

In a plain, matter-of-fact way, without trying to make an emotional appeal, the column takes this opportunity to encourage a big attendance at Memorial Day Services next Sunday.

According to the information yours truly has been able to gather the VFW members and the pastors are spending a good deal of time on a program dedicated to this community's honored dead. They're doing their part, but the program will fall flat and the intended tribute will be sadly feeble if the rest of us do not cooperate by attending. This happens to be a case in which the fitness of the tribute is measured more by the number present than by the number who take an active part.

By all means give this event priority on your schedule for next Sunday afternoon. Let your presence be your way of saying thanks to that group of fine youngsters who gave their lives for a set of values that were every bit as precious to us as to themselves. Revive a deep feeling of appreciation for their sacrifices and join in a prayer beseeching God to grant them everlasting peace.

Don't fail. Your presence will be a tribute to them, a credit to your community, a gratifying satisfaction to yourself.

Like big time columnists, Con hereby ventures a prediction: Before many months pass the poultry raisers of this community will be organized in a plan that will net them as much as 10 to 20 per cent higher income from their sale of eggs. How the thing will be worked out is anybody's guess, and it doesn't really matter anyway. The final result is what counts.

Here's the basis for the prediction. Word is getting around that graded eggs bring a much better price. Just now it's even more than 20 per cent above the average. That's enough to make any farmer start thinking. And the farmers hereabouts are the kind who don't think long about those things without starting to figure out a plan.

The idea also suggests other possibilities. A 10 to 20 per cent price raise can mean as much as 50 to 100 per net profit raise, and that's enough to encourage a boost in poultry interest. Chicken raising on local farms may develop from a minor sideline to serious business venture.

Among lots of good ideas aired at the Community Council sanitation committee meeting Tuesday night was a suggestion that deserves immediate and general consideration: "Smash tin cans before throwing them in the rubbish container." It's a simple thing to do, requires very little time and effort, and it pays off wonderfully in appearance, convenience and better health standards. It's a matter of general knowledge that tin cans, as normally disposed of, will hold water for days or weeks after a rain and constitute ideal mosquito hatcheries. Besides they scatter, become unsightly and take up a lot of space. Smashing them will overcome every one of those bad features.

Either of two simple operations will do the trick. Give 'em a good lick with a mallet or cut out the bottom with a can opener, after which the rest of it can be easily mashed together by hand.

Incidentally, it's a good idea to remember also that flies thrive on food particles left in cans. A thorough flushing before smashing can help in that respect.

The practice, if generally adopted would likewise simplify the problem of community clean-ups. Trash packages would be fewer, smaller and easier to handle.

No matter how a person figures it, the idea is a good one offering returns far out of proportion of the little effort required.

At last, a plan that seems to be an agreeable solution to the labor-management problem. General Motors and UAW leaders have agreed to let wages be governed by the consumer price index published by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics. There is to be no more fussing about wages. Pay will automatically go up or down with prices.

Here apparently is a pattern that all industry can well afford to adopt. Since it's flexible and allows for fluctuations it eliminates the principal cause for strikes, and offers some hope that management, labor and the public will all get a better break.

Another attractive feature, which may prove more valuable

2.17 Inch Soaker is Helpful So Far, but Farmers are Anxious

Two days of rain, on Tuesday and Wednesday, have caused some anxiety among Muenster farmers but have not caused any serious trouble to date. Quite a number of grain fields, though ready for binders and combines, can wait a while longer without suffering any damage.

As the situation stands at this writing the rain has been far more of a help than a hindrance. Rowcrops, feedstuffs and pastures all have been vastly improved and nothing has been hurt.

Farmers, nevertheless, are impatient to get into the grain fields. After years of experience they realize that harvest delays can be costly.

Up to Wednesday, 8 a.m. the total rainfall as recorded by the city's gauge was 2.17 inches. The figure Tuesday morning was 1.93. Continued cloudiness and a few light drizzles on Wednesday added little to the total rainfall but delayed the drying process.

MRS. RUDY HELLMAN ELECTED TO 4TH TERM AS P-TA PRESIDENT

Mrs. Rudy Hellman was elected president of the Sacred Heart Parent-Teachers Association for the fourth consecutive year when the annual election of officers was held during the regular monthly meeting on May 20.

Other members of the executive board are: Mrs. John Fisher, first vice president; Arthur Endres, second vice president; Mrs. T.S. Myrick, third vice president; Mrs. Tony Gremminger, recording secretary; Mrs. J.M. Weinzapfel corresponding secretary; Mrs. Al Wiesman, treasurer.

Mrs. Rudy Hellman was elected to head the kitchen committee for the P-TA lunch program. Also on this committee are Mrs. Ted Gremminger and Mrs. Al Walterscheid. Father John Walbe was elected chairman of the athletic committee. His assistants are Dr. T.S. Myrick, Arthur Hellman, Tony Walterscheid and Ervin Hamric.

Room Mothers are Mrs. T.S. Myrick, second grade; Mrs. John Wieler, third; Mrs. Henry Pick, fourth; Mrs. Frank Herr, fifth; Mrs. Richard Cain, sixth; Mrs. Jud Boyles, seventh; Mrs. Ervin Hamric, eighth; Mrs. J.C. Trachta, freshman; Mrs. Joe Hoenic, sophomore; Mrs. J.W. Fisher, juniors; Mrs. John Fisher, seniors.

Following business, Mrs. Hellman introduced Miss Rita Dingman, Catholic school health nurse of Alton, Ill., who visited here with relatives during the week. Miss Dingman presented an interesting and thought-provoking talk for members. An additional highlight of the meeting was a short address by Sister M. Agnes Voth of Pochontas, Ark., a native of this city and a former teacher in the parochial high school. She complimented the P-TA for its achievements and recalled a series of worthwhile improvements made in the school since she was on the teaching staff.

The award of a sterling silver vase to Mrs. Hellman was made by Mrs. T.S. Myrick in the name of the organization as a token of appreciation for Mrs. Hellman's fine work during the three years she has served as president.

Rev. Herman Laux addressed the assemblage briefly. He gave an outline of plans for the program of June 12 and 13 when the "Pilgrim Virgin" statue comes to Muenster and asked for assistance and cooperation to make the event an outstanding one in this community.

GARDEN CLUB PLANS COLLECTION SUNDAY FOR CEMETERY FUND

Members of the Civic League and Garden Club are expecting a substantial boost to the cemetery fund next Sunday through a special Memorial Day collection.

Mrs. Nick Miller, chairman of cemetery work, and her assistants will take up the offerings at the church doors after the three masses and afternoon service.

The annual donation collected for cemetery upkeep on November 2 is not sufficient to carry on the maintenance program until the next yearly collection, Mrs. Miller said.

INFANT GRANDSON OF J. D. WALKER DIES OF SUFFOCATION, MAY 17

Funeral services were held at Shiloh Baptist church Monday afternoon for Timothy Lee Morlock, six-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Morlock of Vancouver, Washington. Rev. Richardson of Shiloh church, assisted by Rev. Cooke of Saint Jo, officiated.

Funeral arrangements were under direction of Scott Brother Funeral home, Saint Jo, who met the body at Wichita Falls.

The infant was found dead of suffocation in its crib last Tuesday, May 17. The mother is the former Miss Edith Walker of Muenster. Survivors in addition to the parents are one grandfather, J.D. Walker of Muenster.

Mrs. Morlock was accompanied here by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gaylon McElreath and children. They will remain for a ten-day visit with relatives.

Prospect for Wheat Crop Improves With 63 Test on First Load

A better wheat crop than originally expected in this community seemed probable last Saturday and Monday when Mike Fuhrmann of Lindsay delivered some of the highest quality grain ever received here.

Ed Rohmer, buying for Morrison Milling Company, stated that two loads delivered Monday tested between 63 and 64.

Regarding the probable yield per acre, Mr. Fuhrmann said he was not far enough along to make an estimate.

The wheat delivered Saturday and Monday had been windrowed the previous Tuesday and permitted to dry four days before threshing with a combine. Its moisture content was very low, Rohmer said.

Wheat is the only small grain however, which now gives promise of a fair yield. It survived the hard Easter freeze and thrived better through the following dry spell than oats. A two inch rain about three months ago was sufficient to pull it through to maturity. Oats on the other hand was badly damaged by the freeze and further retarded by the drought.

Sanitation Committee Goal is Better Looks And Better Health

A long range program for better health and better appearance was the result of a meeting of the Muenster Community Council sanitation committee Tuesday night.

Specifically the plan aims at better garbage and rubbish disposal and elimination of sub-standard outside toilets. It is intended primarily to reduce the spread of disease germs by flies and mosquitoes and at the same time contribute to the general neatness of the community.

Emphasizing the need for such a program the committee recalled a report recently issued by the state health department on the increasing prevalence of infantile paralysis in Texas. According to the report poor sanitary control is the principal cause of the spread of polio.

Some of the practices to be encouraged as a means of attaining the general objective are as follows:

Mash tin cans to eliminate mosquito breeding places.

Cover garbage cans to keep out flies.

Keep alleys free of weeds and rubbish.

Puncture bottoms of trash cans and incinerators to keep them from holding stagnant water.

Encourage replacement of sub-standard toilets by sanitary sewer connections or approved pit toilets.

For the immediate present the group recommended a city wide clean-up and weed-mowing campaign to have the town looking its best for the hundreds of visitors expected on June 12 and 13 when the "Pilgrim Virgin" will be here.

Mrs. Herman Pierce and Lyndal and Dudie Dickerson received word Wednesday that their mother, Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, had died suddenly of a heart attack at her home in Davis, Okla. The three families left Monday at noon to attend to funeral services.

Rev. Fred J. Mosman To Have First Mass At Lindsay, June 1

The Rev. Fred J. Mosman will celebrate his First Solemn Mass in Saint Peter's church at Lindsay next Tuesday, June 1.

An assembly of about 60 clergy including the Most Rev. Bishop Joseph P. Lynch of Dallas, and other church dignitaries, will be present for the occasion.

Members of the congregation have completed plans for an all-day program to compliment the new priest.

Preceding the mass which begins at 9:30, Father Mosman will be honored with a band escort in the procession to church and at noon will be honor guest at a community dinner in the school auditorium.

The Very Rev. Msgr. John T. Gulczynski, chancellor of the diocese of Dallas, will give the sermon for the occasion. Assistants to Father Mosman in the mass will be Rev. Conrad Herda, Lindsay pastor, arch priest; Rev. William M. Robinson, Dallas, deacon; the celebrant's uncle, Very Rev. Joseph Fuhrmann, Ph.D., Corpus Christi, sub-deacon; the celebrant's cousin, Rev. David Flusche, Subiaco, Ark., master of ceremonies, and Mr. Hubert Neu, seminarian from Lindsay, studying at St. John's Seminary, assistant master of ceremonies.

The community dinner will be followed by a general get-together and picnic on the parish grounds.

Rev. Mosman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mosman, was born in Lindsay on May 18, 1920. He attended Saint Peter's school and graduated from high school there in the spring of 1938. The following two years he was employed in Dallas.

He began his study for the priesthood at Subiaco Abbey, Subiaco, Ark., in September 1940, completed his college course and philosophical studies and received his A.B. degree at the Abbey. In 1944 he entered Saint John's Seminary in San Antonio to complete his theological studies.

He was ordained to the priesthood in Sacred Heart Cathedral, Dallas, this Thursday at 8 a.m. with Most Rev. Joseph P. Lynch, bishop of Dallas officiating.

A reception and program will honor Father Mosman Monday night. It will be held in the community hall and will consist of welcome and congratulatory addresses, vocal and instrumental numbers and an original playlet depicting the life story of Father Mosman.

Nocona Beats Muenster 5-6 In Extra Inning Game

Weakening in the sixth inning at Nocona last Thursday night the Muenster softball team lost a game that had been practically sacked up in the first and second.

Three and two in the first two innings had given Muenster a 5 to 1 lead which held through the fifth. Nocona's two in the sixth plus two more in the seventh forced the contest into an extra inning in which Nocona scored the winning run in the 5 to 6 count.

Cotton Endres as pitcher held the Nocona batters helpless through the first five innings, then lost to a series of well grouped hits.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Evans were in Ardmore, Okla., last Sunday to visit at the bedside of Mrs. Johnny Fisher and two-year-old son who are patients in a hospital there since sustaining painful burns at their home in Fox, Okla. The Fisher family formerly resided here.

Egg Grading May Lead To Higher Profits For Muenster Poultrymen

Possibilities of developing a better egg market in Muenster were indicated Monday night at the GI vocational agriculture class when three students revealed they are now selling directly to a grading plant at Justin.

Thomas Sicking, Tony Hacker and H.D. Cook stated that a truck from the Cabell's grading plant picks up their eggs twice each week and that they now average about 10 cents per dozen over the current local market.

A truck driver for the company, introduced by Sicking, stated that the company is willing to extend its route as long as the added business justifies the added mileage, and added that arrangements might also be made for a central pick-up station at Muenster, or delivery directly to the grading plant.

Eggs at the plant are divided into five grades ranging, at present prices, from 50 cents to 30 cents per dozen. A checking slip showing quantity and price of each grade accompanies the check which is usually sent out 4 or 5 days after eggs are picked up.

The Kernel of the Nut

Who wins a strike . . . the workers, the employer, the general public, or all three? The answer is that when all the returns are in and you add up the score, all parties lose.

If the workers succeed in securing a raise in wages as the result of a strike, it would seem to be a victory for them. But is it? Figure out how many months, perhaps years, it will take them to recover, even at the increased rate of pay, the wages lost while they went payless during the progress of the strike.

If the employer holds fast and the workers finally are forced to return to work, without having been accorded a raise in wages, at first blush, that would look like a victory for the boss. But is it? Take into account the bad feeling and bitterness engendered by the quarrel, plus the fact that the employer now has in his employ a group of disgruntled workers. It is no secret that a dissatisfied employee is not an efficient worker.

Most certainly the general public does not win, whether the strike is settled in favor of the workers, or the employer, or is a compromise. Loss of production while the workers are idle creates scarcities and higher prices. If the workers gain a raise in wages, the public, in the final analysis, pays the raise, not the employer. If the workers return to work without a pay boost, as aforesaid, their production falls off, and smaller production means higher prices to the consuming public.

Yes, no matter how the strike is settled, both parties to the quarrel lose and the innocent bystander, John Q. Public, takes it "on the chin" along with them.

William Holmes McGuffey in his Second Reader told the following little story that every worker and every employer should read:

THE QUARREL

Under a great tree in the woods, two boys saw a fine, large nut, and both ran to get it.

James got to it first, and picked it up.

"It is mine," said John, "for I was the first to see it."

"No, it is mine," said James, "for I was the first to pick it up."

Thus, they at once began to quarrel about the nut.

As they could not agree whose it should be, they called an older boy, and asked him.

The older boy said, "I will settle this quarrel."

He took the nut, and broke the shell. He then took out the kernel, and divided the shell into two parts, as nearly equal as he could.

"This half of the shell," said he, "belongs to the boy who first saw the nut.

"And this half belongs to the boy who picked it up."

"The kernel of the nut, I shall keep as my part for settling the quarrel."

"This is the way," said he, laughing, "in which quarrels are very apt to end."

That's exactly what happens when labor and management fail to resolve their differences in peaceful and orderly fashion . . . each winds up holding a hollow piece of shell . . . neither gets any of the kernel of the nut.

CLASSIFIED CLASSICS

From the Anderson, Ind., Daily Bulletin: "Will the party who picked up the black cocker spaniel puppy Saturday on Wendell Road either return him or come back and get 3-year-old boy he belongs to?"

From the Houston Post: "Cow-boy wanted for resort ranch; must be able to sing and play guitar. We'll teach you how to ride. Apply Lost Valley Ranch."

From Middletown, Conn.: Wesleyan Argus: "Lost — One upper dental plate by an alumnus in vicinity of Psi Upsilon over the weekend. Finder please return to Psi U asth thoon asth porthible."

From a Vermont Department Commission advertisement of a local farm for sale: "If purchased before the next heavy windstorm a barn is included."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

It's Leap Year, Girls!

First girl in our town to "get her man" on Leap Year was the Cuppers' daughter, Jane, who wed Bill Webster's boy last Saturday.

When I asked Bill Jr. if it was true that Janey really did the proposing, Bill said: No, but she made it plain she'd make an ideal wife. Instead of looking for diversion or excitement every evening, she was content to chat beside the fire.

"I could plainly see," says Bill, "that we'd really have a happy home life—which is just exactly what I want from marriage."

I know it's usual for older folks to shake their heads over the younger generation. (It's gone on for hundreds of years, now.)

But from where I sit, young people of marrying age today are every bit as commendable as their elders were—in their temperance (a glass of beer for instance), tolerance, and common sense. So to Jane and Bill—the best of luck!

MOTH CHEWING CLOTH SOUNDS LIKE PERSON CHEWING CORN FLAKES

Ithaca, N. Y. — The sound of a "moth chewing through a fabric" has been preserved on a phonograph record by Cornell University scientists here.

The scientists last year produced an album of 72 bird songs. Their latest is an album of eight sides featuring the calls of 26 varieties of frogs and toads. But the moth record was made on special request — from an advertising agency with a client selling mothballs.

Getting a moth to chew at the right time and place proved to be the greatest difficulty. This was overcome by sewing the larva in a tiny cloth sack. It had to chew its way out.

And what does a moth chewing cloth sound like? "Someone eating corn flakes," reports one of the scientists.

AVERAGE U.S. WORKER EARNS $2,839 A YEAR

WASHINGTON.— The average U. S. worker now makes $2,839 a year.

The Civil Service Commission said so Thursday after a study of federal pay scales in effect last July. Bills are pending to give some 1,300,000 federal employes a raise, but Congress has not yet approved the proposed increases.

The commission reported 80 percent of the federal job holders make from $1,500 to $3,500 a year, 3 percent get less than 1,500 and the remaining 17 percent earn $3,500 or more.

It noted that the $2,839 average 1947 salary was a boost over the 1946 figure of $2,680.

Farm-eating soil erosion CAN be tamed ---

Soil erosion mutilated 500,000 acres of farm land last year! Even fields it failed to chew into gullies and ditches were bled of their fertility. Unless it is curbed, this soil-hungry monster will cripple American farm production by gobbling more and more of our precious topsoil
