County Dairy Farmers Meet Thursday to Discuss Herd Improvement Plan

All Cooke county farmers who are interested in improving their herds are urged to attend a special dairy herd improvement meeting at the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce building Thursday night, April 17, at 7:30 o'clock. More than 700 letters announcing the meeting have been sent out by County Agent B.T. Haws.

The purpose is to organize a cooperative service to assist each member in determining the production and upkeep expense of the cows in his herd. A trained field man would conduct the tests and make calculations. If the work is done by an ex-service man part of the expense can be defrayed under the GI Bill of Rights.

Aims and methods of the proposed organization will be explained by J.W. Davis, assistant dairy husbandman from Texas A & M College.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

And That Ain't Hay
-Or Is It?

I guess all of us secretly hanker, from time to time, for the good old days and the good old-fashioned pleasures. Leastways, Buddy Richards done a thriving business reviving the old-time hayride.

With a team of horses, and a stout straw-bedded rack, Buddy can take as many as thirty adults—at fifty cents a head!

Two or three times a week they start from Town Hall, and go out along the river; stop for a friendly glass of beer at Shoreside Tavern;

and come home by way of Pound Ridge... nine miles in all.

Not very exciting, you might say. But from where I sit it's not excitement that we need these days—but those simple country pleasures that are part and parcel of America—the old-fashioned hayride, with its song and jollity; the horseshoe games; the friendly glass of beer; and the good companionship that they engender.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C., April 12 — Among office visitors this week were two with whom I conferred at some length: both had amazing stories to tell.

Major James McMinn, of Carlsbad, New Mexico, gave me copies of his sworn statements submitted for use in the trial of Japanese war criminals. Major McMinn was a member of the New Mexico National Guard that went into the Philippines before the war and was captured at Bataan. His verified stories of brutality and atrocities are almost beyond comprehension. How any of these boys survived is a miracle. Two different prison ships on which Major McMinn had been crammed were bombed and sunk by our own forces. The Major and others are here in behalf of a bill to require the Japanese to pay these survivors for work and injuries during imprisonment.

The second visitor was a famous German editor now residing in New York and publishing a German language newspaper, whose name is Gerhart Seger. Mr. Seger told me of a debate he had with Adolph Hitler in 1922. He was the third member of the German Reichstag to be thrown into a concentration camp by Hitler in 1934. His property was all confiscated at that time. He escaped in 1935, came to America and has become a naturalized citizen. He returned and aided Justice Robert Jackson in the Nuremberg trials. He is bitterly anti-fascist and strongly favors an immigration bill of which I am the author to exclude from immigration to this country all members of the Nazi party and its allied organizations.

Thomas Jefferson was born April 13, 1743. Next Monday, April 14, a gigantic bronze statue of Thomas Jefferson will be moved into the beautiful Jefferson Memorial that rises majestically on the banks of the Tidal Basin in the City of Washington. Few of the founding fathers are as generally and justly revered, memorialized, and celebrated as Thomas Jefferson. His is one of the massive figures appearing on the Mount Rushmore National Memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota. This sculpture was done by Gutzon Borglum and his son Lincoln Borglum. The heads are sixty feet from chin to top, and it is said it will take a million years of natural erosion to destroy this monumental work.

The most amazing coincidence in American history was the death of Thomas Jefferson and of John Adams on the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1826. The lives of these two men were curiously entwined. While Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, both men were signers of it. In the first Presidential election contest in 1796 John Adams won over Thomas Jefferson by an electoral vote of 71 to 68. Three electors who were supposed to vote for Jefferson voted instead for Adams, or Jefferson would have been elected. However, the two remained friends, and when John Adams died on July 4, 1826, his last words were, "Jefferson still lives". As a matter of fact Jefferson died some hours earlier. On July 3 preceeding his death, Mr. Jefferson had rallied and asked what day it was. Upon being told it was the third he expressed keen desire to live until the Fourth, and was doubtless happy that he could expire on the great anniversary with which he had so much to do.

Volumes could and have been written concerning the handwork of the great Jefferson in the early building of this nation. It was he who picked the American Eagle as a symbol. It was he who wrote the slogan, "E pluribus unum" which appears on all of our coins and is inscribed on the top of the Capitol dome.

Jefferson startled his countrymen by discarding the white horses and coach and walking to his inauguration. He startled the country again by receiving the British Ambassador in dressing gown and house slippers. He hated false aristocracy of all kinds and loved and trusted the common people. Even in death he demonstrated his modesty and his democracy. He wrote his own epitaph which is inscribed upon his tombstone. He did not mention that he had been Governor of Virginia, or the first Secretary of State, or President of the United States, or that he had been responsible for the Louisiana Purchase out of which seventeen states were carved. He simply wrote the following: "Here was buried Thomas Jefferson: Author of the American Declaration of Independence — of the Statue of Virginia for Religious Freedom — and Father of the University of Virginia."

Our late President Roosevelt's last speech was one eulogizing Thomas Jefferson. It was prepared for delivery by radio to 250 Jefferson Day dinners in 1945 and was published on April 14 following his death.

were $581,347,000, the greatest this country has ever known. This exceeded by nearly $20,000,000 the highest annual fire waste the nation has ever experienced, $561,980,000.

No fire disaster has taken a large toll of lives in 1947 to compare with the tragedies of the Winecoff and La Salle hotel fires last year. Yet the death toll is mounting steadily because of the thousands of smaller fires occurring throughout the country.

The fire prevention conference, which President Truman has called in Washington on May 6, 7, and 8, will be the first organized national effort ever made to combat the fire menace that delays recovery after every war. State and municipal authorities will join with fire protection experts, scientists and others in studying ways to reduce the death toll and keep property damage at a minimum. Fire experts say that, if losses follow the same trend as they did after World War I, the destruction will reach a billion dollars a year by 1953.

To gather data for the conference, the coordinating committee appointed by the President is conducting a nation-wide survey of fires, their causes and fire losses over the last five years. More than 4,000 cities are included in this survey. Data are being obtained through the fire department in each city.

number of predatory animals killed, the director of the Fish and Wildlife Service reports. Of 24,800 wolves and coyotes killed in the state during the year, more than 35 percent were accounted for by the coyote-getter.

The device consists of a gun only a few inches long, which is imbedded in the ground and covered with bait of rabbit fur or wool. When a coyote seizes the bait, the gun fires a cartridge of sodium cyanide into his mouth. Hunters report the victim usually dies before he is 200 feet away from the spot.

Coyote Getter Is Best Getter Yet

Thanks to an ingenious little device now in common use by government hunters and others throughout the West and Southwest, the number of wolves and coyotes which prey upon livestock is being effectively reduced. The figures released by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service indicate it is aptly named.

Increased use of the "getter" in Texas during the fiscal year 1945-46 was chiefly responsible for a 45 per cent increase in the

A Bank and A Farm Have Much In Common
Here are a few of the ways in which a bank and a farm resemble each other:
1. They are both business enterprises; each is typical of the "American Way."
2. Both require initiative, planning and hard work to achieve success
3. Both pay taxes and contribute to local growth and progress.
4. Both have deep local roots; the success of each is important to the other and the prosperity of both is vital to the entire community.
We have a close bond of friendship and mutual interest with the farmers in this area. If we can help you in any way, let us know.

Rubber Replaces 50 Year Vet

As Akron's last streetcar, piloted by Mayor Charles E. Slusser, pulled out of the car-barns for its final trip through the rubber capital, the new and ultra-modern trolley bus stands poised to take over. There were mingled feelings as the famous old streetcars did their fade-out and one who watched the finale with moistened eyes was L. H. "Harry" Mitchell, a motorman with 49 years of continuous service. Not only were the cars retiring, but Mitchell also announced he was retiring to spend his remaining years on his farm.

Secret of More Profit
 And Less Work is to Have Fewer But Better Cows

"Why milk a large number of low producing cows when the job can be done much easier and more profitably with a fewer number of good cows?"

Dairy husbandmen of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service ask dairy farmers that question year after year. They keep asking it because the records of Dairy Herd Improvement Association members have proved over and over again that high producing cows always return the most profit.

In any country in the state, the Extension dairymen point out, the following situation might exist: One farmer, call him Dairyman "A" has a herd of 20 cows, each of which averages 200 pounds of butterfat each year. At a feed cost of $83 a head, the income above feed cost on the low producing herd is $1,660 for the year.

Then Dairyman "B" comes into the picture, with a head of only 11 good cows which produce 300 pounds of butterfat each year. Feed for his cows costs him $126 a head, and his annual income above feed cost is $1,698. A comparison of the annual incomes show that Dairyman "B" with the good cows, got $34 more profit than Dairyman "A." That does not appear to be a great deal of difference, the Extension dairymen explain, but the profits are just part of the story.

Dairyman "B" spent only about half the time milking cows during the year as did the man with the low producing cows. He handled only about half as much hay and grain; his barn was not as large and upkeep on equipment was not as high. He spent less time cleaning lots and barns. It was not necessary for him to cultivate as much land to produce feed for his herd.

And those are the reasons that Extension dairymen keep asking: "Why milk a large number of low producing cows when the job can be done much easier and more profitably with a fewer number of good cows?"

They paid for it, too. Over the year, average price per pound jumped from about 50¢ to 60¢ — double what it was before the war. Even kid's taste went extravagant. In the good old days, penny candy amounted to 10% of total value of candy sold. Now it's slumped to 2½%.

Don't be too Smart

A friend of mine, who goes about the country delivering speeches before business organizations, used to wonder why people did not laugh more heartily at his stories. One day he wished to quote briefly from the Bible, and couldn't remember the exact scriptural phrase without reaching into his pocket for notes. The crowd laughed uproariously.

Thus he discovered an important secret — that it is easier to make a crowd laugh at you than to laugh with you. Since then he regularly appears to forget his Bible quotation and frantically consults his notes, to the great delight of his audiences. He has added a whole repertoire of seeming blunders such as slight inaccuracies in quoting famous passages of poetry, and he tells stories of personal experiences that make him out a hopeless blunderer. Whenever he talks now, his speech is a great hit. Everybody likes a man who makes mistakes or who has petty human weaknesses better than if he were too smart.

April 20 to 26 is Week
To Learn to Appreciate
Your Public Health Nurse

Austin. — The State of Texas is planning to celebrate national "Public Health Nursing Week" April 20 to 26, as proclaimed by President Harry S. Truman.

The purpose of the week, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, will be (1) to recruit more public health nurses (2) to increase understanding of the fact that much needless sickness and suffering can be prevented or reduced by using public health nursing services (3) to encourage greater understanding of public health nursing as a service for everybody regardless of size of income (4) to encourage development of public health nursing services wherever needed (5) to increase citizen participation in public health nursing services.

From the beginning of this work more than thirty years ago public health nurses have been concerned with the total health situation of the family including sickness, disease, prevention, and health protection.

In setting aside April 20 to 26 as "Public Health Nursing Week" for America, health administrators and all other friends of nursing should exert their efforts toward the extension of public health nursing services, so that there will be enough qualified nurses to meet the needs of all the people, and thus help in maintaining a maximum health level throughout the nation.

The hit-and-run driver was brought to trial. His lawyer pleaded eloquently in his behalf "Your Honor, the plaintiff must have been walking carelessly. My client is a very careful driver. He has been driving a car for 11 years."

"Your Honor," shouted counsel for plaintiff. "I can prove that my client should win this case without further argument. He has been walking for 45 years!"

According to Sterling Hart, editor of the Commerce (Tex.) Journal, the Texas-grown Bois d'Arc timber, which is also known as the Osage Orange of Arkansas, is possibly the most durable of American woods. One lot of timber, after 40 years' service in a railroad bridge, is now being used on his farm for fence posts with its soundness unimpaired. Another lot used for 60 years as telephone poles shows no signs of decay.

"Stolen" Air Saves Tire Change

Latest entry in the "what-won't-they-think-of-next" sweepstakes is the handy gadget illustrated here, euphoniously known as "Spare-Aire," a Chevrolet accessory. Designed to "steal" air from the spare tire to inflate a punctured or slowly leaking flat, this accessory eliminates tire-changing when within reasonable distance of a service station. Since approximately 90 per cent of all flat tires have leaks so slow that an emergency inflation will suffice, the new inflator will eliminate most roadside tire changes. It will pipe half the air from the spare, and a few pounds from each of the other tires, if necessary. Women drivers, especially, will appreciate this new convenience.

LINDSAY-MÜNSTER GROUP ENJOYS FISHING TRIP

A group of well-pleased fishermen returned home Tuesday after spending a week at Copano Bay, Bayside, Texas where they caught about one hundred pounds of red trout and drum.

Included in the party were Frank Hess and Al Walterscheid of Muenster; Albert Kubis, Theo Schmitz, Phillip Metzler, Val Dieter, Bill Gruber, Johnny Schad, Joe Schmitz all of Lindsay; Pat Schmitz of Gainesville, and Lawrence Schmitz of Dallas. They drove through in a truck.

At Bayside they were met by Rev. Alcuin Kubis of Corpus Christi, a native of Lindsay, and were housed at Dr. James Bauer's summer home on the banks of Copano Bay. Honors for the largest fish caught went to Pat Schmitz who landed a twelve pounder.

Diversion in addition to fishing included a musical concert by the Breitman Brothers who have lived on the bay for 65 years and are noted musicians in that section of the country. The Brothers also joined the group on a fishing trip to Shell bank. Saturday night the entire party went to Corpus Christi College-Academy where they were guests of Fathers Joseph Fuhrmann, Alfred Hoenig, Vincent Orth and Alcuin Kubis. They attended mass there Sunday and returned to Bayside to finish the day fishing, but caught nothing on account of very high wind and a storm the previous night.

Franklin Defines Beauty

At a ball where Benjamin Franklin was a guest, two ladies fell into a discussion concerning the qualities that made for beautiful feminine hands. Both of the fair guests had lovely hands, and they finally decided to ask Dr. Franklin to pass judgment upon them.

The great printer-philosopher instantly realized the delicate nature of his task. As two pairs of beautiful white hands were presented to him for his inspection, the adroit Franklin's quick wit laid hold of the right reply.

"I give up," he sighed, holding one hand of each petitioner and gazing upon them admirably. "The question is too difficult for me. But ask the poor, and they will tell you the most beautiful hand in the world is the hand that gives."

The annual "take" of juke boxes across the United States has been placed at 4,460,000,000 nickels.

Confetti--- fering a second chapter more interesting than the first.

A letter from Miss Anna Mae Fuhrmann discloses that her brother found the glider on their father's farm 6 miles north of Lindsay.

As a crow flies the distance from the air port to that spot is about 5.5 miles. And judging from the fact that the fellow had followed it about a mile and lost sight of it after 15 minutes of flight it seems reasonable to guess that the glider was up slightly more than an hour. Not a record flight, perhaps, but certainly not an ordinary one.

Since the glider was not discovered for some time the unusual nature of its damage is hard to explain. The fuselage framework is completely broken and only the paper covering holds the tail on. That does not seem to be the result of a crash landing, hence the most likely explanation is that the glider landed intact and was later tumbled about by wind or curious livestock.
