BROWNWOOD ONE OF TEXAS' MOST OUTSTANDING SCHOOL TOWNS

—When one says that Brownwood is a school town, the statement naturally brings up the thought of two Class A colleges located here; but it does not stop at that. With nine public schools the buildings and grounds of which represent an investment of almost a million dollars, Brownwood has one of the finest public school systems to be found in any city of its size.

In addition to the public schools and colleges Brownwood has a good business college. Under these conditions Brownwood not only makes a strong appeal to the young who must choose a college to attend, but it also makes a strong appeal to the citizen looking for a good progressive city in which to locate.
