

A regrettable thing happened in the House of Representatives last Monday when the congressmen decided by a lop-sided majority to abolish the poll tax.

of state's rights. When the states joined together they did so with an understanding that each would conduct its own elections under its own rules -— an understanding which implied that the states only shall have the right of changing Catholic State League at West- of his retirement plan. their election rules.

It is regrettable that a group of northern politicians saw fit to impose their wishes in matters that did not concern them. Elections in evils of communism. this country are state functions, even as regards the president and Family Life, Charity Toward Euvice-president, hence it is neither reasonable nor fair that anyone outside the state should be permitted to prescribe how the election should be held.

It is regrettable that the congressmen in their mis-guidea crusade against alleged discrimination in the South did not give sufficient thought to corruption in the North. If the men were interested in eliminating voting evils they could have done better by recommending the poll tax for all the rest of the country. In the South the law eliminates indifferent citizens. In the North the law makes it convenient for crooked machine politicians to gather indifferent votes for their side. To us, ours looks like the lesser of two evils.

It is regrettable also that the congressmen apparently had no knowledge of our sympathy with the real purpose behind the potax. Misled by the name, they still consider it a price on the citizen's voting right instead of a personal tax which was instituted and preserved as a very substantial support of our public school system.

It originated as a means to get at least some revenue from the thousands, of non property owners who, except for that pittance, contributed nothing to the state's sup port. On that same basis it is desirable even today. There are still many thousands who give no other financial support to the state and whose share of the public burden will shift to ad valorem tax payers if the poll tax is abolished. Certainly any citizen's benefits from the state's many functions should be worth that much to him.

The state's attitude was and is that every citizen owes his personal tax as a just debt, but it's known that the law is meaningless unless

The City of Muenster is having a birthday this week. Friday, July 25, is the 20th anniversary of its promotion from the status of an incorporated village to an incorporated city.

NUMBER 35

It was back in late 1926, after Muenster had spent some 37 years as nothing more than an unorganized group of homes and stores that local residents felt the need of incorporating. The community's first oil boom was at its height. Muenster was a rowdy and crowded town. The presence of typical old time rough and tumble boom-town characters prompted the old residents to seek a means of maintaining law and order. The overabundance of temporary shacks got people to worrying about fire hazards.

Incorporation was the only solution, so the town natives arranged for an election to let residents decide the issue. The result, on March 2, 1927, was a comfortable margin of 77 to 36 in favor of incorporating as a village. Not long thereafter the village government discovered it did not have authority to issue bonds - which were urgently needed to build a water - and had the official system status changed from incorporated village to incorporated city. The change was effective on July 25, 1927.

Original city officers were B.H. Hellman, Mayor; J.M. Weinzapfel, secretary; John Meurer, treasurer; and M.J. Endres, Wm. Walterscheid, W.D. Gleason, H.P. Hennigan and H.G. Stelzer, aldermen. During the 20 years the city has had only 4 mayors. B.H. Hellman served four terms, M.J. Endres two terms, Ben Seyler two terms and J.M. Weinzapfel is now serving his third term. Many changes and many improvements have been made in Muenster since it became a city. The inflated boom population, which probably approached 1,000 in early 1927, decreased back to the city's original size of near 500, then began a steady growth reaching Klement, Edgar Klement, Jake Kuhn and Soil Conservation Service technicians attended the meeting.

Alfred Bayer, on the Mrs. Joe Bayer farm, and Bob Knabe, on the F.J. Trubenbach farm, are also constructing terraces this week by the island method of construction with farm equipment. Many cooperators of Muenster Work Unit are planning to use this "slack period" of farm operations to maintain old terraces, construct new terraces and rebuild old terraces to district specifica-

The visitors were betwide before finding another demand ter also in hitting and fielding requite as fantastic - or quite as cords with 13 safeties and 3 errors unreasonable.

Strange as it seems this fabulous multiplication of labor cost is accounted for entirely by proposed changes in operating rules, not by a basic wage raise, nor by an increase in the number of actual workers. It amounts to featherbedding on a scale that approaches highway robbery.

Under recent rules 5 men operate a freight train - the engineer fireman, conductor and two brakemen. Under the demanded change those same five men would do the work, and supposedly at their old rate, but they would draw the basic pay for each power unit of the train while other crewmen would get full wages for not being called out.

The main point in the demand is that only one locomotive be permitted on a train except at agreed points involving heavy grades. Us ing a double header would require double pay to all hands plus the regular pay to one conductor and two brakemen who were left out of a job. Another clause demands that each unit of a diesel locomotive be considered as a separate locomotive and the labor cost of operating it should call for double pay to the engineer and fireman, quadruple pay to the conductor and two brakemen and the basic daily wage to three con-. ductors and six brakemen who were left idle. Now add all that together and see the astounding result. Railroads are told to pay 25 man-days of wages for 5 man-days of actual work.

Good batting by Nocona and weak fielding by Muenster accounted for the 9 to 4 loss Thursday night. The visitors' ten hits along with the home boys' 8 errors netted more than Muenster could score on five hits and three errors. In spite of that the game was close until the final two innings when the visitor's put it on ice with 3 and 1 runs, respectively.

Early Discovery Of Fire Started By Refrigerator Prevents Serious Damage

A fire in Joe Tempel's apartment at the Anthony Klement home was brought under control about ? o'clock Sunday night before serious damage was done. Originating as a short in the refrigerator, the fire apparently did not break into an open flame but a dense cloud of smoke ruined wallpaper and near-by woodwork. The refrigerator was damaged beyond repair. The Tempels were not at home at the time. Steve Moster, a neighbor, discovered smoke coming from an upstairs window, turned in the fire alarm and notified neighbors. By the time the firemen responded the neighbors had everything under control.

Dozens of new homes and at least a dozen new business houses have been built while th city developed into a marketing and trade center for a large area of Cooke and Montague coun-

The city's achievements are equally progressive. Its first objective, a municipal water system was realized in 1932 on a bonded indebetedness of $33,000, which has since been reduced to $13,000 in splte of heavy expenditures in drilling two city wells, one in 1939 and the other in 1945. Orginally the city purchased water from the cheese factory but the growing demand of both the plant and the city eventually exceeded the well's supply

The fire department, organized as oon as the water system was completed, has not only served the city well but also enabled its residents to enjoy one of the lowest insurance rates in the state. City coofing regulations also helped seoure the lower rate.

Another municipal project is the modern sewer system installed in 1940 with a bonded indebtedness of $20,000. It was built with WPA help, the federal government providing approximately $40,000. Like the water bond, the sewer bond has since been reduced to $13,000.

The third outstanding city improvement has been on the streets. Main was paved late in 1936 and all the principal residential streets have been graveled in addition to a steady maintenance program. City records show a total expenditure of $15,248 on street work from the time of incorporation until Jan. 1, 1947.

Entered as second-class matter December 11,1936, at the post office at Muenster, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

"And do you promise to love, honor and take your car troubles to ENDRES MOTOR COMPANY?"

"Pinkitis" or "Left-Wingitis" is a most contagious disease, to which politicians seem to be especially vulnerable.

As a case in point, hearings have just been completed before the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce on S 1333, as nice a piece of "left-wing" legislation as has ever been proposed to a committee of the United States Congress. And who of all people do you suppose is sponsoring this Bill, which if enacted would utterly destroy freedom of radio? None other than Senator W.H. White, Jr. And who is Senator White? In 1916 he was first elected to the House of Representatives. After serving successive terms there, in 1930 he was elected to the United States Senate, was re-elected in 1936 and again in 1942. Currently he is majority floor leader of the Senate in the 80th Congress. And to what political party does Senator White belong? Believe it or not, he is reputed to be a Republican. And what state sends Mr. White to the Senate? None other than Maine you will remember Maine and Ver mont were the only two states that went Republican in the national elections of 1936.

So here we have the spectacle of a Republican Senator from the rockribbed Republican state of Maine dumping into the legislative hopper a Bill that could not be more totalitarian had it been concocted and introduced by William Z. Foster, or Earl Browder, or even Joseph Stalin himself. Amazing, isn't it? Yes, and even more than that, it's terrifying. Space does not permit listing here the "leftwing" provisions of Senator White's proposed legislation. But here follow just a few of the things it would do: 1 - Virtually destroy net-worl broadcasting.

2 - Impose a censorship on radio that would make it a political football.

3 - Give the Federal Communications Commission life-and-death power over radio stations.

4 - Make it practically impossible for radio broadcasting interests to obtain the capital so necessary for further experiment, research and development.

5 - Result in radio programs of a standard as poor or poorer than those broadcast by the governmentowned British Broadcasting Co. If you have ever heard any of these latter, you will realize what a threat to our radio listening enjoyment, the White Bill is.

6 - Drive radio broadcasting from private to government ownership and constitute the entering wedge for dicatorship in America Just how a man of Senator White's reputation, character, pas performances and life-time political affiliations can father such a destructive piece of legislation, is almost beyond comprehension The only possible explanation is that he has fallen a victim of that dread disease, "Left-Wingitis." By all means write your Repro sentative and your United States Senators to scrutinize this Bill most carefully. Such examination should convince enough of our legislators of the threat to our national freedom embodied therein; that it would indeed be a dark day for America, to enact into law, White's black Bill.

Is it fair and can our supreme court possibly regard it as legal to demand pay for work not done? We all realize, or course, that it has been going on, but isn't it about time tha someone with principle and authority put an end

Sooner or later, if we hope to keep this country from going completely to ruin, we'll have to get back to the standard of an honest day's, work for an honest day's pay. Any deviation from that standard, no matter how slight, is dishonest on the part of the person concerned and an unfair imposition on everybody else. This case of railroad men is convenient and glaring example to trace through. The uncarned wage of 20 man-days has to be paid by increased rates which eventually are paid by other workmen - including honest workmen who earned their pay. Every dollar of increased freight cost to them amounts to a dollar of extortion by the featherbedders.

to it?

Reducing the case to such simple terms we should not have any doubt about applying the moral code. Taking from another is unjust, period, and somebody ought to have the courage and legal right o put a stop to it.

People who refuse to be moved by the moral appeal might do well to ponder that this problem is seris also from a standpoint of plain expendiency. The man who doesn't measure by right and wrong but only by a cold calculation of what he can get out of it had better start to realize that this kind of nonseplay is hatching a first class economic mess that will hurt every if those unions succeed in putting over their deal, is obvious. Railroads estimate that the increased cost to them will be about a billion dollars a year. They can't absorb the increase, so it will have to be passed on to the consumer.

All this comes at a time when railroads were about to ask for rate increases to offset their other higher costs. Already working on a margin that is too close for comfort, the railroads cannot possibly maintain
