

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1948

NUMBER 15

Last Thursday night at Gainesville some 300 persons left a chamber of commerce banquet convinced that they had just heard one of the foremost after dinner speakers of the country. James E. Gheen of New York had kept them entertained for a full hour and left them inspired to do bigger and better things for their community.

The fact that the man has delivered speeches at more than 900 such gatherings all over the United States gives some idea of his popularity, and the caliber of his speech Thursday night easily accounts for the popularity. He gave a generous serving of solid common sense most agreeably spiced by humor and interesting incidents.

Thanks to thoughtful friends of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, yours truly was privileged to be one of the guests, and before long found himself wishing he had a perfect memory and could transcribe the message verbatim to this column. A presentation of that collection of good ideas would undoubtedly be the best bit of community service this column has offered to date.

For one thing it might help induce people around here to do some thinking about a chamber of commerce of their own. A real chamber of commerce, that is, not a semi-social group of business men to get together for a lunch and back slapping every few weeks, but an active organization with a lively interest in community welfare and the spunk to get some real results.

As a matter of fact we already have quite a few of the essentials necessary for a good chamber of commerce. We have community pride, energy, ability, natural and financial resources... practically everything but organization and a program.

Muenster has made wonderful progress as a community of individuals doing things by and for themselves, but it could have accomplished ever so much more if those same individuals had united their energies and enthusiasms in pursuit of common goals, or if they had been inspired by greater civic pride to do a few more things for themselves.

Reducing generalities to cases, Muenster can boast far better than average activity and prosperity for a town of its size. The volume and variety of its business, the durability and beauty of its homes would do credit to a much larger place. As a community it includes farmers who diversify and improve, and individuals of various occupations who have the courage and foresight to invest in a more pleasant, more profitable future.

Muenster isn't lacking in means or spirit. That is evident because it has already done very well through the uncoordinated efforts of its individuals. But it is lacking in organization.

It is neglecting some things which are nobody's business because they should be everybody's business.

It is ignoring some conditions and passing up some opportunities because it does not have the spark of enthusiasm that grows in an active, civic minded group.

It is wasting time on even the generally recognized needs because it lacks the programs, the plans and the financial means to forge ahead.

This is not intended to imply that forming a chamber of commerce would absolutely assure all the improvements we'd like to see for Muenster. Not by a long shot. Such a step would only be a beginning. But at least it would be that much, a definite step in a definite direction instead of the aimless stumbling we do now.

Before wondering too much if and how we can get certain things done, we might think also about some of the inducement for getting them done.

Better health facilities result in less suffering, less cost and greater usefulness per individual. Better recreational facilities mean more enjoyment and better physical development. Better schools improve children's chances for a happy successful future.

Better stores, better streets, better values, better service, all add to the pleasure of doing business and attract the extra margin of wealth which determines real prosperity. Better homes, better parks, better churches and public buildings, add up to more beauty, more comfort and more pride. Better opportunities in business, profession, trade or industry present an inducement

MAP TIDELANDS STRATEGY—State officials and congressmen are shown as they mapped their strategy for committee hearings on legislation to clear state titles to submerged lands. Seated left to right are Price Daniel, Attorney General of Texas; Minority Leader Sam Rayburn, and Nebraska Attorney General Walter R. Johanson. Standing are Judge Robert Lee Bobbitt, Chairman of the Texas State Bar Tidelands Committee, Attorney General Fred Howser of California, and Congressman J. M. Combs and Ed Gossett of Texas. The hearings were under way this week before joint sub-committees of the US Congress House and Senate judiciary committees. Forty-four states are supporting the legislation.

George Swirczynski Uninjured as Bridge Folds Under Truck

George Swirczynski was slightly shaken but unhurt Sunday morning about 9:30 when the trailer truck he was driving collapsed a bridge and settled with it 35 feet to the bed of Elm creek 12 miles southeast of Gainesville.

The truck was Steve Pette's and the load was the mast of Voth Brothers drilling rig which was being moved to the Clint Jacobs farm near Pilot Point. Combined weight of the truck and load, Pette said, was slightly less than 24,000.

Neither truck nor equipment was seriously damaged by the fall in which the truck finally toppled over on its side spilling the load beside it. Bulldozers hauled to the scene improvised a trail on the creek bank up which the mast and truck were pulled separately by winch trucks. The mast was hauled to its destination and the truck, which had been dunked in the creek, was towed to Muenster for a check-up and clean-up.

Deputy Sheriff A.E. Coeburn, Ranger Lewis Rigler and County Jailor Ben Butler, who investigated the accident, said that it would take two to three months to repair the bridge. It had originally been built in 1891. The damaged portion measures 126 feet on the bridge and 18 feet on an approach. An approach approximately 100 feet long on the opposite side remains standing.

FREDDIE HENNIGAN'S BIRD HOUSE WINS IN BOY SCOUT CONTEST

Freddie Joe Hennigan received top honors on his bird house made recently during a handiwork contest in which all 14 members of Boy Scout Troop 164 took part. Scoutmaster Nick Miller announced Tuesday. Henry Weinzapfel's work won second place and Larry Hoffbauer's third.

The work was on display at Monday night's meeting and was judged by Bill Hoffman and John Tempel.

The scouting program will now turn to out door activity Scoutmaster Miller said. During the bad weather carving and woodwork kept the boys occupied.

Father Herman Laux, Father Andrew Wever and members of the scouting committee were guests at the meeting.

After adjourning the Scouts enjoyed a theatre party at the Relax.

Pastors Participate In Ground Breaking Ceremony For Gainesville School

Rev. Fathers Herman Laux and Andrew Wever were in Gainesville Sunday afternoon to participate in ground-breaking services for the new $65,000 Saint Mary's School in Gainesville. The new structure is to be located in the 800 block on North Weaver street. Several dozen Muenster persons attended the ceremony.

BRING TITLE AND OLD RECEIPT TO GET CAR LICENSE, HELM URGES

With half of the car registration period already passed and fewer than 20 per cent of the license plates issued, personnel of the county tax office are bracing themselves for the annual rush that is expected to pick up momentum from now until the end of March.

The figures show 850 license plates for passenger cars during February and the total for the year, according to last year's records, will be slightly more than 5000. The percentage of truck license plates issued is about the same.

Entering the rush period Tax Collector M.L. Helm this week issued a reminder that persons seeking their new license plates bring along their car title and last year's license receipt. By doing so they will enable the office to render faster and more accurate service. These two papers have all the required data and save the time of checking back through the county's records.

In many cases the papers are essential. If a car were previously registered in another county the office has no records or if the car were purchased last year the county record would not show the car title number but only the application for title. The old tax receipt is needed because its number must appear on the new receipt.

Even though the tax office has the necessary information in most cases, Helm urges people to bring in their titles and old receipts. By doing so they can save time and sometimes also avoid repeating former mistakes.

WEEK OF MARCH 15-20 DESIGNATED AS ANNUAL SPRING CLEANUP WEEK

The week of March 15 through 20 will be Annual Spring Cleanup Week in Muenster, members of the city council decided at their meeting Monday night.

The city will furnish a truck to haul trash the latter part of the week and officials urge all citizens to cooperate by cleaning their premises the first three days and have cans and other rubbish boxed or sacked and placed at curbs by Thursday. There will be no hauling charge to residents within the city limits.

If rain should prevent hauling that weekend the truck will make the rounds as soon as possible after the weather clears.

CITY COUNCIL ORDERS PAINT ON CURBS AT NON-PARKING SPOTS

Continuing their efforts to reduce traffic and parking hazards in Muenster members of the city council agreed Monday night to put orange paint on the curbs at restricted zones, which include fire plugs and the theatre and church entrances. Also included in their plan is regulation of Sunday traffic at the church.

Andrew Harrison, city marshal, reported to the council that he had made 34 arrests for traffic law violations during February. Twenty two of the offenses were speeding.

Woodrow U. Clegg Will Be Candidate For District Clerk

Woodrow U. Clegg, well known Gainesville man has authorized the Enterprise to formally announce his candidacy for district clerk in the forthcoming Democratic primaries.

Mr. Clegg solicits the vote and active support of every citizen of Cooke county in his campaign for the office he seeks, and if elected, says he will show his appreciation by close attention to the duties of the office and courtesy at all times to those with whom he transacts business.

Mr. Clegg was born near Dexter in the northeast part of the county, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.P. Clegg, who still reside in that community. He is 30 years of age.

He attended the public school at Dexter and was graduated from Gainesville high school in 1935. He enlisted in the navy at the age of 18 and received an honorable discharge after serving four years. During that period, his duties as an aircraft radioman and communication office work enabled him to obtain the position of chief clerk-radio operator with the immigration and naturalization service at Del Rio, Tex., after his discharge from the service. When world war II started, his previous military and radio duties enabled him to receive a commission in the U.S. army and he was made an instructor at Kelly Field.

Mr. Clegg was married to Miss Marcella Burrow in 1942 and they have a four-year-old son. They own their home in Gainesville.

Mr. Clegg has never been a candidate for public office before. He states he needs the office and is seeking election primarily because of this, but at the same time he wants to be of public service to the people of the county where he has lived and has the necessary education and experience to qualify him for the office.

He is now a deputy in the sheriff's office, has worked hard and has many friends. His friends believe he deserves promotion which the office he seeks affords. He is asking that his candidacy be given the fullest consideration of every citizen, whose vote and influence he earnestly solicits and will greatly appreciate.

2 FEBRUARY 29 BABIES BORN HERE THIS YEAR

Two babies, both girls, were born in Muenster on Sunday, February 29, Leap Year day.

At 7:30 a.m. an eight-pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pels at the local clinic. She has been named Carol Ann and is the fifth child and second girl in the Pels family. Mrs. Pels is the former Miss Genevieve Yosten.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Patrick became the parents of a seven-pound, 11-ounce daughter, born at the local clinic at 5 p.m. She is their first child and has been named Jayn. Mrs. Patrick is the former Miss Nina Faye Hammer.

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS CONDUCT SURVEY FOR PAVEMENT ON MAIN

Engineers of the state highway department paid another visit to Muenster last week to get additional data on the Main Street pavement project which will be included in the five and one half mile farm to market road leading north out of town.

According to a report received by Mayor J. M. Weinzapfel from the Gainesville office of the highway department, work on the road is due to begin before July 1.

Hoffman Requests Cooperation in '48 Scholastic Census

Starting his annual scholastic census for the Muenster school district Wednesday afternoon, John Hoffman, superintendent of the local school, requested all parents of the district to cooperate with him in preparing the report as quickly and accurately as possible.

With the $55 per capita allotment now in effect it is important the district receive credit for every child of scholastic age, Hoffman stated.

The scholastic age, he explained, includes children who will be at least 6 years old but not over 18 years old on September 1, 1948. If any doubt exists about the scholastic status of a child the parent is urged to have data on its birth available for Hoffman to check.

Parents can help a great deal also by preparing reports in advance on their scholastic age children. In some cases such reports would save the time of consulting other records, in some cases it would enable some other members of the family to give the report when the father or mother is absent.

Hoffman stated he expected the district's new census to be approximately the same as last year, when he recorded a total of 505. The first taken since consolidation with Hays, it was Muenster's largest to date. Deadline for completion of the census is April 1.

News Of Sick And Injured

Cecil Cain went to McKinney for treatment at the Veterans' Hospital, Monday.

Frank Bayer had his tonsils removed at M & S hospital Friday and has recovered satisfactorily.

Miss Angela Laake was confined to bed several days this week suffering from a stomach ailment.

Ed Rohmer has his left foot in a cast since he broke his big toe Thursday afternoon of last week. The accident occurred when Rohmer dropped a truck axle on his foot.

Mrs. Callie Baumhardt is a patient at Wichita General hospital for treatment since Tuesday and is expected to return home this weekend. Her son, L.H. Baumhardt and wife took her to Wichita Falls.

Henry Weinzapfel is recovering nicely from a throat irritation as the result of swallowing a fish bone Monday noon. Examination by a throat specialist gave assurance that the bone was not in the throat but had injured tender membranes when swallowed.

Miss Alvina Derichsweller is still confined to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Derichsweller, suffering from rheumatism in her feet and legs. The ailment began last week and she was up and around Saturday, apparently recovered, then had a recurrence of the ailment Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McDaniel visited in Era Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Barney Samek and family.

Ralph C. Richards, 48, prominent in local oil field activity for the past 12 years, died Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock at the Medical and Surgical hospital in Gainesville from gunshot wounds received shortly before midnight Monday when he entered the home of another person in Gainesville.

Earlier Monday Richards had moved from Muenster to 1202 N. Clements Street and when going home that night entered the house at 1208 N. Clements which is occupied by Robert C. Pence a Gainesville business man. In the shooting which followed Richards was hit by three .22 caliber bullets, one entering his right shoulder, another his left side under the arm and the third striking his left forearm.

Going directly to his home he remained there until 11:15 the following morning when he went to the hospital on the advice of his attending physician. Ambulance attendants said that he walked from his house to the ambulance.

A report from the hospital early Tuesday afternoon described his condition as critical. Two of the bullets had pierced his lungs.

In a statement to the Gainesville Register Robert Pence explained that he heard an intruder in the room of his little daughter, and by the time he obtained his .22 pistol the intruder had gone out the front door. He said as the intruder left the front steps he fired three shots which did not fell the fleeing figure.

Funeral 3:30 Thursday
Funeral services will be held at 3:30 Thursday afternoon, at the George J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home in Gainesville, Rev. John Rice of the Whaley Memorial Methodist church officiating, according to a report Wednesday by the funeral home. Pallbearers are John Demory and John Ezell of Gainesville and Harry Otto, John Wieler, T.M. Hammer and Steve Pette of Muenster.

Ralph Richards was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Richards of 1023 E. Broadway, Gainesville. He was born June 24, 1899, at Mayburg, Penna., and came to Gainesville with his parents in 1923. While there he was married to Mrs. Ruth Bentley.

A partner in the oil drilling business organized by his father, Richards became active in the Muenster oil field in 1936 and moved here with his family shortly afterward. He moved back to Gainesville Monday, the day of the shooting.

Survivors are his parents, his wife, two step-sons, Chester and Carl Bentley and a step-daughter, Miss Joyce Bentley.

PARISH WILL RAISE FUNDS NEXT SUNDAY FOR EUROPEAN RELIEF

Next Sunday, March 7, is the day for the Sacred Heart parish's annual big drive for European war relief.

In announcing the date at services last Sunday Father Herman Laux read letters from Bishop Lynch and the National Catholic Welfare Council emphasizing the widespread prevalence of starvation, disease and exposure still existing in Europe. Though no goal was set Father Herman expressed the hope that the figure would compare favorably with last year's, which was over $800.

Donations of food and clothing other times during the year supplemented the cash offering.

Money raised in the drive will be submitted to the National Catholic Welfare Council for distribution through its channels.

CITY RETAINS $1.50 TAX RATE FOR 1948

Last year's city tax rate of $1.50 per $100 worth of valuation will continue through this year, according to a decision made by the city council in its monthly meeting Monday night. The figure includes 95 cents for the general fund and 55 cents for the sewer fund.

Mrs. Cecil Cain assisted with duties at Frank's Cafe this week.

Family Reunion Honors Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman On Fortieth Anniversary

A family reunion and buffet supper Sunday complimented Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman in observance of their 40th wedding anniversary. The party was given in the home of the honor couple's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Endres, and guests included children and grandchildren, brothers and sisters of the honorees.

The refreshment table held a large decorated cake and Mr. and Mrs. Hartman were presented with a shower of gifts. After the meal informal diversion and visiting were enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartman were married here forty years ago and have resided here since. They make their home on a farm southeast of the city and Mr. Hartman is assistant postmaster at the Muenster postoffice. Mrs. Hartman was Miss Lena Hess before her marriage. They have seven children, all of whom were present for the reunion with the exception of Miss Loretta Hartman, a student nurse in Dallas, and ten grandchildren.

Enjoying the evening were Messrs. and Mmes. Al Walter and family, Albert Danglmayr, Arthur Endres and daughters, Herman Hartman and sons, Miss Dorothy Hartman, Leonard Hartman, Messrs. and Mmes. Victor Hartman, Joe Vogel, Felix Becker, Frank Klement, Frank Hess, Joe Walterscheid, J.W. Hess and Mrs. Wm. Walterscheid and Dr. and Mrs. T.S. Myrick.

Carelessness, Ignorance Are Principal Causes Of Communicable Diseases

Austin, Texas — "Carelessness and ignorance represent two of the most powerful factors in spreading communicable disease from man to man. No more emphatic example of this fact exists than the continued ravages of tuberculosis. In spite of the knowledge of its causes and spread, and of curative methods, tuberculosis is still a very serious problem not only in Texas, but throughout the United States," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"It is true that tuberculosis no longer is first on the list of killing diseases as it was formerly," Dr. Cox said, "but despite having been reduced to fifth place in Texas, it still is responsible for more deaths between the ages of fifteen and forty-five than any other disease. And this fact exists even though the majority of tuberculosis patients could have their condition arrested if it were recognized early and proper treatment applied."

"Treatment of the early recognized case is essential. It is of equal importance, from a public health viewpoint, that the spread of this devastating infection be prevented. A more intelligent appreciation of this fact would result in the saving of thousands of lives."

By Maurice R. Franks

(Editor's Note: Maurice R. Franks is National Business Agent of the Railroad Yardmasters of North America, Inc., and Editor of the Railroad Workers Journal and Partners Magazine.)

The picture of labor and management ascending two parallel ladders of inflation and hammering each other with every weapon at their command as they race blindly into the clouds must be erased from our vision. In its place for all eyes to behold must come the true picture of labor and management, the twin partners of industry, supporting on their shoulders the figure of production as they march forward into a new era of peace and plenty.

For production — high production — can be counted upon to preserve us a nation.

Because labor and management are not cold forces activating the industrial machine, but forces basically and responsively human, the laws which govern them in their present paradise of common enterprise are not mathematical formulas — they are all summed up in the Golden Rule.

Bearing well in mind all that this fundamental law of decent human conduct implies, we cannot escape the conclusion, based upon experience, that here as elsewhere, crime does not pay.

And it is a crime when management, through avariciousness, seeks to make a dollar at the expense of the workers' well-being by operating a business in such manner that the worker is not properly compensated for his labor and is thus deprived of his rightful share from the partnership. It is unlawful when management arrogantly assumes the attitude that labor will do its bidding or starve to death.

And on the other hand, it is equally unlawful when labor, through unions, makes selfish, unreasonable and unjust demands upon its partner, the employer, to the extent that the health of his business is jeopardized. It is unlawful for labor to refuse to put in an honest day's work for an honest day's pay by slowing down on the job. It is also unlawful when labor befools its sacred last resort — the right to strike — by wielding it as a weapon of highway robbery on the slightest provocation.

And in the final analysis, it is doubly unlawful when labor and management — either one or both — bring penalty upon the innocent bystander, the public, as a result of their abuse of the function of collective bargaining.

But neither management nor labor is organized for purposes of crime. Most hearts on both sides of industry are loyal to our American ideals and seek to cooperate in the preservation of free enterprise. In that single fact lies our only hope of economic salvation.

Labor on the one hand and capital on the other are fortunate in the powerful organizations they have been able to develop through the years. These organizations are in their essence sound and make for greater social efficiency. Once all are rid of those whose outside loyalties contaminate the purposes for which both labor and management are organized, the path for real progress will be cleared, the important step taken — the coming together in all their strength and glory of management and men in a spirit of constructive amity.

A challenge to our way of life has been levelled. But being who and what we are — Americans — we, the worker and the businessman, will join forces to meet this challenge and will march forward side by side into the truly golden future which lies before us, in every sense true PARTNERS.

CARELESSNESS KILLS 100,000 AND INJURES 10 MILLION IN 1947

The National Safety Council has just made its annual ugly report.

Last year accidents killed 100,000. This was 22,000 more than The Bomb killed at Hiroshima.

Injured were 10,500,000, equal to the combined populations of New York City and Chicago.

The cost was $6,700,000,000, or as much as expenditures of the whole Federal Government from 1906 to 1916.

Home accidents, like falling in a bathtub, killed 33,500. This was 1,500 more than the traffic fatalities. Ninety per cent of the former and 85 per cent of the latter could have been prevented.

The most expensive human quality is still carelessness. Careless talk, careless living, the careless act and careless disposition have left disappointment and wreckage that can not be measured. All of us are guilty. Adam was the first, and unabated the toll continues. The more civilized, or progressive, society becomes, the worse is this incurable frailty. — Dallas News

GIFT OF GOD

Our own doctrine of natural rights, set forth in the Constitution and Declaration of Independence, holds that each and every one of us — regardless of color, creed or birth — has certain inalienable rights. They are inalienable for one reason only: because they are the endowment of the Creator.

If the day ever comes when the men and women of our Western Civilization desert completely the historic concept of man as a child of God with free will and an immortal soul — if the day comes, in short, when we, too, go over to "scientific materialism" — on that day not all our oil or gold in the ground, nor our assembly lines, nor our air forces, nor our navies, nor sole possession of the atomic bomb, shall save us. On that day freedom will perish in the totalitarian night of the world.

Lincoln was right to remind us that it is only "under God" that this nation, or any nation, can be free.

ARMY DISCONTINUES SEARCH FOR SOLDIERS IN INDIA-BURMA JUNGLE

Washington, D. C. — The jungles of India and Burma will hide forever the story of what happened to 1,636 American soldiers in World War II.

The army said Saturday the American Graves Registration Service has suspended further search for the bodies of fliers and other American military personnel after more than two years of intensive probing in the wild hinterland.

Many of the 1,636 men who "failed to arrive at destinations" were Air Force crews believed to have crashed on inaccessible mountain peaks or in jungles seldom if ever traveled by humans.

The army said that to continue the searches "would require personnel to subject themselves again to perilous missions which have previously met with no success."

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To: Albert Morris defendant, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court of Cooke County at the Court House thereof, in Gainesville, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 12th day of April A.D. 1948, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 27th day of February A.D. 1948, in this cause, numbered 15187 on the docket of said court and styled Opal Mae Morris Plaintiff vs. Albert Morris Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

A suit for divorce from the bonds of matrimony, plaintiff alleging that they were married on or about the 28th day of January A.D. 1947 and continued to live together as husband and wife until on or about the 28th day of March A.D. 1947, when by reason of harsh and cruel treatment on the part of defendant toward plaintiff they were permanently separated, for change of her name from Opal Mae Morris to Opal Mae Esch, and for general and special relief, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Gainesville, Texas this the 27th day of February A. D. 1948.

Attest:

Pictured here is a revolutionary method of shifting 10 tons of merchandise from a flat car to a motor-truck trailer in a transportation experiment now being conducted by the Illinois Central Railroad between Chicago and Memphis. The service coordinates rail and highway transport on a door-to-door basis through the use of an aluminum container and equipment developed by the Reynolds Metals Company. Two containers can be loaded on a standard flat car. Transfer from truck to car (and vice versa) can be handled by one man through mechanism built in the container, together with winch and ram device on the trailer.

The Real Problem

A stranger was standing on the platform of a small town railroad station when the Northern express flashed past. Into the whirl of dust raised by the train leaped the stationmaster's dog, and tore madly up the track in pursuit.

"Does your dog always chase the trains?" asked the stranger.

"Yes, Sir," said the stationmaster, he chases every train that goes through here."

"Why do you suppose he does it?" asked the stranger.

"That ain't what worries me," said the stationmaster. "What worries me is, what's he going to do with it if he ever catches it?"

Everyone can give pleasure in some way. One person may do it coming into a room, and another by going out.

Triumph of Education

A certain sports writer referred to a well known prize fighter in terms the fighter didn't like. So when he met the writer he jumped all over him. "You called me a dumb ox, and for that I'm going to beat your face in," said the wrathful fighter. "I said it, and I reiterate it," said the writer. The fighter cooled off visibly. "That's different," he said. "In that case I'll overlook the insult. But don't think for a minute that an apology will get you off if you call me names again."

FERDALE, CALIFORNIA—Silken Lady's Ruby of F., a registered Jersey cow owned by the estate of the late J. W. Coppini of Ferndale, has become the official World Champion Lifetime Butterfat Producer of all breeds. Her production of 166,020 lbs. milk and 9,165 lbs. butterfat was recorded under supervision of The University of California and has been officially verified by The American Jersey Cattle Club. Ruby ascended to the championship of the United States a year ago. Her production of 10,032 lbs. milk and 615 lbs. butterfat, during the 12 months intervening, surpasses her nearest rival for official World honors by 103 lbs. butterfat. If all Ruby's milk had been churned it would have produced approximately 10,782 lbs. of butter. Packaged in standard one pound prints and stacked on end, this would make a tower of butter more than three and one-half times higher than the world's tallest structure, the Empire State Building. At the present rate of butter consumption in the United States, this would furnish a year's supply of butter for a town of nearly 1,000 people.

A LANDOWNER'S RESPONSIBILITY

(Farm and Ranch)

Under the law, an owner of land can do with it what he pleases, provided he does not create a nuisance or interfere with rights of others. The exception to this statement is in incorporated cities where zoning is practiced. A person owning farm land can exploit the soil, permit it to erode or let it grow up to brush and weeds. The only legal responsibility he assumes is paying the taxes assessed against the land.

There is, however, a moral responsibility attached to the ownership of land. It is recognized by many landowners, but many others, either through indifference, ignorance or a habit of delaying action, are losing their invested capital and are robbing posterity. One man wrote Farm and Ranch as follows:

"I know that my land is washing away, but I am getting along in years and I don't give a damn what happens to it after I am gone." We do not know, but that man may be asked to give an account of his stewardship after he leaves this world. Others laugh off a suggestion posterity has rights by saying, "Posterity never did anything for me. Why should I worry?"

Every landowner should be made to realize that as far as he is personally concerned, his warranty deed is no more than a short-term lease, and that, in the end, all of the land he is entitled to is about 6x3x6 feet in size.

At the rate that we are exploiting our soil, it will not be many years before the United States will be importing food-stuffs instead of exporting them. The life of this nation, the lives of our citizens and of all other countries, depend upon the soil. If our children and our grandchildren are to live comfortable, happy lives, we must put forth a greater effort to hold the soil remaining to us and to improve its productive capacity.

SCIENCE IMMUNIZES MICE AGAINST CANCER

Philadelphia, Pa., — Mice can be immunized against some types of cancer and scientists are studying ways of applying the same methods to human beings, Lankenau Hospital physicians reported Saturday.

"I have immunized mice," said Dr. Hugh J. Crech. "There is no question about that."

He added however, that the multiple starches (polysaccharides) used to immunize the mice "still fell short of what is needed for effective clinical use."

Dr. Crech, head of the department of chemotherapy and immunochemistry of the hospital's institute for cancer research, said starch immunization experiments have been made on about 100 persons and added:

"So far as human beings are concerned, theoretically we should be able to immunize against cancer as we do against smallpox or diphtheria."

"But there is no way of knowing what humans require immunization or against what agents."

The statement came as the institute received $100,000 from the American Cancer Society to further experiments aimed at a cancer cure.

NEW YORKER DELIVERS
INSPIRING PEP TALK TO GAINESVILLE C-C

About 300 persons at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet in Gainesville last Thursday night heard James E. Gheen,

New York public relations counselor, deliver an inspiring and entertaining plea for greater community pride, enthusiasm and effort.

"Your chamber of commerce has work to do," he said, "as long as there is any one thing about your city for which you need to apologize". He explained that even though specific projects are included in the province of religious, educational, recreational, or commercial groups, the chamber of commerce can and should coordinate its efforts to assist the other groups.

Mr. Gheen held his audience spellbound for an hour as he drew on a remarkable array of facts and humorous anecdotes to show that "you can make your city what you want it to be." He named at least a dozen cities that had become outstanding in one or several respects because the inhabitants of those cities had decided what they wanted and were willing to spend the time, work and money to bring their plans to reality.

He defined a chamber of commerce as "a force in the community so organized that you have the talent to investigate, vigor to enunciate and strength to promote the health, beauty, intelligence and business of the community."

In addition to about 250 members and wives the gathering included visitors from about a dozen cities of North Texas. Muenster was represented by Mr. and Mrs. L.H. Baumhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hellman, J.M. Weinzaepfel, Earl Fisher, Herbert Meurer and R.N. Fette. They were the guests of F.E. Schmitz, the Gainesville banks and the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's missus finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion... ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportcasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right.

Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.

But from where I sit, those little differences aren't important—unless we go out of our way to make them so, by being hypercritical. As Will says now: "Well, anyway, those long skirts hide a multitude of shins"... and lets it go at that!

LINDSAY FARMERS MEET TO COORDINATE CONSERVATION PLANS

The North Lindsay conservation group met at the hall in Lindsay Wednesday night, February 25, at 7:30. The establishment of pasture strips to be used as terrace outlets by seeding or sodding Bermuda and Buffalo grass was discussed. During the discussion which was led by Jack McFerran, Work Unit Conservationist, Gainesville, emphasis was placed on the control of competing vegetation such as Johnsongrass and sunflowers by grazing and mowing.

Seedbed preparation, time of planting and rate of planting of each grass were brought out in the course of the discussion. The use of sweet clover as a soil building, grazing and hay crop was also brought out. Stress was placed on Madrid Clover because of its superior hay and grazing qualities in addition to its quality to other varieties in soil building.

Albert Kubis, who has had experience in growing sweet clover stated in the meeting, "I have noted that there is a very decided increase in yield on the crop following sweet clover and that in seed bed preparation the land where sweet clover has been grown always plows easier." It was brought out that it is safe to overseed any of the sweet clovers including Hubam, Biennial White and Madrid up to the middle of March and to plant any of them alone up to the first of April. It was agreed that the sweet clovers should be inoculated and that it is a good practice to apply about 200 pounds superphosphate at planting time.

Members of the group present, all cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District, were Herman Zimmerer, Albert Kubis, Jake Kuhn, Philip Metzler, Henry Zimmerer, Vincent Zimmerer, Ed Schad and Leo Neusch. Also present were Jake Bezner, Joe Bengfort, Walter Nortman and Gregg Gentry and Paul Kenner, the latter two Soil Conservation Service technicians from the Gainesville Work Unit.

After the meeting Mr. Nortman made application to the district supervisors for planning assistance and aid in carrying out a complete conservation program on his farm.

for talented youngsters to stay at home and add their bit to community progress instead of seeking greener pastures elsewhere.

In a few words, we want Muenster to be a more pleasant and more profitable town in which to live. We want to be proud of it. We want the youngsters to be so sold on it that they won't want to leave. We want friends outside to think of it as the town where they're most pleased to do business.

It's a big order, all right, but not too big if we decide we really want to tackle it.
