

Gift Shop, Bakery Will Occupy New Building on Main

Red stooges in Cuba ought to realize that even other-cheek-turning Uncle Sam will not tolerate endless slapping. After months of constantly intensified insolence they are crowding their luck still farther now with a new volley in their propaganda barrage about the explosion of that munitions ship at Havana.

The latest to come forth is an alleged documented report that United States itself blew up its battleship in Havana harbor to create the incident that set off the Spanish American war. Not content to limit their insults to current events they have to adulterate history in their fanatic determination to stir up trouble.

The irony of it is that they are so pitifully absurd in their venture. As even they should know, that was the war which resulted in the liberation of Cuba from Spanish rule. For the sixty odd years since then the people of Cuba have never resented our part in that conflict, and especially not our attitude in declaring the island free and independent rather than claiming it as a war prize. It isn't likely that this propaganda line will find favor with Cubans who know about the country's history. As a rabble rousing effort this ought to prove very much a dud. In fact, it should backfire in Cuba while goading Uncle Sam a little closer to retaliation.

Perhaps it will even help the United States to revive its Spanish American War motives and rid that island of the curse of foreign imposed tyranny. Today, even more than in the nineties, Cuba is suffering under the iron fist rule of another nation's agents. We have as much justification as before in kicking out the rascals and allowing the unfortunate people to make another start in peace and security. Besides, we have a second and more important motive this time . . . to stop a deadly foe that is fanatically dedicated to our destruction.

As much as we resent Castro's tirades we hope they are serving a useful purpose . . . by awakening Americans to the urgency of stopping the red menace.

Another ugly feature of the new propaganda blast from Cuba is the claim that, in the deliberate destruction of our own ship, this country had arranged to have it manned almost entirely by Negroes . . . a diabolical trick to intensify troubles in this country. It makes no difference that the statement is false. Fanatics believe what they want to believe, regardless of facts. The harm is already done and no amount of denial can completely remove the effect of this contemptible insinuation that our government considered colored people as expendable pawns in an infamous scheme. Such unscrupulous interference in one of our serious national problems is another provocation deserving of stern retaliation . . . another good justification for a house cleaning in Cuba.

Concern over racial trouble prompts us to wonder also why our government fails to recognize communism as one of its prime causes, and to deal with it accordingly. Surely the big wheels must see some significance in the fact all red propaganda on the subject from abroad encourages negroes to continue the trouble making . . . that red publications as well as communist organizations and their fronts over here constantly spout the same line . . . that many leaders of the NAACP are known members of the communist party or communist fronts. Anyone familiar with communist objectives should be aware that the real motive behind all that is not to help colored people but to use them in causing domestic trouble.

If we ever wake up to the urgency of cleaning up Cuba we ought to give equal attention to the source of our troubles at home. Our racial problem will be more than half over if we'll get rid of the reds who are poking their ugly noses into it. Fewer Negroes will make spectacles of themselves if the prodding of subversive trouble makers is stopped.

This is not intended to imply that colored people should be oppressed and treated as an inferior race. On the contrary they deserve all the justice, respect and consideration that is due to any human being.

But who can say that justice, respect and consideration must necessarily include acceptance to a more intimate relationship (Continued on page 8)

Parish Will Mark St. Joseph's Day as Holy Day March 19

Saturday, March 19, feast day of St. Joseph, will be observed as a holy day in Sacred Heart Parish with the schedule of masses including high mass in the evening at 7 o'clock. Other masses are at 6 and 7 a.m.

Marking their patron's feast, St. Joseph's Society will attend the evening service and receive corporate Holy Communion. Afterwards they'll have a communion supper in the parish hall. It will be a ladies' night program with members of St. Anne's Society invited to be present.

Following the meal, members of the men's society will hold their March business meeting featuring the annual election of officers. A full membership is urged to be there.

Observing St. Joseph's day began in the pioneer era of the community, in the year 1894, after the parish lost two churches in cyclones. It was then that the residents vowed to keep March 19 as a holy day to invoke the protection of St. Joseph, patron of builders.

The custom continued through the years, and now 66 years later, children and grandchildren of those pioneer settlers still attach special significance to March 19, because through the years the community has been spared destructive storms.

Dr. W. H. Blake Chiropractor, in Practice Here

Dr. W. H. Blake, a chiropractor, who came to Muenster early last week, is settled down and ready for patients. He is located in the first block of West Seventh and has his office in the house.

A native of East Texas, Dr. Blake started studies at Texas Chiropractic College, San Antonio, before World War 2. During the war he served with the armed forces in France and remained afterward as a civilian employee of the U. S. government. During that time he was married.

In 1949 he and his wife returned to America and he continued his chiropractic studies in San Antonio, graduating in 1954. Since then the couple has lived at Fort Worth.

City Hosts North Texas Waterworks Association Meet

Fifty-two representatives of cities in the North Texas Water and Sanitation Association gathered here for the March meeting with the City of Muenster as host on March 16. The supper program was held in Rohmer's Restaurant.

Featured after supper speakers were Rudy Hellman, manager of North Texas Producers Association, and Postmaster Arthur J. Endres. Loyal Burchfield of Saint Jo, association president, presided.

Hellman talked on the milk processing plant since its beginning and how the plant and city have cooperated in regard to water and sewer facilities. Endres' thought provoking talk, sprinkled with good humor, was entitled "A Citizen Views His Waterworks and Sewer."

After adjournment the group made a tour of the milk plant conducted by Mr. Hellman.

Parish Launches Drive for Convent and 2 Classrooms

Sacred Heart Church of Muenster will participate in the Educational Development Campaign of the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese by conducting a fund raising drive with a goal of $250,000.

The figure was set and preliminary plans were made in a meeting of about 40 parish members, consisting principally of workers in the previous fund raising campaign, with the pastors and Francis Craig, representative of the National Fund Raising Service, which is directing the diocesan campaign. They met Wednesday night in the Sacred Heart School library.

The local drive will raise funds for two new projects: a convent estimated at $144,000 and two additional classrooms for the elementary school estimated at $30,000. A related project is to move the lunch room from the parish hall to the school after that space is relieved of its present use as classrooms.

Along with those funds the group decided to raise additional money to continue debt retirement and interest payments, raising their goal to $250,000.

Also considered was a proposal to include a hospital drive with the campaign and raising the goal accordingly, but the group decided against trying for the larger figure.

In explaining the program Father Christopher pointed out that Bishop Gorman is seeking to improve educational facilities throughout the diocese and has set quotas for every parish. In most cases 75 per cent of the quota is to be used by the parish for their own improvement programs. In cities with several parishes those funds are to be combined for central facilities to be used by the participating parishes. The other 25 per cent is to be used for a diocesan seminary.

In Muenster's case, Father Christopher continued, the local program already exceeds the Parts Department At Endres Motor Being Modernized

A general overhaul is in progress this week and next week in the parts department of Endres Motor Company. It is a modernization recommended by Ford Motor Company revising space and arrangement to conform with changing demands as models change from year to year. Dealers are urged to revise every five or six years.

In charge of the job is Mrs. Frances Slack of Dallas, the only woman of the country offering customized service in modernization of parts and accessories departments. She has been in the business since 1945 working almost exclusively with Ford dealers of the Dallas and Houston district.

On each job bin arrangements are planned especially to fit the building and old bins are used as much as possible. Here all old bins are being used and four new ones are added.

Besides bringing a parts department up to date by adding the necessary new parts and arranging them for more efficient handling, the program provides a check on parts that are going out of date and surplus stock.

Dr. Kenneth Dobbs Will Be Muenster Resident Doctor

Dr. Kenneth Dobbs, 32, of Dallas, is Muenster's new resident doctor. He will be on duty here as soon as he can complete all the details involved in making the change, which will probably be next week or the week after.

His decision to come to Muenster was announced Monday by Mrs. T. S. Myrick following an agreement whereby he will use the clinic, office and equipment left by Dr. Myrick at his death late last October.

Dr. Dobbs was here Thursday of last week for his first look at Muenster and returned with his wife on Saturday for a weekend visit. They were guests of the J. M. Weinzapfels and attended Sunday church services here. While here they also rented a house on North Oak, north of the public school.

Dr. Dobbs, a native of the North, has spent much of his life at San Antonio and considers it his home town. His parents live there now. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Texas Medical School of Galveston in 1954 after which he spent a year of internship and a year of resident duty at St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas. He has also served in the Medical Corps of the Armed Service and as an industrial doctor in Dallas.

Mrs. Dobbs will assist her husband in his work here. She is a registered nurse and has been in charge of the obstetrics department of St. Paul's. The couple has one child, a seven months old daughter.

The Dixie Drug Store was not included in the agreement between Mrs. Myrick and the new doctor. She will continue to operate it and, at least for a while, will continue having a pharmacist come here once or twice weekly to fill prescriptions of other doctors. Dr. Dobbs indicated that he intends to follow Dr. Myrick's custom of dispensing his own prescriptions and has arranged to do so in Dixie Drug's prescription department.

Housing Project Depends on Signs Of Local Interest

A low rent housing project for Muenster is assured if a demand for it can be shown. Henry Weinzapfel, secretary of the local housing authority, disclosed Wednesday that the city of Muenster has met qualification requirements for a loan from the Public Housing Authority of the federal government and needs only the statements of prospective tenants to show that the units are wanted.

He also said that locations near Sacred Heart Church are available for buildings that can be designed especially to accommodate elderly people.

Persons interested in such quarters are urged to contact Father Christopher Paladino or L. A. Bernauer for further information and, if interested, to get their names on the list. There is no obligation in inquiring. To avoid delay of the project, if it is wanted, the inquiries should be made as soon as possible.

Flock of Errors Cost Tigers in 9-2 Loss to Lindsay

After weeks of delay because of the extended winter, Sacred Heart High's baseball team opened its season Wednesday afternoon with the Knights of Lindsay on the local field.

They made a cold start in more ways than one. Despite sunshine the air was still chilly, and their only practice so far consisted of gym workouts plus a scrimmage session last Friday. Besides they started on a field that was hurriedly worked over Tuesday and Wednesday after addition of 16 yards of new dirt.

Coach George Petrus said the delay will cause crowding in the rest of the season to complete the schedule of games, and possibly also crowding out a few of the games that were planned.

On schedule now are games with Windthorst here Friday and here the 24th, with St. John's of Ennis here the 27th and there April 3, and with Jesuit B of Dallas here on April 2 and there on a date still to be set. Other possible games, if dates can be arranged, are with Nocona, Saint Jo, Era, Callisburg and Lindsay.

In their game with Lindsay the Tigers lost 9-2 on a flock of errors in spite of leading their visitors 9-5 in hitting. In the fifth, with bases loaded, they combined two errors to donate four runs. Pitchers were Wimmer and Sandmann.

For the procession some 30 little girls in white each carried a single long-stemmed red carnation and about 70 altar boys carried lighted candles. Rt. Rev. John Duesman, head of the Sherman Deanery, gave the benediction after the weekly novena prayers conducted by Father Martin Fischer.

Fathers Cyril Lange and Ignatius Bodmayr of Windthorst, Thomas Taaff, of Madonna Hospital in Denison, Alcuin Kubis of Lindsay, William Lane, Frank Mogan and E. J. Gerlich of Gainesville, Anthony Gajda of Valley View, John Untereiner of Pilot Point and Christopher Paladino and Bruno Fuhrmann.

The congregation joined the men's choir in singing the hymns and the clergy sang the litany of the saints. The closing hymn was the Te Deum.

GOOD SAMARITAN, JR.

With the blessing of Pope John XXIII on Ash Wednesday, the Catholic school children of America set out on their annual Lenten forty days of small privations to aid in relieving those greater ones of hunger, homelessness and lack of medical care suffered by millions of less fortunate youngsters around the globe.

In offering up to the Bishops' Relief Fund Appeal the pennies and nickels and dimes they would ordinarily spend on candy and bubble gum and ice cream cones, these American boys and girls will not be only learning worthwhile lessons of self-control and concern for the needy . . . but will actually be piling up an impressive contribution toward the $5 million minimum goal the Appeal hopes to attain on Laetare Sunday, March 27th. In 1959, for example, the Lenten self-denial of these school kids amounted to several hundred thousand dollars.

Actually, $5 million is a very small amount with which to undertake relief of 40 million needy people in 62 countries over the globe. But such is the dedication, ingenuity and experience of those who direct Catholic Relief Services, NCWC and the million volunteer workers, that, with the further assistance of surplus foodstuffs, supplied by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, something mighty like the Biblical parable of the loaves and fishes is achieved each year. Last year, in fact, this $5 million operating fund accomplished the shipment and distribution of more than a billion pounds of clothing, medicines and food valued at something over $115 million!

The unceasing labors of CRS, around the clock and around the calendar, year in and year out, and the faithful support of the American people, young and old, in supplying funds and used clothing, shoes and blankets, give eloquent testimony to the fact that "foreign aid" can never be the complete answer to human misery. Only the hand of the Good Samaritan can raise up the lowliest.

KISSING STABILITY GOOD-BY

The Saturday Evening Post recently ran a full-page editorial entitled "We Can Stop Inflation if We Have the Courage to Try." In the course of its discussion, it said this: ". . . inflation is inevitable unless there is patience and restraint on the part of the public. If every slight increase in prices is to mean a strike-enforced demand for higher wages, we might as well kiss stability good-by."

In substantiation, it quotes a striking statement made by L. Robert Driver, a leading statistician and tax expert. Says Mr. Driver: "If the pay of all employed persons in the United States had been raised by forty cents an hour, as the pay of the steelworkers was raised, the costs of goods and services in the country would rise by 45,800,000,000 a year, or $270 for every one of our 170 million people." To quote the Post again, "Leaving out the effect of our precarious competitive position vis-a-vis foreign producers, even a fiscal ignoramus can see the effect of such an addition to our already top-heavy costs on the value of the dollar."

The number of dollars that labor or any other group gets is not the big thing. What really counts is what those dollars will buy. And the surest way to further degrade the dollar's buying power is through wage increases not accompanied by increases in productivity.

THE ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCE

In the light of Soviet boasts concerning Russia's productive achievements, and her propaganda campaign designed to persuade the world that before long she will outdo the U. S. and make a monkey out of the capitalist system, some information concerning Russian agriculture is interesting.

Publisher Tom Anderson of Farm and Ranch magazine writes: "The American farmer produces enough, on drastically limited acreage, for himself and 20 others. The Russian farmer, under the prodding of his government overseers, produces only enough for himself and four others. The American farmer deserves great credit for his remarkable production records. But much credit also belongs to industry — to free, competitive, profitmaking companies vying with each other to produce the most efficient machinery, equipment and chemicals. American manufacturers of farm supplies work in close cooperation with farmers to get the new ideas, to learn the farmers' real needs, to learn what will sell at a profit. In Russia the bureaucrats make those decisions. Neither farmers nor mechanics have much influence on the kind of farm supplies and equipment produced."

What Mr. Anderson describes here, using farm equipment and other farm tools as an outstanding example, is the essential difference between the Russian system as against the American system. The first is based on brute force — the second on incentive, inducement, free and voluntary action. And, in all recorded history, the second has always triumphed over the first.

4-H Lesson Tells Of Teen Nutrition

Sacred Heart's 4-H Club girls enjoyed lessons on "Improving Teenage Nutrition" at their March meetings with Mrs. Yvonne Jenkins giving the same illustrated lecture to three separate groups.

Blondie Fleitman, reporter for the Intermediate club, counted 44 present at the meeting. Patsy Zimmerer, president, and recreational leaders Mary Knabe and Flora Mae Sims led the group in a sing-song.

Charlotte Wolf, reporter for the Senior girls' club, pointed out that Mrs. Jenkins emphasized results of proper eating habits and listed better health, better appearance and personality among nutritional effects on youth.

Patsy Endres, senior president, conducted the meeting and Secretary Ann Stoffels presented minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Jenkins congratulated the Share-the-Fun team for winning first in the county and announced the County Council meeting to be held March 19.

Ruby Schumacher, reporter for the Junior 4-H clubbers, said her group enjoyed seeing the food charts and learning "how we grow when we eat." Club president Gloria Haverkamp presided for the meeting and Linda Tempel and Janie Fleitman, in charge of recreation, led group singing. Mary Ellen Endres was congratulated for being first place winner in the county Junior Dairy Foods Show.

Also on the program for the clubs was announcement that the annual 4-H Dress Revue will be held April 12 and Mrs. Jenkins distributed leaflets on rules and information.

CDA Has Plans for Reception in May And Other Activity

March meeting of the local court Catholic Daughters of America was a lively one with reports on the poetry contest, library, daily mass crusade, mission work, and plans for a reception ceremony.

Students of Sacred Heart School are writing poems for prizes to be given here and the winning poem will go to the state contest. Mrs. Charles Taylor gave a list of some of the new library books, fifty having been added recently, coming as a gift from Father Ernest Langenhorst from Fort Worth. And Mrs. Joe Swirczynski said she has about a hundred pounds of clothing ready for St. Vincent's Store in Fort Worth.

Members voted a donation to the Heart Fund and heard an invitation to attend a reception-meeting for District Five in Dallas on Sunday, April 3, at the Skyline Terrace of Hotel Dallas.

In another communication the program for the 22nd biennial convention of State Court of Texas to be held in Austin, May 27-30, was read. A resolutions committee consisting of Grand Regent Mrs. Steve Moster, Mrs. Joe Horn, Mrs. Charlie Fisher and Mrs. John Mosman was selected to draw up resolutions for presentation at the state convention.

Other business consisted of election to membership of eight candidates to participate in the court's reception ceremony planned for the latter part of May. Ladies desiring membership in the CDA are invited to contact officers for details.

Father Bruno Fuhrmann was present and gave a sermonette on the value of Lenten sacrifices and devotions.

Forestburg Donates $237 to Red Cross

Merchants from Muenster, Montague, Bowie, Nocona and Forestburg donated articles for an auction sale and Raymon Mannschreck of Decatur was auctioneer.

Four-H clubbers, Beta Club, home demonstration club members and ladies working in Muenster dress factory collected items for sale, and pies and sandwiches. Mrs. John Holland donated a quilt made by Mrs. Rosa Bryant. Charles Edwards took care of the public address system and a group put on a talent show. Most of the county candidates were there and almost all of Forestburg turned out to join visitors from a wide area for the evening.

Mrs. L. Burchfiel Is Book Reviewer for Garden Club Group

A book review highlighted the March meeting of the Muenster Civic League and Garden Club Monday night when Mrs. Loyal Burchfiel of Saint Jo, a former member of the organization, was the guest reviewer.

She selected a pair of related stories, "Mrs. Arris Goes to Paris," and "Mrs. Arris Goes to New York," by Paul Gallico and kept her audience thoroughly delighted with her details of the modern fable.

Mrs. Anthony Luke and Mrs. Al Horn were hostesses entertaining in the Luke home and served dessert plates and coffee to 19 members and two guests, Mrs. Burchfiel and Mrs. Arthur Bourdeau. Refreshments carried out the St. Patrick's Day theme.

The business session consisted of committee reports and announcements. Mrs. T. S. Myrick, park chairman, told of live oak trees that must be replaced in Memorial Park and Mrs. John Mosman sent a detailed conservation report reviewing work accomplished in the Muenster work unit area and on a district-wide basis.

Mrs. Ben Luke announced that the Flower Show must be delayed again because late freezes have damaged early flowers. Show theme will be "Town and Country," as previously planned and the date will be announced after it is re-set.

Plans for the plant exchange are incomplete that project having also been delayed by weather unsuitable for planting.

An invitation was read regarding the District I Garden Club Convention to be held in Sherman March 30-31. Theme of the meeting is "Gardening and Design of Tomorrow." Sessions this year will be open to the public and interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Members voted a donation to the Heart Fund in response to a letter from the local committee.

Next month's meeting will be held in Mrs. Dan Luke's home with Mrs. Ben Luke as co-hostess.

Evolution of Auto Is Dream Mixture

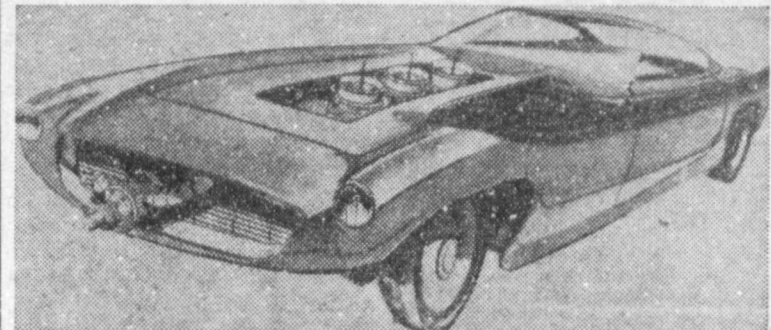

The greatest puzzle in the automobile industry is how to make a car that will satisfy all of the people involved in its manufacture — and still please the buyer.

"Each group of engineers has strong interests and objectives that are often widely separated," says M. C. Patterson, Dodge general manager. "Each has its own idea of what a car should be, and no two of them are alike. So, the evolution of a new car is bound to involve certain conflicts."

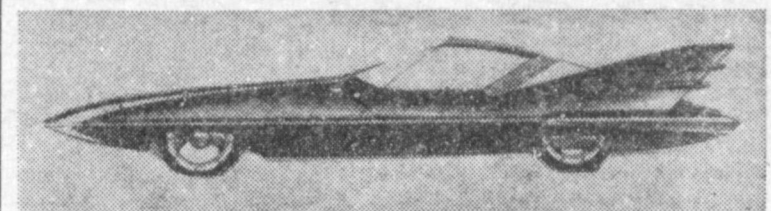

"The fact that new cars do come out year after year is indeed a triumph of knowledge, imagination, creative ability, and most of all, co-operation and team work."

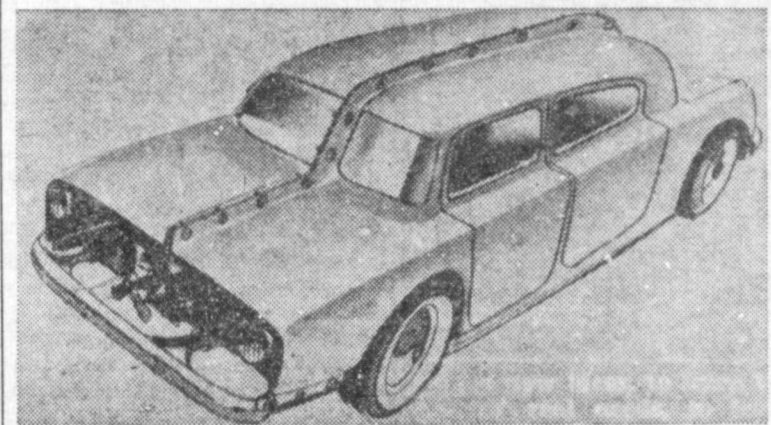

THE SAFETY ENGINEER visualizes the ideal car as a sphere—safe but little room for the engine.

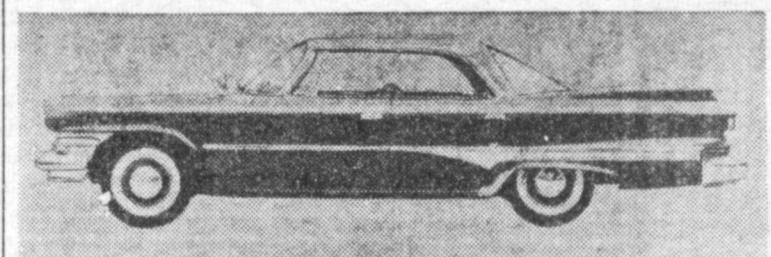

THE PERFORMANCE ENGINEER is chiefly concerned with the engine. He wants everything under the hood except hot and cold running water.

THE STYLIST wants beautiful lines, fine balance, and an eye-catching expression of an artistic theme.

THE BODY ENGINEER'S perfect car is one with no structural problems, no tough curves, no tight places—just a straight-forward design.

MIX THEM ALL together properly and you have what the sales force hopes is indeed a dream car for the average American motorist.

Prescher Cows Are Champ Producers Among DHIA Herds

Peter Prescher's cows are out front as champ producers of both milk and butterfat among Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement Association herds for February according to the month's summary, released this week by Supervisors George Petrus and James Truitt.

The report shows the Prescher herd leading with an average of 51 pounds of butterfat and 1176 pounds of milk. The herd also has the individual high producer, No. 23 topping butterfat at 140 pounds and milk at 2450 pounds.

Second high in butterfat average are J. L. Masten's cows with 43 pounds. The Ben Davis herd is third with 42 and second in milk production with 1096. W. H. Frasher's cows came in for third place in milk with 1064 pounds.

Other high herds for the month include those of Eldershoff and Sicking, Tommy Knabe, Paul and C. A. Fisher, Paul Fetsch, Ed and Paul Sicking and Jerry Hoening.

Eighteen member herds were tested with 564 cows in milk. Average milk production was 906 pounds and average butterfat was 36 pounds. Cows producing 50 or more pounds of butterfat totaled 129.

A man was fumbling at his keyhole in the wee hours of the morning. A cop immediately came to his rescue.

"Can I help you find the keyhole sir?" he asked.

"Thash all right, old man," said the other cheerily; "You jusht hol' the housh and I can manage."

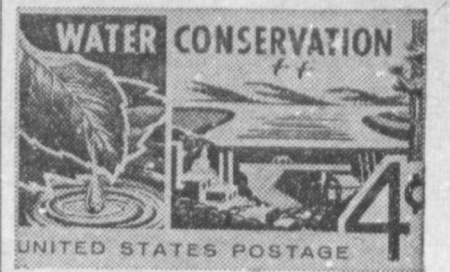

New Conservation Stamp Due Apr. 18

The world's first water conservation postage stamp, to be issued April 18 in Washington, D. C., honors rural and urban organizations engaged in small watershed conservation activities.

The new 4-cent stamp will go on sale at the post office here April 19, the day following its issuance at the Seventh National Watershed Congress in the nation's capital.

The Upper Elm-Red soil conservation district, the Elm Creek Watershed Association and the recently formed Clear Creek Watershed Authority are among the local groups honored by the issuance of the stamp. The ultimate goal of these groups is to prevent needless flooding on the upper reaches of the Trinity River watershed.

These local groups are attacking water problems where they begin — on the farm land where the water first falls, and along the small creeks that join to form the

There are 25 reservoirs completed on the Elm Creek watershed. Forty are planned in the Cooke and Montague County portion of Clear Creek and work has begun on clearing easements for their construction. If Federal funds are available and easements are cleared, some reservoirs could conceivably be built in fiscal year 1961.

Tuesday Club Sees Volley Ball Game

Tuesday Neters Club members began their social evening for March with attendance at a volley ball game in Saint Jo where some of the members were playing in a tournament.

Afterwards Mrs. Gene Hoedebeck was hostess in her home for a series of games and served refreshments. Prize winners in the games were Mrs. Bill Lindsay for high score and Mrs. Leonard Owen for low tally. Mrs. Bill Hunt won the door prize.

Mrs. Leo Lawson will be hostess for the club's April meeting.

Mrs. McTavish (looking out the window): "Sandy, here comes company for dinner."

Following Orders

Just as Pat was about to enter Moriarity's saloon, Father O'Halloran came around the corner. Buttonholing the presumptuous misceant, the father delivered a lengthy lecture.

"Now Patrick," he finished, "I want you to go to your wife. Ask her forgiveness for wicked and intemperate ways. Tell her that you have seen the light and are ready to turn over a new leaf. That is all, Patrick. Go now!"

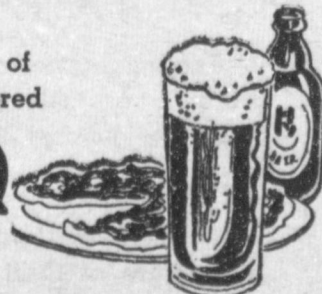

But when he was released, Pat again made determinedly for the saloon. Shocked and surprised, the Father called him back.

"Patrick," he reproved, sternly, "has all that I have said been wasted on you? I thought I told you to go to your wife." "But, Father," Pat protested, "'tis that I am doing. Sure, an' the oldwoman's been in here fer the last hour an' a half."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Good grazing for cattle, with plenty left over for hay, is what Coastal or Midland Bermuda grass can do for landowners in the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District, point out technicians of the local work unit.

They go on to say that if managed properly this grass will put pounds on beef cattle, milk in the cooler and hay in the barn . . . but to do this correct management is a must.

Grass should be on land that can be, or is, already fenced separately so that rotation grazing with other pasture can be carried out during the growing season.

Graze until the plants reach a minimum of five to six inches in height, then take the stock off and allow the plants to recover. Fertilize with a high nitrogen content fertilizer at least every other year. These are the musts if maximum production is to be realized from Coastal and Midland Bermuda.

These grasses are hybrids that have the ability to utilize large amounts of fertilizer and will yield 30 to 40 per cent more than common Bermuda when both are treated equally. But if a farmer or rancher is so situated that he cannot manage it correctly, he's just as well off planting common Bermuda.

Much interest has been generated in the planting of these grasses as is indicated by the number of cooperators who have been stopping in at the SCS office recently asking about planting methods, machines available, and so forth.

There are about as many ways to plant Coastal or Midland as there are farmers planting it. About 50 per cent of the plantings fail to get satisfactory cover simply because the effort to get it established is not enough.

Here are a few basic steps in planting and management that have resulted in good coverage and stands. First, prepare a good seedbed starting in the fall well ahead of planting. Best time to plant is March and April. Second, plant sprigs in a vertical position three to four inches deep and a portion above the ground. Third, plant sprigs which are freshly dug from fertilized soils. Fourth, plant in moist soil; don't gamble on a rain coming. Fifth keep down weeds by harrowing, cultivating or mowing. Sixth, rotate grazing with other pastures.

Tips From Your Hatchery

Phone 63
 Don't grab your shot gun if you see a Red Headed wood pecker drilling a hole in your shade tree. He really isn't drilling a hole, simply enlarging the tree bore hole that was there, and he will get the rasical out. Course, this will leave a bad wound in your tree and it should be repaired. Better plan is to spray those trees and eliminate those pests before damage is done.

Sure would give a good trade for some used milk cans, just so they will hold water. No, we are not expecting a drought, not this week. We need them to haul spray mixtures. Can't buy 'em but will swap chicks, dressed hens, or promises. See you next week.

NOTES FROM CITY LIBRARY

Muenster's City Library, sponsored by the local court Catholic Daughters of America, continues to grow and the past week saw many new titles added to the ever-growing number of volumes on the shelves.

More than fifty books came from Fort Worth as a gift from Msgr. Ernest Langenhorst's private library.

Among them is "A Thing of Beauty" by A. J. Cronin, Mrs. C. O. Taylor gave a brief review of the book at the CDA meeting Friday night.

Dr. Cronin, well known for "The Citadel" and "The Keys of the Kingdom", now writes of a great painter whose search for beauty led him to give up everything for art — family, friends, social position, career, and eventually his very life.

The story tells of the struggle, despair and ridicule that young Stephen Desmonde, son of a rector, endures for the sake of his art. Without the understanding, confidence and love of a young Cockney girl, whom he marries, he could not have found the peace and serenity that marked his greatest art creations.

This is a book adults will enjoy reading, a story they will remember.

Former Muensterites Mr. and Mrs. Troy Cooper who have been living in Sweetwater have moved to Big Spring to make their home since his transfer to Coahoma recently. Weekend visitors here from Fort Worth were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cole and three-month-old son Craig who were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cole.

Local Group Sees DU Student Play

Two groups, for a total of five from here, drove to Dallas to attend a student play at Dallas University Friday night. It was a pantomime in three acts entitled "Our Town", a Pulitzer Prize play and a terrific hit, skillfully enacted by the boys and girls who said never a word. A narrator told the story.

Ruth Endres was in charge of sound effects and Marye Weinzapfel was one of the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Endres and Miss Dorothy Hartman, and Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel and Mrs. M. J. Endres saw the presentation and said it was outstanding.

Mrs. Weinzapfel and Mrs. Endres stayed at the college overnight as Marye's guests. Before the play they visited the Leonard Endres family and on the way home the next day they stopped at Gainesville Sanitarium to visit patients from Muenster and Lindsay.

Inclement Weather Inspires Group To Work on Plastics

Winter weather which held many inside inspired plastic moulding work among a group of four friends and they turned out perfectly beautiful creations, mostly wall ornaments.

The quartet, Mrs. H. D. Cook, Mrs. Bill Lutkenhaus, Mrs. Roy Atteberry and Mrs. Jim Stephens, taught themselves and ended up doing near-professional looking pieces.

They spent whole days together in each other's homes, the hostess for the day preparing and serving dinner and they said it was so much fun. Their own homes have attractive accessories as a result and many of their friends have received gifts from them. Others, noticing the pretty plaques, and wanting to buy some, ended up by receiving them as presents. The ladies, who enjoyed their work as a hobby, "couldn't think of selling them."

The group started the project after Mrs. H. O. Atteberry and a friend, both of Bowie, visited Mrs. Roy Atteberry and showed her some things they had made as a club project.

After that the four secured moulds made of plastic and a special white powder, that's mixed with water, and went to work. Their collection includes kissing fish for the bathroom, fruit plaques for the dining room, horse heads, clusters of grapes, plates with flowers, and other designs for every room of the house. The finished product is fitted with a hanger and enameled to match or contrast with room decor.

with white people? Who can say that it is just for colored people as a race to demand equal rights to the fruits of white people's efforts? Or to disrupt society by demanding an immediate overthrow of generations of custom and tradition?

Many Negroes were making fine progress before the integration mess started. By deserving merit and effort they, as individuals, were advancing in personal attainments and prestige. They enjoyed life and took pride in their achievements. But they did not ask for more than they had earned. Furthermore they were aware of a Divinely created fundamental difference in the races and felt, as most white people do, that their association should be limited.

Then came the new way of thinking. Ambitious politicians seeking colored votes and corniving commies seeking national troubles joined with Negro leaders who were looking enviously at the attainments of Whites. Together they preached that white people should be forced to share the fruits of their efforts with negroes . . . in effect that people must not necessarily earn to attain.

Two big questions are implied in the race problem. Are Negroes rightfully entitled to all they ask for? Was the mixture of races intended in the Divine plan?
