

Harvest Continues At Top Speed After Short Stop for Rain

Our nomination for one of the nation's worst joy killers is the entomologist who advances the possibility that flies and other insects may in time build up an immunity to DDT. According to his theory a few of the insects after surviving light doses could originate a new strain capable of taking the poison without a quiver.

Knowing what we do about antitoxin, typhoid shots, etc., we can understand that individual specimens might become immune, and we can even imagine that immunity might eventually become hereditary. Scientists offer lots of evidence that acquired characteristics can be passed on. Maybe flies will regain the upper hand, but for the present we're hoping that they will not.

For an idea of DDT's contribution to modern civilization we only need to notice the delightful scarcity of flies nowadays. The difference is especially noticeable on farms where swarms of hundreds of thousands have thinned down to a few, if not completely wiped out. As a result animals are more comfortable, production is higher and work around the livestock is more pleasant. In cash value alone DDT has been worth millions to American farmers.

Something the average Texan does not realize is that he pays more than 5 times as much for federal government as he does for his own state's government. That information is given in the current edition of the Texas Tax Journal along with similar data on all of the 48 states. According to its estimates Texas' share in the annual cost of the federal government is 1,214 million and cost of state government is 228 million. The total for the entire nation is 39,669 billion and for all the states is 5,798 billion... a ratio of about 7 to 1. All of which indicates how insignificant the states are becoming in the organization which was originally intended as a mere union of independent self governing and self sustaining states.

As if the infringement had not gone far enough we still have people clamoring for more beneficence... and more control... out of Washington. One case is the current ballyhoo for federal aid to education. Proponents of the measure picture it as an opportunity for wonderful scholastic advances and seemingly never tire of insinuating that opponents are in favor of national ignorance.

Just the same we're proud to note that both Texas senators, Connally and O'Daniel, are opposed to it on the grounds that it would lead to more bureaucratic red tape and control.

In spite of seemingly benevolent propaganda the bill amounts only to some more of the same old bureaucratic racket. The federal government taxes the state for the funds, fizzes away the usual percentage of them on red tape, and returns what's left to the states... with strings attached. No, thanks. We prefer to handle education problems ourselves. Sad experience has shown us that federal aid isn't something for nothing but just the round-about, more expensive way with a lot of official meddling thrown in.

Another powerful argument in favor of soil conservation derives from the present alarming shortage of sub-surface water in some areas. Quite a few cities that depend on wells for their municipal water supply are discovering to their sorrow that the reserve is running short and that their plans for continued progress are to be cut short unless something can be done to relieve the situation.

This is just another of the many ways in which this country pays for its wastefulness. We've cleared forests, plowed hillsides and even killed off the beaver which took a prominent part in nature's general conservation scheme.

We've hacked away at every barrier which retarded the off-flow of water and the result is that we have floods during the rainy season and drought a few weeks later. At the same time we're losing billions of tons of precious topsoil every year.

It has been said that the progress of American civilization can be described in five steps: clear the forest, burn the brush, plow the land, wear it out, and move on.

Unfortunately every word of it is true. This country has been shameful in the exploitation of (Continued on Page 10)

ELECTRICAL STORM LIGHTS TOWN DURING 2 HOUR LIGHT FAILURE

Muenster was in the dark for almost two hours Tuesday night because of a power failure caused by a severe electrical storm. Except for a few brief interruptions the lights were off continuously from 9:45 to 11:30.

During most of the period, however, the town was kept fairly well illuminated by continuous flashes of lightning. At the K of C hall music and dancing went on without interruption.

The only report of serious damage in the community is the loss of 8 yearlings by Joe Luttmeyer. Early Wednesday Luttmeyer found all the animals dead beside a barbed wire fence, apparently electrocuted by a lightning flash which traveled along the fence.

The storm was accompanied by heavy gusts of wind and a driving rain which measured .59 inch.

Present indications are that farmers will have to arrange for temporary storage at home in order to continue with their harvest.

Favored by several days of ideal weather the community now has about one third of its grain cut. If permitted to carry on without interruption most of them will finish the job before the end of next week. A few who had small crops and cut with binders already have all their grain in the shock.

Reports from various parts of the community indicate that the wheat yield this year is slightly above normal whereas oats and barley are exceptionally poor. Wheat, especially the earlier varieties, survived the late freeze and long drought more successfully. The average, according to scattered reports is about 15 bushels per acre.

In general the community yield had a serious set-back during the week of wet weather at the beginning of the harvest season. Green grain developed a heavy deposit of rust which prevented proper maturing. Tests on it run as low as 54 whereas the early wheat continues near 60.

Miss Mary Seyler, also a student at Texas Tech, did not return home. She has enrolled in summer school.

Highway Engineer Picks Old Route for Farm to Market Road

That farm-to-market road north of Muenster will follow the present road.

District Highway Engineer J. M. Isbell of Wichita Falls announced that decision Friday after inspecting the proposed new route which leads due north and eliminates the present offset of slightly more than a half mile.

Isbell also stated that according to the highway department's present schedule the road should be under contract by October 1 of this year.

As now set up the job is to begin at the intersection of Highway 82 and Main street and extend 5.5 miles to the north. Main street is due to get a curb to curb pavement, he said, provided the curb line is complete on both sides.

Construction factors account for favoring the old route over the proposed direct route. Isbell pointed out that almost all of the new route would require a new base, some of it over rough ground and some of it through an oil field involving additional problems with pipes and rods, whereas most of the present road can serve as a satisfactory base.

Regarding Main street he said the present pavement would have to be torn off and the center built up before a new surface is put on. The principal trouble with the present street, he explained is that it is too flat and does not permit adequate drainage.

LEHNERTZ RELEASE BY OWLS IS LET-DOWN TO MUENSTER BALL FANS

This community's enthusiasm for the Gainesville Owls baseball team faded almost to the vanishing point Sunday when Eugene Lehnertz returned to Houston after a futile week of waiting for a tryout on the team.

Breaking into the lineup only once, his first day with the team, Lehnertz spent five days waiting for his next chance before demanding either a release or a fair tryout. He received his release.

Disappointment is widespread here this week over the Owl management's decision. More than a hundred fans who were present to cheer Lehnertz in his first game are emphatic in claiming that he deserved more of a chance. In their opinion his hitting and fielding, though not flawless, matched that of the rest of the team.

F. E. Schmitz who has a financial interest in the club voiced the same opinion, adding that Lehnertz was not even given a chance to overcome the tense and mental pressure of a first appearance. Besides, he said, the record of one game does not justify a release. On that basis few would be left on the team, because somebody does worse practically every game.

Before returning to Houston Lehnertz said he will play with the Hughes Tool Co. team if the opening is still there. He had previously declined the offer to accept the tryout with the Owls.

TONY BEYER INJURED AS PICKUP CRASHES ELECTRIC LIGHT POLE

Tony Bever, who resides on highway 82, near the west city limits of Gainesville and operates a garage at the same location, was painfully injured Tuesday night at about 10:45 when the pick-up he was driving crashed into an electric light pole.

The accident occurred in the 500 block on North Dixon street. Bever was driving north when he apparently lost control of his truck which crossed to the opposite side of the street. The impact with the post threw him against the windshield and he sustained a wound on his forehead. In spite of the wound and shock he refused to go to a hospital and was taken to his home in an ambulance. He sat in the front seat with the driver.

Later reports were that he received an arm injury and a painful eye injury in addition to body bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Trubenbach had as their guests for the weekend his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDaniell of New Orleans, La.

CHRIS BUSS, LINDSAY PIONEER, DIES MONDAY IN WICHITA HOSPITAL

Just one week after celebrating his golden wedding anniversary, Chris Buss, 83 of Wichita Falls, formerly of Lindsay, died Monday night.

A planned wedding celebration at his home last week was moved to his hospital bedside when he became ill on the eve of the anniversary. His wife and their nine children were with him.

Funeral services were held at Sacred Heart church in Wichita Falls Wednesday morning and burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery.

Born in Germany, Mr. Buss migrated to Texas at an early age settling at Lindsay where he farmed. He was married on May 31, 1898, to Miss Caroline Galaske, whose father owned the first cotton gin at Lindsay. In 1912 they moved to Wichita Falls on a farm and the next year he began work at the M-K-T roundhouse there. He retired about 15 years ago.

Survivors are his wife, two sons and seven daughters, 25 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.

Henry Fette is resting easy after several days of severe pain from a scald received on his right foot at the cheese factory last Friday night. A shoe full of steam and hot water from a hot water hose caused the injury.

JAKE HORN, JR. BUYS SHOP DEPARTMENT OF HOME ART SHOP

Jake Horn Jr. this week became the owner and manager of the woodworking department of the Home Art Shop. He bought the business from Eugene A. "Beans" Schmitz who continues as owner-operator of the furniture department.

Since making the deal Horn has resigned as manager of the Muenster Telephone Company but will help out in emergencies until his successor becomes familiar with the work.

J. M. Weinzapfel, president of the telephone company, said Wednesday that the new manager had not been named up to then.

Bill Hoffman who had charge of the Art Shop woodworking department under the former ownership will continue to work there, Horn stated.

He also said that the shop will probably retain the firm's name and Schmitz will choose another name for his furniture and appliance business.

CEMETERY COLLECTION FIGURE REACHES $170

The cemetery fund received additional donations amounting to nine dollars this week, bringing the special Memorial Day collection up to $170.15.

Mrs. Nick Miller, cemetery chairman, reported this week that donations for the cemetery are still being accepted and that persons who missed giving their contribution on Memorial Day may leave it with her at the shop. She made the announcement, she said, because several persons have asked with whom they might leave their donation for that purpose.

Miss Marian Gremminger spent the weekend in Dallas with other friends.

Elaborate Ceremony Will Observe Fatima Pilgrimage Event

Elaborate ceremonies will attend the pilgrimage visit of the Fatima image at Sacred Heart church on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

High spots on the program, as announced by Father Herman Laux, include a pontifical field mass which will be broadcast over the Gainesville radio station, a solemn field mass, a procession on the arrival of the statue and all night schedules of devotions.

The statue, one of two identical replicas of the image at Our Lady of Fatima Shrine in Portugal, commemorates the miraculous appearances of the Virgin Mother at the scene of the shrine in 1917. One of the replicas is on a pilgrimage tour of Europe, the other is on a similar tour through this country and Canada. At the present time it is in Fort Worth, having recently appeared in Texarkana, Tyler and Dallas. The visit here will be the fifth and last stop in the Diocese of Dallas.

Arriving here from Fort Worth about 5 p.m. Saturday, the statue will be met at the highway and carried in procession up Main Street to the parish rectory. It will remain there until 8 when it will be carried in solemn procession to the church for the crowning ceremony, rosary, consecration and benediction.

For the remainder of the night until 6 the next morning the church will be open for continuous devotion by members of the parish.

At 10 Sunday His Excellency Bishop Lynch of Dallas will pontificate at the pontifical field mass which will be celebrated under a tent between the church and rectory. Arrangements have been made to broadcast the mass and a sermon on the message of Fatima over the Gainesville radio station.

After the field mass the schedule of continuous devotions will be resumed and except for one hour of special service at 8 p.m. will continue until the solemn field mass and pilgrimage closing ceremonies at 8 a.m. Monday.

The confession schedule as announced by Father Herman is as follows: Saturday: 3 to 6 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m. Sunday: 5 to 6 a.m., 7 to 8 a.m., 9 to 10 a.m., 2 to 6 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m., and after the 8 o'clock service.

The purpose of the pilgrimages is to invite millions of people to join in the "crusade of prayer and reparation for the conversion of Russia, and for peace as promised by Our Lady at Fatima in 1917." Six times between May and October of that year the Blessed Virgin Mary appeared to 3 shepherd children near Fatima, Portugal urging sacrifice, prayer and devotion as the only means of restoring and preserving world peace.

This service is made possible at only a fraction of the usual cost through cooperation with the County Health department and Dr. Myrick urges everyone to take advantage of the opportunity.

Those who have taken typhoid shots are reminded to get their annual "booster shot" at this time to maintain immunity. Parents are especially urged to bring in their infants of six months of age or over who have not yet been given diphtheria serum.

USE COMMON SENSE ON THE WATER

DON'T BE A 'LEM' LUBBER

He's the fellow who spoils everybody's fun (his own included) because he doesn't use plain common sense around boats. "Lem" lubber, for instance, is often so thoughtless he's guilty of OVERLOADING.

For some reason, he thinks there isn't a fish to be caught in the lake unless the fisherman is STANDING UP.

Or he thinks he's not having fun unless he's "buzzing" the swimming float. His favorite sport is SHOWING OFF.

You can have more fun this season if you use COMMON SENSE AFLOAT. Enjoy yourself safely.

"I don't like to mention this, either, Doc," said the patient, "But so did my gout."

Girls Beat Saint Jo And Boys Beat Bezner Chicks In Wednesday Twin Bill

In their first game of the season Wednesday night the Muenster softball girls took a fast well played game from the Saint Jo club by a count of 1 to 0. Both teams played a tight defensive game, the visitors succeeding generally in holding runners on base and the home team behind Lorene Derichsweiler's steady pitching, heading off most players before they reached first. Muenster's hits were plentiful but scattered and paid off only once, in the second inning.

Revenge was sweet for the local softball boys Wednesday night when they upset the Bezner Chicks 10 to 2 in a game as one sided as the score.

With Frank Hennigan's pitching arm in perfect form and fielders giving strong support, the home boys succeeded in keeping bases clear most of the way through. Meanwhile Muenster was hitting Earl Prestage's pitching regularly. Cecil Cain and Nick Mosman smacked out the game's two homers.

ALCOHOL IN SWEDEN

The most complex legal system ever devised to govern the consumption of distilled alcoholic beverages exists today in Sweden. Drinks are sold only in restaurants and the maximum quantity allowed a patron — twice as much for a man as for a woman — depends on the price of the meal. The quantity obtainable monthly with a ration book for home consumption depends on the purchaser's age, sex, income, occupation and reputation.

Rev. Paul Hoedebeck of Subiaco, Ark., brother of the groom was officiant at the double ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass.

The bride wore a white satin gown with sweetheart neckline, long petal-point sleeves, and full skirt trimmed with lace ruffles and extending into a cathedral length train. Her veil was finger-tip length and was attached to a coronet of seed pearls her flowers were white carnations in an arm bouquet arrangement and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls borrowed from the groom's sister, Mrs. Clem Reiter.

The revolutionary new Ford four-door sedan for 1949 is lower, wider, roomier and provides nearly 25 per cent more visibility.

Miss Elizabeth Prescher, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a frock of white marquisette with sweetheart neckline, fitted shirred waist and full skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

The bride's table was laid with white linen and appointed with crystal and silver. It was centered with a three-tier cake, and further ornamented with pastel sweet peas and fern. The cake was placed on a tray laid with an heirloom linen cloth that has been used at weddings of all the members of the Hoedebeck family including that of the groom's parents 48 years ago.

Mrs. Joe Luttmier of Muenster, aunt of the bride, presided at the guest book.

During the afternoon the newlyweds left on a wedding trip by car, the bride wearing a grey crepe ensemble with white accessories.

They are making their home here since they returned from their trip and gave a wedding dance in the K of C hall Tuesday night.

The American Way

By George Peck

ALL HANDS COOPERATE

In a recent article, I pointed out that small business and big business are not enemies, and that in reality they are partners, and that neither could survive without the other.

The editor of the Coatesville (Penna.) Record apparently agrees with that statement. In the April 22nd issue of that newspaper he carried an editorial quoting statistics and reciting facts that definitely disprove the charge by the Communists and Left-Wingers that Big Business completely monopolizes the business and industrial arenas of America.

For instance, he pointed out that the most recent census of manufacturers shows that 64.8 percent of all wage earners in manufacturing are employed by employers of fewer than 500 workers each. Most certainly a company that employs fewer than 500 workers cannot be considered a "Big Business."

To those who claim that it is no longer possible to launch a new business unless one has unlimited capital, let me refer them to the United States Department of Commerce. There they will learn that since V-J Day some 1,200,000 new firms have been started in America; that 95 percent of these have been concerns with fewer than 8 employees; and only two-tenths of one percent had more than 50 employees. These facts definitely prove that the little fellow still has the opportunity to get into business for himself.

The Coatesville editor also told the story of Lew Reese of Scio, Ohio, a small businessman who was given an opportunity to prove in spectacular fashion that there are still new frontiers in America. When due to the depression Scio's population had fallen from 1,200 to 400, Reese started a pottery plant there. It was not the most propitious time to launch an industry, but Even the Hobo Can't Be Fooled!

Reese had the courage to take the plunge.

For several years things went along nicely for Reese, his employees and the community, until last December when fire completely destroyed his pottery plant, which was uninsured because Scio's poor water supply made insurance rates prohibitive. To a lesser man this would have been a knock-out blow; but not so to Reese. While the ruins were still smoldering, he announced, "We'll build better than ever before."

Reese had been a good employer. During 1946 he had paid out $705,000 in bonuses to his employees, and before the fire he had earmarked $400,000 for 1947 bonuses. Now, of course, there could be no bonuses. The employees made no complaint; some even offered to throw their pay checks into the rebuilding fund. "The boss was a generous guy when he had it," the workers said and stuck to their jobs.

The community also remembered what Reese had done for the town. A delegation of citizens persuaded steel concerns to furnish Quonset buildings, induced a railroad to shunt freight on to Reese's sidng. The minister shoveled debris into the saloon-keeper's wheelbarrow, as the ruins were cleaned up. The banker climbed the roof to weld steel sheets. Women's clubs set up canteens for the workers. Young girls piloted wheelbarrows.

They did not even stop on Christmas or New Year's — in fact, sometimes they worked around the clock. Believe it or not, just 64 days after the fire the new plant began operations.

What Lew Reese, his employees and the townfolks of Scio did can be done in every city and in every industry in America. Reese had indicated he was the right kind of an employer; his employees realized this and had produced at a high rate, thus earning bonuses; and the townspeople had benefited because of these amicable relations. When disaster hit, all three partners took off their coats and went to work to repair the damage. This would not have happened had Reese and his employees been at each other's throats. Miracles transpire when all hands cooperate.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Well, you know folk, for some diversion, we have something to look forward to this coming summer — the election. It will get our minds off "saving the world" — maybe get us back to giving some heed to saving our own U.S.A.

I have in mind — to liven things up even more — a plan to get the South and North together on one ticket. The South has been out in the cold too long.

While Uncle Harry is in a sweat and losing old-time democratic friends, in the South, right and left and Mr. Wallace is out with his callopie and stirring up the animals — and Mr. Dewey and Mr. Taft and Mr. Stassen are in a Battle Royal, as they say in fighting circles — is a good time to slip over a new kind of ticket. As a sample, take a couple of persons like this Southern Mr. Soreback Byrd and you put him on a ticket with this Buckeye feller Bricker, and it might be a long shot to put some money on. What this country needs is not a double or a triple genius canddate. What a candidate should have, is what Mr. Washington had — common sense, or in Hickory vernac, horse sense. My ticket has it.

Now, come on folks, let's have your ticket.
 Yours with the low down,
 Jo Serra

Who is this Man?

Now and then, in the pages of the Clarion, I run a biographical quiz, under the heading of "Who Is This Man?" For instance...

"He was one of the earliest lovers in American history..."

"And yet he was too shy to court a woman outright..."

"He came to the New World on the Mayflower..."

"A cooper to repair the beer barrels accompanying the Pilgrims..."

"Who is this man?"

I thought that everybody was stumped. But not Ma Hoskins, who returned the clipping to me with "John Alden" on it. She recognized all the clues—including that reference to "beer" and "cooper."

For Ma—who's read her history, knows that beer as the beverage of moderation, is as old in this land of ours as the never-ending American search for tolerance which brought the Pilgrims over to this country in the first place.

RADICAL STYLE AND ENGINEERING CHANGES FEATURE 1949 FORD

The 1949 Ford, which reveals a radical departure from traditional Ford styling and engineering, was made public today by the Ford Motor Company.

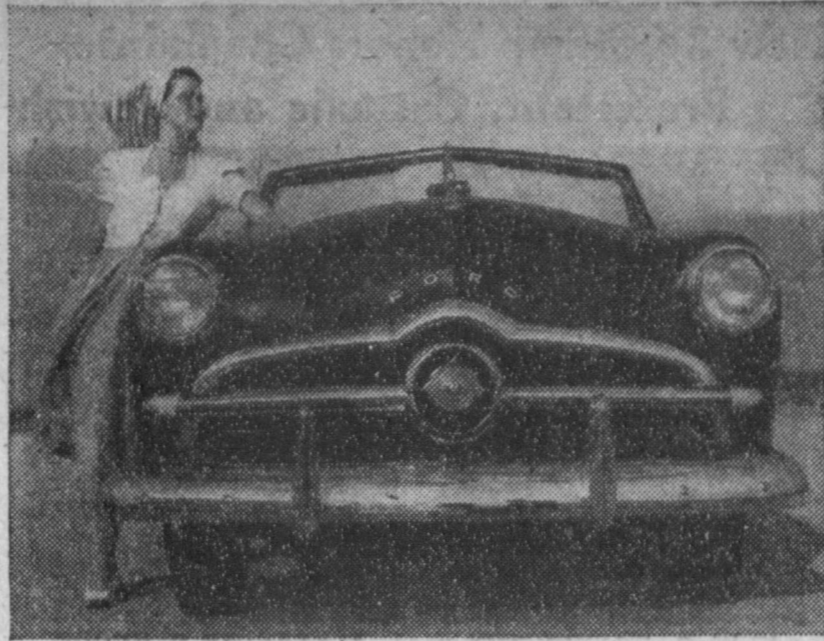

"New standards of beauty, comfort, economy and performance in the 1949 Ford passenger cars advance them far ahead of others in the low-priced field," J. R. Davis, vice-president and director of sales and advertising, said. "Styling of the new Ford definitely establishes it as the car of the year."

To develop and produce the 1949 Ford passenger cars, Ford Motor Company has expended more than $37,400,000 in tools, dies, jigs and fixtures.

The modern design has been molded along functional lines, resulting in a long, low, sweeping silhouette. The grille is distinctive, the hood massive but shorter and the body so wide the rear fenders have been eliminated. There are clean, unbroken lines from front to rear.

Comfort has been one of the primary objectives in the new Ford. There is more room in the "lounge car" interiors than in many cars with much larger over-all dimensions. Front seat widths have been increased six inches and the rear seat nearly eight inches. The body has been moved five inches forward with the seats cradled between the axles for a much smoother ride.

A new type of suspension system... "hydra-coil" springs... replaces the traditional transverse springs and the front axle. This system is centered around airplane type shock absorbers mounted within low frequency coil springs. In the rear, extra long longitudinal springs are complemented by airplane type shock absorbers.

The drive shaft tunnel has been decreased by adoption of the Hotchkiss drive and the hypoid rear axle. These engineering changes also minimize the transmission of road noises into the car.

Engine vibration has been reduced by literally floating the power plant on rubber mounts.

A new heating system available in the new Fords brings year around comfort to driver and passengers. Fresh air is scooped into the car through large intakes just behind the grille.

The system, which has an automatic temperature control, can be used as a fresh air ventilator a fresh air heater or as a recirculating heater. Fresh air plus the pressure effect obtained by the car's forward motion reduces fogging and drafts.

SOCIETY DELEGATES GIVE CONVENTION REPORTS

Interesting reports on the Catholic State League convention in Pilot Point May 6 were presented by Mrs. H. J. Fuhrmann and Mrs. Henry Henschel at the regular monthly meeting of the Saint Anne's Society Sunday afternoon. The delegates' reports followed the regular business session.

Principal business of the meeting was completion of plans for a miscellaneous shower and open house program at the recently remodeled Sacred Heart rectory on Thursday, June 17.

Other business was the naming of a committee to take charge of the appointment of volunteers to assist Miss Margaret Simons on special occasions. The first group of women so appointed will assist at the Fatima Pilgrimage this weekend.

New 3¢ Stamp Honors Chaplains—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish

JOHN P. WASHINGTON
 Catholic priest

ALEXANDER D. GOODE
 Jewish rabbi

GEORGE L. FOX,
 Protestant minister

CLARKE V. POLING
 Protestant minister

—Commemorating one of the most stirring episodes of World War II, a postage stamp was issued by the Post Office Department on May 28, 1948, to honor the four chaplains — Protestant, Catholic and Jewish — who gave up their lives on the USS Dorchester in 1943.

When a German torpedo hit the troopship, these clergymen of the three great faiths — John P. Washington, Catholic priest, Alexander D. Goode, Jewish rabbi, George L. Fox and Clark V. Poling, Protestant ministers — gave their life belts to stranded soldiers and linking arms, prayed in unison as the vessel sank in the North Atlantic.

PLAN GIVING FARMERS BETTER INCOME TAX BREAK IS APPROVED

Washington — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a plan to give farmers a better income tax break if they spend money on soil and water conservation.

The plan will be incorporated in the committee's general tax revision bill.

Under present law, most outlays for soil and water conserving land improvements are rated "capital expenditures." Farmers may take income tax deductions for them only gradually over a period of years.

The approved plan would allow farmers to deduct these expenses from their gross income when figuring their tax for the year in which the outlays were made.

The provision specifies that the expenditures must be for soil and water conservation and the prevention of erosion.

JUST BECAUSE YOU'RE NOT SICK, IS NO SIGN YOU'RE REALLY WELL

AUSTIN, TEXAS— "Although we may not be sick, we may be far from being well. There is a great and vital difference between high and buoyant health and the health of the average person, or of one who is only well enough to be out of bed," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today.

"Unless we have the essentials of health in our daily habits of living, we are as sure to pay the penalty of impaired health, sickness and early death as we are of cause and effect in other situations," Dr. Cox continued. "We should ask ourselves, 'How long do I expect to live?' 'How long can I retain my efficiency, both in work and play?' 'Do I want to become incapacitated soon after middle life?'"

The alternative, according to Dr. Cox's statement, is to adjust one's program of living to insure the fundamentals of health and thus, barring accidents, keep young and retain active efficiency to an age of 70 to 80, or more.

The essentials of health are simple: sufficient fresh air and sunlight, good food and food habits, regular exercise and adequate rest. Yet, in checking the health of thousands of individuals who considered their health good, it has been rare indeed to find a single person who did not habitually disregard one or more of these essentials. Therefore, no matter how good or poor our health, we should check our daily program of living for health habits that are essentially faulty but of which we may be unaware.

GERMANS BEING TOLD THAT CULINARY ART IN AMERICA IS SLIPPING

Berlin. — Many Germans are getting the idea that people in America don't know nor care how to cook. They just heat up canned foods. And life and movement in America are so fast "it makes your head swim."

They are getting the "dope" in letters from daughters and sisters who have married American soldiers and gone to the U. S. to live.

Letters from German brides in America recently have been printed in newspapers here. News about how they are getting along, whether they find American people friendly and life as rich and pleasant as they had expected is important here.

The answers to these questions are more than a matter of satisfying the curiosity of relatives left behind in Germany. The reactions of the German brides are, believe it or not, a substantial issue in the non-stop propaganda war here between Russia and

Benjamin Stoddart (right) became the first Secretary of the Navy on June 18, 1798 following the formation of the Navy Department on April 30 of that year under President John Adams. Stoddart served until 1801. Today the Secretary of the most powerful Navy in the world's history is John L. Sullivan (left), who was sworn in to succeed James V. Forrestal when the latter became the nation's first Secretary of Defense. The photo of Stoddart is that of a portrait painted by E. F. Andrews. (Official Navy Photograph) the western powers. Recently some Russian-controlled newspapers which love to print anything anti-American, published what they told were reports from German brides who complained they were disillusioned about the U.S. by the "unfriendly treatment" they received there from their in-laws and neighbors and wanted to return to their beaten-up homeland.

RAT RACE INCREASES FASTER THAN HUMAN RACE, EXPERT WARNS

NEW YORK, May 16 — Unless every man, woman and child starts killing rats at once the rats are going to take over the earth, Beales O. Burkitt, a rat expert, warned Sunday. "There are 300,000,000 rats in the United States," he said. "Two to every person. And they're increasing faster than people are. Soon there will be three rats to every person, then four, then five."

Burkitt sadly shook his head. In his lifetime he said, he's killed over 10,000,000 rodents but it never looked more like a losing rat race than it does now. Two rats in two years can reproduce 350,000 times, he said.

"Good manners are the small coin of virtue. Manners are minor morals."

Joining them for a three-day visit during the week was Miss Miriam Koesler of Sherman. The Sisters were enroute to the motherhouse in San Antonio for the summer.

length. A guard rail 10 inches from the side walls of the pen and 10 inches from the floor will suit the purpose well. On a sloping floor the sow will lie with the top of her back on the high side . . . and the young pigs can move around on the low side . . . taking advantage of the guard rail. These two ideas will lower the young pig death loss . . . and save money for the hog raiser. And Haws reminds you hog raisers that every pig that dies means 40 pounds of feed wasted.

its most precious resource. We inherited abundance and spent it recklessly without ever considering the rights of generations that are to follow.

It took a long time for our folly to catch up with us. The country is big and offered new opportunities to anyone who wished to move on. But we've finally reached the dead end. We can't move on any more. All that's left is to stay put and try to correct the harm that's been done.

Old timers who remember this community when it was still open country can recall a few conditions that all of us would be grateful for today. There was sub-soil moisture for one thing, as indicated by springs that gushed a clear stream the year around. Lush vegetation and a carpet of leaves in the forest all helped to retard the swift off-flow of water. Rain soaked in and soil stayed put. Creeks were clear, not loaded with precious dirt. And when fields were first put into cultivation they yielded real crops. The top soil was plentiful and fertile. But it didn't stay that way long after we exposed it to the fury of the weather.

Sad experience has taught us that nature had the best system and our only hope to restore that system as much as possible. Somehow we've got to manage to hold water where it falls, the more of it the better. We want enough to sustain vegetation and a surplus to trickle down into the deep sand levels from which we draw our water supply. Besides we want to retard some of the creek-bound water and avoid the devastating flash floods that have been spreading disaster every year.
