Effects of Severe Winter Still Evident In Local Milk Yield

Something we'd like to know is who's the bigger man, John L. or Uncle Sam? Does the scowling guy with the big bushy brows actually have enough power to defy the whole nation and get away with it?

The verdict handed down last Tuesday sets a new record for official weakness and Judge Goldsborough minced no words in explaining that the executive department of our government is responsible for the shameful leniency of the sentence.

Imagine, one man breaks a contract and precipitates a strike that throws the entire country into a state of semi-paralysis, and his penalty is a puny fine. Even while the trial is in progress, while the verdict and sentence are being deliberated, he has members coercing the court and the government with the threat of another walkout.

As this is written the affair is still unsettled, and that in itself is an indication that John L. and the boys are considering another round of defiance. It indicates also that our government still hasn't made up its mind to deal firmly.

As Judge Goldsborough pointed out, this affair does not concern the miners' right to their demands, nor even their disregard for the existing contract. What counts is that our government asked Lewis to send the men back to work and he refused "to do it. There never was a more clear-cut case of contempt. There never was a man who more justly deserved the full penalty of the law.

Considered from any angle this stunt rates as one of the worst pieces of bungling in the administration's history. It was bad ethically, economically and politically. It gave the demands of thousands a priority over the rights of millions. It set our industrial program months behind schedule. It disgusted millions of voters while pampering the thousands.

A person doesn't have to be a slave labor advocate, he doesn't have to violate a single principle of democracy to hold that there are times when people simply do not have a right to strike. When the government of officially states that the welfare of the nation is at stake the individual's right becomes secondary. His first duty is to continue working. Meanwhile the government has a corresponding duty to give his problem fair consideration and settlement.

What's to keep the administration from working on that principle? The day the miners quit work it had the right to issue its ultimatum and the authority to see that it was observed. Instead it asked the chief problem boy to handle the affair and sat helpless when he refused. Now it's even afraid to punish him, afraid his friends will start some more trouble.

No less distasteful than administrative weakness was the miners' implied reflection on administrative integrity. Officials tried to settle the problem properly but John L. and the boys would not trust them for a fair decision... or perhaps they were not satisfied with a fair decision. They elected to sit tight until they got things their way. Their attitude was insulting and the administration did not even express resentment at the insult.

All in all it's been quite a fiasco. No wonder Stalin has been able to convince some American weaklings that democracy can't stand the strain. He'll get more and more believers too until we get statesmen who can measure up to the standards of democracy.

TAX CUT EFFECTIVE, PAY CHECKS WILL BE BIGGER AFTER MAY 1

First shipment of the new withholding tax schedules has arrived in Dallas and will be mailed to employers within a few days. Kirby H. Jackson, chief office deputy of the Internal Revenue Department, said Monday.

Jackson said that 15,000 of the new schedules have been received, but 50,000 more will be required to cover all employers in this district affected by withholding taxes.

Collector John B. Dunlap said that workers' checks on and after May 1 will show the extra dollars in the income tax cut authorized recently by Congress.

The slump in cheese production which continued through and since the severe winter months is being somewhat relieved lately by the occasional arrival of surplus milk from Wichita Falls and Duncan, Okla.

During the past two weeks, Manager Rudy Hellman stated, the plant has received about 73,000 pounds of outside milk but in spite of that is running far below last year's average. Comparative figures for March '47 and '48 are 1,550,000 and 1,105,000. For February of the two years they were 1,285,000 and 874,000. Higher local production and receipts of outside milk both account for the greater volume in 1947.

The shortage is not local, Hellman explained, but typical of a condition that exists all over the United States. Severe weather along with poor grazing and a general feed storage reduced productivity at the time and left cattle in a poorer physical condition so that they responded more slowly to the improved spring temperature and grazing.

Figures given by Bookkeeper Joe Horn reveal, however, that local herds are well on their way back to normal. The rate of increase for the past two weeks has averaged about 500 pounds a day, and Monday's total was slightly more than 48,000, only 1,500 less than for the corresponding date last year. Similar increases elsewhere account for the surplus now being received from Wichita Falls and Duncan.

Notes On Soil Conservation

J.H. Fields, Saint Jo group, is leading Saint Jo ranchers in range conservation work. Mr. Fields states "Last week I finished cross fencing my 1200 acres of pasture to concentrate grazing on the west side of this pasture where grass has been properly utilized in the past. I plan to rotate my grazing to allow the more heavily grazed pastures to reseed and improve stands of native bluestem grass". Mr. Fields carries one animal unit to 15 acres and believes this stocking rate will raise more pounds of beef per acre with less capital investment, and at the same time improve grass and soil. He has all of his cropland in legume crops of vetch, alfalfa, and Madrid clover, to supplement permanent pasture. V.W. Redman, district supervisor, of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District states, "Grass is the stockman's real cash crop. Livestock are actually grass stored on the hoof in the form of meat. Grass is more than that; it is erosion control". Other cooperators in the Saint Jo group who are rotating grazing on schedule are, Phillips Bros., Redman Bros., H.D. Fields Jr., Earl Giles and John Moss.

Earl Giles, Saint Jo conservation group, constructed 2240 feet of diversion terraces to protect bottomland fields. Ben Fleitman, Myra Conservation group, recently completed 1600 feet of diversion terrace also.

Johnnie Bayer and Joe Starke have finished construction of farm ponds. The Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District will place orders to secure fish, such as bass, bream, and channel cat to stock new ponds. Any co-operator interested in securing fish should place orders at the soil conservation headquarters in Muenster.

Paul Fisher, group leader seeded 20 acres of grass last week, five acres of weeping love grass and two acres of little bluestem on land that had a crop of vetch and rye turned under as a green manure crop. Love grass and bluestem were planted in 3 foot rows to be cultivated. Bermuda grass seeded and sodded will be grazed and mowed to keep down competition. Other cooperators who planted Bermuda grass last week are Joe Fisher, Felix Becker, Werner Endres, Al Wiesman, C.M. Walterscheid and John Fleitman.

Miss Fannie Entrekin of Gainesville spent the weekend as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Klement.

MOWER PLANT TO HAVE DISPLAY AT FT. WORTH INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION

A Muenster industry will be among those represented at the Southwest Industrial Exposition at Fort Worth from May 30 to June 6.

The exposition, the first to be held in the Southwest, is sponsored by manufacturers of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana.

ESSAY WINNERS WILL DO THE GUESSING IN TALKING MAN CONTEST

With approximately $500 worth of merchandise, service and cash offered as a starter Cooke county's "Talking Man" Contest will get under way at the State Theatre in Gainesville Thursday night.

It is conducted somewhat on the order of recent nationally famous guessing contests. Each Thursday night, until identified, the voice of a Gainesville business man will be heard from a record at the theatre and guesses are allowed to the persons submitting the three best essays on "The Benefits Gainesville Merchants and the people of Cooke County will receive from the Sweeny Diabetic Hospital." First, second and third guess winners will be called for their guesses from the stage of the theatre and if not present will be called on their home telephones. More prizes will be offered each week the contest continues.

Entrance essays are to be mailed to the "Talking Man" % Gainesville Chamber of Commerce. Contributions to the Sweeny Foundation may be enclosed with the essay.

$252,000 IS COUNTY'S QUOTA IN CURRENT SECURITY LOAN DRIVE

A quota of $252,000 has been set for Cooke county in the Security Loan campaign, April 15 through June 30, R.W. (Pete) Briscoe, county Savings Bonds chairman, announced today after receiving the figure from the U. S. Treasury Department.

"This the highest quota we have received since the war," Mr. Briscoe said, "but the threat that today's peacetime inflation offers to our personal and national economic security makes it vital that we achieve the objective. I have no doubt that this county can and will meet the quota."

Virginia Nunley and Norman Luke of Muenster are among the 524 junior and senior students of North Texas State College who have been named to the dean's honor list for the spring semester. To qualify students must have a "B" average, with no grade lower than a "C". Miss Nunley is a business administration major, and Norman Luke is a junior business major. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nunley and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Luke.

H.E. 'Lije' McElreath Enters Precinct 4 Commissioner Race

H.E. (Lije) McElreath, of the Sivells Bend community, has authorized announcement of his candidacy for county commissioner of precinct 4, Cooke county, in the Democratic primaries to be held next July 24.

Mr. McElreath is 40 years old. He was born and reared at Marysville and has spent a greater portion of his life in that community. When Camp Howze was built during the recent war, Mr. McElreath's farm was taken over by the government and he moved to Sivells Bend.

"Lije," as he is familiarly known to hundreds of citizens, has engaged in farming and trading during his adult life and has demonstrated his business qualifications in that respect.

Looking forward to the time when he might serve his community and the county, as a commissioner, Mr. McElreath spent two years as an employe of the late Ferd Pierce, commissioner of precinct 4, helping construct rural roads and other types of work, and he worked at intervals two additional years for Mr. Pierce. This experience, he is convinced, would prove of value to the taxpayers and the citizenship generally, in that he could enter upon his duties without having to spend several months becoming acquainted with them, as would be necessary, had he not gained the earlier knowledge.

A believer in good roads and bridges, as well as economy in government, Mr. McElreath pledges himself in advance to such a program and states that he will zealously guard the best interests of all the taxpayers as a member of the commissioners court.

Mr. McElreath is married and is the father of four children. He keeps himself well informed on current affairs and his friends recognize him as a man well qualified for the position he seeks.

He solicits the vote and support of everybody in the precinct and assures them they will not regret their confidence in him, should he be elected as county commissioner.

The show will give its opening performance at Forestburg Saturday night, May 1, and will appear here the following night. The next two shows will be on May 15 and 16.

Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Haverkamp and daughter, Miss Bertha, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kupper of Lindsay, spent Sunday in Corsicana with Mr. and Mrs. Troy Cooper. Miss Bertha remained to spend a week with her sister.

Mesdames J.M. Weinzapfel, C. J. Kaiser, Joe Hoening, John Wieler, J.A. and J.W. Fisher and Misses Theresa Mae Pels and Olivia Stock spent Tuesday in Sherman attending a one-day retreat and an afternoon meeting of the Sherman deanery National Council of Catholic Women.

NICK WEBER, 87, OF GAINESVILLE, PASSES THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Nick Weber, 87, retired farmer and Gainesville resident since 1921, died last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in a Gainesville hospital following an illness.

Muenster people at the funeral were Messrs. and Mmes. Ted and Tony Gremminger and John Knabe, Mrs. A.A. Otto, Mrs. Tony Hoening and Norbert Knabe.

Garden Club Float Awarded First Place In Round-up Parade

First place honor rewarded members of the Muenster Garden Club Wednesday for days of elaborate work on their float for Gainesville's fifth annual Circus Round-up parade.

The float, which presented an old time living room and an outdoor flower garden featuring seasonal blossoms and a trellis of roses, competed with some 20 other floats in the parade.

Muenster was also well represented elsewhere in the parade. Boy Scouts were there in uniform and the Muenster Saddle Club with their lettered blue shirts rode in a group. Local national guardsmen marched with the county unit and a dozen or more horseback riders joined the crowd.

Taking more than an hour to pass any given spot, the parade was the largest and most colorful in Gainesville's history. It had 16 visiting bands, the performers, animals and practically all movable property of the Community Circus, floats, buggies, cars, scooters, saddle horses and hundreds of marching persons.

It was one of the three featured events for the opening day of the annual Circus Round-up. The other two were a luncheon sponsored jointly by the Rotary, Kiwanis and Optimist clubs to honor Frank Buck, honorary ringmaster for the circus opening, and the circus performance itself.

The Garden Club's prize winning float was built and decorated jointly by the Charm Shop, the Home Art Shop and a club committee consisting of Mesdames J.C. Trachta, Ervin Hamric, Steve Mosler, Jim Cook and Ray Evans and Miss Rosalee Grewing. Steve Grewing furnished the truck.

Its living room, facing a rose covered trellis and a gorgeous array of flowers, carried out the "Old Spinning Wheel" theme. Mrs. G.H. Hellman worked constantly at the wheel while Miss Elfrieda Luke on the organ played "The Old Spinning Wheel" about 25 times. Both ladies wore colonial dresses and G.H. Hellman, seated beside his wife on an antique love seat, also wore old fashioned clothes. An antique lamp and marble top table completed the furnishings, all of which were at least 75 years old.

SOFTBALL PLAYERS EXPECT TO START SEASON NEXT WEEK

Though they still haven't a place to play the Muenster softball players have hopes of starting their season next week. Planning their games on a home and home basis they hope to schedule early games away from home and play the return games here after their lighting equipment arrives.

At this writing no date has been set but Norbert Hoedebeck stated that the team expects to play with Hood, Era, Saint Jo, Nocona and teams from Gainesville, Denison, Sherman and Wichita Falls.

The players held their first practice session Tuesday afternoon and expect to work out again Thursday afternoon.

REPAIR JOBS FEATURE THIS WEEK'S BUILDING

Though most building activity of the community is confined to projects that have been under way for some time, at least seven new improvement jobs were added this week.

Ralph Esker is adding two rooms and a hall to his home. Tony Walterscheid started a new barn. Dick Trachta and Tom Hoover put new roofs on their homes. The John A. Klement home and the Enterprise building received new coats of stucco, and the FMA is making repairs to the floor of the store office.

They spent the weekend here, and Monday in Fort Worth and returned to their home in Bode, Iowa, Tuesday, accompanied by Donald Wiesman who will spend the summer with them. Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Wiesman of Gainesville.

mony in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

Miss Rauschuber is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rauschuber and Mr. Hess is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Hess.

Miss Elizabeth Kuntz played the wedding music and the church choir sang the mass.

The bride was attired in a white marquisette gown fashioned with V neckline, bracelet length sleeves, edged with lace, a fitted bodice and a full skirt that terminated in a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged in lace and fell from a headdress of valley lilies. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and snapdragons.

Miss Trudy Rauschuber, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pink marquisette frock with lace insertions at the neckline and in the puffed sleeves. She completed her costume with a pink net picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Tony Hess, brother of the groom, was best man.

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of breakfast for the bridal party, dinner for immediate members of the two families, and at 3 o'clock a reception for 125 relatives and friends. Mrs. Eddie Schmitt presided at the wedding cake and Miss Lucille Fuhrmann was in charge of the guest book. A wedding dance in the Muenster K of C hall at night concluded the day's festivities.

During the dance Mr. and Mrs. Hess departed on a wedding trip and when they return they will make their home here on a farm east of the city. For traveling Mrs. Hess wore a green suit with black accessories.

Mr. Hess served three years in the army with two years of duty overseas in Africa and Italy with the 36th Division.

The American Way SLAVE LABOR LAW?

By Maurice R. Franks

In a previous article I voiced my objection to Section 304 of the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Relations Act, on the grounds that, in my opinion, it abridged the freedom of both speech and press. Also, I have recommended that Section 9 (h) of the act be amended to require a loyalty pledge, not only from labor leaders, but from all individuals who in any capacity whatsoever have occasion to seek the services of the National Labor Relations Board.

Aside from these two provisions, it is my sincere conviction that the Taft-Hartley law, when properly understood and applied, will be generally accepted as one of the greatest pieces of legislation of all times.

Big Labor's publicity boys, as such, have charged that the Act is a slave labor law. Nothing could be further from the truth. It is not designed to cast free workers into slavery; its effect is rather to release enslaved workers from bondage. It frees the individual worker from the cruel domination of selfish leaders of the labor movement; places him shoulder to shoulder with management as an essential partner of industry — as a man with a soul of his own.

The Taft-Hartley law prescribes the legitimate rights of both employees and employers in their relations affecting commerce; provides orderly and peaceful procedures for preventing the interference by either with the legitimate rights of the other; and protects the rights of individual employees in their relations with labor organizations whose activities effect commerce.

It encourages the practice and procedure of collective bargaining; gives workers full freedom of association, self-organization and designation of representatives of their own choosing; and restrains both the employer and the agents of a labor organization from coercing employees in the exercise of their guaranteed rights.

This law breaks the strangle hold of the closed shop, freeing the worker from the necessity of joining a union for the privilege of earning a living; blocks both employer and union from discriminating against any employee who refuses to take up with the union; stands by a worker who refuses to pay unreasonable initiation fees, dues, fines and assessments; permits a worker to go directly to his employer with a grievance, whether a union contract is in force or not; and forbids the employer to collect union dues from a worker's pay without that worker's own written permission.

It protects workers from being drawn against their will into jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts; guarantees the worker freedom from being discharged because he is at odds with his union; assures him the right to voice his opinions at union meetings; protects union members from having union treasuries looted by dishonest fiscal agents; forbids leaders to commit an entire union into a political party through the handing over of cash contributions drawn from union funds; and recognizes labor's right to strike as a last resort but requires a 60-day cooloff period.

This law makes the secret ballot mandatory, guaranteeing democratic election of union officers and democratic execution of union business; allows skilled workers and professional employees the right of separate organizations; and forbids foremen, who are part of management, to organize without the employer's specific consent.

Are any, or all of these provisions to be interpreted as evidence that the Taft-Hartley law is legislation designed to enslave the working man? Definitely not! It is the very opposite of a "Slave Labor Law" because it unshackles honest workers from the enslavement of the ruthless labor leader and union racketeer.

Because the 80th Congress was realistic in its analysis of the evils affecting labor-management relations, and courageous enough to take action upon those findings, the individual working man today is no longer a slave. The Taft-Hartley Labor Act is a Labor Emancipation Act.

THOSE GOOD OLD DAYS

Here are some of the instructions to employees issued by a store proprietor in 1870: "Store will open at 7 A.M. and close at 8 P.M. except on Saturdays, when it closes at 9 P.M. . . . Any employe who smokes Spanish cigars, uses liquor in any form, gets shaved at the barber shop, or frequents pool halls or public dance halls, will give his employer every reason to suspicion his integrity, worthy intentions and all around honesty. . . .

"Each employe is expected to pay his tithing to the church. "Men employes will be given one evening off each week for courting purposes, or two evenings a week if they go regularly to church and attend to church duties. . . . After any employe has spent his thirteen hours of labor in the store, he should then spend his leisure time in reading good books."

Hastening It

"You and I have been friends for years, Doc," declared the chronic dead-beat patient, "so I won't hurt your feelings by offering to pay your bill. I'm going to let you in on a little secret: You're one of the chief beneficiaries of my life insurance policy."

"In that case," stated the sorely beset doctor, "let's see your prescription a minute, old friend. There's a small, but very important change I'd like to make."

Lots Easier

A college professor, holding his first class, noticed several former students who had come back to college. He said to one of them: "Sherwood, did you learn any particular lesson from the war?"

"Yes, sir," replied Sherwood, "I discovered it's a great deal easier studying history than making it."

PAUL ARENDT JR. AND MARY WOLF WED AT GAINESVILLE APRIL 12

Miss Mary Wolf became the bride of Paul Arendt, Jr., in a pretty ceremony performed in St. Mary's church in Gainesville on the morning of April 12. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wolf of Gainesville and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arendt of Lindsay. Rev. Father Molloy, pastor, read the double ring ceremony and officiated at the nuptial high mass. Music was furnished by the church choir with Miss Ann Gallagher at the piano, and Mrs. Joe Schad sang "Ave Maria" at the offertory.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a lovely gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with fitted basque bodice topped with a marquisette yoke embroidered with seed pearls and applique flowers. Long fitted sleeves ended in petal points over her hands and the full skirt extended into a cathedral length train. The bridal veil was fingertip length, edged with lace, and fell from a crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a three-strand pearl necklace, a gift from the groom, and she carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies.

For "something old" the bride wore an antique ring that her maternal grandmother wore at her wedding; "something borrowed" was a silver rosary belonging to her mother; and "something blue" was an embroidered lace handkerchief. The bride's attendants were three sisters of the groom, Miss Lucille Arendt, maid of honor, and Misses Joan and Florine Arendt, bridesmaids. They wore identically styled dresses of orchid, green and yellow taffeta, with bridal head pieces and long white gloves, and carried white lace handkerchiefs, presented by the bride. Their flowers were white carnations arranged in colonial bouquets.

Tiny Joan Wolf, only sister of the bride, and Margie Sue Hoerber, niece of the groom, were flower girls. Their frocks were of white taffeta and they carried colonial hand bouquets of white carnations. Johnny Wolf, three year old brother of the bride, was ring bearer, wearing a white linen suit.

Attending the groom were the bride's three brothers, Edward Wolf, best man, and Lee and Adam Wolf, Jr., groomsmen. Ushers were William Schroeder of Windthorst, uncle of the bride, and Johnny Arendt, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a black crepe costume with black accessories and the groom's mother wore a black floral print with black accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Serving as acolytes were Walter Wolf, brother of the bride, Junior Krebs, Michael and Arnold Neu, cousins of the groom.

Breakfast was served to the bridal party in the home of the groom's parents, and at noon dinner was served in the Community Center building to the bridal pair, their parents and families and 65 out of town guests.

At 4 o'clock a reception was held and more than 250 relatives and friends were guests for a buffet supper. The bride's table was laid with white linen and was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, flanked with tapers. Misses Ann and LuElla Arendt, sisters of the groom, presided at the bride's book, and Misses Mary Lou Schumacher and Eunice Krebs, close friends of the bride, served the cake.

At 9 o'clock a dance was given to conclude the day's festivities. It was during this event that Mr. and Mrs. Arendt departed on a wedding trip, the bride wearing a two-piece rose-blage gabardine suit with white accessories. When they return they will make their home on a farm west of Lindsay.

Mrs. Arendt is a graduate of Saint Mary's school, Gainesville, and the groom was educated in Lindsay. He served in the army three years with 16 months of overseas duty.

HENSCHIDS CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Henschid observed their 20th wedding anniversary Sunday with a family reunion at their home and were presented with lovely china gifts in keeping with the occasion.

Following a social evening refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Flusche, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neu and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Zimmerer, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Zimmerer and family, all of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Flusche and children, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lutkenhaus and children, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Herr, all of Muenster, Mrs. Mike Koelzer of Hereford, the honorees and their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Henschid were married here on April 17, 1928, and reside on a farm northeast of the city. Mrs. Henschid is the former Miss Anna Flusche. They are the parents of six children, Rufus, Verena, Florence LuRose, Theodore and Jane.

Homer Does Some "Back-Seat Sewing!"

Homer Bentley's missus was working on her new sewing machine, when Homer comes in, draws up a chair, and starts talking: "Don't you think you're running too fast?" he says. "Slow down! Watch out! Be careful!"

When the missus finally turns with murder in her eyes, Homer says goodnaturedly: "I thought you might like a little help, dear—like you help me drive the car."

The missus can't help but burst out laughing—and they settle what might have been a quarrel over a friendly glass of beer. The missus agrees to give up back-seat driving and nagging Homer about ashes on the rug. Homer agrees to quit criticizing Sarah's taste for flowery hats and parsley salad.

From where I sit, the key to getting on together is meeting every issue half way—and overlooking any petty differences in tastes—whether these tastes apply to beer or flowery-looking hats!

BOOKKEEPING STUDENTS RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Bookkeeping students of Sacred Heart High school have received achievement awards in the International Bookkeeping Contest according to information received by Instructor Sister Eymard.

In addition to the achievement award which was received by each member of the class, the entries of Evelyn Vogel, Elfrida Koesler, Rosalee Fuhrman and Ernie Zipper were among the 200 entries rated as superior. Papers were graded for neatness, penmanship and care in preparation as well as for accuracy.

ANNUAL SCHOOL BUS
MILEAGE EQUALS 2160
TRIPS AROUND GLOBE

Austin, Texas — Public school busses travel Texas roads a distance equal to 2,160 trips around the world every nine months. The 6,074 busses which transported 346,051 pupils traveled a distance of 54,000,000 miles during the 1946-47 school year.

That transportation of school children is a big business was pointed out by Charles H. Tennyson, public relations director of the Texas Teachers Association. During the 1946-47 school year there were 6,074 busses driven by 5,750 men and women. They were paid approximately $3,000,000 for their services.

While 238,821 of the pupils are attending schools receiving supplemental support from the state in the form of equalization funds, 107,230 are in districts which receive no additional help from the state. The state supplemented transportation aid last year in the amount of $9,702,040, Tennyson said.

A charge of assault was being tried in an Irish police court. The husband, a very meek little man, was put in the box, and his wife, a big woman almost twice his size, stood by her solicitor's table. The magistrate adjusted his glasses and turned to the defendant.

"You are accused of beating your wife," he said. Do you plead guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty, my lord," said the little man without hesitation.

"Twenty-five dollars fine or ten day," came the magistrate's verdict.

After the court had closed the magistrate was approached by one of the other court officials.

"Weren't you somewhat severe with that little man?" said the latter.

"Not at all," returned the magistrate. "I had to give him something for bragging."

Famous Kings

The class was requested to write a composition on famous kings. The following gem came from an 11-year-old boy:

"The most powerful king on earth is working; the laziest is shirking; the wittiest is joking; the quietest is thinking; the slyest is wining; and the noisiest is talking."
