

Round-up This Year Will Be Colorful Show

Has Gay New Features and Improvements on Past Year's Favorite Events

Striving to surpass former successes of the Circus Round-up and Homecoming, annual spring festival honoring the Gainesville Community Circus on the beginning of a new season, civic and business organizations of Gainesville are introducing new features and improving those which were most popular in the past.

Two of the outstanding innovations, both reminiscent of Gainesville's pioneer days, are sponsored by the Young Men's Civic League. Members of that group are expected to wear, and encourage others to wear, traditional Western regalia such as boots, cowboy hats, bandanas and brightly colored shirts. The organization also has charge of "The Gilded Lily," presenting principal features of old time saloon.

The circus itself continues to rank as the outstanding event of the festival. As in each of the years past, improvements in the performance have been added wherever possible. It will open each evening at eight o'clock.

A colorful parade at 4 o'clock Wednesday, with bands, cowboys, cowgirls, old time vehicles, circus wagons, calliope and several other attractions, will officially open the celebration.

The circus ball at the Turner Hotel Friday night, honoring the queen and her court, will end the festival. Coronation ceremonies for the queen and presentation of her court will precede that evening's circus performance.

Another feature is a fat stock show of animals raised by 4-H and FFA members of Cooke county.

DUKE, DUCHESS REPRESENT MUEENSTER AT FESTIVAL

Miss Veronica Yosten and Anthony Luke will represent Muenster as duchess and duke at the coronation of the queen of the Circus Roundup and Homecoming in Gainesville, Friday evening, April 25th.

The queen will be crowned with appropriate ceremonies at 7:45 p. m. on that date, immediately preceding the third and final performance of the Gainesville Community Circus in Gainesville, in the show's big top. An improvised throne will serve for the rites, which will be attended by dukes and duchesses from 16 North Texas cities and towns.

The queen and her retinue will occupy special section of seats in the big top for the circus performance, and immediately after the show, will go to the roof garden of the Turner Hotel, to lead the grand march of the queen's ball.

Durwood Cline and his 11-piece orchestra from Dallas, will furnish music for the brilliant social event, which will bring the third annual Roundup and Homecoming to a close. Roland A. Wilson is chairman of the ball committee.

Cities and towns which will send dukes and duchesses to participate include Dallas, Fort Worth, Denton, Sanger, Pilot Point, Whitesboro, Sherman, Denison, Muenster, Valley View, Saint Jo, Nocona, Henrietta and Wichita Falls, Texas, and Marietta and Ardmore, Oklahoma.

Candidates for queen are Misses Anne Culp and Virginia Ann Newton. The winning candidate will be announced Friday night.

SIX APPLICANTS EXPECTED TO TAKE POSTMASTER EXAM

At least six persons are expected to participate in the civil service examination to be held soon to determine eligibility for the position of Muenster postmaster.

Six applications were given out at the postoffice, but, since applications are available from other sources, it is not known whether that number constitutes the total list of applicants.

The deadline for accepting applications in the civil service commission was April 11. Notice cards received here Thursday from the commission state that the examination will be held in Gainesville on April 26th.

HORTICULTURIST TO GIVE DEMONSTRATION ON PECAN BUDDING

Cooke county men interested in budding pecan trees will have an opportunity to learn the fundamentals this Friday, April 18, in a demonstration conducted by J. P. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

In an announcement Wednesday, County Agent Albert Brent stated the demonstration will be on the C. T. McCarty farm 3 1/2 miles east of Gainesville on Highway 82. It is located at the first bridge west of Brown's filling station.

Anyone interested in learning pecan budding is urged to attend and to bring along a good pocket knife. The demonstration will begin about 9 a. m. and continue through most of the day.

GREENLAND WILL BE DEFENDED BY U. S.

An agreement was entered into between the United States and the Minister from Denmark, Henrik de Kauffmann. It calls for Greenland to be included in our system of hemisphere defense. The map plainly shows how easily the 700 odd miles to Newfoundland could be covered by modern aircraft. The foreign office at Copenhagen claims the agreement is invalid because it was done without the approval of the King of Denmark and his government. The United States recognizes Henrik de Kauffmann as the Minister of the Danish people.

Parochial Classes Dismiss 1 Week for Measles Epidemic

Commends Good Friday Observance

Speaking for himself and the City Council, Mayor Ben Seyler this week expressed appreciation for the fine cooperation of business houses in observing Good Friday. So far as he knew, Seyler said, every place was closed from noon until shortly after 3 when special services ended at the local church.

Local Streams Go On Rampage After Heavy Downpour

Creeks and brooks of this vicinity went on a short rampage Tuesday morning after the heaviest rainfall to date this spring. The estimated precipitation was about 2 inches and fell over a period of about 6 hours, however the greater part of rain fell in less than an hour between 7:30 and 8:30.

Streets here were flooded and roads in many places were under water where shallow ditches were not able to hold the sudden rush.

Local grain and garden crops were pepped up by the fine soaking. They had not, however, been in severe need of moisture. To many farmers the rain was slightly early. It interrupted their corn planting schedule and postponed cane planting.

Pastures were especially improved. Prospects are good for at least several weeks of good grazing.

MILK PROFITS HERE BOOSTED BY BOTH VOLUME AND PRICE

The milk business at Muenster is rapidly improving. According to a report this week from the cheese factory, prices are rising simultaneously with the annual increase of production, the net result being a fast growing profit to farmers.

Milk receipts at the plant on Monday of this week were 42,000 pounds. Bad weather caused a slump Tuesday but the upward trend was noted again Wednesday.

From now until the early part of May an increase of about 1,000 pounds daily is expected in favorable weather until the peak volume is reached. In the opinion of plant manager Rudy Hellman the best figure will probably be about 55,000 pounds.

'THE GILDED LILY', PIONEER HOT-SPOT FEATURES ROUNDUP

"The Gilded Lily," a reminder of the pioneer days in Gainesville, will be one of the features of the Circus Roundup on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 23, 24 and 25.

The reproduction of the old-time saloon will be sponsored by the Young Men's Civic League in the Fair Park building. It will open at 9:30 p. m. on Wednesday night, and at 8:30 p. m. on each of the other nights of the celebration.

There will be a small admission charge, which will be exchanged for "circus mazuma" or paper money, which the patron may use inside the building.

Visitors to "The Gilded Lily" will find tables at which they may be served sandwiches and drinks, or they may place their orders at an old-time bar, with brass rail and cuspidors.

There will be numerous games of chance where "circus mazuma" will be the only legal tender.

Arrangements have been made to secure Duke Wellington and his Dixie Jazz band from the East to play for a dance which will be free to the patrons of the "saloon," but there will be taxi dance girls who will dance with out-of-town visitors in exchange for the "mazuma."

Still another feature will be a floor show in which will be presented singing and dancing entertainers.

The entire building will be transformed into an old-time saloon, and the men who deal at the game tables will wear handle-bar mustaches, derbies, checkered vests, and heavy watch chains.

Likewise, the waiters will be dressed in pioneer days' style, as will be the entertainers and members of the floor show.

Only Elementary Grades Affected; Parochial High And Public School Have Few Absentees

Muenster school children answered the call of school bells again Tuesday morning following the Easter holidays—but classes at the parochial grade school were brief — they were dismissed at noon for another week.

The measles epidemic, although abating, still confined more than half of the younger students to their homes on Tuesday and, according to the Sisters, a number of children present on Tuesday, who want to keep an attendance record up to standard, should have been at home to recover more thoroughly before attending classes. Dismissing the entire grade department was the best thing, they added, so that all can recover and be back in full number next week.

The high school grades did not dismiss.

At the public school, according to Principal Virgil Lee Welch, not one pupil had measles during the epidemic and up to Tuesday noon no cases were reported. Classes will continue on regular schedule, he said, unless pupils contract the disease later and in such number as would warrant dismissal of classes.

Visiting Artist Will Direct Local Talent In Musical Comedy

A musical comedy, "Swing Out," will be presented in the parish hall here on the evenings of April 24 and 25. The presentation is a royalty production, given by local talent under the direction of Miss Cary Mack of Chicago and Kansas City. Miss Mack studied dramatics under Marian Schaeffer at Jacksonville, Ill.

The play is being given for the benefit of the Muenster Youth Band. Included in the cast of characters are Misses Elfreda Luke, Anselma Pagel, Harriette Schoech, Elizabeth Walterscheid and Clara Henscheld, Wilmer Luke, Harry Henscheld, Bunny Lehnertz, Ray Otto and Earl Swingler.

The chorus includes Misses Helen Henscheld, Alma Marie Luke, Gladys Wilde, Juanita Weinzapfel, Dolly Endres and Johann Seyler. Selections by the Youth Band will be given between curtains.

On the evening of the 24th a baby show will be held before the play. All children from one to five years of age, inclusive, are eligible to enter the show and prizes will be awarded to the winning boy and the winning girl. Each entrant is to be sponsored by an older sister or brother who will secure votes for the child at one cent each.

Any child of this community between the ages specified is eligible. Parents desiring to enter a child should get in touch with one of the following: Misses Elfreda Luke, Mary Wiedeman, Olivia Stock.

Tickets for the presentation will be 15 and 35 cents and may be purchased at the door on the evening of the performance or in advance at the Bank, the FMA Store and Fisher's Market.

Poor Visibility During Rain Causes Crash; Miss Pagel Slightly Injured

Miss Florence Pagel received facial cuts and body bruises in a car accident early Tuesday morning when she was driving to Gainesville to work. She is employed in the county clerk's office.

The accident was a head-on collision and occurred near the beacon light between Lindsay and Muenster. The other car in the crash was a commercial sedan driven by a youth from Fort Worth. He is a salesman for barber supplies and his injuries consisted of a gash on the knee and bruises.

Witnesses to the accident reported that Miss Pagel was well on the right side of the road and that the driver of the other car was apparently blinded by the heavy downpour of rain. Both cars were badly damaged.

Gainesville police department investigated the wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Alois Fleitman entertained with a supper Sunday evening at their home for the following guests: Miss Mary Wiesman of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Theodore Wiesman, Carolyn Wiesman, William Henscheld and Arnold Henscheld.

LECTURER

Miss Willie Birge, director of the biology department at TSCW, Denton, will lecture here Friday, April 25, in the parish hall at 2 p. m. She is being presented by the Muenster Garden Club as its guest speaker.

TSCW INSTRUCTOR TO LECTURE HERE ON FLOWERS AND SHRUBS

The Muenster Civic League and Garden Club will have Miss Willie Birge of Denton as a guest speaker at its meeting next Friday, April 25. The meeting will be held in the parish hall, beginning at 2 o'clock, and is to be open to the public.

Miss Birge is director of the biology department of TSCW, Denton, and has been on the college staff since 1915. She has lectured throughout the state of Texas on gardening and wild flower conservation. She is in charge of the botanical gardens at the college and has done outstanding work in the use of native plants.

The title of her lecture is "Shrubs and Flowers of Cooke County and Their Garden Use." Local garden club members will have on display numerous wild flower specimens which she will identify.

Everybody is invited to attend this speaking and special invitations have been sent to public and parochial school students, to the Saint Jo Garden Club and to Garden Clubs of Gainesville.

John Yosten Injured By Runaway Horse

John Yosten was able to be up and about Wednesday following an accident on his farm Saturday afternoon. He received a dislocated shoulder and a gash on his leg when a spirited horse bolted and dragged him over a planter and several yards down a corn row before he got the animal under control.

He was treated at the local clinic and permitted to return home.

Mrs. Albert Henderson, who has been seriously ill from ptomaine poisoning and was confined to a Gainesville hospital last week, was able to be up for the first time at her home Wednesday and is making a normal recovery.

SERBIA'S COMITADJI — WORLD'S TOUGHEST

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA.—This armed Serbian may not look like much from a sartorial standpoint, but he belongs to the toughest band of Guerrillas in the world. They are the dreaded, revolutionary, death-defying Comitadji of Yugoslavia. It was such a band that Ruth Mitchell recently joined. She is the sister of the late Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell of the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, family. Each member of the Comitadji carries a phial of poison because of their boast that no member is taken alive. This trained Guerrilla will prove invaluable in disrupting German supply lines and interrupting communications.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

Mail reaching U. S. Senators and Congressmen in Washington indicates that many people are slow to realize what this nation faces in coming months.

Perhaps naturally, constituents who write in from the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts and some Gulf States are pretty well aware of the dangers involved in being an "arsenal for democracy." But many inland states reflect belief that the job can be done in an off-hand manner.

What general policy the United States adopts is, in the minds of most legislators, no longer a question. That, they say, has been decided in the British aid bill and other legislation. The only issue, as a great majority of the solons see it, is how the nation carries out its declared policy.

Some legislators and military experts see a "shooting war" only a few months away. Others think the shooting can be avoided. But virtually none believes that the whole nation is aware of the troubled shoals ahead.

Voters who write in usually fall into several well-defined groups: Those who want to see Hitler defeated at any cost, those who still think the war is none of our business, those who say we should preserve "social gains" even if it means becoming a German province, and those who insist we must set up a totalitarian form of government matching Hitler's.

Of course, as most solons see it, there is a middle way. But the majority are worried by fear lest this country, in supplying resistance to a dictatorship, destroy the very thing it is seeking to preserve.

What it gets around to is this: The "planners" are still in Washington. The general tendency of Congress recently has been to avoid experiments and theories. So the planners have changed tactics. Instead of advocating their proposals for the "general welfare" they now urge them as "defense" necessities.

One example will suffice. Many states have long conducted safety inspections of boilers. By and large they have done a pretty good job. Few boiler explosions are heard of. Yet now a bill has been introduced which for "defense" purposes would let Congress and the Federal government take over this state function.

Every plan, every proposal, which Congress rejected in comparatively normal times is now being dressed up in a uniform, and its supporters are saying: "Look! We must pass this to speed defense!"

That tendency worries the legislators, particularly those who think that instead of trying new things we should make workable those laws already on the statute books. Another thing which concerns them is belief expressed by some constituents that the job of building and maintaining defense is easy.

To counteract that belief, new facts slowly are being made public, to show that tanks and planes and guns can't be built overnight and by a few men.

For instance, it took 15 months to build one plant, install the proper machines, train the workers, and turn out a million shells. It will take only 60 days for the next million.

Another example is this: A huge five-ton multiple spindle bar machine would have to work constantly two and a half days to turn out enough bullet cores to keep one machine gun firing for a single hour.

Already, the nation's plants are humming at top speed. Contracts have been placed with them for about $13 billion worth of defense goods. But not including what will develop later this year or in years to follow, Congress has approved or

The job grows bigger daily. Most patriotic legislators hope it won't be interfered with by demands for new experiments, or by demands for maintenance of "social" gains no matter what the cost.

The current Congressional fear is put this way by Rep. Summers of Texas, who is regarded by his colleagues as one of the soundest legislators in Washington:

"We're repeating the mistakes of France. I warn you, the boys in uniforms won't knock off at 5 o'clock. They'll stand the night watches."

Your Health

BY GEO. W. COX, M. D.
Texas State Health Officer

AUSTIN.—"Next to tuberculosis, no other disease in recent years has been more emphasized in the press and lay magazines, over the radio and from speaker's platform than cancer. Despite the widespread and easily understood information thus made generally available, the number of cancer deaths in Texas and in most states continues to increase. This unfortunate situation in part is due to the fact that fully one-third of these fatalities, but for carelessness or ignorance, need not have occurred," declares Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"During 1940, deaths from all causes in the State of Texas totaled 43,492. Cancer was responsible for 5,345, or 8.6 per cent of all deaths. Out of this number, at least one-third of the cancer deaths, or 1,780, might have been saved had a physician been consulted early in the course of the disease. A loss of 1,780 savable lives is a factor that neither the medical profession or public health officials can view complacently. Moreover, a measurable reduction in this figure depends not so much upon present-day scientific information, but, rather, upon a more general individual appreciation of early symptoms and prompt professional attention thereto.

"This suicidal indifference to recognizable suspicious symptoms is explained but cannot be excused, on the basis that in the precancerous and early stages of cancer pain is lacking, bone cancer excepted. Thus, a painless lump in the chest or other parts of the body; a painless though persistent sore, particularly on the face or on the mouth; a painless though unusual bleeding from any body opening; and chronic indigestion are frequently disregarded until pain drives the victim to his physician's office. When the disease has progressed to such a point, often the treatment that could have been applied successfully earlier no longer is of benefit.

"While the above-mentioned symptoms do not necessarily mean that the cancer exists or is in the offing, to assume that such is not the case is to turn one's back deliberately upon warnings that can only be properly diagnosed by a physician. The sooner the facts are known, the greater the chances for recovery, provided the diagnosis be positive.

"It is heartening to know that in three-fourths of the cases displaying usual symptoms, cancer is not present. Nevertheless, it is the height of folly and may result in what practically amounts to self-destruction to be unappreciative of their potential significance.

"In short, prompt diagnosis, coupled with prompt and effective treatment, is the greatest weapon against cancer. In the light of present-day cancer knowledge, the cure of cancer depends to a large extent upon early team work between the patient and his physician.

Woman Scientist to Feed Children on 15 Cent Daily Diet

WASHINGTON.—A woman scientist who has lived and gained weight for five years on 15c a day is preparing to feed 100 children on the same diet in an experiment undertaken for a national research council committee.

She is Dr. Gladys Sellev, sociologist of the Catholic University of America. She actually allows herself 14c a day in her food budget, leaving a penny for such emergencies as an unforeseen rise in prices.

Dr. Sellev has kept about fifty children on the same meals part of the time during this five-year period, rescuing them from the streets as starving waifs, bringing all of them to normal weight and seeing some of them gain more than two pounds in a week. She pays no particular attention to vitamins or calories, now held essential to building up the health morale of the American people.

The cheapest of scientifically recommended diets, Dr. Sellev says, is far beyond the means of many persons. Stressing the need for particular foods such as fresh milk for children, she asserts, results in mothers purchasing these articles. They therefore have no money left to buy anything which will fill the stomach of the youngsters. Consequently they are always hungry.

Dr. Sellev does not recommend her menus for anybody who can afford to spend more than 15c a day. But she intends living on it for the rest of her life.

Breakfast costs 3c—coffee with evaporated milk, toast and butter for adults. The children get cereal with evaporated milk instead. Dr. Sellev buys the cheapest possible coffee and butter, also day-old bread at three loaves for a dime.

Lunch costs 4c. It consists of pea soup or corn soup and crackers.

For a solid dinner Dr. Sellev spends from 7c to 8c. She has several menus. One consists of baked beans, hot dogs and spinach. Another is a stew with meat, potatoes, tomatoes and macaroni. For dessert she serves day-old doughnuts purchased from bakeries at 1c each. The children are allowed to stuff themselves.

Recently she found negro families fresh from the country dining sumptuously on a dish known as Hopping John, a mixture of black-eyed peas, rice and meat, the last, the poorest quality of beef, tough and with a lot of fat, which is sold for a few cents a pound. She has added this to her 8c menus because it contains most of the vitamins considered essential. To it, for the children, she adds an apple, costing half a cent.

These rural negro families, Dr. Sellev says, represent about the poorest element of the American population, as far as money goes, but enjoy fair health. Subconsciously, they have hit on diets which cost next to nothing and are good for them. Once they come to city slums, she explains, they begin to hear of things they should eat, give up their old foods and begin to starve.

Dr. Sellev is training classes of special workers. She keeps her students on the same 15c diet. From the beginning she has refused offers of financial help. She is not trying to determine, she says, what is a good diet for people, but only what they can have on what they earn which will keep them in good health.

Arrangements for the 100 children are being made with a Washington hospital. These waifs, mostly from broken negro families in the lowest possible stratum of society, will get plenty of better food than they ever have had before, she says, but they will not get an ideal amount of vitamins. Left alone, they probably would get far less adequate amounts.

WHILE THERE'S LIFE THERE'S HOPE

In an article appearing this month in Reader's Digest, John Flynn seeks to dispel fears of a Nazi expedition to United States. He supports his opinion with the obvious fact that no expedition can be successful unless it can occupy a country, and that our geographic position as well as our defense machinery makes it possible for us to repel a force far greater than any combination of European nations can transport across the Atlantic.

Modern warfare calls for planes, guns, tanks, food, fuel and ammunition in abundance for thousands of skilled soldiers. Moving such a vast armada 3,000 miles and then landing it in the face of coastal defense would constitute two almost impossible tasks. No military commander would dare attempt such a foolish expedition.

His reasoning offers some assurance that America need not fear the fate of smaller European nations. A few bomb raids, perhaps, but not occupation. It is at least a little cheering to think that American farms and factories will go on producing the necessities of life, to provide for Americans and their allies during the struggle and lead in the reconstruction afterward.

However, that prospect should not be permitted to lessen our vigilance. Other forces at work here are more menacing than a prospective invasion. The tragic division of our people inspired by subtle subversive elements threatens to cause more injury internally than any enemy could inflict externally.

Circumstances are driving this nation to either of two regrettable extremes. If foreign hirelings do not succeed in disrupting national unity—and it is well to remember Hitler's boast that America will be defeated from within—it will be only because our nation takes dictatorial steps in self defense. Of the two alternatives all of us prefer the latter. We have confidence that our leaders would be more desirable masters than any of the foreign dictators.

Either of those possibilities is a serious threat at this time, but neither is inevitable. There is still more than a 50-50 chance for the revival of national common sense. Public opinion is getting its fill of capital-labor friction. Ninety per cent of the persons involved are likewise becoming impatient. Not long hence the traditional American spirit of fair play, aided by inherent patriotism, is destined to revolt against the despotism of labor dictators.

In spite of the gloomy forebodings of daily developments, we anticipate a national awakening in the near future. True, our democracy has been crippled, but it is still far from dead—and while there's life there's hope.

LOYALTY INSPIRED BY COMMON SENSE

The one thing we most desire to see in this country is the same intensity of devotion to democracy that other countries have for their various isms. The unwavering fidelity some of those foreigners have for their cause is amazing. They endure the most severe hardships in blind obedience to a cause which they themselves know grows on violence and exists on oppression. Jan Valtin's extraordinary autobiography presents one example after another of agony that few religious martyrs had to endure. Completely oblivious of themselves, they are concerned only with the welfare of their organizations.

That is a point which must, in fairness, be conceded to soldiers and agents of the aggressor powers—they are not selfish. They are ready to make any sacrifice for the welfare of the state. To an American's view it is ridiculous to be that loyal to a power which promises only national glory and demands blind allegiance.

In comparison, how much more reasonable it seems for an American to show such loyalty. His government is the synonym of freedom, justice and equality. It guarantees him and his descendants the right to live his own life checked only by the dictates of sound judgment.

Perhaps we concede too much to the loyalty of foreign subjects. Perhaps the apparent harmony is more the result of ruthless enforcement than of voluntary cooperation. Nevertheless, we should be disappointed with America's record. In view of national ideals, our willful loyalty should be greater than their forced loyalty. Instead, we witness the present disgusting spectacle of labor and capital leaders wasting precious time with selfish demands, we find grafters chiseling in for profits, we see non-defense undertakings trying to slip through under the guise of defense.

Democracy, the only system of government which enables men to live as men, cannot survive when adulterated by selfishness. But it can stand off all the subversive elements of the world if restored to its basic concept in which every man is true to his own integrity and to the rights of his neighbor. That is loyalty in the democratic sense—a higher degree of loyalty than any dictatorship can inspire.

Confetti
By CON FETTE

Seeing some of the boys who have been in camp for several months gives a person a greater appreciation for Uncle Sam's army—not only as a fighting force, but especially as a bulwark of sturdy manhood. Without exception, these fellows look better. They seem more agile, more energetic, and have a healthy tanned complexion. Nine out of ten will say they feel better, too.

National defense in itself is a sufficient reason for military training. But other benefits derived therefrom are fully as valuable to the nation. Young men are improved both physically and mentally by the army's rigid training and discipline. And the knowledge gained in crafts and trades is likewise useful.

When selective service was first being discussed many objected on the grounds that it would take a year out of each man's life. Facts seem to indicate it is rather adding something to a man's life, an investment for the future. Like a year in school. Everything considered, it is worth more than the most intensive year in school. It is a fitting post-graduate course for anyone, whether his chosen field be in business, profession or agriculture.

The least attractive feature of selective service is its principal purpose—training for war. The thought of developing fine young men who could contribute much to the world's comfort and happiness, who have the right to live useful, pleasant lives, and herding them into the hell of modern warfare, is the extreme in tragedy. We have seen what the World War did. Many did not come back. Many were permanently disabled. Few escaped without at least mental scars of the horrible carnage.

The same thing is happening in Europe today. The flower of young manhood, all desiring nothing but a peaceful and happy life, have become human sacrifices to the hatred and greed of a few dozen master politicians.

Judging from present signs, American lives will also be wasted soon.

ment should not be superior than a national monument.

How Gollard got its name was explained in a recent issue of the Dallas News. A priest, Padre Hidalgo, was an energetic, influential and dearly loved member of the group which founded the city, but for some reason, a regulation or the priest's ill favor with the home government, the town could not be given his name. Founders named the town after him, nevertheless. They disregarded the H in his name—it was silent anyway—and reassembled the remaining letters into the name Gollard.

We may have occasion one of these days to refer to the Muester Flying Club and the Muester Flying Circus. The short exhibition last week followed by more dares and counter-dares can develop into quite a show. Two of the boys with their wings just well sprouted talked one another into making a couple of loops. Number one made both loops. Number two made three loops and came down in a tail spin—under control, of course. It's exciting, but we hope a tragedy doesn't interrupt the fun.

BRUNO ZIMMERER AND DOROTHY BEZNER MARRY AT LINDSAY

LINDSAY.—Miss Dorothy Bezner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bezner, and Bruno Zimmerer, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Zimmerer, were united in marriage here Wednesday morning in rites performed in Saint Peter's church at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Francis Zimmerer of Windthorst, brother of the bridegroom, officiated at the ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass. A large number of relatives and friends of the couple were in attendance.

The church choir, under the direction of the bride's father, rendered "The Mass of the Good Shepherd" assisted by Miss Regina Fuhrmann at the organ. Miss Fuhrmann also gave the processional and recessional.

The bride was a pretty picture in a floor-length white satin gown made with square neck, puffed sleeves, fitted waist and bouffant skirt. Her veil was finger-tip length and was worn with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book from which fell a shower of white streamers and tiny white blossoms. As a bit of sentiment she carried a dainty lace handkerchief that her mother carried at her wedding 35 years ago. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a gold cross and chain that was a wedding gift from Father Francis.

Miss Elsie Louise Bezner, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor. She wore a sky blue chiffon frock featuring a shirred bodice and ruffled skirt and her flowers were a corsage of pale pink carnations. With this she wore a tiny matching lace and ribbon hat.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Vincent Zimmerer, as best man, and both wore boutonnières, white and pink carnations, respectively.

Immediately after the Mass breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents for members of the bridal party and Father Francis. The table was laid with a white linen cloth, edged with lace, and was centered with a three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. The board also held handsome arrangements of smilax and fern.

At noon dinner was served to the immediate families of the couple and also to several special guests including Rev. Fathers Conrad, Lindsay; Brady of Gainesville and Richard Eved of Muenster. In the evening a reception and buffet supper, followed by a dance in the community hall, honored the newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerer are making their home on a farm five miles north of Lindsay. Mr. Zimmerer is also employed with the Ohio Oil company. Both are popular young people of this community where they were born and educated. She is a graduate of the Lindsay high school of the 1938 class and was active in the Young Ladies Sodality of the parish. Mr. Zimmerer is also a graduate of the Lindsay high school and took active part in work of the Young Men's Society. At the time of his marriage he held the office of president for the second consecutive term.

School was again resumed on Tuesday after the Easter holidays with quite a number of students missing on account of illness. Some naturally wished that the holidays might be prolonged, however, considering the fact that with classes opening now, they will close so much sooner in May, students look forward to the enjoyment of the holidays after the close of the school term.

GIRLS WIN

The boys aren't the only ones that come back with a victory at Sacred Heart high, for on Wednesday the girls returned with a winning score of two to twelve, in their first softball game of the season. The girls had not practiced, nor had they been in the field this year until they met their opponents, the public school girls, in the Muenster ball park. Nevertheless, they played in perfect co-operation. Not only the game, but also the girls in their uniforms was a pleasing spectacle. All tried to do their part, and united effort won the game.

Arrangements have been made with those who no longer care to play tennis to practice up on softball. In this way those who enjoy tennis will have an opportunity to play their game, and the others will enjoy a game that is great fun and plenty of exercise also. After some practice the softball team hopes to play outside teams, and although they did well on Wednesday, they hope to do better.

boys are coming along well in softball, and will have a very good team if all become interested in real worthwhile practice. Thus far they have won most of the games they have played this season, but winning the remaining games will be a strenuous task because of the training with which the opposing teams will be equipped.

FORMER STUDENTS

The faculty as well as the student body of Sacred Heart High, is greatly interested in the welfare of former students and especially former graduates. Thus it was with a deal of pride that we learned of the fact that Raymond Wilde, a 1940 graduate of S. H. H. won first place in a contest of public speaking conducted at St. Mary's University, in San Antonio, the institution attended by Raymond. His subject was "Chain Stores." Since he is the winner in the first contest, he will now compete in the semi-finals with the winning team of the second match. The subject for the finals will be "Co-operatives." We are all anxiously looking forward to the finals, hoping that he will again emerge as winner.

CHEMICAL EXPERIMENT

Problem: To show the composition of hot air.

Apparatus: Bunsen burner, mortar, pestle, massive deflagrating spoon.

Material: Johann Seyler, Alma Marie Luke, Mary Ann Reltter, Inelda Felderhoff, Juanita Weinzappel, Dolly Endres, Geneva Gremminger, Gladys Wilde, Helen Henschel, David Lehnertz, Alfred Rohmer, Werner Henschel, Leo Felderhoff, Harold Sicking, Justin Hess, Frank Hennigan, Earl Otto, Emmet Sicking.

Method: 1. Mix one gram of J. A. S. with J. W.

2. Mix three grams of D. E. with one of L. F.

3. Combine W. H. and E. O.

4. Mix J. H., F. H. and D. L. thoroughly.

5. Mix a small amount of A. M. L. and H. H.

6. Combine M. A. R. and G. W. thoroughly.

7. Mix six grams of G. G. and G. W.

8. Combine L. F., H. S. and E. S. thoroughly.

9. Put all mixtures in a massive deflagrating spoon and heat gradually.

Observation: 1a plus 1b equals explosion; (2) 2a plus 2b equals no reaction; (3) 3a plus 3b equals fizz; (4) 4a plus 4b plus 4c equals noise; (5) 5a plus 5b equals combustion; (6) 6a plus 6b equals no reaction; (7) 7a plus 7b equals inert gas; (8) 8a plus 8b plus 8c equals mixture.

Conclusion: 1a plus 1b plus 2a plus 2b plus 3a plus 3b plus 4a plus 4b plus 4c plus 5a plus 5b plus 6a plus 6b plus 7a plus 7b plus 8a plus 8b plus 8c equals Hot Air.

In the early days of the church the newly baptized Christians wore their baptismal robes from Holy Saturday until the Sunday after Easter. The entire week was celebrated by attending Mass daily, and it was otherwise kept as a series of Holy Days. On the day following the Resurrection our Lord appeared to His two disciples on their way to Emmaus, which was sixty furlongs from Jerusalem. Even today people of some European countries go to a neighboring place to spend Easter Monday, saying they "go to Emmaus." We, of Muenster always enjoy the day by attending Mass in the morning and then by the parish social in the afternoon. The students of the high school always enjoy these Easter Monday celebrations. In addition we were all very pleasantly surprised when our Principal, Sister Angelina, permitted us to see "Men of Boys Town" on Tuesday afternoon. We hereby extend our sincerest appreciation to Sister Angelina.

TUESDAY RITE JOINS LAWRENCE WIMMER, IRENE WALTERSCHEID

A pretty church wedding was solemnized here Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock to unite Miss Irene Walterscheid and Lawrence Wimmer. Rev. Richard Eved, assistant pastor, performed the ceremony and officiated at the nuptial high mass. Members of the church choir, assisted by Anthony Luke, organist, presented the mass, "Missa Tertia," and Mr. Luke gave the traditional processional and recessional.

The altar before which the vows were exchanged was adorned with Easter lilies and white carnations.

The bride wore a lovely floor-length frock of ivory taffeta designed with a moulded bodice and full skirt which fell into a slight train. The dress also featured a V-neck, ornamented with a pearl clip, and leg-o'-mutton sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk net was held in place with a wreath of valley lilies and her flowers were an arm bouquet of white carnations. As a bit of sentiment she wore as her only jewelry, a gold chain and cross belonging to her mother.

Miss Cecilia Walterscheid attended her sister as maid of honor. She was attired in a pink net dress, over pink taffeta, made with a fitted bodice and full gathered skirt. She wore a headress of pink blossoms and a shoulder corsage of pink snapdragons.

Andrew Wimmer, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the church rites breakfast was served for the bridal party at the home of the bride's mother, and at noon a dinner for the immediate families of the bride and groom honored the couple. The bride's table carried out a white and pink color scheme and was centered with a three-tiered cake topped with a bridal figurine, and flanked with pink tapers. Pink and white blossoms were used to further adorn the board.

The dinner preceded Mr. and Mrs. Wimmer's departure on a wedding trip, the destination of which was not revealed. Upon their return they will make their home in the new Ben Hellman house. For traveling Mrs. Wimmer wore an aqua blue crepe redingote with beige accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Wimmer are both popular in the young society set of this city. She is a daughter of Mrs. William Walterscheid and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Wimmer. Both attended the parochial school and the public high school. He is employed with the local cheese plant and she is an employe at the FMA Store.

Mrs. Wimmer has been active in the Young Ladies Sodality and held the office of vice president for a number of years. Mr. Wimmer is a member of the church choir and has been active in work of the Holy Name Society.

WATCH DAIRY COWS' FEED IN THE SPRING

Spring is the season when dairy cows normally are in best production. But to get top production it is necessary to watch cows' rations.

E. R. Eudaly, extension dairyman, says that green grass is much higher in protein than dry grass. Protein is the element that stimulates milk production, and green grass is high in minerals.

Many good cows do not produce as much in the spring as they could even though they produce more than at other periods of the year. The reason, the specialist says, is that protein in the grain mixture is not kept in balance with that in the grass. There should be enough protein to produce five gallons of milk and only enough carbohydrates to produce three gallons. In that case she can produce only three gallons after she has drawn upon her body for the carbohydrates required to make the extra two gallons.

As young, tender grass is high in protein and low in carbohydrates the cow should be fed a grain mixture high in the latter and low in the former.

"When we get the protein in the grain mixture in balance with that in the roughage (hay, grass and silage), we find that if we add the per cent of crude protein in the grain mixture to that in the roughage it always makes 27," Eudaly says. "Therefore, if you will subtract the per cent of crude protein in the grass from 27, you will know what you want in the grain mixture." Extension Bulletin B-69 explains the figuring.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Malone and son of Wichita Falls were here Sunday afternoon as guests of her mother, Mrs. Katy Roberg.
