chose life for my baby girl. And I was fortunate enough to be able to attend this amazing event with my beautiful blessing Mariah. It was one of the most amazing experiences I have ever had in my life. It was overwhelming the number of people that were there to stand up for the right to life. I believe that I have grown more spiritually since this journey. I encourage everyone

MMH to purchase new phone system

Janet Felderhoff

A new phone system will soon be installed at Muenster Memorial Hospital. Administrator Michael Kent is applying for a grant and hopes to fund part of the cost with a State-sponsored capital improvement grant. He said he should know by March 15 if the grant application gets approval.

The Board of Directors considered two bid offers. The current vendor is DFW Business Telephone. Their quote to replace the main system is $15,241.50. The bid is for hardware only and the Hospital would continue to use its current phones, replacing them as the phones quit working. They did not have an estimate of what a new phone would cost. Kent noted that the customer service has been very poor over the years. They tend to not return phone calls, and at times, it takes a day or two for the company to get on-site to service the system when there is a problem. They also bill for travel.

The bid from Nortex Communications was $40,799 for IP phones that would allow the Hospital to connect a phone to a computer without running phone lines to new areas. The quote includes analog phones for the patient rooms. The quote for digital phones would use the current phones in the Hospital and purchase new telephones. The total cost for the digital system is $54,465.

Kent said that some of the phone lines in the Hospital are 49 years old.

The Board unanimously approved installing the Nortex IP phone system and applying for the grant.

Financials for December showed cash on hand $1,831,487 with an operating loss of $72,000. There is a year-to-date loss of $603,000.

Kent stated, "Comparing this past December to last month, it looked a whole lot better from negative $242,000 and December's operating loss of $72,000. Part of the $72,000 is due to the fact that we cleaned up a lot of the holiday pay that employees had accumulated. I think we paid out over 200 hours of holiday pay in the month of December."

It was announced that there are three board mem-

Davis & Blevins Gallery to feature first art exhibit in new space

The Davis & Blevins Gallery in Saint Jo will host its inaugural exhibit of 2013 in the new gallery space on Saturday, Feb. 16. There will be a celebration reception from 1-6 p.m. The move doesn't take them far; it is next door in fact. John Sickles along with wife and artist Donna Howell-Sickles who own the Davis & Blevins Gallery have breathed new life into the next-door renovation and have done most of the work themselves. The love they have poured into the building seems to resonate in the beautiful glow of light in the new gallery space. The large front windows bathe the artwork in the abundant natural light of north Texas, allowing the pieces to be exhibited in a setting to rival the best in Santa Fe.

"Sweetheart of a New Gallery" will feature the Davis & Blevins' artists' newest creations along with a solo exhibit of Dallas-based painter Carly Allen-Martin.

Allen-Martin's pieces will hang in the special exhibit enclave at the back of the gallery. Allen-Martin's abstract paintings and mixed media pieces seem to echo the vast expanses of her native Texas home. Daubs and swirls of delicious color form the visual expression of the artist's narrative concepts. Allen-Martin's paintings evoke imaginative worlds that are expressed through colors instead of specific imagery. The viewer gets to decide what story is being told in each brushstroke.

Along with Allen-Martin's abstract work will be seen the traditional paintings of some of Texas and the west's most talented artists. Cowboys, horses, and western landscapes are just a few of the subject matter represented in the show.

Please join the Davis & Blevins Gallery in celebrating the opening of the renovated space along with the beautiful artwork to be on view. Located at 108 S. Main, Saint Jo. For more information, go to website www.sjmainstreetgallery.com info@sjmainstreetgallery.com

Candidates sought for area elections

Janet Felderhoff

Persons interested in giving time to their community by serving on a board or council should sign up now. For most entities, the first day to sign up was Jan. 30. The sign-up period closes on March 1.

Muenster Memorial Hospital has three three-year term positions with expiring terms. Holding those positions are John Aytes, James Walterscheid, and T.J. Walterscheid.

This is an at-large election and the three candidates with the most votes will be elected. All three current Board directors have already signed up, indicating that they are willing to serve another term. Any others interested in seeking a Board of Directors position for the Hospital District may do so by going to the Administration Office. The application bers whose three-year terms expire this May. They are John Aytes, James Walterscheid, and T.J. Walterscheid. All three have signed up seeking election to another term. Anyone interested in a position on the Board may apply to be on the ballot. This must be completed by 5 p.m. on March 1.

"I think everybody is about ready to retire," remarked John Aytes. "But with what is coming down the road, we can't afford to. We need all the experience we can get. With what's happened with New Board members coming on, we are going to try to retain as much experience as we can with Obama Care coming along and Meditech being phased in. All three of us have signed up and hopefully we will be re-elected to maintain the experience factor."

Kent reported that the Texas Department of Aging and Disability Services (DADS) inspected Home Health during the week of Jan. 7-10. The inspection consisted of chart reviews, policies and procedures, emergency policies, employee files, and on-site home visits.

"Preliminary findings on the exit interview show a few minor areas that Home Health has already begun to address," said Kent. The final findings would be received by Jan. 25 and there are 10 calendar days to send a plan for corrections.

According to CNO Diane Neu's report, there was an average daily census of 11.71 for December. The census on the day of the meeting was 14. There are now eight wound care patients and one cardiac patient. The new wound care rooms are completed and being used.

In other business, the MMH Board of Directors:

- Approved bad debt write offs totaling $8,696.37.
- Granted courtesy medical staff privileges to radiologist John Wohlwend, M.D.

NCTC to receive $1.527 million from lawsuit

After years of legal wrangling and months of mediation, a lawsuit concerning the First State Bank Center for the Performing Arts has been successfully mediated and the results released.

While the lawsuit was mediated on Aug. 7, 2012, the results could not be released until all action had been completed. The court order dismissing the lawsuit was granted on Jan. 3.

As a result of the mediation, the College received $1,527,500. That result was announced at Monday's meeting of the Board of Regents of the North Central Texas Community College District.

NCTC filed suit against Crandall Design Group, Frederick Crandall, Cuthbertson Mechanical Engineers, ZZ Consulting PA and Progressive Roofing Inc., in August 2009 for the poor design of the $5 million Performing Arts Center, which was completed in 2005.

to please include in their daily prayers for an end to abortion. Human life is precious!"

It was Darian Peter's second March for Life trip. He said, "The March this year was experience of a life time! To be able to stand up to fight for what we believe. It made me realize I'm not alone in this fight, and that if we all stick together we can accomplish so much more than we could alone."

Stephen Kessler, a freshman at Sacred Heart Catholic School, attended the March for the first time. He commented, "The March for Life really helped me come closer to God and realize how important every life is. It also showed me that our generation needs to step up and fight against abortion."

Elizabeth Turner, a Senior at SHCS attended. She said, "It was the first March I had been on. I wasn't really sure what to expect, but the crowds were larger than I'd ever expected. It was very cold, but I hardly noticed it because I was so excited to be there and I felt like we were suffering for a good cause. The bus ride was better than I expected, because we watched movies, said prayers, and did activities that kept it from being boring. Overall, I think the trip made a difference and made me realize how much support we have in the Pro-Life movement."

Sacred Heart High student Juan Orocio observed, "It was a very life changing experience. Seeing all of the youth and adults come together to stop abortion. It makes you think what you can do to in your community to stop abortion and help all those people that are going through the thoughts of getting an abortion!"

Dan Aedo remarked, "I am truly blessed, honored, and humbled to help lead our youth on this pilgrimage of Faith and HOPE... I am so very proud of our youth of SH Parish... that sacrificed and endured a lack of sleep, 52 hours on bus, staying together in a record crowd of over 500,000, and all along kept focus and of the purpose of this pilgrimage was to be a witness and Stand Up for LIFE... Not to mention... they never ever complained once... all our uncomfortable, cranky, and suffering was offered up in the many prayers on the bus and prayer services we joined in with thousands of other young people with the common goal of protecting all LIFE!"

I seldom think about my limitations, and they never make me sad. Perhaps there is just a touch of yearning at times; but it is vague, like a breeze among flowers. - Helen Keller rural Texas time and money."

The first bill filed (HB 697) exempts booster clubs and other school-support organizations from charging taxes at concession stands and similar fundraising efforts.

On Wednesday, Rep. Springer recognized the Cooke County Electric Cooperative (CCEC) on the House Floor with HR 141 in honor of their 75th anniversary.

"All money from these sales goes directly back into the school," said Springer. "Until recently, the state has never gone after these support groups. It makes no sense for the government to hassle them just so they can get a couple extra cents out of the sale of a Dr. Pepper."

"CCEC has been providing low cost, quality power to rural homes and businesses in Cooke, Montague, Wise, Grayson, and Denton counties for over 75 years," said Springer. "As key members of our community, the employees of CCEC have supported our local charities, set up scholarships for our local students and served as volunteer firefighters in our area for years. It is my honor to recognize them on the House Floor and I wish them the best as they continue to serve North Texas."

The second bill Springer filed (HB 698) makes it easier for citizens in rural areas to receive their concealed handgun licenses by allowing them to get traditional fingerprints instead of digital prints if they live more than 25 miles from an authorized provider.

If you know of any person or organization that you think deserves recognition, contact Springer and he will honor them on the House Floor. As always, if you have any questions or suggestions for the session, feel free to contact Rep. Springer's Capitol office by phone (512) 463-0526 or by email Drew.Springer@house.state.tx.us.

"It is not fair for rural citizens to have to cross extra hurdles to protect themselves and their loved ones," said Springer. "This bill is common sense legislation that will save the people of

CASA volunteers take oath; more are needed

District Judge Janelle Haverkamp recently swore in three new Court Appointed Special Advocates, or CASA volunteers, who were then appointed to work on behalf of abused and/or neglected children in the child welfare system who were waiting for a CASA Advocate. Skipper Bezner, Cindy Swank, and Sheree Field each swore to guard confidentiality in their cases and to represent the best interests of the child(ren) they are assigned.

"We're so glad that people are stepping up to look out for our children," said CASA's Director Vicki Robertson. "Sadly, even though a number of people have become CASA volunteers, we're still struggling to keep up with the need for more. Today, there are nine children who need a CASA volunteer and don't have one, which means we're going to have to keep up our efforts to recruit and train volunteers. The last thing we want to do is turn children away and leave them without that one person dedicated to their safety and well-being alone. All children in the 'system' have State workers and Attorneys, but all of these professionals have many other cases clamoring for attention. Because CASA volunteers are assigned only one case at a time, they have time and attention to give the child or children they're assigned that others do not."

CASA of North Texas will be conducting new volunteer training again in early March. If you are interested in becoming a CASA Advocate, please contact the CASA office in person at 309 S. Commerce, Gainesville, call (940) 665-2244, or email CASA staff at sbutler@casant.org.

Singer, songwriter and mission presenter Ambrosetti comes to St. Mary's Parish

Vince Ambrosetti is an artist with a passionate love for God, for people, and for music.

His accomplishments are vast. Two of his most memorable moments include singing one of his best-loved songs, "Sanctuary," during Communion at the funeral of Mother Teresa in Calcutta, India and performing for the late Pope John Paul II. He wrote, and performed for Pope John Paul II, the first English Mass setting ever sung at St. Peter's Basilica in Rome, the score of which now lies in the archives of the Vatican. He recorded this composition, entitled "People of Glory," with the National Philharmonic Orchestra of London, which marked the 200th anniversary of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States. He was subsequently asked to perform the same Mass for Mother Teresa and her Missionaries of Charity during their solemn profession of vows at the Basilica of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C.

He has recorded and performed with the National Philharmonic Orchestra of London, the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, the Nashville String Orchestra, and many others. Vince has been nominated for three Grammy awards, released more than 25 CDs, and composed over 350 songs, collaborating on projects with well known artists and producers like John Michael Talbot, Terry Talbot, and Phil Perkins. In 2001, he was named Catholic Artist of the Year.

Vince has inspired millions of people with his music and his message of hope. He has conducted over 500 parish missions throughout the United States, Canada, Europe, Israel, and the Philippines.

Vince says, "Music is a powerful communicator, expressing that which words often cannot speak. Through music, Word, ritual, and story, we rediscover that the values of the world around us ought not to be our 'reality;' rather, our reality is our faith in the Risen Christ, pervasive to the whole of our lives. This rich tradition combined with the Word of God through the Sacramental journey is the schematic by which we are called to live."

Now in his 30th year of writing, recording, performing, and directing missions for International Liturgy Publications and ParishMission.Org, Vince still holds true to his initial quest, one which led him to begin ministering through music when he was a young boy of nine: "I want to enliven and inspire people of faith and, through music, touch the hearts of those who cannot be reached by words alone."

Friends of Muenster FFA, FCCLA, & 4-H

7844 CR 424 Muenster, Texas 76252

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

It is time to begin thinking about the Youth Fair for 2013 and how we can help the students of our community achieve success and receive the proper awards for their countless hours of hard work and dedication to their animals and projects.

Please take a moment to understand who we are and what we do. We are a group of individuals who help raise donations that go to the premium money for the projects and animals that our students, from this community, sell at the Youth Fair Premium Sale. We also help those students who do not make the sale with money to help defray the cost of their projects or animals. One hundred percent of what you donate goes directly to the youth of our community. There is a great amount of expense and effort that the students put into their projects and animals, and your donations help tremendously.

Last year we helped a total of 45 students from our Muenster community. The Friends of Muenster paid $30,125.00 to the youth of our schools for premiums on their sale animals and projects, and also those who did not make the sale. This year we are expecting an increase in the number of entries.

The dates for the 2013 Cooke County Youth Fair are Feb. 26 - March 2. The show schedule is as follows: Swine on Tues., Feb. 26 in Callisburg; Equine on Wed., Feb. 27 at NCTC Equine Arena; Sheep and Goats on Thurs., Feb. 28 in Muenster at the FFA barn; Cattle, Rabbits and Chickens on Fri., March 1 in Valley View. All of the FCCLA fine arts, crafts, and food will be on display Tues. & Wed., Feb. 26 & 27 in Gainesville at the First State Bank Conference Center. The shop and wood projects will be on display Fri., March 1 in Valley View. The Premium Sale will be held Sat., March 2 in Valley View beginning at 1 p.m. Please take the time to visit these locations and show your support of the youth of our community.

Thank you, in advance, for taking this request into consideration. You may send your contributions to the above captioned address or pass them along to any of the names listed below. We look forward to seeing you there!

Muenster FCCLA students have been busy at work on their "Rachel's Challenge" program. They did an activity with junior high students to remind them of the anti-bullying pledge that they previously took. They passed out paper hands that said "with these hands we can change the world." The students colored these hands, and the hands that stood out the most won a goodie bag. ## Muenster Lady Hornets clinch another District Championship

Tigerette Peyton Reiter (21) forces a Lady Eagle to shift directions in Sacred Heart's District match with Texoma Christian last Friday.

With a victory Tuesday night, the Muenster Lady Hornets have clinched their fifth straight District Championship and extended their District winning streak to 55 in a row. The final District game will be Friday against the Era Lady Hornets.

In Muenster's 56-29 win over Valley View, Cedy Burnett and Amber Walterscheid led the scoring with 10 points each. Paige Herr, Kristen Reiter, and Hannah Bayer each added 9, Michelle Sicking 5, and 2 apiece by Lauren Rohmer and Sydney Huchton.

The Hornets took an 80-42 win from the Eagles to improve their record to 12-5.

Five Muenster boys scored double digit points. Austin Hennigan scored 16, Trevor Hess 14, Andy Flusche and Cole Walterscheid 13 each, and Hunter Klement 12. Also adding to the win was Clint Sidwell with 8 points and Trevor Cheaney 4.

Sacred Heart wins one, lose one

The Sacred Heart basketball teams hit the road Tuesday night, traveling to Arlington to take on Fellowship in District competition. The Tigerettes returned with a 63-24 victory, while the Tigers fell 66-38.

The Sacred Heart girls' defense allowed only 6 points in the 1st half before offensively scoring 30 points in the 3rd quarter.

Bailey Walterscheid led all scorers with 15 points. Danielle Berend added 12, Kaitlin Hesse 11, Kylie Hess and Karleigh Reeves 5 each, Mikaela Bartush and Mikenzie Fleitman 4 each, Peyton Reiter 3, and 2 apiece from Mikayla Fleitman and Michelle Zimmerer. The Tigerettes hit 40% of their baskets and 63% of their free throws

F	2	4	18	0	24

Cold shooting in the 2nd and 3rd periods by the Tigers allowed Fellowship to spread the final score.

Scoring for Sacred Heart were Isac Walterscheid with 10 points, Hayden Schilling 8, Nick Zimmerer, Kason Reeves, and Brady Endres 5 each, Daniel Hesse 3, and Tyler Spruill 2. The Tigers completed 25% of their shots and 33% from the charity strip.

Tiger teams taken by Texoma

With high hopes of a victorious revenge match with the Lady Eagles of Sherman Texoma Christian Academy to remain in the battle for a District Championship, the Tigerettes of Sacred Heart came up 6 points short, again. The 6-0 Lady Eagles remain in the lead, with the Tigerettes, 4-2, remaining in 2nd place after the 52-47 loss last Friday night.

The Lady Eagles never allowed the Tigerettes to take the lead, though Sacred Heart tied the game once in the 2nd period.

Leading the point making for the Tigerettes was Peyton Reiter with 15. Danielle Berend added 8, Devan Henry and Mikaela Bartush 6 each, Kaitlin Hesse 5, Kylie Hess and Karleigh Reeves 3 apiece, and Bailey Walterscheid 1.

TC	8	16	14	14	52

A 47-40 Tiger loss to the Eagles may make it tougher for the Sacred Heart boys to clinch a playoff spot, but they're not out of it yet.

After a tied halftime score, the Tigers' shooting went cold and allowed Texoma to take a 9 point lead going into the final quarter, a gap Sacred Heart could not close.

Hayden Schilling put in 16 points for the Tigers. John Paul Hesse added 12, Kason Reeves 7, Keith Metzler 3, and Nick Zimmerer 2.

WE'RE TALKING TURKEY

The Rio Grande turkey is the most populous and wide ranged wild turkey in Texas. The other two subspecies with population in Texas are the Eastern turkey and the Merriam's turkey.

By the late 19th century, all subspecies of turkey in Texas had been virtually wiped out by over-hunting so in 1903, a bag limit of 25 per day was established and the season was shortened to two months.

Anyone born on or after Sept. 2, 1971 who wishes to hunt in Texas must successfully complete the hunter education training course. But a minor within normal voice control of a Texas licensed hunter can still hunt.

FARM & RANCH

Legislation removes some uncertainty on estate taxes

By: University News Release

The recent "fiscal cliff" legislation provides small businesses and farms some much-needed relief from uncertainty about estate taxes, says a University of Missouri Extension agricultural economist. "We were scheduled to drop the estate tax threshold from $5 million to $1 million on Jan. 1, but they extended the $5 million level," said Ron Plain. "So now, estate taxes start on inheritances greater than $5 million. The other thing Congress did was cap the tax rate at 40%."

The top tax rate on estates had been scheduled to increase from 35% to 55%.

Also, unlike past legislation on estate taxes, which extended lower rates for a limited time, these changes have been made indefinite, Plain said.

Plain says that while farmers have a lot of assets in terms of land and equipment, limited cash income means that estate taxes can be a problem. By leaving the exemption at $5 million, a lot more family farms will be able to transfer from one generation to the next without getting a huge tax bill, he said.

However, because of rising land values, the $5 million exemption may not be enough to shield some family farms from estate taxes, Plain added.

"For the typical farm, 70% of all the investment is in land," he said. "So if you have a father-son operation or siblings farming together, you can very quickly get above that $5 million threshold and face some sizable estate taxes."

Plain recommends exploring different estate planning options with a tax professional in order to be able to pass on the family farm while holding estate taxes at a manageable level.

Employ your children on the farm to save on taxes

Here's a win-win for you: Hire your children to work on the farm. You can save on taxes while helping your children financially prepare for the future.

By employing your children, you are taking money out of a parent's tax bracket and putting it into a child's lower or zero percent tax bracket, says Stephen Fiala of Fiala CPA in Mesa, Arizona. "This can provide significant tax savings."

The savings come in two forms, says Larry Kopsa, a partner with Kopsa Otte in York, Nebraska. The first savings are in income tax. Children under age 18 can earn up to $6,100 annually tax-free. The second savings is for the parents, who don't have to pay Social Security and Medicare taxes on wages paid to children under the age of 18.

For example, if parents pay their child $6,100 and are in the 15% tax bracket, they will save $1,848 in federal income and payroll taxes, Fiala says.

Kopsa notes that if the farm is established as a corporation, it cannot be considered a parent, even if the parent owns 100% of the corporation. In this case, the corporation can still benefit from low income tax rates for the child, similar to parents hiring children older than 18, but the wages would be subject to Social Security and Medicare withholdings.

In order to deduct wages paid to a child as a business expense, the work must be legitimate and the salary reasonable. What makes a wage "reasonable" is open to interpretation, so Fiala suggests seeing what other, similar jobs are paying.

Additionally, the work and salary must be documented. "The more you pay a child, the more documentation we need," Kopsa says. "If you are going to pay a kid $500, it's not a big deal. If you pay the child $5,000 or $10,000, you need documentation." Also, be sure to match the responsibility to the age of the child.

Kopsa suggests using a calendar or time sheet to record hours and wages. In this same document, you can include when you pay your child, which should be done in a businesslike manner. "There is a tendency to wait until the end of the year and then cut a big check to the child. Those year-end payments could be scrutinized."

Saving for the future. By employing your children, you can teach them valuable lessons about spending and saving, Fiala says. He suggests having your children place some of their earnings in a retirement account, such as a Roth IRA. "That money will grow tax-free throughout their life, and then can be taken out tax-free."

Kopsa agrees. He says that children can make a great amount of money by contributing the maximum amount to a retirement account, just putting it in there and letting it cook.

Checklist for hiring your children

To make sure the employment arrangement between you and your child is suitable with the Internal Revenue Service, Kopsa, provides these guidelines:

Document the hours worked and payment rate for your child. This can be a simple time sheet or calendar. Just know that the more you pay your child, the more documentation is needed.

Have a separate checking or savings account for your child, so the money goes into a separate account.

Issue a W-2 tax form to your child at the end of the year, as this is an official employment situation.

Pay your child throughout the year. While a lump payment on Dec. 31 is legal, it can look suspicious.

Hay supplies lowest in five decades

Production of hay, including alfalfa, in the top-18 hay-producing states has been declining rapidly, according to USDA's recently released Annual Crop Production Summary. In fact, supplies of all hay are at the lowest level since 1957.

"Lower stocks equate to lower production due to both lower acreage and the drought," says Dan Undersander, agronomist with the University of Wisconsin, Madison. "If prices stay high, it will encourage people to stay in hay, but if prices fall, they'll move more acreage into corn."

Last year, hay growers harvested 79.6 million tons of all-hay, down 11% from 2011's 89.5 million tons and off 21% from 2010's 100.2 million tons.

Total alfalfa production fell 19% from 52.7 million tons in 2011 to 42.5 million tons last year. Last year's production is a 24% decline from 2010's 56 million tons.

"This winter will be a reasonably mild one," says Undersander. A mild winter will help keep a ceiling on demand and limit the drawdown in stocks. With stocks as low as they've been in decades and drought continuing through much of the Midwest and high plains, livestock producers and hay growers will need to produce as much hay and haylage as they possibly can early in the season.

Make hay early

Undersander recommends that grazers put 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen on each acre of pastureland this spring. That, he says, will yield the equivalent of an extra ton or two of forage per acre that animals can graze.

"Hay prices will likely stay high for the coming year," Undersander adds. He advises dairy producers to return to the historical practice of having six months worth of baled hay in the barn in addition to a full-year's worth of need. "It's a good practice and dairies should return to that practice," he adds.

County Agent's Report

2013 wheat crop concerns

We occasionally have years that pose challenges with respect to germination. This is one of those years! Wheat that was not planted relatively early did not receive enough moisture to germinate until Christmas. Since then, virtually all of the unsprouted wheat seed has begun the germination process and is now emerged.

There are several potential problems with late emerging wheat: 1) limited additional tiller development will occur; 2) plant height will likely be short to very short; 3) seed head will likely be very small; 4) lack of time for chilling requirements; and 5) maturity will be delayed and yields will likely be negatively affected by heat stress. If we have cool temperatures and adequate moisture during flowering through grain fill, then the wheat plant will compensate to some degree with more grain in the head.

Vernalization requirements for wheat (the chilling requirement in wheat that allows the vegetative plant to become reproductive, flower, and set seed) is not expected to be a problem for most varieties here in Cooke County. According to the information from James Swart, Extension IPM agent, wheat vernalization can begin when the embryo becomes active in the process of sprouting. It occurs at temperatures between 32°F and 50°F, with optimum vernalization occurring around 45°F. He believes the early emerged wheat has been vernalizing throughout the fall. Following the widespread rain and snow event on Christmas, the vernalization "clock" was started. Therefore, we have already accumulated at least 4½ weeks of vernalization on the wheat that is just now emerging. He claims, most southern bred varieties require three to four weeks of chilling, while some of the northern bred germplasm may require six to seven weeks to fully vernalize. The only varieties that are of any concern at all are the three widely planted later maturing varieties of Pioneer 25R30, Pioneer 25R40, and Terral 8861. Breeders estimate the vernalization requirement of these varieties tend to be about seven weeks, but under normal conditions, these will also reach their vernalization requirement by mid-February.

Of greater concern with the late emerging wheat is reduced tillering time. Tillering is controlled by temperature, moisture, and nutrients. The wheat that emerged by mid-November will have at least four months to tiller, while this late emerging wheat will have about half as much time to tiller. Wheat that emerges in fall will tiller enough to fill gaps in the wheat stand the size of a hat with no reduction in yield. A skip in stand for the late emerging wheat may not have enough time to fully compensate by tillering.

Cub Scouts compete in Pinewood Derby

This year's Pack 664 Cub Scout Pinewood Derby was held on Sunday, Jan.13 in the old Muenster gym. Boys ranging from 1st through 5th grade compete in categories of creativity and speed.

The boys receive a Pinewood Derby kit at the Cub Scout Christmas Party. The kit contains a block of wood, wheels, and the official Cub Scout Pinewood Derby rules. Each Scout cuts and paints the block of wood to create his car. Each car runs in four races, running once in all four lanes. A computer program randomly selects the boys in groups of four and tracks the speed and order of each race.

This year's results are as follows:

Tigers - 1st Andy Bayer, 2nd Clint Bezner, 3rd Shooter Hess;

Wolfs - 1st Derek Cox, 2nd Isaac Schilling, 3rd Bradley Lutkenhaus;

Bears - 1st Max Ganzon, 2nd Dawson Jones, 3rd Luke Walterscheid;

Webelos I - 1st Rafael Rondon, 2nd Bert Hess, 3rd Nolan Vogel;

Webelos II - 1st Cole Hess, 2nd Jared Walterscheid, 3rd Jacob Walterscheid;

Overall - 1st Andy Bayer, 2nd Cole Hess, 3rd Jared Walterscheid;

Scout Favorite - Preston Smith;

VFW Choice - Rafael Rondon.
