VOLUME V

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1941

NUMBER 28

This month's American Mercury carries a scholarly article entitled "Science Discovers God." Fumbling through the maze of scientific technicalities on the behavior of protons, electrons, etc., the reader finally emerges with the conclusion that some Master Mind must be behind it all. That seems to be the most logical explanation for certain phenomena. Of course the scientists do not admit they are full convinced. They merely suggest that possibility in an apologetic sort of way.

Now ain't that something! After years of patient study the intellectuals are beginning to suspect what ordinary people knew all along. The only difference is that they arrive at their conclusions the hard way. They plod along trying to explain this highly complicated world by physical causes, and when they are completely stumped, finally admit they did not have all the answers. The trouble with so many of them is that they are simply too smart for their britches — so wise they were unwilling to accept the old idea of a mind greater than man's.

The rest of us are different. We had enough simple, childish faith to believe in the existence of a God and a simple enough reasoning power to admit that it seemed correct, even though there were a lot of things we could not explain. That's the reason we have been getting along without confusion while intellectual giants have been floundering in a maze of doubt. Some things are beyond human comprehension and have to be accepted on faith. No human mind will ever fathom the depths of Divine Intelligence. It's better that way, too. We'd have less reverence for the Almighty if we could understand all He does.

Though we have to laugh at some of the folly handed out off under the guise of science, we are pleased to know that scientists are gradually working back to that fundamental truth. For this observer there has always been one predominating opinion. There is an Almighty Master Mind who created the universe and laid down the laws of nature. That's why there can be no conflict between the facts of science and of religion. Any misunderstanding is a result of error in either scientific or religious opinion. The conflict is possible when dealing with theory but never when dealing with facts.

The mails during this past week brought a publication exposing the Nazi Gestapo as the most cunningly brutal gang of cut-throats in the world. Doubtless many of the charges are true, but a certain percentage must of necessity be discarded as propaganda. The purpose in this country today is to create a holy horror of everything German. It stirs up a better fighting spirit.

At the same time Hitler's cohorts are dishing out the same kind of stuff to subjects of the Reich. The common herd over there must be convinced that all Americans are reprobates.

Why does this systematic campaign of hate have to go on? Why can't nations be more truthful? In the wind-up this situation will prove very similar to that of 1919. Both the Jerries and the Yankees had been taught that the others were the scum of the earth. But they became quite fond of one another during those several months of occupation following the armistice. We'd have less international hatred and fewer wars if truth were not so recklessly kicked around by men in the upper brackets.

Another thing—while we are exposing hostile forces why don't we say something about Stalin's GPU? Its career of murder and treachery is no less sordid than the Gestapo's. Its record of dirty work here in America is probably even worse. We are constantly reminded to be wary of Nazi influence but we hear too little about the Reds. Both need watching. They are as near alike as twin snakes, and no less contemptible.

Tougher times are coming for the drunk driver, and the reason, paradoxically, is that the law is less severe. It used to be so tough that few juries would return a verdict of guilty. The minimum penalty has been dropped from a year in the pen to a ten-day jail term or a $50 fine. That's for the first offense which is now rated as a misdemeanor. Subsequent offenses, however, still are punishable as felonies, the penalty running as high as five years.

Another thing, if a drunk driver commits another act classified as a felony he is subject to the full penalty for such a felony. Under the law he's just as responsible as though he were in complete control of his faculties.

Whatever the law can do to keep drunks away from the wheel is a

NON-INTERVENTIONISTS DISCUSS FDR'S SPEECH

10 Parochial Hi Graduates Get Diplomas

Addressing the Sacred Heart High School graduates in commencement exercises last Friday night, Father Ernst Langenhorst of St. Patrick's church, Fort Worth, urged the adoption of a two fold purpose through the years to come, "be ever mindful of your eternal destiny, and be good citizens of your country."

"From the course you are now completing you have the fundamentals for a well ordered life," the speaker said. "Apply those principles to your every day problems and you will enjoy a happy life in the service of God and man."

Father Langenhorst was lavish in his praise to the Muenster community and to the Benedictine Sisters for their many sacrifices in developing the parochial school to its present status. "It represents a splendid advance from the primitive educational facilities here a mere half century ago when a small group of pioneers began building this community on a vast prairie."

The ceremony was held in the parish hall before an audience of about 400 persons. Graduates were attired in caps and gowns, the boys wearing black and the girls white and each was accompanied by a page carrying the diploma. Miss Cecelia Walterscheid was master of ceremonies, introducing the numbers on the program.

Graduates were Vincent Becker, Earl Swingler, James Endres, Andrew Wimmer, Wilfred Herr and Misses Katie Mae Walterscheid, Helen Hess, Eugenia Walter, Harriette Schoech and Henriette Wierman.

Lucille Wimmer, Imelda Felderhoff and Rose Marie Endres received awards for Latin study and Marie Felderhoff was presented with an award for perfect attendance.

EIGHT COOKE COUNTY SELECTEES WILL BE INDUCTED JUNE 19

Eight Cooke county young men will enter selective service on "June 19th," Ancel Ross, secretary of the county board disclosed this week. Ross also stated that all or most of the men will probably be drafted. For the first time, no volunteers are on the waiting list, however it is possible that a few will enlist before the deadline.

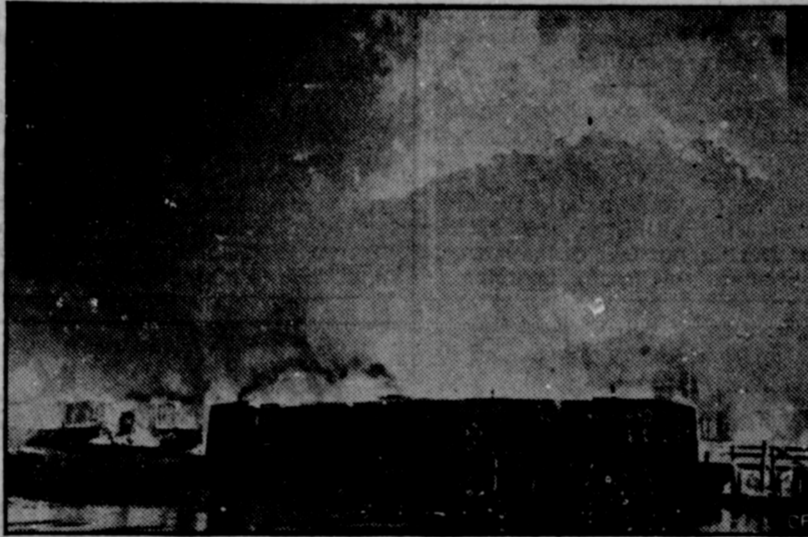

Muenster and Lindsay will both be represented in the party. Leonard Yosten, who was scheduled to leave in the previous call, was turned down on induction day when a volunteer slipped in ahead of him. Now he heads the list and is certain to go unless eight volunteers sign up. Joe Spaeth of Lindsay is second on the list.

Even though every man for the 19th should be drafted the county will still have an exceptionally fine record, Ross said. Of the 91 already inducted all but seven have volunteered.

Questionnaires continue to go out at the rate of 300 a week. This week the series extends from 2201 to 2500.

Dr. T. S. Myrick and Herbert Meurer recently received their licenses as private airplane pilots.

FIRE RAGES THROUGH PIERS

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—View of the fire that swept the Erie Railroad waterfront terminus Sunday, destroying two grain elevators, fifteen barges, three piers, a stockyard and a warehouse. Four square blocks of city property were destroyed. Possibilities of sabotage are being investigated. Loss is estimated to be well over $25,000,000.

NO SERIOUS INJURY IN 3-WAY ACCIDENT AT MAIN AND HIGHWAY

No serious injuries were sustained and two cars were considerably battered in a three-way accident at the Highway-Main Street intersection about four o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Claude Whittaker of Nodona, the only one reported injured, was said to be slightly hurt.

William Fuhrmann, headed east, was attempting to make a left turn at the intersection when the Whittaker car crashed into the side forcing it to collide with R. B. White's car which was about to make a right turn.

Fuhrmann's car was crushed in at both sides. Whittaker's sustained a ruined fender and damage to wheel and steering mechanism, and White's received body blemishes but nothing more.

MOTHERS NAME DELEGATES TO PILOT POINT CONCLAVE

The Mothers' Society met Sunday afternoon for the purpose of electing delegates to the Catholic State League Convention to be held at Pilot Point in July.

Delegates chosen are Mesdames Peter Bindei, Ben Hellman, W. M. Trubench and Felix Becker, with Mesdames Joe Kathman, John Fette, Joe Walterscheid and John Hartman as alternates.

Mrs. J. B. Wilde, state treasurer of the Women's Union, will be a delegate at large.

Other business of the meeting consisted of discussing the annual Fourth of July picnic and dance. Present plans to have the affair only in the evening.

Father Frowin, spiritual advisor, was at the meeting and led the opening and closing prayers.

2.63 INCHES OF RAIN IN MAY

Despite a wet beginning the month of May has proven to be a comparatively dry month. Department of Commerce records, as reported by Frank Hoedebeck, indicate a total precipitation of only 2.63 inches. Of that volume 1.93 inches fell on Sunday, May 4, in a short cloudburst preceding a cyclone. The other .70 inches is the total of five light showers.

Muenster K of C's Elect J. W. Fisher As Grand Knight

In an annual election of officers Wednesday night, Muenster Knights of Columbus chose J. W. Fisher as their leader for the fraternal year beginning July 1. He succeeds Roy Endres, who declined to accept a nomination for re-election.

Other changes in the council's personnel were given by delegates J. W. Fisher and H. P. Hennigan and District Deputy Herbert Meurer. Meurer made a special plea in behalf of the welfare work now being sponsored by United Service Organizations, explaining that the Knights of Columbus constitute a unit of the Catholic societies which are co-operating with societies of other creeds to provide a higher standard of recreational facilities for soldiers and sailors.

Comprehensive reports on proceedings at the order's annual state convention were given by delegates J. W. Fisher and H. P. Hennigan and District Deputy Herbert Meurer. Meurer made a special plea in behalf of the welfare work now being sponsored by United Service Organizations, explaining that the Knights of Columbus constitute a unit of the Catholic societies which are co-operating with societies of other creeds to provide a higher standard of recreational facilities for soldiers and sailors.

MUENSTER TEACHERS ENROLL AT DENTON FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

Misses Mary Wiedeman and Elfreda Luke, local teachers, accompanied by the former's mother, Mrs. Anna Wiedeman, left Tuesday to spend the summer in Denton.

Miss Wiedeman will attend Teachers College for twelve weeks and Miss Luke for six weeks. Accompanying them was Miss Lorena Fisher who will also attend NTSTC. She will teach next year at Mary Immaculate Academy in Wichita Falls. The three girls and Mrs. Wiedeman are making their home at 922 Sycamore St.

Miss Charishe Bradshaw, a new teacher for the public school next term, left Thursday for Denton to attend Teachers College. Principal Virgil Lee Welch plans to take the last six weeks' course there.

MUENSTER FAILS TO APPROVE AAA WHEAT MARKETING QUOTA

Muenster declined by a narrow margin to give the necessary two-thirds vote to the AAA wheat marketing quota referendum on May 31. The vote here was 40 to 22.

The quota voted better in other sections of the county, polling a favorable vote of 81 per cent in the nation. Cooke county and the State of Texas likewise carried by more than two-thirds.

One of the principal inducements for favorable votes was the government loan on wheat, which cannot be secured unless the marketing quota is in effect. Passage of the referendum assures a good wheat price whether or not the present surplus is maintained.

Want Line First When Sewer Work is Resumed

When work on the sewer is resumed the line west of Main Street is likely to receive first attention. Responding to a petition signed by all residents along the line, members of the city council agreed Monday night to give that neighborhood preference unless there is a conflict with plans of the engineer or WPA.

The request was based upon the fact that some dozen connections could be made after a few weeks. The other section of unfinished line is much longer, requires more difficult digging, and serves fewer homes.

State OK For City Water Sought By Health Unit

In another attempt to secure official approval for Muenster water, L. G. Gordon of the Cooke County Health Unit appeared before the city council Monday night and urged the removal of open toilets in the vicinity of the city well.

The water is OK, he stated, but no approval can be secured as long as a possible source of contamination exists near the well.

The health unit's purpose is to place Muenster on the state's approved list and erect highway markers proclaiming the purity of water here.

M. J. Endres Jr., enrolled Wednesday as a flying cadet in the regular army at the Santa Maria, Calif., training station. He left here Sunday morning accompanied by his parents as far as Dallas.

Community Grateful For Timely Rain

Very Helpful to Corn and Cotton But Causes No Delay in Harvesting

All of this community is grateful for the timely rain which started about 7 o'clock Sunday evening and fell slowly—except for a few short intervals of downpour—through almost all of the night. Measuring 1.83 inches at the U. S. Department of Commerce rain gauge, the rain has been pronounced ideal by local farmers.

This gives cotton, corn and cane a good start and, in spite of late planting, a chance to compensate for some of the shortcomings in grain crops. Lawns and gardens likewise are looking brighter.

Though the moisture came in the middle of grain cutting time it caused practically no delay. Almost every acre of oats and barley was finished during the previous week's ideal weather. Wheat was not ready, and few, if any, would have cut Monday or Tuesday.

Parochial Eighth Grade Gives Play, Receives Diplomas

Eighteen graduates of the eighth grade parochial school were awarded diplomas in exercises held Sunday evening in the parish hall. Rev. Father Frowin delivered the commencement address and presented diplomas.

The salutatory and valedictory addresses were given by Henry Yosten and Mildred Wiesman, respectively. A volume, "The Lives of the Saints," was presented to the school by the graduates as a parting gift.

Approximately one hundred children received awards for prompt attendance at school and at mass during the term.

The graduates' play, entitled "Camouflage" was a humorous presentation in three scenes. It was directed by Sister Lucy.

A large crowd of parents and friends was in attendance at the program in spite of the rain and bad roads.

The graduates are Robert Bayer, August Felderhoff, Anton Hess, Wilfred Luttmer, Billie Joe Miller, Clifford Otto, Reuben Sturm, Bernard Swirczynski, Raymond Walterscheid, Henry Yosten, Walter Yosten, Emma Foiderhoff, Emma Loe Fette, Rosalie Henscheid, Thelma Kathman, Dolores Lehnertz, Helen Ruth Otto and Mildred Wiesman.

Special merit awards for attendance at mass were presented to Robert, Arthur and Ethel Mae Bayer, Joan Robert, Teresa Walter, Virginia Walterscheid, Aileen Koelzer and Carolyn Wiesman. Honorable mention awards went to Dolores Lehnertz, Ethel Mae Bayer, Carolyn Wiesman, Mitchell Wolf and Evelyn Noggler for attendance at school.

Local Soil Program May Be Affected By Trinity Project Hearing June 16

Of possible consequence to the farm lands of this area is a hearing by Army Engineers on a comprehensive plan to improve the Trinity River and its tributaries for flood control and for barge navigation as far as Fort Worth. The hearing will be held at Washington on June 16.

This locality, a part of the Trinity watershed, is affected by the flood control angle of the proposal. In the past the river has been constantly silted by topsoil which definitely is not wanted in the stream but is badly needed on farms of the watershed.

Some of the tasks contemplated are to control erosion of farm land, dredge the river, straighten channels, build levees, etc.

The project likewise has enormous commercial possibilities in that it would open a water freight route from the mouth of the Trinity to as far north as Fort Worth.

Book-mobile Service is Available to Everyone On Alternate Mondays

A library service that comes practically to the reader's door will be available here during the Summer months while the county book-mobile is not in regular school service.

It was here Monday morning from 9 to 12 and will return at the same hour on alternate Mondays until the opening of the next school session when it will resume its regular schedule of visits to rural schools.

The book-mobile is sponsored jointly by the Cooke County Library and the county board of education. Its primary purpose is to serve school children. It is offered to the general public during vacation months as a special accommodation.

SWINE RAISING IS BIG BUSINESS IN TEXAS

Texas ranks seventh among the states in the number of hogs produced yearly, and about 5,000 Texas farmers grow swine on a commercial scale. In addition, says E. M. Regenbrecht, Extension swine husbandman, a great majority of the remaining farmers regularly raise a few hogs for a home supply of meat.

The specialist points out that there is a price differential of 25 to 75 cents between Texas hogs and those fed in the corn belt. This is attributed to a large portion of Texas hogs being of inferior quality which, consequently, produce second rate hams and bacon. Many Texas hogs which kill soft have the appearance of good hogs. Buyers cannot distinguish grain fed animals from those finished on feed that produces soft pork by merely looking at the live hog. But he believes that as a larger proportion of grain fed hogs reach market the price differential situation gradually will correct itself.

Regenbrecht refers to reports that more than $30,000,000 worth of pork and its products, or the equivalent of 1,000,000 hogs, are shipped into the state yearly. "In the face of this," he adds, "it is surprising that more than 25 per cent of the commercial hogs produced here are shipped beyond markets in that state offer attractive prices."

He believes Texas easily could produce the million hogs deficiency "if and when prices reach a more attractive level and farmers find that production of hogs is one of the best sources of cash income."

During 1940, 5,727 4-H Club boys in 187 counties completed their swine demonstrations, with 12,753 animals involved. This represents a three per cent increase over completions in 1939.

The specialist recommends swine demonstrations as a stimulus for other lines of work. For instance, he says, a farmer who makes a profit out of his hog enterprise may desire to enlarge it. But to do so it will be necessary to grow more feed, which means larger acreage, or better methods of production to increase the per acre yield. As a result he becomes a corn or grain sorghum demonstrator as well. Many "whole farm" demonstrators first became interested in feed production and later swine demonstrators because they were seeking means of selling certain feed at a profit.

UNITY IN THE EMERGENCY

The die is cast. When President Roosevelt delivered that masterful address in support of his proclamation of an "unlimited national emergency" he practically declared war. He left no doubt that this nation will do all in its power to insure safe delivery of the materials it has pledged to Britain and its allies. He left no doubt that our nation would do its utmost to check every Axis activity both on this hemisphere and on the waters within a strategic distance from American shores.

Roosevelt has issued the challenge, and we may rest assured that he has issued the orders necessary to support the challenge. It won't be long until our patrol ships encounter hostile craft in Western Hemisphere waters, or until our convoy ships escorting materials to Britain come upon Axis interference. That is when guns will begin blasting.

We are all in it, whether we like it or not. The decision announced by our president represents the wish of the majority of our people. It represents also the carefully deliberated opinion of our leaders that this course is the best possible method of preserving American freedom, independence and prosperity.

Until that memorable proclamation on May 27, the question of our participation was open for anyone's discussion. The Lindys and Wheelers were entitled to their expressions, they were entitled to national respect even though some of us so far forgot traditional democratic fairness as to heap abuse on them. But now the subject is closed. Duly elected representatives of a vast majority have announced that the nation will support Britain with its full force. Now it becomes a duty of the opposing minority to accept and stand by the decision.

If we want to continue discussing our national affairs, we are perfectly free to do so, provided we accept the new premise—United States, every one of its citizens, is pledged to the full support of England. Our range of subjects has been cut down. To a certain extent our freedom of speech is curtailed—by common sense and patriotism, not by official decree—because it is essential that we all stand united behind this new decision. Our very survival now depends on unity of faith and action.

The President's proclamation also places a new measure of responsibility on every phase of American labor and capital. Our principal purpose now is to save America and the ideals it stands for. Until the emergency passes individual rights are secondary. Industry no longer has the right to delay progress for the sake of greater profit; labor no longer has the right to strike. Any difficulties that come up now must be settled by arbitration without losing a single man-hour of production. Everybody's welfare is at stake. If the men concerned do not feel their responsibility to act accordingly, it becomes the government's duty to make them cooperate.

With a full sense of its deep significance, every American today ought to repeat with President Roosevelt the words of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, "With a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

—DIFFICULT AND NOT TRIED

A memorable quotation worthy of a place among civilization's gems of wisdom is G. K. Chesterton's: "Christianity has not been tried and found wanting—it has been found difficult and not tried."

In the last analysis, Chesterton is correct. We claim to have a Christian civilization. We claim to be Christians. But how many of the characteristics of our everyday life—here and also abroad—are actually in harmony with the teachings of Christ?

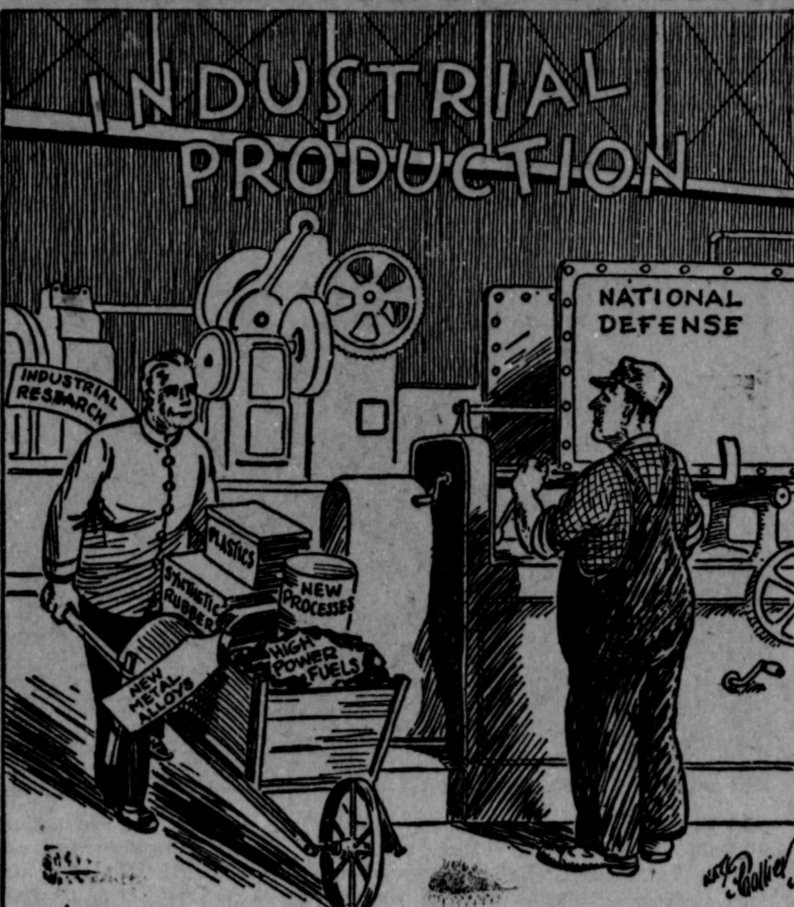

The dictators are violating the first principle of Christianity, which asserts the freedom and dignity of the individual. They teach a gospel of international hatred in defiance of brotherly love. They pursue a policy of greed, arrogance, treachery and cruelty instead of such virtues as charity, humility, justice and mercy.

We in this country are ever ready to point an accusing finger at those horrible conditions abroad. But we, too, are failing to live up to Christian standards. Symptoms are apparent on every side. We have political graft, class strife, racketeering, immorality, deceit, cruelty and plain Godlessness.

All those vices and plenty more are violations of the basic principles of Christianity. Despite the fact that our Constitution is founded on Christian ideals we do not have a Christian nation. Correct theory is meaningless when it is disregarded in a nation's every-day habits of living.

Today we are fighting a horrible war caused by nothing but a general break-down of conscience. Eventually, after people have suffered sufficiently, it will end with the overthrow of Hitlerism and other kindred scourges. But it will be just another futile struggle unless the evils responsible for the scourges are also wiped out.

Give Christ a chance, at international conference tables, in government circles, in community and family life, and we will all see better days. Chesterton's remark is loaded with common sense, not just religious fervor.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

Only a year ago on May 28 did the defense program really get under way with creation of the National Defense Advisory Commission.

On the first anniversary of that event, many people in and out of Washington are asking: "What have we accomplished? What lies ahead?"

The first question is easy to answer. The second much more difficult.

Official figures tell the story of the remarkable progress since Messrs. Knudsen, Biggers, Stettinius, Batt and other businessmen came to Washington to organize the defense production drive. Here are just a few:

In the nine months ending in March, airplane production rose nearly 300 per cent; in the twelve months ending in May, tank production has increased 600 per cent; powder production 1,000 per cent, small arms ammunition 1,200 per cent, Garand automatic rifles 360 per cent, 50 caliber machine guns 400 per cent, 30 caliber machine guns 300 per cent.

Present plans call for an even greater expansion of production of military items. For example, present tank production, which is 600 per cent greater than last year, is to be quadrupled; present powder and small arms ammunition trebled; machine gun production will be increased five times.

In the year in which business leadership has accomplished these results and laid these plans for the future, the "planners" whom everybody knew have been in the background. But slowly and surely, they are moving again to the fore.

The old National Defense Advisory Commission is virtually gone. Nothing remains of it but a name and a telephone number. It has been replaced by the Office of Production Management, better known probably as the OPM.

If it is no longer a defense program guided by businessmen. A labor leader, Sidney Hillman, has an equal voice with Knudsen even on problems which relate solely to production. Leon Henderson, a so-called "New Dealer," has taken over price policing. The $1-a-year men who, official figures show, have done such a grand job, are under fire. But the production job is being done.

How long it will be, if ever, before businessmen are completely subordinated to "planners" whose only experience has been graduating from a University and staying on the government payroll, is something no one dares predict. But the present trend is in that direction.

At the same time, the strike problem remains. It has caused tremendous worry. It is getting worse instead of better. Yet while a "New Dealer" is supervising prices, the duced 40,000 Garand rifles, 1,000 light tanks, 200 Curtiss-Wright pursuit planes, 30,000 anti-aircraft shells.

The OPM recently published a pamphlet prepared by Sidney Hillman entitled "Labor Speeds Defense." No similar publication has yet described industry's contribution to defense. The record shows that industry already has accomplished wonders; it is ready to do more.

Yet the strike organizers get praise for speeding defense, coupled with a gentle slap on the wrist and the gentle reprimand: "You shouldn't be such a naughty boy!"

the ROAD AHEAD

Old Man Texas is today looking ahead and planning.

Beside the great farming and ranching country which Texans have built, he sees a new industrial empire here.

Already the start has been made. Some industries, such as petroleum, are now showing what can be done to utilize Texas' vast natural resources. Today this industry refines with Texas labor over four-fifths as much oil as the State produces. Its products make up nearly one-half of all Texas manufacturing. Altogether petroleum provides the living for almost one-sixth of our people.

But this is only a beginning.

Texas has many other raw materials, unexceeded by any other State. Texas has in oil and gas the cheap and dependable fuel supply essential to industry. Texas is the gateway to Latin America, our new foreign market.

Each new industry means more jobs. It makes added tax values for our State and local governments, bigger payrolls for our workers, and greater prosperity for you and every other Texan.

BISMARCK SUNK AFTER 1,750-MILE CHASE

Here is the chronological story of the chase of the Bismarck: Attacked at Bergen, Norway (1), where she was found with the cruiser Prinz Eugen, the Nazi battleship left with her accompanying craft and was sighted on the night of May 23-24 in Denmark Strait (2). At dawn the Prince of Wales and the Hood intercepted the two vessels at (3). In the ensuing engagement the Hood was sunk, the Prince of Wales was damaged. In the evening of May 24 the Bismarck was struck by a torpedo and turned west (4), then south; during that night the Prinz Eugen vanished. The morning of May 25 found the Bismarck at (5), but then her trail was lost. The British Home Fleet set out south-westward, probably from Scapa Flow (8), another force started up from Gibraltar (9) and Canadian planes joined the hunt from Newfoundland (10). On the morning of May 26 a Catalina plane sighted the hunted ship at (6). That evening two torpedoes hit her and brought her to a standstill at (7), where she was finished off the next morning 400 miles off Brest, France.

supper was hastily hustled inside for a buffet supper. Lawn lights, including lots of little colored ones borrowed from Christmas tree accessories, were not even turned on. A miniature wishing well had no well wishers. And a huge "good luck" horse shoe of cardboard and tinsel was gone with the wind. One feature was retained. Guests saved their wish bones for the honor couple.

The supper consisted of chicken, etc., after which the twenty-odd guests remained inside, safe from moisture and chiggers.

Knowing Your Groceries

"Cautious" Buying Should Be Unnecessary

Here is a good rule to follow in selecting a grocery store: If you can send a child with your order and get good merchandise at a good price, you have a store where you can shop with confidence.

Maybe you can save money by shopping where you must be "on your toes" all the time, but it is doubtful.

The best system in the long run is to buy where you needn't be "careful," where quality merchandise is offered at correct prices.
