VOLUME XI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1947

NUMBER 32

For just a few moments let's go back in spirit 171 years and join the group of patriots assembled at Independence Hall, Philadelphia. They have come together from the 13 colonies to discuss their grievances against injustice and oppression.

Firmly convinced of their status as free and equal beings in the sight of Almighty God, they resent every violation of their sacred rights and resolve to set up a government of their own dedicated to the principles of freedom and equality. They are aware of the penalty they incur but like Patrick Henry they will have liberty or death.

In that spirit they draw up the Declaration of Independence, which lives on today as the basic principle of our government. In spite of foreign attacks, civil strife and political heresy it survives as an inspiration to freedom loving people all over the world.

July 4th, always a big day in America, is getting more significant every year. The old world has seen freedom and independence crushed in one country after another under the advance of totalitarianism. Here the attack has not been physical, but a slow insidious spread of false ideologies is leaving ugly blemishes. Some Americans, too weak to live up to their heritage, have shown inclination to sell their birthright for a mess of pottage.

This Fourth is a good time to think over the noble ideals and courage that inspired the Declaration of Independence. One hundred and seventy one years of unprecedented happiness and prosperity are proof enough that it is a sound workable code, and when we encounter difficulties in applying it the trouble is more likely to be with ourselves than with the principle. If great men were willing to die for it we certainly should be willing to live by it.

The recommendation of the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Military Training comes as no surprise to most of us. World developments during the past two years are exerting a pressure that cannot be ignored. America does not want compulsory military training but is forced to adopt it as a sort of necessary evil in order to cope with Russia's power-mad expansion policy.

Two years ago the country responded to the proposal with thumbs down. The public was, and still is, opposed as a matter of principle. It does not like regimentation nor the tremendous expense of supporting such a vast training program. It does not like the idea of world-wide preparedness because it knows from history that nations ready for a fight are more likely to get into a fight.

America wanted, and it still wants, a state of equal unpreparedness all over the world. It proposed disarmament and a system of international check-ups to see that all nations would abide by the agreed rules. But Russia refused to cooperate. Insisting on maintaining her iron curtain she refused to let anyone see what she was doing. Meanwhile she continued to gobble one country after another and sent her agents out to cause all possible dissension in other countries.

Russia has chosen to be the big bully. She has already bullied and humiliated us and makes no bones about her intention to keep on doing so. We're getting tired of it, so we're getting ready to call the bluff — or fight it out if necessary.

Convinced that the training is necessary, the commission considered programs that would be both effective and harmonious with the American way of life, then recommended a two part program calculated to serve the country's purpose without seriously disrupting young men's personal careers.

The first phase is six months of basic training in an army camp or aboard ship. It would begin when a young man reaches 18 or finishes high school.

Part two can be taken in either of three forms: two years' service in the regular Army or Navy, three years service in the National Guard of Reserves, or a college ROTC course.

The attractive feature of that arrangement is that it takes only six months of a young man's time — because it permits coordination of the second phase and his own plans. If he wishes to go to college he can do so, the only requirement being that he has to take ROTC training along with his other work. If he wishes to return home he can do that, the requirement being that he spend 48 evenings a year at drill and attend a two weeks' summer training period for three consecutive years. Otherwise he can spend two years in the Army or Navy. After two, three of four years a young man is on his own again.

Shortage of Teachers May Affect School's Affiliation Plans

The nation-wide shortage of teachers may prove to be a stumbling block in the way of the local school's efforts to affiliate during the next school year.

Superintendent John Hoffman disclosed this week that only four teachers are engaged to date and the school board has no assurance and little definite prospect of filling the three remaining vacancies.

The situation threatens to be a serious blow to the school's plan. Assured by the deputy state school superintendent that it can work toward affiliation if it engages at least seven qualified teachers, the school is in danger of missing a long awaited opportunity unless fortune begins smiling — and soon.

To date the teaching staff consists of Superintendent John Hoffman, Mrs. Jess Mitchell, Mrs. W.B. Wylie and Miss Elfreda Luke.

Notes On Soil Conservation

All cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District, in the Muenster Work Unit, plan to combine their vetch within a week. Vetch allowed to over-ripen in the field is causing seed to shatter and vines to mat against the ground. This makes direct combining difficult. Good results are obtained when the cutter bar is set low and vetch is taken direct. A vetch screen should be used and the cylinder speed of the combine should be reduced to prevent cracking of seed. Cooperators planning to harvest vetch seed are: George Bayer, Joe Fisher, Sr., Paul Fisher, J.A. Klement, Wright Embry, John Hartman, W.A. Mann, Alphonse Luke, Felix Becker, Al Hess, Joe Starke, and Joe Hoening. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service are recommending the planting of three parts of Abruzzi Rye to one part of vetch so that the rye will hold the vetch off the ground to facilitate combining. The rye is an excellent winter pasture because of its ability to stand cold weather and also offers a nice return as a cash crop when harvesting the vetch.

Johnny Bayer, a cooperator in the J.A. Klement group states, "The Hubam clover that I applied 260 pounds of superphosphate per acre on is in full bloom and is much larger than clover on the same land that did not have an application of superphosphate."

J.A. Klement mowed three acres of Buffalo grass that was seeded for terrace outlets this spring.

Joe and John Kleiss, of the Felix Becker Conservation Group, were very successful at windrowing their Madrid Sweet Clover Friday by using a grain binder. The cutter bar was set high and the tier was removed. The Kleiss brothers plan to combine about six days after the date of cutting to give the seed plenty time to cure and dry.

SPUDS AS DAIRY FEED OK IN SMALL AMOUNTS

College Station. — Folks all over are asking about the practice of using potatoes as feed for dairy cows.

Extension dairymen at Texas A. and M. College are telling them that spuds are satisfactory in a dairy ration if fed in limited amounts, as a substitute for grain or other feed.

Sometimes, say the dairymen, cows may choke on the potatoes, but this can be remedied if the dairy farmer will slice or chop the vegetables before feeding. Potatoes are not the most tasty feed a cow can get, and she needs to become accustomed to them gradually. Feeding too large amounts of potatoes may cause scour.

When fed at the rate of 24 to 40 pounds per head daily, the spuds are good substitute for corn silage, the dairymen say. Even at that, the animals will probably lose their appetite for the vegetable after several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Swirczynski returned Monday from a two weeks' vacation trip through Kansas, Illinois and Arkansas. Their niece, Carlene Knauf of Emporia, Kansas, made the trip with them and accompanied them home to spend the summer here with relatives. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swirczynski and Mrs. John Knauf.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stelzer of Henrietta are here since last Friday spending a 10-day vacation with relatives.

This unlighted trailer, moving slowly along the darkened highway, was completely invisible to an overtaking motorist as he came suddenly upon it from around a corner. He crashed into it and was fatally injured. Just one more of the many bitter ironies of highway deaths, where a lawbreaker who was indifferent to his own safety and the safety of others escaped injury, while an innocent victim paid for that indifference with his life.

SOFTBALL TEAM LOSES 2 OUT OF 3 THRILLERS; BASEBALL TEAM LOSES

Muenster softball fans got all of their money's worth in the three games of the past week. Each contest was a hot affair decided by a one point margin in the closing inning, the only disappointment being that the local fellows lost twice.

Last Thursday they met the Bezner Chicks, leaders of the Gainesville sandlot league. Muenster took an early lead and held it until the Chicks scored the tying run in the sixth and the winning run in the seventh.

Playing Hood the following night Muenster took a one point lead in its half of the second after the visitors started with two and one. Another run for Hood in the third tied the score at 4 all, and three scoreless innings were followed by Hood's winning run in the last frame.

The game with Nocona's Ford team Monday night started as a scoring spree. Muenster's first, second and fourth runs at bat netted 5, 4, and 5 runs, respectively, while Nocona scored once in the third. However a grouping of hits, walks and errors in the fifth gave the visitors 10 more and eliminated the one sided status for good. At the end of the seventh the visitors led by a point and at the end of the ninth Muenster had regained a one point lead. Final count 19 to 18.

In regulation baseball the boys took the trimming of their lives at Howzeville Sunday afternoon. The final count was 31 to 7. Posa Swirczynski, out of uniform for several years, made a fair comeback at the mound for three innings but weakened in the fourth and let the boys make a race track of the diamond. Vincent Becker as relief pitcher was fair until a hot liner bounced off his shin. Walter Becker, the next hurler, had only slightly better luck than Posa.

Pat Hennick and Arthur Felderhoff spent Tuesday at Texarkana attending a GI surplus sale.

Mrs. Angie Moon, 77 Marysville Pioneer, Succumbs June 26

Mrs. Angie Moon, 77, a resident of the Marysville community for 60 years, died Thursday, June 26, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Pearson, whom she was visiting in Thackerville, Okla.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral chapel, the Rev. Keeland, pastor of the Marysville Methodist church, and Elder J.E. Chism of Gainesville, officiating. Burial was in Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. Moon, widow of the late John Moon, was born in Kentucky on Jan. 5, 1870.

She is survived by three daughters, two sons, four stepsons, a sister, three brothers and a number of grandchildren. One son, Lawton Moon, is of Muenster.

RMW AUTO SERVICE COMPLETES BUILDING; ANNOUNCES OPENING

With the installation of their gasoline pumps and the driveway completed, the owners of RMW Auto Service — Albert Rohmer, Oscar Miller and John Wimmer — this week announced that their business is officially open.

Unofficially the firm has been operating for several weeks. As soon as the main building was completed they opened their shop department handling car and tractor repair jobs while other construction and installation work was in progress.

The new business is a one-stop station offering every kind of car and tractor service from wiping windshields and fixing flats to complete overhaul. It features the Conoco line of petroleum products and the Goodrich line of tires and batteries.

Rat Control Emphasized In GI Vocational Course

Rat control as an important factor in successful farming was emphasized at this week's meeting of the Muenster GI Vocational Agriculture course. Instructor Hugh Barnhart quoted statistics estimating the nation's annual property losses due to rats at 200 million dollars. If permitted to reproduce without interruption by disease or death, he said, one pair of rats could multiply to 360 million rats in three years.

Barnhart gave the class four approved formulas for rat extermination and also stated that anyone else desiring the formulas can get them from him.

Eighteen members and two visitors, Albert Stoffels and Bill Haverkamp, attended. Next Monday's meeting will be on dairy herd improvement associations.

News Of Sick And Injured

Mrs. Joe Luke was admitted to St. Vincent's hospital in Sherman Monday for treatment.

Allen Dale, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Eberhart, sustained a broken left arm Monday when he fell from his bicycle. The fracture is at the elbow.

Clarence Wilson entered M & S hospital in Gainesville Sunday for a series of penicillin treatments for a sinus infection.

Joe Lutkenhaus sustained a broken foot Monday when a wagon wheel passed over it while he was working in the field. The foot has been placed in a cast and Mr. Lutkenhaus is using crutches to get around.

Linda, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hott, is recovering from chickenpox.

Miss Ernestine Zipper is a patient at Gainesville Sanitarium this week for a series of penicillin treatments for a throat infection.

Mrs. Frank Kathman is up and around recovering normally from recent surgery performed at Gainesville Sanitarium.

Miss Virginia Walterscheid is convalescing at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Walterscheid, where she was moved Saturday from Gainesville Sanitarium. She underwent an operation for the removal of her appendix last week Tuesday.

Patsy Gremminger had her tonsils removed in a Wichita Falls hospital last week Wednesday and is recovering at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gremminger, after being quite ill. Her mother stayed with her until she was able to come home this week Monday. While in Wichita they were guests of Mrs. Gremminger's sister.

Herbert McDaniel is at Glen Rose since Saturday for his health. His wife accompanied him, returning home the same day. He expects to spend about three weeks there.

Miss Agnes Felderhoff who has been at Gainesville sanitarium for penicillin treatments and observation is improving and will be able to return home this weekend, according to her father, John Felderhoff.

Mrs. Wm. Bergman and her granddaughter, Bernadine Knoff, are at Glen Rose for their health since Saturday. Miss Knoff will return this weekend but Mrs. Bergman expects to stay a few weeks for general building up.

Vincent Becker is still limping and suffering considerable discomfort as the result of a leg injury incurred during a ball game Sunday afternoon when a fast ball hit him in the shin.

July 4th Parish Party Is Athletic Fund Benefit

The annual Fourth of July bazaar and dance this Friday night, sponsored by the parish societies and parish P.T.A. is a benefit for Sacred Heart school's athletic program. Receipts are to be used chiefly in building showers for the football team and for equipment.

The party will begin at 8 o'clock with games and refreshments in the basement of the parish hall and a dance on the main floor.

22 Cub Scouts Receive Cards and Badges Friday

Twenty-two cub scouts received cub cards and badges Friday night, June 27, at a meeting of the four packs in the parish school auditorium. Cub Master Ed Endres introduced Frank Cockrell of Denison to the assemblage. Cockrell, a district field man, gave a brief address.

The den chiefs presented the cards and the boys' mothers pinned on the badges.

A delightful short program with each den represented was given after the ceremonies.

Fair Weather Allows Return to Top Speed Harvesting Schedule

With a week of clear, hot weather in their favor Muenster farmers are going strong on grain threshing and by Wednesday had one fourth to one third of their work under control.

All machines have been running steadily since Monday and several of them got back to the fields as early as Friday. Combines on high ground likewise resumed work Friday but those on low and boggy fields waited until Monday. At this writing only a few combines — those with exceptionally long runs — are still operating.

The sudden change to good weather came as a welcome relief to last week's anxiety. Damp grain in shocks dried out before it had time to sprout and standing wheat was still far enough ahead of weeds and Johnson grass to escape serious cutting difficulties. The principal ill effect was a general drop of about two points in the test of combined wheat. Dampness caused by the presence of green vegetation is negligible.

The test of thresher wheat is still good.

Health Officer Advises Use of Immune Globulin When Exposed to Measles

Austin. — With the incidence of measles usually being somewhat high in summer time, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued a statement concerning the use of immune globulin for protecting very young and frail children from an attack of this perennial childhood disease and its often serious complications.

"If you have a child less than five years old who has been exposed to measles, your family doctor may recommend giving him immune globulin," Dr. Cox said. "Through city, county or state health departments, doctors can obtain immune globulin free, to be used as they think advisable. Infants and children, whose health makes it inadvisable for them to suffer an attack of measles, may avoid the disease if immune globulin is administered within eight days from the time of exposure."

The State Health Officer emphasized the fact that immune globulin cannot give a child permanent protection against measles, but explained that the protection is ordinarily of about three weeks duration. However, there is no limit to the number of times it can be used, and a baby who is protected by it once can be protected by it again if exposed later. Immune globulin can go on shielding him against measles until he is old enough and strong enough to stand an attack without risking serious consequences.

During an outbreak of measles, Dr. Cox said that it is well to keep children under five years of age, and more especially frail children, from all other youngsters who might serve as sources of infection. Statistics show that nine-tenths of all measles deaths occur in children under five years of age.

RODEO WILL RE-OPEN SATURDAY, JULY 12

Assuming that the season's harvest will be under control by the end of next week, the managers of the Muenster Rodeo announced this week that their show will re-open on Saturday, June 12.

During the harvest intermission the rodeo has continued its policy of adding more active livestock at every opportunity and next Saturday's show will open with several new performers.

Scouts and Dads Spend Big Day at Lake Texoma

Boy Scouts and their dads and the scout committee had a full day of fun Sunday at a Father and Son outing at the Lake Texoma Boy Scout camp. Swimming and a picnic lunch were supplemented with a sight-seeing tour of Denison Dam.

In a swimming contest, three boys Damien Hellman, John Myrick and Henry Weinzapfel, won swimming merit badges. The requirement was swimming 150 yards.

5 Muenster Scouts Attend District Life Saving Course

Scoutmaster Nick Miller and five scouts are representing Muenster at a Boy Scout Life Saving course this weekend at Lake Texoma Scout Camp. They left early Thursday morning and will return Saturday. Weinzapfel, Damien Hellman, Larry Hofbauer and Michael Driever, Scouts from all troops in the Red River Valley district are attending.

Model Locomotive Tours U. S.

Guaranteed to attract the eyes of model train builders the world over, is this $50,000, quarter-size model of a modern type 4-8-4 Timken Roller Bearing equipped steam locomotive.

The locomotive model was built, not as a toy, but rather as a graphic presentation of the rapid strides made in the railway applications of roller bearings.

WAR TESTED TANK
 BELT PROVES IDEAL FOR TRACTOR USE

A fan belt developed during the war that lasts over twice as long as ordinary belts because it seals out dust is now being offered to farmers for use on tractors.

This amazing belt was developed at the request of army officials at the Indio, California, desert training base, where fan belts on Army M-5 tanks were breaking after only 700 miles of service. Engineers from Gates Rubber Company, Denver, Colorado, discovered that the undersides of the fan belts were cracking open. Desert dust quickly wedged into the cracks and literally cut the belts to pieces. Gates engineers developed a fan belt with a dust seal built into the underside. Tests showed that after 700 miles of service on M-5 tanks, the new belts showed no signs of cracking. They were put back on the tanks and lasted over three times as long as the belts previously used.

Tractors also operate in dust-filled areas. That's why Gates specially engineered Fan Belt for Tractors is built with the same dust seal used in Army Tank Belts. This means that the Gates "Dust-Seal" Fan Belt for tractors won't crack—seals out dust and dirt. That's why it lasts over twice as long as ordinary tractor belts.

A complete stock of the Gates "Dust-Seal" Tractor Belts is on sale at Little Delia Nell Burchfiel was honored with a party Thursday afternoon, June 24, when her mother entertained at the family home to celebrate her sixth birthday.

Thirty-five little guests from Muenster and Saint Jo were present and after presenting the honoree with gifts spent the afternoon playing games. Refreshments of birthday cake and pink and white ice cream were served. Favors, were nut cups. The large ring cake was centered with a miniature May pole from which pink ribbons led to place markers. Tiny white birds held the ribbon ends.

Dentist Praises Toothpick

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)
 Up in Buffalo, N.Y., a few days ago, a Cincinnati dentist, Dr. Edward L. Ball, took up for the old-fashioned toothpick. Regardless of the ire of etiquette sharks, the doctor insisted that the toothpick should be regarded as "the best means of cleaning the teeth." He told the New York Dental Society that proper use of the toothpick would prevent 75 percent of tooth decay. Incidentally, he did not say that a toothpick used in seclusion was not as good as one piled in public. Anyhow those who cling to the use of what someone called the post prandial splinter now have an expert on their side.

The Picnic Was a "Hug" Success!

Our local Wild Life League went on a picnic Saturday, and I went along to cover it for the Clarion. Monday, folks kept stopping me, and saying: "Must have gotten out of hand, that picnic!"

"Nonsense," I says. "It was mighty pleasant and congenial. Just beer and hot dogs, cheese and cider." And then they show me the headline reading: "WILD WIFE PICNIC HUG SUCCESS."

Of course it was Elmer, my typesetter, who had made the misprints: But is my face red! It's only because folks are so temperate and well-behaved in our town, that they could afford to take the whole thing as a joke.

From where I sit, even a newspaper editor's entitled to a few mistakes. And since I reported that they served a moderate beverage like beer, I'm sure nobody thinks the picnic was the least bit wild, or anything but a huge success—and I mean huge!

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C., June 28 — The House passed numerous bills this week. Among them was a bill extending the life of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for one year but limiting its lending power to $2,000,000,000 and forbidding any loans to foreign governments, other government agencies, or to anyone else who can obtain necessary capital from private lending institutions.

The House also passed a $55,000,000 Legislative Appropriation Bill, which was $21,000,000 under the budget estimate. This is money to run the entire legislative branch of the government for one year.

Republican leaders are reported to be planning to bring out the tax reduction bill again, making it effective January 1, 1948, instead of July 1, 1947. They feel that such a bill might be signed by the President and if not signed by him that it would be passed over his veto.

Much criticism is still heard of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill recently passed over the President's veto. My prediction is that the main fault of this bill will be in its weakness, not in its strength. When passed by the House, this bill outlawed industry wide bargaining. The Senate eliminated the ban on industry wide bargaining, and the final bill did not carry any reduction whatsoever on such industry wide bargaining. Under existing laws and practices, national labor unions when bargaining on an industry wide basis force small employers into combinations with big employers. Thus national monopolies in both industry and labor are encouraged, competition is eliminated, production restrained and regimentation encouraged.

A recent report on racketeering in housing construction points out many abuses in the building trades. These abuses are not touched by the new Labor Law. Among some of these abuses are the following: refusing to allow the use of machinery for digging excavations; refusing to permit steel workers to lay mesh in concrete; refusing to handle ready mixed concrete; requiring a union man to ride on a truck delivering material his union will use in construction. In some places journeymen instead of helpers or common laborers are required to take bathtubs or heating equipment from curb to houses. Limiting of brick masons to a certain number of bricks per day and lathers to a certain number of bundles per day is common practice; in many places three coats of plaster are required on a wall where two would be enough. In many places union carpenters refuse to hang more than a limited number of doors per day and refuse to permit factory finished doors to be used at all. In many places the size of paint brushes is limited and spray painting is prohibited entirely, while electricians are restricted to a certain number of outlets per day. In many places union men refuse to handle windows in which the glass is already fitted, and require hardware removed from factory built cabinets and reinstalled on the job. All of this, of course, is added to the cost of construction.

Former Governor, former Congressman, and now Mayor of Boston, James Curley was this week sentenced to prison by Justice James M. Proctor, in the District of Columbia. Curley was brought into court in a wheel chair and much pressure was applied to the Court to suspend his sentence. The statement of this eminent Judge should give good citizens renewed faith in democracy. Said Judge Proctor: "It is a paramount concern that public confidence be maintained in the fair and impartial administration of justice to all alike, to the high and the low, the rich and poor." Justice in America cannot be bought and our courts cannot be intimidated. Should such a day ever come, democracy will indeed be on down grade.

A lot has been said and is being said about communism in America. While not all persons accused of communism are guilty, the danger of communistic activities to this country has not been over emphasized. An editorial just appearing in a Washington paper refers to the current walkout of the United Mine Workers as a "political strike". The editor goes on to state that the Communist Party is whooping it up for this strike and trying to foment nation wide strife. It points out further that in communistic Russia there are no strikes. Once communists gain control of a government, they run the affairs of a nation ruthlessly and no one is free from the dreaded hand of the gestapo. Among communist organizations now operating in the country is one called "American Youth for Democracy". A secret report of the New York communist party commends the work of this organization. AYD now has chapters in many of the leading universities of the land. Youth naturally furnishes a fertile field for radical ideas.

Drastic Cure

A teacher wrote to the parents of a little boy: "Your boy, Charles, shows signs of astigmatism. Will you please investigate and take steps to correct it?"

The next morning she received a reply from the boy's father, who wrote: "I don't exactly understand what Charlie has done, but I have walloped him tonight and you can wallop him tomorrow. That ought to help some."

Writer — "Here's the manuscript I offered you last year."

Editor — "What's the idea bringing this thing back when I rejected it last year?"

Writer — "Well, you've had a year's experience since then."

From three to four million trees are planted annually on the prairie farms of Northwest Texas.

It Happened 10 Years Ago

July 2, 1937

Advantages of the Kessler plan to be presented to people of Muenster in a general meeting. — Members of the Fuhrmann families are invited to attend the investiture service of Cecilia Fuhrmann. — Mother's Society will sponsor annual Fourth of July bazaar and dance. — Large crowd razzes boys in donkey ball game here. — Mrs. Ben Seyler returns from hospital and is improving daily. — Ray Wilde is named patrol leader for Muenster Boy Scouts. — Mrs. John Bezner is recovering from an illness at her home in Lindsay. — Miss Pauline Harrison and Ernest Craven of Gainesville are married. — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennigan announce the birth of Larry.

5 YEARS AGO

July 3, 1942

Lindsay observes 50 years of progress with elaborate festival on Tuesday and Wednesday this week. Several thousand attend program that includes pontifical mass, religious pageant, group dinner, picnic and dance. Miss Clara Hundt reigns as Miss Lindsay, Queen of the Golden Jubilee. — Public school teacher staff is reelected as follows: Virgil L. Welch, J.E. Gray, Charisie Bradshaw, Mary Wiedeman and Elfrieda Lukke. — Threshing season here comes and goes in less than a week. Community was hard hit by greenbugs. Grain crop is considered worst in community's history. — Mrs. F. A. Käthman and infant son, Ronald, are moved to their home from the local clinic.

WRONG NUMBER

Distortion of the truth can often be more damaging than an outright lie. For instance, union labor publications recently have made some acrimonious comment regarding the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. While taking no sides in the recent dispute between that company and its employees, this columnist does wish that the labor journals would stick to a proper interpretation of facts. Here follows a sample of what looks like a deliberate attempt to bamboozle the public. I quote from an Iowa labor weekly:

"The A.T. & T., like other Big Corporations and Monopolies, in making their appeal for public sympathy by way of paid advertisements, point out that ownership is spread among hundreds of thousands of small savings investors — most of them 'grey-haired widows' and 'trusting orphans.' Actually, as in the case of the A.T. & T., nearly half of the stock is owned by less than 6 per cent of the stockholders. . . ."

Available to the labor editor quoted above, as they are to anyone, are the actual statistics. The A.T. & T., has nothing to hide. Let's see what a fair and honest interpretation of these figures does to the statement that "nearly half of the stock is owned by less than 6 per cent of its stockholders." Such an examination reveals that the Iowa labor editor has rung a "wrong number."

At the end of 1946, there were 696,000 A.T. & T. stockholders. More than 207,000 of these held from one to five shares each and approximately 656,000 held less than 100 shares each. No one stockholder owned as much as 1/2 of 1 per cent of the total stock.

It is true that 39,800 stockholders, who own 100 shares or more, held 47 per cent of the total stock. This, on the face of it, would seem to indicate that nearly half of the stock was owned by 6 per cent of the stockholders. But right there is the joker — the important thing our labor editor friend either does not know or deliberately disregards. A considerable percentage of these 39,800 stockholders owning 100 shares or more, is made up of savings banks and life insurance companies. Thus, through deposits in these banks and equities in life insurance policies, hundreds of thousands of other Americans indirectly own A.T. & T. stock.

Further, some 500 churches and religious organizations, 250 schools and colleges, 200 institutional homes and 150 hospitals own A.T. & T. stock, thus giving a further spread to the ownership of same.

Taking all of the foregoing facts into consideration, it is a distortion of the truth to insinuate that 6 per cent of A.T. & T. stockholders come close to controlling that company.

And to add insult to injury, in the concluding paragraph of his editorial, the labor editor has the audacity to say, "Labor unions do not stoop to such dubious practices. . . ." Again he has rung a "wrong number." Here is a labor editor accusing A.T. & T., a company that gives statistics to its stockholders, to its employees and to the public, of "stooping to dubious practices." Really laughable, isn't it, in view of the great reluctance on the part of most labor union officials to give financial facts regarding their unions to even their own members?

Private Barge Operators Oppose Subsidized Barges

Private barge operators on the Mississippi River system — a $150 million industry — are gunning for the Federal Barge Lines as unfair competition. They want Congress to kill off their subsidized competitor.

Private owners say Federal Lines lost $2.6 million last year. The private owners object to competing with a line whose deficits are paid by the taxpayers. Spokesmen for the railroads have entered the fray on the barge men's side, denouncing Federal Barge Lines as a socialist experiment.

HEY KIDDIES! LOOKIT!! SOAP AN' WATER'S BAD

This little item will rile the dickens out of the kids. An internationally famous beauty expert strongly advises against scrubbing the very young with soap and water. Behind the ears, or elsewhere.

As a matter of fact, Jean Ferrell said her advice goes also for the old folk. Plain soap and water, she said, destroy the oil glands that feed the skin tissues. It's better to use cleansing creams and medicated creams that stimulate the blood cells.

Miss Ferrell practices what she preaches. She admits to being well-past the half century — "Just how far is my own business." She looks like a woman of 35, slim of figure and smooth of skin. She has a seven-point program for slicking up the little ones — and keeping them spick and span.

First, apply cleansing cream. Wipe off gently. Apply medicated cream. Cover this with cocoa butter. Cover with non-alcoholic astringent. Wipe all three layers off.

Seventh — go out and play. The beauty expert particularly advises against the use of alcohol — as an astringent, that is.

Alcohol taken in quantities of any size on the outside cuts the oil from the pores, and leaves the skin dry.

Best way in the world, she said to start having a nice crop of wrinkles and skin trouble.

Miss Ferrell said people today aren't too sharp about the way they keep their bodies clean.

"The ancients," she said, "were a lot smarter. They used butter and olive oil as cleaners. Their secret was to keep the pores clean and enjoy greater health."

The beauty expert, herself, is healthy — despite her age. A couple of years ago, she played with Spencer Tracy's polo team.

She showed the horse set a thing or two.

Sad Typographical Error

History records no sadder typographical error than that which occurred in a California mining newspaper edited by Bert Harte.

Harte penned an obituary for the wife of a prominent citizen. "She was known far and wide," he wrote, "for her charity."

The printer set it: "She was known far and wide for her chastity." Harte, determined to make the compositor check back on his copy so he'd be less careless another time, marked a huge question mark in the margin of the proof.

The paper went to press and was mailed during the night. In the morning Harte found, to his horror, that his correction had been faithfully executed, that the printer followed copy and put a question mark after the sentence: "She was known far and wide for her chastity (?)."

Imagination is given a man to compensate him for what he is not, and a sense of humor to console him for what he is.

LINDSAY YOUNG MEN PLAN INITIATION AND SOCIAL

Meeting in regular session Thursday night members of the Young Men's Society of Lindsay made plans for the initiation of new members into the society, discussed the annual joint social and initiated plans for a benefit picnic they will sponsor.

There are 11 candidates for initiation which will be held on Tuesday, July 22. The community picnic date has been set for August 17, and no definite date has been named for the social in which the girls' sodality will join. It is to be announced later.

Refreshments were served after the business and the meeting closed with night prayer led by Father Conrad, spiritual director.

HERMAN STOFFELS AND ALMA SANDMANN WED MONDAY MORNING

Miss Alma Sandmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sandmann of Lindsay, and Herman Stoffels, son of Nick Stoffels of Muenster, were married in Sacred Heart church Monday morning at 5 o'clock.

Rev. Herman Laux, pastor officiated at the double ring-ceremony and at the nuptial mass in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple. Wedding music was furnished by Anthony Luik, organist.

The bride wore an egg shell crepe street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of carnations and carried a white prayer book. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marjorie Sandmann, who wore a white crepe dress with white accessories and carnation corsage. Meinrad Stoffels, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony, breakfast at the home of the bride's parents honored the couple. They left by car on a wedding trip and when they return they will make their home in Muenster where he is employed at the cheese plant.

Mrs. Stoffels is a graduate of Lindsay high school with the class of 1942 and was an active member of the Young Ladies sodality. Mr. Stoffels is a veteran of the war having served with the army medical corps. He saw overseas duty in France, Belgium and Holland.

The Best Time

Trainer — "Well, old man, I'm afraid you're licked now." Boxer (gazing dizzily) — "Yes, I guess you're right. I should have got him in the first round when he was alone."

Although it has been highly developed, in principle today's dry battery is a descendant of the first electric battery, made in 1798 by Alessandro Volta, from whose name was derived the word "volt," which is a unit for measuring electrical pressure.

On the average, ten inches of snow are equivalent in water content to about one inch of rain.

Confetti---

but he's trained and ready to serve his country in case of emergency.

What the program can do toward preparedness is most easily calculated from the number of youths affected each year — 750,000 to 950,000. That means from 2½ to 3 million in both phases of training at all times. Adding those in the regular Army and Navy, the standing armed forces reaches well over to 3 million. In addition there's the available reserve of ready-trained men who can brush up their training in comparatively short time.

While regretting that compulsory training is necessary we can at least appreciate the commission's efforts to set up the least disagreeable form of it.

Another worth while angle on preparedness is the recommendation Bernard Baruch to authorize conscription of labor and industry as well as fighting men in case of another war.

The man has something there. A lot of lost motion and graft and strike stoppages could have been prevented in the last war if Uncle Sam could have exercised the same control over the production machine that he did over the fighting machine.

The idea has a slight dictatorial flavor but no more than is justified by the emergency and certainly on more than the fighting men have to submit to. Besides it offers possibilities of checking the usual spiral of war time prices and holding the national debt to a lower figure.

Some of the things that happened in the past war are enough to make us tax payers see red. Cost plus contracts encouraged manufacturers to hire a super abundance of men at fabulous wages — the higher the cost the higher their percentage.

Next we heard howls of protest about the unfairness of fat wages as compared with the soldier's puny pay. Congress solved that, not by cutting wages, but by raising service pay, which boosted the war cost higher than ever.

As concerns strikes and slow-downs, the only deterrent was public sentiment and too frequently strikers were slow to respond to that. Living under army regulations and subject to court martial, men would have behaved differently.

War is everybody's business. When the fighting starts it is proper for all of us to work together without thought of personal gain. Some have to furnish the supplies and guns, others have to use them. One group is as essential as the other, neither is entitled to special privileges over the other. Both should be equally subject to the command of our leaders.

As regards pay the answer should be simple enough. Production personnel could be organized the same as fighting personnel. Managers and department heads could rank equally with commissioned officers and draw the same pay. Workers could rank with enlisted men, the more efficient enjoying higher grades and higher pay. Compensation for plant and equipment lease should be the same as that received on war bonds — assuming that the government will restore all to their original condition.

If war is everybody's job we should by all means have a system of equal compensation, equal responsibility and equal accountability.
