VOLUME XXII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS

JULY 4, 1958

NUMBER 32

Twenty eight Texans will die in traffic accidents during the coming week. That's the prediction of the Department of Public Safety based on statistics compiled from highway tragedies of the past.

The statement, however, is accompanied by the promise of DPS Chief Homer Garrison that his organization will do all in its power to keep the prediction from coming true. Every available patrolman plus extras from other divisions of the DPS will be on the road trying to keep traffic safe and orderly... and being especially watchful for dangerous drivers.

Let's hope that every driver who gets out during the July 4 weekend will heed the warning implied here and make special efforts toward helping hold down the tragic statistics. Knowing in advance that hazards will be more numerous than usual, the reasonable driver will be more alert than usual. He'll be more careful about his own driving and more watchful to avoid trouble that might be caused by the other fellow.

Another kind of warning is also implied here. Col. Garrison says that his men will be after the dangerous driver... so fellows who are disposed to take chances had better show more than average respect for the officer as well as for the traffic. As regards smart alecs who will not be guided by law or common sense, the best we can hope for is that they will be stopped by the officer rather than by the grim reaper.

The senseless slaughter on highways is only one of the tragedies attending our country's observance of this great national holiday. From the way things are going nowadays, both at home and abroad, it is hard to recognize the United States as the nation which was born with the signing of the immortal Declaration of Independence. The standards of dignity, courage and integrity by which our forefathers asserted and defended their freedom, certainly cannot be recognized in most proceedings of this time.

Despite overwhelming odds they won not only their independence but the deep respect of other nations. Their spirit continued through generations and people all over the world knew that our government would stand behind its citizens. At this writing our country is weakly dickering for the release of 41 citizens kidnapped by a Cuban rebel leader and nine men held by the red puppets of East Germany. Only a few weeks ago our vice president was insulted in South America. During the past several years our nation has been humiliated dozens of times and our officials have not once met the situation with the spirit and courage that used to be typically American.

The same situation prevails in the field of international politics. Soviet Russia hurls insults at our country daily. It supports an espionage system to cause domestic turmoil and work for the overthrow of our government. It has disregarded every agreement made with this country since FDR first recognized its government in 1933. And still our leaders, cravenly eager to co-exist with the big red bully, lack the courage to end diplomatic relations or to prosecute the red stooges in our midst.

If we would apply the principles upon which the Declaration of Independence is founded we would quit doing business with these international criminals. In addition we would take the lead in organizing a world wide pact dedicated to the liquidation of communism everywhere.

Other causes for concern are the corruption and strife so frequently revealed in domestic affairs. In fairness we can claim that some crookedness and violence are caused by the subversive elements in our midst, but we have to admit that more of it is due to a breakdown of moral standards. Expediency does not find a place in public life until principle has been crowded out. Socialistic schemes, corrupt labor practices and crooked business all find the going easier when Christian standards of social and moral justice give way to the something for nothing urge.

As we observe this Fourth let's remember that the Declaration of Independence was founded on a belief in God and respect for the rights and dignity of man. (Continued on Page 8)

Good Grain Harvest Comes to Gradual Close at Muenster

A fine grain harvest has practically faded to a close in this community. Both local grain elevators reported Wednesday that so far as they know they have received their last wheat of the season. All that is left apparently are a few fields of shocked grain to be run through the few remaining threshers still in this area.

Meanwhile, quite a number of farmers are getting set for another phase of their harvest. This time the crop is clover seed and early reports are that it will be as good as the grain crop.

Considering the whole farming picture, this year rates as one of the best in Muenster. The harvest season started with an abundance of good hay and fine weather for baling it. Next grain crops turned out good and again the weather was fine. A few showers came during the grain harvest but they did little or no harm while doing worlds of good for pastures, row crops and future hay cuttings.

At this time corn appears to be the poorest crop of the year. Prospect for a good matured yield are slim, however some value can be salvaged by harvesting it as silage.

Enterprise Speeds Publication for 4th

Because July 4th falls on Friday this year the Enterprise staff is working ahead of schedule this week to see that most subscribers, particularly those of Cooke County receive their copies before the Fourth.

Our purpose in the early publication is two fold, to accommodate our readers and also our advertisers. We wanted to avoid the day's loss in delivery due to the postal holiday, and we also wanted to get weekend advertising to our readers before the weekend was practically gone.

Bank Anniversary Marks 35 Years of Community Service

Though carrying on in a quiet, business-as-usual attitude, personnel of the Muenster State Bank were proudly conscious Wednesday of their institution's long and useful career in this community's history. The occasion was the 35th anniversary of the founding of the bank.

The memorable event, still recalled by J. M. Weinzapfel, G. H. Hellman and Joseph Fisher, the only survivors of the original board of directors, took place in the afternoon of July 2, 1923, after W. A. Sandlin of the State Banking Department delivered the bank's charter and Frank Morris of the First State Bank of Gainesville delivered the money with which to begin operation. It was the climax of weeks of organizational work by Weinzapfel and J. W. Meurer in a community which still had gloomy memories of the post World War I depression and the failure of the old German American Bank some 18 months before.

Despite those conditions people nevertheless were aware that a local bank was badly needed and pooled their limited resources to get the institution started.

From its very beginning the Muenster State Bank enjoyed a career of growth and stability. During the first five years its capitalization grew from $19,500 to $31,100 and its deposits from $10,000 to $137,665. Its soundness enabled it to weather the financial strains of the 1929 depression when many older banks of the area were forced out of business. At times its resources dropped to alarming levels but it went through the crisis without ever borrowing or rediscounting to meet current demands. After the depression the bank resumed its former progressive pace and has grown steadily up to the present time.

Through the 35 years the bank had a vital part in the development of the city and community. It took the lead in civic improvements such as incorporation of the town and installa-

5 Get Certificates In Red Cross Senior Life Saving Class

Official Red Cross senior life saving certificates were awarded last weekend to five of Muenster's young people upon completion of a two weeks instruction course in the Muenster pool. They are Monica Fette, Billy Frank Richter, Tim Fette, Clifford Endres and Billy Owens.

All of them are qualified as assistant instructors in Red Cross swimming classes and all but one will help with the beginners classes to be held here next week.

United Fund Plans Campaign for 1958

Cooke County's 1958 United Fund drive got off to an early start last Friday night when about 40 persons had a dinner meeting at the Curtwood Restaurant to make plans for the campaign.

The top feature of the meeting was a pep talk by Dan Eddy of Dallas, regional director of the Salvation Army, who helped organize the Cooke County chapter of United Fund four years ago. He recommended that the drive be turned over to a professional fund raising organization.

Eddy gave two reasons for getting professionals on the job. Being experts at the work they are more likely to reach their goal. And the experience gained by working with them can be used the next few years in the local management of fund drives. In that way the fee for professional services can be spread over several years. The goal for this year was estimated at about $35,000.

Dave Tupman, campaign chairman, announced the list of chairmen heading various committees of the drive and urged them to report soon at campaign headquarters and order materials... to assure its arrival in time for the drive.

Officers of United Fund for 1958 are Cecil Tinsley, president; Ed Alexander, first vice-president; Leo Kuehn, second vice-president; Lambert Bezner, treasurer; Mrs. John Atchison, secretary.

Beginners Class At Muenster Pool Set for Next Week

Muenster's third annual Red Cross swimming class for beginners will be held next week following registrations from 8 to 10 o'clock Saturday of this week.

L. B. Bruns, pool superintendent, announced that the Saturday session will include all preparatory details such as filling out record cards and assigning instruction time. Children are expected to be on time and any who come after 10 will not be accepted.

Eligibility is limited to children who meet the standard Red Cross requirement for the class, that is, those who have completed at least one year of school. Age is not a factor.

Another requirement for registration is the standard Red Cross application slip signed by a parent to indicate the child has permission and by a doctor indicating that the child is physically able to take the course. This application form is printed elsewhere in the Enterprise this week for the convenience of children who wish to clip and use it.

To register a pupil must have this form properly filled out and must be wearing a swim suit and carrying a towel.

Classes will be taught in five lessons of one hour each Tuesday through Saturday of next week. Bruns expects to have at least two classes and possibly three. As pupils register they will be assigned to a class and told what hour to report each day.

Instructors for the classes are Bruns, Dan Hamric and Ruth Endres. They will be assisted by Monica Fette, Billy Frank Richter, Tim Fette and Billy Owens.

18 Scouts Receive Honor Badge During Formal Ceremony

Eighteen boys of Muenster's Boy Scout troop Sunday night received their Scout badges in a formal court of honor at Sacred Heart Church after the 7 o'clock mass.

In a special sermon before the candle lighted ceremony, Father Christopher Paladino lauded the Boy Scout movement, its leaders and the youths' parents for their interest and help. He cited the Scout creed, code and motto, reviewing each and pointing out how scouting contributes morally and physically to better citizenship.

In the presentation, the badges were first blessed as were miniature duplicates for each Scout's mother. Mothers pinned the badges on their sons and the boys in turn did the honors for their mothers.

After the church service the troop, parents and family members had a pot luck supper in the parish hall.

The program was arranged by Scoutmaster Nick Miller. It was the first for his new troop.

Visitors Feted at Felderhoff Reunion

Members of Mrs. John Felderhoff's family gathered at the City Park Sunday for a reunion and picnic supper while the John Ladds and sons Robert and Vernon were here. It was a farewell party.

Other family members present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John Wright and daughter of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Jennings and family of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Felderhoff of Gainesville.

The Ladds, who had been living in Arlington, Va., while he was based there with the Navy are on an extensive car trip in the states before leaving New York on July 28 for England. He'll be assigned in London for three years.

Tuesday the visitors said their goodbyes here and drove to Dallas for a visit with the Wrights. The following day they left to visit relatives and friends in New Mexico, Arizona and California; they'll wind up their tour in Illinois with a visit with Mrs. Ladd's sister and family, the Monte Elliots at Bushnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Yosten and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Yosten visited relatives in Iowa before returning home after attending the funeral of George Yosten in Dodge, Neb., last week. They stopped in Wisner and Westphalia. In Westphalia they were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henschel and also visited Mrs. Yosten's aunt, Mrs. Frank Mueller, 86, who lives there. The Joe Henschels are former Muenster residents. She is Mrs. Nick Yosten's cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Yosten, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Wiesman of Gainesville, drove to Celina Sunday to spend the day with Mrs. Yosten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tischler. They brought their daughter Judy home with them after a visit there but their son Bobby stayed on for another week's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Flies of Delano, Calif., visited the Gus Sicking families here and were overnight guests Monday in the home of their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Louise Sicking. Tuesday they continued their trip to Wichita, Kansas, to visit their son. The Flieses formerly lived in Muenster.

Spending the weekend with the Ferd Luttmers and the Richard Swirczynskis were their cousins Mr. and Mrs. Benton McGilvary and six children of Groesbeck. Sunday the three families had a picnic dinner at Roadside Park and then went to Lindsay to meet relatives and friends at the community picnic.

Deposits at Local Bank Rise $400,000 During Past Year

A call for bank reports issued last Friday by the State Banking Commissioner found the Muenster State Bank's deposits running over $400,000 higher than those of a year ago. Figures shown in the bank's official statements were $2,061,628.96 on June 23, 1958, and $1,656,947.50 on June 6, 1957.

Loans also were higher but the increase since 1957 was comparatively small, amounting to slightly over $64,000. The total on the '57 call date was $943,885, this time it is $1,008,205.

The financial picture here is representative of that in the county as a whole. Combined deposits in the four banks, two in Gainesville and one each in Muenster and Valley View, amounted to $17,929,443 for an increase of $2,217,471. Combined loans were $6,762,602 for an increase of $475,847.

A breakdown of Muenster figures reveals also that more than half the increase in deposits was made in the savings department. The total there grew from last year's $447,000 to this year's $664,000, an increase of $217,000.

The other increase, adding to about $187,000 applies to the bank's demand deposits. Most of that change, according to President J. M. Weinzapfel, can be explained by the improvement in the livestock situation. Beef and dairy producers have been gaining two ways, by better prices for their products and by savings on their feed bill. Last year, following the drought of '56, farmers had to buy most of their feed, this year they had plenty of their own.

The grain harvest does not account for much of the increase, Weinzapfel said. Around here a big portion of the crop is normally harvested for feed and the money realized on cash crops is usually offset by payments on equipment. If grain affects the picture it is in an indirect way. This time cash receipts were about equal to after-harvest payments. Last year they did not cover the total bill, so the balance had to come out of deposits.

Another factor believed to have affected the banking situation is the much publicized recession. Cautious people did less buying and many of them transferred their spare money to the savings account where it could work for them.

And Denis Hofbauer
Say Vows Tuesday

In a Tuesday morning ceremony in Sacred Heart Church, Norma Jeanne Walterscheid became the bride of Denis Hofbauer with her great-uncle, the Very Rev. Joseph Fuhrmann of Fort Worth officiating at the nuptial high mass and double ring ceremony at 9 o'clock.

Vows were exchanged before an altar adorned with orchid and white gladioli, greenery and candles. Anthony Luke, organist, accompanied Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid, soloist, who presented pre-nuptial and post-nuptial selections. Mr. Luke played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the church choir.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Schilling and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Hofbauer. Mr. Schilling gave his daughter in marriage.

For her wedding Norma Jeanne wore a formal bridal gown of imported Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. Tiers of lace-trimmed tulle cascaded down the aisle-wide skirt forming a chapel train. Each layer of lace and tulle was sprinkled with sequins and seed pearls. The fitted bodice was complemented with a Queen Ann collar and long fitted sleeves. Tulle net fashioned the fingertip length veil, flouncing from a lace and satin pillbox, pointed at the front, and centered with a teardrop pearl. Her flowers were a bouquet of white roses and she carried a bride's prayer-book and a crystal rosary, gifts from the groom.

For something old and borrowed she wore a gold cross and chain belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Tony Fuhrmann of Lindsay, who wore it on her wedding day almost 50 years ago. It previously belonged to the late Mrs. Henry Fuhrmann Sr.

JoAnn Hess, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and another cousin, Marilyn Hess, and Sharon Schumacher were bridesmaids. Tiny Debbie Hermes of Lindsay, niece of the groom, was flower girl. Their costumes of orchid net and lace over taffeta were identical. The aisle-wide skirts, floor lengths, were fashioned of multiple ruffles. They wore open-crowned picture hats that matched their dresses and full length orchid gloves. The maid of honor and bridesmaid carried bouquets of daisies and the flower girl carried orchid and white gladioli which the bride placed on the Blessed Virgin's altar after the ceremony.

Sonny Walterscheid, brother of the bride, was best man and a cousin, Donald Bayer, was groomsmen. Dale Hofbauer, brother of the groom, was ring-bearer. Maurus Rohmer, Herbie Walterscheid and Larry Hennigan ushered. Mike Kleiss, Dale and David Bayer, Paul Dangelmayr and Claude Bayer, cousins of the couple, were mass servers.

The wedding reception was held in the parish hall at 5 o'clock and a buffet supper was served to some 300 guests. Mrs. Joe Lehnertz catered the meal, Della Fette of Dallas served the cake and Margie Reiter and Mrs. Fred Hennigan Jr. presided at the bride's book. There was a dance in the VFW hall at night.

When the newlyweds left on their honeymoon trip she was wearing a blue linen jacket-dress with patent accessories and a white rose corsage.

They will make their home on the Stacey lease north of town. Both are graduates of Sacred Heart High School.

Mrs. Earle Otto and daughter Elaine and her mother Mrs. Frank Trubenbach were Wichita Falls visitors Saturday.

Caroline Hesse and Harold Neu Pledge Nuptial Vows Here

Caroline Hesse became the bride of Harold Neu in Sacred Heart Church Saturday during nuptial mass at 9 a.m. Father Christopher Paladino read the double ring ceremony and was celebrant of the high mass.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hesse of Muenster and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Neu Jr. of Lindsay.

For her wedding Caroline wore a floor length gown of imported Chantilly lace in a delicate rose point pattern. Nylon tulle ruffles showed beneath the wide lace overskirt. The Sabrina neckline was edged with lace scallops and featured long petal point sleeves. A Juliet cap of iridescent sequins and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil and she carried white roses atop a white prayer book. She wore a three-strand pearl necklace which had belonged to her mother. Her brother, Leo Hesse, gave her in marriage.

Jane Hesse was maid of honor for her sister, and Mrs. Leo Hesse, sister-in-law, was bridesmaid. Marcy Neu, sister of the

FEDERAL AID IS NOT SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

Any building project which receives federal aid or federal funds costs more than the same project would without it usually.

When federal tax money is made available for public projects certain regulations and supervisory agencies are required to administer the funds. In addition to these, there are a surprising number of federal agencies and departments whose interest and regulations are affected when federal funds are involved.

An example of this follows: The U. S. Department of Labor requires a survey, along with its approval, on each project. This would include the minimum wage rates for all trades that might be involved in the project. This wage predetermination becomes a part of the general conditions of the contract.

Although in most cases the contractor and subcontractor bidding on the project pay wages that equal or exceed the minimum wages determined by the U. S. Labor Department, the contractor has this additional administrative cost. It includes preparing and submitting each week five copies of a payroll form and an affidavit covering all of his and the sub-contractor's employee records of hours worked and wages received.

In making progress payments of federal funds on work under construction, certain supervision is a reasonable requirement. But when a number of agencies and offices which include field, state, regional, and other staff members are required to review and approve forms, delays are inevitable. Many contractors admit they feel they must protect themselves by allowing an ample sum for financing these additional requirements in their bid proposal.

LEVELING UP AND LEVELING DOWN

Socialism levels down; capitalism levels up. Socialism reduces the man who has more, capitalism ups all, including the fellow who has less. Reduced to their simplest proportions, let us see how these two systems operate:

Picture a small community of 1,000 men. One man is wealthy; the others are poor. Socialism would level down by equalizing the wealth. The 999 men would still be poor, with small chance of improvement, and the one rich man would also be poor.

Capitalism tries a different way. The rich man is protected in his inherent right to use his capital as he sees fit. He invests it in constructive enterprise. A few men develop thriving smaller enterprises required to furnish Man No. 1 with the many things he needs to operate his big business. This great industry employs many men at good wages. The lesser manufacturers supply many well-paying jobs. Many others become small or medium-sized businessmen or succeed in a great variety of service trades and professions.

After a lapse of twenty-five years we take another census. The rich man is now richer. The smaller businessmen have grown rich. Most of the men employed in these industries have accumulated substantial savings, own stock in the companies they work for, or share in various incentive plans.

Smaller businessmen also are prospering and those in the professions and service trades are doing well. There is little need for bureaucrats as the whole system operates on the basis of the free market with a strictly limited government exercising few functions.

Consequently, taxes are low and a substantial part of the profits earned by the big, medium and small businesses are plowed back into them for expansion of their activities. This increases production and makes possible higher real wages. In turn, the professional men, service traders and shopkeepers profit by the increasing amount of wealth that is being produced.

Doctors, lawyers and other professional men have earned substantial sums. All are to work as hard as they like within the limitations of consumer demand and to retain and enjoy nearly all of their earnings. Capital accumulates rapidly, making possible a continuous expansion of industrial activity. To be sure, great inequality still exists but the poorest now have more than the richest under the leveling down of socialism. Capitalism has leveled up. It hasn't decreased anyone but it has made all more prosperous. Of course a few, a very few, are unfortunate or handicapped in some manner. They are liberally cared for by churches and private agencies set up to meet their needs.

It is better to help everyone up than to pull everyone down.
 —Christian Economics

IDEA VS. DOLLAR

You have a dollar, we have a dollar, we swap; now you have our dollar, we have yours, and we are no better off.

You have an idea, we have an idea, we swap; now you have two ideas, and we have two ideas, and that's the difference.

There's another difference: A dollar does only so much, it buys so many potatoes and no more. An idea that fits your purpose may keep you in potatoes all your life, and it may incidentally build you a place to eat them in. — Exchange.

In 1940 the total investment per worker in agriculture was $3,421; by 1956 the figure had grown to $15,000. (The average investment per worker in industry is $13,000.) The investment in machinery alone in agriculture was almost seven times as great in 1956 as in 1940.

God And Our American Heritage

By The Honorable James P. McGranery, former Attorney General of the U. S.

July 4, 1958 will be celebrated amidst threats of nuclear warfare and Soviet aggression. If we wish to safeguard our country's survival, we must, as American citizens, consider the duty we share to preserve the spiritual heritage upon which our nation is founded.

OUR LIBERTY is based squarely upon belief in God-given rights as set forth in the Declaration of Independence: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

McGranery

That Divine Providence watches over our republic has been publicly recognized by all the Presidents of these United States as well as by all of America's truly great men.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, in his letter to the governors of the states, wrote:

"I now make it my earnest prayer that God would have you, and the state over which you preside, in His holy protection..."

LINCOLN'S only fear was that we might become, "Too proud to pray to the God that made us."

Our great leaders recognized that liberty was unalienably theirs because they were creatures of God, endowed with reason and free will; therefore, they were morally responsible. They asked God to preserve the republic as the guardian of every man's right and duty to render homage to his maker.

JOHN ADAMS, writing to Thomas Jefferson, declared: "A patriot must be a religious man."

THE ARMOR of the patriot is still his fidelity to his faith and his courage of conscience. His rights to freedom have been preserved because his forefathers acknowledged their duty to obey the commandments of love of God and of neighbor, which are the foundation of our national tradition and of all the laws of this land.

Yet, as we look around us today, we find no cause for complacency. The language of materialism, the philosophy of pragmatism, the glorification of expediency have become idols of the market place—and they are boldly recommended by short-sighted men as the keys to success.

BUT AMERICA was founded on religious principles. Can we hope to survive as a nation if we abandon the foundation of our democratic way of life?

Only through a return to spiritual ideals and the faith of our fathers will we safeguard the survival of our beloved America in a world where the dictatorship of an atheist Soviet is enslaving the minds and hearts, the souls and bodies of millions. With God as our leader, who can overcome us?

The bride was married in a white princess style dress of embossed nylon over taffeta and net. A wide-brimmed white hat and a double white orchid corsage completed her costume.

Mrs. Haynes is an honor student in the engineering school at SMU where she is working toward a degree in mechanical engineering. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta. She was graduated from Muenster High in 1957 as valedictorian of her class.

The groom received a degree in aeronautical engineering at Texas University and is now employed at Chance-Vought. This fall he will continue work on his master's degree in nuclear engineering.

Earl Robison Denies Favoring Change in Precinct Boundary

A report that he would favor a change in the boundary line of Commissioner's Precinct No. 4 of Cooke County was emphatically denied this week by J. E. "Earl" Robison, candidate for commissioner of the precinct in the coming Democratic primary.

In a statement to the Enterprise Tuesday Robison said the report is circulating that he would be agreeable to making Highway 82 the boundary line separating Precincts 3 and 4. The present boundary line is the MK&T railroad.

"This report is completely unfounded," he said. "I have not discussed such a proposal with anyone, and I am personally opposed to it besides. As commissioner of Precinct 4 I would do all in my power to defeat the proposal if it would be brought up."

The alleged proposal concerns all the area between the highway and the railroad from Gainesville to the Cooke-Montague county line. If the change were made all of the area east of Muenster, including North Lindsay, North Myra, and a considerable portion of Muenster would be transferred from Precinct 4 to Precinct 3 and that portion of the area lying west of Muenster, including a small group of rural residents, would be transferred from Precinct 3 to Precinct 4. nity bestowed by God on every human being. Our nation rose to greatness because for generations it worked in close harmony with those principles. But as it gradually drifted from Christianity it drifted from its original standards. We lost some of our freedom and abandoned some of our responsibility.

Incidentally, the statement about the drift from Christianity is substantiated by a new report on church membership in this country. It proudly states that 62 per cent of our population regards itself as "belonging" to a church. That's 103.2 million. Next it says that 51 per cent of the church members attend religious services on a given Sunday. In other words, out of almost 170 million the average Sunday attendance at services is less than 53 million.
